A VERY SAD ACCIDENT.

Wreck of Ore Train Results in Death of John McCarthy Jr. Two Others Injured.

CAUSED BY OPEN SWITCH

Unfortunate Man Was Son of Alderman and Mrs. McCarthy and Many Friends Mourn His Untimely Death.

Early Tuesday morning a wreck occurred in the yards of the Northwestern road, resulting in the death of John Mc-Carthy, Jr., and injuring two others, namely: Robert Cox, switchman, body and hands cut and bruised; and Jonn Nelson, fireman, only slightly hurt.

McCarthy, as engineer, was prepar-ing to haul a string of loaded ore cars up to the dock, and in order to get a start, was pushing the cars behind the engine down the north yards, when, on ount of a switch having been left open, the loaded ore cars with the engine were suddenly transferred to a side track on which several cars stood. The collision came immediately and was of such tremendous force that the ore car next to the engine was telescoped and the cab of the engine, where Mc-Carthy was sitting, was crushed before the young man could move. When ex-tricated from the wreckage, McCarthy was unconscious and breathed his last a few moments later while being taken to the hospital. His skull had been terribly fractured and his chest crushed.

Nelson and Cox escaped by a miracle and their injuries are not even serious. They were in the cab when the collision happened, but received only minor injuries. Mr. McCarthy was the son of Alderman and Mrs. John McCarthy, and has lived a long time in this city. He began to work for the Northwestern road several years ago as an apprentice in the shops and gradually worked his way up to engineer, which position he has held for a considerable period. He had a multitude of friends and was a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive engineers, of the Brotherhood of Locometive Firemen, of the Knights of Columbus and of the Young People's Irish Literary society.

Patrick's church Thursday morning was one of the largest ever held in this city, and was conducted under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus. The services at the church were very impressive and made a deep impression on every person in the vast audience. Father Corcoran, of Schaffer, preached the funeral sermon and paid a glowing tribute to the character of the young

His reference to the dangers incident to railroad life, and his words of counsel and advice to those who follow that line of work was a strong appeal for higher and nobler ideals in every day life. That his "heart to heart" talk, as he characterized it, made a marked impression on the multitude was best evidenced by the touching scene that followed his closing words, when everywhere throughout the assemblage could be seen strong resolute men bowed in grief.

St. Patrick's choir sang the requiem mass and the solos "Sweet Spirit Bear My Prayer" by Mr. Ralph Finley, and "Goodbye Sweet Day" by Miss Mary Cleary, were especially well rendered.

The floral offerings heaped high about the casket looked like some great bower where only angels tarried.

The following young ladies gown in pure white, acted as a floral committee, and headed the funeral corters in a carriage drawn by a pair of white horses: Misses Lizzie Sheehan, Hannah Boyle, Mayme Tyrrell, Elizabeth Madden, Mary Hogan and Annie O'Donnell. The active pall-bearers were Chas. S.

Chaison, Hugh J. Lyons, Matt Fogarty. John Fenton, Thomas Sheehan and Timothy Curran. The honorary pall-bearers were all older members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and were: Thos. Greene, John Fisher, Henry Valentine, Robert Hodson, William Caven, and James J. Corcoran. The funeral procession presented an imposing spectacle, extending as it did, over a mile long. In the line of march were members of the local council of the Knights of Columbus, members of the several Railway organizations and a line of carriages which included every available rig in the city and estimated at one hundred and fifty.

The large number that turned out to do honor to the memory of the young ineer, testify in no uncertain manner to the high esteem in which he was held by his friends and associates. He was a young man of sterling qualities and his untimely end has shattered the hopes of those who predicted a successful career for him in his chosen calling.

BLUE RIBBONS LOST

Escanaba Base Ball Team Won Game by a Score of 4 to 1.

The Blue Ribbons were worsted by the Escanaba city team at south park last Tuesday by the score of 4 to 1, and the game was to decide the chamnship of the city. The Blue Ribbo played a good game and its admirers claim that had it not been for some disagreement between their players, the game might have resulted differently. However, on the form displayed by each team, the final score about established their relative strength.

Both Nolden and Walch pitched good strong games, the former having so thing the better of the argument in the way of hits and the control displayed. Walch's work was consistent and he pitched his team out of some tight holes, but seventeen hits were made off his delivery and he was guilty of hitting four basemen, thus allowing them to walk. However had his support been better at critical periods, it is doubtful if he would not have won his game. Nolden allowed but eight hits and struck out seven men, and his support was excellent in almost every inning.

The Blue Ribbons were the first to score and obtain their only run in the the games that had been planned for third inning. The Escanaba team pushed in three runs in the fourth inning and another one in the sixth and this ended the score getting for both sides. Buckley and Matt played especially good games for the Escanaba team while Walch and Joerges seemed to be the most active for the Blue Ribbons. The fans of the city were not satisfied to leave the game decide the champion ship, so the managers have arranged for another game at south park to-

PETER BLOOMSTROM DEAD

Well-Known Jewsler Passed Away Monday Morning.

Peter Bloomstrom, a leading business man of this city, and proprietor of a jewelry store at the corner of Charlotte and Ludington streets, died suddenly Monday morning from the bursting of a blood vessel caused by the enlargement of the main artery leading from the heart.

For several months Mr. Bloomstrom has been in poor health and recently took a trip to Denver. He returned apparently improved and his death came quite unexpectedly. He was thirtyeight years of age and is survived by his wife and three small daughters, besides his parents, three brothers and two sisters. He was born at Berland, Sweden, and came to this country at an fare of the nation. The problems at Rockford, Ill. He came to Escanaba twelve years ago. He was employed as a jeweler in turn by H. M. Stephenson. Paul Hohlfelds and Sourwine & Hartnett and later went into business for himself. He was a very successful business man and enjoyed a large trade.

He was a member of the Elk's Lodge, the Knights of Pythias, the Odd Fellows, the Woodmen, and the North Star society. The funeral services were held from the home on Wednesday afternoon, under the auspices of the Elks lodge. Rev. Philip Thelanderconducted the services.

RESOLUTION DEFEATED.

Attempt to Prevent Street Railway Company From Hauling Material | half. on Ludington Street, Falls.

An effort was made to make the Street Railway Company cease hauling bulk material over its line on Ludington street, at the meeting of the city Council Monday evening. A resolution to this effect was proposed but by a vote of 9 to 3 it was defeated. Nearly all the alderman were deeply interested in the subject and the discussion which preceded the vote proved to be very warm and somewhat bitter. There seemed to be some disagreement as to what kind of action was for the interests of the people.

