Kelly, Ferguson Lead Republican Sweep In State

Starr Single Democrat To Keep Office

By Jack I. Green

DETROIT, Nov. 4.—An enthusiastic Republican party, aided by what Democrats conceded was a voters' protest against national administration policies, gained complete control of Michigan's government on the basis of nearly completed unofficial returns from Tuesday's general election.

Headed by two candidates who had proven their ability to match strength with the Democrats in their Wayne county stronghold, the revived GOP swept every place on the partisan state ballot and extended their long-time control to the legislature.

The sole Democrat to escape the landslide was Associate Justice Raymond W. Starr, of the state supreme court, but he was running on a non-partisan ballot. He had a long lead over his Republican opponent, Earl C. Pugsley, Hart.

Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner, head of the powerful Democratic political organization, failed in his attempt to be first chief executive of Michigan to serve two consecutive terms since 1928.

Kelly's Lead Never Overcome
His opponent and next governor, Secretary of State Harry F. Kelly, grabbed the bit in his teeth as he started down-state in the early unofficial returns and never was breached, not even when he had to meet the Democratic spurs in the metropolitan area.

It appeared that Kelly's majority would approximate 65,000 votes in the state. He seemed to have a lead outside of upwards of 150,000, but Van Wagoner piled up a Wayne county majority of better than 85,000.

Michigan's junior senator, Prentiss M. Brown, St. Ignace, who recently was personally thanked by President Roosevelt for his leadership in a Congressional anti-Indian fight, was rejected by the voters in favor of Detroit's crusading grand juror, Circuit Judge Homer Ferguson.

In the face of political forecasts that Ferguson would be beaten even if Kelly won, the Wayne county jurist ran up an out-state lead of nearly 120,000. Brown came out of Detroit with a lead of slightly under 100,000 votes.

25,000 Votes For Smith
Gerald L. K. Smith, the radio orator and former preacher running on stickers, did not even threaten, polling about 25,000 votes.

The story of Republican strength ran throughout the state ticket, even upsetting the Democrats' veteran state treasurer, Theodore I. Fry.

Fry was defeated by State Senator D. Hale Brake, Stanton, experienced legal "brain" of the state senate. Brake's lead over Fry was the smallest of the ticket, something more than 35,000 votes.

Vernon J. Brown, Mason weekly newspaper publisher seeking his third term as auditor general, had no difficulty defeating Carl B. Brandenburg, Macomb county treasurer. Brown had an edge of about 150,000.

Attorney General Herbert J. Hansbrough piled up a lead of more than 110,000 over John W. Babcock, assistant U. S. district attorney in Detroit who prosecuted Max Stephan, the condemned traitor.

Roly-poly Herman H. Dignan, retiring state treasurer from Owosso, retained for the Republican party the politically-important secretary of state post, defeating Maurice Eveland, Mayville banker and state

Home Rule Amendment Apparently Approved
DETROIT, Nov. 4.—Michigan voters in Tuesday's general election appeared to have rejected a proposal to rewrite the state's 32-year-old constitution.

On the basis of 3,022 precincts of the state's 3,748 reporting the constitutional revision proposal, question No. 1 on the ballot, drew 352,373 "no" votes and 347,387 "yes" votes.

Most of the unreported precincts were outside Wayne county from areas which have been returning consistent negative majorities.

The voters said "no" resoundingly to the attempt of some farmer organizations to write a new milk marketing law replacing one declared unconstitutional by the state supreme court. The law, permitting state regulation of milk trade prices and business practices, was suspended by a referendum petition until the vote of the people could be obtained. The people, with 3,028 precincts reported, voted 465,257 in the negative and 257,503 in the affirmative.

12th Only District To Make Change

DETROIT, Nov. 4.—Unofficial returns from yesterday's general election indicated that resurgent Michigan Republicans had driven Democrats from their last outstate Congressional stronghold, the Upper Peninsula's Twelfth district where Rep. Frank E. Hook, Ironwood, was seeking a fifth consecutive term.

With only two Marquette county precincts unreported, John B. Bennett, Ontonagon Republican, held an edge of a little more than 3,500 votes which late returns were padding slightly. The Twelfth was the only district to change in political complexion.

Five Democrats Elected

Five Detroit districts returned Democratic Congressmen and the 11 other outstate districts, including the 17th, which sprawls across the Oakland-Wayne county line, returned Republicans. Except in the Twelfth and the First, where Rep. Rudolph G. Tonerowicz was defeated in the primary, incumbents were reelected.

Tonerowicz' Democratic successor won handily in the First district, however. The 17th remained Republican, reelecting Rep. George A. Dondero by a margin of approximately 11,000 over Mrs. Dorothy Kemp Roosevelt, sister-in-law of the President's wife.

On the strength of virtually complete unofficial returns, the Michigan delegation's lineup in the 78th Congress will be:

Republicans—Bennett; Paul W. Shafer, Battle Creek; Clare H. Hoffman, Allegan; Bartel J. Jonckheere, Port Huron; Jesse P. Wolford, Port Huron; and Roy O. Woodruff, Bay City, all reelected over the pleas of opponents who criticized them as pre-World War isolationists; Earl C. Pugsley, Adrian; William W. Blackney, Flint; Fred L. Crawford, Saginaw; Albert J. Engel, Muskegon; Fred J. Bradley, Rogers City, and Dondero, also reelected.

Bennett Polls 31,418 Votes

Democrats — Former Congressman George G. Sadowski, who succeeded to Tonerowicz' seat; George D. O'Brien, Louis C. Rabaut, John D. Dingell and John Lesinski, all Detroiters and all reelected.

Final unofficial returns by districts, with only a few scattered precincts unreported, included:

Eleventh (Strait)—Bradley (R) 31,921; Paul L. Adams (D), Sault Ste. Marie, 22,958.

Twelfth (Upper Peninsula)—Bennett (R) 31,589; Hook (D) 28,000.

Vichy Gives 35 Vessels To Germany

LONDON, Nov. 4.—The pro-German Vichy government has agreed to turn over to the Axis 35 former Allied merchantmen in Mediterranean ports, the British ministry of economic warfare said today, as new demands were made by French Fascist Jacques Doriot for "an immediate understanding between France and Germany about the defense of French colonial possessions in Africa."

While Doriot was making his demands before the National Congress of the French Peoples party in Paris, both the Berlin and Vichy radios were carrying reports of huge Allied naval concentrations at Gibraltar. The Vichy radio quoted a dispatch from La Linea, Spain, as saying the vessels included transports loaded with American troops.

Another Vichy radio report said a group of French naval "specialists" had left for Germany. The broadcast gave no details, but German pressure for French naval aid has been reported frequently in the past.

At the same time Pierre Laval, Vichy chief of government, was in Paris conferring with "several political personages" (some presumably German), the German news agency Transocean reported. An announcement on Laval's talks, the agency said, might be issued after his return to Vichy.

Transport Carries 7,000 Troops to Middle East

A PORT ON THE RED SEA, Oct. 31.—(Delayed)—(Passed by U. S. Military Censor)—A—The largest contingent of American fighting men ever brought to the Middle East in one transport, 7,000 strong, arrived at this port today and for hour were ferried ashore from their great liner-transport by boats.

The ship was crammed with specialists, technical troops and air force units from holds to top deck. Not a man was lost on the long voyage from New York.

Democratic Governors In 4 States Lose

By Alex H. Singleton

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—The Republican party wrested the governorship of at least four strategic states—New York, California, Connecticut and Michigan—from Democratic dominance in Tuesday's election, leaving the nation's 48 states almost evenly divided between the two political factions.

The outcome remained in doubt in only two states.

An up-and-down scramble in Idaho sent C. A. Bottolfsen, former Republican governor, into a lead of less than 300 votes over Chase A. Clark, Democratic incumbent.

As the political battlefields of New York, Thomas E. Dewey, whose racket clean-up campaigns brought him national prominence as district attorney, swept to an overwhelming victory over Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr., who had President Roosevelt's endorsement.

Bricker, Stassen Reelected
Across the nation, Republicans backed up other potential aspirants for first or second place on the Republican national ticket in 1944.

Ohio reelected Governor John W. Bricker.

Minnesota returned Governor Harold E. Stassen.

Massachusetts chose Leverett Saltonstall as its chief executive again.

All three were seeking a third term.

From the far west emerged a comparative newcomer to take a place of prominence in the national picture. State Attorney General Earl Warren rolled up a heavy majority to unseat Governor Culbert L. Olson, California's first Democratic governor in 43 years.

British Vessel Sunk Off South America

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—The Navy announced today that a medium-sized British merchant vessel had been torpedoed and sunk by an enemy submarine in the Atlantic off the northern coast of South America. Survivors have been landed at an east coast port.

All of the 47-man crew were picked up by an American naval vessel about 10 hours after the sinkings. They were landed at a Caribbean port and finally were brought to the United States.

The sinking, including the loss of a small American merchantman announced earlier in the day by the Navy, brought to 515 the Associated Press tabulation of announced western Atlantic ship losses since Pearl Harbor.

Six crewmen were killed in the submarine attack on the other ship, but 25 others, including the captain, were rescued.

Reds Holding In Stalingrad And Caucasus

By Henry C. Cassidy

MOSCOW, Nov. 5.—(Thursday)—The Red army held its ground in Stalingrad and the central Caucasus Wednesday and scored successes on the Black sea front and northwest of Stalingrad, the Soviet midnight communique said today.

The Germans continued to hurl masses of tanks into the battle on the Nalchik plains, at the foot of the 18,000-foot Caucasus mountains, and in the rubble-strewn streets of Stalingrad, but the Russians repulsed all attacks, inflicting heavy losses.

On the other two major fronts—northwest of Stalingrad and in the Black sea area—the Red army continued to hold the initiative and captured a number of German positions in both areas.

Withdraw Elite Troops

The Germans were reported to have been forced to withdraw some of their elite troops from Stalingrad to meet the threat to their left flank northwest of the city after Red army rifleman, ferried by night across the Volga, entered the battle.

The communique said, however, that the Germans continued to attack all Soviet positions inside the Volga city with both tanks and infantry, indicating there had been no decrease in the intensity of the fighting. It said 1,000 Germans were killed and eight tanks disabled during the day, without any gains in ground.

Strengthened by reinforcements, Russian troops northwest of Stalingrad captured five dugouts and fortified positions, while Soviet artillery demolished nine blockhouses. About 130 Germans were killed in this area.

In the central Caucasus area, where the Germans are trying desperately to reach the historic Georgian military highway, main artery across the lofty mountain barrier, the Russians claimed to have repulsed all attacks in the big battle southeast of Nalchik.

Fire Many German Tanks

At one point Soviet troops killed 350 Germans and set seven tanks on fire, while at another place 16 German tanks were set on fire and an additional 17 disabled.

