Doolittle Fliers Jap Prisoners?

Second Lieut. D. E. Hallmark (left above), 37, Dallas, Texas; W. D. Farrow (right), 23, Darlington, S. C., and Sgt. Mechanic Harold A. Spatz, Lebo, Kansas, are three of the four airmen the Tokyo radio reported had fallen into Japanese hands after the April 18 raid on Tokyo led by Brig.-Gen. James H. Doolittle.

Airmen May Be Prisoners, Stimson Says

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(P)—Official acknowledgment that four United States aviators who participated in the bombing of Tokyo April 18 may be in Japanese hands came from the War department today amid indications that the Axis might be heading toward formal repatriation of the accepted laws of humanity in warfare.

Secretary of War Stimson told his press conference the names of the four airmen used in recent Japanese propaganda broadcasts "fairly well correspond" with those of American fliers long listed by the Army as missing. One of the planes in the Japan raid, he said, was interned in Russia and several others were involved in forced landings in China.

Japan has asserted the airmen would be punished for alleged inhumanities during bombing of Japan, but Stimson said he had no reports, other than those of the Japanese radio, that the men had been subjected to trial. It was possible, he said, that the fliers had been forced down after leaving Japan and had fallen into enemy hands.

The Secretary said he was "very loath to believe that Japan" would violate rules of the Geneva Convention governing the conduct of war.

"Our fliers who attacked Tokyo were instructed to attack only military objectives, and our reports are that they did so with remarkable accuracy," Stimson told reporters.

Following up a Monday broadcast that the American airmen had been convicted of "inhuman acts" in the bombing of civilians and the machine-gunning of school children and would be "severely punished" under international law, the Tokyo radio yesterday gave their names as:

Four 'Missing in Action'
Second Lieut. William J. Farrow, 23, Darlington, S. C.; Second Lieut. Dean E. Hallmark, 27, Dallas, Tex.; Corporal Jacob D. Deshaizer, 29, Oregon, and Sergeant Mechanic Harold A. Spatz, 20, Kansas.

In War department records, the following four men are listed as missing in action:

Lieut. William G. Farrow, Box 305, St. John's street, Darlington, S. C.; Lieut. Dean E. Hallmark, 808 Wayne avenue, Dallas, Tex.; Sergt. Harold A. Spatz, Lebo, Kans.; Corp. Jacob Deshaizer, whose next of kin was listed as his mother, Mrs. Hulda Andrus, general delivery, Madras, Ore.

Two Associated Press men, Morris J. Harris and James D. White, who recently returned from Shanghai, said they had heard reports there that American fliers were in Japanese hands.

May Repudiate Laws of War
The indications that the Axis might be preparing the ground for formal departure from international law were read between the lines of German propaganda.

The Berlin radio circulated statements that Germany, Italy and Japan had proof that "on the enemy side formal orders were given for warfare contrary to humanity."

Nine German Planes Shot Down by Fortresses

LONDON, Oct. 22.—(P)—American Flying Fortresses displayed once more their mastery over the best German planes by shooting down nine Focke-Wulf 190's yesterday while lighting their way to bomb the Lorient submarine base, U. S. headquarters announced today.

Three Fortresses were lost, the largest number the Germans yet have been able to bag on one raid.

The raiders ran into extremely bad weather which hampered their mission considerably, although their bombs were seen to crash directly on the target.

The successful running fight of 300 miles against the best German opposition pointed to the day when Fortress formations will go directly east into Germany itself, Western Germany with its arsenals is nearer than Lorient.

U. S. Troops Repulse Minor Jap Thrust on Guadalcanal; Enemy Bomber Shot Down

By Richard L. Turner

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(P)—Still waiting for Japan's big push, American forces in the Solomon Islands repulsed a minor enemy thrust on October 20, destroyed an enemy bomber with anti-aircraft fire and continued a general process of seeking out and bombing Japanese positions on Guadalcanal island.

The Navy made this announcement today in a communique which indicated that the battle for the Solomons was still in its preparatory stages, with the Japanese attempting to mass troops and ships and American aviators striving to blast them before they can get set.

The communique reported no "material change in the military situation in the Solomons." It went on to say that on October 20 (October 19 in Washington) "a minor enemy thrust against the western flank of our troop positions on Guadalcanal was repulsed."

No confusion in commands "During the night of October 20-21," it continued, "an enemy bomber was shot down over Guadalcanal. The bomber, which is believed to have been on a reconnaissance mission, was destroyed by anti-aircraft fire."

"Our aircraft continue active in seeking out and bombing enemy troop and supply concentrations on Guadalcanal island."

In Washington, meanwhile, Assistant Secretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal said that if the American prospects in the Solomons were measured by "the courage of those men down there, there can be but one outcome, complete and final victory."

At a press conference, Secretary Stimson said that General Douglas MacArthur, in supreme command in Australia, and Vice-Admiral Robert A. Gormley, in command in the Solomons, were "working in the closest possible cooperation."

The responsibilities of their commands were "well fixed and thoroughly understood," he added. A reporter had suggested that there was some confusion regarding unity of command. Stimson replied that although the whole Pacific area has had to be divided into theaters of operation there should be no occasion for confusion.

Gorge Given Air Support
Admiral Chester W. Nimitz commands most of the Pacific, including Army operations in the Aleutians, Hawaii, the Fiji Islands, the Solomons, New Hebrides, New Caledonia and New Zealand, not excluding the Pacific coast of the United States and the Alaskan mainland. Admiral Gormley is in direct charge of the southern portion of the Nimitz command, including the Solomons.

General MacArthur commands all United Nations' forces in Australia, New Guinea, and in the islands to the north of Australia. Stimson said he had given extremely valuable bomber support to Admiral Gormley.

Speed Law Violated By Gerald Smith

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Oct. 22.—(P)—Gerald L. K. Smith, sticker candidate for the United States Senate, said tonight he wasn't molested on an automobile trip here from Detroit during which he averaged between 50 and 55 miles an hour.

He announced last Tuesday he would defy the wartime speed limit of 35 miles an hour "that has been handed down by someone from somewhere."

"I averaged between 50 and 55 miles an hour," Smith said. "Sometimes I drove 25 miles an hour, sometimes it was 60, and a few times it reached 70."

"I didn't see a traffic cop anywhere," Smith said he saw a white car a few miles outside of Battle Creek and followed it for 12 miles at a speed of 51 miles an hour. He said he identified it as belonging to the Kalamazoo county sheriff's office.

"I can't say that the sheriff was in it, but it belonged to his office," Smith said.

He said he would make the return trip to Detroit the same way.

Brown, Ferguson Will Debate Campaign Issues

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 22.—(P)—Senator Prentiss M. Brown and Judge Homer Ferguson, Democratic and Republican candidates for United States Senate, agreed tonight to debate campaign issues on time contributed by the Michigan radio network.

The offer of free time for one or more debates was made by George W. Trendle, head of Radio Station WXYZ, which has a statewide hookup. Trendle's only stipulation was that the contestants arrange to debate at an hour when the airways could be cleared.

Brown accepted the offer before leaving Grand Rapids tonight and Ferguson, reached at Lexington, said he welcomed the opportunity.

No date was set for the broadcast, but Brown mentioned next Tuesday night for the first debate.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 22.—(P)—George Hemple, 80, Sand Lake, died in St. Mary's hospital here today of injuries suffered Sunday when he was struck by an automobile.

Gogebic Girl Peninsula's Potato Queen

L'ANSE, Oct. 22.—(Special to The Mining Journal)—Miss Gloria Swanson, Gogebic county, tonight was selected Upper Peninsula Potato Queen at the dinner which marked the conclusion of the thirtieth annual U. P. potato show.

Winners in the premier growers contest for vocation students in agricultural schools, announced by C. V. Vaughan, Iron River, were: Contest 1, first, Edward Bronzowski, Iron River; Contest 2, first, Gerald Steff, Cornell; Contest 3, first, Martin Wainikainen, Trenary.

Francis Kotila, Baraga county clerk, was toastmaster at the dinner tonight and the address of welcome was delivered by Elwood Little, secretary of the L'Anse Commercial club. A violin solo was played by Oscar Olsen, Piquette, and the principal address was given by L. H. Robbins, Chicago, agricultural agent for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway.

Rommel Commands All Axis Forces in Mediterranean

By Stephen Barber
CAIRO, Oct. 22.—(P)—Marshal Erwin Rommel was reported tonight in supreme command of all Axis land, sea and air forces in the Mediterranean—including the Italian navy—and planning twin offensives against Egypt and Syria.

Sources who cannot be identified by name but who have close contacts in Europe said Rommel obtained his expanded authority on his recent visits to Berlin and Rome.

These reports implied that the Italian navy, which rarely has ventured beyond the range of coastal guns, and Mussolini's army and air forces had been reduced to about the same puppet status as the forces of Rumania or Hungary.

Reports of the past few weeks have spoken of the imminence of an offensive. Many have suggested that the British would be the first to strike.

To disrupt any offensive plans Rommel may have, American and British planes continued their destructive attacks on Axis supply lines and advanced bases in Egypt. The land forces deployed possible Allied attack. Concentrations of parachute troops and planes have been reported from time to time in positions for just such an attack on the British rear position guarding the Middle East.

(Whether Rommel can beat the British to the offensive punch in Egypt is doubtful. His Mediterranean shipping has suffered heavy losses, while reports for months have told of the growing Allied strength since Gen. Sir Harold Alexander took command. Vast quantities of new American equipment and troop units have been reported moving into battle positions.)

Offensive Imminent
(A battle of headquarters has been in feverish, if unproductive, progress ever since the Allied line halted the Axis 80 miles west of Alexandria. Reports of the past few weeks have spoken of the imminence of an offensive. Many have suggested that the British would be the first to strike.)

British Planes Cross Europe to Bomb Italy

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(P)—A chain of air raid alarms tonight across the European continent and in Paris, Vichy, Toulouse and Lyon in France.

There were two alarms in Geneva, the number usually sounded in the past when British airmen winged southward toward Italy's northern factories and then returned after accomplishing their mission. Lengthening nights now make possible further Allied plane forays.

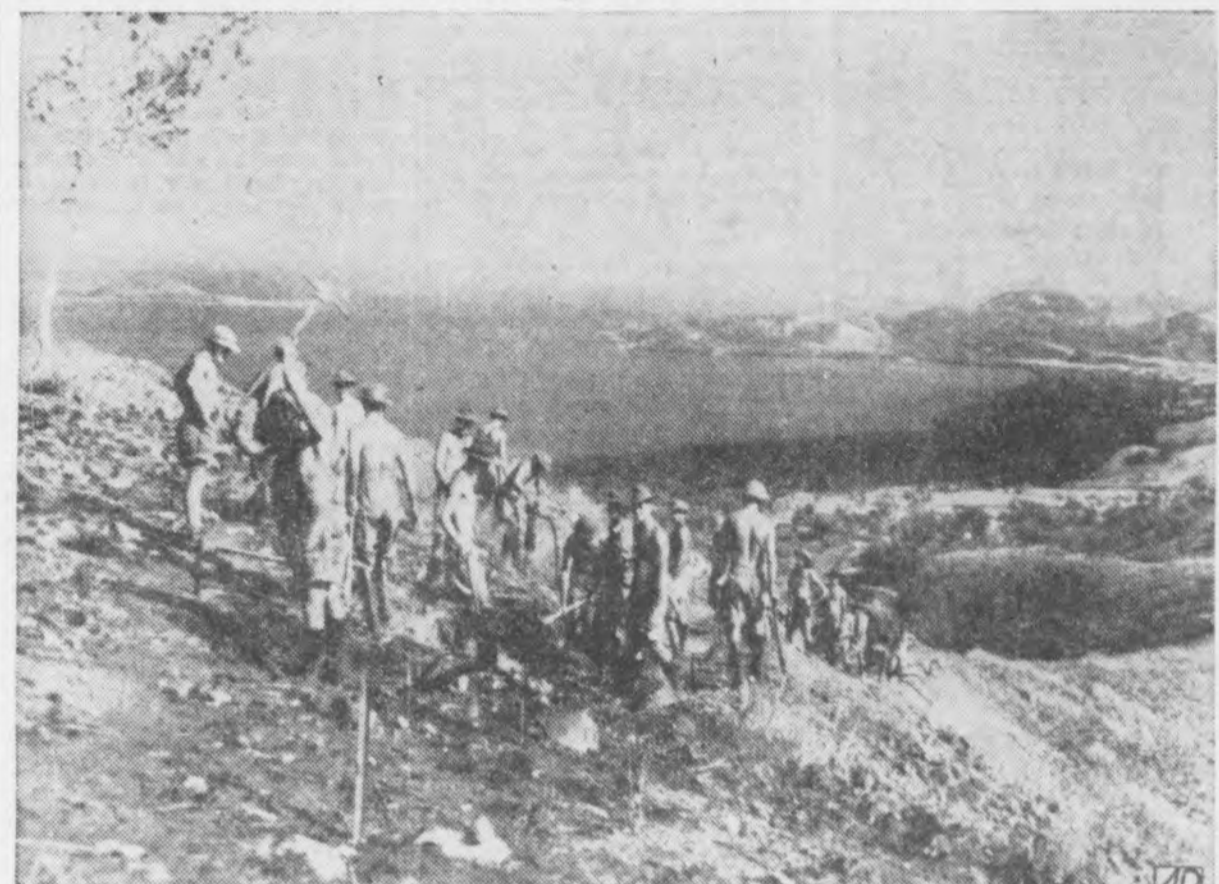

The last RAF raid from Britain on northern Italy was last April 13, when British bombers smashed at the royal arsenal at Turin.