The aldermen voting in favor of the resolution which prohibited the hauling of anything besides package freight by the Street Railway Company over its Ludington street line, were as follows: Peter Jensen, William Elliot, and Loftus McMartin.

Those voting against this resolution, were: Beck, Fello, Matin, McCarthy, Nelson, Priester, Lindsay, Smith and Tolan.

CELEBRATION

Everything Progressed Smoothly in Spite of Unfavorable Weather.

FOURTH. OLD-FASHIONED

City Crowded With Visitors Weather Bad in Morning but Cleared in Afternoon.

The whole city, re-inforced by hundreds of visitors from the country at large, participated in the noisiest and most successful celebration ever held in this city on July the Fourth. The tumult began early Monday night and lasted until far after midnight of Tues-day. The rain which care down in torrents in the morning, made it impossible to hold the parade and some of the forenoon, but all these events were carried out in the afternoon. On socount of the wet track the races could not be pulled off and it was announce that a postponement was necessary. But the rain did not last long and the weather turned out more favorable than had been anticipated by the most opti-

At one o'clock the parade took place, following the line of march from Stephenson Ave. through Ludington street and Tilden Ave. to the city park, where the formal exercises were held. The prizes awarded by the judges of the parade were as follows:

For the best float, A. & J. DeGrand, dealers in Feed, hay and flour, first prize; Blood Berry Gum, second prize For the society having the largest number of members in line, the Barbers Union.

For the finest decorated carriage, the Fair Savings Bank Department store. After the parade the President of the Day, John J. Sourwine, introd R. Northup, and the Declaration of Independence was then read by him. Hon. John Power, who is acknowledged by all to be one of the most brillians orators of the state, delivered the address of the day. His speech was not confined to simple eulogies on the Fourth of July as a day of celebration, but touched upon broader and deeper topics, which concern the future welcially and financially were disc and dwelt upon in a remarkably clear, earnest and logical manner. The relations of the rich and the poor, the great and fundamental principles which un-derly the present Jury system, were each touched upon by the orator with a voice that thrilled his listeners and with words that carried a profound impression. It was altogether the finest oration heard in this city for years.

The full program of athletic events took place on Ludington street and were completed by five o'clock.

In the evening a great crowd as-sembled on the south shore to witness the display of fireworks, which was magnificient. The celebration was in every respect a success and much credit is due to those business and professional men who worked so hard in its be-

FOUL PLAY

Sheriff Richard Perrow Called to Hasonville Friday Morning to Igvestigate Finding of Dead Man

BODY BADLY BRUISED.

Body Was Covered With Brush and Was Badly Decemposed Identifloation impossible.

Covered by brush and logs, the body of a dead man, which bore evidences of having received many bruises, was discovered by F. F. Davis, the poetmaster of Masonville, at that place Friday morning. The body was in such an advanced state of decomposition that identification was impossible. The body was found opposite Miller's boarding house at the switch leading to the William Mueller Company's lumber yard, and a log which had been lying on the pile of brush which had concealed the body, had in some way rolled off, thus disclosing the corpse.

About ten days ago the residents of Masonville were startled by hearing several shots and other manifestations of something wrong going on in the vicinity of the finding of the body, and it is strongly suspected that there is some connection between the two events. The mans body bore many marks of violence, and in the opinion of those who have seen the body, foul play seems apparent.

Richard Perrow hastened to Mason ville as soon as the discovery of the body was announced, and further de-velopements are expected soon. An antopsy was held late Friday afternoon but too late for our press.

There is scarcely a minute in the whole round of the tremendous circus program in which this busy army of funmakers is not active, in creating amusement. At an afternoon's performance when the children are present in army numbers, it is a rare sight to witness the uproarious enjoyment of these young folks. The tricks are all new to them, and the good natured 'Merry Andrews' appeal joyfully to the boys and girls of the great human family. Creditors Will Continue Prosecution of Gallup in Ansoonds, Mont. and Interesting Developments are Expected to Fellow.

When the proceedings, brought by J. C. Kirkpatrick on behalf of the creditors of the bankrupt firm of Rathfon Brothers against Attorney George Gallup, formerly of this city, were brought before the Federal court at Chicago, Judge Anderson, who temporarily occu-pied the bench during the brief illness of Judge Kohlsaat in the United States district court at Chicago, ordered the case dismissed and denied the application for an injunction preventing the transfer of some real estate in Washington state. It is averred by those in charge of the prosecution that on April 10th. Gallup had filed a notice of change of residence, and when the case came before the district court recently had witnesses to prove that he was now a bona fida resident of Anaconda, Montana, and that he was established in the law business there. It was on account of this phase of the proceedings, that Judge Anderson decided that the case did not properly belong to his court and accordingly ordered the proceedings dismissed. It is contended that Judge Anderson was not familiar with Galluo's past history or his reputation for intrigue, and naturally did not exercise the same caution in dealing with him that Judge Kohlsaat would have done. But the creditors claim that they have not done with Gallup yet, and J. C. Kirkpatrick authorizes The Iron Port to state that proceedings will be continued, following Attorney Gallup to Anaconda, Montana, and the prosecution pushed with as much vigor as ever. The outcome is a matter of deep interest to all Escanaba people for obvious reasons. It is charged that Gallup through operations of a shady character defrauded the creditors of the bankrupt firm out of from $50,000 to $70,-000. It will be remembered that proght against Gallus by a suit in the United States court at Marquette, and at that time he succeeded in having the proceedings dismissed on grounds very similar to those expressed in the recent Chicago coutr.

A GAME APIECE.

Ishpeming Takes First and Escanaba Second Game on Saturday and Sunday-Scores 5-3; II-I, Escanaba lost to Ish using in a rather poorly played game a Saturday but retrieved herself splendidly on Sunday by almost shutting out the visitors. In Saturday's game M. Walch occupied the box for Escanaba and pitched a steady consistent game, but costly errors by Jacgers gave the victory to Ishpeming by a score of 5 to 3. A feature of this game was a home-run by Olson, Ishpeming's first baseman, Sunday Chris Buckley proved beyond dispute that he is still a great base-ball player, by pitching a masterly game and playing all-round gilt-edged ball. His support was almost faultless, while ishpeming's errors were numerous and glaring. Only four hits were made of Buckley while eight hits were marked up against Matts, his opponent in the box. The visitors were unable to score before the eighth inning and it looked like a shut-out, when a sudden and short batting rally gave them their first and only run. Escanalis started the run-making in the second inning and by means of the many errors of the visitors, had chalked up eleven runs before the fifth inning.

