Army Makes Over 400 Changes In Amazing Flying Fortresses

By William F. Boni

SEATTLE, Nov. 27— AP—"Hitler and Hirohito," says Wellwood Beall, chief engineer for the Boeing Aircraft company, "accelerate the design and development of our

Hitler and Hirohito also keep the aircraft industry's engineers working constantly at fever pitch.

Take, as an instance, Boeing's B-17F Flying Fortress. It is a bomber of proved ability. Even its predecessors turned in notable performances, among them the For-tress flown by Major Hewitt D. Wheless which outfought and finally baffled eighteen Japanese Zeros. The B-17F carries an even more potent defensive punch and a bombload which should end once and for all any unfavorable comparisons with Britain's Lancasters and Short Stirlings. Over 400 Changes

But that doesn't mean the work of the Boeing engineers is done. Beall estimates that since the B-17s started coming out in quantity there have not been five planes that were identical. From the B-17E to the B-17F, also being turned out by Douglas and Vega, there were more than 400 changes, and yet the first B-17F was on its test flight the day the last B-17E was delivered.

"Today, seven years after the first Fortress was flown to Wright Field, we have more men working on design for the Fortress than ever before," says Beall, and he Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Martti, Republic, cites a figure running well up into the hundreds

Some Are Minor "From the Army, and from our our assistant engineers in the combat zones, we constantly get orders for changes. Some of them are very minor—changing a control, for instance, because in its present position the man using it skins his knuckles. Some of them are farreaching, though from a casual inspection of the plane you might

"Unlike the Southern California plants, for instance, which have institutions like California Tech to fall back on for tests, we have had to build most of our own scientific equipment and do the work ourselves. Because we are the only aircraft firm in this section, our engineering personnel has not been tempted to go else-

If changes can be incorporated into the Fortress with little loss of time, that also is a tribute to the foresight of H. Oliver West, executive vice-president in charge of

At Boeing you will find no long powered assembly line. Instead, the Fortress is broken up into seven sectional assemblies, each virtually complete with wiring and other installations, and these are not joined into a finished airplane until the last possible moment. One reason for that is obvious enough. Three B-17s, with their 104-foot wing span, would just about cover a football field. Therefore. West laid out a factory plan which makes the greatest possible use of each foot of floor space and which helped Boeing get the first aircraft industry Army-Navy

To School In Helicopter In '52, Forecast

NEW YORK, Nov. 27— AP —
"Shepherds will fly from the crags of Tibet to universities in Vladious tok, and fly back to their native villages as doctors. . .

"Breakfast in New York and dinner in Paris on the same day. . . . "Instead of a car in every garage, there will be a helicopter . . "Powerful cargo-carrying sky trucks will tow trains of cargo-carrying gliders. . . .

"Glider trains, towed by a passenger-carrying plane that will fly hundreds of miles, will drop gliders carrying local passengers at air-ports all along the route . . ."

A pipe dream? Impossible?

Not in the opinion of Harry Bruno, who predicts these and even more advanced feats for aviation. And he predicts them for the next 10 years.

Sees Big Decade

In his book, "Wings Over America," published by Robert M. Mc-Bride and Company, Bruno says aviation will make greater strides in the coming decade than it has since that icy December day 39 years ago when Orville and Wilbur Wright put wings on man.

Harry Bruno built and flew the world's smallest monoplane glider at Montclair, N. J., in 1910. He was a pilot in the United States Royal Flying Corps in Canada during the World War. He made the

Battled Without Quarter Until Both Were Dead

Ebb Warren, Conservation

Hunting grouse in the woods near Kalkaska late in October, William Dorman, left, found this pair of dead bucks and led Conservation Officer Charles Hicking to his unusual find. The deer had fought a savage, no-quarter battle and had died, probably of exhaustion and hunger, after they locked antlers and were unable to break apart. Oldtime woodsmen and deer hunters know that buck deer occasionally die in such mating-season duels but the victims are rarely found and photographed. In this case the odd shape of the antlers with a curving beam, the points lers of the buck at the right contributed to the tragedy, as shown in the closeup picture. This deer earried antlers with a curving beam, the points coming within a few inches of each other. One of these snapped around an antler of the other deer and was held fast by a single prong. The larger buck weighed 190 pounds, the smaller

Traditional Games Involving Bowl Bids Highlight Today's Grid Card

Only 12,000 To See Army Play Navy

By Harold Claassen

NEW YORK, Nov. 27- AP -Some of the settings may be different from previous years, but tomorrows football games are the traditional last-of-November type with bowl bids, sectional and intersectional titles up for decision.

