Paris, Nov. 4.-Dispatches received here from St. Petersburg report that news from Port Arthur is as bad as it can be. Gen. Stoessel has telegraphed to the czar that the position of the citadel is hopeless, that the garrison has been reduced to almost its last shell, and that all its long range guns have been destroyed or put out of action by the Japanese. "We cannot hold the fortress," he adds, "but we can die fighting for Russia, and we will. The citadel shall never be surrendered." London, Nov. 7.-Special dispatches from Chefoo and Tientsin report that the defenders of Port Arthur have retired to the Liati hill fort, where the are holding out desperately, entrenched and with ten guns of large caliber. Many Russians, the correspondents assert, are deserting and surrendering. The Japanese, it is added, are advancing with irresistable energy. More reliable reports do not confirm these statements; but the Tokio report of the capture of Wantai hill, a dominating fort within two miles of the ratiway terminus, shows that the Japanese are making rapid strides.

Wantai hill is one of the extensive, semi-circle of forts defending Port Arthur. It is situated in about the center of the semi-circle, between the Antse mountain forts and Sungchow fort. which is situated on an adjoining hill. Little Helen Soderstrom, going The capture of Wantai hill, it has been pointed out in dispatches from Port Arthur, means the dividing of the eastern fortified ridges. The Japanese had previously and unsuccessfully attacked Wantai hill, particularly during the latter part of August.

A vigorous bombardment with naval guns was delivered at noon on November 3 against the east harbor, dockyard, and other points, as a result of which a fierce conflagration occurred near the east harbor. St. Petersburg, Nov. 7.-Military activity in the vicinity of the Shakhe river is limited to the extension and strengthening of entrenchments. There are indications that the Japanese have not given up the plan of seeking to force Gen. Kuropatkin into another general engagement, although in military circles here the belief is expressed that there will be no other big battle in the campaign this year.

Gen. Kuroki's Headquarters, Nov. 5, via Fusan, Nov. 7.-The positions of the two armies are unchanged. Russian outposts in considerable force, but the Russians had been warned and the Japanese were repulsed. They were not able to take away all their killed or wounded, leaving 28 bodies on the field. The Russians lost only nine men.

The Russian and Japanese armies, extending from Bentslaputze, east, to the Liao river, west, at places are almost within a stone's throw of each other. At Bentziaputze not more than 400 yards separate the advance posts, and at Sinchinpu, on the Shakhe river, just west of the railway and 15 miles south of Mukden, the Japanese and Russians occupy the extreme ends of the same village. At Huangshantse the Russian center has thrown advance posts across the Shakhe river. Both armles are still strengthening their positions all along the line, The slightest movement on either side is the signal for firing, which occasionally lasts all night. The Rusians are using six-inch guns on the railway, which must greatly harass the Japanese. St. Petersburg, Nov. 8 .- The necessity for officers for service at the front has resulted in the mobilization of all reserve officers in St. Petersburg, Vilna, Warsaw, Kieff, Odessa, Moscow, Kazan and the Caucasus. The loss of officers at Liaoyang and below Mukden was about 1,300. The mobilization, while intended to supply the deficiency, is also necessitated by the grand scale on which the war in the far east is to be prosecuted.

The news from the front indicates that Gen. Kuropatkin is devoting his attention chiefly to keeping the Japanese busy along the line of their fortifications below the Shakhe river. The Russians apparently are enjoying some superiority in the matter of artillery, as many of the heavier field trains and mortar batteries are now arriving and being brought into service.

Robert F. Atkins. The Green Goods Men.

