FOUR CEMETERIES DESECRATED

Vandals Wrought Havoc in Catholic Cemeteries in Escanaba and Gladstone.

CROSSES WERE BROKEN

Catholic Cemeteries in Other Towns in This Vicinity Also Visited in Same Way No Clues to Perpetrators.

Three Catholic cemeteries in this city were visited by vandals Tuesday night and monuments damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars. The Catholic cemetery at Gladstone was visited on Wednesday night where similar damage was wrought.

The raid here followed outrages of like nature upon cemeteries at Birch Creek, Oconto, Oconto Falls and Peshigo, and the work is supposed to have been done by some man or gang of men who are going through this section for that purpose. The Catholic church officials were notified of the depredations at the other cities and on Monday night a watch was set at St. Anne's and St. Joseph's cemeteries. On Tuesday night owing to a misunderstanding among the watchers, no one stood guard and the perpetrators were able to perform their fiendish work unmolested.

The damage wrought here will amount to several hundred dollars. Monuments with crosses upon them were the ones to suffer. Whoever it was that is carrying on the work has a particular antipathy for crosses, and in nearly every case these parts of the tombstones were torn down or broken. Most of the stones can be repaired. A few however, are practically destroyed. The major part of the crosses were of wood and they do not represent any great cost. One of the most valuable monuments in St. Joseph's cemetery is that erected on the lot of the Groos family. A marble figure holding a cross in one hand crowned the monument. The arm holding the cross was broken off, thus destroying a most beautiful and costly monument. The old St. Joseph's cemetery located near the North end of Stephenson avenue was visited the same night and crosses were torn off graves and broken.

No clues as to the identity of the man or men who wrought the destruction have been found. The authorities are making a strong effort to find the perpetrators and it is hoped that their efforts may be successful. The monuments in a cemetery represent in many cases denial and self sacrifice on the part of many poor people, and any one who commits such an act as occurred here Tuesday night should receive the full penalty of the law in such cases.

A reward of $500 is offered by the Knights of Columbus for information which will lead to the arrest and conviction of the miscreants.

All sorts of theories are expressed regarding Tuesday night's work. Some believe that the raid was made by some lunatic whose lunacy took this most extraordinary form. Others believe that it was the work of at least three men who are religious cranks. Mr. J. C. Maynard who saw the work of devastation in Oconto and in Escanaba expressed the belief that it is the work of but one man. It is certainly a most unheard of and strange occurrence and everyone will be glad when the persons who are doing the work are caught.

FOR TWO 600 FOOTERS

Orders Have Been Placed by Pittsburgh Steamship Co.

The first order for a 600 foot vessel for the late trade was placed Monday when H. A. Coulby, president and general manager of the Pittsburgh Steamship Co., closed a contract with the American Shipbuilding Co., for two steamers of that class. The boats, which will be the largest and most complete freighters on fresh water, will be built at South Chicago and will be completed and ready for business at the opening of navigation next spring.

The steamers will be 600 feet over all, 58 feet keel, 58 feet beam and 36 feet deep. They will have the same power as the "big four," of the same line, which came out this season and which will hold all cargo records. The new boats will be built on the general design of the four big steamers, but they will be stronger, to take care of additional length, as they will be 81 feet longer. The two new steamers will cost about $900,000, and about 4,200 tons of steel will be used in the construction of each of the boats.

President Coulby figures that the steamers will have a carrying capacity of 12,000 tons on 20 feet draft and, that in a full season, they will carry 600,000 tons of ore. The new ships will trade between our shipping ports and South Chicago and Coonoc.

IN FIRST CLASS CONDITION

Auditor General Makes Report Upon Upper Peninsula Hospital.

The upper peninsula boasts of but few state institutions, but those that we do have are singularly successful in their management as is evidenced by the following letter to Otto Fowle, president of the board of trustees of the upper peninsula hospital for insane: Otto Fowle, President Board of Trustees U. P. Hospital for Insane: Enclosed find report of an examination of the accounts of the treasurer and steward of the U. P. hospital for insane for the year 1905. This examination was made September 5.