Biggest change in setting surrounds the Army-Navy game, shifted to tiny Thompson stadium at Annapolis from Philadelphia by President Roosevelt to conserve rubber, gas and working hours.

Only 12,000 spectators are expected to wander into the Navy saucer in contrast to the 102,000 which saw the Middies plough to their third straight triumph at Philadelphia a year ago.

While even the Navy academy's meager facilities will be more than enough for the annual service game it will be a different situation at Athens, Ga., and at Seattle.

Georgia Tech Meets Georgia

Athens will be host to a bulging crowd of 40,000 for the meeting between once-beaten Georgia and all-winning Georgia Tech. The unofficial Southeastern Conference flag and top consid ration for all bowl games are involved.

Georgia Tech is rumored as slated for the Rose Bowl if the Yellowjackets triumph, but the picture would become definitely muddled if the Georgians righted themselves from last Saturday's Auburn debacle in time to ruin Tech's un-

Oregon State Last Foe For MSC Today

EAST LANSING, Nov. 27-AP-An injury-plagued Michigan State team closes its season against Oregon State here tomorrow with the odds steadily mounting in favor of the invading Beavers, who like the Spartans have experienced a so-so campaign after winning the 1941 Rose Bowl title.

A crowd of 9,000 is expected to attend the first meeting of the two schools since 1915 when an unheralded Oregon State team came east to stun the Michigan Aggies, 20-0. The Aggies had been undefeated until that time, holding a 24-0 victory over Michigan.

Little Action for Kieppe

Tomorrow's contest previously was rated a toss-up, but injury to Dick Kieppe, Michigan State's sterling all-around performer, has left the Spartans with feeble hope of gaining their fifth victory against three defeats and a tie. Coach Charley Bachman said it was extremely doubtful whether Kieppe would see more than parttime action in his last college game. The tricky left halfback sustained a knee injury last Saturday and has spent the week in the training

Coach Lon Stiner pronounced his Beaver squad in its best shape of the season following a snappy workout at Macklin field this afternoon. Enroute from Oregon since Monday night, the Beavers held their first full-scale practice of the week at Soldier's field in Chicago yesterday. News that Kieppe might see infrequent service tomorrow, was received cheerfully by Stiner, who said that veteran scouts who attended the Michigan State-Washington State game at Spokane rated the Spartan star as "one of the

MOSCOW, Nov. 28 (Saturday) - (By A. Big Armored Force Hurled At Axis Line

LONDON, Nov. 27-(By A. P.) -Gen. Kenneth A. N. Anderson's powerful British first army with American mobile units has launched a big offensive against Axis forces in northern Tunisia, the Algiers radio declared tonight.

"The period of patrol activity finished, the first army has left its defense positions for the big offensive," the broadcast said, apparently heralding an all-out assault on an estimated 20,000 Axis troops dug in on a formidable defense line outside the cities of Bizerte and Tunis.

It was calculated that the heavily-armored Allied force that has rolled eastward from Algeria to corner its enemy at the tip of Tunisia might have upwards of 150,000 British, American and French troops to throw into the

Over 60 Ships Sunk As Crews Battle Germans

LONDON, Nov. 27-(By A. P.)-Vichy announced the suicide of the French home fleet of 60-odd ships at Toulon today and reported many French officers and dynamite crews went down with their vessels in wild dawn battles with German boarding parties attempting to prevent the scuttling of the powerful armada.

But the Germans claimed some of the vessels were saved by the quick work of Axis sappers, and full details of the harbor struggle still had not become known.

After announcing the self-destruction of the French home fleet, its dockside arsenals and coastal batteries, the Vichy radio itself went off the air temporarily, returned once more to repeat the news, and again was silenced.

Admiral Jean Darlan, former Vichy defense chief, who went over to the Allies in North Africa, apparently accepted the Vichy version of what had happened. He was heard on the Algiers radio criticizing French Toulon officers for not heeding his appeal last November 11 for the Toulon fleet to flee to North Africa.