On the Black sea front, one Russian vessel was said to have captured "several enemy strong defense points" northeast of Tuapse and killed about 400 Germans. To the east of Novorossiisk, German-occupied Black sea port a group of Russian scouts penetrated behind enemy lines and raided the headquarters of a German unit, killing 27 men, including a battalion commander and a company commander.

Inside Stalingrad a new flareup of German attacks by perhaps 30,000 infantry was stopped without gain in a six-hour struggle, Russian dispatches said. They declared that ground won back in the factory belt by Russian thrusts was held successfully against counterattacks.

Red Star said Russian landings on the German flank north of the city were made by troops who crossed the Volga on armed cutters and marched through the night into positions from which they attacked the German rear.

Nazis Falter In Caucasus

The battle there continued after dark, the army newspaper said, with heavy losses inflicted upon the Germans.

Dispatches from the central Caucasus front, where the Germans have sent tanks, planes and a field army of 50,000 men into an attack toward the high passes through the mountains, said the Germans had been held to a meager gain yesterday.

A Russian communique indicated that this latest Nazi onset had faltered finally under Russian artillery fire after several days of gains.

WPB Halts Safety Razor Production

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—The War Production Board cut off safety razor manufacture for civilians use, placed all razors and blades under strict restrictions today—but (hear! hear!) the nation's menfolks were assured there's no need to start bristling up.

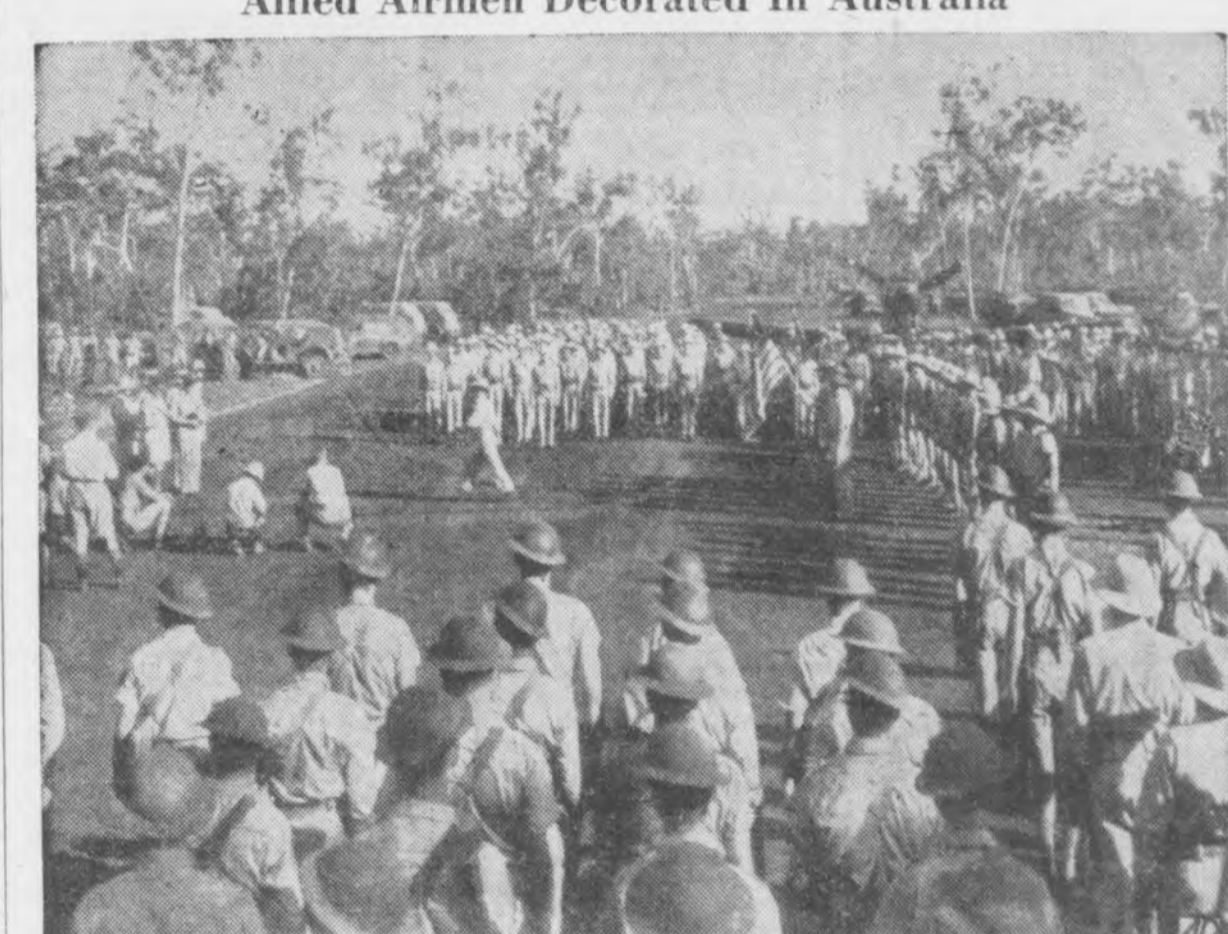

In the first place, the WPB predicted that there would be "blades for everybody" in civilian line in 1943, since millions of the men are in uniform.

And besides, even if worst came to worst, the average American male could whistle happily through his whiskers with the assurance that the 800-odd tons of high grade steel to be saved by the shutdown would go into such things as machine knives.

The order specifically stated that safety razors now may be produced only (1) for the fighting men, (2) for export and (3) for lease-lend purposes. Straight razor production was sharply curtailed for November and December and will be halted entirely January 1—when the manufacturers start turning out those cutting little numbers to tickle the Axis throats.

American, Allied Airmen Pound Rommel's Forces Retreating Across Desert

Allied Airmen Decorated In Australia

This is a general view at an advanced operational base in Australia, as Lieut.-Gen. George H. Brett, commander-in-chief Allied air forces in the southwestern Pacific awarded decorations to 23 officers and men of the U. S. Air Force and two Australians.

Republicans Gain 8 Seats In Legislature

DETROIT, Nov. 4.—The Republicans gained eight state legislative seats—five in the house and three in the senate—in yesterday's general election, a complete returns disclosed today, assuring Governor-elect Kelly's administration of preponderant majorities in both chambers.

As veteran Republican lawmakers held firmly to all their districts, three Democrats were unseated in the senate to increase the Republican margin there to 25 to 7. In the house six Democrats were displaced, but another defeated his Republican opponent. This left the GOP with a 73 to 27 edge in the lower chamber.

Only in metropolitan Detroit did the Democrats secure the Republican upsurge. Of the 34 seats won by the Democrats in both houses, 24 went to Detroiters. Five others went above the Straits of Mackinac, and the industrial communities of Flint, Bay City and Pontiac took the others.

Benzie Defeated by Cloon

The three Democratic senators turned out of office were James A. Burns, Detroit; Ernest C. Brooks, Holland, and D. Stephen Benzie, Norway. Burns was defeated in the Fourth district by Arthur E. Wood, Detroit, a veteran of nine terms in the house and senate.

In the 23rd district Brooks was beaten by Frank E. McKee, North Muskegon, and Benzie was ousted by Joseph P. Cloon, Wakefield.

In the house, John Dean Bay City Democrat, secured the Republican party position of having upset a Republican incumbent, Arthur C. McKinnon, also of Bay City.

The Democrats, meanwhile, lost two seats in Muskegon county, and one each in Genesee, Macomb, Menominee and Macquarie precincts. Two newcomers, Louis Freye and Joseph F. Chak, Jr., gained the Muskegon seats, Chak by displacing Democratic incumbent Robert Douma, Whitehall.

In Genesee county, George A. Gillespie, Gaines, a former house member, seized the office for the Republicans. Howard R. Carroll, (Turn to Page 9, Column 2)

Martial Music Important Wartime Morale Builder

CADILLAC, Mich., Nov. 4.—The importance of martial music in building wartime morale was emphasized by Dr. Joseph E. Madley, director of music for the state defense council, at the regional Parent Education Institute here today.

Dr. Madley recommended spontaneous group singing as an emotion outlet for the pent-up tension of the times.

Robert A. Hershey, nutrition specialist at Michigan State college, advised the women to accept wartime rationing without complaint or hoarding as one way to help win the war.

The meeting was one of five sponsored by the University of Michigan and the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers and held in five cities to overcome the transportation problem.

Allies Continue Advance In New Guinea Jungle

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Nov. 5.—(Thursday)—Allied troops swept aside strong enemy resistance three miles west of Oivi in the New Guinea jungles, and are continuing the advance aimed at Buna, the Japanese coastal base which is being pounded steadily by Allied planes, a communique said today.

Now operating several miles beyond Kokoda, mid-way point across the 120-mile waist of New Guinea, the Allied troops were aided by their aerial artillery which not only blasted Buna and Oivi, but ranged far up the coast to hit the subsidiary Japanese bases of Lae and Salamaua. These latter attacks obviously were to hinder any Japanese attempts to send seaborne reinforcements to Buna.

Democrats In Control Of House, Senate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Pushing the Japanese back United States forces have made new gains along the beaches of Guadalcanal, diminishing the enemy's threat against vital Henderson airfield, the Navy announced tonight.

In the drive toward the western end of the island where the Japanese had been most successful in effecting landings, the enemy has been forced to relinquish more than a score of pieces of equipment to the fighting Marines and Army troops.

Among the equipment captured were about 20 machine guns, the Navy said. This could mean that a number of enemy machine gun nests had been wiped out in fighting west of the airfield. Also captured were two small artillery pieces taken from their Japanese crews.

Army and Navy planes joined in strafing the enemy and bombing Japanese positions, working in close support of the ground forces butting their way along the beach.

East of the airfield, where Japanese reinforcements were reported to have landed last Monday night and Tuesday morning, the Navy said there was no new action to report. Presumably those reinforcements had not swung into an attempt to pierce American defenses set up in anticipation of a Japanese attack.

The land battling took the marines and soldiers forward two miles to the west with comparatively few casualties last Sunday, Washington time. They followed up the next day with several small advances in which enemy equipment was taken.

Returning to the attack the following day they continued to force the enemy westward. No details were given, however, of the latest advances beyond the statement in the Navy communique that "the advance to the west continued during the morning of November 3" (Solomon Island time).

The naval engagements which roared through the ocean about the Solomon islands for many days apparently continued in a lull. Of that phase the Navy's communique said only "there is nothing to report from other areas."

Kelly Will Appoint Successor to Ferguson

DETROIT, Nov. 4.—One of Harry F. Kelly's first duties when he becomes Governor January 1 will be to appoint a Wayne county circuit judge to replace Senator-elect Homer Ferguson.