I was very much pleased to find the accounts of both your treasurer and steward in such excellent shape. I was also shown through the institution by Dr. Campbell and am sure that the state of Michigan can be congratulated upon the condition of affairs in the upper peninsula hospital.

JAMES B. BRADLEY, Auditor General.

HEARING ADJOURNED

Rathfon Case to be Taken up Again Next Month.

The hearing in the Rathfon case before Referee B. O. Pearle, which was held all last week at the court house was adjourned Friday afternoon until October 10th. But one more witness, it is said, will be called by the trustee and then the side of Attorney Gallup will be presented to the referee.

Mr. Gallup announced that he had many witnesses to call and it is expected that his side of the case will occupy a whole week.

New Directors.

Dr. F. A. Banks, of Escanaba and J. A. McGuire, of Ford River, have been elected directors of the State Savings Bank to take the place of A. R. Moore who resigned last spring and James Clancy who has removed from the city.

NO SCHEDULE THIS YEAR

Peninsula Foot Ball Teams to Arrange Dates to Suit Themselves.

It is announced by the president and secretary of the upper peninsula board of control of high school athletics, that no regular schedule will be adopted by the board for foot ball teams at the beginning of the present season. Each team will be permitted to arrange a schedule with such teams as they choose at the conclusion of which, the board will announce a series of games between the teams making the best showing prior to Nov. 1.

OVER FOUR MILLIONS

Good Cash Balance in Michigan State Treasury.

The financial condition of the state of Michigan, as shown by the annual report of the state treasurer for the year ending June 30 last, is excellent. The total receipts of the year were $7,512,134.88 and the total disbursements $3,287,991.90. The cash balance at the close of the year was $4,007,299.58, and Auditor General Bradley has certified that the amount is correct.

What makes the financial condition of the state good is the fact that there are no debts outstanding. The bonds issued for the expenses of the Spanish-American war have all been retired, and no other bonds or evidence of indebtedness are outstanding.

There are of course the trust funds of the primary schools, Agricultural college, State Normal school, and university, amounting to $6,745,268.73, which the state has used for general purposes, but upon which the schools and educational institutions receive interest. This is, in one sense, a debt of the state, but as long as the interest is forthcoming the principal will not be asked for, and it is in effect nothing more than a debt which the state owes to itself.

The primary school fund amounts to over $5,000,000 of the total of the trust funds of the state.

The state treasurer's report is composed of a great many figures, both large and confusing. The receipts of the state are given in detail. It is shown for instance, that the state received from the counties in taxes $3,253,355.90, while during the same period the railroads paid $1,789,840.15.

It will be a matter of surprise to many that the inheritance taxes received by the state last year amounted to the comfortable sum of $187,769.93, that the fire insurance companies contributed $291,809.89, life insurance companies $188,769.93, telephone companies $70,000 and that $69,000 was received in the way of franchise fees. While telephone companies paid $70,000, the telegraph companies doing business in the state contributed but $3,746, and power companies paid $10,000. As a revenue producer the board of registration in medicine outclassed the telegraph companies, turning in $5,770 during the year. The state also received $6,728 from deer licenses and $7,382 from peddlers licenses.

SUSPECT HELD AT GLADSTONE

Man Suspected of Cemetery Raids Arrested by Gladstone Police.

IS A PEDDLER

Gives Name as Charles Gallagher and Place of Residence as Battle Creek and Petoskey.

A man suspected of the cemetery outrages in this city and Gladstone is under arrest in Gladstone. He was first arrested Thursday afternoon by the police of that city who had heard of the damage done in the cemetery here and who were on the look out for suspicious characters. He was held but a short time however and released, the authorities being satisfied that he was not the man. The stranger left the cemetery and when shortly afterwards the officers found that the Catholic cemetery had been raided they set out for the man who had been released. Chief of Police Murker overtook the man near Cornell and returned with him at Gladstone.

