SATURDAY, MAY 6, 1905.

Says Speaker Cannon: "I stand now with my face towards the setting sun, without a single regret, for I know that day by day, month by month, and year by year our common country grows, in capacity for self government and is better today than it has been before, and will be better next year than it is this year."

John Alexander Dowie has paid his debts dollar for dollar and taken himself out of the hands of the receiver. This restores him to respectability in the business world, no matter how peculiar may be his views on religion, or how audacious his claim to be Elijah. "Money talks."

Now we are informed that the reform wave has hit Alger county. The prosecutor has given out that the slot machines must "go;" also that "go" in this instance does not mean turning the faces of the machines to the wall for a week or two. They are to be carried away and stored, on penalty of confiscation. Further, the saloons must observe the statutory closing hours, and no drinks are to be dispensed on Sundays or holidays, on pain of prosecution. The reform germ is abroad, and promises sooner or later to visit, for passing time at least, every corner of the upper peninsula.

The following notice has been served by the Marais Lumber company, which operates the electric light plant at Grand Marais: It has come to the notice of this company that in many instances where 16 candle power are being used, patrons paid for, 25 candle power are being used patrons having purchased the 25 candle power bulbs at local stores and put them in to use without notifying or asking permission of the company. This is directly contrary to the company's rules and as it endangers the property of the company by a possible overloading of the plant, which is at present operating to its fullest capacity the company insists that the practice be stopped, and that patrons using 25 candle power lights or larger, without permission change back to 16 candle power. If anyone is found using the service contrary to the rules, the lights of his or her place will be cut out entirely."

Memorial Day.

May 30 has been set apart in every northern state and in the west and northwest, either by custom or law, as the one when flowers shall be strewn upon the graves of those who served their country. The day is approaching when the events of the great civil war struggle are most forcibly called to mind. In the remembrance of the soldier dead the men who fought in the Spanish-American war are not forgotten, neither those who fought in the war against Mexico. To all of its dead heroes the nation will, on Memorial Day, pay respectful tribute. When the day was first set apart the observance was confined almost wholly to the members of the Grand Army of the Republic and the women's societies auxiliary to it, and the graves decorated were those only of federal soldiers, but as the days have gone by and, the bitterness of the feeling immediately following the war has passed, the custom has gradually broadened until it has become national in its scope.

VARICOCELE NERVOUS DEBILITY CURED
If you have transgressed against the laws of nature, you must suffer. Youthful ignorance, later excesses and nervous diseases have wrecked thousands of promising lives. Treat with scientific physicians and be cured. Avoid quacks. E. A. Sidney, of Toledo, says: "At an early age I was the victim of youthful ignorance. I treated with a dozen doctors, who all promised to cure me. They got my money and I still had the disease. I had given up hope when a friend advised me to consult Drs. K. & K., who had cured him. Without any pay. After taking the New Method Treatment for six weeks I felt like a new man. The weakness ceased, wormy veins disappeared, nerves grew stronger, hair stopped falling out, urine became clear and my physical system vitalized. I was entirely cured by Dr. Kennedy and recommended him from the bottom of my heart."

ASK FOR GRAVEL

Property Owners on Two Streets Want Change of Material.

Following the action of the Wells avenue property owners, those on Hale street and Fifth street have petitioned the common council to use clay gravel, known as Fitzpatrick gravel, instead of the stone macadam for which the contract has been let. Judging from these petitions, it seems that the stone macadam street is not giving satisfaction where it has been put down on Sarah street and Stephenson avenue. The chief objection to this kind of street appears to be in the great amount of fine dust that blows from the street. How the council will dispose of these petitions is not known. The contract is already let and the consent of the contractor will be necessary before the change can be made.

John Griffith in "Macbeth."

We cheerfully call the attention of our readers to the eminent tragedian Mr. John Griffith who is to appear on Monday evening at Peterson's opera house. Mr. Griffith is an artist, in fact he is much more. Art in this connection would imply something that the mediocre may acquire, something studied and practiced for effect and that which can reach no higher. John Griffith is a genius of the highest histrionic order, and they are born, not made.

His elocution is faultless, his gestures natural and perfect, his stage presence superb, and he possesses a most magnificent voice. In facial expression and general appearance he is even superior to the elder Booth.

TO AILING WOMEN.

Many Escanaba Women make a Serious Mistake.

Many so-called female complaints are nothing more than kidney and bladder troubles. No woman can be strong and healthy unless the kidneys are well, and regular in their action. When the kidneys are ill, the whole body is ill, for the poisons which the kidneys ought to have filtered out of the blood are left in the system.

The female constitution is naturally more subject to kidney disease than a woman's work is never done her whole life is one continuous strain.

But do not give way to fretting over some imaginary female trouble. Give the kidneys the help they need, in Doan's Kidney Pills, and see how much better you will look and feel in a few days.

