Allies Rushing Air Support To Tunisian Front

Bad Weather Causes Lull In Struggle

By E. C. Daniel

LONDON, Dec. 9.—Allied and German patrols fought bitter battles in bad weather today along the Axis horseshoe defending Bizerte while the British and Americans rushed tanks, guns, planes and men to the front for the impending great battle for Tunisia.

A dispatch by Wes Gallagher, Associated Press correspondent at Allied headquarters in North Africa, said the weather was restricting land and air action, but that the British and American patrols were stalling repeatedly at the German defenses before Bizerte.

20 Axis Tanks Destroyed
Field reports from North Africa showed that last Sunday 20 German tanks were destroyed when the Nazis struck British and American positions on a hill southwest of Tebourba.

In that action the Germans wedged into the Allied line, but were forced to withdraw when the Americans and British hurled more tanks and guns against them. The Nazis tanks were flaming wrecks.

Increased flights of U. S. and British planes over enemy lines suggested that Lieut.-Gen Dwight Eisenhower had solved in part the problem of providing forward airfields in the rugged hills, and deep ravines of the French protectorate.

Important Clashes Imminent
The attention to both sides in tank battles south of Tebourba, a key junction 20 miles west of Tunis, likewise contributed to subsiding of fighting to patrol operations and artillery exchanges.

There was no sign of weakness in the German lines as the latest and best U. S. and British planes fought the finest German and Italian aircraft for air supremacy. The Morocco radio reported fresh formations of Allied aircraft were being brought into operation "every day" and that Allied artillery was pounding Axis positions.

49 Executed In New Axis Terror Wave

LONDON, Dec. 9.—Forty-nine more persons have been executed and 500 rounded up in the campaign of German and Axis terror striking again in Europe and for the first time in the formerly unoccupied zone of France, London and continental reports said tonight.

In addition, six Polish students were reported sentenced to death in Paris for fomenting Communism.

Reports from Bern said that 400 dealers and customers of a black market in food were arrested at Zagreb by Croatian police during the last month.

100 Hostages Held In Lyon
The Germans dealt their first stern measure of hostage reprisal in the remainder of France which they occupied November 11 by rounding up 100 men and women at Lyon and holding them for execution for an attack on German soldiers, the Fighting French declared.

"On November 29, the Fighting French said, 'a pro-German demonstration was organized in the Place Belle Cour at Lyon. The demonstration was broken up by crowds which hurled insults at the Nazi troops who intervened to restore order."

Turin Again Blasted In Big RAF Raid

LONDON, Dec. 9.—Air raid sirens wailing tonight in Switzerland indicated that the RAF, relentlessly pursuing Britain's determination to bomb Italy out of the war, was crossing the Alps for another raid on northern Italy following up last night's destructive attack on Turin.

The Swiss radio reported that raid alarms were sounded in Basel and Zurich at 9 p. m. Last night the biggest bombers of the RAF heaped destruction and solid mass of fire on Turin with "many" four-ton and two-ton block-busters and thousands of incendiary bombs.

Italians Admit Damage Great
The Italian high command acknowledged the devastation in these words today:

"Enemy planes carried out a violent raid last night on Turin, causing very heavy damage, especially to buildings in the central area, including a university and a hospital."

The Italians reported one plane was shot down and crashed in the center of the city, killing seven of its crew. The British reported one plane was missing.

All the returning crews reported large and concentrated fires were planted on their objectives as the result of skillfully placed flares lighting the way for precision bombing in clear weather.

Visibility was so good that the shells of buildings wrecked in previous raids stood out clearly.

An observer who had been on 45 raids said it was one of the most successful attacks he ever saw, and added:

Red Airmen, Attacking Nazi Supply Lines, Destroy 68 Air Transports in Two Days

By Henry C. Cassidy

MOSCOW, Dec. 10 (Thursday)—Russian airmen in two days have destroyed 68 transport planes trying to ferry supplies to German troops in the Stalingrad sector, and the Red army fighting near Veliki Luki has killed more than 6,000 troops of the 246th Nazi infantry division in an exhausting struggle on the frozen central front, it was announced early today.

The midnight Soviet communiqué did not claim any important gains for Russian arms during yesterday's fighting which was headlined with continuing German counter-attacks and methodical Russian consolidation of hard-won gains on both fronts.

The Red air force was trying to interrupt the flow of supplies and reinforcements to menaced German units, and the Russians claimed it was succeeding both in destroying the big Junkers transport planes and in other rear line raids.

On Tuesday it was credited with destroying 25 German tanks, 200 trucks, two railway trains, and the dispersal and partial annihilation of an enemy battalion.

Field dispatches said the Germans were so hard-pressed that they were commandeering mail, passenger and training planes to haul material to the Russian front.

The Germans said large-scale Russian operations on the central front ended when police punctured his pose as a hitch-hiker, friendly alien bearing cards recommending him for jobs either as merchant seaman, farmhand or lumberjack.

The 24-year-old German air force officer was picked up about noon near Barrie, Ont., trying to thumb a ride.

Raider Sent To Bottom By Merchantman

By Hamilton W. Faron

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Fighting to the finish and going down with her colors flying proudly, a little American merchantman took one enemy surface raider to the bottom and a second badly damaged in the south Atlantic, the Navy disclosed today.

It was the first reported instance of an armed merchantman sinking a surface craft of prey.

Battered from stem to stern, her deck structures a shambles, her engine and steering apparatus crippled, she traded shell for shell with the raiders for a furious 20 minutes.

As she slipped under stern-fire, the smaller—but more heavily armed—of the raiders was a mass of flames with survivors clambering over the sides to be picked up by the larger and badly damaged raider.

15 Of Crew Reach Port
Only 15 of the 41 members of the merchantman's crew and five men of a Navy gun crew survived the late September battle and the 31 days in an open boat before survivors reached the south Atlantic coast.

A half a dozen or more men earned names as heroes in the 20 blazing minutes of the clash, ignoring their own wounds to carry on the fire against the enemy or to aid more severely injured comrades.

One, Ensign Kenneth Martin Willett, Sacramento, Calif., despite severe wounds, directed his gun crew, then manned the gun himself for parting shots at the raiders. He is listed as missing.

30 Per Cent Pay Increase Asked by Rail Union Chiefs

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—Chiefs of the five operating railroad unions decided today to seek a 30 per cent pay increase, or a minimum raise of $3 a day, for their 350,000 members.

The decision was reached 11 weeks after leaders of the 15 non-operating labor organizations asked a wage boost of 20 cents an hour for 900,000 rail line workers.

As a result of the action of both groups American railroads faced requests to place millions of additional dollars in the pay envelopes of 1,250,000 employees.

Losing Many Skilled Men
Alan May Johnston, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and a spokesman for the five operating unions, stated wage increases were necessary because of the "excessive" hours and added responsibilities of the workers, a manpower shortage, higher living costs and the "inequality" of railroad pay compared with the pay in other industries.

The plan to seek the upward revision was formulated by 750 general chairmen of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, the Order of Railway Conductors, and the Switchmen's Union of North America.

Three Others Set Afire; 10 Zeros Downed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—American dive bombers, torpedo planes and fighters have crippled a small Japanese invasion fleet heading for Guadalcanal, sinking one enemy warship, setting afire three others and shooting down 10 fighter planes, the Navy disclosed today.

Flying out from Henderson airfield, the air striking force hit the enemy with big bombs and torpedoes last Thursday in the narrow waters between Santa Isabel and New Georgia islands, 150 miles northwest of Guadalcanal in the Solomons.

Three Left In Flames
When they left, giant flames were flaring from three of the 10 vessels in the enemy fleet and another—its type unidentified—was sinking.

Two cruisers, the Navy said, were hit by 1,000-pound bombs, while a third warship, either a destroyer or a cruiser, was hit by two aerial torpedoes.

The fourth ship, described as either a second destroyer or another cruiser, probably was struck by two more torpedoes.

Sharp aerial fighting accompanied the attack on the surface craft, which presumably carried reinforcements and supplies for the Japanese on Guadalcanal.

In the air Navy fighters engaged and shot down 10 float-type planes. Those enemy fighter ships presumably were Zeros equipped floats for duty over water.

Artillery Used On Japs
One American fighter was lost, the Navy announced, together with one bomber and one torpedo plane.

Guns Massed For Big Battle Of El Agheila

By Kirke L. Simpson

The fighting in North Africa has fallen into a comparative lull, but the Allies are obviously preparing to launch a new storm of attack from east and west. When and where it will break first only the commanders of the twin-jawed trap know, but there are encouraging signs that both are rapidly overcoming transportation problems that have kept them idle or on the defensive against their will.

All reports from French Africa agree that, although the Axis forces have enjoyed temporary air superiority and the advantage of interior communication lines, British-American lines on the hillsides commanding the critical triangle in northern Tunisia have held or been restored.

Despatches tell of the arrival of heavy guns on that front and growing Allied air strength.

Three Nazi Transports Downed Off Tunisia

CAIRO, Dec. 9.—Long-range British fighters tore into a flight of 50 German transport planes, presumably flying home toward Europe after delivering troops and supplies to Tunisia, and shot down three transports and one escorting fighter, the British reported today.

The transports were escorted by many fighters, the accounts said. They were intercepted off Lampedusa island, which is about midway between Malta and Tunisia in the Mediterranean.

The Mediterranean action yesterday was one of several aerial engagements in North Africa.

American fighters shot down six out of seven Messerschmitts. Bombed in an air battle over Marshal Rommel's Marble Arch landing ground west of El Agheila.

RAF fighters, joining the running battle, shot down the seventh Messerschmitt. One American fighter did not return.

Air Transport Fleet Key To African Drive

By Noland Norgaard

U. S. TWELFTH AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, Dec. 6.—Delayed in a mass fleet of transport planes, sturdy, dependable products of millions of miles of flying by U. S. commercial airlines—and a daring band of young pilots who welcome the chance to pit merely their flying skill against the guns of enemy pursuit planes, are the virtual mainstay of the whole campaign to rout the Axis from North Africa.

They are flying some of the most difficult and dangerous missions of this war as part of everyday routine, and almost solely as a result of their work the Tunisian campaign has run ahead of schedule.

Nazi Airman Recaptured After Fourth Escape Try

GRAVENHURST, Ont., Dec. 9.—Oberleutenant Otto Ulrich Steinhufer, who while away from the dullness of life in Canadian war prison camps by concocting ingenious and near-successful attempts at freedom, failed again today—for the fourth time in 13 months.

His freedom ended when police punctured his pose as a hitch-hiker, friendly alien bearing cards recommending him for jobs either as merchant seaman, farmhand or lumberjack.

The 24-year-old German air force officer was picked up about noon near Barrie, Ont., trying to thumb a ride.

Stalin, and six companion officers broke out of the prison camp last night. Five were captured during the night. The seventh man, Siegfried Schmidt, 24, is being sought near Washago, 13 miles from here.

Engineers Get $8.50 a Day
The pay rates of operating personnel cover a wide and complex range of classifications and sub-classifications, Johnston reported, however, that engineers now receive a minimum of approximately $5.00 a day. Some classes of switchmen currently earn about $5.82 a day in the lowest wage bracket of the operating workers.

Herring Pack Brings Cash To Fishermen

A new industry, the filleting of herring, has brought in four weeks more than $10,000 to fishermen of Marquette, has provided employment to nearly 40 persons and has helped to solve food supply problems...

Army Takes Over Halt

Of course, with meat rationing just around the corner the campaign is made considerably easier. Furthermore, more than half of this year's production of Lake Superior blue fin filets is being taken by the Army.

Commercial fishermen here estimate that at least 300,000 pounds of herring have been shipped from Marquette during the current run, which will be concluded soon. The best part of it, for the fishermen, is that not only has the herring market expanded greatly, but the price has almost doubled.

Last year fox and mink farms were paying a cent and a half to two cents a pound for herring—just to feed to the fur bearers. Now fish buyers are paying Marquette commercial fishermen three and a half cents a pound for herring...

Filleting Plant Here

William Page, Green Bay, is supervising the boning and filleting of the Marquette catch for the Frank C. Schilling Co., Green Bay. Page has established a filleting plant here, near the Peter Anderson Fish company dock, and there the herring are scaled, cleaned, boned and cut into filets.