The pitching of Watta for Ishpeming was good in both games but his support was too wretched for a good result.

DEATH OF SECRETARY HAY.

John Hay, secretary of state, died at 12:25 o'clock Saturday morning of pulmonary embolism at his summer home at Newbury, N. H. His death came as a shock, his condition until within a short time of the end having been most satisfactory to the physicians who have been in constant attend-

John Hay was born in Salem, Ind. October 8, 1838. He was the son of Dr. Charles Hay. He was educated at Warsaw and Springfield, Ill., and was graduated at Brown university in 1858. In 1861 he went from Springfield, Ill. to Washington to become President Lincoln's secretary and later he served in the civil war. He reached the rank of colonel and was at Lincoln's bedside when the president died. He then went to Europe and filled subordinate diplomatic positions at various capitals. In 1896 he was appointed ambassador to England. As a literary man John Hay would have won fame sufficient for the most ambitious. His life of Lincoln is an able work and his poetry was of a high order. As secretary of state under McKinley and then under Roosevelt Mr. Hay brought the diplomacy of the United States into the first rank. His health began to fall several months ago. of improvement and his sudden death

The red flag of revolution is flown from the Russian battleship Kniaz Potemkine in the harbor of Odessa, the sailors having murdered most of their officers and trained the guns of the ship on the town, threatening a bombardment. Strikers encouraged by the mutiny on the warship, put the torch to the quays and buildings and much shipping.

The rebel battleship Kniaz Potemkine is reported to have been joined at Odessa by the battleship Georgi Pobiedonsetz, whose crew had mutinfed. Another report declared the Kniaz Potemkine had surrendered. The revolt at Libau was crushed, and 5,000 mutinous sailors surrendered after two days' fight with troops. The casualties are believed to be heavy. The Cronstadt revolt has ended.

Riots in Odessa caused the loss of millions of rubles. The mutineers on the battleship Kniaz Potemkine fired on the city, damaging buildings. A Russian squadron has been sent to the scene with orders to sink the rebel craft.

Martial law has been proclaimed in the Russian governments of Sebastopol, Nicholaleff and Erivan.

The czar has issued a ukase proclaiming a state of war at Odessa and investing military rights on the commander of the district.

CLOUDBURST IN MEXICC.

Town Located in a Gorge Almost Wiped Out-Heavy Loss of Life Reported.

Mexico City, Mex., July 3 .- Reports are current here that from 100 persons upward, with one report claiming even 1,000, have been drowned in a great flood at Guanajuato, a mining city now the important seat of activity by several large American and British companfes.

Late tidings are that Guanajucio is completely flooded and water is air ady first bath with Cuticura Soap and one application of Cuticura Cintment, and while there is fear that "Laolla" dam may give way, which would mean complete and general ruin. The city is built in a great gorge in the mountainsand the streets ramble up the mountain side in picturesque fashion. A storm began furiously on the night of June 30, and after midnight none of the in-30, and after midnight none of the in-habitants dared go to bed, so tremendous was the fury of the elements. The water rose in the lower or business streets, flooding shops and damaging thousands of dollars' worth of merchandise. The lower streets became raging torrents as the water poured in rivers down the upper streets. Doors were smashed in by the force of the water and windows were no protection against the furious flood. Later advices state that it is known that over 100 lives were lost at Guanajuato. A dispatch to President Robinson, of the Mexican Central railroad, says there are 1,000 dead at Guanajuato. The town nese merchants in Penang, Straits Set- of Marafilo, just below Guanajuato, tlement, decided to cooperate with the was completely wiped out. Two of the dead were American children, who were washed away before the eyes of a large panic-stricken crowd. The 1088 and damage to property has not been obtained, but is enormous, as the waters went through the fertile valley in a mighty flood, carrying everything before it. The loss in livestock is great.

INDICTS BIG FIRMS.

Federal Grand Jury in Chicago Deals Severe Blow to Bee! Trust.

Chicago, July 3 .- Five large packing house corporations and 21 officials and employes of various meat producing industries have been indicted by the special federal grand jury which for over three months has been investigating the packing business. The indictments were returned to Judge S. H. Bethea in the United States district court Saturday afternoon, and the jury was discharged. The five corporations and 17 of their officials, as individuals, are charged with conspiring in a combination in restraint of trade and commerce, and four men connected with the traffic department of another packing firm are charged with conspiring to accept rebates from various railroad companies. The two indictments were voted under the Sherman anti-trust law and the interstate commerce laws. and carry, on conviction, penalties of one year's imprisonment and fines ranging from $1,000 to $20,000 for specific offenses. Imprisonment must be in a county jail, as the offense of violating either of the laws is accounted a misdemeanor.

The indicted packers, their agents and employes may interpose in defense of the charges against them that the proceedings should have been under a rule_for_contempt and not a criminal Sylvanus hastened to explain, seein' what I did he had to, as it were.

It seemed that Billy had been fightin' to school that day, had a real knockdown battle with brother Henzy's Sammy and two or three other boys that had got led into the quarrel. "To think," sez Sylvanus, "that bay child, a deacon's boy, should fight and come home bloody." His nose had took a hard tunk in the fray and bled profusely, and he had a bunch on his forward as big as a banty's egg, he looked indeed like a warrior.

"Yes, to think on't," sez Polly, 'his pa has had to whip him hard and Miss Henry is so mad she won't speak to me agin. And there we are sisters in the meetin' house and she wuz goin' to give me a settin' of her Bramy eggs and the use of her sewin' machine, and that's all broke up, and Billy's new clothes I had such hard work to git done are all spilt and torn, it is dretful," sez she.

"I thought you'd be proud on me," screamed Billy, "and give me sunthin" You said war wuz noble, and you both on you wanted to go and fight, and today I fit and I fit, and thought it wuz glorious to lay out the enemy and tromple on him, and win the victory, and I did; and now pa has gin me the worst lickin' I ever had, and ma won't give me any supper, and I think It is real mean," sez Billy, cryin' worse than ever.

"I'll let you know," sez his pa, "that didn't mean children."