The stranger is a peddler and gives his name as Charles Gallagher and place of residence as Petoskey and Battle Creek. He said that he had been selling goods in the vicinity of Munising and Manistique before coming to Gladstone. The man is somewhat peculiar in his actions but there is little proof to connect him with the cemetery raids.

COMPANY DISSOLVED

Directors of Gold Crown Mining Company Announce Dissolution.

The directors of the Gold Crown Mining company, which was organized in this city over a month ago, have announced that the company has been dissolved and have issued the following notice: "The Gold Crown Mining company has been dissolved by agreement of the directors and no more stock will be sold by that company."

Signed

A. J. YOUNG,
H. SALINSKY,
JAMES B. WILKINSON,
C. W. KATES.

All money that has been received by the company for the sale of stock is to be returned to the subscribers and no money will be lost through the transaction.

The directors of the company claim that facts were misrepresented to them by W. S. Anderson under whose direction the company was organized and who claimed to be a practical mining man. The property to be developed was in the Goldfish district of Colorado.

It was one of the agreements of the promoter that one member of the company should visit the mining district and make an investigation of the property to report to the stockholders here.

At a recent meeting of the company the promoter is said to have made representations different from those made before the organization of the company. It is said that a demand was made upon the officers of the company for the personal checks immediately for the amount of stock subscribed for by them, which they refused to do. The friction between the promoter and the officials of the company has resulted in the dissolution of the company.

Girl Brutally Assaulted.

Agnes Floyd, employed at the Martin boarding house at Manistique, as a domestic, was kicked down the stairs, it is alleged, by a man named Hans Hamberger. She was considerably bruised and was unconscious for about thirty hours. Until she regained consciousness it was supposed by the family that she had fallen down the stairway. It is thought that the man took her for another girl with whom he had trouble. Hamberger is believed to have gone to Escanaba or Gladstone, and Sheriff Klagstad is in search of him.

HOSE WAS CUT

Suspicious Breaks Occurred in Hose at North Escanaba Fire.

An investigation is being conducted by Chief Jas. Tolan of the fire department to learn if possible the cause of three breaks which occurred in the hose which was used at the North Escanaba fire. At the time of the fire a leak was discovered in one of the sections near the burning building and another piece had to be substituted. Two more leaks developed in rapid succession and new pieces of hose had to be substituted each time. When the hose was examined later it was found that the leaks were from holes with clean cut edges. It is suspected that some one cut the hose purposely.

MURDERER MAY BE CAUGHT

Officers Have Man Suspected of the Murder of W. W. Demock at Masonville.

GIVES NAME AS JONES

Is Identified as Having Been With Murdered Man on Night of Disappearance.

A man who is believed to be the murderer of W. W. Demock, a collector for a Milwaukee firm, who was found murdered and robbed at Masonville early in July, was caught yesterday at Masonville and is now in the custody of the officers. The stranger gives his name as John Jones and is identified as having been in a saloon at Masonville with Demock on the night of his disappearance. He was about to leave the town between two cars yesterday when he was seen by Adolph Neveau, proprietor of a saloon at Masonville, who recognized him as the stranger who was in Masonville on the night of the Demock murder. He at once telephoned to the deputy sheriff at Rapid River who arrived at once and placed the man under arrest. It is said that Jones has admitted that he was in Masonville on the day of the murder. He is also said to have admitted that he has served a term in state prison. When arrested he was armed with a .38 calibre revolver. Sheriff Perow and Acting Prosecuting Attorney John Cumiskey went at once to Rapid River where a preliminary examination was held. They returned to Escanaba last night bringing the prisoner with them.

BUTCHER ARRESTED

Marquette Man Sold Game to His Customers and Was Arrested.