As a result of this operation, as many as 38 Marquette residents—many of them had never filleted a fish in their lives—have been given employment, in addition to placing more than $10,000 in the pockets of the city's commercial fishermen.

It was estimated that about half the 300,000-pound catch has been filleted while the remainder has been sold as ro fish.

Scaling Process Rapid In previous years herring were scaled by hand. It took a good man at least three hours to scale 250 pounds, but at the Schilling processing station, 250 pounds of herring are thrown in a revolving wire drum, and the fish, in tumbling over each other, literally scale themselves. It takes only three minutes to scale 250 pounds.

Workers engaged in cleaning, boning and filleting, many of them women, become adept at their work. One workman, Donald L'Hullier, established a record when he processed 500 fish in a nine-hour day. The average is 330 to 340.

J. August Anderson, veteran Marquette fisherman, sees a bright future for the new herring market. "There's isn't any reason why this thing can't be developed into something really big in the years to come," he said. He added, however, that "we need a long-time plan, developed through the cooperation of the state and commercial fishermen, to see that commercial fish are propagated and developed in Lake Superior."

He urged a widespread development of fish hatcheries to the end that the supply of commercial fish, as well as sport fish, be properly maintained. Advent of the herring on the market in volume has brought about the same activity in other towns along the shores of Lake Superior and Lake Michigan.

Funeral Services Held In Madison for Loomis

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 9—P—Thousands of persons thronged the rotunda of the state capitol today to pay final tribute to Orland S. Loomis, 49-year-old small town attorney, who died Monday, less than a month before he was to take office as Wisconsin's governor.

After the services here the body was taken to Loomis' home town of Mauston where final rites will be held tomorrow afternoon.

Lieutenant Governor Walter S. Goodland, who will be 80 this month, declared he intends to take over the duties of the governorship January 4, when Governor Julius P. Heil's term expires.

There was some question in legal circles, however, whether Goodland, who was resigned last month, could become acting governor. There is no precedent for the situation.

Snowbound in Cabin 11 Days, Lives on Canned Dog Food

Paul Sharron, 34, Champion, knows what canned dog food tastes like, but if he hadn't learned he would have starved to death. Trapped in an isolated cabin by the Thanksgiving day blizzard, and without snowshoes or skis to attempt the six-mile trek back to civilization, Sharron was eating canned dog food when state police and conservation officers rescued him December 5, they reported yesterday.

Sharron started out from Michigan to spend a short vacation in a cabin on Indian Lake, six miles northeast of that village. No trails or roads led to the backwoods cabin. With a pack on his back he began the hike November 25. The weather was warm and there was no snow to hamper his progress. Night came and he became tired. In the belief he could find the cabin much easier unimpeded by the weight of his food and equipment-laden pack sack, he slipped it from his shoulders, laid it by the trail and went on in the darkness, intending to return the next morning for his supplies.

Couldn't Find Pack

That night the severe storm struck. The howling wind piled the snow in deep drifts, and when morning came Sharron found himself literally snowed in. And no food except some cans of dog food stored in the cabin. The pack sack under his load of food, was covered under the blanket of snow and he could not find it.

December 4 relatives began to worry about him. They called Conservation Officer Ed Morris. He enlisted the aid of Conservation Officer Ike Seppala, a Mr. DeMerse who knew the country north of Michigan and State Trooper Virgil Faircloth. On the morning of December 5, equipped with maps, snowshoes, a supply of food and an extra pair of snowshoes for Sharron in case he was found alive, the four set out for the back woods cabin.

They found Sharron eating the dog food. He was weak but, after a good meal, was strong enough to snowshoe out to Michigan with the officers. He suffered no ill effects from his experience.

Draftees Will Not Be Home December 25

Marquette county men who will be inducted into the U. S. Army Friday will have Christmas dinner at Fort Sheridan, according to Major L. B. Kiblinger, chief executive officer of the Army medical board.

The Marquette county draft board offices have been deluged with telephone calls from prospective inductees, who wanted to know if they would be able to spend Christmas at home.

Previously two-weeks furloughs were granted to inductees between the time they were accepted for Army service and their departure for Army camps. This furlough is now being cut to seven days, Major Kiblinger said.

Week's Total About 1,000

Those who are accepted today will leave for Fort Sheridan on December 19; tomorrow's contingent will leave on December 20, and the Marquette county group, to be examined Friday, will leave December 21.

Major Kiblinger revised his estimate, made Tuesday, of the number of draftees to be examined in Marquette this week. Only 122 were examined yesterday and Major Kiblinger said it looked as if the week's total would not exceed 1,000 unless an unusually large number are inducted from Marquette county Friday. Before announcement of the order to defer

Obituary

Mrs. Hallie W. Gillette

Mrs. Hallie Wheeler Gillette, native of Marquette and a resident of this city nearly half a century, died yesterday morning at her home in Detroit. Her death followed illness of more than a year. Born in Marquette, Mrs. Gillette, who was 68 years old, left here about 20 years ago and had resided in Detroit since.

She leaves two sons, Myron and Knox, Detroit; three grandsons, three nieces and three nephews. The nieces are Mrs. Elmer Neeley, Negaunee; Mrs. Charles S. Mason, Hancock; and Mrs. E. D. Swift, Marquette. The nephews are Ray Barney, Negaunee; Leigh Barney, Chicago; and Frank Blackwood, Altus, Okla.

The body will be received here Friday afternoon and will be taken to Swanson's funeral home. Services will be held there Saturday morning at 9:30 with the Rev. H. Roger Sherman, Jr., rector of St. John's Episcopal church, Negaunee, officiating. Interment will be made in Park cemetery.

Liquor Board Refuses To Remove Suspension

LANSING, Dec. 9—P—For a second time, the liquor control commission today refused to remove the license suspension it has imposed on the Pretzel Bell, Ann Arbor beer garden frequented by University of Michigan students. The place was penalized with an indefinite suspension November 29 for selling to minors.

The proprietor, Phillip Stapp, said he would require university students to display identification cards bearing their photographs and birth dates, and demand positive evidence of age of non-students, if the suspension were removed.

Chairman Ralph Thomas told Stapp the commission was not yet ready to lift the suspension, but promised to disclose in a few days how long the penalty would remain in effect. To Stapp's complaint he was unable to make business plans without knowing duration of the suspension, Commissioner James D. Deitch offered a hint that "our present policy is a minimum of 30 days closed."

Fire Hazards In Taverns To Be Checked

To make sure there will be no Boston Coconut Grove catastrophe in Marquette, Fire Chief R. W. Bystrom last night said he will inspect all establishments selling beer and liquor to see that there are no fire hazards and particularly that holiday decorations are fireproof.

This action was requested by W. H. Linaker, inspector for the state liquor control commission, who declared, during a visit in Marquette yesterday, that any tavern owner who refuses to comply with the requests of the fire chief will suffer suspension of his license.

Must Use Fireproof Material
Vendors who wish to put up holiday decorations are warned to seek the advice of the fire chief regarding state regulations. Certain types of decorations are considered fireproof and may be used, but only upon the advice of the fire chief, Mr. Linaker said.

C. A. Parrish, director of the license and enforcement bureau of the liquor control commission wrote the following letter of instructions to Linaker:

"The commission has ordered a detailed fire inspection of all large establishments, especially those in which dancing is permitted. If you find any hazard is created you should order the licensee to correct it immediately and submit a detailed report to this office, giving the name of the licensee and your recommendations. It will be your responsibility to see that the hazard is corrected and you are requested to notify this office when that has been done so that we may close our files.

Strict Compliance Demanded
"It is further requested that you warn all establishments inspected to use the utmost care in holiday decorations, to determine that they comply with the state fire marshal's regulations and are fireproof."

The state inspector said the Boston night club tragedy has resulted in increased vigilance throughout the country, and that the Michigan liquor control commission is determined to have all licensed establishments fully comply with state requirements for public safety. He said flimsy overhead decorations, made of paper and other inflammable material, are absolutely taboo.

Display Gas Stickers, Car Owners Told

LANSING, Dec. 9.—As a matter of necessity, the state police said today, they recommend that Michigan motorists display a provision of the state law and display on the windshields of their automobiles the Federally-issued stickers which identify their gasoline rationing privileges.

The recommendation came from Capt. Caesar J. Scavarda, head of the traffic and safety division. He said he saw no other practical solution.

The stickers are gummed on their faces, to be stuck to windshields or windows of the cars. The Federal rule requires that they be displayed prominently, but the state law specifies no stickers may be pasted to windshields or windows of motor vehicles. Scavarda said he believed the state law should yield in such a circumstance, and that the stickers may be placed in lower right-hand corners of windshields without subjecting the car owner to traffic law violation charges.

Scavarda said the problem has resulted in confusion, and many motorists have refrained from pasting the stickers on their cars.

Ann Sheridan Seeking Divorce From Brent

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 9.—P—Ann Sheridan, screen actress, will leave late this week for Mexico City, where she plans to file suit for divorce from Actor George Brent, her studio said today.

Miss Sheridan and Brent, who made public their code for "long and happy married life" a few days after they were wed in Palm Beach, Fla., last January 5, have been separated since September 29.

The Pitot tube projects from the leading edge of an airplane wing, and is used to measure air speeds.

Liquor Board May Lift Lid On New Year's LANSING, Dec. 9.—P.—The liquor control commission today refused to change its order forbidding the sale of alcoholic beverages for consumption on or off premises after 10 p. m. Christmas eve, but declared its intentions to allow a protracted New Year's eve revel in licensed drinking spots.

Chairman Ralph Thomas said a day or two would elapse before the commission decided how high the New Year's eve lid would be lifted. He addressed himself to a delegation representing liquor licensees, cabaret owners, hotel and restaurant employees, musicians and entertainers, and declared: "We fully have in mind giving you some relief on the 2 a. m. closing hour (the normal curfew rule) on New Year's eve, but we definitely will not change the Christmas eve early closing, believing that Christmas is a religious celebration and should be observed as such."

Al Renner, representing the Hotel and Restaurant Employees Alliance, had told the commission, "we know, and you do also, that the New Year's eve celebration will not stop at 2 a. m., but will move to blind pigs where there is no police control, unless the licensed places are allowed to remain open."

RECRUIT IN DOGHOUSE PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 9.—P.—A WAG that went AWOL was confined today—in the doghouse. The WAG, part German shepherd and part chow, is a recruit at the Coast Guard dog training station. Last night he broke his tether, leaped to a window sill and departed. Police found him foraging at the city dump.

Damascus is said to be the oldest city in the world.

Army Officer Candidates Can Enlist

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—P.—The order suspending voluntary enlistment in the armed forces will not interrupt the Army's volunteer officer candidate program, the War department announced today, but no man who has passed his 38th birthday will be accepted. Those over 38 who had been ordered by December 5 to report for induction will be taken for training, however.

Under the volunteer officer candidate plan men deferred by their selective service boards for dependency have been permitted to volunteer for training to prepare them for the Army's officer candidate schools.

No Decision on Air Cadets
They are required to take the 12-week basic military training of all selectees, and if qualified at the end of this period are assigned to candidate schools. Any volunteer who fails to qualify for a school, or for a commission at the school, may apply for release. He is then transferred to the enlisted reserve, and is not recalled for active duty until his name is reached by his local selective service board in the course of normal procedure.

The War department noted that this plan always has operated through the selective service system, and is not in the same category as voluntary enlistments prohibited by President Roosevelt's order of last Saturday. Department officials said no final decision had been reached on a number of other problems arising from the suspension of voluntary enlistment and adoption of 38 as the maximum age for Army selectees.

All aviation cadets have been volunteers, and their enlistment as such has been suspended by the executive order. No plan has been adopted yet for choosing men from among the selectees for aviation cadet training.

Must Request Discharge
The Army has announced that certain men 38 or older, ready in the Army, will be released if their physical condition is such that their usefulness to the Army's secondary to their usefulness in industry. These men must voluntarily request discharge and present satisfactory evidence that they will have a job in an essential war industry, including agriculture. Each case will be decided on its individual merits, but as yet there has been no indication who will have the responsibility of making the decision.