Since then the British have struck repeatedly from the Mediterranean area at Sicily and points in southern Italy, notably Naples and Taranto.

The raid on Turin last April involved a round trip of 1,500 miles.

Parents Get Last Letter From Sailor

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—(P)—Henry H. Glorch, machinist's mate, first class, reported missing two days ago from the southern tip of Bougainville island in the Solomon Islands to the north of embattled Guadalcanal, was made at night on enemy shipping concentrations in the face of strong anti-aircraft and searchlight opposition. Such shipping concentrations have been sought out by the Allies to weaken any impending assault upon American-held Guadalcanal.

Ten tons of bombs were dropped by the planes, all of which located their targets at Buin, and later returned safely to their bases.

One-Third Of Nation To Be In War Effort

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(P)—Donald M. Nelson, war production chairman, calculated today that more than one out of every three persons in America eventually will participate directly in the war program through service in the armed forces, employment in war plants or performing work essential to the war effort, such as farming.

Nelson was asked at a press conference whether this country could equal the effort of Britain, where one-third of the population is in direct war activities. Nelson replied, "If you count food as part of it, which I do, you will certainly have more than a third."

Jap, Allied Bombers Exchange Air Blows

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Oct. 23.—(Friday)—(P)—Japanese and Allied bombers exchanged blows, the Japs bombing Port Moresby and the Allies Buin while Allied ground forces were continuing to push the Japanese back toward Kokoda in the Owen Stanley mountains, the Allied high command reported today.

The Allied bomber attack on Buin, at the southern tip of Bougainville island in the Solomon Islands to the north of embattled Guadalcanal, was made at night on enemy shipping concentrations in the face of strong anti-aircraft and searchlight opposition. ## Soviet Winter Tightens Grip On Long Front

By Henry C. Cassidy

MOSCOW, Oct. 23.—(Friday)—The Red army fighting on the snowy steppes northwest of Stalingrad captured Nazi trenches in an offensive spurt yesterday while inside the besieged city the Russians in hand-to-hand combat killed a battalion of Germans and smashed 12 enemy tanks in a successful defense now entering its 60th day.

The two-day fight in another sector of the same front where the Russians have been attacking the Nazi flank to relieve pressure on the Stalingrad garrison resulted in the killing of 500 German and Rumanian troops. This fight was said to have developed from an Axis effort to recapture some hill strongholds.

Report Gains South of City

"In the area of Stalingrad," the communique related, "our troops repelled enemy infantry and tank attacks. The Germans attacked in the area of a factory. In bitter fighting which often developed into hand-to-hand engagements 12 German tanks were smashed and one battalion (about 500 men) was wiped out."

South of Stalingrad the Russians said one of their units destroyed another German infantry company along with five guns and 20 machine guns.

Severe cold rains began yesterday and the Stalingrad area yesterday as the Russians continued their resolute defense amid the ruins of the battered Volga river city, and front dispatches said the German penetrations into the northern industrial district several days ago still were ineffective.

In the Caucasus the Germans had "succeeded in driving a wedge into the front line of our defenses" in the Mozdok area, but added fighting is in progress for the annihilation of this enemy group.

Seventy German tanks were knocked out, eight guns destroyed and approximately 500 Nazis killed in the region which protects the approaches to the Grozny oil wells.

Winter Taking Firm Hold

Along the Black sea coast southeast of Novorossisk the Russians said the Germans lost 150 officers and men in an unsuccessful charge up the slopes of one Russian-held hill, and in another sector of the same area a Soviet marine unit killed more than 300 Rumanians.

Fighting again flared in the Voronezh sector some 300 miles northwest of Stalingrad with the Russians smashing down two more Axis infantry companies.

All along the vast 2,000-mile front, Hitler's silent enemy, the Russian winter, was tightening its grip, and in spots where the first white flakes had not hidden the rubble of battle, the autumn rains had converted great areas into deep quagmires.

The army newspaper, Red Star, said the Germans, staggered by great and continuing casualties, had slackened their offensive on Stalingrad to attack on small sectors—all of which attacks were repulsed.

Flynn's Hearing on Rape Charges Set for Nov. 2

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 22.—(P)—Errol Flynn, man - adventure and derring-do on the screen, will appear in superior court November 2 for preliminary hearing on three counts of statutory rape.

The defendant actor was to have come into court tomorrow for a preliminary hearing on charges of raping 17-year-old Betty Hansen of Lincoln, Neb., at a movie party last month, but another complaint was filed, charging he twice raped Peggy LaRue Satterlee last year when she was 15 years old.

The two cases were consolidated for trial under an agreement reached as the actor was arraigned this morning on the Satterlee allegation.

"We'll fight the charges and Flynn will be exonerated," said the actor's lawyer, Robert Ford. "It looks like open season on Flynn," commented Jerry Giesler, specialist in criminal law, who joined the defense counsel.

The complaint filed in behalf of Miss Satterlee alleges Flynn twice violated her aboard his yacht, the Sirocco, August 3, 1941, enroute from Los Angeles to Catalina Island.

Statutory rape, under California law, involves any sex act against a girl under 18 years, whether with or without consent.

Liquor Ban Sidetracked By Senate

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(P)—A dry amendment to the youth-draft bill was sidetracked by the Senate, 49 to 25, today after a hot debate in which supporters called it a necessary safeguard for soldiers and sailors and opponents denounced it as "the entering wedge of the long blue nose of prohibition."

Offered by Senator Lee (D-Okla.), the amendment would ban sales, gifts or use of all alcoholic drink from Army and Navy reservations and adjacent areas.

At the earnest suggestion of Senator Barkley (D-Ky.), majority leader, the Senate decided to send the amendment to its military committee with instruction to hold hearings and a report as soon as practicable.

This meant, it was apparent, a delay in Senate consideration until after the November 3 elections and Senator Norris (Ind-Neb.) told his colleagues it spelled the death of the Lee proposal which he supported.

The Senate decision opened the way for an early vote on the draft bill, making youths 18 and 19 years old available for military service.

However, this vote was put off at least until tomorrow when the Senate recessed late in the day.

Stimson, Knox Oppose Ban
Extra policemen guarded the Senate wing of the Capitol as the dry issue was threshed out. Police authorities described the guards as "purely a precautionary measure" because of the overflow crowds in galleries and corridors.

Barkley told his colleagues that Congress ought to have additional time to study the question. Adoption of Lee's amendment now, he said, would be bound to delay final action on the draft legislation until some time in November. He said Speaker Rayburn of the House had informed him it would be impossible to raise a House quorum until next month because so many members had gone home. The House passed a draft bill last Saturday, without any amendment such as Lee proposed.

In a letter to Chairman Walsh (D-Mass.) of the naval affairs committee, which was read to the Senate, Secretary of the Navy Knox joined Secretary of War Stimson in opposing the amendment. Knox contended the Navy was getting "gratifying results" in promoting temperance through its regulations and an educational program.

Rationing of Coffee Wanted by Merchants

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—(P)—Formal rationing of coffee along the lines of sugar distribution—already asked by merchant groups in New York and Ohio—was accepted today by many food merchants as inevitable.

Such action would be as much to prevent hoarding, as to force coffee drinkers to comply with the War Production Board reduction to 65 per cent of normal use, dealers said.

Coffee was scarcer over most of the nation, and many families were forced to go without, despite informal rationing by stores at the rate of a pound or half-pound to the customer.

Chest Teams Add $1,826 To Pledges

Community Chest campaigners, pushing their way to the goal of $18,662, were $8,300 short of the mark when yesterday's collections were added to the total to date, but divisional leaders predicted a large part of that gap would be closed when final reports are made today by most of the canvassing teams.

Pledges turned in yesterday, fourth day of the drive, amounted to $1,826.75 and when figures covering the four days were compiled in campaign headquarters last evening it was found that the total was $10,324.77.

Expect "Big Day" Today

Because many of the team captains have made no report since the campaign started last Monday and others have made only partial reports of what they have collected, it is expected that today will be the "banner day" of the canvass, it was stated last night by George E. Bishop, chairman of the drive.

"I find it is inconvenient for many of our canvassers and team captains to make daily reports," Bishop said, "Most of them prefer to hold back until their work is finished, or nearly so. We probably will get final reports Friday from a number of leaders who have turned in nothing as yet. We are $8,300 short of our goal and it is our purpose to complete the drive by Saturday. We have a big gap to close, but I believe Friday's reports will take up a large part of the slack. A checkup of pledges turned in up to tonight shows we have received only a small part of the money we will get from some of the divisions."

Wants Reports Today

Mr. Bishop says all campaign leaders to make a special effort to turn in reports today, not later than 4:30. The campaign headquarters is in the commission chamber of the city hall.

"I can understand why many captains have held back their returns," Bishop said, "but it is important that we should know exactly where we stand Friday night, so I hope every team will make a report not later than 4:30."

He again expressed confidence that the goal will be reached and said the drive would be continued until every prospective contributor has been called on.

Divisional returns up to 4:30 yesterday follow:

Central	1,568.50
Educational	60.00
Territorial	3,383.51
Local retail	750.75
Local wholesale	228.00
Public employes	977.50
Professional	866.50
National retail	497.50
Industrial	1,992.51
Total	$10,324.77

Elimination of Politics Claimed by Van Wagoner

GRAND RAPIDS, Oct. 22—Governor Van Wagoner gave the people of western Michigan tonight a review of what he said was his administration's success in taking politics out of government.

Van Wagoner told a political rally his administration had corrected a "series of scandals" in previous administrations involving crippled children, old age clients, the state hospitals, state purchasing and liquor control.

An attempt of the Republican-dominated legislature to spend crippled children funds on a political basis, Van Wagoner said, was frustrated by the administration arranging insertion "into the new appropriation bill a clause which appeared to pass unnoticed. That clause allowed us to spend the money on the basis of need."

Old age waiting lists were wiped out for the first time in history, he said, and grants raised to a new high. The dry element in Michigan concedes reform of the liquor control, he asserted and quoted Dr. James K. Pollock, University of Michigan political scientist, as saying the state's new purchasing system is "on the highest standard in Michigan history."

REPORT ON TYPEWRITERS

LANSING, Oct. 22—P—The state budget department seeks to learn how many typewriters owned by state agencies might be sold to the government for the use of the armed forces. Agencies were asked to report the number, makes and models of machines in their possession. The War Production Board has requested all business and government agencies to sell 20 per cent of their typewriters to the Government.

Axis Troopship Sinking Claims Branded as Lies

LONDON, Oct. 22—P—Lieut.-Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower branded as lies today the recent German claims that submarines had sunk several liners "heavily laden with American troops."

The commander of U. S. Army forces in the European theater issued this statement:

"At the end of September the Axis spread and later repeated stories that several large ocean-going liners 'heavily laden with American troops' had been torpedoed. These claims are completely unfounded and are merely another example of the untrustworthiness of Axis reports."

"The information has been withheld until every American soldier that was on the Atlantic at the time of the German announcement was landed safely in the United Kingdom and we could assure ourselves of the complete falsity of the German claims."

"The navies, whose task it is to escort our continuous troop movements into this theater, have been and are daily accorded magnificent protection—a fact which every soldier in our Army clearly appreciates and gratefully acknowledges."

Industrial Accidents Increase in Michigan

LANSING, Oct. 22—P—The state department of labor and industry reported today that despite a large increase in compensable accidents listed by Michigan employers during September, there was no increase in the number of industrial deaths.

The department said 2,812 compensable accidents were reported for the month, largest number since September, 1941. There were 179 cases of permanent disability reported, compared with 151 in August. In both months, there were 20 industrial fatalities reported by employers.

Cincinnati, Bishop of Southern Ohio.