The news comes out of the west that that oldest and most sordid of swindlers, the "green goods" game, again epidemic, says the New York Post. The Chicago police who have not had in eight years a complaint of this particular sort of deceit, are now working on 17, while half a hundred nore have been reported the country over in the last two months. Since the dupe in every case is himself merely a would-be swindler and is loth to confess, every instance brought to the police must be typical of a hundred others which never come to light. It does not seem to matter how often or now widely the fraud is exposed. Every year sees a new crop of victims arriving at years of supposed discretion and with money of their own which they are anxious to multiply in good ways or bad. The reason for the imnortality of the familiar swindles is their essential plausibility. If an engraver should really steal the original plates and paper from the United States treasury, it would be a great thing for the partners with whom he shared his counterfeits. Lying, the commonest of vices, seems to be the one which people are most unwilling to arrest of J. D. Parker char with fraud. Parker took an active part in encouraging the organization of the Newberry high school foot ball team and was to act as coach. He collected quite a sum of money to defray the cost of the outfit and about ten days ago dissappeared without leav-ing any address. It was learned that he was in Petoskey and a warrant was issued, Sheriff Cyr leaving Thursday morning to secure his man. Salt pork is good if a man Parker really intended to skip with the funds he had collected is doubtful, as he made very little attempt to conceal his location, having communicated with at least one of his creditors since leaving town. Parker is a painter and paper hanger aud came to Newberry from the Soo about a year ago.

The largest number of men ever set at the work of examining the results brought home by an exploring expedition are now engaged on the records and specimens with which the Gauss returned from the Antarctic Fifty scientific specialists in various lines are studying the large collections which the German government made in the south polar regions.

Years sometimes elapse before the scientific results of an expedition are thoroughly studied and made public But all phases of the work done by the Gauss party during the 12 months if was fast in the ice on the edge of the Antarctic continent are now being examined. The results will evolved from the mass of tables, observations, and specimens, and the scientific world will then know just what the Germans accomplished.

Russian Vessels Are Said to Be Too Old and Too Slow to Be Considered Dangerous.

For several months it has been reported day by day from St. Peteraburg that the Baltic fleet would sail at any noment for the far east to strike terror into the hearts of Admiral Togo and his lieutenants. Recently it was announced that 11 of the vessels had actually salled from Libau, and that the fleet would roceed to the far east by way of the Atlantic and Cape Horn

Such a voyage would take six months. It is far more probable that the fleet will devote itself to a hunt for contraband in the Atlantic, says a St. Petersburg correspondent.

The vessels could inflict an indefinite amount of damage, which, indirectly, would do Japan lasting harm, and in a lesser degree Great Britain would also suffer. It will be interesting to see what this squadron consists of.

The fleet available is as follows: Battleships-Kniaz Savaro, Alexander III. Navarin, Lissoi, Alexander II. and Osliabia. Cruisers—Aurora, Dmitri Donskoi, Almaz, Nachimov and Pamyat Azoya. Converted cruisers-Don. Ural. Teretz and Kuban, as well as a considerable number of torpedo boats and over a dozen destroyers.

More than a half of the vessels are too slow and too old to be considered really dangerous, while the four converted cruisers were lately German Atlantic liners, and of no fighting value whatever against warships.

The vessels of the squadron differ much as regards speed. A fleet the units of which are all slow is really of greater value than one of this description, where some of the vessels have a speed of over 20 knots an hour and others cannot do more than nine knots. In the former case the fleet can keep a uniform pace, but in the latter the fast boats get ahead, and the "lame ducks" are at the mercy of the enemy's destroyers.

GATHERING OF THE BLIND.

Deserving Sightless Men and Women of New York State Gather at Gotham and Receive Money.

September 6 was "blind man's day" in New York. From all over Manhattan and the Bronx blind men and women to the number of 667, who are entitled to the apportionment set aside for their benefit by the state legislature, flocked to the pay station at the charities dock. Since 1875 a sum of money varying from $20,000 to $75,000 has been set aside by an act of the legislature to be distributed among the deserving blind of the city. Only those who have a source of income are eligible to participate in the charity. Indigents are barred.

The scheme was originated by a blind man. In 1875 Nicholas Kennedy, who was blind from birth, went before the legislature and made a strong plea for a sum of money to be given each year to the deserving of his kind. The legislature appropriated at first $20,000, but when Greater New York was incorporated the sum was increased until now any sum up to $75,000 can be asked

This year the sum expended was $49,-950, against $52,250 last year. The amount is proportioned pro rata, which gives each of the 667 applicants, $47. Last year they got $50.