There is uncertainty over the status of men 37, who are subject to induction although they may reach their 38th birthdays long before their military training is completed. The Army's attitude is said to be that it wants no men whom it cannot keep for at least a year, and presumably it expects local draft boards to consider both physical condition and civilian occupation when these men are being considered for induction. An official expression, however, is lacking.

NOW IT'S WIRES
BELLEVILLE, Ill., Dec. 9.—P.—Scott Field, Army Air Forces "radio university," has a new name for its women radio instructors—the WIRES, or Women in Radio Electronics. The name is unofficial but apt.

QUINTUPLETS relieve coughing of CHEST COLDS this good old reliable way!

Whenever the Dionne Quintuplets catch cold—their chests, throats and backs are immediately rubbed with Musterole—a product made especially to promptly relieve coughing and tight sore aching chest muscles due to colds—it actually helps break up local congestion in the upper bronchial tract, nose and throat. Musterole gives such wonderful results because it's what so many Doctors and Nurses call a modern cougher-eritant. Since it's used on the famous "Quintuplets"—you can be sure it's just about the BEST cold relief you can buy!

MONTGOMERY WARDS SECOND STATEMENT TO NATIONAL WAR LABOR BOARD

The Following Statement Was Submitted to the National War Labor Board at Its Meeting in Washington on December 8, 1942

The War Labor Board on November 5, 1942, issued an order that Wards "incorporate" in a contract with a C. I. O. union at Chicago:

1. A clause establishing a form of the closed shop called "maintenance of membership," together with a check-off of union dues from wages.
2. A clause providing for compulsory arbitration on any questions the union wishes to raise.
3. A clause guaranteeing in these uncertain times present wage and working conditions for a year.

Wards rejected this order of the Board for these reasons:

1. The Board was without authority. Congress, the only law-making authority under the Constitution, has not empowered the Board to order any employer to do any of the things which the Board demanded of Wards.
2. The order violated the fundamental principles of liberty. Liberty requires that an employee be free to join or to resign from a union without jeopardizing his livelihood. Liberty requires that an employer be free to employ the person best suited for the work.
3. The order was in itself illegal. The order required Wards, first, to interfere with the free choice of its employees to resign from the union; second, to give support to the union by a check-off of union dues; and third, to discriminate against employees if they resigned their membership in the union, all in direct violation of the National Labor Relations Act.
4. Wards operates in a highly competitive field composed of one million seven hundred fifty thousand retail establishments. It is unfair to impose burdens upon Wards and not upon those with whom it is in competition.

The imposition of the closed shop against Wards cannot be justified by reference to the so-called no-strike agreement. Wards was not a party to this agreement. Wards had no voice in the selection of those who, as representatives of industry, attended the conference in December, 1941, which formulated this agreement. Wards has never ratified the results of that conference.

Furthermore, the conference itself did not agree that the War Labor Board might impose the closed shop principle. Those acting as representatives of industry expressly recommended to the President that this issue not be considered by the Board. The Board, in ordering a form of closed shop at Wards, has acted contrary to these expressed recommendations of the industry representatives.

If Wards had had the right to test the legality of the Board's demands in a court, Wards would have done so, but Wards was deprived of a remedy in the courts by the Board's complete lack of legal authority to compel obedience of its order. The court will only act when legal rights have been violated. The courts have declared that the mere making of demands which do not have to be obeyed does not, in the eyes of the law, violate any legal right. The Board's very lack of authority thus resulted in a denial to Wards, as it has to other employers, of a right to relief in the courts.

The President of the United States as well as the Board is wholly without Constitutional authority to order any employer to do the things demanded of Wards. Nevertheless, in deep respect for the President and his great responsibility in time of war, Wards said, in rejecting the Board's order:

"If Congress imposes closed shops, compulsory arbitration or contracts for a year's duration on employers, or if the President of the United States, as Commander-in-Chief in time of war directs that Wards accept the Board's ruling, which we earnestly believe are illegal and uneconomic, we will respectfully obey."

The President on November 18th wrote the company, saying:

"As Commander-in-Chief in time of war, . . . I . . . direct Montgomery Ward and Company to comply, without further delay, with the National War Labor Board's Directive Order of November 5, 1942."

Wards immediately answered:

"Your order of November 18th has been received and will be promptly obeyed."

Wards thereupon altered the general form of its contracts with unions and incorporated, word for word, the clauses ordered by the War Labor Board. This document was offered to the union. The company has fully complied with the President's direction and will continue to do so.

The document which the President has directed Wards to sign is not a contract. The requisite of a contract is that there be a meeting of the minds or agreement between the parties. There has been no agreement between Wards and the union. The document which the President has ordered Wards to sign affects the rights and liberties of Wards and of its employees. Therefore, in order that the document itself may be clear and state the facts, Wards informatively included these three sentences:

"The following provisions are not voluntarily agreed to by the Company. In the Company's opinion they are illegal and unsound. These provisions are copied verbatim from the War Labor Board's order of November 5, 1942, and are incorporated herein, on the Company's part, under duress and only because the President of the United States as Commander-in-Chief in time of war has expressly ordered that they be included."

These three sentences are in all respects true. They do not alter the effect of the provisions ordered by the Board—provisions which Wards will carry out. Nevertheless, the union has refused to sign the offered document.

Wards will be happy to accept any improvement in the wording of this statement, but Wards will resist any attempt to hide the truth by a change in its substance.

On January 9, 1941, the President said: "In the future days which we seek to make secure, we look forward to a world founded upon four essential human freedoms. The first is freedom of speech and expression — everywhere in the world."

Wards feels that it is bound by the rules of good citizenship to make sure that the simple truth about these provisions and Wards acceptance of them be not hidden from or misrepresented to its hundred thousand employees, its sixty thousand shareholders, and its many millions of customers. The elimination of this statement would serve no purpose but to conceal the truth from readers of the document.

Wards has cheerfully met with the union and with this Board whenever requested. Wards has promptly obeyed the direction of the President. Wards insists that its right to tell the truth not be destroyed.

Montgomery Ward and Company
SEWELL AVERY
President

Ore Tonnage 493,607 Here In November

Tonnage of iron ore shipped from Marquette docks during November totaled 493,607 tons, a drop of 205,693 from the November, 1941, figure of 699,300.

Of the November tonnage this year, the D. S. S. and A. handled 78,405 tons while the L. S. and I. shipped 415,202.

Capt. Chisholm, Army Flier, Wins Award for Gallantry

A silver star for "gallantry in action" has been awarded to Capt. H. J. Chisholm, U. S. Army aviator, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Chisholm, 438 East Ohio street, and they also have cheering news of the safety of another son, Edward Roderick Chisholm, a Philippine missionary.

Capt. Chisholm has seen action at Pearl Harbor, Midway, and the Solomons in the past year and has been in the thick of the Army air force attack in the south Pacific, in command of a B-17 bomber, better known as a Flying Fortress. The last three months he has been in the Solomons.

Through it all Capt. Chisholm has escaped without injury, although some members of his crew have been killed.

Recently his crew had a 10-day furlough in Auckland, New Zealand, and spent most of their time sleeping between sheets in a bed with a mattress, looking at the electric lights, and eating steaks three times a day. The trip provided some respite from ants, some of which made their home in his garrison cap.

Mr. and Mrs. Chisholm had not heard from their son, Edward, in 15 months. Mrs. Chisholm received word through friends arriving on the Gripsholm, who had talked with him, including the consul of Panama, that he was interested by the Japs at Santa Thomas university until June, then released and permitted to return to his college at Manila.

In October, 1940, Capt. Chisholm enlisted in the Army air corps and was graduated nine months later with the rank of second lieutenant. He was dispatched at once to Hawaii and was there during the Pearl Harbor attack. Subsequently he was assigned to Midway and had a hand in the defeat of the Jap navy in the historic Midway battle.

When activity in the Solomons broke out, he was given another transfer. Meanwhile his services won two promotions—to first lieutenant and then to captain.

Teacher Resigns

IRON RIVER, Dec. 9 — Hanno Rysberg, manual arts instructor in the Iron River high school for 12 years, has resigned, effective Dec. 18, to accept a position with the Glenn Martin Aircraft company at Omaha, Neb. He will leave when the schools are closed for the Christmas vacation. He will be trained for a few weeks and expects later to be assigned as an inspector at one of the company's plants.

Battle Survivor Home

MANISTIQUE, Dec. 9 — Donald Duquette, fireman, second class in the U. S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Duquette, is home with a story to tell of how a giant armada invaded Africa and how he narrowly escaped death when a torpedo sent his ship, the U. S. transport Tasker H. Bliss, to the bottom. Eighteen years old and a former Manistique high school student who enlisted in the Navy June 26, Donald finds the home town a quiet place after the thrilling action which he has seen.

Injuries Fatal

MENOMINEE, Dec. 9 — Prosecuting Attorney Michael J. Anuta has requested Coroner Roy Cadieu to order an inquest into the automobile accident east of Daggett Saturday afternoon in which O. P. Naslund, 77-year-old retired Daggett township farmer, was fatally injured. Naslund, who was hit by a car driven by Leonard H. Pasch, 18, also of Daggett township, suffered a skull fracture which resulted in his death Tuesday in Marquette General hospital.

Wanted in North Carolina

IRON MOUNTAIN, Dec. 9 — Willie P. Padgett, 38, of Merriman, held at the county jail on a charge of felonious assault, pending trial in circuit court, is wanted in North Carolina for violation of parole.

LABOR SHORTAGES LISTED

DETROIT, Dec. 9 — Nine Michigan industrial areas are listed by the war manpower commission as having labor shortages, two as anticipating shortages, and only one, the Grand Rapids area, as having a surplus of labor. According to the listing, labor shortages now exist in Detroit, Flint, Lansing, Muskegon, Pontiac, Saginaw, Adrian, Battle Creek and Jackson.

Ontonagon Sheriff Heads Peace Officers

IRON MOUNTAIN, Dec. 9 — Robert Davidson, sheriff of Ontonagon county was named president of the Upper Peninsula Law Enforcement Officers' association at the annual dinner-meeting in the Knights of Columbus hall Monday night which drew a near-record crowd of about 120 peace officers, prosecutors, municipal justices and others.

the state police at Marquette, first vice-president, succeeding Sheriff Davidson; Gust Hassell, Iron Mountain chief, second vice-president, succeeding Nestor Eckloff, Ishpeming chief; Wallace Kemp, U. P. probation officer, Marquette, re-elected secretary-treasurer, and Howard Treudo, Marquette county sheriff, member of the board of directors.

Members of the nominating committee, whose selections were opposed in the balloting, were Sheriff Treudo; Lawrence Walsh, Ontonagon county prosecutor; Henry King, Kingsford village chief; Bernard MacEachran, department of corrections, Houghton; Howard De Merse, industrial police, Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic railroad, Marquette; Claude C. Carlisle, secretary of state's office, Marquette, and Trooper Ralph Sheehan, state police at Marquette.

NOTHING CAN BE FINER THAN TO SMOKE A LA PALINA

ALL SIZES: 6¢, 11¢ and 15¢

Gust Hassell, police chief, has been advised by the FBI and North Carolina authorities. Padgett's identity was established through his fingerprints sent to the FBI bureau for identification, after Padgett told police that he had served three years of a three-to-five-year term at the North Carolina penitentiary on a conviction of forgery. Charges in Dickinson county will be waived, according to John V. Zanardi, prosecutor, if arrangements can be made for Padgett's ship board and firemen that there would be no lighted outside tree in the downtown business section of Gwinn.

Gwinn

The Altar society of St. Anthony's church will hold a bake sale in Suss store Saturday, December 12, starting at 2.

Complying with the request of the Federal authorities that all outside lighting of Christmas trees be abandoned this year, it was voted at a recent meeting of the town-ship board and firemen that there would be no lighted outside tree in the downtown business section of Gwinn.

Dakar Now an Asset

WHILE the Dakar agreement between General Eisenhower and Admiral Darlan was entered into by the former without consultation with his superiors, this probably is not the case with the supplemental agreement by which use by the Allies of the port of Dakar and French fleet units there is assured.