The Rev. Henry Lewis, D. D., of Ann Arbor, and the Rev. James E. Clarke, on leave from Central Church, Oswego, N. Y., for military service, will attend Bishop-elect Page.

Three official delegates from the Upper Peninsula will attend the consecration. The new bishop will come to the Upper Peninsula next week to become head of the diocese of Northern Michigan, preaching his first sermon November 1 in St. Paul's church, Marquette.

The three Peninsula delegates to the ceremony are the Rev. Roger Sherman, Negaunee; the Rev. C. G. Ziegler, Ishpeming, and the Rev. George Weiser, Iron Mountain.

Brake Gives Radio Talk Here Tonight

D. HALE BRAKE

State Senator D. Hale Brake, Stanton (Montcalm county), Republican candidate for state treasurer in the November 3 election, will speak from the studios of WDMJ, the Mining Journal radio station, this evening from 7:10 to 7:20.

Senator Brake and Circuit Judge Earl Pugsley, Hart, candidate for election to the state supreme court on the non-partisan ballot, are making a campaign tour of the Upper Peninsula and are visiting most of the cities in it.

Brake, who tried unsuccessfully to win the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor in the September primary, was the overwhelming choice of the party's state convention for nomination as treasurer two weeks later. He defeated a state senator colleague, Earl L. Burhans, of Paw Paw, who withdrew when the balloting indicated a landslide for Brake.

Judge Pugsley, a Michigan university graduate, has filled the circuit court post in the Oceana district for several years. He was nominated by acclamation after early opposition from Circuit Judge Leland W. Carr, Lansing, collapsed as the convention began balloting.

DISMISSALS UPHeld

LANSING, Oct. 22—P—The civil service appeal board today upheld the dismissal of Joseph Morgan and Joseph Passey, former employees of the liquor control commission in Detroit who were fired for participating in a strike for higher wages. Thomas J. Wilson, state civil service director, said the men were identified as leaders of the strike. A number of others who participated in the strike have been reinstated by the liquor control commission.

Hunters' Aid Sought In Collecting Animal Fat

LANSING, Oct. 22—P—Aid of sportsmen's group and similar organizations in campaigns to collect fat and hides of game animals, mainly deer, shot by hunters, is sought by the state conservation department.

The War Production Board has asked cooperation of hunters in saving deer fat and hides. P. J.

Hoffmaster, state conservation director, said the fat would be contributed to the collection of cooking fats and munitions production and the hides for valuable buckskin.

Estimating that each deer would provide six pounds of fat, upwards of 150,000 pounds of fat might be collected during the November deer hunting season. All discarded animal carcasses could be contributed, if a system of collection were arranged.

Admiral To Speak Here On Navy Day

Rear Admiral H. G. Taylor, stationed in Chicago, will come to Marquette next Tuesday, October 27, to be the principal speaker at a public Navy Day dinner in the banquet hall of the Masonic temple. It was announced yesterday afternoon.

The dinner is sponsored by the Marquette Range Engineers' club, the Richard M. Jopling post, American Legion, and the Navy Veterans Committee for Recruiting, Marquette. It is being arranged as a highlight of the celebration of Navy Day in Marquette county and plans were completed yesterday when official word was received from Chicago that Admiral Taylor had accepted the invitation to attend.

Tickets for the dinner, which will cost $1.25 each, are on sale at Pendill's drug store, Marquette, and may also be procured from L. R. Atkins, Islipening. William Ulrich will have charge of the preparation and serving of the food.

Lieut. Long, Who Bagged Jap Bombers, Home for Ten Days

Lieut. Stanley A. Long, 22, first Marquette pilot in the U. S. Army air corps to be credited with shooting down Jap bombers, is home on a 10-day furlough after a long period of active duty in the Alaskan theater of war and is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Long, 508 Oak street.

Lieut. Long had his exciting experience with Jap bombers early in August while flying a Lockheed P-38, one of the Army's speediest interceptor fighters, over a rocky island between Dutch Harbor and Jap-occupied Kiska.

With Long was Lieut. Kenneth Ambrose, 23, Berkeley, Calif., who also was flying a P-38. Flying at 20,000 feet, they sighted two Jap bombers at 7,000. Diving immediately, Long and Ambrose came down behind the bombers and the enemy ships were so close together that the first burst of fire from Long's plane struck both Japs. Ambrose attacked simultaneously and his bullets set fire to one of the bombers. The Japs tried to escape, but Long and Ambrose maneuvered into position for a second and frontal assault. Both Americans hit their targets again and when the Japs went into a fog bank one ship was enveloped in flames.

committee chairmen of the sponsoring organizations said yesterday it will be served at 6:30.

Navy Show, Parade Set For Monday

The Navy Day parade and moving picture show, originally scheduled for Tuesday night, have been changed to Monday night, it was announced yesterday by officers of the sponsoring organizations, the Richard M. Jopling post, American Legion, and the Navy Veterans Committee for Recruiting.

It became necessary to make the change when the Legion and Veterans committee learned that Rear Admiral H. G. Taylor, Chicago, would come here Tuesday evening to speak at a public Navy tending Northern Michigan College of Education three years. Completing the flight course he enlisted in the Army air corps and went to Randolph Field, Texas, for preliminary training and then to Kelly Field, Texas, where he was commissioned a second lieutenant. After a 14-day leave of absence, which he spent in Marquette, he was assigned to Portland, Ore., for active duty. Subsequently he was sent to the Alaskan war zone for duty with the air force which has been active over the Aleutians. He was promoted to the rank of first lieutenant after going to Alaska.

He will return to duty in Alaska at the expiration of his leave.

Day dinner Tuesday evening in the Masonic temple.

It will move east on Baraga to Front, north on Front to Washington, west of Washington to Third, north on Third to Ridge, east on Ridge to Front and north on Front to the Graveraet high school, where it will disband.

ODT Warns Commercial Car Owners

The Office of Defense Transportation, in an urgent message yesterday, asked operators of commercial motor vehicles in this area, to fill out and return without delay their applications for Certificates of War Necessity.

Applications for operators in this county already have been distributed, according to ODT. Any carrier who has not received a blank should apply to the ODT motor transport division field office for Form CWN-4.

In its appeal, ODT stated: "After November 15, all trucks, buses, taxicabs and other commercial motor vehicles MUST carry Certificates of War Necessity. Without a certificate it will be impossible to obtain gasoline, tires or parts for any such vehicle.

"Carriers should fill out their applications accurately and return them at once in self-addressed envelopes provided for the purpose.

Avoid mistakes. Fill out all pertinent questions fully.

"Mistakes in the applications, or incomplete answers, will mean delay in obtaining certificates."

Rabbit Supply Plentiful In This District

LANSING, Oct. 22—Wet weather which eased hunting pressure at the opening has left Lower Peninsula game coverts well stocked as the small game season nears the halfway mark, the state conservation department reported today.

Excellent partridge hunting has developed in northern counties. While the pheasant population still is plentiful in southern areas.

War has reduced Lower Michigan small game hunters 20 per cent and the game kill 15 per cent, a department survey of seven strategic hunting areas disclosed. The survey, taken during the first four days of the season, showed there was a 37 per cent decline in hunters and a 41 per cent drop in game killed at the Barry county game area.

With the small game season now closed in the Upper Peninsula, nimbros north of the Straits were concentrating on rabbits and ducks.

Only fair shooting of waterfowl was reported.

Report by districts:

Gogebic - Ontonagon — Rabbit hunting is improving in the Ontonagon areas. Duck hunting is fair on Lac Vieux desert.

Baraga - Houghton—Duck hunting is poor, but scattered flocks of flight ducks have been seen. Fair rabbit hunting is reported throughout the district.

Marquette - Alger—Ideal weather and a good supply of birds wrote a "very successful" finish to the upland game season. Rabbits are abundant, but interest has not yet reached a peak in that sport.

Iron - Dickinson—Duck hunters still awaiting arrival of northern birds. Rabbits are plentiful throughout the district.

Delta - Menominee—A successful grouse hunting season was reported, and a good supply of partridge was left for next year. Duck hunting is normal.

Luce - Chippewa — Favorable duck shooting weather is in prospect. Take of local ducks on inland lakes and streams has been only fair. Little rabbit hunting to date.

Uncle Sam As Employer

If the House Civil Service committee carries out the inquiry proposed in the resolution introduced by its chairman, Representative Ramspeck, of Georgia, it will be one of the busiest and one of the most useful committees in Washington.

Laval Makes Appeal

LAVAL, appealing to the French workers to volunteer for work in German war plants, baited his speech with assertion that the Nazis had made another concession. Only a Palliative

While the department reports an average speed on the highways under the 35-mile limit it has found that violations run about 50 per cent. The showing, however, is not as good as its report indicates.

Quotations

The Axis ringleaders and their brutal henchmen must be tried in accordance with the judicial processes of criminal law.—President Roosevelt.

Sentiment

Sentiment is a lock of Mary's hair clipped at the age of 1. It is Mother's memory book, fat with stubs of tickets to theaters attended around 1905.

Two English workmen were discussing the war. "It'll be an awful job, Sam," said one.

War Prisoners

S. A. Fulton To Speak In Church Here

Samuel A. Fulton, Milwaukee, international trustee of The Gideons, who is coming here today to attend the fall convention of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan division of that organization, will speak Sunday morning in the First Presbyterian church, it was announced yesterday by John H. Francis, divisional secretary.

Mr. Fulton, who is also a past international president and chaplain of The Gideons, is the designer of the Testament which the Gideons are distributing to men in the armed forces of the United States. In the last 18 months more than 2,250,000 copies of the Testament have been given out and they are being distributed at the rate of 300,000 a month.

It is expected that Mr. Fulton will arrive in Marquette in time to participate in "The Gideons' program" which will be broadcast from the studios of WJMI, the Mining Journal radio station, from 4:15 to 4:30 this afternoon. He also will speak on the program to be broadcast from the same station Saturday afternoon from 5 to 5:30.

Mr. Fulton will be the principal speaker at The Gideons' convention dinner in the Clifton hotel tomorrow night. It will begin at 6:30. Mr. Francis, who has charge of arrangements for the convention, has accepted an invitation to speak in St. Paul's Episcopal church Sunday.

California has had far more earthquakes than any other state, with Washington, Utah and New York following in that order.

Navy Recruit Office Open Every Night

Because of increasing interest among young men in all branches of the Navy, the recruiting office in the postoffice building will be open every night from 7 to 9, it was announced yesterday. At least one member of the regular Navy recruiting staff will be on duty each night together with two members of the Navy Veterans Committee for Recruiting.

Prospective applicants for enlistment are invited to call at the office and obtain information, and parents and other interested persons also are urged to take this opportunity to learn facts about what the Navy has to offer men seeking a chance to get valuable vocational training.

"The Navy has specialist schools in which it trains men to become machinists, carpenters, firemen, engineers, chemists, typists, stenographers, cooks and bakers," it was stated yesterday by Dan Vaughan, chairman of the Navy Veterans Committee. "It is possible for recruits to apply for training in any school they want. The pay is the highest in the history of the Navy and extra allowances are paid to men who have wives, children or other dependents."

State Oil Industry To Meet Federal Quota
 LANSING, Oct. 22—P. J. Hoffmaster, state supervisor of wells, said today that Michigan's oil industry, for the first time since spring, appears likely this month and next to meet its Federal petroleum quota.

The Federal petroleum coordinator's office has filed Michigan's November quota at 64,500 barrels daily.

"Our computations aren't complete," Hoffmaster said, "but it appears that we will be able to produce about that much this month and will do it again in November. The reason lies in the drilling of new wells and increased production in wells recently drilled."

Obituary
LaFortune Funeral
 Funeral services for Miss Edw. LaFortune will be held this morning at 9 in St. John's church. Burial will be made in Holy Cross cemetery. Pall bearers will be William Crowley, Edward LaVigne, Daniel Keough, George McCormick, Joseph VanChestain and Charles Croisette.

Retraction of Charges Demanded by Rushton

LANSING, Oct. 22—P—Attorney General Herbert J. Rushton demanded in an open letter today a retraction of charges expressed in a campaign speech by Governor Van Wagener that Rushton had proposed "viciously anti-labor" legislation to the legislature.

"If that statement was made by you," Rushton's letter said, "I demand immediate public retraction of the same as no one knows better than you that the quoted statement concerning me is utterly and completely false."

The text of the Governor's speech at a political rally at Muskegon Wednesday night carried the statement: "My public threat of votes killed some viciously anti-labor measures sought last year by the Republican attorney general and reactionary legislators."