The most interesting blind man in the city is "Benny" Scully, who has been drawing his stipend for 16 years. "Benny" is an expert checker, chess and card player in a museum, and some of the feats he can do are astounding.

Young Man Makes Ascent in Captive Kite Which Is Wrecked While He Is High in the Air.

An exhibition in London of the manlifting military kites invented by Mr. S. F. Cody led to an exciting incident

A youth named Baker, of Cornwall Road, Manningham, and employed as an engineer at the exhibition, made an ascent in one of the captive kites.

Three kites without human occupants were flying at the time at a height of 2,000 feet. The kite in which Baker was seated was placed on wire connecting the other kites, and when set free immediately flew up the wire.

When at an altitude of 1,500 feet a gust of wind wrecked Baker's kite, which was made of light canvas with a bamboo and hickory wood frame. Baker was left dangling on the wire.

Deprived of the suspending power of the fourth and larger kite, and with the weight of the young man depending on them, the three other kites and the whole apparatus began rapidly to fall.

The men at the winch worked in the wire as fast as possible, but the scout and the kites came down at an alarming rate, and at one time Baker turned a somersault.

Fortunately, the young man retained his hold, and ultimately alighted on the roof of a villa a considerable distance from the exhibition grounds. He was able to get in through the attic window unharmed.

BIRL SAVES BROTHER FROM FALLING INTO CREVASSE.

Holds Him for Thirteen Hours While Sister Searches for Help-Heroism of Ancient Greece Equaled in Awful Night.

The heroic records of ancient Greece ontain no tale of bravery or endurince more worthy of remembrance han the act of a modern Grecian maidn-Mile, Haqiilazaro.

One Saturday recently M. Hadjilarao, a member of the Genevan section of the Alpine club, set out with his wo sisters from Zinal, Switzerland, to the mountains. Relying upon his expertness as a climber, and great anowledge of that part of the range, he did not take a guide.

For Lve or six hours all went well with the intrepld three. Roped to-gether, they successfully scaled the Grand Cornier. The last difficult piece of climbing did not deter them. They felt sure of themselves. The girls were innocent of thought of danger, so completely did they rely upon their brother, who was first on the rope.

They looked forward to the descent of the Glacier De Moiry. It is not regarded as difficult, but all glaciers have one spice of danger-a concealed crevasse. At the height of 13,000 feet, or less, they had some hours of mountaineering before them before they were down again at Zinal.

M. Hadjilazaro, anxious for his sisters' safety, and, feeling the heavy responsibility upon him, took extra care, but he lacked that instinct which guides have. He could not be quite sure, Suddenly he called a halt and bade the girls look out. He feared a concealed crevasse. He bent forward to test the foothold. Scarcely was he on his hands and knees before the treacherous snow gave way beneath him. His sister next on the rope had but a few seconds to think and act. Her nerve never left her. Swinging, partly pulled by his fall, over the crevasse, she braced herself with one leg on each side and bore her brother's weight upon her hips. What could be done?

M. Hadjilazaro called that he could not climb up. He did not even try, lest his sister's strength should give out as he tugged at her in the effort.

Rapidly the sisters made up their minds. The one at the end of the rope untied herself and went off to Zinal alone for help.

Would she get there safely? The brother in danger, the sister supporting him upon her hips as she stood astride the crevasse in an attitude only a woman could have kept for long, did

As the minutes one by one made way for the other, and lengthened into hours, the noble girl felt as if the D. D. WORMS, Bots, Gre strain would send her mad. The rope cut into her hips and the pain was ex-

Her brother tried to ease her by cutting steps in the side of the crevasse and holding on to them, but he dare not attempt to climb. A slip would mean death for both in the depths. As he looked and called encouraging words to her the icy cold water fell drop by drop upon his forehead, in imitation of the greatest torture known to the Spanish inquisition. To add to the horror darkness came down on the mountain.

