One-Third Of Community Chest Fund Raised In First Two Days Of Campaign

Figures On Pledge Cards Total $6,148

Partial reports on two days of canvassing by 200 persons engaged in the city's annual Community Chest campaign, which opened Monday, show that one-third of the amount to be raised by the end of the week has been pledged, as a result of campaign leaders last night called "encouraging."

The Chest goal is $18,662 and up to 5 p. m. yesterday the total of reported pledges was $6,148.76. The figures were compiled at a meeting of team captains and majors in the commission chambers of the city hall.

Some Teams Unreported

Some team captains made no reports yesterday and none of the teams from which reports were received has covered all the territory assigned to it. It is expected that reports will be made by all teams at this afternoon's checkup meeting and, in all probability, the amount pledged will be substantially increased.

Reports from division leaders yesterday showed the following totals:

Central	$1,102.00
Educational	60.00
Industrial	977.51
Territorial	2,430.00
Local retail	380.50
Public employes	456.50
Professional	654.50
National retail	87.75
Total	$6,148.76

"Mercury" Goes Up

Following yesterday's checkup the Chest campaign "thermometer" on the County Savings bank building was painted to show what progress had been made in two days of solicitation by the large force of men and women who volunteered to make the canvass through which nine community service agencies in Marquette are financed.

"Reports from the canvassers are gratifying," it was stated last night by George E. Bishop, campaign director. "With few exceptions persons called on appear to be more than willing to support the Community Chest as generously as they can. Despite the war demands, which must be met, the average individual contribution to the Chest this year is about the same as it was a year ago, and it may run a little higher."

"Of course," Mr. Bishop added, "the first third of the total is the easiest to get. The next $6,000 will mean harder work and the job of bringing in the last $6,000 will be the real test of whether we are to succeed in reaching the goal. It is my belief, however, after analyzing reports of the first two days' work and listening to comments by campaign leaders and their aides, that we will not fall short."

The canvassers hope to finish their work by Friday night, but the campaign will be continued until all ground has been covered and all prospective contributors have been called upon.

Editor's Mail

They Complain

Marquette, Mich., Oct. 20, 1942.

Editor, Mining Journal: We note by your report of Monday evening's commission that we are trying to promote the saloon business in the city of Marquette. This was news to us and we have received so many inquiries asking what it is all about that we feel disposed to make brief comment.

Recently the police department recommended that the number of liquor licenses be set at twelve. We had no objection to that because it might discourage people from promiscuously asking permission to sell liquor by the glass, although we did wonder why this limitation had not been suggested previously.

Some time thereafter a tavern operator, Mr. Julich, requested that he be permitted to add liquor to his wares. As customary, the matter was referred to the police department for report. The police reported back that it would be necessary for Julich to first get approval of the Liquor Commission, although that had not been the case for previous applicants. Later Julich informed the city commission that he had made a trip to Lansing and the Liquor Commission advised him he would first have to get permission from the Marquette city commission. So again the matter was "taken under advisement" by the police department. At last Monday's meeting the application was denied, the reason given, at this late date, being that we already have twelve licenses.

Instead of giving this man Julich the run-around, why when Julich first applied didn't the police department recommend that his request be denied because we had twelve licensees at that time? Although we do not know Mr. Julich's background, evidently it is good, and as a matter of principle we did not like his being made a victim of horseplay. The police department admitted they had nothing against Julich and would O. K. him if there was an opening, so we suggested that the twelve limit be suspended. According to your news writing, you would think the issue was that we want the town flooded with liquor joints.

Furthermore, we are wondering where you got the information for your writing. It could not well have been from your reporter because he did not show up until the vote was being taken on Julich's application. We hesitate to believe that anyone connected with your newspaper is purposely trying to mislead the public, although we have been tempted to come to that conclusion on many occasions. We trust we are mistaken because the going has been tough enough as it is without having to buck the Mining Journal.

Yours truly,
LEE M'GINLEY
H. E. PATRICK.

Editor's Note—The motion presented by Commissioner McGinley and voted for by him and Commissioner Patrick was worded as follows, according to the city clerk's minutes: "That the resolution adopted April 7, 1941, limiting the use of places licensed to sell spirituous liquor by the glass in the city of Marquette so as not to exceed twelve in number be revoked." The Mining Journal interprets this as an attempt to revoke the limitation which the commission, in 1941, placed on the number of places licensed to sell hard liquor by the glass in this city.

Bond Rally At Nordic This Morning

Merchants, employes and volunteer saleswomen are urged to attend the war bond rally in the Nordic theater this morning. The program will be featured by an address by George G. Whitney, Detroit, executive secretary of the state retailers' war savings committee. The meeting will open at 8:45 and close at 10.

A special motion picture film will be shown. There will be musical entertainment and brief remarks will be made by city and county retailers' war savings committee officials. Arrangements for the rally have been made under the supervision of R. C. Heynen, city chairman, and S. C. Stern, county chairman.

"We cannot stress too much the fact that the sale of war bonds and stamps by merchants and their clerks and other employes must be a continuing process," Heynen said yesterday.

Quota Increased

"After one month's quota is reached, there can be no letup. We must push the sales for the duration of the war. Our country's existence is at stake and we must support men at the front by selling and buying as many war bonds and stamps as we absolutely can."

Marquette county merchants have made a splendid record since their campaign started last July, the state office reports, but the work must be continued to meet rising quotas.

The county quota for November is $38,500, compared with $35,000 in October. Every resident is urged by the committee to get into the habit of taking war stamps for change at Marquette stores. Persons who have not started filling war stamp books are urged to do so at once.

Mayor's Proclamation

"Our nation is engaged in a world-wide struggle to defend freedom and democracy," Mayor L. W. Biegler said yesterday in a proclamation. "Victory can be assured only through the support of those of us at home—support through giving of our time and investing our money so that our armed forces may have tools with which to fight this war."

"So important is the appeal for the purchase of war bonds and stamps that every person called upon to make sacrifices of time and money to see that sufficient funds are available should consider it his duty as well as his privilege to assist in the sale of war bonds and stamps."

"A rally of Marquette retailers is to be held in Marquette at 8:45 a. m. Wednesday at the Nordic theater, which every retailer and his employes are urged to attend. Plans for the increased sale of war bonds and stamps will be made."

"Now, therefore, I, Louis W. Biegler, mayor of the city of Marquette, proclaim Wednesday, October 22, 1942, as War Bond Rally day and request that all retailers close their places of business on that day until 10 a. m."

WPB Gives Merit Award To Barkow

The first War Production Board Emblem of Merit to be awarded in Marquette county (the fourth in the Upper Peninsula) was presented to Edward Barkow, owner of the C. R. Nelson Auto Repair, 1615 Presque Isle avenue, yesterday afternoon by Mayor Louis W. Biegler, in recognition of his outstanding achievement in car salvage.