Liquor Prices To Be Increased November 1
 LANSING, Oct. 22—P—The state liquor control commission reported today that completion of Congressional action on the new tax bill will result in a substantial increase in liquor prices for Michigan residents on November 1. On that date, a new price board will be made effective, passing on to consumers the $2-a-gallon boost in alcohol tax. Liquor prices will advance 50 cents a quart, 40 cents a fifth, and 25 cents a pint, it was reported by B. M. Davey, commission secretary. Small increases also would result in the price of beer and wine as of that date.

With sugar under rationing, Davey asserted, an outbreak of moonshine whisky production because of the price increases is unlikely.

THE STORY: Blythe Miller hopes to divert the affections of handsome, conciled, susceptible Norman Dana from herself to Nancy Hale. For Nancy is in love with Duane Hogan, and so is Blythe. Both Duane and Norman are cadet pilots, ex-college stars now playing football under Blythe's dad at Lincoln Field. Nancy is a young, pretty widow of a soldier, and has been working as Miller's stenographer since she and her young son were rescued by Duane from an auto wreck.

AGAIN THE STRANGER

CHAPTER XI
Blythe thought that her new plan was tightening down to crystal clarity by the time she got off the bus at her home this Sunday evening. But her thinking was interrupted when she recognized two sports editors coming out her front door.

"Hi!" she greeted them. "Want any free advice or anything?" They teased back in kind; they liked Coach Miller's lovely daughter. Then they wanted to know more about Coach.

"Just a cold," Blythe explained. "Hit him last night, after the game."

"Sounds croupy, Miss Miller." Summers of the Journal said that. "Keep him in bed. We don't want him getting the pneumonia!"

They made headlines out of it Monday. Coach Pop Miller in bed, and a game with the powerful State U. team scheduled for Thursday. With luck, the doc said he might be up for the game, but meanwhile assistant coaches would have to run things.

"Psychologically, this is a break for the Lincoln cadets," Summers wrote in his column of chit-chat.

"There might have been a let-down after the sensational 7-0 win over the Aggies Saturday, due to overconfidence. But with Coach Pop missing, his 'lads' will now want to prove their ability to carry on for him. They'll probably work their heads off and try to chase the State gang out of the stadium—which will be quite a feat if accomplished."

Pop felt better by Monday morning and wanted to get up. Mom and Blythe overruled him. Blythe cut her own school classes and biked out early to his athletic field office to handle whatever business came along before 10 a. m. Nancy Hale, Pop's secretary, worked from 10 till 7 each day.

First thing was a stack of Monday mail. Newspapers from other towns. Advertisements. Assorted business matter. Blythe slit open the envelopes and stacked the letters neatly, glancing at each to see if any were urgent. One letter, which had come first class, arrested her at once. It had only a few words typed in the middle of a white sheet, and it was not signed. It read:

You can't get by with that. Say nothing. And be ready.

Blythe's eyes went wide and her mouth made a round red O. She picked up the envelope again. Sure enough, it had been marked "Personal."

sonal." But even so, she had always opened everything in Pop's mail, even the frequent "Personal" letters which came usually from ambitious kids wanting to learn football.

On sudden impulse she opened his middle desk drawer. She probed far back in it. . . Yes, the fat envelope was still there!

She didn't open that, nor even inspect it further. But something intuitive told her that envelope was associated with this personal mail; also that Pop's obvious anger last week, when she had seen the furtive caller leaving his office and had found the envelope on his desk, were somehow all connected. It was not clear, not by any means. Moreover, it was none of her business. Or—was it? After all, Pop belonged to her.

You can't get by with that. . . Say nothing. . . Be ready. . . Blythe read the words over and over. A vague sense of fright had tightened inside her. She wished she had someone to talk to. Pop was home, sick in bed. The big field house and gymnasium were empty at this hour, save for Mrs. Nancy Hale and baby Scooter who lived in the cute "loft" apartment on the far wing. And, too, the papers had carried news of Pop's being in bed. Readers would know they couldn't call on him in person today. If—if this—this typed warning—

Blythe tried to think it through, and couldn't. She looked at her watch. Nine-twenty. Forty minutes before Nancy would come down, and anyway—did she want to take Nancy Hale into her confidence? She didn't feel any too cordial toward her!

"That's absolutely childish!" Blythe suddenly reprimanded herself. "Of course I must talk with Nancy. We are friends. She's Pop's right-hand helper now, and she'll probably know all about it. It's just—just some silly message. I imagine. Some kid trick."

She put a weight on the stacked letters and got up to leave the office. She would just go talk to Nancy about it now. She wouldn't be regarded as intruding, this late in the morning.

Outside she stopped suddenly. There, walking away from her, was that same man!

She couldn't have been mistaken. He had the same hurried manner, the same derby hat, the same overcoat with upturned collar. A small-statured man who, even from the rear this way, looked a bit stunted. Moreover, he, too, was stooping up Nancy Hale's stairs!

A sense of emergency gripped Blythe now. She looked around frantically. She couldn't have said exactly why. After all, there was nothing to be distressed about, nothing tangible. What was wrong with a mere man climbing Mrs. Hale's stairs, here in mid-morning?

Instinctively tip-toeing. Blythe advanced. She peered around the corner of the gym. Yes, a taxi waited on the street. The driver even had his motor running, she observed. He did not see her.

She turned then and went up to the first landing ever so silently. The man was already rapping on Nancy's door. Blythe peeped around the L in the stairway hall; it was hazy dark up there, dark and ominous. Then Nancy's door opened.

"Yes?" the young widow said. Blythe waited, frantic to know what she should do.

"I got a proposition, sister," a raspy voice said. Conscience or no conscience Blythe could not have revealed herself now! The man sounded like a movie gangster. He went on talking.

"Nobody seen me come in here, see. Nobody'll see me go out. What I got to say won't take—" "Who are you?" Nancy demanded.

"New mind who I am. That don't interest you. This does. . . This." There was a short pause before Nancy spoke again. "What does?"

What is this for?" He answered in expansive, hinting tones, too oily. "It's for you, sister! . . . All for you. At's money, can't you see? All of it. A grand. You're flat ain't you? The papers said so. Okay, here's plenty! . . . Plenty! A grand, in small bills. And more where that come from, see?"

"Money!" croaked Nancy, bewildered. "Sure! Money, for you." "But—what in the world? I don't understand!"

"Easy, see. Nothing to it. Earn it in two hours, maybe one. Easy. We want a little job done, see. No trouble. No talk or noise. Want a little job done, at's all. We'll even show you how."

Qualifications For Prison Guard Lowered

LANSING, Oct. 22—P—Qualifications for Michigan prison guards have been lowered again by the state corrections department to cope with the growing manpower shortage.

The department disclosed today its previous age limits of 25 to 50 years had been reduced to a minimum of 23 years and no maximum. A minimum weight of 150 pounds is required of applicants, but under a new order examining physicians are allowed a five per cent weight tolerance in passing candidates.

The department said it had more than 60 vacancies at the state prison of southern Michigan and a few at the Ionia reformatory. Applications for an imminent civil service examination must be filed by November 7.

Aid Clients To Get Higher Food Grants

LANSING, Oct. 22—(AP)—The state welfare commission today authorized F. F. Fauri, state director of social welfare, to increase food allowances 25 per cent in social security grants starting next month.

Fauri recommended the increase which he said would be possible if present downward trends continue in public assistance case loads. The boost will be included in late November checks to old age aid recipients and in December 1 grants for aid to dependent children and aid to the blind.

He estimated that the increase for the next seven months in old age assistance will total about $1,000,000, and approximately $825,000 for aid to dependent children.

Based On 1939 Costs
Present food allowances are based on 1939 costs which have been far outstripped as result of the war, working a hardship on social security clients.

Increased payments from now until next June, including such other items as fuel and rent, still will leave the state with slight balances in old age and aid to dependent children funds. A deficit will result in aid to the blind, Fauri said, but it could be met by a fund transfer.

The average old age grant, he said, will increase from $20.25 at present to $24.10 next June; aid to dependent children, from $43.23 to $49.25, and aid to the blind, from $26.67 to $29.67. October case loads were: Old age, 91,180; aid to dependent children, 19,428; and aid to the blind, 1,384.

Fauri also recommended reclassification of approximately 700 case workers, involving salary increases of $13,000 monthly. E. H. Litchfield, state personnel official, appeared before the commission and said the civil service department will act upon the request within a week.

The commission approved acceptance by John D. O'Connell, state welfare director, of appointment as director of the emergency welfare service which recently was added as a seventh branch of the state civilian protection system.

Mrs. Dorothy Roosevelt Seeks Congressional Seat

By Robert C. Boelio

BIRMINGHAM, Mich., Oct. 22—Send a Roosevelt to Congress?

A comely, gray-haired woman is trying to convince voters of Michigan's Seventeenth district they should do just that next month. She is Mrs. Dorothy Kemp Roosevelt, sister-in-law of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, and the first woman ever to be nominated for Congress in Michigan.

A newcomer to politics, she doesn't expect the road to a Congressional seat will be easy, despite the magic name of Roosevelt. Her district is regularly Republican, and her rival, George A. Dondero, Royal Oak, now seeking his sixth successive term, won two years ago by nearly 15,000 votes.

"I know little of politics," Mrs. Roosevelt says, "but I believe I have a good over-all knowledge of government."

The President, she says, thought it was a good idea when she told him last July of her plans to run for Congress.

She resigned as district director of the Works Projects Administration to make the race. She defeated five men for the Democratic nomination in the primary.

Father Killed in War

A native of Detroit, Mrs. Roosevelt's grandfather was Ralph L. Poik, founder of the Pork directory. Her father, Ulysses Grant Kemp, was killed in the Spanish-American war two months before she was born. She studied piano at the Liggett school in Detroit and later in New York and France.

Her family's background is Republican. Her mother, who lives with her in Birmingham, voted Democratic for the first time last month.

Dorothy Kemp joined the Roosevelt clan in 1925 when she became the second wife of Ofacie Hall Roosevelt, only brother of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and a nephew of Theodore Roosevelt. They separated in 1931 and in 1937 she obtained a divorce. He died last year.

Tall, brown-eyed Mrs. Roosevelt and her three young daughters are frequent visitors at the White House. She played at recitals there in 1935 and 1940.

Campaign Plans Simple

Her campaign plans are simple. As in the primary, she will depend upon small, neighborhood gatherings to reach voters in her district—the largest in population in the state.

To win the war, she says, we must:

"Give complete support to the President's war program," prevent inflation and maintain labor standards.

To win the peace, we must:

"Be guided by the Atlantic Charter and the four freedoms and do post-war planning how to utilize full manpower, plant capacity, agricultural and natural resources."

She also advocates price stabilization as "an essential weapon of war."

"We must not confuse nominal wages and salaries with real wages and salaries," she says, "what the dollar will buy is all important for the wage earner, the business man, the farmer, the bondholder and the insurance beneficiary."

The Yorubas, of Nigeria, do not permit burials until debts of the dead have been paid.

Instruction In Shorthand Given Free

Any interested person is eligible to enroll in the beginning shorthand class held in Graveret high school from 4 to 5 p. m. It has been meeting regularly for the last two weeks as a "tuition class." But, conforming with the school's policy of doing everything possible to assist in the war effort, W. M. Whitman, superintendent, has decided to open the class to the public free of charge.

"This is an excellent chance for adults to prepare themselves for specific work when the time comes for them to take their place on the 'home front,'" he said.

Typewriting classes will be held from 4 to 5 p. m. and 5 to 6 p. m., making it possible for anyone to get training in shorthand and typewriting. A small charge will be made for the typing instruction.

For employed persons the class schedule follows:

7:15 to 8:15 a. m.—Typewriting.
7:45 to 8:45 a. m.—Beginning shorthand.
5 to 6 p. m.—Advanced shorthand.

Attention is called to the change in time for the beginning shorthand class. It begins at 8:45 a. m. now, instead of 7:15 a. m. This change should make it much more desirable for persons who thought the former starting time was too early.

"It is hoped that many persons will take advantage of this instruction. They can start anytime," Mr. Whitman said.

Besides his wife he leaves six children, George and Leb, Baraga; Fred, in the army at Fort Knox, Ky.; Berthold, New Lisbon, Wis.; Mrs. Henry Voskuhl, Baraga; Mrs. Thiel Sands, L'Anse.

Stores, Schools Close During Scrap Collection

HOWELL, Mich., Oct. 22.—This small Livingston county community and six surrounding townships went all out for the war today.

All stores and schools were closed while business men and the older school boys manned 50 trucks transporting scrap iron from farms in the vicinity which had been canvassed during the preceding week by representatives of civic and business groups.

At nightfall, the scrap hoard filled a street alongside the county house to a height of 10 feet for more than a block and was still growing. Officials said more than 500 tons of metal appeared to be in the pile and that crews of men would be sent out for the remainder of the week to gather scrap collected at rural points. The children of one country school brought in six tons of metal.