"No," sez Polly, "your pa didn' mean children "

"No, Billy," sez I, "children that are not wise and smart mustn't fight, it is dretful wrong for them. Your pa meant men that are wise and noble and educated, if they git mad or somebody else duz and they jine in the quarrel they can cut and slash and shoot and stab and murder, and it is all right, and the more they massacre the hobler they are."

Sylvanus looked dubersome, but not havin' had a chance to make up Polly's mind she fined with me and sex fervently: "Yes, that's what your pa meant, Billy."

And Sylvanus sez, hastily: "I've told Billy how it looks for two little Sunday school boys to set such a pattern ly: before the other school children that hain't had his advantages."

"Yes, that hain't had such a pa as Billy has," sez Polly.

Sylvanus bein' driv to it, admitted that war wuz an evil, and mebby the court of arbitration might be advisable.

And I sez: "Yes, it is a good thing to call a court of arbitration, but as long as warships are being built at the same time, and the army and navy increased it lessens the practical value of such a court. It is not like the faith of the little girl who in a long drought, where a meeting wuz held to pray for rain, took her umbrella. Public opinion will have to deal with this as with other art of peace, and love and human brotherhood, as well as war, to the boys in school? Why not, in addition to the stars and stripes, have the white flag of peace floating above it in front of every schoolhouse in the land, showing that peace is highest and best, and have the youth taught by precept and example that war is brutal and peace is divine."

Sez Sylvanus: "Has Brother Allen got his plantin' about done?" And before I could answer him he sez to Pol-"Mebby you'd better give Billy Deceased Wife's Sister Muddles. Our refusal to recognize marriage with a deceased wife's sister-which is legal in the Australian commonwealth-has led to many complications in the inheritance of property. And very embarrassing social incidents have happened. One of the most unpleasant occurred during the reign of the late queen. Arrangements had been made by the colonial office for the presentation of an Australian cabinet minister and his wife at court, but when it was found that the lady was a deceased wife's sister the proposed presentation was promptly overruled. Such an episode is not likely to be repeated, for King Edward, when prince of Wales, voted in the house of lords for the legalization of marriage with a deceased wife's sister.-London Chronicle.

M'GARRY OF WATER SCANDAL PAME STILL IN JAIL.

WARNER REFUSES TO ACT

Governor. After Hinting to Bis Friends at Last States Openly That Parolefor Ex-Attorney Is Now Impossible.

(Wm. Etlery, Staff Correspondent.) Lansing, Mich., July 3 .- Gov. Warper will take no action in the case of Thomas F. McGarry, who was found guilty of complicity in the Grand Rapids water scandal, and was sentenced to four years at Ionia. The McGarry case has been echoed to every corner of the state because of the repeated efforts which have been made at different times to secure liberty for the ex-attorney. Gov. Bliss, when about to go out of office was requested to extend pardon to the Grand Rapids man, but declined to act in the matter, thus passing it up to his successor. On account of the legislative session, the present executive has been compelled to forego action in the case, but as soon as the session adjourned, friends of the attorney made a personal plea to Gov. Warner, asking that their man be freed. Several weeks ago this plea was made to the governor, and his excellency advised them in his gentle firm way, not to waste any time on the matter at present. In spite of the governor's hint, they proceeded, asking for a hearing before the pardon board, and feeling much strengthened because Judge Wolcott, who sentenced McGarry, signed the petition for a parole. The best that the pardon board could do, after the hearing, however, was to say that they would consult with Gov. Warner. It is now given out that no matter what the opinion of the members of the pardon board may be, Gov. Warner will refuse to grant a parole. During the last session of the legislature, a bill was passed, with immediate effect, giving such matters absolutely into the hands of the governor, and it of Grand Rapids, on "The Administrawas said at the time that this was placed in the indeterminate sentence act for the special purpose of prevent- discussed "Is Gynecology to Remain a ing the pardon board from releasing McGarry.

Gov. Warner has signed the Detroit garbage bill, having received word that the city council had adopted a resolution agreeing not to locate the plant in a town outside the city, unless that town consented thereto.

Solon's Son in Trouble.

"Mike Knight," who was arrested at Grand Rapids on a charge of eneering the home of E. H. Fargo here on Monday and stealing three certificates of deposit, aggregating $303, has been on the grind of the solons. It hapbrought back to this city, and en route pened while the house was turning out Mr. J. C. Byrns, of Ishpeming. The boy, who is about 17 years of age, has been in Lansing during a good portion of the legislative session, and was quite well known. He says that he came back to Lansing en route from Chicago to Ohio to see a sick brother. He was robbed of $50, he says, and as he couldn't borrow money to continue his journey he decided to get it the best way he could, and the back door of the Fargo home presented the best opportunity. He claims that he found some certificates of deposit and a dollar bill in a handkerchief on the floor. He at once took a train for Grand Rapids and wrote from the Hotel Strathmore to H. P. Campbell, assistant cashier of the Lansing state bank, who had signed the certifled checks, asking him to cash one of the checks. They were made out to Hattle Fargo, but had been altered to read "Hattig" Fargo. The boy does not realize the enormity of his offense. His father, Mr. Byrns, had been attending the national convention of the Woodmen of America at Milwaukee, being one of the national directors, but he came to Lansing at once on learning of his son's trouble. Young Byrns was held on $600 bail.

Two physicians have examined Frank Byrns, son of Mr. C. J. Byrns, who was arrested for burglary, and pronounced him mentally incompetent. Bail was furnished and the boy removed to his father's home in Ishpeming, where an effort will be made to have the county authorities commit to him before; he just thought he'd him to a retreat.

Warner Again Calls for Aid. Gov. Warner again calls the attention of the people of the state to the urgent necessity of the cyclone victims in Santlac and Tuscola countles for help. Many families lost all of their earthly possessions except their real-estate, and are utterly without means with which to replace them. Thus far the responses to the governor's first request for aid for these sufferers has not been very generous. The greatest need is for lumber and other building materials, fencing, household goods, etc. The railroad companies will transpert free all contributions consigned to A. A. McKenzie, of Cass City, chairman of the relief committee. Gov. Warner took two trips through the cyclonestruck district, and he declares the conditions to be appalling. In some places the sufferers have endeavored to reconstruct their homes, but, according to the governor's statement, these instances have been few. In the words of the governor: "The wind New everything off the farms, but the mortgages" and consequently the people are in dire need of help. Before cold weather sets in next fall, the governor realizes that some strenuous building must be done, if a large number of families are to be left with shelter and free from destitution. When the requests for food and lumber were issued the conditions were

Senate Does the Work.