State Game Warden Chapman being suspicious that frequent violation of the game and fish laws were going on in the northern part of Schoolcraft county, has for some time had a deputy on watch and as a result of such effort decided that Creighton was the place from which game was being shipped to Marquette. Last week, Mr. Chapman armed with satisfactory evidence, procured a warrant for the arrest of Frank Hathaway, who keeps a meat market in Marquette, which was placed in the hands of Sheriff Klagstad, which he served, and brought Mr. Hathaway to this city Friday evening accompanied by his attorney, W. S. Hill. On Saturday he was arraigned before Justice Knox and pleaded guilty. The Justice imposed a fine of $75.00 and costs, amounting to $25.00.

We are informed that other charges are pending, which will be vigorously prosecuted in case of further violation of the law.

Injured at Council Bluffs.

Word was received in this city yesterday that the eldest son of William Golden of this city, who is yard master for the C. & N. W. Ry. at Council Bluffs had both legs cut off by the cars Thursday night.

New Dock at Marquette

Marquette is to have a new pier dock, to be constructed by the D. S. S. & A. railway. Work will be undertaken as soon as the preliminaries can be gotten out of the way, will be pushed vigorously throughout the winter and the dock will, it is said, be in commission next season.

COMMITTEE RELEASED

Council Discharges Special Water Investigating Committee.

At a meeting of the city council Tuesday evening a motion was carried discharging the special committee which was appointed two years ago for the purpose of investigating the water company. The services of A. J. John Power who was retained by the special committee as counsel were also terminated by the council.

The special water committee has been a factor of considerable consequence in the fight which the city has made and is making to secure pure water and its dismissal at this time may well occasion some surprise. Alderman John Tolan, chairman of the committee, has been particularly active and untiring in his efforts to secure pure water for the city. He was greatly provoked at the action of the council at a recent meeting in giving the hydrant rental bill of the water company, and expressed his views on the subject quite warmly at the meeting following. The motion discharging the committee while both the Mayor and Alderman Tolan were absent from the room securing some records from the clerk's office.

ASKS BIG SUM.

August Bowman Has Brought Suit for Damages Against Mashek Chemical and Iron Company.

August Bowman, through his attorney G. R. Empson, has brought suit against the Mashek Chemical Iron Co. for $20,000 damages which he claims because of injuries received by him while in the employ of that company on January 18, 1905 and which he charges were due to the negligence of the officials of the company in allowing a saw dust hopper to remain uncovered.

Bowman was engaged in pulling saw dust from a box car. The platform upon which he was working he alleges was covered with ice and snow upon which he slipped and fell into a hopper below. His left knee was caught by the moving chain in the hopper and the bones crushed so badly that amputation was necessary.

Bowman also claims that $700 has been spent by him for medical treatment and medicines.

YOUTH ARRESTED

Conrad O'Donnell Caught by the Chicago Police.

Conrad O'Donnell, 15 years of age, was placed under arrest by the police at Chicago and brought back to this city by Sheriff Perow. The charge against him is larceny and is preferred by John Christie, proprietor of the New Ludington hotel. O'Donnell is charged with opening letters belonging to guests at two hotels in the city and taking money from them. Immediately after the theft O'Donnell left town and was soon located at Chicago. He evidently thought himself safe in the big city for he addressed a souvenir postal card to John Christie upon which two large policemen were shown placing handcuffs on a small boy, and beneath the picture O'Donnell wrote "I was too wise for you guys up there. I couldn't resist the temptation to take the money but I will work and pay it back." Within an hour after the postal was sent O'Donnell was under arrest.

Owing to his age O'Donnell will probably be sent to the industrial school at Lansing, an institution from which he was released several months ago.

BAD FIRE AT NORTH ESCANABA

General Store of J. L. Moser Badly Wrecked by the Flames.

FULLY INSURED.

Entire Block Was Threatened—Fire Departments Had to Make Run Over Bad Roads to Reach Fire.