Judge Ferguson, who has been on indefinite leave from the bench, said today he would step aside definitely as a jurist.

He still is somewhat shaky as a result of injuries suffered in a train wreck in the closing days of the campaign, but said he expected to assume additional work next week.

Election to the United States Senate means a smaller salary for Ferguson — $10,000 a year as against the $15,500 he received annually as circuit judge. (Turn to Page 9, Column 5)

Axis Losses High; German General Slain

By Edward Kennedy

CAIRO, Nov. 4.—Marshal Erwin Rommel's Axis desert forces were officially declared in full and disordered retreat tonight across the sands of western Egypt, pursued relentlessly by British imperial ground forces and under constant attack from above by American and Allied airmen.

A special Allied communique said General von Stumpp, Nazi second in command, had been killed in the 12-day fight which preceded the flight of the "disordered columns" and 9,000 Axis prisoners had been taken, including Gen. Ritter von Thoma, commander of the Afrika Korps, and other topflight German and Italian officers.

Axis Losses Tremendous

The joint communique announced these tremendous Axis losses in less than two weeks of battle: "Exceptionally high" casualties in dead and wounded; 600 planes; 260 tanks destroyed or captured; 270 guns and 50,000 tons of shipping laden with supplies.

Allied air losses were described as "light" in the 12-day bloody breakthrough by which the British imperials hope to smash with finality the Axis position in Africa.

(The victorious British communique was issued about the time the Berlin radio was acknowledging "British" local successes" but insisting that "Marshal Rommel made the situation completely in hand and is in a position to take the initiative at any moment he considers necessary.")

The German announcer quoted "military quarters" as saying the British had lost between 450 and 500 tanks in the action thus far.)

Drive Climaxes Aerial Attack

The British drive westward climaxed days of artillery and aerial preparation which softened the Axis line, touched off an elaborate four-mile-deep mine field, and knocked out other fixed Nazi positions.

Imperial infantry did a heavy preliminary job before General Montgomery hurled his huge tank forces through a gap torn in the Axis coastal flank west of El Alamein. The same procedure was followed 40 miles to the south at the edge of the Qattara salt sinks in an effort to roll up the Nazi positions from both flanks.

Hundreds of Allied planes pounded the Axis supply lines as far back as the Libyan port of Tobruk which was one of the main intake points for much-needed Axis supplies hazily followed 40 miles to the south at the edge of the Qattara salt sinks in an effort to roll up the Nazi positions from both flanks.

U. S. airmen played a major part in this sky artillery war, and their big bombers accounted for some of the 50,000 tons of shipping sunk along the Mediterranean coast behind the Axis forward lines.

Still Pounding Axis Forces
Tonight these American and RAF planes were backing at the battered Axis infantry and the remnants of their armored forces straggling westward along the coast

Dozers Meet Head-On To Complete Alaskan Road

WHITEHORSE, Yukon Territory, Canada, Nov. 4.—Through the new Alaskan highway linking the continental United States with Alaska has been in use for some time, as Secretary of War Stimson announced last week, the final link was not completed until the north and south crews met head-on in the spruce forests of the Yukon Territory yesterday.

The meeting was dramatic, Corporal Rufus Sims, Jr., a negro from Philadelphia, was driving south with a bulldozer when he saw trees starting to topple over on him. Slamming his big vehicle into reverse, he backed out just as another bulldozer, driven by Private Alfred Jalufka, Kennedy, Texas, was broken through the underbrush. Jalufka had been forcing his bulldozer through the brush with such speed that his face was bloody from scratches of overhanging branches and limbs.

The meeting occurred just 20 miles east of the Alaska-Yukon international boundary at Beaver Creek. Formal dedication ceremonies will take place November 20, with high ranking military and civil officials of the United States and Canada in attendance.

John Voelker Trailing In Close Contest

The Republican victory in Marquette county Tuesday brought defeat to three Democratic county office-holders—Prosecuting Attorney John Voelker, Mine Inspector John Tilot and Coroner James T. Hodge—as well as Charles F. Sundstrom, Michigan, Democratic representative in the state legislature.

The contest between Voelker and his Republican opponent, Robert Q. Archibald, Ishpeming, was a photo-finish affair and with returns from Turin and Wells townships unreported last night Archibald had a lead of 125 votes. It is a small margin, but it is not expected Voelker will be able to close the gap, although he may reduce it somewhat.

In the mine inspector contest Richard Johns, Negaunee, Republican, piled up a majority of 1,402 over the Democratic incumbent, Tilot.

For coroner, Fred J. Northey, Negaunee, Republican, replaces James T. Hodge, also of Negaunee, Democratic incumbent. The county's two coroners are Marvin P. Fassbender, Marquette Republican, who was reelected by a huge margin, and Northey. Hodge was third in the race and Poirier, the other Democratic candidate, fourth.

Sundstrom made a good run, but could not overtake Stanley Elder, Marquette Republican, who has a lead of 619 in the contest for representative in the legislature.

Kelly's Lead 846

The manner in which the county donated Republican clothes is revealed in the vote for Governor. Harry F. Kelly, Republican Governor-elect, outran Van Wagoner to the tune of 846. Two years ago Van Wagoner took Marquette county for the Republican candidate, Luren D. Dickinson, by a majority of 4,317.

Judge Homer Ferguson, Marquette's new Republican United States Senator, was hard-pressed in Marquette county by the defeated Democratic incumbent, Prentiss M. Brown, but Ferguson polled a majority of 221.

For the lesser state offices Republicans were on top all the way. Attorney General Rushton showing his heels to the others with a majority of 2,338 over Babcock, Democratic nominee. Auditor General Brown polled 7,138 votes to beat Brandenburg by 2,163; Keyes (R) had a lead of 649 over Murphy (D) for lieutenant governor; Dignan (R) led Eveland (D) by 1,337 for secretary of state and D. Hale Brake (R) topped Fry (D) for state treasurer by 758.

Bennett's Lead 1,820

For Congress the county gave John B. Bennett, the Republican victor, a majority of 1,820 over Frank Hook, Democratic incumbent. Bennett's lead in this county being approximately half his combined majority for the district.

Joseph P. Cloon, Republican, can thank Marquette county for his victory over D. Stephen Benzie, Norway Democrat, for state senator. Cloon's lead in this county was 1,269 and the vote in the other three counties of the Thirty-First district was about a standoff.

Treado Leads the Pack
Sheriff Howard C. Treado, running far ahead of the other Republican candidates, rolled up 7,874 votes to defeat Joseph Mongrain, his Democratic opponent, by a majority of 2,731.

Republican voters repeated their performance of two years ago and split their ticket in such numbers that County Clerk Lloyd LeVasseur, Democrat, won from Alvin P. Tuch, Republican nominee, by 1,447.

Lincoln J. Lindstrom, Republican nominee for county treasurer, disposed of Casey C. Wiggins, Democratic candidate, with 1,224 votes to spare.

Mrs. Fannie Aartila, register of deeds, seeking reelection on the Democratic ticket, survived the Republican onslaught by defeating Jacob Anderson, GOP nominee. Her majority stands at 654.

Approximately 13,000 votes were cast in the county Tuesday, compared to 21,000 in the 1940 election in the court house yesterday. The county canvassing board but was unable to proceed with its work because the returns from Turin and Ewing townships had not

Flying Boat Capsizes Off Maine; 5 Missing

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—P.—The War department announced today that two Air Corps officers and three enlisted men of a crew of nine were missing in an accident off the Maine coast in which an Army Air Forces flying boat capsized Monday.

Among those missing was Sgt. Charles O. Richardson, Charlevoix, Mich.

The department said the flying boat had completed the first leg of a routine flight and was taking off for the return trip to its base when it capsized in rough water.

Confederate Cannons Dug Out of Sands

SOUTHPORT, N. C.—P.—Confederate Point, which made many a Yankee naval captain swear lustily during the Civil War, has at last surrendered to the U. S. Her guns, buried in the sands, are being exhumed by schoolchildren and are on the way to the munitions works.

The battery at Confederate Point covered the Cape Fear River as Fort Fisher, across the water, covered the sea. Blockade runners, slipping into the river, raced for the cover of the big 12-foot cannon, and Union pursuers always stopped short of the mouth, because the Point outgunned anything the fleet could bring to bear.

With the fall of Fort Fisher, the garrison of Confederate Point hastily buried the guns and joined other units. There the guns lay, until school kids of Brunswick County, armed with spades, turned up more than 15 tons of scrap and prospecting for more. Among the finds were three large howitzers, cannon balls and some slugs. It is believed six more large cannon are embedded in the breastworks of the strong point.

GOP Gains Revealed In City Returns

Although two Democratic candidates for county offices—Lloyd LeVasseur, county clerk, and Mrs. Fannie Aartila, register of deeds—were given majorities in the city of Marquette in Tuesday's election, Republican nominees for state and Congressional offices won here by margins ranging from 400 to over 1,000.

Governor-elect Kelly carried Marquette city by 415. Attorney General Rushton led the GOP state ticket here, defeating his Democratic opponent, John W. Babcock, 2,639 to 1,493. Judge Homer Ferguson, Republican winner over Prentiss M. Brown for United States Senator, carried Marquette by 151 votes and John B. Bennett, Republican nominee elected to Congress from the Twelfth district, defeated the Democratic incumbent, Frank E. Hook, by a majority of 896.

Joseph P. Cloon, elected state senator from the GOP ticket, had a lead of 726 in Marquette over the Democratic incumbent, D. Stephen Benzie, and in the contest between Stanley Elder, GOP nominee, and Charles F. Sundstrom, Democratic incumbent, for representative of the state legislature from Marquette county, Marquette gave Elder a lead of 533.

Archibald, Voelker Tied

In the contests for county offices, Robert Q. Archibald, Republican, and John Voelker, Democrat, were tied for prosecuting attorney, each polling 2,067 votes. Sheriff Howard C. Treado, reelected on the Republican ticket, polled a majority of 700 in the city over Joseph Mongrain, Democrat.

Republicans in the city split their ballots to give Lloyd LeVasseur, Democratic nominee for reelection as county clerk, a margin of 700 over Alvin Tuch, Republican nominee, and a margin of 590 to Mrs. Fannie Aartila, Democratic incumbent, in her contest with Jacob Anderson, Republican, for register of deeds. In the race for county treasurer the GOP nominee, Lincoln J. Lindstrom, carried the city by a lead of about 500 votes over C. C. Wiggins, Democrat.

Republican candidates for coroner—Marvin P. Fassbender, and Fred J. Northey—won handily in Marquette, Fassbender polling 3,170 votes, the largest number credited to any candidate on the ballot. Richard Johns, GOP nominee for mine inspector, was given a majority in the city of about 300 over John Tilot, Democratic incumbent.