The clique of women who chose, during the session, to infest the house of représentatives, and called themselves the Ladies' Aid society, contributes a tale of some interest to the large category, and their story has some bearing its daily batch of bills. It being near the end of the session, bills were being passed as fast as Clerk Pierce could call the roll. After about 20 or 25 measures had been passed without debate, one of the women looked up from her crochet work long enough to say: "Dear, dear, I wonder why these men don't get down to work, instead of calling the roll to see who's here. I so wanted to see how they passed a law, too. I wonder if they're not going to pass any to-day at all." At which another equally well informed member of the party bit off a thread and remarked with equal wisdom: "Why, you foolish woman, they don't pass the bills here. They make all of the laws over in the senate." Deacon Ellis' Tale.

Deacon Ellis, the representative from Grand Rapids, has told of how he happened to enter the race for the state legislature. It happened like this; One day last fall he met a friend on the streets of Grand Rapids. Said the man: "Deacon, why don't you run for the legislature?" "Never thought anything about it." answered the deacon. It was just five minutes before the lists of primary candidates would be closed, and "Deacon" Ellis strolled into the city clerk's office, peeled a five dollar note off a roll of bills about as big as 40 cents' worth of lettuce, and announced himself as a candidate for state representative. The thought of running for office had never occurred run "for the fun of it.' To his surprise. people took him seriously, and the escapade cease to be a joke. The "deacon" entered into the campaign with a vim, and meanwhile didn't overlook any bets on baseball games. He talked to the sporting fraternity, he appealed to the churches, and he won. Now he is one of the most unique characters in the legislature. All his life he has occupied a seat high up on the water wagon and has never once fallen off. He claims that he never took fer with the following statement, which a drink of liquor, and never used tobacco in any form. Yet in Grand Rapbank and of the town: "How could I be ids and other towns throughout the blamed for ignorance in this failure, state he operates institutions which the straight-laced may put into the Only recently I came across a case where gambling class, but he never does any-Mr. Case had been in K. amazoo and thing worse than bet on a baseball taken with him $18,000 in paper on game or take a fly at the wheat mar-

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS

Payment on War Claims. Lansing.—Gov. Warner received from the comptroller of the United States treasury a check for $31,683.04, payment on account of Michigan's Spanish war claim. When the first settlement was made the federal authorities rejected items aggregating some $82,000. Subsequently congress enacted a law providing for the reconsideration of certain of these rejected items, and in accordance with this law, Michigan put in a claim for $58,247.85. The auditor of the war department allowed $31,-683,04 of this claim and last November forwarded a check for this amount. Acting on the advice of the attorney general, Gov. Bliss returned this check and took an appeal from the auditor's ruling to the comptroller of the treasury. That official has now sustained the auditor and returned the check in final settlement of Michigan's claim. Less than $1,000 of the state's final claim was disallowed, and there is a balance of $23,448.78 still due.

Potatoes for the Hauling. Northport.-The potato season closes here with hundreds of thousands of bushels of the tubers remaining in the pits and warehouses, while quantities of them have been sold in thousand bushel lots for eight and ten cents a bushel. They can be had now at 30 bushels for 25 cents, that being the price they must pay a man to haul them away. Last fall the farmers were offered 25 cents a bushel for their potato crop, but held off for higher prices.

Five Badly Hurt.

H to be 18 again and a debutante! sighed Rose Cantrell, as she gazed upon a young vision of loveliness entering the ballroom with her chaperon. "I am glad you are not," said the man standing beside her. "Your little friend there is a beauty and no mistake; she will make two hearts

"Alas! I fear the conditions favor a Lionel night," replied Rose with a sigh. "He is dangerously handsome and fascinating. Stephen is too massive and overwhelmingly in evening dress. He would look better in a uniform or in a careless hunting costume. Lionel is in his element on such an occasion." "She is divinely tall," said the man, still gazing at the young girl. "Did you tell me she was an orphan? She seems to be chaperoned by Mrs. Wes-the evening Rose Throughout watched with interest the division of the greater share of Pearl's dances between the tall, broad-shouldered man in whose eyes was a world of allent adoration, and the gay, handsome youth who danced with such reckless abandon.

"It could hardly be expected, I suppose," cogitated Rose, "that a girl so young and inexperienced as Pearl would make the sensible choice and take Stephen. Still Pearl is wise beyoud her years. I wonder if she will tell them what she told me. It should make no difference to a man in love, but I imagine Lionel will shy at the disclosure but Stephen, so capable of the grand passion, ought not to mind

A few days after the ball Pearl came to pay a visit to Rose, who proposed on a rainy afternoon that they telephone Tom to come and divert them. "Whom shall I ask him to bring with him. Stephen or Lionel?" she

There was a profound silence after this astonishing revelation, which came so suddenly that Ross with all her tact knew not what to say. She dared not glance at Tom, who was not an adept at concealing his feelings, and she feared his intense surprise would hurt Pearl. He was the Bret, to break the silence. "My dear Miss Craig," he said with Bone, like a dream, forever!-A city's hid a kindly smile, "It does indeed seem odd that one so tall should come of s dwarfed race, but I can match you in family peculiarities. I have a brother who is his own uncle!"

"It is true," he persisted. "He married his step aunt, and of course his aunt's husband would be his uncle!" Pearl laughed heartily, and Rose felt that she did indeed love him for taking the astounding information so easily. Lionel recovered himself and began questioning Pearl about her life and her parents, as if it were a most ordinary statement she had made. Stephen alone was tongue-tied and ill

It seemed to me I must take you then and there into my arms. I could not speak without telling you I loved you, so I came now to ask you if there is any hope Pearl--"

"I wonder," said Rose to Tom, "why Pearl has stopped playing. We mustn't neglect her.

She crossed the long room and parted the portieres. Instantly she returned to Tom. "Well," he asked, "why isn't she

STORY OF IOWA TWISTER. Picked Up Mare and Colt and Returned Them to Earth Without Injury. "Talking about cyclones, the most peculiar circumstances I ever heard of took place over near Mingo 24 years ago," said H. W. Robinson, according to the Des Moines Register and Leader. "One of those terrible twisters came tearing down from the southwest toward Mingo along late one summer afternoon, but apparently not in line with the town. Many of the citizens about Mingo saw it and most of them took to shelter.