The award was brought to Marquette by James Frenn, of Escanaba, Upper Peninsula salvage inspector of the War Production Board. It is a banner and is displayed on the exterior of the auto repair yard. In addition to presenting the award, Mayor Biegler climbed a ladder and nailed the banner to the building.

Also present at the informal presentation was W. J. Weber, chairman of the county salvage committee.

Complies With All Rules

Mr. Frenn declared the award was made because Barkow had complied with all rules of the WPB with regard to auto "graveyards," particularly the requirement that there be a complete turnover in stocks every 60 days.

Mr. Frenn said that in the period from June 1 to October 15 Barkow had salvaged 115 automobiles and had shipped a total of 105 tons of scrap iron.

In making the award, Mayor Biegler said: "We can't all go to the front. But at home people like you have done and will continue to do their duty. I make this award on behalf of the War Production Board in recognition of the fine work you have done in the collection of salvage." Frenn told Barkow.

Frenn said the award parallels the Army-Navy "E" for excellence which goes to builders and producers for the Army and Navy who have made outstanding production records.

WPB Regulations

To win the coveted Emblem of Merit, the Barkow yard complied with the following WPB schedule:

- The auto graveyard must conform to the policies of the Conservation Division, War Productions Board, as they now exist or as they may be modified in the future.
- All loose scrap in the auto graveyard must have been moved as quickly as it accumulated in quantities conveniently transportable.
- The auto graveyard must be on a 60-day turn over basis, which means that every 60 days it must wreck all the cars it had on hand at the beginning of that period.
- The auto graveyard's performance must be reviewed monthly, and the emblem will be awarded or removed on the basis of the performance of the above standards of eligibility.
- Maintain only a reasonable supply of saleable parts.
- Make every effort to buy junk cars for scrapping.

Mr. Frenn said he was checking records of Marquette junk dealers to ascertain whether any of them are eligible for awards. To obtain such awards the dealer must ship in any one month one-third more scrap than was shipped during the previous month.

Feeding of Michigan Cattle on Decline

LANSING, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The state-Federal crop reporting service said today that, despite ample feed supplies, Michigan farmers hesitate to decide how many cattle they will fatten this year because of the farm price controversy. Lamb feeding in the state already has declined.

The service said normally a large volume of feeding would result from large supplies of feed

Speed Limit Observed By Most Drivers

LANSING, Oct. 20—P—The state highway department reported today a survey indicated the average speed of automobiles on trunk-line roads has fallen to just within the 35-mile speed limit fixed by a joint highway department-state police order as a means to conserve war-vital tires.

G. Donald Kennedy, commissioner, said the survey, while it showed an average speed of 34.5 miles per hour, nevertheless disclosed that 47.9 per cent of the cars on the highways drove at speeds in excess of 35. The survey, as of October 15 and 16, contrasted with one on October 1 and 2 which showed the average speed was 36.5 miles an hour and that 51.3 per cent of the drivers violated the speed limit.

Kennedy said general improvement was noted in compliance with the speed limit, which was ordered as a patriotic measure. Only 3.3 per cent of the drivers observed drove over 45 miles an hour, while in the early October check the percentage was 8.1. He said only one-tenth of one per cent of the drivers flouted the order by traveling at speeds of 60 miles an hour or more.

Misdemeanor penalties are provided for violators.

Safety Suggestion

EAST LANSING, Oct. 20—P—Capt. Caesar J. Scavarda, in charge of the state police traffic division, has a safety suggestion for drivers who find motoring at reduced speed causes fatigue.

"Keep at least as many yards behind the car you are following as you are driving miles per hour," Scavarda says.

In other words, if you are driving 30 miles an hour, stay at least 30 yards—about six car lengths—behind the car in front. Scavarda said the rule is a modification of one used by the Army for movement of motorized equipment.

Michigan General Fund Revenues Start Decline

LANSING, Oct. 20—P—Michigan's general fund revenues have started a decline which "will undoubtedly continue, and to a greater extent as the year progresses," the state accounting division said today.

The state's financial position currently is "more reassuring" than was expected when the fiscal year started July 1, it was said.

Dale J. Munk, assistant comptroller, said the report "differs from those issued in previous years, in that it contains no predictions of future revenues or expenditures." Fiscal officers have said that any estimate of how sharp the decline would be, as consumer goods go off markets and more and more money is diverted into Federal taxes and war bonds, would be sheer guessing.

Michigan Bell Traffic Manager

A. L. LEAZENBY

George M. Welch, president of the Michigan Bell Telephone company, yesterday announced appointment of Arthur L. Leazenby, Detroit, as general traffic manager for the company to succeed Howard W. Benedict, who has retired because of ill health. Leazenby has been serving as acting head of the company's traffic department since March, 1942. Prior to that time, he was division traffic superintendent at Detroit for 14 years. He has been with the Bell system 31 years, starting as a clerk at Terre Haute, Ind. He also held posts in Los Angeles and Indianapolis before coming to Detroit in 1923. Leazenby is a frequent visitor in the Upper Peninsula.

Dentist Puts Old Fixtures On Scrap Pile

Dental equipment more than 50 years old, all of which was in the 1917 fire which destroyed the building where the First National bank now stands, has been turned over by Dr. R. W. Boyer, Marquette dentist, to W. J. Weber, chairman of the Marquette county salvage committee.

The collection, all metal, weighed at least 50 pounds.

Dr. Boyer's father-in-law, Dr. O. D. Jones, opened a dental office in the building in 1876. Fifteen years later, in 1891, he was joined by Dr. Boyer. After Dr. Jones' death, Dr. Boyer continued in the same location until 1917 when the building was destroyed by fire. All his equipment fell through to the basement when the floors collapsed.

After the ashes cooled, Dr. Boyer salvaged some of the equipment, including a dental chair still in use in his office. Included in the salvaged material was some which Dr. Boyer has found use for.

Friday To Be Tin Can Day At Graveraet

Milton A. Johnson, in charge of the Graveraet high school scrap metal drive, yesterday announced that Friday, October 23, would be "Tin Can Day" at that school.

A concerted effort will be made on that day to collect tin cans from students' homes and those of their neighbors. Mr. Johnson urged housewives to have their tin cans properly prepared and in containers for collection.

Under present salvage rulings, tin cans must have labels removed, both ends should be cut and turned in and the can flattened. They should then be stored in a box or other suitable container until collected. Tin cans must not be mixed with other scrap metals, as they are shipped separately to detinning plants.

Subway stations in Moscow are decorated with works of art.

11 Tons Of Scrap Turned In by Pupils

A total of 21,900 pounds of scrap metal has been collected and sold by Marquette schools since the school scrap metal drive began, according to an official from the county salvage committee.