4,400 Votes Cast in City

Approximately 4,400 votes, were cast in the city. A handful went to Gerald L. K. Smith sticker candidate for U. S. Senator, and a negligible number for Prohibition party candidates.

The total vote cast here represented about four-sevenths of the city's 7,699 registered electors. Although it was a light vote compared to the total of 6,922 cast for president here in 1940, it reflects substantial Republican gains. In 1940 President Roosevelt polled 3,563 votes here, compared to 3,359 for Wilkie, Republican. For Governor, in 1940, Van Wagoner, Demo-

Bennett Lead In District Over 3,500

In piling up a majority of more than 3,500 to defeat Rep. Frank E. Hook, Ironwood Democrat, the Republican Congressman-elect, John B. Bennett, Ontonagon, won in six of the eight counties in the Twelfth district in Tuesday's election and lost the others by extremely small margins.

Hook carried Keweenaw county by 37 votes, getting 726 to Bennett's 689. He also carried his own county, Gogebic, but his lead there was only 188, the count being: Bennett, 5,229; Hook, 5,417.

Hook Fades In Marquette

Bennett made his best showing in Marquette county, where his majority over Hook was 1,820 with returns from two small townships unreported. Two years ago the vote was the reverse, Hook trimming Bennett by 1,831 in this county.

In the 1940 Presidential election Hook polled 47,429 votes and Bennett 44,733. The Ironwood man's majority being 2,696. This time Bennett polled 31,589 to Hook's 28,000, a majority of 3,589 for the Republican winner.

Promises Honest Service

Yesterday Mr. Bennett made the following statement in Ontonagon when it became certain that he had won:

"I appreciate the confidence which the voters of the Twelfth district have placed in me. I shall do my level best to merit their confidence. I promise to give you honest and straight-forward representation in Congress. I want every citizen in the district to feel that I am at his service."

L'Anse

American Legion Friday — William McGue post, American Legion, will meet in the Legion rooms Friday night at 8. Plans will be made for the annual Armistice day ball and program.

Bond Quota Exceeded — Baraga county again over the top in October sales of bonds and stamps. The quota for the month, $9,500, has been exceeded with a return of $11,209, and reports not yet complete.

Victory Corps Program — The L'Anse high school Victory Corps, organized several weeks ago, has progressed rapidly in the physical fitness program outlined by the Navy and Army, for high schools. The sports committee recommends that all students take part except those who cannot participate safely because of health. Physicians' recommendations are used as a basis for determining eligibility. Inadequate scholarship is not considered grounds for excluding a student from any part of the physical training program. Military drill is being stressed, and William McGue post, American Legion, has loaned the school, for this purpose, two dozen rifles, which Legionnaires carried in the last war. A well-balanced program will be followed throughout the school year with such exercises as football, basketball, volley ball, wrestling, tumbling, tennis, rope climbing, obstacle running, hurdling, boxing, soccer, military track and obstacle track. Those participated are volunteers.

Armistice Day Program — The L'Anse township schools, in cooperation with the American Legion, will observe an Armistice day program November 11. There will be a parade, weather permitting, salute to the American flag, pledge of allegiance, Armistice day address and music. The program is expected to be given at 11 a. m., the hour of the signing of the Armistice November 11, 1918.

American Education Week — American Education week will be observed in the schools beginning next Monday. The theme this year is "Education for Free Men." The junior and senior high schools, and the elementary grades, will be open to the public during regular class periods. If the gas rationing schedule does not interfere, an open-house program will be held in the high school building Monday evening. Tuesday afternoon at 2 a movie will be shown, in cooperation with the Treasury department and the United States Secret Service, entitled "Make Money—Know Your Money." The public is invited to see the film in the high school gymnasium. Topics to be discussed during the week are, Monday, "Serving Wartime Needs"; Tuesday, "Building Strong Bodies"; Wednesday, "Developing Loyal Citizens"; Thursday, "Cultivating Knowledge and Skills"; Friday, "Establishing Sturdy Character"; Saturday, "Strengthening Morale for Victory."

FSA Helping To Increase Farm Crops

A six-point wartime food production and marketing program, ordered by the National Food Requirements Committee, has been started in Alger and Marquette counties by the Farm Security Administration, Warner H. Biekkola, Marquette, FSA supervisor, said yesterday.

Claude R. Wickard, Secretary of Agriculture and chairman of the new committee, has given FSA the responsibility of bringing into full production the "land, labor and resources of the small farm operators."

"Our job is to make the best use of manpower, land and equipment to produce and market food needed for victory," Biekkola said. "Farm Security will encourage and finance small farmers."

"This nation cannot produce too much food, in view of the war needs. Requirements of the United Nations today are, in many cases, already greater than the available supply. With adequate organization and effort we can meet this vast demand."

The growing importance of the small farmer in producing the nation's food is indicated in Wickard's request that FSA advise him of measures necessary to strengthen its efforts in order to carry out the program.

"One hundred and fifty FSA families in Alger and Marquette counties already have increased food production this year by improved farm and home management practices," Biekkola said. "Larger gardens have been planted; more grain has been planted to feed dairy animals; more fertilizer has been used to increase production, and high pressure spraying has been utilized to improve crops."

A new quota of 12,500,000 pints of blood to be collected by the American Red Cross during the next 12 months has been requested by the Army and Navy. The expanded program represents the biggest single medical undertaking in history.

Mrs. John Kelly, sister of the groom, attended the bride. Her afternoon dress was black with colored sequins trim and her accessories were black. She wore a corsage of Talisman and Roosevelt roses. The groom was attended by John J. Kelly.

Many Employes In Service—"Thousands of our experienced employes are in the military forces and others are being called steadily," Frank C. Walker, Postmaster General, notified Courtney in asking him to urge patrons here to shop and mail early and wrap parcels securely.

"There is already an acute shortage of personnel in many postoffices. Another problem is transportation, which is already taxed by the war program."

"Postal patrons are urged to mail gifts and cards at least 20 to 25 days before Christmas, depending upon distance," Courtney said. "The cooperation of the public must be obtained if the mails are to be handled and delivered on time."

Early Yule Mailing Vital This Season—Because of the great task of handling mail, personal and official, for members of the armed forces and for business enterprises engaged in the production of war material, the U. S. Postal Service, preparing for the busy holiday season, is making a special plea for early mailing and secure wrapping of Christmas parcels.

"The war has increased the work of the Postal Service considerably and, in all probability, it will be taxed this holiday season more than ever before," John S. Early Yule Mailing Vital This Season

Because of the great task of handling mail, personal and official, for members of the armed forces and for business enterprises engaged in the production of war material, the U. S. Postal Service, preparing for the busy holiday season, is making a special plea for early mailing and secure wrapping of Christmas parcels.

"The war has increased the work of the Postal Service considerably and, in all probability, it will be taxed this holiday season more than ever before," John S. Courtney, Marquette postmaster, said yesterday. "For this reason, we ask the cooperation of the public and request that all persons make a special effort to send their Christmas gifts and cards earlier than they ordinarily would."

The task of handling war correspondence cannot be neglected, it was pointed out, and public cooperation is needed to enable the Postal Service to maintain its record of efficient handling of holiday mail.

Postmasters have been instructed to have parcels inspected by a postal employe in the presence of another postal employe, if available. When parcels are accepted for dispatch by air mail, they are stamped conspicuously and endorsed with the names of the examining employe and witness, together with the postmark of the postoffice where they were examined.

"Sealed articles intended for transmission by air mail should be opened and resealed by the mailer in the presence of a postal employe," Courtney said, "and when articles are presented at a postoffice window this procedure will be followed."

Air Mail Overseas Rate—Packages must be endorsed, as follows: "Postmaster: This parcel may be opened for postal inspection, if necessary." Any sealed articles intended for transmission by air mail which are deposited in a street collection box without such endorsement will be held and the sender will be notified. If the sender can not be notified, the article will be dispatched through the regular channels and not by air mail.

Courtney reminded patrons that air mail for armed forces overseas must be prepaid at the rate of six cents a half ounce and not six cents an ounce. The latter rate is only for domestic air mail. The cost is doubled for overseas mail.

20 YEARS IN MARQUETTE BIRTHDAY PARTY

WITH SAVINGS YOU'LL REMEMBER ALL YEAR!

BIRTHDAYS ARE ONE REASON FOR CELEBRATING

We're celebrating a birthday this month, and we're making quite an occasion of it. We've made a good many friends since this store first opened, and we know they will welcome an opportunity to celebrate with us.

Birthdays are one reason for celebrating. But in times like these, we're likely to forget the many, many other reasons we Americans have for gratitude and celebration.

In spite of wartime pressures, we still have a good many American freedoms that we hardly appreciate enough. We have free choice in every important thing that goes to make up our daily lives.

For example, nobody tells you what to buy, and where to buy it. If you like Penney's, and the goods we sell, and our prices, you may shop with us. If not, you take your money and buy elsewhere. That is just one reason for gratitude and celebration—and it would be a good thing for each of us to stop and consider all of them—and to realize how much we have to fight for!

spite union leaders' efforts in his behalf, Bennett carried the city.

Results in the contests for county offices favored, with three exceptions, the incumbents and revealed recognition by voters in both parties of efficient service rendered. Sheriff Treado, Republican; County Clerk LeVasseur, Democrat, and Mrs. Fannie Aartila, Democratic register of deeds, were reelected and their strength exceeded that of the party tickets on which they ran. The defeat of Prosecuting Attorney John Voelker by Mr. Archibald, a newcomer in county politics, is attributed to the condition that Archibald campaigned strenuously whereas Voelker, who has given excellent service in the office, made practically no effort in his own behalf. With returns unreported from two townships it appeared Archibald would win by approximately 100 votes.

In The State

The country-wide election results were generally favorable to the Republicans. In New York Mr. Dewey got the 500,000 and more majority it was forecast he would get. If he well up to 400,000 votes cast for the American Labor candidate had been counted for Bennett, as they were counted for Lehman four years ago, Dewey still would have been elected. Also he would have been elected if the President had been able to override the Democratic delegates and impose Senator Mead on the party. There would have been, in that event, a sizable walkout of Farley Democrats. It is commenting on the obvious to say that his election has made Dewey an outstanding national figure. If he can capitalize the possibilities of his office as the President capitalized them prior to 1932 the Republican nomination in 1944 will hardly be in doubt.

In Congress the Republicans have made a net gain of 40 seats in the House, but the Democrats retain a bare majority there. In the Senate the GOP gained nine, rather more than expected. The opposition will be greatly strengthened, not only in numbers, but in character of the men who make it up.