"Over in the field in the direct path of the whirling mass were a mare and colt feeding. Suddenly the whirlwind was upon them. Well, sir, that animal and her colt were lifted up just like an ordinary wind would lift a piece of paper and carried straight up to a considerable height and let down-again as gentle like as though they were being lowered in an elevator. They alighted almost in the place where they were before the storm struck. Apparently confused at first, the animals finally pulled themselves together, and as the storm passed on began eating grass as though nothing had happened."

Room for the Barber.

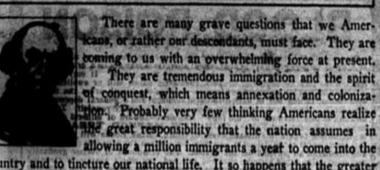

A Washington doctor has come forth advising women to refuse to indulge in the habit of kissing unless it be with gentlemen who have smooth, whisker-less faces. Whiskers carry germs, says the doctor. This is great news for the beardless youths and the barbers.

country and to tineture our national life. It so happens that the greater part of the immigration is of people who have been brought up to regard the government under which they live as an enemy, a thing to be fought, an institution to struggle against. They do not realize the difference between liberty and license.

You cannot mix oil and water. You cannot make a Latin nation an Anglo-Saxon nation, and that is why I see danger and trouble and the use for high statesmanship in the conduct of the United States in the immediate future.

It is well known that I have bitterly opposed the annexation of the Philippines, Hawaii and Porto Rico. I cannot see how any right-thinking American could do else than oppose it. This government, this nation, was founded as a protest against the colonial system, and now we go establishing colonies of our own. If there is anything more antagonistic to the founding of the government than the present trend of national events I cannot conceive it.

Would you advise the selling of the Philippine islands to the Japanese government? It would be the simple way out of a complex difficulty I am strongly inclined to believe that we will either have to sell them if we can or give them up when we must. The Japanese nation amalgamates with the people of the Philippines or will amalgamate them much more readily than we Americans possibly could. Neither you nor I nor the youngest child living will ever live to see the time when the natives of the Philippines will be Americans in the sense that Washington thought of when he stood sponsor to this country.

Do not think that to maintain our position as a world power the army should be strengthened and the navy increased. I cannot conceive why we should have an army at all, except a mere skeleton. Of course, we should have an abundance of trained officers in case of an emergency. An idle military class seems to me absolutely antagonistic to the principles of the country. We don't need soldiers here. All we want are citizens.

As for the navy I-believe that we should have a competent and efficient navy, and I think we have it now. It is big enough. I do not believe that we should build more warships. Spend the money in fortifications instead.

We cannot play the hermit among nations. We cannot as a nation live like Robinson Crusoe on his island. We are, and must be, sharers in the great life of the world and take our part therein. Yet it does not follow that we must do everything which ambitious schemes may suggest. It may be well to adhere to the policy of the past, except in so far as our interests as a nation compel. Here again, too, it is not a mere matter of feeling or sentiment, but a question of practical consideration of actual conditions. It requires the judgment of the wisest and best, of those who are trained by their studies, for an intelligent appreciation and determination of these questions.

They know that union conditions spell freedom, and non-union conditions accompany slavery. The object lesson is writ too large to be explained away by economic sophistry, no matter how distinguished its source. Wage earners have always had freedom to half starve, to tremble at the mandate of the boss, to be unresisting factors under shop tyranny, to sacrifice life and limb in dangerous employments, to work long hours in unhealthy surroundings. They do this now in lands and places where they are un-

Many of them have got enough of this kind of liberty. As the product of their thought, of their joint brain power, of their absolute necessity, they have laid hold of the principle of collective bargaining, of mutual protection, of organized effort. They have conceded certain unessentials in their relationship with each other in order that vital advantages might be secured for all.

By virtue of the trade union they get more money to spend. This frees them from some of the iron bonds imposed by scanty wages. They get more leisure. This leaves them free to cultivate their intellectual and social faculties. They have secured safeguards against accident and death while employed. This has given them liberty to live longer. And so through the entire category of the achievement of the trade union.

The entire social compact is based on the compromise of the individual liberty of the citizen, in order that security, protection and stability may be assured. Industrial development, as represented by the associations of capital, has been along the same lines. This wonderful solicitude lest the laborer should destroy his liberty is far fetched on the part of its most strident advocates.

Liberty is a good thing. It is impossible to have too much of it, provided it doesn't infringe on the liberty of some one else. No one was alarmed about the "liberty of labor" while labor was being trodden upon by other interests. Now labor itself is seeking to protect its own interests against aggressions, and it gets advice enough to start an en-

AMERICAN MAN TOILS THAT

Instances of Husbands Devoted to Invalid Wives-Most Loving Husbands Not Those Who Talk Most About Love-Uncomplaining Hus-bands Endure Lonely Summer Weeks, While Families Have an

BY MARGARET E. SANGSTER Copyright, 1805, by Joseph B. Bowles. As everybody knows, a great deal of pace is devoted in literature and in the daily press, to celebrating the virtues of wives. The wife is the good angel of her home, and her tenderness tact and self-denial can-never be overpraised. But far too little is said in commendation of the continual selfsacrifice and unobtrusive goodness of husbands, and? particularly, of husbands in America. Here, if anywhere, is the married woman's paradise. She has more leisure, more freedom to go and come, and in many ways has more luxury in life than her husband dreams of having. American husbands toll steadily in the market place and make light of their labor, if only they can gratify the tastes and ambitions of their wives, and build for their children homes better than they themselves had in their childhood. The husband of an invalid wife is often eminent for patience and kindness, his strong, brave cheerfulness tiding her over periods of distress, and his ceaseless vigilance for her comfort never failing. We have had in this country the example of rare heroism and unstinted devotion shown by the martyred President McKinley, to his delicate and suffering wife. That as-siduous care never varied. The utmost pressure of state affairs did not interfere with it, and in the last hour of mortal pain, his final thought was for

In a city, not far from New York, s woman has been a prisoner upon her couch of pain for many weary years. She has been unable to turn herself in bed, or to use her poor, twisted hands in holding so much as the lightest book. Never once has the patience of her husband failed nor his indomitable courage, which has matched her fortitude, once lowered its crest. She has been surrounded by the most dellcate attentions, musicians have been brought to her home, concerts have been planned there, flowers have bloomed for her, and all that wealth and love can do have been lavished to make her invalid condition endurable.