But in the time that has elapsed since it was entered into there has been abundant opportunity for consultation by the General with his superiors, at the top the President, the Commander in Chief, as to the course to be taken with regard to Dakar.

The fact that a bargain has been made with Darlan relative to Allied use of Dakar will intensify the debate as to whether the political results of the recognition given him will not, in the long run, largely offset the military advantages gained from dealing with him.

The President has declared that arrangements with Darlan are temporary in character. But there is much apprehension that they will be found to mean commitment to cooperation with men who do not command the confidence and support of the great mass of the French people, and that mistrust among other conquered peoples it will engender will lead them to doubt the purposes of the Allies.

If the political aspects of the bargaining are obscure, there is no doubt that great immediate advantage has been secured to the Allies by opening up at Dakar a new and comparatively safe avenue of communication with North Africa.

But the greatest mortality has been, and will be, among the independent retailers dealing in foodstuffs who have been finding it increasingly difficult from month to month to keep their shelves stocked and meats in their coolers.

Their problem cannot be disposed of by reducing overhead expense. The exigencies of competition already had required them to reduce it close to the smallest possible figure.

The result will be a further weighting of the situation in retail business in favor of the chains. Many of those who may go out of retailing for the duration will doubtless return to it after the war is ended.

This is but one of numerous and widely varied economic changes that will confront the country as a result of the war.

Wisely Disposed Of

The new chairman of the Republican national committee was before his selection a middle of the road man in the sense that he was not advanced by either of the contesting wings, those who would like to have Mr. Willkie read out of the party and those who, agreeing with him on many points, believe that a break with him would foredoom the party to failure in 1944.

By small number of the Isolationists and the Chicago Tribune, whose head man, Col. McCormick, is irreconcilably committed to a private war with Mr. Willkie.

Mr. Willkie can take, also, satisfaction in the committee's reaffirmation, by approval of a resolution offered by Senator Taft, of the resolution adopted at an earlier Chicago meeting which placed the party on record as favoring a liberal position on post-war foreign policy.

By selection of Mr. Spangler the committee men kept open without prejudice to any of the components of the party decision as to the platform and the candidate that will be offered in 1944, with implication, at least, that both will conform to the prevalent view that the day when this country can isolate itself from the world outside its borders is long past.

Complementary to this view is the one that if this country is, with other peace-minded and liberal peoples, to be safe it must meet fully its share of the responsibility not only to see that totalitarianism is scotched, but that it is so dealt with that it will never again be able to lift its head.

Mr. Loomis' Death

The news of the death of Governor-elect Loomis has been received with widespread regret. His standing in Wisconsin was attested to by his success in an election in which he was the only candidate of the Progressive party to be elected.

The question who will be governor is open, and may have to be settled in the courts. There is no provision in constitution or law for dealing with the situation created by Mr. Loomis' death.

In the death of Mr. Loomis the Progressive party not only lost its last tie-hold in the government of the state, but a leader who could have been the nucleus of effort to build it up so that it might have an important part in the election of 1944.

Contemporary Opinion

State budget chiefs have estimated that revenues in the next fiscal year are likely to fall off at least $17,000,000. This is a conservative figure and even, considering the $6,000,000 surplus cushion that has been built up recently, there is no prospect that the state will be able to carry appropriations at the level of the current biennium.

In view of these developments it may be hoped that special pressure groups will forego their usual demands for more and more revenues. The approaching years are not ripe for advances in allotments to meet demands of school, old age pension and other groups.

War conditions promise curtailments in income for the state which may be far more drastic than is now anticipated. With many commodities out of circulation and with production of civilian goods following a descending curve it can hardly be expected that sales taxes will be maintained at current levels.

One thing about a fireplace: You don't have to own a ration book to keep it going. Heating engineers may moan about inefficiency and meticulous housewives may groan about wood ashes, but a good many folk are thankful now if they have a hearth and the firewood to feed it.

Like all the arts, fire-tending calls for patience and tolerance. Patience with the sizzling log and the slow flame. Kindling makes a quick heat and a fine flare, but lasting warmth comes from the leisurely fire and the bed of embers.

Thirty Years Ago

At a meeting of St. Cecilia court, W. C. O. F., the following officers were elected: Chief ranger, Della Klamert; vice-chief ranger, Almina Vadnais; recording secretary, Emma Henne; financial secretary, Julia Sharland; treasurer, Evelina Bureau; trustees, Adele Gauthier; conductors, Elizabeth Toussaint, Edvil LaFortune; sentinels, Georgina Morris, Modeste Grogioire.

Fred Donckers has added an electric peanut roaster of modern design to the equipment of his confectionery and cigar store. George W. Stannard, of Rockland, who has been visiting at the home of S. S. Ormsbee for a few days, has returned home.

Albert Trathen departed for the Mascot mine in the Michipocoten district of Canada, where he will be employed as a blacksmith. Mrs. Mary Pascoe, district deputy and supreme president of the Daughters of St. George, left for Trimountain to install officers of Duke of Wellington lodge, as well as to exemplify the unwritten work.

At the regular meeting of Hematite camp, Modern Woodmen of America, the following officers were elected: Venerable consul, S. M. Collick; worthy adviser, C. Holmgren; clerk, August Carlson; banker, J. T. W. Luty; escort, Joseph Pryor; sentry, James Williams; watonian, Arvid Swanson. George Harris, janitor of the Carnegie public library, has been invested with police authority by Mayor Barnett.

Guiseppe Mazzini, the Italian socialist, will be offered as follows during the ensuing term: Present, Josep Gambetto; vice-president, Santo DeSanto; recording secretary, Peter Innocenti; financial secretary, Dominic Francenchisa; treasurer, Dominic Dighera. Miss Pauline Adams has returned from a visit with Dr. R. E. Drake's family in Ann Arbor.

Newly elected officers of Iron Mountain lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, follow: Noble grand, Arthur Kelley; vice-grand, Chester Peterson; recording secretary, A. F. Rogers; financial secretary, David Grigg; treasurer, Robert G. Jackson. Jerry Bennett, veteran driver of one of Neegaunee's hose teams, is ill and confined to his home. Louis Mall is temporarily filling his position.

Stassen On 40-Hour Law

Gov. Stassen of Minnesota seems to be that rare man in public life who puts thought into what he says. And the political motives are not sticking out like knots on his declaration. If they are there, they are well concealed.

Gov. Stassen realizes the need for a longer work week. But he would not try to get it by a "blunt, thoughtless repeal of the 40 hour law," thus creating more troublesome problems than are made by the law itself.

There is good sense to that. The values of the 40 hour law—values that will be needed again in the days of peace—would be kept intact. The immense problems involved in any reduction of wages that came about through the repeal of the law would be avoided.

Football Too Horrible Nearly 30 years after I had attended college I went to a house party at Princeton on the occasion of the annual football game with Gibbons, historian and journalist, journalist, and Sir Bahindranath Tagore was one of the party.

There were many intrigues between Americans and high French officers. There is nothing glorious in the landing—Mussolini, ex-cusing Africa invasion to Italians.

In all my 50 years of public service I have never seen a document that was more crowded with falsehoods and distortions of fact than the one before me. It was a note, it read: "Just a little while ago I visited you for something like a half-hour minus my collar and tie.

There was no country can remain aloof in this conflict, and it is the duty of all nations to lend their assistance for the victory of the democratic ideal.—President Juan Antonio Rios of neutrals Chile.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Now that Paul McNutt has been appointed man-power administrator it is possible to discuss the many currents of support and opposition that appeared behind the scenes in the last few weeks while the appointment was under consideration.

Some said Mr. McNutt would be a political machine for presidential aspirations in 1944. Some said he would yield to this or that group influence and couldn't be as firm as an administrator had to be.

All in all President Roosevelt heard plenty of comments about the manpower control post but in the end he gave it to the man who has been trying as head of the war manpower commission to do an adequate job with inadequate authority.

The objections to Mr. McNutt will in time answer themselves. If anybody charged with the task of handling manpower in America can come out of it by 1944 without making many enemies as there are people employed in America and still maintain a political strength, such a superman deserves to be president for he will be a man capable of performing miracles.

Manpower control is a military problem, a labor problem, a business and industrial problem and above all a human problem. If it is to be administered by anybody it must be by a man with only one segment of vision obtained in only one category. Thus, the military personnel have dominated some key posts in the selective service and they have not helped matters much by their arbitrariness. Also,

Another Ration

The latest news from Washington says that the Treasury Department and the Office of Economic Stabilization are studying methods of rationing spending money. Each week, savings coupon slips are issued which would receive a certain amount of ration coupons under this plan, which would permit him to buy the bare necessities of life tax-free.

Gov. Stassen realizes the need for a longer work week. But he would not try to get it by a "blunt, thoughtless repeal of the 40 hour law," thus creating more troublesome problems than are made by the law itself.

Side Glances

"Would it be rude to ask those other women to keep quiet? I used to enjoy the gossip, but now that I'm doing all my own housework, I come here to relax!"

The Edge Of Darkness

Breathless, they stared at Gunnar, each man feeling a chill of anticipation, and then they crowded up, admiring, hoarse with questions.

"Look here," he said. "It was only one ship firing. It wasn't shooting at the moon, but at something that doesn't fire back, either an unarmed merchant ship, which you all know is impossible, or a submarine on the surface, which is answering with torpedoes."

"Of course a submarine," Maliken interrupted. "I had to find out two things, who won the battle, and whether the winner was German or English."

"And now you know?" "Yes. The ship was sunk by a torpedo. That is why the guns stopped firing. For I knew when the planes went out, that if the ship was still afloat it would tell us. An English ship would have fired at the planes. A German ship would have sent up a recognition signal. But I watched and there was no signal."

"Ja, ja, the ship was sunk," they cried impatiently. "So the winner was the submarine. He went on after a moment, 'but was it German or English? If it was German, and had sunk an English ship, it would have stayed on the surface, and when the planes came, radiated them, or signaled with a light, and the planes would have gone back to sea again, hunting. Therefore the submarine is English.'"

"So, the pastor said, 'so from a few gunflashes, you know the whole story.' "Gunnar and three planes," Gunnar murmured and turned away, embarrassed by their open admiration.

They were friendless and alone, cut off in the midst of the enemy, knowing that somewhere across that waste there might be help, strained every sense outward for a watch. Not one man doubted this was the night they had been waiting for.

Gunnar had the glass. It was four minutes after one by the doctor's watch when out on the vast, unbroken black of the horizon he saw a faint pinpoint of light that started and was gone.

Parents May Be Resentful Of Youth's Doings

(By MANTHEI HOWE)

More and more as we find ourselves facing general and personal problems arising as a result of the war, one is conscious of a tension and impatience among people. It's especially true in adults' relation to the young folk.

Those young folk have their special problems, too, and unfortunately, by reason of the way they have been reared in the past generation, they are not always able to make decisions promptly and correctly. Though the older folk will squirm and dislike taking the blame, the fault is really theirs.

Reins Have Been Too Loose

For a generation there has been a tendency to renege completely the old adage: "Spare the rod and spoil the child."

Now I am not at all in favor of spankings for this, that, and the other minor misdemeanor. So this is no least suggestion of bringing back the rod, but it is suggestion that we might well recognize the value of the principle implied—the virtue of obedience to reasonable suggestion.

More than once in the past decade readers must have resented things said in this column about the fallacy of permitting daughters to have expensive formal and silk stockings at the expense of the other members in the family getting proper food.

In the fear of curbing children with too tight a rein and developing frustrations (in which there is a real hazard) we have tended to permit the youngsters to do as they jolly will pleased.

Adults Weren't So Smart

In a misguided effort to make them independent, some families have laid down few if any rules that must be obeyed for the sake of the good of all members of the family. Some youngsters, aggressive and ambitious, have developed a hard core of selfishness, and with the encouragement of their families because it seems to promise material success.

Now one will concede that in this world, with its highly competitive spirit one cannot afford to condition children to being too yielding, too sensitive, but in attempting to make them confident and independent, there has not always been an equally strong direction in keeping them from becoming too selfish.