Where the Republicans have gained they have sent to the Congress men as zealous for all-out victory in the war as those they will replace. There was no war issue. Here the parties and the people are substantially as one, but many voters who went to the polls doubtless were influenced by opinion that the Administration's domestic handling has left much to be desired.

Preliminary Order

The first joint American-Canadian order affecting the production of paper used by newspapers and other publications will not materially restrict its use. It only requires that the manufacturers shall not produce more than they produced, on the average, in the six months before Sept. 1. As in this period they produced all the market demanded, if restriction, went no further publication in this country and Canada could continue as usual.

But restriction will go further. The present order, it was warned, is preliminary in character, and the time, it was intimated, is not far off when production will be reduced to an extent that will make it necessary for newspapers and other publications to use less paper.

Restriction could be carried a considerable ways without any of the publications suffering either curtailment of income or in their value to the public. Whether this desirable condition will prevail depends on how restriction is decreed.

If correct principles are applied, those newspapers and publications which are in the best position to make savings will be required to make the greatest curtailment of use. In the newspaper field, this would mean that the burden of the restrictive order would be borne largely by the relatively small number of metropolitan and large city newspapers that carry much matter not of essential importance. It would bear on the small newspapers, whose annual consumption of paper accounts for but a small proportion of the output, and which have, and have for months, restricted their size close to the minimum required to give the public the service it expects, and should have, from them.

Contemporary Opinion

Prefabricated Housing

The use of prefabricated houses in war factory areas is developing slowly but surely in this country. When it is possible to have a housing unit of seven rooms ready for occupancy within an hour and a half of the time the parts are delivered to the site, a great forward step has been taken in emergency housing. When such housing can be produced with a saving in critical materials and with a weather tightness rare except in the most carefully built homes, the practicality of the "factory made" house is clear.

When low cost is added to the features, and when it is possible to dismantle the house and set it up again elsewhere, the long time economy of the "assembled" house is certain.

The chief objection to the prefabricated house has been its stereotyped sameness. In the past, such houses, whether of four rooms or six, have looked pretty much alike. A block of such houses jolts the eye. The purchaser of housing is likely to view the in-and-out sameness of the block's units with distaste. Will our feelings about this change enough when peace comes so that citizens generally will be willing to take up prefabrication?

It is impossible to predict in matters of taste, but it must be remembered that Americans who once disdained the small, low powered, cheap car because it tended to "declass" them, finally flocked to such cars, even though they could easily afford larger and more pretentious models. It must be remembered, too, that the mass production of cars, even though finally put into them so much quality and so much riding comfort that the superiority of the bigger cars was light indeed.

If prefabricated housing once really gets into swing, it may be supposed that there will be at least as much variation in the model, as there now is in the "production line" of cars. Each new model will offer several models and, different basic ideas, the purchaser's choice will be among dozens of units.—Milwaukee Journal.

Sweep in the State

The Michigan election results conformed closely to the best informed opinion of what was likely to happen. If any one of them can be called an upset it is the defeat of Senator Brown by Judge Ferguson. But even this was regarded as well within the possibilities of a situation in which the imponderables favored the Republicans.

Brown was stronger than Van Wagoner in the ratio generally expected. There will be some opinion that if he had not been out in front for the Administration in the Senate when the price control bill was being put through he would have been re-elected. The reaction of the farmers to it was much less than favorable, and his part in enacting it doubtless cost him considerable support.

While Wayne went heavily Democratic the majorities it turned in looked slender compared with those returned for Republican candidates in many of the out-state counties. The factors contributing to the Democrats' reverse were identical with those that brought Republican successes in other states—impatience because of war controls which was unreasonable, coupled with more reasonable discontent because of fumbling Administration approach to domestic war problems.

Discontent taking its most definite form in rural areas, because Government has been less rigorous in dealing with labor than with other national interests, was perhaps one of the most strongly motivating factors in what the voters did. If the CIO had hid in the bushes instead of being vociferous in support of Democratic candidates, they would probably have fared better. There is a considerable vote disposed to accept CIO commitments as a guide to what not to do. Its dominance in Wayne probably made a marked contribution to building up the overpowering outstate Republican vote.

The Republican candidates for the lesser state offices won by generous margins. The legislature will be more strongly Republican than the legislature elected two years ago. Governor-elect Kelly has, therefore, full opportunity for accomplishment. On how he measures up to it largely will depend whether the Republicans' repossession of the state is confirmed in 1944.

In The Peninsula

While the Upper Peninsula election returns have not been fully tabulated, what is known of them indicates that for the first time in 10 years the Republicans sent a majority across the Straits to build up the lower state majority outside of Wayne. As a result of its return to what formerly was its traditional political fold, the Twelfth accounts for the only Republican gain in the House credited to the state. Representative Hook was defeated by Mr. Bennett by an excess of 3,500 majority.

The result conforms to the prevailing view that Mr. Hook was carrying his pitcher to the well once too often. He suffered, as was obviously to be the case, because so many of the younger men who formerly supported him strongly had been called to the Army or had left the district to take employment in arms production centers. The drying up of WPA, and its withdrawal from politics, also hurt him vitally. The same conditions that brought about his defeat contributed to the retirement of Senator Benzie, of the Thirty-first senatorial district, to make way for Cloon, of Gogebic.

The result in the state and the strengthening of the organization in the counties as a result of the local victories forecast a period of rejuvenation of the party in the U. P. that will end a 10-year period during which the Democrats found it an easy push over.

In The County

Marquette county Republicans, justifiably pleased with Tuesday's results, can point with pride to the fact that this county produced some 1,800 of the 3,500-vote margin polled by John B. Bennett, GOP Congressman-elect—this in contrast to the 1,800-vote shattering Bennett took here two years ago at the hands of Rep. Hook.

In the last decade the Democrats have fared very well in Marquette county, but Tuesday's vote reflected the state-wide shift back to the GOP. Heretofore election returns have shown the city of Negaunee strongly Democratic and the Democrats have held an edge in Ishpeming and Marquette, as well as in a majority of the townships. Tuesday it was almost a 50-50 split in Negaunee, Marquette was Republican by several hundred votes, Ishpeming plumped into the GOP column with a substantial majority and Republican gains were registered in several townships.

The outcome of the Bennett-Hook contest in Negaunee was something of an upset, at least for the Democrats. Hook was said to have strong CIO support there, but de-

Thirty Years Ago

(November 5, 1912)

New York

With election of Woodrow Wilson to the Presidency and Thomas R. Marshall to the Vice-Presidency assured by earlier returns, reports up to midnight gave indications that the electoral vote of the Democratic candidates would pass the 300 mark.

Detroit

Incomplete returns up to 2.15 a. m. from the state indicated with reasonable certainty that Roosevelt would carry Michigan by at least 50,000 votes and that Ferris, Democratic candidate for governor, would have a plurality of more than 25,000.

Marquette

Representative Young apparently is defeated in the Twelfth district. Figures compiled up to 3 a. m. indicated that MacDonald had a clear lead of 1,500, with little likelihood that it would be seriously cut down. Colonel Roosevelt made good predictions that he would carry the Upper Peninsula. Figures show he is ahead between 1,000 and 2,000 votes and it is probable that his lead over Taft will be several thousand.

James P. Deegan left for Superior, Wis., where he has accepted a position as billing clerk with the Northern Pacific railway.

The Home Missionary society of the Methodist church is prepared to dispose of waste paper, old magazines and old rubbers. Persons having such material should notify Mrs. Theodore Mau or Mrs. W. G. King, 139 Hewitt avenue, and it will be called for promptly.

Ishpeming

With the shipping season waning, mine operators in the Lake Superior region are getting ready for a busy winter. It is the general expectation that a tremendous demand for ore will be witnessed in 1913, one that will surpass even that of the present year.

Otto Ronn and Thomas Ikola have completed 10-room dwelling houses for themselves on Jasper street.

By defeating Hancock last Saturday, 20 to 0, the Houghton high school team tied the Hancock team for the championship of the Copper Country, necessitating playing of another game. The management of the Ishpeming high school team, which won the iron county championship, also the title in the district comprising Sault Ste. Marie and Newberry, desired to play the Copper Country champions for the Upper Peninsula title, but Coach Watson says that because of the lateness of the season in all probability no game will be arranged.

Negaunee

All active members of the Negaunee fire department now have alarm bells in their homes, but the motor generator at the engine house is not yet ready for operation. It is expected that the generator will be connected up before the close of the week and the bells then will be in use.

There was no work in Negaunee mines because of the election. In fact, mining work was suspended throughout the county. Mercantile establishments remained open all day, but saloons and banks were closed.

Oscar Field, supervisor in the Third ward, who on Sunday celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his marriage and the forty-ninth anniversary of his birth, did not cast his vote until 48 others had voted, as he desired to have his name appear on the poll books at No. 43.

Mrs. Christ Hansen has returned from Glenwood, Minn., where she spent several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Smith.

Chiang At Fifty-Five

Generalissimo Chiang Kaishek was fifty-five years of age on Saturday last. The dispatches from Chungking bring news of a celebration, and it is unlikely that there was one for the Chinese take little account of birthdays up to the sixtieth, when a man is supposed to have arrived at patriarchal estate. The man who united China just in advance of her terrible ordeal and braced her for it, was not fifty, however, when he became the de facto head of the whole vast Chinese family, commanding the respect and fidelity of myriads of patriarchal clans. So the fact that he has reached the age of fifty-five with a sound, vigorous mind, and in good health, despite a staggering burden of responsibility which he has not laid aside for one moment these many years past, is something upon which not only the Chinese people but all the peoples of the United Nations may well congratulate themselves, and with good reason.

If the China of July, 1937, had been the China of July, 1927, torn and exhausted by civil war among a variety of irreconcilable military factions, no force could have pulled the nation together for effective resistance to Japanese aggression. The terms under which Japan would have farmed China's resources down to Dec. 7, 1942, or perhaps an earlier date if the farming had been productive enough, would have been determined by the Japanese Army. Japan would not have been subjected to a five-year drain upon her military resources and there would have been no Chinese hinterland upon which the United Nations could build up bases for an offensive against the aggressor on the mainland.

The fact that China had the unity and therefore the courage to resist, to make the farming of her wealth unprofitable and to set limits to Japanese conquests, the civilized world is largely indebted to Chiang Kai-shek.

There is not the slightest doubt that, instead of weakening under the strain of these terrible years, Chiang Kai-shek has grown in stature under it. He has led his people through a great spiritual revolution, as well as hide-time ordeal, and because he has won their confidence they have his; and he makes his decisions with the certain knowledge of what he and they can do. Together they have done the impossible, and, as we said at the outset, all the free peoples of this earth can congratulate themselves on the fact that, at fifty-five, he is the strong, assured leader of a nation that wastes no spiritual energy whatever contemplating the possibility of defeat.—New York Herald Tribune.