In the same city, in a very humble home, a cobbler has stitched at his bench year by year, mending shoes and earning bread for himself and his wife, who has lain most of the time a helpless cripple in a little room just over his shop. The cheery German is a man of few words, but he has had the in vincible patience of love just as Mo-Kinley had, and as his richer neighbor

Robert Louis Stevenson gives an instance of devotion on the part of a husband which should put the man of In my judgment, the whom it is told, high in the roll of saints. A young wife was taken suddenly and alarmingly ill, on a chilly September night. Her husband ran two miles to bring the doctor, and drenched with sweat, returned with him at once in an open gig. On their arrival at the house the wife half unconsciously took and kept hold of her husband's hand. By the doctors orders windows and doors were set open to create a thorough draught, and the patient was on no account to be disturbed. Thus, then, did the husband pass the whole of that night crouching on the floor in the draught and not daring to move lest he should wake the sleeper. He had never been very strong, energy had stood him instead of vigor, and the result of that night's exposure was flying rheumatism, varied by settled sciatica.

The wisdom of thus inviting disease may be doubted, but the self-forgetfulness that prompted it, was never outdone by the most unselfish woman and wife in the world.

The most loving husbands are not those who talk most about love. A man's reticence often leads him to keep his affection very much in the background. Nevertheless it is there. I know a devoted pair, who have almest reached the hour of their golden wedding. No human being, neither the most intimate friend, nor the dearest of their children has ever heard the husband address his wife except in terms of formal courtesy. She observes an equal ceremony in talking to him before others. No one has ever seen anything like sentiment expressed by either. Yet no one suspects or could suspect, that there is between them anything save the most undying attachment. The wife's slightest wish is always gratified. The husband lives and has always lived for her alone, her happiness the essential theme of his thought. Needless to say, this couple did not learn their reticence under our sparkling skies. They were brought up in the hill country of Scotland, and the silence of the moors early stole into their souls.

Before many weeks shall have passed thousands of American husbands will be facing solitary weeks. They are fast chained to business, and are for-tunate if they can get away for a week or ten days, or a fortalight durtennis, golf or driving; and shands there will be toll is a tropic temperat lonely house to go to at meals picked up at restal every variation of discount

Men say little about it weeks, when their families of the Tuli beyday of diversion urs. It is indeed a question to consider whether they are in thus temporarily desc complaining husbands. Bable have fresh air, and children ne to romp and play, but in many an outing could be planned my er home, so that the husband and fath. er could at least spend evenings and nights with his family.

A man once wrote to his wife, was absent: "This house is so that I can hear the fly walking on the celling above my head."

Apart from any sentiment, there no safety for health when one is alone in a city home. One never knows at what moment some stealthy disease may pounce, like a panther thicket, on an unwary individual. infelicity in the atmosphere, or some taint in food may introduce a poison, and the victim become ill and have no one at hand to call a physiclan, or give relief.

I heard a woman the other day, in a large assembly, speak sneering and slightingly of husbands, as 1 they were invariably domestic tyre who cared little about the de ment of their children and the case their wives. The woman had no class to represent others than herself. few of her listeners agreed with her in her foolish and superficial general-zations. Among the noblest, trues and finest men on earth are those who stand in the relation of husband to American women, and thoughtful, fairminded observers rejoice to do them

Lettuce, celery, dandelions, cresses and similar salads are good nerve tonics. A person suffering from chronic rheumatism should avoid dried fish, cooked oysters, fork, veal and turkey. The sufferer from dyspepsia will find turnips, spinach, cresses, salads, celery, sorrels, lettuce, dandellohs, ripe peaches and roasted apples on his bill of fare. Our grandmothers used buttermilk for removing freckles and probably worked less harm with it than many modern dames do with things less simple. It is doubtful whether buttermilk will remove freckles; but it is helpful in preventing their appearance. It should be quite fresh; and for lack of observing this important fact many would-be gainers of beauty have acquired pimples.

The women of the far east are so noted for their grace of carriage that one writer has said that they carry themselves like the figure of an antic frieze, as they walk along with a stately stride, bearing on their heads-b or jars of butter and eggs, or other home produce. There is a lesson in this example of the women of the orient and it lies in the fact that they walk with straight figure and uplifted head.

The Catholic ladies cleared $445 on heir fair held in the last week of June.

The celebration of the Fourth in Bark River was a great success. Everybody remained at home and participated in the carrying out of the program arranged by the Modern Woodmen. The rain in the forenoon was the cause of a change in the program and everything was held in the afternoon. The plents at the grove was well patronized.
Father Corcoran delivered a fine oration which was greatly appreciated by the audience. The sack race was pulled off at the grove. Charley Laronge won first place and a Schaffer man sec-ond. The potato race on main street was won by William Clairmo with Sylvester Fahey second. The horse race was won by Frank Galermeau with Wm. Raymond second. The other races were declared off on account of the rain.
The grand ball in the evening was also a great success, the hall being crowded with dancers. Tolan's orchestra furnished excellent music. The Woodmen cleared a sum in excess of $100 which is

There has been a great deal of disappointment because the Garfield report shown that the profits of the packing industry only amount to about two per cent of the volume of business transacted. There is no doubt, however, that the report is cor-

The census reports compiled by the government in 1900, before the agitation regarding the "beef trust" began, throw considerable light on this question. It appears from the census that the packing industry is conducted on a smaller margin of gross profit than any other industry in America. The gross margin of profit of 871 flour and grist mills in Illinois, in the census year, was nearly seven per cent. on the volume of business. The gross margin. of fifty-one wholesale slaughtering and meat packing establishments in Illi-nois was only about one-third as large, or a little more than two per cent. on the yolume of business.

The millers have not been accused of being in a "trust," and combinations would seem impossible in a business where there are several thousand mills in the United States competing actively for the flour trade, but it appears that the gross profits of the millers are larger than the gross profits of the packers. It may turn out that the agitation regarding the packing industry will show the same result as the devil found in shearing the pig: "All squeal and no wool."

BEHIND THE FOOTLIGHTS.

Mme. Rejane, the French actrers, proposes to establish a French theater in London, at which herself and other French actors will appear two seasons yearly.

Siz. Puccini has induced Sig. Giacosa and Illisa to write a libretto for an opera based on the life of Queen Marie Antoinette, to be completed in September, for which he will write the music.

The late Augustin Daly's copy of Ireland's "History of the New York Stage" was sold in New York last week for $6,664. This work contains complete records of the New York stage from 1750 to 1870.