Baraga high school was first in the tabulation of pounds of scrap sold by schools to J. H. Green company, Marquette junk dealers. The Baraga school students collected and sold 5,860 pounds of scrap metal. Graveraet high school is second with 4,980 pounds to its credit. This metal was collected at the football game Saturday when admission for

Citizenship Simplified For Italians

Since starting October 19—unnaturalized Italians are no longer considered "enemy aliens," minor violations of the alien enemy registration act will not be considered in naturalization hearings, R. W. Gearing, Sault Ste. Marie, examiner for the immigration and naturalization service, said yesterday.

This will eliminate some delay in hearing pending cases of Italian aliens, the examiner said. However, 90 days must elapse before naturalization hearings, filed by citizens of countries with which the United States is at war, may be

Older Boys To Help

Mr. Johnson also announced that Graveraet high school have volunteered to transport, during study periods, articles of scrap too large for grade school pupils to carry.

While Graveraet high school is carrying on a scrap drive of its own more or less in competition with other schools, Mr. Johnson said the scrap will be taken to grade school scrap depots if the scrap was originally reported by grade schools.

He requested that grade school principals consult him if any of their pupils find scrap too heavy for them to handle.

Unintentional Violation

Naturalization petitions which were filed by alien enemies, but had not been acted upon before the declaration of war, were delayed until their status were determined.

Although there have been delays, citizens of both Italy and Germany may be naturalized during the war, the examiner continued. German citizens are still designated as alien enemies and are still subject to the provisions of the act.

Soybean meal is now being used in place of part of the fish and meat scrap in poultry rations as a source of protein.

Chitter-Chatter Takes Over Column Today

(By MANTHEI HOWE)

The amount of news to be written up and the unusual plenitude of copy has somehow shoved Chitter-Chatter off the page, so how about clearing it off in the column today?

First off a Marquette woman, who in her years of residence here has never seen a bear rambling through the woods, was all right last Sunday.

Mrs. Hugh Gallup and her daughter, Dayne, were motoring toward Negaunee when suddenly ambling through the low growth of dried shrubs beside the road a big bear went lumbering by.

He was going along at a leisurely and unafraid gait and Mrs. Gallup conceded she was thrilled to see old Bruin. Other cars stopped to take in the picture.

While there are bars in these here woods, it is not often that townfolk chance to see them.

Going Traveling

The other morning there was an adorable small boy in a downtown drugstore. He was blond, blue-eyed, clean and healthy looking, and tremendously interested in everything in the store.

He wore an abbreviated top coat and small cap and was evidently quite excited, for he was to take a trip on the train.

"Where are you going?" a bystander wanted to know.

"To Suzanna," he announced gleefully.

"To Suzanna?" repeated the questioner, eyebrows raised in query.

"He means Louisiana," the dad's mother exclaimed.

The small boy was going to see his daddy who is in service, and the youngster was thrilled. His eyes sparkled. He wore a healthy smile, and was he ever a darling!

Tot Shift-It

The other noon on Washington street an equally tiny girl was stubbing along in a quite different mood. She wanted to dawdle and the two adults with her wanted to hurry. They tried to take her hand and she resisted stubbornly, her lower lip poked out in that diverting childhood signal of rebellion.

Was she ever pouting and trying to yell at the same time.

Chubby and blond, she sulked at the world and looked so funny that the unsympathetic onlookers chuckled, one of them querying: "Well, what's the matter with you?"

The lower lip stuck out further for a moment and then the circle of smiling adults proved too much for her peeve. She struggled to keep that lip shoved out, then decided there was something funny in the situation, and she gave the most cherubic smile. Talk about April showers temperament!

Dr. L. A. Swinton has been worrying about his brother, Roy S. Swinton, and family who were in the Philippines when the Japanese invaded the islands. Having no word from his brother he asked Mrs. Bernice Chamberlain, executive secretary of the Marquette county chapter of the American Red Cross, to see if the organization could get information about his brother and family.

Miss Annie H. Lockett, director of inquiry service, wrote October 13, from the national Red Cross headquarters in Washington, D. C.: "My dear Mrs. Chamberlain: In accordance with information which has been received by the office of the Provost Marshal General of the War Department, the following persons have been reported semi-officially as interned at Santo Tomas, Manila, Philippine Islands:

Barbara, Jane, and Roy S. Swinton.

A name recorded semi-officially means the Japanese government has not yet reported to the International Red Cross or the United States Government that the above mentioned were included in a list which arrived from the Far East on the exchange vessel Gripsholm. Although this list is not official, we have every reason to believe that the information is authentic.

"Persons who have been recorded semi-officially as internees may receive prisoner of war and internecine mail. Instructions governing the sending of mail for prisoners of war and internees have been issued to all Red Cross chapters in our Bulletin SAF-37. All prisoners of war and internee mail should be routed via New York, New York, for censorship. This information has also been made available to all United States post offices in the postal bulletins of May 6 and September 2, 1942."

This is one of the many instances in which the Red Cross has been able to relieve to a degree the anxiety of relatives of persons caught in a territory invaded by the enemy.

Dr. Swinton, at least, has the satisfaction of knowing that his brother, Professor Roy S. Swinton and wife and daughter are at Santo Tomas, Manila.

He Made Real Choice

Steve, aged 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Petros has been selling Saturday Evening Posts for some time. Recently the magazine offered a first prize of $5.

Young Steve decided to step up his efforts and succeeded in selling the largest number of magazines in this district.

The company informed him he could have the $5 in cash or could select a pair of football pants, hunting and fishing equipment, or other articles enumerated on the prize list.

Steve elected to take the money with which he purchased war stamps which are to be turned in for the purchase of a war bond. The youngster has already bought four war bonds and is nearing the accumulation of the amount necessary to purchase a fifth.

That's a quite mature, clear-thinking, responsible head setting on 11-year-old shoulders.

Births

Born to: Mr. and Mrs. Irving Young, West Washington street, a son, George Dale, October 14, in the Ishpeming hospital.

Pvt. and Mrs. William T. Barry, Monterey, California, a daughter, Ella Marie, September 25. The parents were former residents of Marquette.

Sea Scouts Gave Skit at PTA Meet

Sixty-five attended the first meeting of the year of the Howard school PTA unit held Monday night.

Mrs. W. P. Chamberlain, executive secretary of the county Red Cross chapter, gave a talk on Red Cross services and activities.

Twenty-five Sea Scouts in full uniform put on a skit and sang songs to instrumental accompaniment played by their members. It was a colorful and different number.

Two duets, "Long Long Ago" and "I Cannot Sing the Old Songs," were sung by Mrs. John Nicholson and Murray Moon. Mrs. Nicholson sang "The Last Rose of Summer," and Mr. Moon's solo was "Beautiful Dreamer." Mrs. George Quinnell was the accompanist.