Quotations

We are engaged in an all-out war to keep democracy alive. Democracy survives through the courage and fortitude and wisdom of many generations of fighting Americans. And that includes using not only bullets, but ballots.—President Roosevelt.

To heed the voice of some candidates for office would lead us to believe that one particular party had a corner on all the patriotism in the country.—Illinois public official.

The reason there is little crime and delinquency (in Chicago's Chinatown) is that in China the family name is so highly respected that every member of the family feels the dishonor of any individual's wrong doing.—Rev. John Mao, Chicago pastor.

We shall never forget the aid America gave Britain in its darkest hour.—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

Eddie will turn up. He's too old a hand to get lost in any airplane now.—Mrs. Eddie Rickenbacker.

That Little Word "United"

Never before has the word "united" taken on so deep a significance. Referring to the coming peace, Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts declared in his recent address to the British Parliament: "Certain points of great importance have already emerged. Thus we have accepted the name 'United Nations.'" Then he added that it is "a fruitful conception" on the basis of which "practical machinery for the functioning of an international order could be ordered."

United Nations. It is the first time, in or out of a world war, that this term has been so commonly employed. It comes now readily to our tongues and passes unnoticed. But when we pronounce the two words thoughtfully and weigh them, we see their mighty meaning. Certain nations have openly embraced identical ideals and purposes for the future; they are resolved to see that liberty and democracy are preserved—not for China, not for Russia, not for America, but for the United States of America; for the whole world. The Gettysburg Address finished with these words, which Abraham Lincoln is hardly likely to have chosen idly: "that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth." Not from the United States. Not from the world. Americans too often overlook the principle enunciated by Jefferson and by Lincoln, because so very many issues have arisen since to complicate the stark simplicity and underlying profundity of their statements. People of other countries, especially the English, knowing less of these complications, have straight back to these founders of the Nation, which calls itself, not "the States," but the United States. They take these founders precisely at their word. And this mental attitude of theirs constitutes a challenge to the people of the United States to prove their sincerity and practical belief in the things they profess.

When the United States of America was first named, those States were still far from united; but they became so through troubled testing-times. Neither are the United Nations united today; but will recall that Mr. Willkie said of their common goal, they are bound to become truly united. Herein lies one of the chief hopes for the safety of the future democratic world—Christian Science Monitor.

New York Chats

By Charles B. Driscoll

NEW YORK—Photographers were popping away at Kate Smith when I visited her at her Park avenue apartment the other day.

Miss Smith was standing under a large oil painting of herself, leaning on the mantel, looking pleasant. The photographer crew was going about its business in a respectful manner, throwing the light this way and that, to bring out the smile and the natural charm of the famous radio talker and singer.

Miss Smith's honey-colored cocker spaniel, Freckles, nearly ate me up. He barked savagely, and I understood from his tone that he didn't like me at all.

I talked with Freckles, and allowed him to sniff my shoes for the good news that I have a cocker at home. But Freckles didn't seem to like Jones, our cocker, any better than he liked me. He retreated, barking, to the feet of his mistress. There he sat and glowered at me.

Miss Smith explained that Freckles doesn't like anybody but her, that he barks that way at everybody, that you had better not try to pet him, and that he is really a very effective watchdog.

"You see," she said, "I spend a great deal of time here in the apartment alone at night, and Freckles has been trained to act as a watch dog with a real job to perform. He is not popular with people, and doesn't want to be."

That was a new kind of cocker in my experience. Nearly all the dogs of that breed that I have known have a tendency to be friendly with everyone.

Steaks of good quality have become so rare in New York that a person who can find one is looked upon with envy by his friends.

Some of the best restaurants are now serving very bad steaks for $1.95 each.

Recently I have had two of these steaks that I couldn't masticate, they were so tough.

In both cases I had the waiter wrap up the steak in a bag, and I took it home to Captain Kid.

He appreciates $1.95 steaks for dinner, even though they are hard to chew.

Founded Signal Corps

The signal corps is the nervous system of the army in all its branches. Whether it's wigwagging or field telephone, carrier pigeon or the latest radio miracle, the signal corps will do anything "get the message through." It was founded by a remarkable medical officer, Gen. Albert J. Myer, just before the Civil war.

Myer was a young doctor. As an M. D. he wrote a thesis on the use of sign language by deaf mutes; soon afterward he went into the army. Then he worked out an elaboration of his sign language that could be used at long distances. This was the origin of the wigwag system of visual communication that has been used by armies ever since. Myer became the first signal officer of the army, and he founded a signal school at Fortress Monroe, Virginia. In the Civil war, Myer's work was inestimably valuable, and semaphore communication expanded into communication by the field telegraph.

Rapidly then the functions of the signal corps expanded. It is the signal corps which, in 1928, purchased the first army airplane; our present air forces developed out of the signal corps, and in fact was part of the signal corps until May, 1918. During 1917-18 the signal corps jumped from a strength of 55 officers to 2,713 from 1,590 men to 53,777. Its casualties were the highest in any branch of the service except infantry.

It is estimated that by the end of this year, 1942, the number of signal corps officers will be greater than the total number of officers in the entire United States Army in 1939. The number of enlisted men will soar correspondingly.—John Gunther, in the Redbook Magazine.

Objective Viewpoint

Whether Walter Nash, New Zealand minister to the United States, is right in his declaration, "However vital the Pacific may be, the prime object of this war must be to strike at the heart of the Axis powers and that heart is undoubtedly located in Berlin," only the future can tell. At the same time it is refreshing to see a representative of a country whose whole stake is in the Pacific capable of an objective view of facts uncolored by local prejudice. Such objectivity is rare anywhere; the United Nations could do with a great deal more of it.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Submarines Are Tough

Submarines are not easy to sink. In the last war we claimed somewhere between 500 and 600 certain and probable sinkings of German subs. Later we found the Germans had only 140 altogether and that we actually had destroyed 16.

As might be expected, the German submarine has been greatly improved since the first World war. The sturdy construction of the present day U-boat permits it to descend safely to depths of more than 500 feet and to withstand with impunity the effects of depth charges which would have destroyed its 1918 prototype. The plating of the modern German submarine is much thicker than that of an ordinary merchantman, which in turn is much heavier than that of a destroyer or an anti-submarine patrol boat.

To destroy a modern submarine by means of depth charges, the charge must be exploded either in contact with the submarine's hull or in close proximity thereto. To insure rupture of the submarine's hull, a depth charge containing 100 pounds of TNT should be exploded at a distance of less than 15 feet from the skin of the submarine.

On the surface, the submarine presents a small and surprisingly tough target for gunfire. Its round exterior and the thick plating of the pressure hull make its hull practically immune from penetration by machine gun bullets and other small caliber projectiles.

Damage to the upper part of the pressure hull of a submarine, or other damage which prevents submergence, robs the submarine of its cloak of invisibility, which it could otherwise assume in about 30 seconds by making a quick dive.

If such damage is incurred by the submarine far from its base and in an area frequented by hostile air and surface ships of combatant types, the eventual destruction of the submarine is highly probable. But a submarine confined to the surface by some minor damage is not an entirely defenseless object that can be approached with impunity by any air or surface craft.

So long as the submarine retains its ability to use its guns and torpedoes, it is a formidable fighting machine which may engage armed merchantmen, submarine chasers, the smaller types of escort vessels and aircraft.—Representative Vinson, in Collier's.

The Army Transport Command is operating an intercontinental airline today that is already much larger than practical men thought possible for many years to come.

Today And Tomorrow

Mr. Willkie and the Empire

By Walter Lippman

MR. WILLKIE'S remarks about the colonial question the single sentence which he devoted to the Philippines is a vivid reminder of what he did not say about the British, Dutch, French, Portuguese and Belgian colonies. The reader will recall that Mr. Willkie said of the colonial regions governed by the European states that "freedom means the orderly but scheduled abolition of the colonial system," the ending of "the rule of people by other peoples."

Now, the scheduled but orderly withdrawal of American sovereignty in the Philippines was a settled thing when war broke out in the Pacific on Dec. 7, 1941. It was fixed by the Tydings-McDuffie act, signed by the President on March 24, 1934, and approved by the Philippine Legislature on May 1, 1934. This act provided for Philippine independence at the end of a ten-year period of transitional commonwealth government under a Filipino chief executive. It pledged the United States to abandon its military bases on the islands, and it left the question of the navigation of the Philippines to be negotiated with the independent Philippine government. Yet, this scheduled and orderly abolition of the colonial system in the Philippines was not enough to insure freedom to the Filipinos. That is why Mr. Willkie had to say in his radio address that "we must deliver by force of arms the independence we have promised to the Filipinos."

I feel sure that a sensitive observer like Mr. Willkie would have come back with a very different story if he had reversed his itinerary, had come back through England and had thus been able to investigate the future of the British empire in Britain as well as in the places he visited. If he had done that, bearing in mind the Philippine demonstration that the problem is how to combine the withdrawal of political sovereignty with effective guaranties of military security, he would have made a very different report.

Hurried Visits Unsatisfactory

He would have realized, I believe, that the withdrawal of the British people on the defense of their own freedom in Europe, and upon the social reconstruction of Britain, is so absorbing that it is a great question whether they will undertake the burden of preserving military security in distant lands.

There is a gap, so wide as to be almost unbridgeable, between the mind of British officialdom in Shanghai, Hongkong, and Singapore and the minds of the people of Britain who have been through the revolutionary ordeal since Dunkirk. That is why one can no more study the future of the British empire by listening to the sardonic tales of Singapore than one can study the future of America by listening to the sorry tale of what happened at Pearl Harbor. One can learn at the extremities what has happened there. But what is going to happen can be judged only by the center.

Not can any one who wishes to study this difficult problem hope to discern the realities by what he hears men say in a hurried visit through very strange countries. As late as 1938, four years after we were committed by law to an orderly but scheduled withdrawal, Filipino political leaders would have told any visitor, and with deep fervor and passion, that they must have not the orderly scheduled independence of the law, but immediate and unconditional independence. Yet it was evident even then that, with the rising menace of Japan, what the Filipino leaders would soon be wanting really was not our more immediate withdrawal but a much greater concentration of our power to defend them.

The crux of the colonial question today is not how to persuade the empire to relinquish their political power. It is how to induce the strong states to bear the responsibilities of a collective security within which weak peoples can safely learn the difficult art of governing themselves. And so, until we here in the United States know what we are prepared to do to preserve the peace in the regions where empire is being liquidated, we are making empty though self-satisfying sounds on the subject of freedom for all peoples, and we are playing with fire.

Magician (sawing woman in half): "Now, ladies and gentlemen, after the young lady is severed, her brains will be given to a medical college, and the rest will be thrown to the dogs."