A fire which for a time threatened nearly the entire business portion of North Escanaba occurred early Tuesday morning. The general store of J. L. Moser was partially destroyed at a loss estimated at $5,000. The stock of goods at the south and east ends of the store were badly damaged by the fire while the goods in the north part of the building suffered from the water and smoke. The North Escanaba branch post-office station was located in the south part of the store, and a number of letters and stamps were destroyed. The registered letters were found intact by Postmaster M. J. Ryan who inspected the office immediately after the fire.

Three Hundred Dollars in Cash which was deposited between the leaves of an old bible is also believed to have been burned. The Bible was found with both covers burned off. The fire is supposed to have started in the rear of the building on the first floor. Mrs. Gustav Nelson who lives next door first discovered the fire and awakened those who were asleep in the Moser building. The Moser family and one roomer were able to escape with only part of their clothes, so far had the fire progressed before it was discovered. The fire department arrived on the scene at about 3:30 a. m. after a hard run over very bad roads. Within a half hour the fire was under control.

"Section 98a will be in effect on and after September 16 next, and provides that when taxes have actually been paid to the officer authorized by the provisions of this act to receive the same and the entry of such payment was not made upon the tax roll, the person thereafter applying for a certificate of error, or a cancellation of the taxes, shall present to the auditor general the certificate of the proper county treasurer that such taxes were paid on the giving of the date, as appears from receipt thereof on file in his office. The county treasurer shall preserve the receipt so presented to him and shall give to the person entitled thereto a certified copy thereof.

It shall be the duty of the county treasurers to immediately notify the person of officer receiving such payment of the production of such receipt and require payment to be made forthwith to him, the said county treasurer, of the amount not discharged by entry upon the tax roll at the time of payment. And in case of failure of said delinquent treasurer to pay said amount, as requested, within thirty days of the receipt of said notice, it shall be the duty of the county treasurer so notifying, to institute suit against said delinquent treasurer, and his bondsmen for the recovery of said amount.

"Upon the receipt of such money so paid to him, the county treasurer shall at once pay the same over to the proper township, or other officer or fund entitled to the same, and shall notify the board of supervisors at their annual session in October of the several amounts thus collected and paid over.

This is a loss of 30,481 since the census of 1900, when the state was accredited with a population of 2,237,853. Practically all of the larger cities and counties showed gains. Ex-Auditor Sherrick, of Indiana, was formally arrested in Indianapolis, charged with embezzlement of the state's funds. He waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury under bonds of $15,000. Investigation of the securities which were placed in the hands of the governor tends to show that they are of sufficient value to protect the state.

SEEKS UNIVERSAL PEACE

DEAR TO CALL CONFERENCE AT THE HAGUE.

All Nations Are to Be Invited—Date Not Yet Made Public.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 19.—Emperor Nicholas again appears before the world as a promoter of universal peace. No sooner is the Russo-Japanese war over, and even before the peace treaty has been ratified, than his majesty issues invitations to a second peace conference at The Hague. That the emperor has done so was learned Monday from a source which leaves no shadow of doubt as to its authenticity. It is officially announced that "the Russian government proposes to address the foreign powers with a view to the holding of a second peace conference at The Hague," but it is known that negotiations preceding this announcement that the government "proposed to address the powers" were entered into especially with the United States and were conducted with the greatest secrecy, there being no slightest inkling that Russia contemplated anything of the kind.

It is impossible to learn the proposed date of the second conference or to gain even an approximate idea regarding it, but it probably will not be greatly delayed. Russia as the power convoking the conference will probably submit an official programme, the other powers submitting suggestions.

There is strong reason to believe that the news even of the intention of the Russian government would not be given out unless invitations had already been sent to the powers and, possibly, that their answers had been received. In this connection an interesting question arises as to how the invitation was communicated to Japan in view of the lack of diplomatic relations, but the invitation may be delayed until such relations have been resumed, or it may have been forwarded through the United States.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 19.—It can be stated authoritatively that President Roosevelt will leave the step for the call of a second Hague conference to the czar. He already has expressed his desire for a peace conference and will heartily endorse the czar's suggestion, but believes that the latter, as the founder of the first congress, should take the initiative.