And now when war dumps problems into the laps of the young folk and they react in what seems to adult perspective (and is) a thoroughly selfish manner, the adults squirm, then become highly indignant, and finally blow up saying things that might better be left unsaid at that moment.

Have No Other Choice

War demands of all of us a willingness to face situations and accept them, even though it may be difficult. If we are to win this war we shall have to set aside the luxury of doing as we individuals jolly well pleased, and we shall have to master the lesson of doing the exacting and disagreeable thing that is the thing necessary for the good of all of us.

We shall have to instill in the children (and that will have to be by the adults' example as well as spoken precepts) the spirit of cooperation, of offering our services, of sacrificing some personal ambitions, not for what we are going to get out of it in a material way, but because that action is the one we ought to take.

In the past some parents, completely converted to the idea of personal freedom, have disliked the idea of training their children to say "Yes, sir" or "No, Mrs. Smith," when answering the questions of adults. Those parents have not recognized the old formal replies as a training in graciousness, but have felt they smacked of subservience.

And more than one buck private mustered into the Army has found one of the hardest things to do was to say: "Yes, sir" to the officers with whom he spoke. That "sir" tricked the cocky lads who had been reared with the idea of too great an accent on freedom and not enough emphasis of the thought that freedom brings obligations and responsibilities.

Can't See The Whole Picture

More than one fellow in the Army has become temporarily soured on military service because he had planned to marry on a certain date (when he was supposed to have free hours) and the whole arrangements had to be upset, and maybe his company was shipped out of the country. He makes a personal issue out of a general situation which, because of its general nature, would not permit of any individual exceptions.

And to just the degree in which his training had neglected to make him feel responsibility toward others than his self, to that degree will he be indignantly and blindly resentful, and mayhap get himself in trouble by his attitude.

Naturally life won't be getting easier as war continues. Standards of living will have to change materially in many instances. There will be financial worries due to the cost of living rising more rapidly and steeply than salaries and wages in many instances.

Folk who never earned more than a hundred dollars a month before and who are now earning double that sum in various jobs in munitions or other war industries, do not know how to spend or save intelligently. They sometimes squander that money foolishly.

Things we have been accustomed to we shall have to, in some instances, do without.

But it seems to me that the most difficult problems engendered by the war are those of personal relationships. Parents need a tremen-

Society-Club

Annual Party—The Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 2439, and its auxiliary will sponsor a Christmas party, December 20, in the Odd Fellows hall. Members whose children want to take part in the program are asked to telephone Mrs. Harold Beckman, 426.

Appoints Chairman — Mrs. C. A. Brennan, executive chairman of the war bonds sale, has appointed Mrs. Murray Moon to the position Mrs. Brennan formerly held, chairman of the women's division of the war bond sales. Miss Melissa Delf is regular co-chairman.

Party, Meeting—The ladies' auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars will hold its Christmas party with the exchange of gifts, at 6:30 tonight in the Gravenet high school. Members are reminded of the contributions for the Christmas baskets to be brought this evening. The regular business meeting will be held at 8.

Fancy Work Sale—A sale will be held at 8 tonight in the Aalto hall. Among the articles, which will be suitable for Christmas giving, will be various kinds of fancy work including pillow slips with embroidered and crocheted trim, all kinds of aprons and mittens. An exceptionally attractive quilt will be on display. Throughout the evening coffee and homemade coffee cakes will be served for a small charge.

Christmas Meeting — The Woman's Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church will hold its Christmas meeting at 2:30 Friday afternoon. Members are reminded to bring gifts for the Caspian House box. These should be articles suitable for boys and girls in the 5 to 12 years group. There is also a call for dish towels made of flour sacks and yarns of different kinds that can be used for Girl Scout knitting.

Excelsior Lodge Notes Jubilee, Elects Officers

Excelsior lodge, No. 6, Ladies' Society to the Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, held a luncheon in observance of its fiftieth anniversary Tuesday afternoon in the Knights of Columbus hall.

The 36 members attending were seated at one long table which had as its centerpiece the three-tiered birthday cake decorated in gold and white. At either side stood 25 lighted golden candles.

There are three charter members of the lodge, Mrs. Martha Foulke and Mrs. Minnie Thomas, who were seated at either side of the table opposite the birthday cake, and Mrs. R. Reinhardt, who is in Chicago, and from whom a congratulatory telegram was received. Charter members present cut the cake and were presented with gold pins.

Place cards and other table appointments accented the golden anniversary motif.

Following the lunch the regular meeting was held and these officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Elsie C. Ross; vice-president, Mrs. Mabel MacPherson; secretary, Mrs. Mabel Burton; collector, Mrs. Edith Hocking; treasurer, Mrs. Mary Fassbender; chaplain, Mrs. Alma Weiland; warden, Mrs. Victoria Nadeau; conductress, Mrs. Olive Todd; inner guard, Mrs. Blanch Lantto; outer guard, Mrs. Ruth Ross; flag bearer, Mrs. Mabel Danielson; musicians, Mrs. Florence Armstrong; delegate, Mrs. Elsie Ross, with Mrs. Mabel MacPherson, alternate; magazine correspondent, Mrs. Mabel Burton; trustees, Mrs. Mabel MacPherson, Mrs. Mabel Danielson and Mrs. Agnes Clement.

ous fund of patience, and, in instances where they have not reared the 18 and 19 year olds as wisely as they should have, they need to do a better job on the youngsters now in school.

However, adults need not expect to accomplish anything along this line unless they give a practical demonstration, in their own conduct, of the principles they talk about. We need more practical application of democracy and a richer spiritual outlook on life. And it is up to the adults to chart that way of living.

Children's Clinic Patients Will Receive Gifts

Ahmed Temple will sponsor a stag party at 8 Friday evening in the Masonic hall. Indubitably the party will be fun for the members—but more important it will be the means of contributing cheer for the children at the Northern Michigan Children's clinic.

For two years the Temple has sponsored this worthy project and one suspects that the big fellows enjoyed so much the idea of playing Santa Claus, that they have been eagerly awaiting this year's announcement of the stag party.

All Shriners are invited to attend, and no current card is necessary. The program for the evening includes a "smoker," games, and a turkey lunch, serving of which will begin at 9:30.

Bring 25-Cent Gift
But this is the special item to note: Each Shriner is asked to give a 25-cent gift or the cash so the committee may make the purchase. About 70 children, representing every county in the Upper Peninsula, are to receive the presents. This year the greatest need is gifts for boys and girls in 7 to 18 years groups.

Shriners are reminded to wear the fez, and the 25-cent gift is the admission card. Those who plan to make money contributions instead of the gift, are asked to make checks payable to Ahmed Temple's Christmas fund.

Despite the fact that gas rationing is tying up most cars, it is believed that there will be an extra large attendance for this 1942 get-together is the kind of evening needed to lift the spirits and remind folk that there are kinder things than war that deserve some attention, too. Obviously this is to be an evening of good fellowship and real fun.

WBA Elects Its Officers for 1942

The Woman's Benefit association, at its recent meeting, elected the following officers for the ensuing year:

President, Mrs. Ruby Giroux; vice-president, Mrs. Lillian Vashaw; acting past president, Mrs. Irma Verquist; financial secretary, Mrs. Louise Johnson; recording secretary, Mrs. Minnie Koopp; treasurer, Mrs. Emma Carey; lady of ceremonies, Mrs. Gladys Naylor; chaplain, Mrs. Barbara White; sergeant, Mrs. Frances O'Dette; inner hostess, Mrs. Ali Owens; outer hostess, Mrs. Myrtle Belmont; press correspondent, Mrs. Ruby Groux; junior supervisor, Mrs. Mary Dupras; fraternal welfare supervisor, Mrs. Irma Berquist; musician, Miss Valma Buschell; captain of the guard, Mrs. Lillian Vashaw; card bearers, Mrs. Anne Dupont, Miss Mary Bernard; officer of the day, Mrs. Clara Easley.

Weddings

Remillard-LaFonde
Miss Lorraine LaFonde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. LaFonde, 1201 North Front street, was married to Pvt. Paul Remillard, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Remillard, 343 Bluff street, on Saturday, December 5, in Kansas City. The groom is stationed at Fort Riley, Kansas. The bride, who attended the Northern Michigan College of Education for two years, is now employed in the Marquette office of the Michigan Bell Telephone company and will return before Christmas to resume her work.

Mary Dickerson Donahey, Known To U. P. Clubwomen, Writes New And Delightful Children's Book

Mary Dickerson Donahey, who for many years has spent part of each summer at her cottage at Grand Marais (for awhile living in the Teepee Weenies barrel house), is well known to many of the club women of the Peninsula. She has written many books for children, but her 1942 story, "Apple Pie Inn," just off the press, is her first juvenile in some years and it is perfectly delightful.

It is written about, and for, 'teen age readers. The incidents of the story are laid in a small town, and the book itself was written in Grand Marais. All characters are fictitious, but Mrs. Donahey, who has an inimitable gift for story-telling, makes the whole plot sound most realistic.

Fortunes Change

Letty Lee Lester, accustomed to living in affluent circumstances in a city, has, because of her father's ill health and the decrease in family fortunes, had to accompany her parents to a farm near a little town.

Prospects look a bit unpromising until she chances to meet Barry Stephan. Barry, whose real name is Elizabeth Barrett Browning Stephan, has always been poor, judged from money standards, but she is one of those capable, jolly, healthy youngsters who might be a prize winner in a 4-H club contest.

She and Letty Lee meet because Mrs. Langtry, the Stephens' jersey cow, has gone trespassing.

The two young girls are mutually attracted, immediately strike up one of those friendships that mean so much to young folk and, as the acquaintance progresses, Letty is introduced to an entirely new and exciting way of living.

Is Happy Family

The Stephan family reside in the "haunted house," in which they are living rent-free because no one else would brave the "haunts," but the youngsters have never seen one single ghost (much to Letty's disappointment) and have succeeded in making the neglected old place look like a real home.

The family includes Barry, her brother, Alec; their sister, Theodosia; and the mother, who, because of an accident in which a tree fell and injured her back, has been confined to a wheel-chair, but really shares honors with Barry as being the heroine of the story. The plot has its hero, too, Beaver Blair, and its villains, Landlord Jaster, and Callahan and Miles; and delightful characters like old Dr. Barton who had such thick eyebrows and was so baldheaded that he looked as though all his locks had slipped off his dome and settled on his eyebrows.

By dint of every one in the Stephan family working cheerfully and diligently the family had managed to eat, even if the menu often lacked variety and there were a lot of bills to pay. They had shelter now that they lived in the old house, but there was no ready cash with which to buy or replace articles that wore out.

Gets Bright Ideas

The Stephens refused to accept charity, but friendly neighbors persisted in bringing to them apple sauce, spiced apples, ripe apples in such quantities (because it was a good apple year) that the family was afraid it would have to go on an all-apple diet, and then—Letty Lester suggested the operating of "Apple Pie Inn."

There are obstacles in the way of the new business venture and those obstacles form the incidents in a plot, the interest of which is maintained as well as if it were a blood and thunder mystery story. Such is Mrs. Donahey's story-telling skill that even the older than 'teen age readers will finish the book "just to see how it all comes out."

Most persons likely, without being in the least aware of it, put a great deal of their own experiences, their philosophy of living, their personality, into any story they write. Those who know Mrs. Donahey will, when reading the story, be reminded of that.

The author's interest in people, her lack of snobishness, her healthy sense of humor, and a buoyancy of temperament, are glimpsed in this book, even though it is for juveniles.

Has Brisk Style

Mrs. Donahey never makes the mistake of writing down to her reader. There is plenty of plot to the story and the style is clean-cut and concise though the age of the readers for which the book is written is 13 to 15 or thereabouts and, naturally, vocabulary and sentence structure are not too involved.

There is a gaiety, a wholesome common sense about the book, that is refreshing and the story makes delightful reading. It's the kind of a book that might be fun to read to one's self or aloud. All the characters are not all sweetness and light; there is no namby-pamby preaching, but neither is there any backing away from tribute paid to old-fashioned virtues.