Following the program there was a social hour at which lunch was served. Arrangements for this were made by Mrs. Lucille Lashch and her committee.

Tells Of Work With Indians Of Southwest

The Rev. William M. Griffin will give a talk tonight in the First Presbyterian church. (The subject will be his work among the Indians of the southwest. The meeting begins at 7:30 and all interested persons are invited to attend. A silver offering will be taken during the evening. There will be special music by the choir.)

The Rev. Griffin, who was once a cowboy in Texas and, after being ordained to the ministry served some years in various pastorates, last spring began an unusual missionary work among the Seminole Indians of Oklahoma.

His experiences in his Indian work will form the basis for the talk this evening. Something of his attitude toward his mission may be gleaned from the following letter which he recently sent to his board:

Is Real Indian Country

"Spent last Sunday with an Indian church called Mt. Zion. The visit there had to be made before the season of bad weather begins. From the time of the fall rains until the summer drought comes one would be most fortunate to be able to get to that church. The house itself is a very small affair, a frame structure that once knew paint, but has long since forgotten the meaning it has for wooden structures. It is set in the midst of some six or seven camp houses. You see, our Indians do not rush to church and then rush right back home. They come and camp through the weekend, and use all their time rather than be involved in running back and forth. This church was in the Choctaw country. At this particular church, and several others, all services are held in the Choctaw language. I've found some difficulty, at times, in conversing with some of the older ones, for there are yet many Indians, even among the five civilized tribes, who know only their own tribal language.

An All-Night Service

"Over in the Seminole country late in the summer I had my first introduction to services that lasted all the night. It seems that the Seminoles have a habit of meeting quarterly and beginning their services on Friday night continuing through Sunday. Like other Indians in Oklahoma they also come with equipment and spend the entire time at the church. The services continue through Sunday in about such an order as we are familiar with. But when Sunday evening comes they gather for a real feast. The service begins about 8 o'clock p. m. and closes about 7 o'clock a. m. There is no recess, no intermission of any kind. That service goes straight through the night, as orderly and dignified, as quiet and studious, as thoughtful and prayerful as one could wish. It was too much for me and I quietly withdrew and went to bed, but the Seminoles spent the night. Whatever else may, or may not, be true, I believe where such steadfastness as that is to be found is a place where the Gospel means something that can be increasingly purposeful."

John Keast Tells Story Of Waldo Wreck And Copper Country Coast Guards Rescue Work

In the paper by John Keast concerning early navigation which was published yesterday's paper there was a typographical error. The sentence should have read "the year 1845 (not 1854) saw the first steamer on Lake Superior." Mr. Keast has some 400 pictures of wrecks that have occurred on the lake from 1839 to the present, and some of the most interesting of the collection were shown at the historical exhibit in the Peter White public library on October 13. The following is the account of the wreck of the steamer L. C. Waldo, from "Freighters of Fortune" (Beasley):

At noon on November 7, 1913, in ports along Superior white pennants above square red flags with black centers were flapping in the wind above U. S. weather bureau offices. Word of an impending northwest storm was carried to the docks and captains swore a little as hatches were battened down and tightly clamped.

"Let's go," they roared, and lines were cast loose as ships turned from the ore docks for the open sea.

Heralded A Hurricane

As the afternoon lengthened into darkness lighted lanterns replaced the flags above the weather bureau offices. But instead of white lanterns above red ones, carrying the word storm was still a "Nor'wester, there were red lanterns, one above the other with a white lantern between. It was a warning seldom seen on the lakes. It presaged a hurricane.

The wind blowing 50 miles an hour was driving in with a blasting blanket of snow. Ships held to their docks while captains anxiously scanned reports from Government offices and thought of other ships that had put out a few hours before and now were tumbling through the green and white streaked waves of deep water. One of those that had gone was the steamer L. C. Waldo carrying a cargo of iron ore for Cleveland.

She had left Two Harbors, Minn., and while she was not a large ship (a carrier of 4,460 gross tons) she was staunchly built and carried a crew of 24, including two women.

Sheeted Ship In Ice

Late in the afternoon the wind and snow caught her, driving the heavy waves over her bow, raking her decks and leaving them sheeted in ice. Calling down the speaking tube to the engine room, Capt. John Duddleson asked: "How is everything?"

"O. K.," answered the engineer. "How's the weather?"

"Rotten and getting worse. Keep her checked."

"Yes, sir."

At 9 o'clock the pilot house windows were caked with ice. The captain was steering by compass alone.

At midnight there came a lull for a moment, then the wild shriek of the winds the piling up of a mountainous wave and the pilot house was swept from its fastenings and crumpled like a broken match. The captain and wheelman leaping for a hatchway were caught in the backwash of the wave but their fingers fastened to the sides and hung on.

Ship Was In Darkness

Women's Hose Prices Slashed By Henderson

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20—Price Administrator Leon Henderson today slashed prices of women's nylon hose, which he said had been selling at inflated levels "in almost every store in the country."

Effective Thursday the maximum price for the most commonly sold full-fashioned hose of first quality construction will be $1.65, Henderson said. This compared with prevailing prices of $2.50, $2.95, and higher.

Ceiling prices for other first quality nylon hose will range from $1.55 to $2.50.

"There are considerable stocks of nylon hosiery held by wholesalers and retailers for the holiday trade," Henderson said. "In the absence of action by my office, these would be disposed of to women at fantastic prices, prices that would be inflationary and would yield unreasonable profits to the sellers."

Henderson urged women to familiarize themselves with the new maximum prices and to bring civil suit in the event of an overcharge. He pointed out that they may recover from the seller three times the amount of the overcharge, or $50, whichever is greater, plus court costs and lawyers' fees.

"There are quality standards in this regulations also," Henderson explained. "Women should check these standards against the price asked."

Following are the new retail ceiling prices:

The bride wore a white slipper satin wedding gown, cut in princess lines with a sweetheart neckline of lace and with long sleeves pointed over the hand. Utility Rate Reduction Asked by Wayne, Detroit

LANSING, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Wayne county and the city of Detroit petitioned the state public service commission today to require the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. to show cause why it should not pass on to its consumers savings it may derive from a lowering of the cost of gas it draws from the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co.

The commission ordered a hearing for November 2 to determine whether a show cause ruling should be issued.

The petition was presented by Harold Goodman, special counsel for Wayne county, and James H. Lee, assistant corporation counsel of Detroit, who said the projected reduction should total $2,500,000 a year.