For this kidney medicine will assist your kidneys to drive out of your body the poisons which make you feel despondent, irritable, nervous and languid, and which cause bearing down pains, backache, urinary disorders, dizziness, reular heart, etc.

Mrs. Joseph Perry, 330 Mary St., Escanaba, Mich., says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for they cured me of backache after I had suffered for a long time. There was a constant aching across my loins, accompanied by a weakness and misery that it is hard to describe. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills recommended by our most reliable citizens and sent to the Mead Drug Co's. store and got a box. The quick relief I obtained from this remedy astonished me, and it resulted in a permanent cure. I have had no return of my old trouble since taking Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

Charged That Leader Speculated with Church Funds to His Personal Benefit—Accusers Are Excommunicated.

Two Prominent Men Leading Fight to 'Dethrone' Alleged Autocratic Ruler—His Crimes Against the Church, His Followers and the Nation.

Salt Lake City.—A monarchy within a republic with Joseph F. Smith, president of the Mormon church, as the arch ruler. Such is the condition at present in Utah, according to those who are waging war on the Mormon leader and who are attempting to displace him from his high seat.

Charges have been made that Smith has diverted the flow of tithes from the coffers of the church to his own pockets; that he has commanded his followers to invest their money in enterprises under his control so that he may enrich his private purse, and that he has committed other transgressions too numerous to mention.

And the authors of these accusations are from within the sacred councils of the temple, and until their excommunication for their disloyalty to their leader, ranked high in church affairs.

But firmly entrenched behind the walls of the tabernacle the alleged king is biding defiance to his enemies both within and without the state.

Origin of the Trouble.

The election of Reed Smoot to the United States senate may be said to be the beginning of the trouble. Before the time arrived for the apostle of the who, while in congress, had more than once strenuously opposed the seating of Mormons in congress. He has since been appointed to the federal bench. At this time the Mormon church was practically united. And although, as has been stated, there had been some opposition manifested to the mixing of church and politics, there had been no dissensions of which the public were aware.

It was not until recently that the trouble which had been brewing for some time became public property, and that the issue between the two factions in the church were squarely defined.

Serious Accusations.

As the case now stands, two men previously in good standing in the church have made serious accusations against Mr. Smith.

He has been charged with taking the money paid as an "offering to the Lord" and using it for speculations to build up his own private wealth.

He has been charged with "taking the bodies of the daughters of his subjects and bestowing them upon his favorites;" "taking property which belonged to the widow and orphan and having absorbed it into the possessions of the crown;" with oppressing the poor being forced into this attitude by its own members.

Discontent Grows.

According to impartial observers, the discontent within the church is growing rapidly, and it is said this same discontent is manifesting itself in a way to hurt the president in the most sensitive place—the pocketbook. Already it is stated that the tithing is falling off heavily.

Thinking men among the Mormons are backing up Elder Smurthwaite's demand that an accounting be made for the tithing. They object to giving up a tenth of their incomes as an "offering to the Lord" when it is being demonstrated self-styled representative of God on earth, are to be given credence.

When testifying in behalf of Senator Reed Smoot, Joseph F. Smith declared under oath that he had never received a revelation. It is a cardinal principle of the Mormon faith that the head of the church is in constant receipt of communications direct from God. When he repudiated having received these messages the devout among the Mormons began to wonder if it were possible that he could be all that he was supposed to be.

Admits He Lied.

The mutterings became so general and so insistent that the president of ponents within the state. It has taken the position that all the world outside Utah should "mind its own business," and that the inhabitants of Utah must be forced to do the hierarchy's bidding or be crushed.

This position has aroused resentment on the part of the Gentiles, and especially those who have large invested capital and who feel that the development of the enormous material resources of the state is being handicapped. They are determined to fight the matter out now, aided by the people of the United States, with the intention of settling the issue once and for ever.

Active Leaders in Fight.

The active leaders in the fight typify the two elements which have joined hands. One is Thomas Kearns, a Gentle who retired from the United States senate March 4 last. The other is Frank J. Cannon, also a former member of the United States senate, a man who as a Mormon has always stood for independence of thought and of political and commercial action on the part of the members of the church.

Opposed to these elements are the Mormons and Gentiles who are sharing with President Smith the profits of the church's present commercialism and activity in politics. The two present members of the United States senate from Utah are types. Reed Smoot, apostle and one of the financial advisers of Joseph F. Smith, was elected some time ago as the latter's political representative.

George Sutherland, a Gentle, owes his present advancement and the achievement of his ambition to his desertion of the cause of the Gentiles, to which he had made many protestations of adherence, and to his promise of political obedience to Smoot and all the interests that Smoot represents. Thus is the issue defined in Utah.