For 12 awful hours they held out. Then, when they felt that human nature could withstand the awful strain no longer, a welcome cry rang out. Lights shone over the glacier. Their sister had brought help. So as not to alarm the rest of the family, she had descended by the Col de l'Allee, and arrived at the village in two hours and a half, at 8:30 in the Frantically she sought guides. But things are slow at Zinal. It was hours before she could collect the five men she needed, with lanterns and Alpine life-saving apparatus.

Not till seven in the morning and she started for succor at six the night before-did the rescue party reach the courageous girl and release her from her trying ordeal.

SWELLS DECLINE TO DANCE

Smart London Society Women Worried Because Interest Is on the Decline.

The matrons of Belgravia and Mayfair, on the other side of the Atlantic, are said to be deeply concerned at the decline of interest in dancing among young ment. It is even rumored that they are driven to the dire necessity of engaging professional dancers, presentable "men from Blankney's," or some other universal provider, who will help at a ball and go meekly home with the hired plants in the morning.

The war in South Africa, it is declared. undoubtedly led to the decline in the graceful art, for the men were away fighting and the women stayed at home to think and weep. It is not inconceivable that with the return of peace mer who had been accustomed to an active. stirring life on the "illimitable veldt" were disinclined for the easy dalliance of the ballroom.

However, it is predicted by teachers of this diversion that as soon as the men settle down to their usual social basis they will dance as nimbly and frequently as ever. Meantime, smart society women are worried.

A Waste of Men. If it is true that 2,000 men were killed in a battle in Uruguay it will always be regarded as a reckless waste of men, says the Chicago Daily News, as that number under ordinary cir-cumstances would be sufficient for about 100 battles in South America

Tokay and Syrian Grapes Grown in Northern Idaho-All Grains Are Over Weight When Properly Grown by Irrigation-White Flax Seed-Corn Wheat in Place of Corn.

It is a big surprise to World's Fair visitors to find that tokay grapes grow in the United States as far north as Duluth, Minn. The particular place where this may be done is Lewiston, Idaho, on the banks of the Snake river. Whatever is done along the Snake river in the matter of agriculture and horticulture must be done with irrigation, however.

The remarkable things done under irrigation are portrayed by a number of states. Colorado has a relief map of the Arkansas valley. Utah shows a diorama of one of her irrigated valleys. California exhibits her products from lands worth a thousand dollars an acre. Oregon displays her beautiher agricultural showing. The tokay grapes from Lewiston are only one of 62 varieties now successfully grown at that far northern point where the climate is almost as mild as Italy, for the tokay cannot flourish live control thereof. where the winters are cold. Along with the tokay is a fine sweet grape from Syria, in which every grape and fruit grower will be interested. The name is Hunisa, or Antab late, from Antab. It is large, very dark, and a fine keeper, the last being its most important quality. After traveling over 1,500 miles to the World's Fair it opened up in as fine condition as the tokay, and made a good show. These grapes are from the first vine of this variety fruited in America.

Another fact not well known is that grains grown by irrigation in the dry atmosphere of the western slope of the Rocky mountains are much revenues continue as heavy as at presheavier than those grown in the east, and the yield is far greater. In the Idaho exhibit of the Palace of Agriculture at the World's Fair are many examples of irrigation fesults. A sack of oats was received at the exhibit a few days ago which was graded by one of the machines in the building and tested as to weight. It was found that the third, or poorest grade, weighed 38 pounds to the bushel, while the standard of weight for oats is only 32 pounds to the bushel. The yield is 100 to 110 bushels to the acre, and Idaho oats ordinarily weigh-42 to 46 pounds to the bushel. An acre of irrigated land yields about three times as much as an acre in a humid climate. Wheat in southern Idaho is 62 to 64 pounds to the bushel, the standere being 60 pounds, and the yield 50 to 70 bushels to the acre. A bundle United States agricultural experts is fa hay, second crop of 1904, brought from southern Idaho, is as tall as a man, a six-footer. Five to seven tons to the acre are grown each season, it being cut usually three times.