On the theory that seventh and eighth grade boys were too light to handle the metal, those lads were assigned to help farmers harvest vegetable gardens while all school girls spent the day working on Red Cross supplies.

THE biggest and best surprise of her life." That's the thrill experienced by Mrs. William Pohl, Marquette, when her son, Ed Hampton, came home unannounced after two and one-half years' absence in the U. S. Navy. Uncertain that orders would not be changed and his short furlough be not granted, Ed didn't tell his mother he was coming so as not to disappoint her if he didn't. Serving with the Pacific fleet, Ed already has crossed the Equator twice and was aboard ship at Pearl Harbor last December 7. The Marquette man has two brothers in the Army. Pfc. William Hampton is at Camp Blanding, Fla., and Harry (Whitely) Hampton is at Camp Wallace, Texas.

William H. Moulton, 704 North Main street, Ishpeming, is one of 221 enlisted men who will become second lieutenants in the medical administrative corps, U. S. Army, at graduation exercises of the Ninth officers' candidate class, medical field service school, Carlisle Barracks, Pa., tomorrow morning. Chosen to attend the school because of their excellent military records, the class has been receiving instructions there for three months and have been awarded their commissions on the basis of merit and outstanding performance of duty. The graduates will relieve from administrative work several hundred physicians in the service for more strictly professional duties in the Army.

Tax Payments Top Record Of Last Year

The record of tax collection in the city of Marquette is better than it was last year, it is reported by Glen B. Wilson, city treasurer, who said at the close of business yesterday that $168,969.46 of a total levy of $183,452.58 had been paid in, leaving an unpaid balance of $14,573.12.

The degree of increase in the percentage of tax accounts paid in full is shown by the fact that up to yesterday 100 more tax receipts had been issued by the treasurer than had been issued last year during the same period.

A three per cent interest charge has been added to all unpaid accounts, Mr. Wilson pointed out, and on November 1 an additional one per cent penalty charge will be made.

being sent overseas exactly one year after the date of his entry into the Army. Arne was the first carrier for The Daily Mining Journal in Palmer when carrier delivery was established there.

Gas Rationing Exemption Sought for Middle West

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Oct. 22.—U. S. Senator Prentiss M. Brown (D-Mich.), declaring that gasoline consumption in a middle west area already had been reduced to within three per cent of that in eastern states, today said he would ask Price Administrator Leon Henderson to exempt the middle west from gasoline rationing.

Nation-wide rationing has been scheduled for November 22.

Brown did not specify except Michigan, the states he thought should be excluded from rationing orders.

However, he referred to a study which he said "shows that voluntary curtailment of the use of automobiles in District 2 had accomplished the same results as gasoline rationing." District 2 of the petroleum coordinator's office includes Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Tennessee, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska and Ohio.

Eton is the most expensive of the English schools. Its fee is $1,150 a year.

Dr. W. R. Purmort, Jr., Gives Talk Here On "How To Act In A Crisis"

Did You Chance To See Harbor Yesterday Morn?

(By MANTHEI HOWE)

During the early part of the week when the sun was shining folk walked about stepping high, wide and handsome, feeling jocund and quite self-confident. They took their mood from the weather. Meeting folk they said: "Isn't it a glorious day. The trees are beautiful aren't they? There is no place like this region in autumn."

Then yesterday, folk, arising a bit late perhaps because the sunlight wasn't there to wake them early, yawned and stretched and mourned: "Oh, the fall rains! I suppose we can't expect anything else, but it certainly makes the world look dreary."

Only Think So

They thought how lovely the world looked in the sunlight and that in the rain it seemed forbiddingly dreary.

But, of course, that is only the "blind spot" in ourselves. Yesterday did not provide the same kind of loveliness, but did you chance to go downtown around 9 or 10 yesterday morning and get that view of the harbor?

It was a beautiful sight. Painted in subdued coloring I grant you, but fascinating for all that. The harbor looked like a sheet of some magically spun blue-gray glass with stripes of shimmering highlights. At the horizon one could hardly tell the point at which sky and lake met.

Along the shore there hung a misty purple-gray coloring that gave an over-ly of mystic color to the shadowed tree-growth. It was a symphony in blues, purples, grays, through all the range of colors, with the accents of deep rose provided by the docks.

There Was Color Everywhere

And as you walked along the street there were the tree trunks to which a few leaves still clung, shining wetly in such an amazing variation of color. At first sight the trunks looked black, but as one approached nearer, and looked more closely the trunks were ruddy brown with tiny spots of red, or gray with deep shadows of blue and gray green, and the twigs were that glowing dark wine color.

So it goes all along the way. Once begin looking for colors and shades and those elusive tints and you are amazed at the beauty to be enjoyed even on those supposedly drab and dreary days.

Which is a reminder that I've been almost sinfully envious of the women who, as a part of their contribution to war effort, have been assigned to observation work in the watch-tower atop the Graveraet high school.

Talking with them, one is sure that, as they watched the clear expanse of sky for the sight of an airplane wing, they have seen spread before them an astounding glory of color. That high above the street level, one can see the whole panorama of color—the sky, the spacious plating blue of the lake, the woodland in autumn colors, and the town, its roof tops in many colors, the orange and red foliage of the trees along the street.

It Would Have Been A Sight

I'd love to have seen autumn coloring changing into that of fall from the observation towers.

En passant, I heard a rather surprising thing about the tower. The other day some women laughed demurely at the idea of two women watchers standing three minutes apart looking for planes. Said the one: "What would they do if they saw an airplane? Shout to some one that one is in sight? What's the good of that observation tower anyhow? It's just a notion some property owners have to protect their property."

You think that sounds incredible? Well, nevertheless some women said it. I don't know if they fail to read the paper, but quite obviously they didn't know that there is a telephone in that tower with direct communication with the proper officials. It's equally obvious that they thought Marquette was alone in its fat and that the Graveraet high school post was an amusing example of futile war efforts.

Of course, they were ignorant of the fact that the Marquette observation post is but one of many similar protective towers spread over a wide area, preparation for any possible attempt by the enemy

They Are Helping

The system of towers has been worked out under Army instruction and the women, who daily report promptly for duty at the Graveraet high school, are doing much more than merely admiring the autumnal coloring. There is an important job that they approach with meticulous punctuality and seriousness, and experience has shown that women are even more dependable than the average man when it comes to such observation duty.

But goodness gracious, I didn't intend to give a lecture on the value of the observation towers, for the idea and operation of such need no defense by any one.

This column was rather the sounding of my own appreciation of the loveliness of this country which has always had such a variety and which weathers has something of beauty to contribute.

Even as I started this in the backyard which I can see from the office window was a brown-black from the drizzle of rain, but before the column was finished the clouds parted a bit, the sun, somewhat pallid but giving a bit of light, shone on that wheel-marked backyard and turned the sand to ruddy tan criss-crossed with a pattern of shadows.

There is only one quarrel with this experience called life in this fascinating world—there are never hours enough in any day, nor days enough in any year to provide one with the leisure to do the beginning things that beckon one. It would be such fun to see if one could get anything of yesterday's range of colors in a picture in one's sketch book.

Society-Club

For Mrs. Wilson—Group I, of St. Paul's Auxiliary, is holding a meeting at 2:30 this afternoon in the home of Mrs. Arvid Savola, 1316 North Front street. It will be in the nature of a farewell party for a member, Mrs. Sig Wilson, who is leaving to live in Escanaba. Mrs. Gordon Yates will be the assisting hostess.

Meeting tonight—A meeting of the Martha Circle of the Grace Methodist church will be held at 8 tonight in the social rooms. The guest speakers will be Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Williams of Ishpeming. The program will include songs by the girls' quartet. The hostesses will be Miss Ella Froling and Mrs. Lowell Wilson.

Card Party—The Rebeekah and Odd Fellows lodges are sponsoring a card party to be held in the IOOF hall, Third and Bluff streets, Thursday evening, October 23. The public is invited to attend. Play begins promptly at 8 and the usual admission fee will be charged. Pinochle, "500," and cribbage will be played and prizes awarded in each. Lunch will be served at the conclusion of play.

Surgical Dressings—Mrs. M. K. Reynolds, surgical dressings chairman, says that the quota assigned by the American Red Cross to this chapter has been completed. The women have turned out in numbers and worked tirelessly to get all the dressings ready and sent on their way. No one can accuse them of having slacked on the job. The chairman has received notice of another quota to be met and the material will be received in the near future. As soon as the materials arrive there will be an announcement on this page of the beginning of the surgical dressings work. Meanwhile it is urged that all women, who have previously done such a splendid job with surgical dressings, volunteer if possible to help with the Red Cross sewing that still needs to be done to complete that quota.

Adults Urged To Attend Meeting At Graveraet

Circle "Tuesday evening, October 27," as being a date important for you to reserve to attend a meeting at which Dr. William R. Purmort, Jr., of the Newberry State hospital, who will speak on "How We Act in a Crisis."

The meeting will be held at 7:30 next Tuesday evening in the auditorium of the Graveraet high school and it is one of the most important from the standpoint of immediate practical application.

Is of Public Interest

All who have taken, or are taking, the air-raid warden courses, home nursing and volunteer social service work are requested to attend. It is also urged that members of the Parent-Teachers association, in fact all adults, make a special effort to attend.

Dr. Purmort will discuss the experiences of other countries and the behavior of the population under fire, or when the country was invaded. He will include comment on the various types of reaction and the effect of fear and anxiety on individuals and on communities.

It avails little to tell an audience what happens to persons, what problems present themselves, and yet give no solution or remedies; so Dr. Purmort will tell what can be done to control anxiety and to avert panic in the individual and what can be done to prevent some of the bad results of undue fatigue.

Is Needed Information

Now as never before in the history of the country, as it is known to most of the readers, there is a need for every one to profit by the lessons to be learned from the peoples of other countries at war; to see that we do not make the same mistakes; to assure that the public is so fully informed on the subject of "why we tend to behave as we do" that we shall be about the business of assuring that we shall "behave as we should in a crisis."

All of us have probably wondered what we would do if we were called upon to face a crisis. Some of us have disciplined ourselves so we'd acquit ourselves quite creditably, being of use to others as well as not harming ourselves. Some of us might find it more difficult to face the situation. Dr. Purmort in his lecture will tell something of what we can and should do to prepare to meet any crisis sanely, helpfully, and should one say, healthfully.

Anyhow make a note to be present at the meeting Tuesday evening.

Graveraet High School Held 'Pledge Of Allegiance To The Flag' Anniversary Program

A program marking the fifth anniversary of the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was held at 11:15 Wednesday morning in the Louis G. Kaufman auditorium under the auspices of the Marquette chapter, of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

W. M. Whitman, superintendent, presided. The high school band was seated on the stage and 700 students marched into the auditorium. Mrs. George Bishop sang "Hail to the Flag" (Dr. Dora H. Stockman) with Mrs. Forest Kepler as accompanist.

Mrs. Spear Was Speaker

Mrs. Frank Spear was the speaker and following her talk the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was given by the assembly led by Martin M. Johnston and the program ended with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

Mrs. Spear in her talk noted that the Pledge was written for the celebration of the 400th anniversary of Columbus Day, October 21, 1892, following a proclamation by President Benjamin Harrison in accordance with a joint resolution by Congress designating that day to commemorate the discovery of America. It was given as an outstanding feature, said Mrs. Spear, of the dedicatory ceremonies of the World Columbian Exposition in Chicago, otherwise known as the World's Fair. It was also given by 12,000,000 public school children in the United States.

The speaker noted that the D. A. R. had a particular interest in the observance because the wife of the president, who issued the proclamation, was at that time the president general of the D. A. R.

President Harrison said: "The system of universal education is in our age the most prominent and salutary feature of the spirit of enlightenment, and it is peculiarly the day's demonstration. Let the National Flag float on every school house in the country, and the exercises be such as shall impress upon the youth the patriotic duties of American citizenship."

Wrote Original Pledge

Francis Bellamy, a member of the editorial staff of the Youth's Companion, published in Boston, wrote the original Pledge to the Flag. "I pledge allegiance to my flag and to the Republic for which it stands. One nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice to all."

The University of Rochester honored Francis Bellamy by placing at the university of plaque presented by the Monroe County Auxiliary of the American Legion dedicated on October 12, 1937.