Voice from the balcony: "Woof, woof."

Colorful Language

In its review of the language scene, "American Speech" recently paused to examine expressions which belong to the truck driver. Here are examples:

"A truck that does not leak oil, grease or water, is house broken. A refrigerator truck is an ice wagon; an antiquated truck is a dog wagon. A nitroglycerin truck is a boom wagon, and the driver is a suicide jockey. Police are simply the men. A truck that uses too much gas is said to be working for Standard Oil, while one with a noisy engine or broken muffler is a cement mixer. A poultry truck is a cackle wagon; a sugar truck is a crate of sand. If there is no glass in the cab, it is a pneumonia sedan; a sleeper bus is a pajama wagon. When a driver goes through a vehicular tunnel, that's a ride in the cellar; when he coasts to a parking place, he beaches her. To wreck a truck is to stack it up; and a driver who persists in riding with the window open in cold weather is training to be an Eskimo."

Bring Out Old Silk Stockings; They Are Needed To Help Win War

Well, There Were Cheering Things About Election

(By MANTHEI HOWE)

Remember that old song: "Down went McGinty to the bottom of the sea?" I was reminded of that when Michigan election returns began coming in and Gerald L. K. Smith, the man of resounding voice that issued such startling statements, the man with a committee of a million, went down to the bottom of the sea of the electorate's disgust.

He trailed a poor third in the race for the Senate and is that ever heartening news!

Phoebe, Said The Voters

It is one of the proofs of the innate soundness and dependability of folk voting in a democracy where people like to think for themselves and not be gulled.

Remember how, insulting the intelligence of his hearers, Smith held out, like offering a carrot to a donkey, those promises of tires for everybody because he knew folk were being inconvenienced for want of them; how he tried to appeal to families with men in the armed forces by saying he would get $100 per month for them; how he tried to drag in a few more votes by making the groundless crack about churches being taxed, and so on and on, through all the guff.

The people listened and some few swallowed the bait, line, hook, and sinker, but not a million by a long shot, not even a carload of thousands as the returns show. Three cheers for Michigan voters who so quietly and nonchalantly plopped the Huey Long aid to the bottom of the sea.

Showed Healthy Signs

This election, though it did not bring out the number of voters that would have turned out to a presidential election, dragged forth more than the pessimists expected. More than that, it, there were any number of cheering implications in it.

Note that Hook, with tactics not entirely unlike those of Gerald L. K., did a prodigious amount of bellyflopping in this county. He, too, tried to make capital of the fact that so many Marquette county men had gone into service and urged their families to vote as the boys would want them to, implying it would be for Hook. He would almost have the listener believe that he had done so much for labor that labor would vote for him.

Marquette county should be proud of itself. The voters thought things over, looked over the field, and voted as they wanted to. Families of service men did anything but flock to Hook, and labor, in the privacy of the polling booth, voted as its conscience dictated. As labor always should and we hope it will, and because its ranks are made up of Americans, it likely will more and more in the future vote as the individuals prefer to vote.

But that is not the only thing for which the county has a reason to be proud. The split tickets were indication of an intelligent voting. Some Democrats voted for some Republicans, the latter voted for Democrats, helping to return to office two with whose services the public had been especially satisfied. Nationality, religion, party affiliation, did not enter in the voting, but the people voted for those they felt best fitted for the office.

It's Proof Of Pudding
That's the kind of thing that gives one renewed faith in the potentialities of the American way of government.

This election was a reminder, too, that in a former election, when the Republican party did not provide leaders in whom the people could have sufficient confidence, the state voted in a Democratic governor. This year given a candidate to which they could rally enthusiastically, they gave their support.

That is a cunning little memorandum that Republican leaders in Michigan might well paste up in clear sight throughout the coming year. Michigan Republicans want candidates with the qualities of ability and won't support them simply because they have the party ticketing.

That growing and chattering effect will doubtless be felt more and more in the future in state and national politics.

People Are Watching Events

Naturally Republicans are jubilant that they carried New York and that they achieved cheering representation in Congress. Obviously they did not seat enough Republicans to provide them with the influence of a strong bloc, but there will be enough to afford a vigorous, fighting minority that can serve by opposing that which will not forward war effort, and news of that will make effective public opinion which, in this election for the first time in years, showed a healthy stretching and astringing.

When, upsetting American traditions, a president, Democratic or Republican, gets in for three terms, voters are only being intelligent, wary, and protecting American principles and institutions when they register the opinion that there shall be no founding of a one party dynasty in perpetuity.

Neither Republicans nor Democrats should, for the good of America, be too long and too preponderant in one-party power in Congress. Theoretically most Americans agree with that, but now and then are carried away by partisan enthusiasm and want to, and do, build up too big machines.

In the past both parties have been guilty of that, and when things begin to look too dangerous the aroused voters turn them out. It's a healthy attitude to maintain. Michigan has a huge stake in the present administration, and so has every other state in the union. You and I are not thinking in terms of business or buildings the war has brought to various states, but we are thinking in the terms of the thousands of our men drafted from every state.

Democrats, Republicans, and Prohibitionists need to think and vote in terms of what is best for those fighting men, what will best win the war, what will best protect the American institutions, and I believe Americans will. 'Twas an exciting election wasn't it?

Women Are Asked To Take Hosiery To Retail Stores

Every woman in Marquette county is asked to look through her scrap bag, turn out the bureau drawers, and gather up every single silk and nylon stocking or nylon but are mixed with rayon or cotton and contribute them to the Government. The request comes from the Army and Navy department.

You remember how you groaned when you saw the run in that practically new pair of stockings? Never mind! Those stockings aren't useless, but are now most important, of inestimable value in helping win the war!

Believe It or Not!

"Oh for heavens sake how can nylon and silk stockings help win the war," sniffs some woman.

Take a look at this. The silk will be used for the manufacture of powder bags. Charges of powder are placed in the woven silk bags for generating the power to expel a shell from guns of major calibre. A fuse, attached, is ignited to cause the explosion that expels the shell. Only silk can be used for those bags since it alone burns completely and leaves no hot embers. This use of silk makes it possible to recharge the guns for greater speed.

How's that for using your old silk sock to sock the Japs? Note that nylon cannot be used for those powder bags because nylon melts rather than ignites and leaves a gummy substance.

Need Nylon, Too

However, nylon is needed for the manufacture of several other important war materials.

Present supplies of silk and nylon on hand for the use of the Army and Navy are limited so come on all you women in Marquette county and bring in your torn, but clean and washed silk and nylon stockings and those that are silk mixed with cotton and rayon. Such salvaged material will help Marquette county men who are in service to fight this war.

The Marquette county salvage committee is conducting the drive. The chairman, W. J. Weber, has appointed Mrs. A. J. Moglin as chairman for the city, and other chairmen will be appointed in Ishpeming and Negaunee.

Take Them To Retail Stores

Women are asked to bring their discarded silk and nylon hosiery to any retail store which has hosiery counters for women and children.

The county salvage committee will be responsible for collecting the hosiery from store containers and Flanigan Bros. will volunteer to crate and ship it.

You don't have to have stockings of one color, style, brand, matched or anything else. Bring every single clean stocking and place it in any store container. Don't think, "Oh, I have only one or two stockings, what's the use?" Many single stockings help to swell the amount. The minimum amount for shipment is 100 pounds. Do you know how many pairs of stockings it takes to make that amount? 1,500 pairs of silk or 2,300 pairs of nylon!

Practically every woman and girl in the county has at least one pair of old silk or nylon stockings. All those salvaged will amount to something in terms of supplying powder bags and materials for the manufacture of war materials.

Table Tennis Champs Appear at Northern

Do you like table tennis? If you do you will want to attend the assembly program to be given at 9:50 next Monday morning in the auditorium of the Northern Michigan Teachers college. There will be no admission charge.

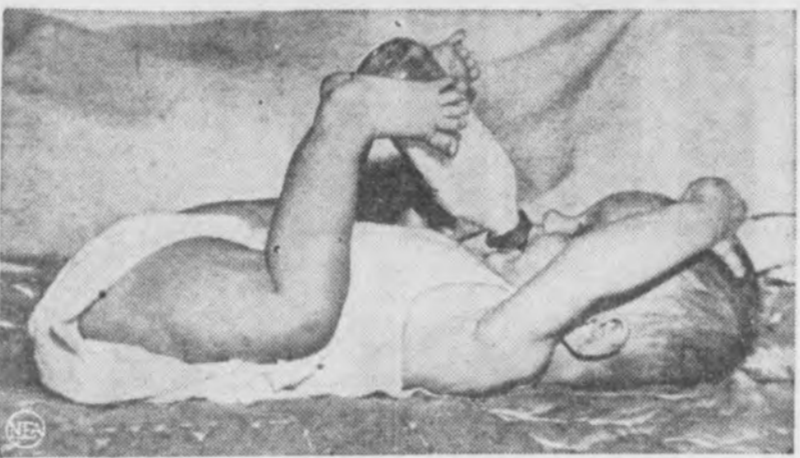

At that time there will be a demonstration match between Douglas Cartland and Harry Cook. The former, a graduate of the University of North Carolina, and recreational director of Hollywood Beach hotel in South States, Middle Atlantic States, and Metropolitan Sin. gles champion.

Mr. Cook is the Canadian national singles champion, and is a spectacular defense player.

There will also be a discussion of "Let your Timb Activities." Table tennis is said to be one of America's three most popular sports.

he so everything may be in order for the first day of induction.

Nester PTA—At the meeting of the Nester PTA, W. M. Whitman, superintendent of schools, gave a talk on the defense courses being given in the school. Elmer Smeberg played a piano solo and there were two songs by Marian Johnson, Betty Carlson, and M'Less Lawrence. At the social hour after the meeting the following won prizes in games: Mrs. Wilbur Carlson, Mrs. Kenneth Johnson, Miss Marcelline Knowles, and Mrs. Joe Morin. A pumpkin centerpiece accented the autumn motif in the table decorations and favors were silvered pine cone trees. Hostesses for the social hour were Mrs. Arne Johnson, Mrs. Stanley Keller, Mrs. H. Reynolds, Mrs. Jessie Ingison and Mrs. Harvey Owens.

Take Tip From Russia on Meats

Our battling Russian allies can teach us how to make our meat ration go further, says Mrs. Gaynor Maddox. From the valuable "Russian Cook Book for American Homes," published by Russian War Relief, come these timely recipes.

Golubski (Serves 6)

One cabbage, 1-2 lbs. beef, ground, 2 cups rice, cooked, 4 hard-boiled eggs, chopped, salt, pepper, 2 cans tomato sauce, 7-month-old Vickie Swanson, Moline, Ill., takes time off to write her many admirers. Earnings from her modeling work are being put into war bonds.