All over southern Idaho, which for the most part is a vast desert, are pases that have been made fruitful by firigation. The liberal provisions of the Cary Act of Congress have made possible the reclamation of these lands, the state taking over the lands and disposing of them to settlers at 50 cents an acre. The water right is an extra cost, in some cases as low as $25 an acre for a perpetual right, the the counterfeiters and arrested John first one or two crops often paying the Kerkowitz, Michael Owerse and John entire cost of a fine property. Only a few days ago the state land board of Idaho threw open to settlement 100,000 of a foreign government. A complete acres of land under one canal at Twin | counterfeiting outfit, together with a Falls, on the south side of Snake river. It is in Cassia county, one of It is claimed by the secret service offithe counties that touch the Nevada class that many Hungarians returning border. In this instance the total cost from this country to their native land per acre is $25.50, and under the liberal terms of the Cary Act entry may be made through another person. The payment is in easy installments.

Many of the exhibits in the Idaho display are from along the Snake river, which is so named because of its sinuous course, and not because of any snakes. The water for the Twin Falls tract, which embraces 270,000 acres, is from the Snake, and the cost of the 2,000 foot dam and the 180 miles of main canals is about $2,500,000. A railroad is being constructed from Minidoka southward to cross the tract, which is expected to repeat the history of the Wood River Country, the Boise and Payette Valleys, and become a populous part of the state.

Idaho has the honor of showing in her agricultural display something that very few farmers have ever seen, namely, white flax seed. This variety of flax originated in Idaho, and is said to possess great commercial possibilities, because it is richer in oil and produces a grade of very light colored oil that is far more desirable for white paint than the darker

Idaho is trying to do what other mountain states are attempting, that is, to supply the home market with fruits, vegetables, meats, grains and dairy products. The mountains contain hundreds of mining camps and scttlements where everything now produced finds ready market, while the demand increases with each new mining district opened.

Corn is about the only thing that does not grow well in the irrigated deserts of southern Idaho, because the summer nights are cool, but a kind of grain is raised called corn wheat that takes the place of corn, and produces over 100 bushels to the acre. It is worth any farmer's time to take a good look at the odd things in the Idaho display, where there are 47 varieties of wheat, 41 varieties of oats, 32 varieties of barley, and 34 varieties of grasses, to say nothing of vegetables, beans, peas, honey and other things worth having.

CUBAN CONGRESS.

Session Begins in Havana—Extracts | Hoisting Engineers in Illinois Mines from Message of President

Havana, Nov. 8 .- The winter session of congress opened Monday promising-

The president called atteantion to the fact that the Platt amendment would not permit Cuba to incur debt unless the ordinary receipts of the treasury were sufficient to pay off the sinking fund and interest, adding that as the present sources above the ordinary expenses are practically absorbed by the first loan. Cuba cannot create a new loan except through increasing taxes. The president suggested that the difficulty might bo obviated by the creation of a perpetual debt bearing interest at three per cent. per annum, which the government could be authorized to sink after 25 years or to liquidate sooner if the means became President Palma called attention to Cuba's responsibility under the Platt ful fruits and grains from irrigated amendment for proper sanitation districts, while Idaho, her next door throughout the island and stated that neighbor, won twenty gold medals on the executive department must assume general charge of all sanitation in order to secure uniform and effective results. Consequently congress should appropriate sufficient money for that purpose and authorize definite execu-

The president reported that health conditions were as satisfactory as last year, with the exception that there had been a number of cases of diphtheria in certain localities in the province of Santiago, which disappeared as the result of special sanitary measures. The mortality the past ten months in Havana district was 21.20 per thousand, and throughout the island 16.37.

President Palma submitted the budget of expenses for next year, amounting to $19,000,000, of which he proposed to devote $2,500,000 for the construction of new roads and bridges. The message stated that if the customs ent the executive will ask $20,000,000 for 1906. The special internal tax on liquors, matches, etc., levied for the payment of the present loan now yields $3,360,000 annually, with a surplus of $1,270,000 above the amount needed.

President Palma congratulates congress upon the country's tranquility, which he attributes to the patriotism and confidence of the people in the government, and which has attracted an influx of capital that is developing Cuba's resources and industries.