The toll of French casualties in the fighting at Toulon is mounting, the Vichy radio said late tonight before it again

Before going off the air, the Vichy radio had reported the self-destruction of the fleet as a heroic episode in French history and there was the obvious suggestion that the scuttling coup was carried out after long deliberation and the firm

In all, the eventful day brought the end of French naval power in any hands; the end of even semi-free expression from Vichy; the end of any semblance of freedom in metropolitan France as the result of the pre-dawn Axis occupation there the Dunkerque and Stras- of Toulon and environs which had been curiously spared since November 11: a firm German military command in all France, and the demobilization of the French army and navy.

The French coup not only removed the French fleet from the Axis clutch but it also so cluttered the Toulon anchorages with the smoking hulks that the finest continental naval base in the Mediterranean is probably useless to Hitler. The sharp clash of arms between the French, fighting for time to carry out the scuttlings, and the Germans, bent on grabbing what they could ahead of the explosions, was hailed from London by Gen. Charles de Gaulle, leader of the Fight-He broke a week-long silence maintained by the Fighting

French over the American acceptance of Admiral Darlan as a cooperator in North Africa. De Gaulle's view was that the French at Toulon scuttled the fleet "so that the nation might at least be spared the supreme shame of seeing her ships become ships of the enemy."

Hitler's 'Reasons' For Attack On Base

Hitler discarded old promises again in the sudden occupation of Toulon early this morning on the pretexts that:

1-The fleet had been given orders on November 12 not to resist an Anglo-American force planning to land in the na-

2-The warships intended to put to sea "as planned"presumably to join the Allies in North Africa in response to a bid from Admiral Jean Darlan, the Allies' misisoner of ex-

the French army." These "unsure contingents" ashore and the naval crews put up resistance against the onrush of the Germans and

State Orders 1,100,000 1943 Fishing Licenses

After careful consideration of the probable effect of gasoline rationing next summer, the conservation department has scaled down its printing of 1943 fishing licenses by only 105,000 and has ordered 1,-

100,000 blanks. Fishing license sales in the current season surprised many observers by approaching records of the boom season of the year before. At latest count 1942 resident license sales, at 579,110, were down only about two per cent and non-resident sales, at 201,600, were down 13 per cent. Easy access to fishing waters in all parts of the state is credited with maintaining the sport in spite of travel difficulties. The 1943 licenses will be required of all persons fishing on inland waters after January 1. The 750,-000 one-dollar resident licenses (each with identification slip for wife) are 50,000 fewer than were prepared a year ago. Non-resident 1943 licenses on order are 150,000 temporary (10-day) at $1; 100,000 annual at $2; and 100,000 for wives

The residential swap-ride plan to conserve rubber, gasoline and automobiles soon will be put into effect in Marquette county.

In preparation for this move, the civilian defense council and neighborhood war clubs will conduct a canvass to organize teams of five car owners each who can share rides to and from work, church services, shopping area, meetings and for recreation.

"The purpose of gasoline rationing is to eliminate unnecessary driving and to encourage swapping of rides for more efficient use of automobiles," Mrs. Gunther C. Meyland, publicity chairman of the Marquete county defense council, said yesterday. Here's How It Works

"If five drivers team together and take turns riding to work in one car, it is obvious that there will be a saving of four-fifths. The share-the-ride program already is in effect for industrial workers and the Office of Civilian Defense is now encouraging its application in residential districts.'

WAAC EXPANDED BY EXECUTIVE ORDER!

New facilities and enlarged opportunities for training as WAAC to be increased six times original size

"The Army last year announced it needed the knowledge, skill, and special training of the women of the nation for the war effort and the women of the nation are responding in thousands by joining the WAAC. There are scores of jobs, from typing to driving, which the Army feels women can do to release men for combat duty - and all the women ask, when they sign up, is, 'Give us a chance to help any way we can!'

-OVETA CULP HOBBY, Director, WAAC

Dy executive order of The President, the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps is authorized to recruit to the full strength of 150,000 authorized by Congress. And December 1st, another training center opens in Daytona Beach, Florida,

The WAAC is giving valuable service to the Army. The list of essential duties it is performing grows constantly. Never before in U. S. history have there been such opportunities for alert, patriotic women - opportunities to serve our country in its hour of need - opportunities for advancement, training and experience which will be valuable in the post-war world.

If you long to do your share in America's drive to victory, join this new, expanding corps now. See the partial list of jobs below. See the pay scale and ranks which now are equivalent to the Army's. Enrollment is open to women 21 to 44, inclusive, regardless of race, creed or colorall officers are commissioned from the ranks.