The fighting for the last few months has been made principally by Kearns and Cannon. Kearns, who is possessed of millions, has furnished the sinews of war. Cannon has been the man on the firing line.

By speech and writing this brilliant son of one of the ablest of Mormon leaders has "carried the war into Africa." He has kept the church leaders dodging and explaining, retreating and blundering, until he has stirred up within the church a commotion never before equaled. For this purpose he has an exceptional equipment. Ever since childhood he has been on the inside of the workings of the church.

Cannon's Large Following.

Cannon has built up a large following among the younger and progressive Mormons, as well as among men and women outside his church. He opposed the selection of Reed Smoot, on the ground that it was wrong for the church to interfere in politics—that it would bring sorrow to the Mormon people and woe to Utah. Last fall he announced that he believed the issues within the state of supreme importance to the residents of Utah, and he joined the newly-formed American party, which was organized to fight the Mormon church in politics.

Not long after the presidential election he began the fight on Smith. For some time an effort was made to ignore the attacks, but finally the president of the church took cognizance of them by ordering the officials in Mr. Cannon's ecclesiastical ward to bring proceedings to cut him off from the church, which were successful.

While the Mormon church has always welcomed any attack made on its religion as a religion from the outside, this is the first time in its history that the attack has been from within, and the hierarchy is frightened. Persecutions from outsiders have only served to make martyrs of the followers of the creed of Brigham Young and helped to solidify the people in a defensive attitude.

But now comes a war within the church, in which the members of the organization make accusations against those in authority, while the accusers maintain their adherence to the faith.

Every move made by Smith and his followers thus far has only involved them further, and those who are fighting them welcome with glee the increasing feeling against them among the Mormons.

that Joseph F. Smith, as the alleged representative of the Lord, is using funds to speculate in sugar stocks, for example; to build up electric lighting, power and street railway monopolies; to force the faithful to take out life insurance in his personally indorsed company and to insure their homes in his company; to buy their salt from him; to patronize his railroad, to deposit their money in the banks which he backs with "offerings to the Lord;" to buy their clothing, groceries, hardware, furniture, shoes, headwear, and, in fact, everything else which they may desire, from institutions in which are invested, in his name, these "offerings to the Lord."

Rumors of fortunes made in stock speculations and in other ways by President Smith and others "on the inside" have made large numbers of the faithful more desirous than ever for an accounting of the moneys they have turned over in all confidence to the self-designated servants of the Almighty. Having made sacrifices in the divine interest, they are inclined to insist on figures which will show whether the dividends from these various enterprises are being used in the interest of the Lord.

Another Phase Discussed.

Another phase is being widely discussed, so much so that for the first time in the history of the church the president of that organization has felt constrained, on March 19 last, to explain to the members of his flock that he had testified to an untruth in Washington, the reason for it being that the senators, whom he designated as his "inquirers," were "trying to lead him into a trap." Instead of quieting the incipient rebellion against him, this admitted untruth has only increased the dissatisfaction.

On top of his admission his chief mouthpiece, Apostle C. W. Penrose, has been shown by parallel statements made under oath also to have been guilty of telling an untruth. Penrose, who is a polygamist, has made various conflicting statements under oath as to his marital relations.

All these things are going on within the church, while from without come other attacks which are worrying the leaders. The war is going on in politics and finance, and in these fields of practical effort on the part of the Mormon hierarchy lie their most vulnerable points.

In the field of finance, it is alleged, an effort was made to execute a "grab" of a franchise for nearly a century for light and street railway privileges in Salt Lake City. The action aroused such opposition that the prime movers did not dare to carry out their original intentions. At the same time, although no election is imminent at present, the growth of feeling among both Mormons and Gen-

I summer-fallow about one-third of my farm every year, and afterward take off two crops and summer-fallow again. The summer-fallow is ploughed twice during the summer, first shallow afterwards deep and no weed allowed to grow. Mormon church to take his seat among the country's law-makers, a popular wall arose throughout the country that he should be barred from that body. There were those of the apostles that opposed the mixing of church with politics and forecasted the opposition that would arise from his election, but Smith was favorable to Smoot's candidacy and, as is well known, he was easily elected. When the committee was appointed by the senate to investigate the charges of Mormonism preferred against the newly-elected senator, many churchmen in high standing were called to Washington to testify, and among others was President Smith. The general trend of the testimony presented showed that although polygamous cohabitation had been abolished as a rule, those of the Mormon faith were still ruled by the law of the church, rather than by the law of the land, or in other words, that the law of the church is supreme.

Smith a Confessed Perjurer.

It was only after the passage of the Edmund's law that Utah was admitted into the union as a state. Under this law, which was subscribed to by President Smith and the apostles of the Mormon church, plural marriages and polygamous cohabitation were forbidden. But on the stand before the senate committee on privileges and elections in the Smoot investigation, President Smith frankly confessed that the pact with the nation had been broken; that his oath was a travesty; that his obligation as an apostle and as hierarch of the church was a subterfuge.