Lamb Pilaff (Serves 6 to 8)

Three lbs. breast of lamb, 3 large onions, salt, pepper, 4 cups water, 1-2 cups raw rice. Parboil cabbage 3 minutes. Remove and cool. Separate leaves from head. Mix beef, rice, hard-boiled eggs, salt, pepper to taste. Place a half of this mixture on each cabbage leaf, fold leaf over and hold with a toothpick. Place in covered baking dish. Mix to mato sauce with equal amount of water, and salt and pepper to taste. Pour over the stuffed cabbage leaves. Bake in slow oven (300 deg. F.) for 2 hours. If dry, add more liquid.

Miss J. Bemis Talked At Meet Of Froebel PTA

Children may be given adequate food despite rationing and higher prices, Miss Jane Bemis, of the speakers' bureau of the Consumers' Interests committee, told the audience at the meeting of the Froebel PTA unit.

She suggested that when marketing housewives should plan to buy body regulating foods containing essential minerals and vitamins as well as the heat and energy foods and noted that the daily meal plans for children should include the following:

Daily Foods

Three to four vegetables of milk, one potato, one raw grape or fruit, a serving of green or yellow vegetable, a serving of tomatoes or citrus fruit, a serving of cheese, fish, poultry or meat. (Beans or other legumes supplemented by cheese or milk may sometimes be served in place of meat.) Daily the child should have a serving of cereal or whole grain or enriched bread, and two tablespoons of butter of enriched oleo. A child should receive three to five eggs each week.

The speaker noted that a bit of work and intelligent planning will teach us how to make our meat ration go further, and that it is nutritional wisdom to buy less prepared foods and cereals, and instead prepare and cook the foods at home.

Miss Bemis accented the importance of serving meals appetizingly, of "camouflaging the penny-pinching and of avoiding talking about it."

Better Than Sugar

The speaker noted economy is achieved and added nutrition provided the meals by using tops of beets, turnips and outer leaves of cauliflower and lettuce. Pork liver is cheaper and more nutritious than calves' liver, and molasses and natural sweets in fruits and well cooked cereals are better for children than sugar.

An exhibit of children's clothing and suggestions for making over such apparel was arranged by Mrs. L. O. Gant, chairman of the speakers' bureau of consumers' interests committee.

Miss Jean Nikolski and Jack Hetherington were the soloists for the meeting.

Soldiers Will Have Bountiful Thanksgiving

Mothers and dads, who have been fussing a bit about the boys who are in the armed forces and can't get home for Thanksgiving, needn't imagine the boys won't be well fed.

They needn't worry Uncle Sam will see that his fighting nephews get an exceedingly good feast.

For a considerable number of the fellows at Selfridge Field and other bases this will be the first Thanksgiving away from the family, but on the last Thursday in November they will eat and eat until their belts creek.

Meals will vary a bit, but all lads will eat turkey. The following is a typical Thanksgiving menu at Selfridge Field:

Fresh fruit cup, oyster stew, roast turkey, dressing, cranberry sauce, mashed and sweet potatoes; buttered corn, creamed peas, stuffed celery, pickles, olives, lettuce and tomato salad, bread and butter, coffee, sugar, cream, pumpkin pie or ice cream, apples, grapes, nuts, candies.

You don't suppose the lads will starve on that, or be the least bit hungry when dinner is over, do you?

Graveraet Pupils Get Report Cards

An announcement received from H. J. Anderson, principal of the Graveraet high school, notes that the report cards will be distributed in the high school today; the marks cover the first eight weeks of school. Such cards are issued at the close of the first, 8, 14, and 20 weeks of each semester.

Queried as to whether students need to do homework, Mr. Anderson said: "The average student, we think, should take home at least two studies when he has no extra work, (defense or otherwise) that he must take care of. Only a very brilliant student can be successful in school without taking work home."

"The average student does not have enough study periods to prepare all of his homework, and it is good training for a student to be able to go home, arrange his own time schedule, and be responsible for the preparation of one or two lessons."

This is the day, then, when parents of pupils of Graveraet high school will be glancing over the card, noting what kind of work the sons and daughters have done during the first eight weeks of school.

Three Different Bits Make Day's Chitter-Chatter

It will be recalled that a few weeks ago it was noted that men in military service, in transit from down state, found it impossible to get food on the train, or along the line when going by truck.

Mayor Biegler noted it was not practicable to serve such large numbers with coffee at the Service Center. The Salvation Army volunteered to purvey coffee and the Northland Dairy contributed cream and milk needed.

Yesterday the first contingent, some 60 Coast Guards passing through the city, was served by the Salvation Army. Coffee and doughnuts were served to the men in the Odd Fellows hall. They had made the trip by truck and since yesterday was coolish enough to whet the appetite it is readily imagined that that lunch was relished by the men.

Not So Good

Some boys told of an incident that happened recently that wasn't so good. In a pine tree on North Sixth street there was a nest with some birds in it. The fledglings were awkward and unable to fly well. The mother bird was not on the nest.

Boys, delighted at their find, robbed the nest and took the fledglings home with them. The birds will likely die.

The urchins complaining about the happening maintained: "It isn't right is it to rob bird's nests, is it?" Well, it isn't sporting is it?

All in the Service

In an October 31 issue of the Detroit Evening Times appeared a picture that holds interest for many persons in the city and peninsula. The picture showed Lt. Col. William Bergin, a former resident of this city; his daughter, Miss Betty Mary, 22, and his son, William M., 19. The picture was taken at Detroit's Federal building just after Colonel Bergin had sworn in his son and daughter as soldiers—Miss Betty in the WAAAC, and William in the air force, glider company.

Building Of Air Warning Post Begun

ISHPEMING, Nov. 4—As residents of Ishpeming are being urged to attend a meeting Friday, when details of the city's aircraft warning setup will be discussed, the post for aircraft spotters is under construction on the roof of the county road commission headquarters.

This site was selected in preference to the hill near North First street, between Arch and Empire streets, for a number of reasons. It is practically as accessible from the standpoint of travel, and offers much greater service with respect to efficiency of the post and comfort of workers.

Within a relatively short time the post will be ready for use. In the meantime, Clark McGiffert, chief aircraft observer, and his aides, with the assistance of Olaf E. Stolen, defense corps commander, are preparing for Friday's meeting.

"What we need right now," said Mr. McGiffert, "is public cooperation, which I am sure we will receive. We have had the help of Army authorities and friends from our neighboring city of Marquette to make the meeting Friday purposeful. If we have a large turnout of citizens we shall be able to organize without loss of time." The meeting will be started at 7:30 promptly.

Weddings

Creith-Squires

ISHPEMING, Nov. 4—Saturday evening, October 31, in the First Methodist church of Plymouth, Marion Jean Squires, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William John Squires, became the bride of Ray Creith, of Plymouth, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Creith, of Ironton, Ohio.

The ceremony was performed before an altar banked with palms, ferns and urns filled with yellow and white chrysanthemums, autumn leaves and bitter sweet made a beautiful setting for the candle-light service read by the Rev. T. Leonard Sanders. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a street-length gown of gold silk crepe with brown accessories and carried a colonial bouquet of bronze mums and tallsmans roses tied with gold and bronze satin ribbon. Her only adornment was a double link gold chain, a gift of the groom, which was worn by his grandmother and mother at their weddings.

Grace Squires, maid of honor, wore a street length frock of royal blue silk crepe with gold trim and black accessories. Her colonial bouquet of yellow tea roses, mums and marguerites was tied with yellow satin ribbon. Charles D. Van Vleet, of Berkley, was best man and Robert J. Orr, Farmington, and Donald H. Fullerton, Detroit, uncle of the bride, seated the guests.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Squires wore a gown of soldier blue velvet with gold trim and small gold velvet hat. Her corsage was talisman roses and white mums.

The groom's aunt, Mrs. A. E. Creith, Detroit, wore a gown of blue silk trimmed in white and corsage of pink tea roses and mums.

A reception followed at the home of the bride. The living room was decorated with vases of fall colored snap dragons. In the dining room white snap dragons and tall lighted tapers were used. Covering the table which held a three-tiered wedding cake was a hand woven linen cloth which belonged to the bride's maternal great-grandmother.

Guests were present from Detroit, Farmington, Northville, Berkley, Wayne and River Rouge. The newlyweds will reside on North Mill street in Plymouth.

The bride's father, a former resident of Ishpeming, is a nephew of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Drake, South Pine street.

Wartime limits the supply of Coca-Cola. Those times when you cannot get it, remember: Coke, being first choice, sells out first. Ask for it each time. No matter how short the supply, the quality of Coca-Cola carries on.

Methodists Open Church At L'Anse

L'ANSE, Nov. 4 — The L'Anse Methodist church will be reopened with special services Sunday morning and evening after redecoration of the auditorium and extensive repairs to the building. The ceiling has been finished in ivory and white, the walls in peach color, and the pews and woodwork in light tan. New carpets have been laid in the auditorium. A paneled partition has been built across the rear left, and the windows at the back of the church have been closed in with a panel and a gold cross in the center. The vestibule has been finished to harmonize with the auditorium. The decorations are the most extensive undertaken since the church was built 68 years ago.

The present church at the top of Main Street hill was built in 1874, the deed was recorded December 16, 1873. The Rev. Van Every was pastor at the time. Stone for the foundation was quarried from the Huron Bay quarry, which was operated until 1878. The lot was given by Mrs. S. L. Smith.

Over 100 Years Old
History of the L'Anse church dates back to 1834, when John Sunday, a native preacher, the first Wesleyan denomination came to Kewaweenaw. The same year the Rev. John Clark came from Fort Brady, Sault Ste. Marie, visited at Kewaweenaw and remained as a missionary. He is credited with building the log Mission house, a schoolhouse and numerous Indian houses built along the shores of Kewaweenaw Bay. In 1837, D. M. Chandler arrived. He was the first regularly appointed Methodist preacher to the Soo and Kewaweenaw Missions.

W. H. Brockway was appointed Methodist minister at the Soo in 1838 and was made superintendent of missions in 1839. In 1842 the white people and Indian members of the log Mission felt the need of a new church and pledged themselves to the effort. The lumber was drawn over the ice from the sawmill at Anse and some of the timber was brought from the "Pinery" three miles distant.

Ten Missionaries
The church had 43 members at the time. By 1852 the Mission church had enlarged with more Indian members to 53. Records covering the missionary work from 1852 to 1871 have not been preserved. Methodist missionaries serving the district at Kewaweenaw from 1837 to 1852 include the following: D. M. Chandler, 1837; W. H. Brockway, 1838; George King, 1838-40; John Kahbege, 1840; George W.