The book jacket is apple green

Cooking Class Sends Christmas Boxes

Yesterday afternoon Christmas packages, prepared by the members of the advanced cooking class Gravenet high school, were mailed to former pupils of the high school who are now in military service.

Thirty-two lads will receive these boxes. Each contains fruit cake, Christmas cookies, popcorn balls, and dates, and maybe you think those boxes won't make hit with the former schoolmates the advanced cooking class! The fruit cakes are wrapped in cellophane paper and tied with cellophane ribbons and each cookie wrapped separately.

'8 et 40' Holds Christmas Party

Mrs. Marie Connors and Mrs. Mary Smith were hostesses to the "8 et 40" at the Christmas dinner party held at 6:30 Tuesday night in the Connors' home, 215 West College avenue.

The Yule motif was accented in the centerpiece for the table and place cards were Christmas tree cookies with the name cards attached.

At the meeting following the dinner, Miss August Primeau installed Mrs. Hortense McCall as chaplain and Mrs. Minnie Fredeen, as secretary. Department appointments included Mrs. Helen Vierling, state chairman of activities committee; Mrs. Margaret Evon on the publicity committee, and Miss August Primeau a member of the special child welfare program committee of the department.

At the conclusion of the meeting Ramona McCann and Thomas Connors distributed the Christmas gifts. The evening ended with playing of games for which prizes were awarded.

Mrs. Armina Armstrong and Miss Josephine Beaudry will be hostess at the next meeting.

Detroit Tigers, Leaving Chain Store Business, Sell Beaumont Club

Dispose Of All Other Properties

DETROIT, Dec. 9.—The Detroit Tigers, once one of baseball's foremost owners of minor league teams, are going out of the chain store business with the sale of their top feeder club and sole remaining property of a former extensive farm system.

Ernest (Dutch) Lorbeer, president of the Beaumont Exporters of Texas league, today disclosed that Detroit club likewise has come around to the working agreement to be contrasted to chain store operations as exemplified by the ast holdings of the St. Louis Cardinals.

"We believe the future of minor league baseball lies in local ownership," Zeller has often said. "In my view, particularly, there is no reason for big league teams to own and operate farm ventures because there is no chance to develop young talent, be a reason for fans, is eliminated by the draft."

Beaumont Won $2 Pennant
The Tigers paid $40,000 for the Beaumont franchise in 1930, but the club poured many times that amount into the farm to wipe out deficits. Two years ago Beaumont was an enormously heavy loser, but last season attendance picked up and the team won the pennant.

The Detroit club once owned several hundred minor league players. They lost 90 in Commissioner C. M. Landis' historic fire agency ruling of 1940, and the stock has ever been replenished.

Air Transport Fleet Key To African Drive

The British managed to get a heavy night raid on the airfield, and before mid-morning virtually the whole ground personnel and much of the equipment were headed for the new base. Major James L. Lee, 30, Carlton, Minn., is chief of staff of the transport command here, and the former dispatches of the Northwest Airlines is proud of his pilots.

They're All Outstanding
Singing out individuals in the transport command for mention is tough because the fliers insist they are all doing the same job, but the whole outfit reveres its commanding officer—48-year-old veteran who has been flying everything the Army Air Corps has had since 1917 from OX-5 to A-20 bombers. He trained hundreds of pilots in the last war.

They are also proud of their operations officer, Captain John "Luce" Williams, 36, Ninety Six, S. C. He was with Brig. Gen. Claire Chennault in the Army's famed flying trapeze aerial acrobatic outfit and later flew for China before Chennault founded the AVG. He helped fly parachute troops into the Tunis area, but his greatest feat still is that "this damned war is going to end before I get a chance to do any real fighting."

Down Sports Trail

By Whitney Martin

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Here's a little more oil from the oil country. It beats all how those Tulsa football fans stand back of their undefeated team. If they'll just stand back of them about 10 deep on the Sugar Bowl field New Year's day it might help a lot. Those Tennessee Vols really are tough.

Anyway, we have another communication from the land of the hurricane, and it comes from a gent we've known off and on for 25 years, and in whom we never detect any signs of baldness, nor any tendency to jump on a band wagon before finding out what the parade was all about.

Classmate of Whitney
Glenn was exposed to education at Coe college the same time we were, only it took with him. It was about the time the Devine boys were making some football history at Iowa, so his reference to the Hawkeyes of that era is understandable.

Frosh Rule Retained By Conference

By Dave Hoff
CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—P—The Big Ten's faculty representatives today voted to delay action on making freshmen eligible for varsity teams, but reserved the right to meet again on 24-hour notice any time a critical shortage of athletic manpower develops.

By tabling a proposal to abandon the freshman rule, a measure for which many of the representatives held a sympathetic attitude, the control group kept the issue alive, but agreed there was no need to use first-year men at this time.

Prof. Ralph W. Aigler, Michigan, newly-elected president, and Prof. Frank E. Richard, Illinois, secretary of the group, discussed the meeting and said that varying reports on how rapidly the teen-age university students would be called to the armed forces resulted in the motion to table the proposal.

14 Parking Violators Get Police Tags

ISHPEMING, Dec. 9—Ishpeming policemen working on the night shift are doing their best to emphasize to the driving public the winter parking ordinance is being enforced.

After the original announcement that 22 tags had been left in parked cars, summoning drivers to municipal court, police thought the "business" would slump. But in the last three nights the officers have tagged 14 cars, six of them last night.

"We do not like to repeat statements, or make it appear we are 'wielding a big stick,' but there are two things," Chief Nestor Eckloff said today, "we are doing our best to impress on motorists.

Weather Not a Factor

"One is that no matter how nice the weather is and how remote a storm might appear, parking cars on public streets all night is unlawful. We don't ask people to be weather forecasters. We simply advise them to keep cars off the streets during the night.

"The other is that some persons think the ordinance applies only to residential sections. It applies to downtown streets, as well. We have a record of a man who parked his car downtown and walked home so he wouldn't be tagged for all-night parking—and he didn't like it when he found his ticket the next morning."

Obituary

Miss Aini Laituri

ISHPEMING, Dec. 9—Funeral services for Miss Aini Laituri (Matsun), who died in the Newberry State hospital, will be held at 2 Thursday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Jose, Vine street. The Rev. Mr. Hattula, Negaunee, will officiate.

Ryan Funeral

ISHPEMING, Dec. 9—Funeral services for Elizabeth Ryan, who died Tuesday, will be held Thursday at 9 a. m. in St. John's church with interment in St. John's cemetery. Pall bearers will be Eugene and Thomas Hughes, John and Francis Murray, and William and James Ryan.

Doney Funeral

ISHPEMING, Dec. 9—Funeral services for Mrs. James Doney, Sr., will be held at 2:30 Thursday afternoon in Bjork's funeral home, the Rev. Reuben Pearson, of the Bethany Lutheran church, officiating. Interment will be made in the Ishpeming cemetery.

Pall bearers will be Charles Swahn, John Holm, Henry Carlson, Lloyd Swanson, Harry Helstrom and Olaf Tronson.

Mrs. Jeremiah Harrington

ISHPEMING, Dec. 9—Mrs. Jeremiah Harrington, the former Minnie Redmond, died in Dearborn, Mich., this morning after a brief illness, relatives were informed today. Born in Ishpeming 66 years ago,

SHADED by a demolished Nazi tank, this grave, topped by helmet and rifle cross, about which hangs an identification tag, marks the last resting place of a German desert soldier. "E" on tank means it had been completely "exterminated" and contains no explosives to act as "booby trap" for unwary Allied soldiers.

Mrs. Harrington had made her home here until five years ago when she and Mr. Harrington left to make their home with relatives in Dearborn. While in Ishpeming Mrs. Harrington was an active member of St. John's church.

She leaves her husband, two sisters, Mrs. Ed Hickey, Ishpeming, and Mrs. Frank Lambrecht, Butte, Mont.; five brothers, Tom Redmond, Ishpeming; Steve Redmond, Gwinn; John Redmond, Hibbing, Minn.; James Redmond, Butte, Mont.; and Peter Redmond, Milwaukee; a daughter, Mrs. Arnold Chevrette, Dearborn, and a son, Edward Harrington, Chicago.

Funeral services will be conducted in Dearborn Saturday morning. Steve Redmond will attend the services.

Weddings

Pryor-Holmgren
ISHPEMING, Dec. 9—Miss Anita M. Pryor, daughter of Mrs. Mary Pryor, 635 East Vine street, became the bride of Pvt. Leslie F. Holmgren, son of Gust Holmgren, 458 West Empire street, at 7:30 Monday evening, November 30.

The ceremony was performed at a candle light service in the Bethany Lutheran church, the Rev. C. Reuben Pearson, officiating. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pryor, brother and sister-in-law of the bride.

The bride wore a street-length dress of luggage tan, and a gold necklace, her mother wore at her wedding 61 years ago. Her corsage was of yellow roses and mums. The bridesmaid wore a street-length dark green dress and Irlite beads, a gift of the bride. Her corsage was similar to the bride's.

The bride's mother wore a powder blue dress and corsage of pink roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Holmgren is employed in the Ishpeming hospital. Sgt. Holmgren is serving in the U. S. Army at Camp Blanding, Fla. He was home on a 14-day furlough.

Nelson Gets Leave After African Duty

ISHPEMING, Dec. 9—Commander Roger Nelson, U. S. N., son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Nelson, North Main street, is expected to arrive within a short time to visit his parents. He is on leave after thrilling experiences in connection with the American invasion of North Africa.

Commander Nelson is now in De Pere, Wis., with his wife and her parents, after a short visit in Milwaukee.

He was executive officer of the U. S. transport Rutledge when it was sunk off Casablanca during the invasion.

One of the heroic roles of the crew was the delivery of 38 men in sick bay while the ship was sinking.

"There were 38 men in the 'sick bay' of the Rutledge when it arrived off Casablanca and discharged its landing forces," he said. "Under each sick man's bunk was a stretcher and to each stretcher two men were assigned.

"The transport was torpedoed some time after the soldiers aboard had gone ashore. The lights of the ship went out and it began to sink rapidly. In the darkness the 38 men were taken off safely in small boats specially set aside for them."

Diplomatic Liaison Work Recommended for Latins

NEW YORK, Dec. 9—P—The United States should assign to Latin American allies a major role in war diplomacy liaison work in Spain and Portugal, Edwin D. Canham, managing editor of the Christian Science Monitor, declared today at the fourth annual Maria Moors Cabot convocation.

The convocation at Columbia university was the occasion for the conferring of the Maria Moors Cabot prizes in journalism to three newspapers and their editors for outstanding promotion of inter-American friendship.

The awards went to Canham and the Christian Science Monitor, Boston; to Dr. Angel Bohigas, managing editor of La Nacion of Buenos Aires, who accepted it on behalf of the publisher, Dr. Luis Mitre, and to Dr. Alberto Las Placas, foreign editor of El Dia of Montevideo, Uruguay, who received it on behalf of Dr. Lorenzi Battle Pacheco. The presentations were made by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia.

Gas Coupon Bootlegging Charged Against Clerk

DETROIT, Dec. 9—P—The first Michigan case charging bootlegging of gasoline ration coupons came to light today when A. Burns Smith, volunteer clerk of a Dearborn rationing board, was accused by the Office of Price Administration of selling "C" coupons. He was arrested on a charge of theft of Government property.

Smith, who is employed in a war plant, sold two sheets of eight coupons to fellow workers at $3 a sheet and gave five to another co-worker to sell on a commission basis, according to Samuel B. Ostrow, senior OPA enforcement attorney, who said this was the first case of its kind.

Conviction could result in the maximum penalty of five years' imprisonment and $5,000 fine.

Information Quiz

QW—Why is Dakar so important to us?

A—Its location on the western bulge of Africa, across from the bulge of Brazil, makes it the shortest over-sea flying route between the Old World and the Americas. It also lies athwart equally important steamship route which could be threatened if the Axis controlled Dakar.

Q—What filly won the Kentucky Derby?

A—Harry Payne Whitney's Regret in 1915.

Q—What abundant spice makes a good substitute for cinnamon, nutmeg or cloves?