Reds Repulse Tank Attacks Inside City

Claimed that an additional block of houses was occupied in the northern suburbs of Stalingrad and added that "mopping up activities on the grounds of the gun factory, Red Barricade, continue." The German propaganda agency, Trans- ocean, quoted military quarters as saying that the Russians now hold "only a few square kilometers" of Stalingrad, including three key centers of resistance. Paradoxically, the agency added: "The tenacity of Soviet resistance is evidenced rather by the number of barricades and other positions obstinately defended by the enemy than by the area of the city not yet in the hands of the Germans".

The Red army's position admittedly remained serious. The Russian troops cramped on the west bank of the Volga within Stalingrad were counting on river communications, now under shelling and Stuka attack, as their principal if not their only source of supplies.

Losses Will Affect Nazi Home Morale

Vichy is undeniable. Nazi garrison troops in many sections of occupied territory are reported living outside in a state of siege, surrounded by protective barbed-wire. Axis Mutinies Reported
To cap that have come reports of mutinies by German and Italian units ordered to the Russian front. There is no way to test their truth, but the conditions under which Axis forces of occupation in the Balkans or elsewhere are serving are not conducive to high morale. The grim lesson of last winter in Russia must make assignment there a matter of dread for Axis troops.

Whether the progressive toll of U-boats lost in action is sapping Nazi undersea personnel morale seriously is a matter of pure conjecture. There can be no question, however, that a morale collapse on that limited sector of his home front could wreck Hitler today as it did the Kaiser in 1918.

Girl Scout Week Begins October 31

NEGAUNEE, Oct. 20.—National Girl Scout Week, observed annually by 700,000 Girl Scouts all over the United States in memory of the birthday of the founder of the organization, Juliette Low, begins October 31 and will be observed by Negaunee Girl Scouts.

Girl Scout Sunday, which opens the week, will emphasize church attendance. The Rev. Mr. Hedman, pastor of the Bethany Lutheran church, has invited Negaunee Girl Scouts, their leaders, troop committee members and local council members to attend the service in a body.

Homemaking, arts and crafts, out-of-doors, international friendship, citizenship and health and safety are the other subjects to be stressed during the week.

In observance of homemaking day, Scouts will canvass the city for contributions of phonograph records, playing cards, razor blades, stationery, books and containers of grease and fats. All articles collected, with the exception of the waste fats and grease, will be turned over to the local agencies which are collecting these materials to send to men in the armed forces. The waste fats and grease will be sold at grocery stores and the proceeds used to purchase war savings stamps for the Girl Scout Victory Fund.

In connection with the observance of international friendship day, every Girl Scout leader, troop committee member and local council member will make a personal sacrifice by purchasing at least one war stamp to be sent to national headquarters for the Girl Scout Victory Fund.

Senior Girl Scouts will be in charge of war stamp booths and will sell stamps on Iron street Saturday, October 31.

Heavy Blows Dealt Axis In Middle East

sinking off the enemy-held Greek island of Crete.
Homebound-bound from this attack, the same planes encountered a large formation of fighter-escorted JU-52 transport planes, some of them towing gliders, over the eastern Mediterranean about 25 miles southwest of Gavdos, a small island off the south coast of Crete. One of the Junkers was downed there, the RAF communiqué said.
(The Germans are known to have been using Crete as a way station for supplying the Axis army in North Africa, both by sea and air. The point where the sky-trains were met indicated that the Nazis were flying them to Egypt by plane and glider, a device they have used before to avoid the perils of sea transport.)

Both air forces made sorties over the Axis' rear in North Africa. Medium U. S. bomber shot up an enemy landing field, destroying grounded planes with three direct hits and dotting the area with fires, one termed "very large."

Propeller blades are now painted black to avoid the reflected glare on the pilot's eyes. The tips are painted yellow for night visibility.

Farmers Given Better Service, Governor Says

BENTON HARBOR, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Governor Van Wagener told a political rally in a campaign speech here tonight his administration has helped to place wealth in the farmer's pockets, and asked for reelection.

The Democratic standard bearer said his administration "overhauled" the state department of agriculture after taking it out of Republican hands, and "weeded out incompetents" to make it an efficient organization which served the needs of farmers generally and the Benton Harbor agricultural markets specifically.

Better grading practices, he said, opened new markets for farmers, not the least of them the Federal Government.

U. S. Trying To 'Freeze' Press, Charge

ment in support of every war project.

"Then referring to restrictions upon the press, he said: "Ever since the beginning of this war, there have been restrictions and limitations on the freedom of the press, so that today the press is frozen by law, by censorship, by directives, by decrees and by Executive action.

"In all Governmental affairs the press is free only to report what is officially released. Editors and publishers are free to comment and criticize. They are not free to investigate the war effort or to crusade and to report their findings."

"Insofar as this relates to the war, no one has a right to object, because no journalist would purport to give aid and comfort to an enemy.

"But the recent lawsuit filed by the Department of Justice in New York against the Associated Press and 1,275 daily newspapers throughout the country has no justification whatever by the necessities of war."

"The object of that suit is not to preserve the freedom of the press but to freeze it into a new mold, not during the war—but in perpetuity.

"The directors and members of the Associated Press have announced that they will fight the charges in the courts, because these journalists know that their reputations, their integrity, their obligations and responsibilities to the public are involved. And these attributes and convictions are the life of journalism, the life of freedom to print."

Freedom Dies If 'Frozen'
Ackerman warned that this new mold for freezing the press was the "mold of governmental control."

"If the Associated Press is frozen into this mold," Ackerman declared, "every other press association and newspaper, every periodical and book, every pamphlet and speech, every radio and every forum will be frozen into similar molds and the Bill of Rights and the Atlantic Charter will be relics of aspirations and ideals, not solemn covenants for the use and progress of humanity."

Ackerman said that every newspaper reader had a stake in the Associated Press law suit, which he asserted challenged the "unalienable rights of the American way of life."

"Freedom is a living, growing plant," Ackerman said. "Freeze it and it will die."

The attorney general was not a member of the President's cabinet until 1914.

Merchants To Meet in Vista Tomorrow

NEAUNEE, Oct. 20.—The first of retailers' meetings in the western end of the county will be held from 8:45 to 9:30 Thursday morning in the Vista theater, Negaunee, when retailers and their clerks sponsor a "business blackout" during which they will be addressed by George G. Whitney, executive director of the retailers' state war savings committee.

Arrangements are being made by Dan J. Sues, city chairman, and the county tour was planned by S. C. Stern, Marquette, county chairman of the retailers war savings drive.

"We have not made an effort to canvass the retailers," said Mr. Sues, "as we are confident the publicity given this event and the plea of the mayor for support will make each businessman conscious of the need for cooperation.

"There is much that retailers can do as a coordinated group in the war effort and Mr. Whitney will make several valuable suggestions to the Negaunee audience."