Over Bellamy's grave in Rome, N. Y., are carved the words of that pledge which was the accepted form of the pledge until 1923 when the first National Flag conference called by the American Legion, composed of delegates from the principal national patriotic, fraternal, educational and civic organizations, changed the words "to my flag" to "to the flag of the United States" as it had been found that many foreigners who had become naturalized citizens did not fully understand just what flag was meant by "my flag"—whether the flag of the country of their birth, or of their adopted country, and at the second National Flag conference held in Washington, May 15, 1924, the words "of America"

Keep Ceremony "As Is"

Mrs. Spear noted: "Some unfortunate agitation has started over the form of the ceremony of the Pledge of Allegiance. Fear that the extended hand is similar to the Nazi salute, has brought proposal for keeping the hand on the heart. The direct gesture 'to the flag' with palm upward as bearing a gift does not resemble the Nazi salute, nor is it desirable to be driven into changing our established custom. Let us keep our salute as it is and offer the loyalties of our heart to the flag of our ideals."

The speaker noted that in the recently adopted Joint Resolutions of the 77th Congress, the Flag Code, adopted by the American Legion and other patriotic national societies nearly 20 years ago, has become the National Flag Code.

Mrs. Spear read the "Tribute to the Flag":

"Remember as you look at your flag, which is the symbol of your nation, that it is red because of your sacrifice, that it is blue in color because some were true—true blue—that is has white in it because some were white in it and the stars are there because of the great hope in the hearts of men for a greater, holier nobler America.

Flamagators Of Tomorrow

"The Stars and Stripes are the crystallized hopes and fears, a symbol of our nation's pride and glory. It came into being a long time ago. Those who made it and lived for it and died for it are among our nation's greatest. They have passed into the silence of history, but by their devotion and courage and the splendor of their lives, they ask you to be the flamagators of tomorrow, making its red a little deeper by your sacrifice, its blue a little more like the blue of heaven by your loyalty, its whiteness more like the purity of the snow by your purity of life, its stars a little brighter by your devotion to their highest hopes.

"Its Stars and Stripes are your dreams and your labors. They can be bright with cheer, brilliant with courage, firm with faith because you have made them so out of your heart. For you are the makers of the flag, the living symbol of your nation. So love and work that it will never fly over injustice, tyranny, oppression, but ever and always over righteousness, over people made happy by kindness and love and goodness."

And then the speaker read Oliver Wendell Holmes words: "One flag, one land, one heart, one hand, one nation, evermore."

Miss Jane Bemis Talks At Meet At St. Mary's

Miss Jane Bemis, chairman of the consumers' committee, in her talk on "Consumers in a World of War," at the meeting of St. Mary's hospital Auxiliary, reminded that rationing was a community plan whereby supplies that are needed can be fairly divided.

She reminded that rationing became necessary because in some instances the enemy had cut off the source of supplies; that commodities ordinarily used by civilians are some of them having to be diverted almost entirely to the use of the Armed forces; and that labor and equipment previously used in some lines of food production are being diverted to manufacture of military equipment, and that more and more transportation service is being required for the moving of munitions.

The speaker noted that it is at great risk for the crews that we are supplied with such commodities as bananas and coffee. She pointed out that to help win the war civilians must make every effort to save on foods and money; learn to use substitutes for scarce high-price foods; must plan meals with care, using exact amounts thus eliminating waste, and forming the habit of planning menus for several days in advance.

Tea was served after the program. A fall color scheme was used at the tea table which was trimmed with autumn leaves which bordered the basket of fruit and vegetables that formed the centerpiece. Mrs. Charles Bottum, Mrs. George Rublein, and Mrs. Howard Treado were the hostesses.

News Service Not Monopoly, Solon Claims

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22—P—Rep. Michener (R-Mich) told the House today "it seems clear to me that the Associated Press is not a monopoly," and he expressed hope the Justice department would continue its anti-trust suit against the association "and all other similar disturbing proceedings for the duration of the war at least."

The two most important contentions of the suit, he said, appeared to be:

1. That the Associated Press has no legal right to choose its membership and to reject applicants that it does not want to elect, but must furnish its services to all publishers who desire it.
  2. That the Associated Press has no right to require its members to furnish local news exclusively to the Associated Press.
- Would Have To Serve All
- If the Justice department's contentions are sustained, he said, the effects would be:
1. The Associated Press, having become in effect a public utility or common carrier, would have to serve all publications that could be called newspapers, including those that it might deem undesirable or disreputable, and individual publishers whose attitude toward the Associated Press was hostile or obnoxious.
  2. It having become a public utility or common carrier, the Government might try to exercise some form of regulation or control. This might seem impossible under the first amendment to the Constitution, but if the courts gave the Associated Press that status, they might logically hold that some degree of control would also be legal.
  3. The Associated Press, having lost both control and discipline over its members, its high standards would decline and disintegrate, for those standards have been built up and maintained largely because it has been able to choose worthy members and to enforce the rules that are necessary to produce an accurate and unbiased news report.
  4. It would allow a new competitor, however unworthy or malicious he might be, to have the same service that an existing member has in a given city, and thus to share without cost the goodwill and prestige of the Associated Press service which the existing member had built up over many years.

Monopoly Impossible

"It is practically impossible for anybody to have a monopoly of news gathering or distribution," he said, "for the reason that anyone else is free to obtain all the news and is equally free to use the same means of distribution."

He pointed out there were several news gathering agencies, including the United Press and the International News Service, and added "If the United Press service is open to all of those who will pay the price, then an Associated Press member is not protected from competition."

"Therefore," he said, "throwing open the Associated Press membership does not of itself create a competitive danger to existing Associated Press papers. But it would work a great competitive injustice to the existing members by allowing the competitor to share without cost the prestige and goodwill of the Associated Press service which it has built up in a community."

"It would be like forcing an old mercantile firm to share the good will of its location or its trademark with a competitor."

Michener put special emphasis on the position of the small newspapers that are AP members.

"After the small Associated Press member has built up the prestige and goodwill of his Associated Press service over many years," he said, "it has become a valuable asset to him, and it would be very unjust for him to share that asset with a newcomer. Yet throwing open the Associated Press service to everybody would tend to invite competition for that very reason—the temptation of getting something for nothing."

Not Afraid of Competition

"What the small publisher is afraid of is not merely competition, for anybody can compete with him by using the United Press service," he added, "it is the danger of having a competitor steal the goodwill of his news service."

"This is a very real danger, and the little publishers all over the country are disturbed. They do not like to see themselves sacrificed for the sake of letting one or two big publishers get the Associated Press service."

Obviously, he declared, the motive that prompted the suit was "to get the Associated Press service for two applicants. Certainly there could be no other motive that would justify starting such a harsh and destructive proceeding at such a time."

"Mr. Speaker," he concluded, "I repeat, it is bad public policy to needlessly start acrimonious controversy affecting any class. It is bad public policy to irritate and alarm, the press, and threaten to break down this great news organization, at a critical time when so much depends upon the newspapers, and when so much is asked and expected of them."

Volunteers Needed For Gas Rationing

ISHPEMING, Oct. 22—Machinery for gasoline rationing is being set up in IshpeMING in preparation for the registration to start November 9, but a corps of volunteers to act on the registration board is needed.

The registration, according to present plans, will cover seven days, the board serving from noon to 9 p. m. daily. The larger the number of volunteer workers the fewer hours it will be necessary to serve and still meet the demands of the gasoline consumers.

Persons willing to serve in this capacity are asked to phone 79, the volunteer office of the Council of Civilian Defense, notify any member of the defense council or communicate with Mrs. N. J. McCann, who is in charge of the office of public information for the council.

A schedule of hours for volunteer service will be arranged as soon as the number of workers and the time each can work is determined.

Builds Hen House With Adobe Blocks

WASHINGTON—P—Wartime restriction on building—less lumber and fewer nails—are not stopping the response of Walter Brantley, of southwest Nebraska, to the U. S. Department of Agriculture call for more eggs.

He built a 20 x 40 hen house to house 150 chicks by using one of the natural resources of his locality—a sticky soil—and made adobe blocks. The shelter, says Brantley, is a first rate hen house, warm and dry in winter, cool in summer.

The only materials he bought were two rolls of roofing paper and some glass cloth—total cost $7.48. Such an outlay is good business, Brantley believes, because eggs sold from 150 chicks last year brought $278. This year, with a good market, he hopes to double this record.

The town of Kingston was originally the capital of New York state.

THIS FAMILY GOES FOR WAR BONDS—AND HOW!—These members of the H. C. Marx family, New Troy, Mich., together bought $10,000 worth of war bonds. Each purchased a $1,000-a-plate banquet in St. Joseph Mich. More than $250,000 in bonds was raised at the banquet, attended by Senator Prentiss Brown and Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner. Marx, an inventor of musical instruments, and his family occupied a special table at the war bond fete.

Chest Teams Will Report This Evening

ISHPEMING, Oct. 22—Team workers and majors of the Community Chest drive are requested to attend the meeting called for 7:30 Friday evening in the Mather Inn, at which it is expected final reports will be available.

"Every canvasser is urged to call on all his prospective subscribers by Friday night," General Chairman Otis E. Sonnanstine said today, "so that a nearly-complete report can be made."

"We have had excellent cooperation and we expect to be able to announce Friday that our objective of $6,500 is in sight."

"It should be remembered by the public that contributions from companies with headquarters out of the city and those made by the canvass of large payrolls cannot be turned in within a day or two. That part of the drive takes time and it has been the history of the Community Chest that it is generously supported from those sources."

"We can gauge very closely the aggregate subscription by the returns of workers canvassing the city. We had approximately one-third of our goal in sight at Wednesday's meeting and teams have been busy since then."

Ration Blanks Available For Fuel Oil

ISHPEMING, Oct. 22.—Residents of Ishpeming who use fuel oil or kerosene for heating purposes are advised that ration application blanks are now available.

Dealers may get them from the county rationing board in Marquette and have them on hand for Ishpeming customers. It is necessary also for retailers who handle kerosene to provide certificates for consumers.

Registration of dealers has been delayed until October 27 because of inability to get supplies until then.

There are four classes of certificates for which application may be made. They are for private dwellings, including buildings housing less than four families, for which Form 1100 is required; premises other than private dwelling, housing four or more families, Form 1101; these two including fuel oil and kerosene. The third is industrial, commercial and governmental users, using fuel oil, kerosene or Diesel oil, Form 1102, and the fourth is domestic institutions and agriculture, using fuel oil, kerosene or Diesel oil, Form 1103.

Chile Imprisons Three Axis Spies for Duration

SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct. 22.—P.—President Juan Antonio Rios and his new cabinet set up to fulfill Chile's long-deferred hemispheric obligations cracked down summarily today on both Axis spies and obstructive internal politics.

The president ruled out politics by rejecting and replacing his first designate to the ministry of foreign relations, who had wanted to consult with his political cronies before accepting the all-important portfolio.

The crack-down on spies was undertaken by the minister of the Interior, Raul Morales, a carry-over from the cabinet disbanded in the crisis over Chile's maintenance of relations with the Axis.

Morales used decree power to imprison for the duration three men arrested as German spies who had been released by a magistrate on a legal technicality.

Inland Opens New Mine In Minnesota

ISHPEMING, Oct. 22.—Announcement was made today, through the office of R. L. Wahl, general superintendent, that the Inland Steel company is opening a new property north of Kinney, Minn., to be known as the Atkins mine, in honor of S. E. Atkins, of the S. E. Atkins Drill company.

The property has for some time been known as an ore-bearing area and drilling has been in progress the last six months to determine the extent of the ore body.

It will be an open pit truck operation and the contract for stripping the surface and mining the ore has been awarded to the Peter Kiewit Sons' company. Stripping will be started immediately.

The property is on the Mesabi range. The Inland Steel also operates the Armour No. 1 mine at Crosby, Minn.

were producing food and other necessities which enable Englishmen to do war work.

At the same time, Nelson made it clear that further steps were contemplated, both to lighten up the civilian economy and maintain it at necessary levels. He said he had directed the staff of the War Production Board to make up a list of all the things that civilians need—clothing for individuals, machinery for mines, transportation for the community, and similar things—so that definite plans can be made to supply necessities.

"The things for the civilian in the wartime economy will be programmed and scheduled just like the Army and Navy."

Asked about civilian items which might not appear on such a list of essentials, he said the supply of such items would be "sloughed off."

However, he added, "there aren't many more" to be eliminated, as a matter of fact.

WPB officials suggested that the next logical method of lightening up the civilian economy was to cut down the number of store clerks, theater ushers and other service personnel so that this manpower could be used for essential purposes. However, they said that no immediate action was intended, and might never be necessary, in fact, because selective service and expansion of war plant employment already are depleting the supply of labor in some of the less essential fields.

Nelson said that considerable progress had been made and would continue to be made in standardizing civilian goods in order to conserve both materials and manpower.

Simplification should not go so far, he said, as to provide "uniforms" in place of distinctive clothing for civilians.

Scientific instruments have registered a dynamite explosion 2,000 miles away.

"Camel's hair," used in making brushes, comes from a species of squirrel.