WILL BRAVE FEVER.

President Roosevelt Announces Intention to Visit New Orleans on October 24.

New Orleans, Sept. 19.—The yellow fever record up to six p. m. Monday is as follows: New cases, 34; total cases, 2,605; deaths on Monday, 6; total deaths, 34; cases under treatment, 311.

President Roosevelt's telegram to Mayor Behrman announcing his intention to come here as planned on October 24, if the people of Louisiana and New Orleans desired him to do so, subject only to the quarantine regulations of other states, is received as an additional indication of the president's sympathy with the people of the state and the city in the fight against the fever.

It is the opinion of the authorities that the fever will practically have disappeared before the president is due, but there is some doubt as to whether the adjoining states and the country parishes of Louisiana will be willing to lift the quarantines until further guarantee is assured that there is no further danger from the transmission of the disease. Very probably in the matter of the presidential party all restrictions will be temporarily abated, but these are matters which can only be determined after Mayor Behrman and Gov. Blanchard have addressed themselves to a careful inquiry into the whole situation.

MISSOURI FLOOD SWEPT.

Enormous Damage Reported—Twelve Lives Said to Have Been Lost.

St. Louis, Sept. 19.—One of the worst floods in Missouri at this season of the year is now raging through the Missouri river bottoms. In places 12 inches of rain has fallen in the last three or four days. All streams and rivers are out of their banks and some not more than a few yards wide are now raging floods, from one to three miles wide. Thousands of acres of corn land are under water and farmers will suffer a tremendous loss. Hundreds of head of livestock have been drowned. Twelve persons have lost their lives.

The loss to railroads is enormous. Miles of track are washed away, and dozens of steel bridges are swept out, as well as hundreds of smaller bridges and culverts. Railroad traffic in central Missouri is paralyzed, and there is no longer direct communication between St. Louis and Kansas City by rail.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

Two Boys Drowned.
St. Joseph.—Two boys who left this port recently in a small boat have been lost. Capt. B. Randall, of the tug Flora V, returning from South Chicago, picked up an overturned yacht tender ten miles from port. The craft bears the name plate of a St. Joseph boat company, and answers the description of the boat in which the unknown boys rowed out into the lake. Marine men say the little craft was probably caught in the recent gale, carried out into the lake and capsized in the high sea. The boys' names are unknown.

Fight Big Estate.
Kalamazoo.—Luke Cooney, Jr., Vital Bangs and other Chicago people are engaged in the prosecution of a lawsuit here against the estate of Henry Brees, the Kalamazoo savings bank and others for a redivision of the estate. Wreck Fatal to Two.
Grand Rapids.—Engineer Peter Neusen, of Holland, was killed and Brake-men Herman Hans and Trout were fatally injured in a Pere Marquette wreck near Zeeland. Neusen was engineer of the fruit express, which crashed head-on and at full speed against a special south-bound engine and caboose. The two trains met on a sharp curve, there having been, it is said, a mix-up of orders. Both trains were reduced to ruins.

Found Dead in Cell.
Mount Clemens.—George Ricker, a wandering tailor from Toledo, was found dead by his own hand in his cell at the county jail. Ricker was suffering from the delusion that he was pursued by enemies who sought his life. The other morning it was found that he had taken his own life by fastening a shoestring to a steam pipe in the room and with a slip noose around his neck hanged himself.

Ionia.—Because her husband went home and pounded her, Mrs. George Austin tried to kill herself by taking poison. A physician saved her life, but she declares she will keep on trying until she succeeds.

Bay City.—Benjamin Scott, who is said to have spent a good share of his 30 years in prison, has been arrested on a charge of assaulting and threatening to kill his mother, Mrs. E. Craig, about 65 years old. Scott hurled a heavy valve at her.

Grand Rapids.—On the way home from kindergarten, Gertrude Cobb, a four-year-old tot, ran across the street car track on West Bridge street and was struck by a car which cut her body in two.