Army Wants Air Warning Post in Gwinn

GWINN, Oct. 20.—E. L. Miller, civilian defense leader for Forsyth township, today urged all men and women of the township to attend a meeting in the Gwinn school Wednesday evening, beginning at 7:30, at which plans will be discussed for establishment of a primary aircraft observation station, similar to the one set up in Marquette a few weeks ago.

Mr. Miller pointed out that aircraft observation posts, manned on a 24-hour basis by civilian volunteers, are being set up in every community in the Upper Peninsula at the request of the United States Army. The network of posts not only will extend throughout the U. P., but also will cover a large part of the Lower Peninsula and is designed by the Army as an important factor in the effort to protect the Soo military district and important war industry areas of Lower Michigan from attack by enemy aircraft.

Army authorities from Sault Ste. Marie have furnished Mr. Miller with detailed information relative to manning and operation of an observation station and a proposed site in Forsyth township has been selected. In order to get enough volunteers to man the station it may be necessary to use high school students, Miller said.

Stocks Swing Higher On Passage Of Tax Measure

Coppers In Demand On Price Rumor

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—P—The stock market today celebrated the extinguishment of worries over 1942 taxes with a new forward thrust which was good for gains of fractions to more than a point for the general run of industrials.

A final advance of 5 of a point in the Associated Press 60-stock average duplicated the October 13 peak of 40.1, highest level reached by this composite since last November. The turnover was 667,320 shares compared with 401,090 yesterday.

Late buying in the coppers was accompanied by stories that producing companies might receive better than ceiling prices under a revision of production quotas said to be under consideration by the WPB.

Up a point or better at the finish were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Douglas Aircraft, Anaconda, Kennecott, American Smelting, Phelps Dodge, American Can, Johns-Manville, Union Carbide and Patino Mines.

Distillery stocks were lower as a rule on selling associated with Senatorial discussion regarding control on liquor selling near military centers.

The wide break in defaulted rail issues highlighted the bond market and followed Washington reports that the Interstate Commerce Commission and certain Senators were concerned over recent heavy speculative buying.

Commodities were mixed. Chicago wheat closed 1-2 to 3-4 of a cent a bushel higher and corn was off 1-4 to 3-8. Hogs were quoted 10 to 15 cents higher.

Gains in the curb included Glendon Alder Coal, Creole Petroleum, Gulf Oil and Humble Oil. American Cyanamid and American Gas & Electric lost ground.

Liquidation Of Rails Hits Bond Market
NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—P—A sweeping liquidating movement enveloped a large number of reorganization railroad bonds today, causing declines of small fractions to three points and in some cases more.

A large number of bonds of a half dozen or more railroads in reorganization bore the brunt of the selling. Included were obligations of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific, Rock Island, Chicago & Northwestern, Seaboard Airline, Missouri Pacific, Denver, Rio Grande & Western, International Great Northern, New Orleans, Texas & Mexico, New Haven, St. Louis-San Francisco, St. Louis-Southwestern and Western Pacific.

The securities of railroads not in financial difficulty were only mildly affected. The general run of industrials and utilities moved narrowly.

Quotations of many of the bonds affected have doubled or more this year, a considerable part of the advance occurring within recent weeks when a sustained rise was climaxed on September 24 with total bond sales on the stock exchange of $19,070,700. Since that time the group has experienced some difficulty in the forward movement, but the general trend has been selectively higher.

As measured by the Associated Press averages, which contain only a negligible number of bonds of roads undergoing reorganization, the rail group today lost 4 of a point at 64.9, only 1 of a point under the high established on the latest move and 7 of a point under the 1942 high of 65.6, established last March 25 when the rails first indulged in a rising spurt. The low of 59.4 was posted on June 22, since which time the group has been more or less on the mend.

U. S. Government bonds were inactive on the stock exchange and changes were minor over the counter. The foreign dollar list held steady to higher, especially among South Americans.

Total sales of $16,692,500, par value, compared with $11,357,000 on Monday.

Wheat Lifted By Favorable News Reports

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—P—Taking some inspiration from two overnight news developments which were interpreted favorably, traders pushed wheat prices higher today. Other grains made an effort to follow the bread cereal upward, but lost their gains before the close.

Wheat was up more than a cent at one time, with trading more active than in recent sessions, and closed on gains of 1-2 to 3-4 cent. Corn finished 1-4 to 3-8 lower, oats 1-8 lower to 1-4 higher, rye 1-4 lower to 1-8 higher and soybeans 1-4 lower to 1-2 higher.

The two news developments which encouraged traders were: First, introduction of a resolution in the Senate by Senator Clyde M. Reed (R-Kans.) designed to modify office of Price Administration ceilings on flour; and, second, announcement that the Commodity Credit Corporation had been instructed to purchase No. 2 or better cash wheat at the loan price.

and 14 persons, including two women, were taken into the boat from Eagle Harbor.

"All hands were carried to shelter under Keweenaw Point and placed on the tug where they were warmed and fed. They had had little food for 90 hours. On the trip the life boat covered 160 miles.

Jumped From Wreck

A. F. Glazma, surfman of the Eagle Harbor life-saving crew, described the events as follows: "We got as near the wreck as we could and every time our boat rose on a swell one of the folks jumped and we caught him.

"The shipwrecked people had no stores except two cans of tomatoes. They improvised a stove out of a bathtub and a stove-pipe out of tin pans. This was all that kept them from freezing. They were nearly frozen as it was, as they had lost all their heavy clothing when the afterwash went by the board.

The Roll Or Honor

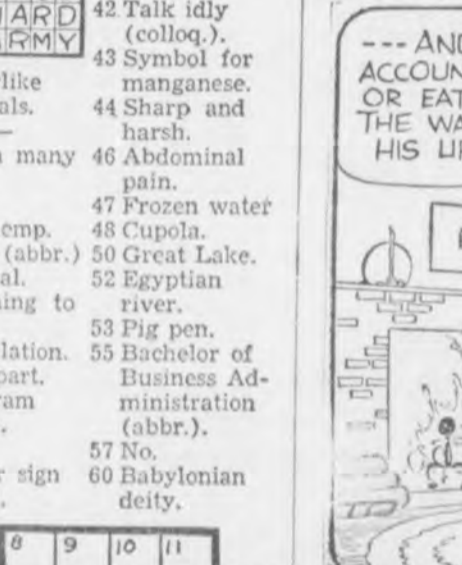

The Secretary of the U. S. Treasury department awarded 17 gold medals of honor to the keepers and members of the crews of the Portage and Eagle Harbor life-saving stations. The recipients of the medals were: Portage station—Thomas M. McConnel, keeper; surfmen, John McDonald, John C. Aiken, Fred C. Soliman, Paul Liedtke, Collin S. Westrope, David M. Small and Oscar Marshall.