HIRE DOG WAR WORKER—Blackie, 18-month-old German shepherd leader dog, became the first dog to be hired as a Ford war worker. He will guide his blind master to work at the River Rouge plant at Dearborn, Mich. The dog is shown being pawprinted for the records by J. E. Patten (right), Ford identification director, as his master, Sylvester Rykowski (left), stands beside him.

"We've been cruising around the Coral sea here the last couple of days just passing the time away while a few of our planes and destroyers and cruisers and stuff are dropping cold steel messages on the Solomonis to sort of soften them up a little. Boy, I'm sure glad I'm not a Jap! Especially the way some of our Marines are acting up! Serious as h—! I and making expert and tricky preparations.

"And the bets! You should hear them bet who is going to be the best machine-gun outfit, which rifle company will pick off the most snipers, etc. There's only one U. S. Marine.

"It will be successful"

"Our job of course is to get them to the beach as fast as we can as we can. And we'll do it if we have to swim ashore with the Marines on our backs! Because I don't think in history a bunch of men have gone into any engagement as cold and calm and confident as this group. There's only one answer. It will be successful.

"As I write this, I want you to know that I am not writing because I have any premonition of anything happening to me. I'm just writing this because in case I do get mine, you'll know I got it like a man, with a clear conscience, and I am not afraid to die for my country. Believe that and please don't grieve, for this will all soon be over. I have only one regret, and that is I could not see you once more. I loved my mother and father and family more than I ever said.

"I will put this letter in my locker and in case it happens, my buddy has instructions to mail this to you first thing. I hope he never gets the chance.

"I'll close this letter now and try to catch a few hours' snooze before we get ready to make the Japs remember Pearl Harbor. So it's good-by and good sailing and my most sincere love to all the family and my friends. Your fond and loving son, Henry."

Young Gunman Kills Parking Lot Attendant

DETROIT, Oct. 22.—P.—A young gunman shot and killed a parking lot attendant in a busy downtown area tonight.

The victim was Harry Pfeiffer, 46. Police believed the shooting occurred during a holdup attempt, despite the fact $187.86 in cash was found in Pfeiffer's pockets.

Only clue found immediately by police was a brown felt hat with the initials "J. C." on the sweatband.

Clemson Eleven Defeats South Carolina, 18-6

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 22.—P.—Clemson college's Tigers defeated South Carolina's Gamecocks, 18-6, today by breaking a first-half deadlock with third- and fourth-period touchdowns.

A swelling crowd of 22,000 state fair game fans saw this 40th meeting of the rivals.

An alert Clemson team nullified a second-period South Carolina lead, set up by Ken Roskie's scoring smash from the two, when Red Stacey a few minutes later stepped over from the seven with Marion Butler's pass.

"The Tigers stepped up their passing attack in the third and took a 12-6 lead, and Butler clinched the victory with a 54-yard touchdown jaunt as the final period opened.

Prisoners and Canadian Guards Hurt in Clash

OTTAWA, Oct. 22.—P.—Minister of Defense Raiston announced tonight that both prisoners of war and Canadian guards were injured October 10 during a clash at the Bowmanville, Ontario, prison camp when the prisoners resisted shackling by the guards.

Raiston said there was mild resistance at one other camp, but no trouble in any of the 15 other prisoner-of-war camps.

In the fight at Bowmanville, he said, the prisoners barricaded themselves in their barracks. Four rifle shots were fired, three in the air and one toward the ground. The fourth shot wounded one prisoner in the leg.

Raiston said the shots were fired when the prisoners "seized and brutally assaulted an officer of the guard." Two other prisoners received light bayonet wounds.

At one point in the camp, a hole was chopped through the roof and a fire hose was used to quell the disorder. Furniture was smashed and windows were broken.

The statement said that some of the prisoners went on a hunger strike for two days, but the shackling continued as ordered. Normal life at the camp was restored, he said, when the guard

Old Polish Commission Preserved by Realtor

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. —P—Back about the time George Washington was being elected president of the United States, the last king of Poland, Stanislaus, signed a commission granting permanent rank of captain to Count Penrosro Forml Petro Doszedarski.

Today the commission, as legible as when it was signed in 1788, hangs in the home of Sam LeClerg, Chattanooga real estate dealer and a great-grand-nephew of the Polish count.

The nobleman, exiled after the partition of Poland in 1793, fled to America. The memento of his one-time royal status has been passed down from generation to generation of the LeClerg family.

House Given Plan To Reorganize Government

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22—P—A blueprint for sweeping reorganization of the Federal Government, aimed at complete wartime mobilization of the nation's resources in both materials and manpower, was presented to the House today by Chairman Tolson (D-Calif.), of the special committee on defense migration.

The Californian introduced a bill to create an overall office of war mobilization, guided by an "economic general staff" known as the committee on requirements and program.

His call for a reshuffling and "streamlining" followed by two days a special report by his committee declaring that "despite numerous realignments, 10 months after Pearl Harbor business-as-usual considerations still permeate the Washington wartime agencies."

It has been estimated that half the adult population of the United States plays bridge.

Formula For Stamp Sales Suggested

NEGAUNEE, Oct. 22—Emphasizing the extreme importance of increasing sales of war savings stamps and bonds, George G. Whitney, executive director of the state retailers' war savings committee, told Negaunee retailers and their employees at a rally here today that the Government has called on retailers "for only one war task—that of selling stamps and bonds."

He called attention to rising war costs and said retailers can do their share if they try to sell stamps and bonds to every customer, "every day in every week."

Suggests Formula

The meeting, held in the Vista theater, was attended by almost 100 persons.

Whitney offered a simple formula for making possible "the task ahead." He suggested that each retailer set up his own stamp and bond sales quota on the basis of four per cent of anticipated gross sales in his store. "Divide that into work days to get the daily quota, and divide that figure into the number of employees of the store and you have," he said, "a surprisingly low quota that you would be assured of making."

Horizon Club Has Roster Of Fifteen Girls

NEGAUNEE, Oct. 22 — Fifteen girls attended the first meeting of the Horizon club, held last evening in the Negaunee high school.

"This club is the first of its kind ever formed in this locality," Miss Isabel Steele, leader, said. "We are a social and service branch of Camp Fire Girls, consisting of high school graduates interested in this type of work."

"We have been called upon to do Civilian Defense work and the registration of gasoline ration cards and all girls are requested to register at the Civilian Defense Office. Those who already have registered are asked to re-register."

"We have consented to sponsor a series of school dances during the winter and plans will be made as soon as a definite date has been set. These dances are for high school students and their friends and will be properly chaperoned."

"It is hoped that more high school graduates will join the club."

The following girls were elected officers last evening:

Ann Hausermann—President.
 Esther Jokela—Vice-president.
 Marion Ollila—Secretary.
 Gwendolyn Johns—Treasurer.
 Shirley Manuel—Social committee chairman.

The next meeting of the club will be held at 7:30 Wednesday evening, October 28. Meetings are to be held every other Wednesday evening, but special meetings may be called at any time.

Mayor Urges Tribute To Navy Tuesday

NEGAUNEE, Oct. 22 — Mayor George H. Russell today asked Negaunee residents to cooperate with the American Legion in the observance of Navy Day next Tuesday, October 27.

Details of the program have been published. The Legion will sponsor a program in the schools during the day and a parade in the evening.

In a proclamation issued today, Mayor Russell said:

"We are in a state of war forced upon us, in which Americans are fighting for preservation of principles upon which this Government was founded.

"It is appropriate that we honor the Navy on a day set aside for special commemoration, because in the early days of our country it was the Navy which bore much of the burden of throwing back enemies of democracy.

Navy in Thick Of Fighting

"Today, although Michigan is an inland state, it feels close to the Navy. Thousands of our boys have enlisted in this branch of the service. And because of the nature of this war, being fought along far flung fronts, the Navy is being called upon to take a great part in the fighting.

"Therefore, I call upon you and urge the citizens of this community to give their generous support and cooperation to the American Legion in its plans for the proper observance of Navy Day on Tuesday, October 27."

W. K. Willman Given Captain's Commission

NEGAUNEE, Oct. 22 — W. K. Willman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Willman, Teal Lake avenue, has been commissioned a captain in the U. S. Army Engineering corps.

Captain Willman was city manager of Mount Pleasant before he received a telegram ordering him to report in Chicago on September 28 for two weeks of training before being given a permanent assignment.

Captain Willman, a veteran of World War I, enlisted in the Army several weeks before he received orders to report in Chicago.

WAR CORRESPONDENT KILLED

Byron Darnton (above), New York Times correspondent, was killed accidentally Oct. 18 in New Guinea, it was announced by Allied headquarters in the Southwest Pacific.

Darnton, 44, was born in Adrian, Mich., and formerly lived in Westport, Conn. He was a former cable editor for the Associated Press.

Many Unpaid Utility Bills Collected

NEGAUNEE, Oct. 22 — It is doubtful, city officials said today, whether there has been a time in the past decade, when so much past-due money has flowed into the city light and water department treasury as has been received in the last week as a result of the drive to collect delinquent accounts.

"The money has been coming in at an encouraging rate," said Mayor G. H. Russell, after conferring with departmental representatives. "Contrary to the expectation of some at the outset of this program, there has been a minimum of confusion or misunderstandings, and certainly no recriminations. The department has sent out notices, along with a scheduled time for conferences and the customers have been responding in a cooperative manner."

"It is too early to state amounts, but at the end of the month we hope to publish the total collected."

The plan presented by the department and approved by the council has proved worthwhile, the mayor declared.

City Committee Awaits Answer From League

NEGAUNEE, Oct. 22—No answer has been received from the Michigan Municipal League to the invitation of the special committee named by the mayor to send two representatives here to study Negaunee's city operations and recommend an operating budget.

As he agreed to do some time ago, the mayor named the committee. It is expected that the League will cooperate, because it has been assured that the experts will be paid for their work.

Eye-Witness Story Of Marine Drive

IRON MOUNTAIN, Oct. 22—An eye-witness account of the August landing by the U. S. Marines in the Jap-held Solomon Islands, by an Iron Mountain man who saw a Jap airplane so near his transport ship he could have "shaker hands" with the pilot, is related in a letter received by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mitchell, 604 East Smith street, from their son, Cpl. Russell E. Mitchell.

The letter was the first the Mitchells had received from their son since June 30. Cpl. Mitchell, who enlisted in the Marines two years ago, is a specialty clerk in charge of anti-aircraft guns and was stationed on a transport ship used in storming the islands of Guadalcanal and Tulagi.

Letter Tells Story
Portions of the letter, which Cpl. Mitchell wrote on Aug. 14, several days after the landing, and which tell of his hair-raising experiences, follow:
"After 37 consecutive days at sea, we reached our objective in the Jap-held Solomon islands. Slipping into the harbor several hours before daybreak, we silently awaited dawn to begin landing on the islands of Guadalcanal and Tulagi. The Japs tried to halt us by sending a few small caliber shells out near our transports, but our cruisers blew out their gun positions before any damage could be done. Then our cruisers, destroyers and dive-bombers started to bomb out all of the enemy concentrations. Destroy Jap Planes
"At 8 o'clock Friday morning we landed on the first offensive movement of this war. We destroyed all of the Jap airplanes before they could get into the air. Out of an estimated 150 planes, not one of them ever reached the air. This in itself was quite a blow to them. After our units had established a beachhead and all was under control, we were subjected to raids by Jap bombers from nearby islands. The first raid came about 2 in the afternoon. The planes were hard to see at first, but when they came through our anti-aircraft fire they were visible—each had a cloud of smoke following it. We knocked down about three-fourths of the first bunch just within sight, not counting those that fell into the sea. We had about four air raid alerts and knocked down just about all the planes that came over. Don't Believe Japs
"I read a little news bulletin that the Japs claim to have sunk our whole fleet. You will find the straight dope on our campaign down here in the newspapers, and don't believe a thing those Nipponese put out.
"Well, to get back to the first day of action. Reports came back from the beach that the Marines were steadily advancing. There have been many stories about Jap treachery and dirty fighting. The boys say that they will lay up in coconut trees and throw hand grenades when the Marines get below them. They also make believe to surrender with their hands in the air and when they come near they would have a grenade in each hand and try to blow up the Marines in a group.
"I meant to mention, before that one Jap plane got through and almost crash-bombed our transport ship, but the boys made a ribbon out of the ship before it got 30 yards from us. They got so close you could just about shake hands with the pilot—only we did it with 50-caliber shells right where they were needed. After the plane dopped you could see a few Jap bodies in the water.
"I never heard so much noise as there was when the planes were over us. It seems as though the whole world had shot a firearm at once."