The president compliments the military establishment and the various government departments, especially referring to the public works, the state and the educational departments. The number of schools has reached 3,600, with 120,000 pupils, an increase for the year of 10,000 pupils. The agricultural developing a high degree of useful-

Plowboy Came Out of the Field and Told Railroaders How to Start Stalled Engine,

A traveling man relates that while rid-ing on the new orient line between Harper and Anthony a few days ago, one of the side rods of the engine broke, and the other side stopped on a "dead center," so that when the repair was made it was impossible to start again. According to the Kansas City Star he says:

when the repair was made it was impossible to start again. According to the Kansas City Star he says:

"The engineer, the conductor and all the passengers took turns going over the thing and trying to devise a way to make it run. Finally a boy came out of the field where he had been plowing to see what was going on. He crawled hrough the wire fence and sat down on the bank and fanned himself with his straw hat. If you'd back that last car up the grade an' let 'er come down gerchunk, that 'ud start 'er,' he finally suggested, deliberately.

"The railroad men sniffed contemptuously, but the passengers sided with the boy. Finally the conductor gave orders that the rear car be uncoupled. No less than 50 passengers caught hold and pushed the car up the grade. Once at the top the car was let go. The loose coach gained momentum as it came down hill, and in spite of the engineer's admonition to 'let her come down easy,' the emergency battering ram crashed into the train with a tremendous thump. The engine was bumped off 'center' all right."

Miss Rose Hennessy, well known as poetess and elocutionist, of Lexington, Ky., tells how she was cured of uterine inflammation and ovaritis by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I have been so blessedly helped through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I feel it but just to acknowledge it, hoping that it may help some other woman suffering as I did.

"For years I enjoyed the best of health and thought that I would always do so. I attended parties and receptions thinly clad, and would be suddenly chilled, but I did not think of the results. I caught a bad cold eighteen months ago while menstruating, and this caused inflammation of the womb and congested ovaries. I suffered excruciating pains and kept getting worse. My attention was called to your Vegetable Compound and the wonderful cures it had performed, and I made up my mind to try it for two months and see what it would do for me. Within one month I felt much better, and at the close of the second I was entirely well.

The experience and testimony of some of the most noted women of America go to prove beyond a question that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct all such trouble and at once, by removing the cause, and restoring the organs to a normal and healthy condition.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham: — About two years ago I consulted a physician about my health which had become so wretched that I was no longer able to be about. I had severe backache, bearing-down pains, pains across the abdomen, was very nervous and irritable, and this trouble grew worse each month. The physician prescribed for me but I soon discovered that he was unable to help me, and I then decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and soon found that it was doing me good. My appetite was returning, the pains disappearing, and the general benefits were well marked.

RAISING LIVESTOCK GROWING INDUSTRY IN PARAGUAY.

Demand for Boof Is Constantly In-creasing, Even in South America —Good Profit Made Under Famable Circumstances.

Figures interesting to American cat-tlemen and to packers and consumers meat are given in a statement retly issued to the department of mmerce and labor in Washington. me extracts follow:

"According to Export, a paper pub-lished in Berlin and devoted chiefly to the export trade, Paraguay's prin-cipal product is cattle. In the awfui years 1864 to 1870 Paraguay's 2,000,000 head of cattle fell off to 15,000. Thirty-three years of peace have seen the republic rise to a position beyond that occupied before 1864. To-day there are 3,500,000 head in its fields.

"A quadrat legua (about 4,633 acrea) will support 600 to 800 cattle in some cases even more—which gives from 5.7 to 7.4 acres to each animal. In Argentina, where land is dearer, 1,000 head are assigned to each quadrat legua, but at the expense of both beef and land. If one compares the Paraguayan cattle fields with those of German South Airlea, where each head of cattle has 99 acres, which is thought by some to be much less than is really needed, an idea is obtained of the difference in favor of the Paraguayan ranchers. To be sure, the southwest African land is sold for less than 12 cents an acre, while the Paraguayan pasturage sells for 24 to 30 cents an acre, yet the land necessary to support one animal in southwest Africa costs nearly $10, while it costs less than $2 in Paraguay.