Every WAAC knows her contribution is helping the nation directly, personally—her work behind the lines, here and overseas, releases a soldier for the battlefront.

"The Acute Period" It is true that in the very first post-war period, which Mr. Hoover calls "the acute period," we shall have to share our food and certain other supplies with the war-stricken peoples abroad. But this period need not be long. Mr. Hoover reminds us that after the last war it lasted from November, 1918, until after the harvest of 1919. time it may last through two harvests, but it need not be longer than that-provided we use the worldhuman capacity for recuperation is greater than we think. Well, Wasn't Thanksgiving Most Exciting?

(By MANTHEI HOWE)

They probably were variations of the incidents that occured at my house. You see, having a fairly small oven and a reasonably large turkey, I'd had the bird roasted by a shop. And because the dinner was to be a bit special, pumpkin pies were not baked at home either, but by a woman a few blocks from my house. All Set Sez I

My work wasn't finished at the office until after 5:30 Wednesday afternoon, but I went home stepping high, wide, and handsome feeling that everything was under control for a fine Thanskgiving.

The evening was one of those pleasant lazy ones, the while awaited the arrival of my niec who was to be here for the holidays. She came at 12:30 and we sat up until 4 o'clock in the morn ing chattering, having a good time for ourselves. When we could no longer keep our eyes open we went to bed, and it's easy to know that we were having a good gab-fest for ourselves for I didn't even know that the storm was raging, so when I turned out at 9 a. m., what was my surprise to find the windows plastered with a fluffy coating of snow, giving the house a subdued

Tried to open the front door. Drifted with snow! Hum, maybe you think I didn't scurry around Got on the business-end of a shovel for a few minutes and thenwhew! Turkey? The bird was about a mile away, waiting in its appetizing juices to be called for! Nothing Doing!

No taxi service, no delivery service, no turkey, no pumpkin pies Well, for goodness sake! In over a half a century of observing Thanksgiving there had been nothing like that in my experience.

You know how it is in a small family. When one prepares for a day like Thanksgiving or Christmas one does not order in a lot of other meat supplies. The picture of a special dinner dwindled a bit

But the night before I had had a gift of a venison roast, so-that went into the oven, and grape fruit seemed a more healthful choice of desserts with such a meal than pumpkin pie anyhow. A lad cleared the front steps of snow and there we were comfortably holed in, feeling it was an extraordinarily old-fashioned Thanksgiving as to weather but quite modern in the rapid changes that had goverened the day.

Big Tree Was Destroyed The only fly in the ointment of having it really hilariously funny tion. was the fact that the driving north wind had twisted and smashed at the tops of the tall trees at the front of the house and ripped one of them from the top to within about six inches of the ground. Deer Hunters, Cars 'Stuck' By Blizzard

ISHPEMING, Nov. 27 - Scores of hunters are marooned in woods on all sides of Ishpeming, according to those who were able to reach here before the Thanksgiving storm blocked roads. While no hunters are believed to be in danger, some may not be able to get their cars out of the woods before

Today several told of walking 10 or more miles through snow drifts as they made their way to main roads, only to find they had to continue into town.

W. J. Brewer, city recorder, and his party walked 12 miles yesterday, leaving camp at 7:30 Thursday morning and arriving home at 1:30. Youth Has Long Hike

Connor Cowpland, 15-year-old son of Mrs. Grace Cowpland, had an experience worth relating. Despite his years, Connor is quite experienced in the woods and he started off alone Wednesday afternoon, between 5 and 6, to hike to Silver lake to join a party of hunters. The weather grew worse as he made his way and when he struck Mulligan creek, rain had turned to snow, there was a strong wind and the mercury was dropping. He stopped and considered the situation, then decided to turn around and head for home. At 3 Thanksgiving morning, having hiked since 5 the evening before, he reached home, dog-tired but safe, The last two miles he waded through snow up to his knees. He said he did not meet a single person on the round trip.

Out of Negaunee there were several stories of similar character. Four Negaunee men, Oscar Simo, Joseph Holman, William Nelson and Leonard Hill, struggled through the snow 16 miles to Birch, called the state police, who "res-cued" them and transported them in to Marquette.

It was estimated today that in hunting areas near Ishpeming there are at least 200 men in deer camps, and from 40 to 50 cars are marooned. Most of them, it was believed today, will be able to get out within a day or two, but it will take hardy souls with stout trucks to break roads into some of the isolated places so cars can be brought back into town.