A—Allspice, from the nearby West Indies. Use it in equal amounts.

Q—The U. S. Marine Corps is a branch of which of these organizations—the Army, the Navy, the Coast Guard, the Maritime Commission?

A—The Navy.

Q—Would the Government lose income through adoption of the Ruml plan to excuse a year's taxes?

A—Theoretically yes. However, it is argued that actually there would be no loss because, with taxes collected in advance, there would be no huge unpaid taxes, as there now are.

RETIRE ENGINEER DIES

CHICAGO, Dec. 9—P—John W. Woorman, 74, principal senior engineer in the United States engineer's office here for 17 years until he retired in 1939, died today at his home. He was an authority on midwest river and harbor improvements.

Grace Church Women To Meet Friday

ISHPEMING, Dec. 9—Important affairs of the church will be discussed at a joint meeting of the Woman's auxiliary and the Guild of Grace Episcopal church at 2:30 Friday afternoon. All women of the congregation are being urged to attend.

The meeting will be followed, at 3:30, by a program to which the public is invited and to which women of the church are asked to invite their friends.

There will be a puppet show, directed by John Allen and Jimmy Ham, a reading, "The First Christmas Tree," by Mrs. Lewis Keast, and special Christmas music.

Hostesses are Mrs. Oscar Sandell, Mrs. Francis Bell, Mrs. Grace Cowpland and Miss Mary Outhwaite.

Detroit Population Gain Causing Food Shortage

DETROIT, Dec. 9—P—Facing a drastic shortage of meat and a 50 per cent less than normal butter supply, the city of Detroit is suffering from a combination of rationing and growing pains. In both cases, authorities name the city's increased population of 336,000 as a partial cause of shortages.

The Detroit Chamber of Commerce today appealed to the War Production Board and the Office of Price Administration to relax regulations covering quotas of controlled meats—lamb, pork, beef and veal—in this area.

Grapefruit Designated As 'Victory Food'

ISHPEMING, Dec. 9 — In line with the program of efficient utilization of food reserves, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has designated fresh grapefruit as a "Victory Food" special for the 10-day period ending December 12.

S. M. Cohodas, Ishpeping, today said grapefruit are plentiful in Marquette county, that the quality is excellent now and prices are the most moderate the public may expect.

Record Production
This popular citrus fruit is being produced in record quantities this year. First estimates of the current season's grapefruit crop indicate production to be slightly in excess of 45,000,000 boxes, an increase of 17 per cent over last season's supply and approximately 13,000,000 boxes in excess of the average production in the previous five years.

Florida is expected to produce more than half of the 1942 grapefruit crop, an estimated 25,000,000 boxes, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Texas ranks second with about 15,000,000 boxes, with production concentrated in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. The balance is produced primarily in the California-Arizona area.

Rich In Vitamins
Grapefruit is popular throughout the nation because of its food value. The Bureau of Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports that the fruit is a good source of two vitamins in the B family—thiamine the nerve-strengthening morale vitamin, and riboflavin — necessary for health and normal growth. It is also a good source of vitamin C, necessary for building bones, teeth and gums. With grapefruit in relative abundance, American homemakers are urged by the Department of Agriculture to use it in large quantities and at the same time to curtail purchases of other foods which are in limited supply and needed to fill the requirements of the armed forces.

Diphtheria Real Threat In Michigan at Present

LANSING, Dec. 9.—P.—The state health department gave public warning today in a bulletin that "diphtheria is a real threat in Michigan at present, and an outbreak anywhere in the state can reach epidemic proportions."

Dr. H. Allen Moyer, commissioner, said he was concerned because "cases of diphtheria are being reported to us from all sections of Michigan." He added, "this is an indication that the diphtheria bacillus is widely scattered. If the disease gets a good start in a poorly immunized community, an outbreak of serious proportions may result."

He cautioned that early symptoms in children frequently are not alarming, and that usually the child merely appears listless, has a moderate fever and a sore throat. Early administration of anti-toxin may be a life-saving measure, the commissioner said. He recommended immunization of children under the age of 9.

Meter Tells Speed Of Ocean Currents

WASHINGTON—The U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey has developed a meter which broadcasts the speed and direction of ocean currents by automatic wireless. It was designed for use in areas where it is difficult to hold a ship still long enough to make an observation.

The meter, suspended from a specially stabilized buoy, is contained in a torpedo-shaped case which aligns itself with the current. A four-bladed propeller-like device is whirled by the current and drives a contact mechanism which in turn operates a small radio broadcasting the speed. A compass mechanism with two sets of contact points provides the direction signals.

War Plant in Detroit Closed by Walkout

DETROIT, Dec. 9.—P.—The No. 1 plant of the Bohn Aluminum and Brass company here, engaged in producing war material, closed today after some 1,900 men walked out and a company official said the move apparently was in protest against failure of the War Labor Board to approve a wage increase.

Workers disregarded an appeal by Fred Williams, president of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) local, that they return to their jobs. Stephen DenUyl, secretary-treasurer of the company, said some 1,200 men on a day shift quit work and that 700 on the afternoon shift followed suit. DenUyl said company and union agreed upon wage adjustments October 5, and that after he made a trip to Washington for advice, a letter signed by company and union officials was sent to the War Labor Board.

Today, DenUyl said, he received a mimeographed notice from the regional W.L.B. office stating the request for wage adjustments "must be made out on form 10." One copy of form 10 was sent to the company.

"We need 27 copies to do this in a legal manner," DenUyl said, "and I understand that they do not have that many copies to give us."

NCAA Cage Program To Be Carried On

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—P.—H. G. Olsen, Ohio State cage coach and chairman of the National Collegiate Athletic association's basketball committee, said today the NCAA cage program undoubtedly would be carried on as usual in 1943.

Addressing the Chicago Basketball Writers' association, Olsen said no official decision on the tournament would be made until later in the winter and would depend on world conditions, but that plans were underway to conduct the nation-wide event.

1,500 Pairs Of Silk Hose Salvage Goal

ISHPEMING, Dec. 9.—The Ishpeping salvage committee would like to make a Christmas gift to men in the armed services in the shape of 1,500 pairs of discarded silk hosiery.

The salvage group has authority to hold all hosiery until units of 100 pounds can be shipped and it requires, leaders revealed today, 1,500 pairs to weigh that much.

Men of the community were invited to "join in" by discarding old silk hose. Stations have been placed in most of the stores and men merely have to drop discarded washed hose in convenient containers.

Lag After Opening Rush

"We had a rush of 'business' the first few days after the project was announced," said Mrs. Spencer Holden, chairman, "but it has lagged off late and while we do not want men or women to discard serviceable hose we want to remind them that if the salvage material is available, we would like to make our first shipment during December."

W. H. Norman, city chairman, commenting that it might be quite a jump from hosiery to jalopies, reminded the public that the jalopy campaign has been started.

"We do not intend to make a canvass at this time," he said, "but if any person in this district has a car which can no longer be made serviceable, a call to me or to Narotzky's will bring a man to pick up the jalopy as junk."

Price Ceilings To Be Set on Food Products

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—P.—Specific dollar and cents price ceilings at the processor's level on butter, eggs, cheese and other food products now covered by a generalized price freeze are to be issued as soon as possible, the OPA reported today.

The new orders also will specify fixed margins for wholesalers and retailers, the commodities affected thereupon to be withdrawn from the generalized regulation. The latter sets maximum prices, generally speaking, at the highest level at which the products were sold by each firm during the five-

Big Reduction Probable In State Liquor Revenue

LANSING, Dec. 9.—P.—B. M. Davey, secretary of the state liquor control commission, today predicted that Michigan's profits from the liquor trade next year will fall $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 below this year.

"Abnormal" sales in the first six months of the current fiscal year should offset an expected slump in the last half of the year, Davey said. The result should be, he asserted, that the commission this year will turn back to the state about $20,000,000, approximately the same amount as obtained last year. However, he said, a 50 per cent drop in profits next fiscal year could be expected unless the War Production Board allows distillers to increase production.

A revenue total of less than $5,000,000 in 1943-44 is not likely because beer taxes should bring in about $4,000,000 and wine levies about $500,000.

day period, September 28-October 2, 1942.

This regulation was originally issued as a temporary order expiring December 4. On the expiration date, it was succeeded by another order under which the maximum prices, with few exceptions, remained the same.

City's 1942 Tax Levy $99,092.87

MUNISING, Dec. 9—Munising's 1942 tax bill, $99,092.87, is due and payable to City Treasurer John N. Korpela. This year's tax rate is $36.78 on $1,000 valuation. The 1941 tax total was $94,200.05, based on a rate of $34.31.

The increase in the 1942 total is due largely to a special school tax, authorized by Munising township school voters in September.

Of the $99,092.87 total, $74,322.57 is tax on real estate, $21,346.76 on personal property and $3,363.54 represents special assessments on street improvements and delinquent water bills assessed against properties.

Old Age Grant Problem Up to Kelly, Group Says LANSING, Dec. 9—(P)—Governor-elect Harry F. Kelly probably will not receive any recommendations from his "fact-finding" committee of state officials as to the amount of increased grants to be given old age assistance cases in the next biennium.

The committee now is drafting a budget for submission to Kelly and is to recommend action on a number of financial proposals, but one member, Deputy Secretary of State Gus T. Hartman, indicated they would steer away from the old age grant question.

"That is something we don't think we should get into," Hartman said. "It is a matter for the Governor and the legislature after they see what the complete budget picture is going to be."

The state social welfare commission has recommended old age assistance grants be increased from an average of $21 a month to $38 a month, and that similar increases be made in aid to dependent children program. (The former would cost the state $19,972,000 a year compared with $11,200,000 this year, while the latter would cost $9,139,000, compared with $5,920,000.)

500 Back on Jobs After 4-Day Strike in Adrian ADRIAN, Mich., Dec. 9—(P)—Approximately 500 union employees ended a four-day strike when they returned to work at the Hurd Lock Manufacturing company this morning, after making an agreement with the management to submit their dispute to arbitration.

AFL machineists local reached the agreement at a meeting last night. Arbitration, which has been referred to the United States conciliation service, will concern three grievances. The first centers around employment of a woman worker, who the company rehired last week after the union had claimed she was uncooperative. Workers also are demanding an adjustment of wages in the tool and die department and inclusion of a maintenance of union membership in working contracts.

U. S. Army Changes Face Of Africa

By Joseph Morton

SOMEWHERE IN AFRICA, Dec. 9.—(AP)—The American Army, collaborating with its allies, is changing the face of central Africa with great arteries supply-ways across 10,000 miles of the Dark Continent.

Barriers of time and distance have been beaten down, and today men and material are moving steadily across one of the toughest regions on earth. Eventually this work will result in Africa's first dependable transcontinental highway.

To facilitate overland transportation, American brains and manpower are constructing wharves and docks at the "Bottleneck" ports, multiplying many times their capacity to receive and relay war goods.

Using Native Laborers

In some places the work is being done by native laborers under contract; in others by soldier engineers from the United States. American combat units are working with British, Belgians and Fighting French, both white and black, in building defense garrisons for key points.

The big highway terminals are Lagos, Nigeria, and at Douala and Pointe Noire in French Equatorial Africa. Up in the interior, roads from these three cities thread together to form a single link crossing the arid wastes of the Sudan to Khartoum, which is linked to Cairo by river and rail.

Two American generals are in the field directing the construction and use of these supply-ways: Brig. Gen. Shepler W. Fitzgerald, who also is commander of all United States Army forces in central Africa, and Brig. Gen. James F. C. Hyde, of the service of supply.

General Fitzgerald has direct supervision over the job of transporting men, freight and planes across Africa to the combat theaters; to General Hyde falls the responsibility of building cantonments, gasoline installations and pipelines, and for doing everything necessary to keep the thousands of American soldiers at work in desert, jungle and mountains.

War Goods Choke Warehouses

There are rows of warehouses choking with war goods—blood plasma for Kunning, airplane engines for Teheran.

The SOS is buying without dawdling over red tape or technicalities, the capacity output of sawmills, and is utilizing mahogany and even ebony to get the work done. It is rounding up cattle and sending parties into the interior to purchase fresh eggs.