John A. Conquest, father of Ida Conquest, the actress, although worth $500,000, is a laborer packing fish in Boston at two dollars a day. He says he works for the pleasure it affords him and that "work brings health, and that's better than wealth."

LITERARY PERSONALITIES.

Ibsen is reported to have said that there were three things he could not endure-children, flowers and music.

Rider Haggard, the English novelist, traveled about 7,000 miles in his tour of this country, trying to find a location for colonies for his countrymen.

Orlando Dalton, of Banbury, N. H., has among his library of old books one volume published 266 years ago entitled "The Mirror Which Flatters Not," written by Sieur de la Serre.

A. E. Houseman, professor of Latin in the University college, London, is a writer of verses which have won high praise from able critics. He will not accept remuneration for his work.

With the retirement of Edward J. Wheeler from the editorship of the "Literary Digest," Dr. Isaac K. Funk has taken personal charge of the paper, with William S. Woods as his chief assistant.

A Woman Tells How She Has Become Well and Strong after Years of Misery Due to Irregular Functions.

The fact that one woman is brighteyed, rosy-cheeked, strong and cheerful, while another is pale, weak and de-pressed, is due more often than otherwise to the regularity in the one case and the irregularity in the other of the functions that are peculiar to the sex. When these are disturbed everything goes wrong; pain and discomfort are felt all over the body; the sensations are often terrifying.

"For four years." said Mrs. Davis recently, "I suffered indescribable misery from sick headache every month, accompanied by fainting spells, shortness of breath and severe pain in my left side. There were also bearing-down pains, at times so scute that I could not stand up, and my head was full of ringing sounds. It seemed as if everything was going to hit me in the eyes. I was compelled to lie down with closed eyes for hours to get a little relief. When I attempted to arise everything would whirl around and it would grow so dark that I could scarcely see any object."

"Couldn't your doctor help you?" "Five doctors in all treated me, but I got no lasting benefit. Besides I used a lot of advertised remedies. The only medicine, however, that had the desired effect was Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they are truly a godsend to women. I did not have much faith in them when I began to take them. I found myself, however, so much better after using two boxes that I began to believe in them. They checked right away the decline into which I was going. My troubles kept lessening and finally disappeared altogether."

"How long did it take for a cure?"

"After I had used several boxes my health was all right. I had taken on flesh and was strong and hearty. I feel today in spirits more like a girl of sixteen than a woman of my years."

Mrs. O. H. Davis' address is Carmel,
Maine, R. F. R., No. 2. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are confidently offered to women for the cure of amemia, chlorosis, minful and irregular periods, and all forms of weekness. They are sold by every druggist.

Proved Beyond a Doubt.

Middleser, N. Y., July 3.—(Special)—That Rheumatism can be cured has been proved beyond a doubt by Mrs. Betsey A. Clawson, well known here. That Mis. Clawson had Rheumatism and had it bad, all her acquaintances know. They also know she is now cured. Dodd's K'dney Fills did it. Mrs. Clawson tells the story of her cure as follows:

"I was an invalid for most five years caused by inflammatory Rheumatism, helpless two-thirds of the time. The first year I could not do as much as a baby could do; then I rallied a little bit and then a relapse. Then a year ago the gout set in my hands and feet. I suffered untold agony and in August, 1903, when my husband died, I could not ride to the grave.

THINK THIS OVER

There is Food For Thought in These Paragraphs.

There is only one remedy that has won the endorsement of people right here in Escanaba, and that is Doan's Kidney Pills. Such endorsement commands attention. Doan's is the remedy that makes lasting friends. Recomnendations given long ago are re and confirmed. There is not another medicine that can equal this record and it is merit, and merit alone, that does it. Read this Escanaba testimony.

James Bridges, carpenter, of 1225 Escanaba St., Escanaba, Mich. says: "I suffered with my kidneys for several months, the result of severe attacks brought on by taking colds which settled in my back and caused terrible pains, particularly at night. I could not stoop forward and regain an erect position without taking hold of something, and had to lay off work several times. I used a number of remedies but none of them gave any more than tem-porary relief. I learned the value of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box at the Mead Drug Co's store. The relief obtained from their use was almost instantaneous, and the cure permanent. I have had no return of the trouble for over eighteen months." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name, Doan's and take no other.

REV. RUTLEDGE SUED

Iron River Man Claims Damages Fo Defamation of Character.

Rev, C. H. Rutledge, president of the Anti Saloon League of the upper peninsula will be sued at Iron River by Jas H. O'Brien for defamation of character.

Mr. O'Brien places his loss at $100. Following is the comment of the Iron River Reporter:

"Jim certainly does't place much value on his character, when he places the damages at only $100! Why it is the most absurd thing we ever heard of! And the justice who would give him a summons certainly cannot have any more character than the man who is so low that he values his own character at only $100—they are both a pretty eak pair to draw to.

Several weeks ago when Mr. Rutledge spoke in opera hall on Sunday afternoon he referred to Jim as once being a prominent business man here, but that through whiskey he had lost his business and was now begging morey from door to door in order to appease his craving for more liquor. If this state-ment is defamation of character then no man is safe from persecution. Prob-ably Jim and his worthy friend, the justice, were playing for the applause of the saloonkeepers, but we doubt if there is one of them who will approve of this action. And neither have we heard of anyone else that does.

The summons is returnable on July 7 and Rev. Rutledge says he will be herd to give them all the law they desire, and it is our opinion that some one is li-able to hear something drop, as the anti-saloon fighter claims he is not in the habit of lying down for anybody. The outcome of the case will be awaited with considerable interest."

THREE PERSONS INJURED

Frank McKillican, a fireman in the employ of the North-Western Road, was seriously injured on July the Fourth, by having both his hands badly mutilated by the premature explosion of a giant fire cracker. He was taken to the Delta County hospital, where, at first it was feared the outcome might be very serious, but, as no dangerou developments have taken place and I fection has been prevented it is hope ! he will recover without the loss of e ther of his hands. One finger howeve: was crushed beyond repair and it was necessary to amputate it. At present the young man's condition is favorable.

Raymond LaFond and Ralph Mason, both of whom were with McKillican when the explosion occured, were also injured, but are up and around with every sign of rapid recovery, LaFond received two badly burned hands and was somewhat shaken-up but his injury is not considered permasmall.

Mason had his face scorched and one eye-lid was bruised and burned. There is every indication that his eye-sight will not be seriously impaired,