The opposition to the seating of Smoot was ably conducted by Robert W. Taylor, a former representative from Ohio, members of the church for his own enrichment; of violating the laws of the church; of committing crimes against the government; of treasonable teaching, and of forsaking a true spiritual life for the "worship of mammon."

Accusers Excommunicated.

Goaded into anger by these attacks, President Smith has sought to retaliate by excommunicating persons who might question his acts.

Already former Senator Frank J. Cannon, son of President George Q. Cannon, one of the most celebrated leaders of the Mormon church, has been cut off for daring to express opinions in criticism of the Mormon head.

Charles A. Smurthwaite, one of the leading business men of Utah, a high priest in the church and a man whose character has been above reproach, has been disfellowshipped for charging President Smith with bad faith and demanding an accounting of the church funds.

He is fighting the proceedings against him, maintaining that, if given an opportunity, he will prove every statement he has made against the president of the church.

Furthermore, he has put to a test the various asseverations of the church to the effect that polygamy and polygamous cohabitation are no longer countenanced by filing charges against one of the elders of the church, Hyrum H. Goddard, on the ground that this elder is violating the revelation against polygamy by living with two wives.

The hierarchy is seeking to evade the issue by raising technical points, but it is being continually put into the position of showing bad faith all around, and is strained to make explanations in the tabernacle.

These explanations have involved him in contradiction, and there is much wonderment among the adherents of his church whether the statements he made under oath when testifying before the senate committee on privileges and elections in Washington are to be believed, or whether his public statements on the platform in the tabernacle, as the titles in Utah against the political activity of the church has been so great that the hierarchy is fearful of the next issue. The anti-church sentiment has been crystallized in the American party of Utah.

Entrenched behind the wall of statehood, which was obtained by false pretenses on the part of the Mormon church, the hierarchy is biding defiance to the nation at large and to its op-

Weather Man So Often Wrong It Was a Sure Thing to Bet Against Him.

This is a story of a weather almanac prophet, who may be called Thompson, tells on himself, says the New York Press. While recently visiting a Jersey town he went into a store to buy a cigar. He made his purchase and was about to leave the store when the proprietor remarked:

"It's a pity you have no umbrella. For it's going to rain soon."

"I think you are wrong in your prediction," replied Thompson. "It looks like fine weather to me."

"Well," said the cigar store man, "I'll bet a dollar it will rain before noon."

"Very good, I'll call in again to-day and collect," said Thompson. After leaving the store he had gone only a few blocks when he was well drenched by a sudden shower. Thompson was struck by the man's prediction, and being always intent on the interest of his almanac he went back to the store and was received by the proprietor with a broad grin.

"You see I was right after all."

"Yes," admitted Thompson. "Here's your dollar, and I'll give you another if you tell me how you knew of this rain."

"Why, the truth is I have an almanac called Thompson's Almanac, and the fellow is such a notorious liar that whenever he predicts a fine day I always know it will be the exact opposite. I looked at the almanac early this morning and prepared for rain."

How a Woman Made a Success of the Home Vegetable Garden.

Theory is the foundation, experience the finished structure. Garden books as a rule run to the theoretical side and it is up to each one of us to buy the seed and accumulate the experience, oftentimes a most expensive proposition, especially in the vegetable garden; hence when a book appears that is practical and written by an amateur who can and does raise each year all the vegetables for the home table, it is bound to receive a warm welcome.

"How to Make a Vegetable Garden," by Edith Loring Fullerton, is a new book just published by Doubleday, Page & Co., New York City, at $2.00. It has over 350 pages and is profusely illustrated by half-tone reproductions of photographs taken especially for this book, which covers all phases of gardening—the breaking of the soil, fertilization, planting, growth, cultivation and even the preparation for the table, each vegetable story covering the housewife's end of it by means of recipes for cooking and serving.

Every portion of the book is thoroughly practical, being the story of personal experience from beginning to end. A very ingenious table is added, giving planting time, depth to plant, date of maturity and many most helpful hints.

Against Rate Reduction.

Atlanta, Ga.—The recent proposition of J. Pope Brown, chairman of the Georgia railroad commission, to reduce the passenger rate in Georgia from three to two cents per mile was protested against by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Order of Railway Conductors, and unions of the blacksmiths, machinists and telegraphers, boiler-makers, railway trainmen, carpenters and joiners, clerks and carmen. These organizations employed an attorney especially to represent them, who urged that such a reduction would work against the prosperity of the state and lead to a reduction in the number of railroad employes as well as of their wages. The Travelers' Protective association also protested that a reduction as proposed would result in few trains and poor service.