At the rate of 30 cents to a dollar a day, it is paying the surfboat boys on the west coast who, in gangs, lift 7,000-pound generators by hand. And it is paying off the Kurds of the east coast, who carry 800-pound loads on their backs. It has hired famous Sudanese well diggers whose shovels bore tubes through the sand as straight as a die without lines or engineering devices.

With the importation of dishpans, the Army is solving the serious shortage of utensils for Congolese natives employed to move dirt, and it is ever busy combatting the influence of devils, witch-doctors and medicine men whose superstitions are as dangerous as sabotage.

Build Water, Light Plants

The SOS has taken on the job of building the first water and light plants ever seen in some sections, and of countering the objections of Allies opposed to modernization. It is also constructing radio stations, steam laundries and bakeries and ice boxes bigger than freight cars. It is setting up shoe repair shops for soldiers who wear out a pair in three weeks. It is recapping tires and rebuilding worn-out trucks. It is providing medical service and procuring planes to fly patients from remote outposts to new base hospitals.

And while food, clothing, tools and other supplies are kept rolling by the thousands of tons, on motor trucks, trains, river boats, camels and native-borne dishpans, the SOS is stilling holding a hand free to meet any and all demands from present and potential theaters of combat.

The Unofficial Executioner

C. & H. Buys Property Of Estevants

CALUMET, Dec. 9.—The Estevant lands in Keweenaw, historic copper properties formerly owned by a French industrial family, have been acquired by the Calumet and Hecla Consolidated Copper company. The acquisition adds about 2500 acres to Calumet and Hecla holdings, including many old and historic spots.

The mining company now holds mineral and timber rights to the entire tract. One section of the lands is forested by virgin pine, probably the last stand of virgin timber in the northern Copper Country.

The lands extend from the south shore of Lake Fanny Hooe to the Montreal river, and include Lake Manganeze and the old Clark and Manganeze mines.

Lake Manganeze acquired its name from the fact that a seam of manganese ore was discovered nearby many years ago. The vein was only lightly prospected and no mining operations of any importance ever were conducted there.

The Calumet and Hecla probably will investigate the possibilities of the vein, as well as seeking copper by Diamond drilling.

The Estevant lands for many years have attracted attention as the only foreign-controlled properties on the entire Copper Range, and they have figured largely in all of the Copper Country's history.

The Estevant family, which for generations has been associated with metal industries in Europe, acquired the lands in 1858, when Edward Estevant, hearing of the discovery of copper on Keweenaw point, sent an agent here to investigate.

The family moved to Keweenaw from Paris the same year, remaining for several years before returning to France. Ignorant of the nature of the country they were coming to, the Estevants brought with them valuable furniture, linens and china. They continued to maintain their holdings here although the family resided in Europe.

Negotiations for the sale of the lands were conducted by Leon Estevant, who arrived from Europe several months ago.

Social Circle Has Christmas Sale

The Social Circle of the First Presbyterian church sponsors its annual silver tea and Christmas sale from 2 to 6 Saturday afternoon in the social rooms. As usual folk from all churches are invited to attend.

Mrs. J. W. Adriaens and Mrs. E. S. Bice will have charge of the tea table. The baked goods table will offer for sale such good things as pies, plum puddings, doughnuts, breads, cookies and coffee cakes; and arrangements for this will be in charge of Mrs. H. A. St. John and Mrs. J. C. Wilson. Mrs. H. Schauer will have charge of the assortment of aprons, pillow cases and other such articles. There will also be a table of fine editions of the Bible for sale.

A musical program will be given and it will include a vocal solo, "Ave Maria," by Miss Dorothy Lindstrom; Christmas carols by a quartet composed of Nancy Finlay, Shirley Stolpe, Patricia Sarns and Isabel Todd; and a vocal solo, "Sleep, My Little Jesus," Mrs. Fred Hoar.

Quite Different Items Make Day's Chitter-Chat

Some light-fingered folk seem to be out in considerable numbers. From time to time one hears of bystanders picking up packages momentarily left on the counter in a store.

A young mother went down the Marquette Red Cross chapter, said in a radio talk. Each year more than 32,000 Americans are killed in home accidents.

One third of all fatal accidents and over one-half of all injuries occur in and about homes.

Realizing this the Red Cross has provided sheets on which people can check items which, if given immediate attention and correction, would prevent accidents on farms and in homes.

Any one who would like some of these check sheets may obtain them by writing or telephoning the secretary to the Red Cross chapter of feather squares cut from the old umbrella or rain coat, are even more practicable for most dressings than the old heavier rubber pieces.

It's a practical hint that has come as a result of the salvage slogan, save and use everything you can.

Yesterday, Mrs. Bernice Chamberlain, executive secretary of the Marquette Red Cross chapter, said in a radio talk.

Just then, sonny spied a piece of candy on the floor and reached for it. His mother forgot books, packages, and everything else, except that she didn't want the small boy to get that piece of candy in his mouth.

In the time she bent down to grab the candy and smooth sonny's ruffled feelings, somebody took the package of books!

Not so good, and certainly not at all in the Christmas spirit.

Mrs. Arthur Frei, 345 East Prospect street, for some time has been on a regular salvaging binge and it has come to the place where the members of the family eye their possessions warily, for fear she will detect some salvage value about them.

But the other day she hit upon an ingenious idea when salvaging, of all things, an old umbrella! She hasn't found any use to make of the handle of some plastic composition, but give her time and she'll likely manage to use that too.

The metal ribs of the umbrella went for scrap, of course, but here is here the ingenuity came in. The pure silk cover had a wide border of that transparent rubberized material. Mrs. Frei salvaged the silk, and then carefully cutting off the band of the transparent water proof material, she has used some of it as a protective covering to place upon a wet dressing on an infected heel injury.

So the old transparent raincoats that have ripped in some places, don't junk them carelessly. Cut the good material into squares and oblongs of various sizes to be used, as occasion arises, for protection for wet dressings. The thin rubber pieces ordinarily used for such coverings are not so readily obtainable now, and shouldn't, because of the scarcity of such materials, be used unless absolutely necessary. And the water proof, light-as-a-

News Bits About Marquette County Young Men in Armed Forces

EDITOR'S NOTE—The Army, Navy, Marine corps, Coast Guard and Merchant Marines are growing in strength every day. That means more and more Marquette county men are "Serving U. S." They read and enjoy this column as faithfully as those of us at home. Don't fail them! Send in items about men in uniform to the Service Editor, The Mining Journal, Marquette, Mich., or telephone Marquette 150. In Ishpeming, phone 3; Negaunee, 404, and in Republic, 701.

TWO Marquette men marked the first anniversary of Pearl Harbor by being sworn in as Naval Air cadets before President's Roosevelt's order stopped all enlistments. They are Donald M. Webster, 21, 623 Spruce street, and Thomas G. McKie, Box 373. In announcing the Marquette enlistees, Lieut. Comdr. Carl G. Olson, officer-in-charge of the Naval Aviation Cadet Selection Board in Chicago, emphasized that all Marquette men with applications filed either at the local recruiting station or in Chicago are eligible to complete their enlistment on or before December 15. Webster was a basketball player for Pickford high school and is now employed as a cream tester. He attended North Michigan College of Education three years. McKie attended Gravenet high school, where he was active in tennis and football. He attended Michigan Tech for one year and is now employed by the city of Marquette.

Walwin Tripp, better known as "Wally," writes his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Tripp, 633 St. Pine street, Ishpeming, that he is now stationed at Keesler Field, Miss. He is in the air corps and likes it a lot. He says there are several of his friends from Ishpeming and vicinity there and they are kept busy every minute, even making their beds and doing their washing. "We sure eat up the Mining Journal when one of us gets a copy," says Wally.

Robert A. Ames, son of Mrs. Peter Robare, 3841 Tracy avenue, who enlisted in the U. S. Army Engineer Corps, has gone to Fort Sheridan, Ill., for basic training.

Pvt. Theodore T. Keto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Keto, Eben Junction, who has been in the Army since October 22, thinks the life is great even though he's plenty far from home. He would like to hear from his friends and his address is A. S. N. 36403480, 377th M. P. E. G. Co., Florence Concentration Camp, Florence, Ariz.

In a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Langlois, 229 West Michigan street, Corporal William Paul Langlois, writes that his outfit is quartered in an orange grove in North Africa—"and am I tired of oranges." He says it is very fertile country and he likes it better than England, except, of course, he can't understand the native language. He adds: "Boy, won't I have some tales to tell you when I get home." Paul has been in the Army since February, 1941, and is serving in the radio section of the signal corps.

Francis L. Cardoni, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cardoni, Oak street, Marquette, who has been in Hawaii since April, has been promoted to sergeant in the communications center. He writes that everything is O. K. and he says "hello" to all his friends. Cardoni has been in the service about a year and a

Pvt. Clarence J. Laramie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Laramie, Ishpeming, has been transferred from Keesler Field, Miss., to Chicago where he will attend a Radio Operator's Mechanic school for five months and will then be sent to an officer candidate school. His friends can write to him at this address: Pvt. Clarence J. Laramie, 1008 Technical School Squad, 730 South Michigan Blvd., Chicago, Ill.

Pvt. Roy Pohlman, who left with the Schoolcraft county contingent in the November 27 draft, is now stationed at Fort Sheridan. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pohlman, Michigan street, Ishpeming.

Pvt. John Kotjarvi, Humboldt who has been stationed at Camp Callan, Calif., is now attending the National Radio School in Los Angeles. John thinks Army life is fine and is well satisfied in the school. He has seen a lot of interesting things and has become acquainted with a swell bunch of fellows, he says. His address is Pvt. John Kotjarvi, 942 West 34th Street, Los Angeles, Calif. He would appreciate hearing from his friends.

Sgt. Edward Wernholm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Wernholm, 516 Iron street, Negaunee, is in New Guinea. His parents have received their first letter from him in two months. They knew he had been ordered to foreign service, but this letter gave them their first intimation of his location. He enlisted two years ago. In his letter he tells the folks know he's "in the pink of health and likes this life a lot."

Mr. and Mrs. E. Bergstrom, 410 West Ohio street, have received word that their son, Ralph E. Bergstrom, was promoted to the rank of first lieutenant November 25. Lieut. Bergstrom is piloting P-40's for Uncle Sam at the moment, and has been stationed in the Panama Canal Zone since January, 1942.

William LaFond, Marquette, technical corporal in the U. S. Army medical corps and now stationed at Camp McCoy, Wis., is home on an eight-day furlough. He has been in the Army 19 months. The medical unit of which he is a member was transferred to Camp McCoy recently from Texas where it was given air-borne training. At McCoy the soldiers are training on skis and snowshoes.

Tech. Cpl. Albert L. Brunelle, 2nd Ord. Co., Fort Dix, New Jersey, received a very welcome surprise on his 29th birthday, December 1, he has informed his mother, Mrs. Tillie Brunelle. "I was in my barracks that day," he said, "when I was tapped on the shoulder and, turning around, was greeted by my brother, Arthur. It was the sweetest birthday present I ever had." Pvt. Arthur E. Brunelle, serving with Co. G, 30th Infantry, at Fort Ord, Calif., for two years and in Camp Pickett, Va., for three months, has been transferred to Fort Dix. It was the second time they have met unexpectedly since being in the Army. Early in October both came home to Marquette on the same day for short visits.

Pvt. Clarence J. Laramie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Laramie, Ishpeming, has been transferred from Keesler Field, Miss., to Chicago where he will attend a Radio Operator's Mechanic school for five months and will then be sent to an officer candidate school. PRESERVING THE American way

American women are giving every possible aid to preserving the American Way of Life. They are doing important work on war industry assembly lines, in home defense organizations and in many other fields. In war plants, in canteens, wherever they turn they find Gas, America's outstanding fuel, faithfully serving our nation.

and KEEPING THE HOME FIRES BURNING

In spite of the war, the American home must be maintained. American women are doing just that. Giving their time to many war duties, of course. But still keeping a good home for a hard-working husband and some All-American kids. The modern Gas Appliances enjoyed by over 90,000,000 Americans are one big reason American women are able to do both jobs—and to do them well.