Girl Scouting Institute To Be Held Oct. 29
An institute on "Girl Scouting in War Time Community Planning," will be held at the Northern Michigan Children's clinic Thursday, October 29.
The meetings will be held from 10 to 12 Thursday morning and 1 to 4 that afternoon, with luncheon served in the clinic at noon at a moderate charge.
The sessions are open to all adult Girl Scout workers in Marquette, Ishpening, Negaunee, Munising, Manistique, and Houghton. All women interested in becoming affiliated with Girl Scout work are urged to attend, since there is a real need for more persons to serve as troop leaders and committee members.

National Representative in Charge
Miss Genevieve Barrows, of the national Girl Scout staff, will be in charge of the meeting. She comes here from a regional institute meeting in Chicago.
The institute has three outstanding objectives: To explore local needs that exist or have been created by war concerning which Girl Scouting can and should do constructive work; to take stock of what is being done by other public and private agencies; to discover ways of doing more within the organization or by cooperating with other groups trying to meet the problems of current community needs.
The committee in charge of making arrangements for the institute is composed of Mrs. E. J. Mudge, Mrs. Harry Funk, Mrs. Victor Hurst and Mrs. L. R. Kanney.
All those planning to attend the luncheon next Tuesday noon are asked to make reservations before Tuesday by telephoning or writing Mrs. L. R. Kanney, 600 West College avenue, telephone, 2639.

News Behind the News

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22—The story of Herbert Glassman, ex-bootlegger and present inmate of the Lewisburg (Pa.) penitentiary on account of violation of the income tax laws, is one of the most bizarre in American financial and penological history. The Treasury was reluctant to exonerate his case from the files, but here is the saga:
In the good old days of Coolidge prosperity, Glassman was an important figure around Washington. He owned taxicab companies, insurance firms and sundry other enterprises. In the boom days of the District he became a "big shot," despite his two-year sentence for violating the prohibition statute back in 1931. Uncle Sam caught up with him some six months ago, found that he had evaded payment of about $50,000 in income taxes and sent him to jail for a five-year sojourn.
But Mr. Glassman, while languishing in the Federal hoosegow, is collecting heavy rent from the Government. On one of the Capital's richest and newest business streets he erected a building which has many distinguished tenants: Morgenthau's Treasury, Jesse Jones's R. F. C., the U. S. Steel Corporation and the Westinghouse Electric Company.
And to make the story more romantic, the structure stands on the site of the "little green house on K Street," where Warren G. Harding used to relax at roker with Harry Daugherty, Jess Smith, Albert Fall and "Red" McLean.

TURN—Laval's footing in France has become somewhat precarious as a result of revelations that he is making a private profit from German occupation of France. Our foreign propaganda service is now concentrating on broadcasts designed to convince the French people that the Avergne peasant is simply feathering his own financial nest.
Washington has obtained evidence that anti-British pamphlets published by the Germans and circulated throughout France are printed at Laval's personal publishing plant. His profits from this venture alone are placed at $50,000 a month. Nevertheless, the premier is unhappy. When the Nazis first placed him in charge of unoccupied France, they pretended to look upon him as an equal. They played up to his vanity. Incidentally, on his visit here during the Hoover Administration, he showed that he was a proud man.

But in recent conferences with German Gauleiters in Paris he was treated by Der Fuehrer's representatives as an underling. He was insulted in a big way because of his inability to force or persuade Frenchmen to migrate to the Reich to work in Hitler's factories. Laval, who is a sort of Tammany opportunist, may turn against Berlin overnight if he thinks it will make him popular at home or with the eventual winners.

SAFEGUARDS—American M. D.'s will soon be commanded by the Manpower Commission or the Selective Service System to practice in communities where they are needed. The shortage of physicians in small towns has become the nation's No. 1 problem.
Few weeks ago Public Health gave a preview of how it will try to solve this difficulty. The town of Valparaiso, Florida, had a population of only 500 before Uncle Sam moved in and boosted the number of local inhabitants to approximately 5,000. There was neither a doctor nor a dentist to take care of the influx. So the Army offered commissions to two men for assignment to this distressed area. The pair who accepted the task did so voluntarily, but they may be the forerunners of medics who will be transferred willy-nilly.
Here is the situation at present: There are about 125,000 physicians in the United States. The Army and Navy plan to draft at least 25,000, leaving 100,000 to treat civilian patients, or only one for roughly thirteen hundred persons. That is a large order for any doctor. The moral for the folks back home is: Don't get sick!

LUXURY—So many rumors about our troops' unhappiness in Britain have reached this country that it is cheering to be able to report from authentic sources that the contrary is true. The writer bases this on impartial statements of lately returned correspondents and on letters from his first-born, American soldiers in England.

ment will soon transfer most of his Atlantic commercial craft to a regular service between South America and San Francisco.

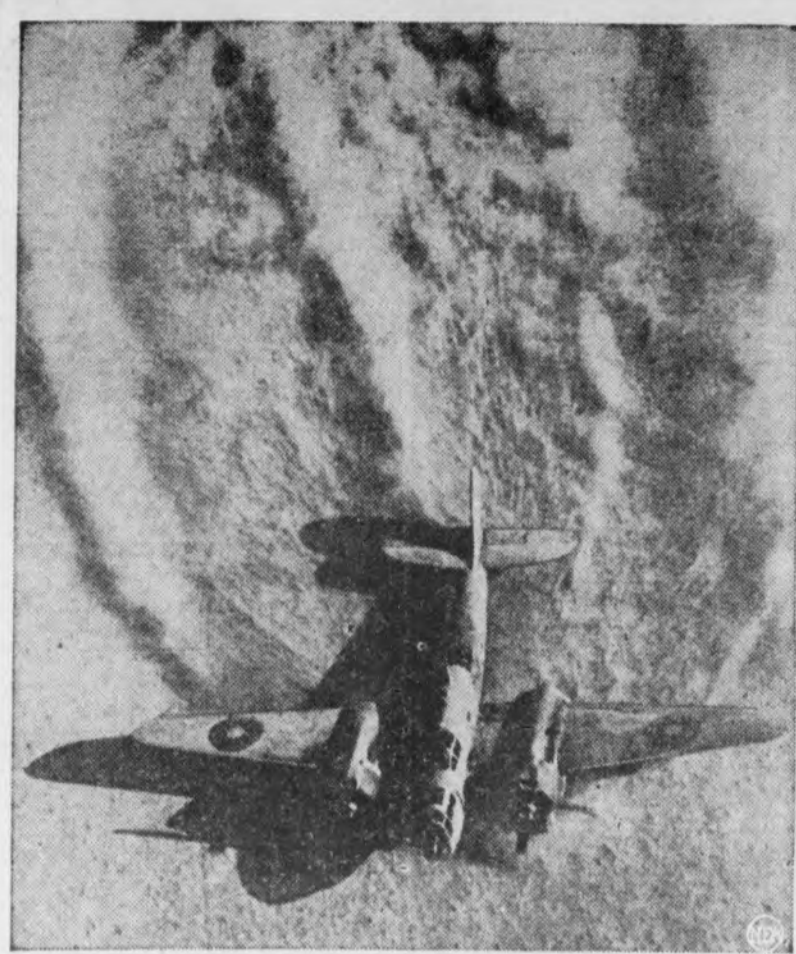

SALUTE—The argument regarding civilian back-seat driving from behind the brass hats has increased since Willkie made his statements and has become a fertile topic in Government halls and on village postoffice steps. A New York historian offers some points germane to the debate. He contends that a nation cannot afford to trust its admirals and generals implicitly until they have demonstrated their genius. Up to the moment when a Beatty or Foch appears it is common sense to be constructively critical.

The OWI has just released a report on the good and bad qualities of our planes. One passage admits that "we are hamstrung by disagreements" in our fighting services. This confession knocks into a cocked hat the plea that we should "leave military matters solely to military men." We did exactly that in the case of aviation and when our cruisers were surprised and sunk in the Solomons.

The chronicler recalls that during the First World War Lloyd George was dead set against sacrificing men through frontal attacks in Flanders mud. Marshal Haig scorned this "layman's advice." Thousands of British and Canadians perished—but the staff captured a few miles of useless mud. The French at their two critical hours pinned all their hopes on a couple of generals. Gamelin threw away the war and Petain plunged his country into a disastrous peace.

Such examples do not prove that every curstone spouter knows more about logistics than does a West Point professor. Unless we are to be soundly thrashed America must produce another Washington or Lee. But in the meantime, cautions the historian, one should salute a gold braider with one's fingers crossed.

EGYPT—These revelations are from the lips of observers freshly arrived in New York from Europe. U. S. Government official from Russia: The Soviet has struck many new oil sources. American drilling machinery has been set up in fields remote from the front. Chief difficulty is to move newly pumped petroleum to distant theaters. U. S. military figure from England: Losses on both sides are not so great as reported. Mechanized warfare spreads out fighters and hence fewer casualties occur per square yard. Armor protection is better. Red-trousered French poilus clumped in close formation were mowed down by machine guns in August, 1914. Modern skirmish lines are thinner.

Atlantic ferry plane crew member: British in West Africa want us to send colored troops to fraternize with hostile Senegalese and thus woo them from Vichy. Dutch refugee: Nazis seized 400 Jewish high school boys in Amsterdam and used them for human guinea pigs in tests for toxic properties of new gas.

U. S. transport specialist: Freight carried by United States cargo aircraft today is greater than entire prewar world total. Swedish newspaperman: German morale is still high. New York banker from Egypt: To save weight and thus span greater distances, all seats have been removed from passenger flying ships in Middle East. Every-one stands or crouches on floor.

Mrs. J. P. Corgan Did Bit For Conservation

You may recall that recently readers, who could recall sites now denuded of wild flower growth where there were once luxuriant stands, were asked to send information to Mrs. Carroll Paul, 505 East Ridge street, that information later to be forwarded to the Michigan Wildflower association for its survey of the state.

In the interests of the survey F. P. Burrell recently went to Ontonagon and learned of an effective bit of work that had been done by Mrs. James P. Corgan, a former resident of this city.

Shipped Orchids To Chicago

She found that the tall pink and white wild orchids, that grew in such profusion in bogs near Ontonagon, were being picked and shipped to Chicago markets. Realizing that such wholesale cutting of the flowers would soon exhaust the stock and kill off the species, she wondered what to do about it.

There was no feasible way of stopping entirely the marketing of the wild orchids, so, making the best of a bad situation, she enlisted the interest and cooperation of those harvesting the floral crop and converted them to the policy of leaving at least one leaf on each stalk so the plant would continue to thrive and reproduce itself.

It was a hitherto unpublicized but effective bit of conservation work in the interest of protecting Upper Peninsula wild flowers. At a meeting of the Marquette branch of the Michigan Wildflower association held Tuesday night in the home of F. P. Burrell, East Ridge street, the following officers for the organization were elected: President, F. P. Burrell; vice-president, Mrs. Abby Beecher Roberts; and secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Carroll Paul.

council, to accept a position as engineer on the Escanaba dock project. Trebilcock was appointed engineer to succeed James Clulo, who became county road engineer. Trebilcock reported at Escanaba today, but last night told councilmen that he will return to Norway from time to time to supervise work now under way until his successor is named.

Hunter Loses Two Fingers

MANISTIQUE, Oct. 22—Wilbur Wise, of Manistique, had the first two fingers of his right hand blown off at their second joints near here Monday afternoon when the 12-gauge shotgun with which he was hunting rabbits accidentally discharged. Wise was hunting rabbits in the Hlawatha swamp and was on a brush pile. The pile gave way and he slipped down into the pile, the gun discharging and blowing off his fingers. The charge narrowly missed his face.

Newspaperman to the Limit!

An American war correspondent may be down, but he's never out.

The world learned that when AP reporter Vern Haugland returned alive after being lost in the jungles of New Guinea. As a tribute to Haugland's "devotion and fortitude," General Douglas MacArthur in an unprecedented action pinned the U. S. Army's Silver Star award on the correspondent, now recovering in a New Guinea hospital.

"I can't tell you how much we have been inspired by your getting back after such trials and hardships," said MacArthur.

"Vern Haugland's saga of his fight for survival during six weeks in one of the wildest spots on earth has gripped thousands of newspaper readers," writes the Helena, Mont., Independent, echoing the praise of press and public.

"Back from the land of the dead, this courageous reporter has given the world one of the most dramatic and vivid stories of an individual's experiences in war—his wanderings through the jungles and mountains of New Guinea where he parachuted from a disabled airplane while en route to cover the island fighting for The Associated Press."

Haugland's story, which he scrawled in a tiny note book until he collapsed at last unconscious, "is an epic of journalism," adds the Shreveport, La., Journal.

"Hail to Haugland—a newspaperman to the limit!"