Eagle Harbor station—Charles A. Tucker, keeper; surfmen, Thomas W. Bennetts, Serge Anderson, John Beck, Chester A. Tucker, George Halperin, Charles Kumpula, Henry Padberg and A. F. Glazma, 11 surfmen.

Among the oldest and most valuable pictures which Mr. Keast has in his large collection are the following:

- 1. A copy from an old engraving of November, 1855, of the river steamer James Carson on the Ontonagon river with the steamer North Star in the background.
- 2. The propeller Meteor and the steamer Pewabic—These two vessels collided and the Pewabic sank on Lake Huron on August 9, 1865. The Pewabic was loaded with copper.

Had No Registration Card

MENOMINEE, Oct. 20—Martin Peerenboom, an Appleton farm hand, was an overnight guest of Sheriff Edward Reindl at the Menominee county jail Sunday because he figured that any one who served in World War I would be too old and not much good for World War II. Peerenboom was picked up by city police and lodged in jail when he could not produce his draft registration card. He told the officers he was 46 years old, had served in the last war and didn't know he had to register for this war.

The other lake ports in the merged organizations are Duluth, Minn., Superior and Milwaukee, Wis., and Waukegan, Ill. E. P. Soldiers Over 35 May Go Back to Jobs

By Douglas B. Cornell

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20—President Roosevelt disclosed today that a number of soldiers 35 to 40 years old probably would be furloughed to take jobs in munitions factories and that production of luxury goods might be cut more drastically to help solve vital manpower problems.

On his recent inspection tour of war plants and military establishments all over the country, Mr. Roosevelt told a press conference, he had seen uniformed men who would have been much better off in munitions factories than they were marching 25 miles a day with full equipment.

He added that he imagined some of them who would be useful in war production and have the necessary training for it would be furloughed instead of retained in combat units.

Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the Army, previously had said the Army was studying such a plan.

More Money Available

With regard to luxury goods, Mr. Roosevelt remarked that he had been on a drive and had been held up in a small town near Washington where he had to stare into store windows. Three-quarters of them, he said, were filled with luxury goods which we could do without. One reason, he said, is that people began stocking up their stores some time ago.

We have got to face the question, the President declared, whether we are going to allow production of luxury goods to continue.

In that connection he noted that people now had about $14,000,000,000 in cash in their pockets, compared with about $9,000,000,000 some time ago. People with that extra $5,000,000,000 are going to spend their money for unnecessary things, he said, and since they will buy luxuries, the stores will keep demanding them, and it will tie up manpower to manufacture them.

Moreover, he remarked, the fellow who gets his salary in cash is less likely to buy bonds than the one who is paid by check.

Mr. Roosevelt recalled that back in 1914, when he was a Navy department executive, he took his pay in cash. He said he put it into his pocket and did not know where it went. After about six months, he said, complaints began to arise at home about paying the grocery bills, so he began taking his salary in check, depositing the check in the bank, and taking for himself about $5 a week.

The implication was that he thought other Americans might well do likewise.

Opposes Manpower Legislation

On the general question of manpower policy and legislation, the Chief Executive put Congress on notice that any attempt to pass a bill apportioning available labor among perhaps half a hundred different occupations would be unwise.

Conditions vary between different parts of the country and from one month to another, he asserted, and legislation which would be all right in October might not be in November.

News Behind the News

BY RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 — Tales told by Doollittle raiders recovering from wounds and illness at the Walter Reed hospital here are reminiscent of chapters from Marco Polo's diary or the Arabian Nights. For the moment they constitute the most fantastic epic of the war in so far as it has touched American shores.

Confiscated—Prize bag in the dragnet, which the Federal Bureau of Investigation and Alien Property Custodian Leo P. Crowley have thrown out to catch enemy individuals and take their property, is Fritz von Opel, scion of the wealthy pro-Hitlerite who is known as the "Ford of Germany."

Exhibiting indifference or a lack of sensitivity, young Fritz revisited the United States early in 1941. He was closely watched even before we were drawn into the conflict and it was an easy matter to pick him up as soon as hostilities started between this country and his fatherland. He is now interned somewhere in Florida. Mr. Crowley's blue eyes opened wide when his staff unearthed the extent of the young man's American holdings. So far the federal men have taken over a brewery, a string of automobile service stations and the German's share of ownership in—of all things—a company owning tank cars. He also had sizable bank balances that have been frozen by the Treasury. Total value is placed at about four million dollars.

Like some Americans once assailed by F. D. R., Herr von Opel sought to avoid full payment of taxes to Der Fuehrer. For taxation purposes his legal residence was the sovereign state of Liechten-

Reunion—Every flyer was equipped with a small incendiary bomb for burning his craft if forced down in enemy territory. Since these missiles were carried on each man's person, they escaped the destruction inflicted on other supplies in the plane.

Curiosity overcame one of the rescuers when he discovered this strange occidental article. Before he could be warned, he pulled the string and his filmy home burst into flames. But he thought it merely a fine American joke—something like one of their own festival firecrackers—proving that a decade of war's horrors has not crushed the Chinese sense of humor.

Despite deep cuts and broken arms, the aviators' only vehicles on the long trek into the interior where their comrades had landed safely were made planks borne by their new friends. The Americans suffered agonies during the journey through mountain wilderness but now they make light of their hardships. One captain's leg had to be amputated because the precious store of sulfanilamide was lost in the offshoot crash and ongrene had developed. But he is one of the jolliest members of the group recuperating in Washington.

Two amusing sidelights: They did not bomb the Imperial Palace here spent a few days here with relatives.

Doesn't it seem more sensible?

assuring forecast is announced by an extremely important New York fact-finding mission in the Near East. He has chatted with everyone from rulers down to humble Angora goat herders. He finds that there is not the slightest question but that the sturdy Moslems will fight if their country is invaded.

Earlier in the war Hitler might have jumped them. Ankara took the diplomatic tightrope—as did Stockholm—because her armament was not sufficient for facing the Wehrmacht. Today a million well-drilled and well-equipped soldiers, thanks to American lend-lease and British arsenals, are at their posts. They want no part in the war. But it will cost an aggressor dearly if they are dragged into the struggle. This attitude convinces the growing United States Army in Palestine and Persia that Germany cannot swoop down upon its left flank.

The American investigator observed no signs of an acute food shortage such as one discovers in belt tightened Europe. In fact he was told that members of our embassy there dine almost as well as they would at home. Credit, he explains, should go to the State Department which has done a remarkable job in supplying its overseas staffs everywhere with proper fare to promote health and proper also to impress neutrals with our efficiency. He asserts that as we make progress in smashing the Nazis and bombing the Nazis public opinion swings to our side.