GOOD BLOOD FOR BAD

Rheumatism and Other Blood Diseases are Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"In the lead mines I was at work on my knees with my elbows pressed against rock walls, in dampness and extremes of cold," said Mr. J. G. Meukel, of 2975 Jackson avenue, Dubuque, Iowa, in describing his experience to a reporter, "and it is not surprising that I contracted rheumatism. For three years I had attacks affecting the joints of my ankles, knees and elbows. My ankles and knees became so swollen I could scarcely walk on uneven ground and a little pressure from a stone under my feet would cause me so much pain that I would nearly sink down. I was often obliged to lie in bed for several days at a time. My friends who were usually troubled were getting no relief from doctors and I did not feel encouraged to throw money away for nothing. By chance I read the story of Robert Yates, of the Klammer Manufacturing Co., of Dubuque, who had a very bad case of rheumatism. I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, the remedy he had used. In three or four weeks after beginning to use the pills, I was much better and in three months I was well. The swelling of the joints and the tenderness disappeared, I could work steadily and for eight years I have had no return of the trouble. My whole family believe in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Both my sons use them. We consider them a household remedy that we are sure about."

What Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for Mr. Meukel they are doing for hundreds of others. Every dose sends galloping through the veins, pure, strong, rich, red blood that strikes straight at the cause of all ill health. The new blood restores regularity, and braces all the organs for their special tasks. Get the genuine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at your druggist or direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

IMPORTANT FACTS FOR COW OWNERS

The mechanical Cream Separator has become a vital feature of every home dairy just as of every butter factory.

It uses means much more and much better cream and butter, as well as saving of water, less time and room.

The difference in results is not small but big. Few cows now pay without a separator. Dairying is the most profitable kind of farming with one.

85% of the creamery butter of the world is now made with De Laval machines, and there are over 500,000 farms using them.

THEATRICAL SEASON

PLAYS AND PLAYERS TO APPEAR IN NEW YORK

COOLNESS OF BERNHARDT

Brooklyn to Have an Italian Theater—Good Acting There—Businesses That It Does Not Pay to Advertise Freely.

NEW YORK.—The theater season that is just opening in New York will be the liveliest the city has ever seen. There are two big reasons and some little ones. The two big reasons are that the financial slump that hit Wall street three years ago is pretty well repaired, and that the theatrical trust has a last rival. The little reasons needn't hold us long—though perhaps the fact that homes for 300,000 new residents of the city are now being built is not such a little reason after all.

There is a touch of pathos in the name of the Anti-Theatrical-Trust theatrical trust, if you may so call the Shubert-Belasco combination. Its long name shortened to the "Sam and Lee Shubert company," commemorates young Sam Shubert, killed not long ago in a railway accident. A younger brother and Lee Shubert are the remaining family Sam, the oldest, was less than 40, and had worked his way up from the very poorest station in life to a fortune already considerable.

There might seem to be an apparent exception in the number of George Bernard Shaw plays brought out this year, three companies rivaling each other in the task. But again there's a reason. The Shaw plays, relying upon the dialogue for their attraction, demand but a small cast. It costs little to produce one, and if it doesn't take it can be withdrawn with small loss. "Candida" was in 1903 one of the financial successes of the season, though produced in the tiniest theater in the city, and even that not always full. A Shakespearean production, such as that of Southern and Julia Marlowe, is quite another matter. The best Shakespearean playing I have seen in recent years was by Ben Greet's perfectly trained old English company, with no scenery, the place indicated only by the line on the program, after the fashion in Shakespeare's day.

Sarah Bernhardt Returns.

VERY noble art will be exhibited, however, when Sara Bernhardt returns. A Frenchwoman need not play Shakespeare; she has her Racine to vary a repertoire of modern plays.