400 in City To Ask Extra Gas Ration

NEGAUNEE, Nov. 27-Approximately 400 Negaunee residents will apply for B and C supplementary gasoline ration books, H. S. Doolittle announced today.

These books will be available from 1 to 9 p. m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, in the same rooms of the Negaunee high school in which A books were issued.

"Most motorists have mailed their applications, but it will be necessary that most of them apply in person to receive later instructions, because most of the applications are incomplete. Whereever possible, ration books will be mailed to the applicant, but Those who prefer may call for them.

A school of instruction for the workers was held this evening in the high school.

"Many residents have made the mistake of applying here for kerosene and oil ration books," Mr. Doolittle said, "instead of the fuel oil rationing board. This board is only for the rationing of gasoline in excess of A book allowances.

"A new requirement for those Over 100 To applying for B and C books is that they bring with them their certificates of registration." Attend Club's

The usual thing happened Thursday. Scores of motorists, not expecting the storm, left cars parked on streets all night and plow crews had to detour around them or take time to move them.

"We did not put tickets on cars last night," said Chief Pynnonen, "even though the ordinance had gone into effect. It seems we alvays have to have this first-stormof-the-year experience. Trucks, Plows Win Battle With Storm

NEGAUNEE, Nov. 27-The first blizzard of the year found Negaunee's highway department ready for emergencies and city streets were cleared promptly.

Trucks were in operation at 4 Thursday morning and continued through the night, keeping every street open. Every piece of equipment was called out and kept in service throughout the day.

The city light department re-ported little interference with normal service, although a few poles were blown down.

Efforts were made, after streets were plowed, to assist persons with special needs, provided those needs were essential to municipal or war service, but the department could not begin to take care of the flood of requests for special attention. Tragedy At Toulon Releases Allied Air, Sea Power For Offensive Purposes

Hitler Admits Weakness By Rash Attack

By Kirke L. Simpson

A fast developing case of defensive jitters not far removed from panic is plaguing Herr Hitler. That is implicit in his dubious move at Toulon either to seize the French fleet for his own use or to prevent it falling into Allied hands. Whatever his actual motive, that desperate step and new violation of his pledged word to humbled collaborationist France is an open confession of weakness. It gives quick confirmation to jubilant Allied assertions that the initiative has been wrested from the foe on all fronts in a global war in a matter of weeks. There was no immediate invasion danger at Toulon to warrant the Nazi attack. Some other reason drove Hitler to issue the order; whether it was expectation that the fleet would slip away some night to rejoin the Allies or fear that it would form the core of a revolt against him in France, itself, is debatable.

Goaded by Fears of Future

Whatever the reason for Hitler's fears, a defensive psychology was its foundation. Dread of what may be impending for him in Africa and Russia today, in the west perhaps tomorrow, goaded him to the step which has by every criterion increased rather than lessened his

Whether all of that French fleet now lies scuttled as Vichy reports, or only part of it as Berlin says, the effect is the same. It can be substantially written off the war books except as the new French tragedy at Toulon serves to spur Frenchmen at home and abroad to

By Hitler fiat a Nazi military overlord has been assigned for France to destroy the last nebulous wisp of French sovereignty.

The effect on the French public at home, now completley under the Nazi iron heel, is yet to be weighed. That the tide of more than passive resistance to the conqueror in continental France will surge to new high levels can hardly be doubted. And Hitler risked all this at Toulon not to achieve some grandiose military purpose that would restore him his lost initiative in the war; but as a panicky defense

Chiang's Wife In U.S. After Secret Trip

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27-AP-After a secret and hazardous trip Madame Chiang Kai-shek, wife of the Chinese generalissimo, has arrived in the United States for treatment of after-effects of injuries suffered five years ago in an auto crash at a war front.

This was announced today by the White House, but when or how the American-educated woman-leader of China reached this country was not revealed. The official announcement said that after completing the treatments, Mme. Chiang would be a guest of President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

It was during the critical period when the Chinese armies were braced against the full force of the Japanese attack in the Shanghai area that Madame Chiang was injured, the official announcement

Ban on Arms In Post-War Reich Asked

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 27—(P)—
If Blographer Emil Ludwig has his way about it, Germany won't be lef: with so much as a policeman's nightstick with which to provoke another war.

Starting from the premise that neither the people of the Reich nor any group of them can be entrusted with directing a government, the German-born writer has made public a formula for ramming permanent peace down the throat of a country which, he believes, has proved through the years that it doesn't want it.