Jitters—The plan to draft the teen-age class has stirred up an imbrolio in New York's most conservative. One faction contends that this group is best fitted to withstand the nervous upheavals of combat because its members are happy-go-lucky and disinclined to brood. The majority of Pearl Harbor veterans were between 18 and 21. Naval hospital records reveal that the fieriest men suffered most from mental disorders which became noticeable long after December 7.

An equally distinguished collection of M. D.'s disputes this theory. It propounds the fact that such youngsters are immature and hence prone to manifest screwball tendencies. Unless selected are rigidly examined in advance, instabilities will not be detected. Every recruit is supposed to be scrutinized by a psychiatrist. But such tests are not possible in remote communities. The doctors fear that as more and more of their profession join the ranks there will not be enough doctors left to weed out the neurotics who might go to pieces under the strain of battle.

Another problem of chronic jitters has developed with features resembling the shell shock cases of 1917-18. It is called "shakes" and is an outgrowth of the experience of being torpedped. In several isolated rest homes a staff of Manhattan specialists is treating a sizable number of merchant seamen, the pitiful victims of U-boats. Encouraging reports have been announced and there is confidence that healing science will remedy this melancholy situation.

Wrecked—The postponement of President Roosevelt's visit, because of the indiscreet remarks of Sumner Welles, has precipitated a squall in New York commercial circles. As an investment center and great seaport the city has more than usual interest in Chile. Ship owners, whose vessels have been submarined as the result of tips furnished by Axis agents in the southern hemisphere, champion the Under Secretary and declare that it is about time the "namby-pamby" State Department got tough with our "not so Good Neighbors."

Wall Street and the exporters take an opposite position. In their opinion a most unfortunate aspect of the cancellation is that it deprives important Chileans of the chance to gaze at our war machine. The topmost officials and businessmen from Santiago and Valparaiso were scheduled to net-

Your Telephone Company GETS IN THE SCRAP

● MOUNTAINS of baled scrap metal come in to be reclaimed at the Nassau Smelting and Refining Co., Western Electric subsidiary.

AMERICA'S vast mining resources are being worked to the limit. But with all their production, millions of tons of additional metal are needed this year to supply our arsenals of war. To get them we must dig into our "mines above ground." We must salvage every pound of scrap metal we can find around our homes, farms, factories and junkyards.

Throughout the nation-wide Bell System, all scrap metal is collected, day by day, baled and shipped to refineries. There expert scrap-metal men sort the various kinds of metal into separate bins. Melted and refined in roaring furnaces, the metal comes out in the form of bars and billets—aluminum for planes—copper for shells and wire—bronze for the propellers of fighting ships. In the Bell System's Nassau, Long Island, refinery alone, more than forty million pounds of vitally needed non-ferrous metals are reclaimed yearly.

Get in the scrap! Search your premises for unused and discarded metal—rubber—rags—and turn them in to your local salvage committee or junkman. Your scrap is needed NOW.

Luce County Exceeds Its Bond Quota

NEWBERRY, Oct. 20—Word has been received here by S. M. Ennis, stamp and bond chairman, that Luce county was one of the 15 counties in Zone 4 which reached or exceeded their quota for September in sale of war savings bonds. Zone 4 is comprised of 36 counties. Luce county's quota for September was $19,700 and sales of war bonds amounted to $24,356, or 124 per cent.

company the chief executive. The local group points out that Andean copper is of immense value in our munitions program and that more than ninety per cent of the republic's ore production is dug on North American owned properties.

They maintain that Welles should have dispatched his critics through confidential diplomatic channels instead of blaring them in public. United States folk among themselves can indulge in blistering vocabularies so long as the words are spoken with a smile. But South Americans are more sensitive and their feathers are easily ruffled. Many a trade deal in the past has been wrecked because we failed to understand Latin temperament. The old fault has popped up again in a much more serious field.

CHEMISTS—While our A. E. F.'s are opening new geographical frontiers our scientists are winning an industrial empire beyond even fantastic horizons. Fear is dispelled that if the nations deluge one another with gas we shall be without masks because of the rubber shortage. A new ethyl chloride plastic is now available for hose, baby pants, raincoats and other articles, which is resistant to mustard and phosgene fumes. Fiberboard instead of steel will soon appear on freight cars; granulated sugar is obtainable from cactus plants; bricks are made from powdered milk.

Laboratories are showering us with such marvels as unbreakable glass that will float on water, milkweed for stuffing mattresses, wood that could not burn even in a Chicago fire, gunpowder fashioned from orange pulp for tomorrow's deer hunters, shoes containing no leather and window screens that do not use wire. Full scale output is checked because of the scarcity of basic materials but they will be available for everyone when peace returns.

Chemists of the new school do not like to have their products described as "substitutes." They argue that most of the latest goods are superior to the familiar originals and that the world will never return to the old. We shall emerge from the struggle with capacities for concocting synthetic fibers, octane gasolines, nitrates, hydrocarbons and similar miracles on a scale in excess of the dreams of two short years ago.

Police Hold Driver After Auto Crash

NEWBERRY, Oct. 20—Clair A. Osterhaut, 20, a resident of Curtis, is being held in the Newberry jail pending investigation of an automobile accident in which Miss Dora Jacko, 15, one of the occupants of his car, was seriously injured when the car crashed into a telephone pole three miles north of Newberry at 2 this morning.

The car turned over two or three times, state police said, and was wrecked. One boy and four girls were riding with Osterhaut, but all except Miss Jacko escaped with minor injuries. She is in the Newberry clinic where, it was reported this afternoon, it was found she had a fractured spine. Her condition was said to be serious.

Teachers Save Children From Blazing Schoolhouse

PORT HURON, Mich., Oct. 20— Fifty-two rural school pupils, ranging in age from six to 14 years, reached safety today from fire which razed their schoolhouse.

Two quick-thinking teachers, Mrs. Lois Way and Miss Leola Benars, dismissed classes as if for the luncheon recess and the children marched from the building in orderly fashion, unaware that it was a fire.

The two-room frame structure was in ashes before firemen could complete their eight-mile run from Port Huron. The loss was estimated at $7,000.

The first adhesive postage stamp of Great Britain was made in 1840, and bore a portrait of young Queen Victoria.

Speaking of GAS RATIONING

THE LESS YOU DRIVE, THE MORE LIKELY IT IS YOUR BATTERY WILL RUN DOWN. THE GENERATOR MAY NOT OPERATE ENOUGH TO DO THE NECESSARY RECHARGING.

EVEN WITH DRIVING LIMITED, UNDER SLOPPY WINTER CONDITIONS GREASE IS WASHED OFF LUBRICATION POINTS. PROTECT FROM RUST BY KEEPING POINTS GREASE-FILLED. LUBRICATE EVERY 2 MONTHS OR AT 1000 MILES WHICHEVER COMES FIRST.

SAVE AS YOU DRIVE UNDER 35