"On good land cattle will double in four years; in exceptional cases the Increase will be 35 per cent. annually -that is, the cattle will be more than double in three years, although the ranchman is usually satisfied to note The quadrat legua (4,633 acres) in yet unopened. This is all included in the annual gain of 20 to 25 per cent. Paraguay cost generally from $1,000 to $1,500. Land lying near the Paraguay river or near a railroad sells for $2,500 a quadrat legua. Good land hear the navigable rivers has doubled in price during the last ten years.

"Estimates made by competent percattle-raising beyond peradventure. Mackinac or Cheboygan geteways to the best physical condition. An investment of $6,000 to $10,000 in a ranch will result in a yearly profit of 20 per cent. An investment of $75,-000 in the stocking of a ranch with 8,000 to 10,000 head of cattle will yield 12 to 15 per cent. a year and more. In very favorable cases, particularly when the manager of the ranch is the actual owner of the land, the possible profit is put as high as 20 to 25 or even 40 per cent.

"One must not imagine that ranchnot. There are a great many large companies operating in all parts of the republic, some of which have thousands of cattle. Efforts are being made not only to increase the herds numerically but to improve the breeds. The prospects were never so bright as now. The demand for meat, even in South America, is constantly increasing In 1900 the value of Argention's expert of beef products was nearly $30,000,000, and in 1901 the value was nearly $44,880,000. What is true of Argentina and Paraguay is just as true of Uruguay and the state of Rio Grande in Brazil.

"A glance at the past in Paraguay is very interesting. At the beginning of the last century land was granted to settlers in many cases for nothing. The only things charged for in a transfer of lands were the cattle and farm fixtures, household and other effects. For example, a farm in Santa Fe, comprising a fraction more than 90 square miles, containing 8,000 cattle and 15,000 horses, sold for $6,069. The 8,000 cattle were valued at less than 50 cents each, and the 15,000 horses, incredible as it may seeem, were valued at 12 cents each. Of course, the money of that time was worth much more than the money of the present. Nevertheless, we are certainly warranted in regarding Paraguay's past as full of remarkable opportunity and her future as exceedingly hopeful."

EXPORTS OF BREADSTUFFS

Falling Off of Over $7,000,000 Last August as Compared with Same Month Last Year.

A bulletin of the bureau of statistics recently issued shows that the total exports of breadstuffs in August amounted to only $5,336,421, against $13,025,713 in August of last year. Most of the shrinkage was in wheat. During the same month only $174,894 worth of wheat was exported from the whole United States, while in August, 1903, the exports of wheat amounted to $5,248,586. Wheat shipments from New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore were ridiculously small, as compared with the same month a year ago.

A director of the steel corporation says that recent complete survey and exploration tests of the iron ore preperties owned by the United States Steel Corporation in the Lake Superior region show total ore holdings approximating 750,000,000 tons says a recent asue of the Wall Street Journal:

The exploration and survey were made, it is understood, at thedirect instigation and under the practical supervision of Henry C. Frick and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to ascertain exactly where the corporation stands as to its supplies of raw material. The results is said to be thoroughly satisfactory not only to the Frick-Rockefeller element, but to all the interests in the billion doller corporation.

It is especially satisfactory to former President Charles M. Schwab and his friends. When Mr. Schwab as president of the corporation, in his affidavit of 747. to the New Jersey court placed, the valuation of the corporation ore holdings at $700,000,000, he was severely criticised in many quarters. Under the new rules six men are required in the rush line at all times, thus doing away with heavy mass plays to a large extent.

The tendency has been in recent years to build up elaborate plays with strong interference which through sheer weight would smash away through the tacklesback and guardsback plays, first sprung in the East, although one of these players can still be brought back. With only this addition to the men in the backfield a heavy, smashing play can still be formulated.

Michigan gets along fairly well without bringing any men back, as each man is taught that he has a part in the interference and he has to or he doesn't get on the first team and share the champion's glory.

Last year seven men were required discome regarding the cheap-order in the line except between the twentyfive yard and goal lines. Under this year's rule if a man is brought back he or one of the backs must pay back from the line outside of end.