Ludwig's plan calls for disarmament so complete that German policemen wouldn't even be permitted to carry clubs. Only by such realistic procedure, he contends, can be prevented a resurgence of the aggressive instincts which have plunged the nations of the world into two global wars.

Italian Agrees He spoke at a meeting of the United Nations Committee, comprising representatives of all the Allied powers, and seeking a plan guaranteeing against another world conflict. Another speaker was Dr. Constantine Panunzio Italian sociologist, who urged strongly against concluding any possible separate peace with Italy

The Italian people, he declared, should be given an opportunity to emerge from the war with a democratic republic—a goal which would be defeated, he said, if a peace were made at present.

Historian Ludwig said the German educational system must be placed under the strict supervision of the United Nations, and urged the maintenance for as long as necessary a protectorate over the Reich, "which for 300 years has had a government without culture," Can't Be Trusted

"The people, for 300 years, have been so dominated that they are incapable even of attempting satisfactory self-rule because of psychological handicaps," he added.

And he agreed with a suggestion News Behind the News from the floor that the Germans should be made, "with sweat and By Ray Tucker toil, to rebuild and replace everything they have stolen, torn down or destroyed" in the conquered na-

Michigan, Iowa End Big Ten Grid Season Before Small Crowd Today

In Standings

By Paul Chandler

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 27-(A)-Michigan and Iowa will draw the curtain on a stormy Western Conference football season Saturday afternoon in relative obscurity behind the red brick walls of the Wolverines' big stadium.

Iowa will stake a fine passing attack against Michigan's study running game. The winner will finish the season in third place in Big Ten standings.

There will be a few thousand witnesses to the struggle, but no spectator will be wanting for elbow room. Ticket Manager Tillotson reported today that 14,000 tickets had been sold, but the weather was giving no assurance that this many persons would be seated on the chilled pine-boards for the 3 p. m. kickoff. Fully 8,000 of the sold tickets are in the hands of students, notoriously poor cold weather addicts.

Iowa After 7th Victory Michigan and Great Lakes played before 17,000 persons in the opening game this year, which was the smallest Ann Arbor crowd since 1931. In the latter year 13,169 persons saw the Wolverines in a double-header with Western Michigan and Central State and 9,190 attended a post-season charity tilt with Wisconsin. The Michigan bowl has a capacity of 85,000.

The Wolverines are rounding out a season that fell into gloomy depths last week when Ohio States shattered their dreams of a Big Ten championship. Iowa is wellrested and driving for a victory that would give the Hawkeyes a season record of seven victories in 10 games, pleasing enough to corn-

provide one of the most trouble to pick up. some rumors that War Shipping WSA was set up last February, Administration officials have to and is headed by Lewis W. Dougdeal with. Here is the United shortages of sugar, coffee, pineapples, bananas, spices and all manner of foods which are normally imported, to say nothing of the shortages of strategic metals and materials like rubber, metals, fats and oils. Therefore, why should is now under WSA control and its

A lot of these stories don't orig- what for. inate in the United States, but are passed along from places like Cuba, Hawaii, Australia, where U. S. ships are easily observed unloading their cargoes of war supplies, then pulling out with their holds empty Cubans and Hawailans with sugar to export, Australians with meats and wools to export, naturally want to know how come and they start raising cain about it.

There is considerable truth in these stories, but shipping officials say that explanations to such rumors are bound up in one of the operations which the Federal government war agencies are called upon to perform. The answer is supposed to lie in knowing for sure where the ship was bound to after it left a foreign port, or where it came from when it got back.

There isn't anything to haul back from Murmansk, for instance, so all ships which have carried lend-lease aid to Soviet Russia come back in ballast. Can't Waste Time

Ships have come back empty from Hawaii because of the need for a quick turnaround so they could get back to U. S. ports and carry out other loads of war supplies. Holding the ship in Honolulu for a couple of days to load it up with sugar or pineapple, then taking another couple of days to unload them in California would mean a four-day delay in getting the ship back to Hawail with war

Ships have taken machinery into South American coffee ports, then sailed empty - not back to the United States, but to other South American ports to pick up manganese or chrome ores, rubber or hides, oils, and the like. Ships have sailed empty from Australian ports, but they have returned by way of Chile, picking up copper or nitrates, before returning to the United States. And so on.