I have two vivid recollections of Sara's past visits. The one is of sitting in the Brooklyn theater, rebuilt after the awful fire of 1875, in which hundreds of persons were burned, and seeing a thin line of flame creeping up a "fly." The actors were oblivious of all but their work; the stage hands couldn't see what was in full view of the audience. No one stirred, but people began saying "Look behind you," and uttering other confused remarks which puzzled the actors not understanding English. Finally a man from the rear of the theater strode down the aisle without a word, pointing fixedly at the flames, by his earnest bearing compelling the actors to turn. Then the stage Frenchmen spat the fire out with their gloved hands, Sara coolly looking on. It was beautiful.

The other was a Brooklyn experience also. A huge audience in the Academy of Music, now also burned; and a fat man in evening dress who fell hopelessly asleep a dozen times, and each time, in spite of his wife's frantic nudging, snored louder than the actors talked. Sara was boiling with rage; and that also was beautiful in its sulphuric way.

An event of the dramatic season of a more than local interest is the forthcoming appearance of Bertha Kalish in an uptown theater with an English company. We have had plenty of polyglot plays in New York, besides the standard Italian and German of the opera. Conreid's German Theater company has been for some years the best in town. Salvini and Duse have played in Italian; Ristori more remotely.

Maude Adams and a new play by Barré—these are annual blessings, to be thankful for, but not surprised.

An Italian Theater at Last.

THE Italian colony of Brooklyn has established the first genuine Italian theater of the greater city. It is housed in a little one-story building which was a tailor shop; but no matter. The rent, at least, is not as great as it would be in Manhattan, and the company is from Naples. The manager is the same man who has conducted a troupe of Italian marionettes in Brooklyn and in the city. The members of the colony have cheerfully paid five and ten cents to see the marionettes' performances and to hear the voluble manager skillfully disguise his voice to suit half a dozen characters—no Punch and Judy squeak will do, either. Now there is to be real acting by real actors, live ones. It will be good acting, too, do not forget that. The Italian actors who have come over to open the new place are masters of the art of pantomime, and their quick utterance and admirable technique keep the audience in a frenzy of excitement. Saxon audiences are not thus moved, not thus prodigal of applause.

The Italian theater will presently become a favorite resort for those who are seeing the city. It might well be for serious lovers of the drama.

The Bishop's Tavern Closed.

THE telegraph has told 200,000,000 people on both sides of the Atlantic that the Subway tavern, opened by Bishop Potter with good wishes, is closed. The loss was something like $17,000 in a little over a year.

I do not propose to say who was right in the controversy that raged over the tavern because of Bishop Potter's remarks, and that broke out again when the archbishop of Canterbury warmly commended the experiment. But if the denouncers of the tavern wished to kill it, they succeeded, though indirectly.

There are businesses that it doesn't pay to advertise too much. The Metropolitan hotel doesn't mind how often people are reminded that it is prizefighters' headquarters; nor Little Hungary how often it is printed that drinks are free as water and run out of queer glass tanks above the table; nor the Beaux Arts how often you are told that singers and players from the theaters come there after hours and disappear themselves; but Mine Host Hahn did mind when the papers said that the St. Regis was the most expensive restaurant in New York. And as for the Subway—

Well, how would you like it if you dropped in for a drink at the Subway and found the booze better than the average, but the company largely made up of men and women in evening clothes who had come up-town to "see how the other half lives," and who were not always careful about making audible comments? And if, while you were resolving regretfully—on account of the quality of the stuff—that you couldn't come again, a big rubberneck wagon stopped on its way to Chinatown and unloaded a double dozen "Seeing New Yorkers," to whom the lecturer talked through a megaphone? The place is now a straight saloon, the rum is what people get elsewhere, and the new boss won't let a rubberneck wagon come near. They roll slowly past on the off side of the street, while the megaphone man mournfully remarks: "Here on the left, ladies and gentlemen, was until a few days ago," etc., etc.

The Duke Divorce Case.

THE latest case of quick-action marriage and divorce to attract attention in New York is that of James B. Duke, the great tobacco trust promoter.

Mrs. Duke was Mrs. William E. McCredy before the marriage, and the marriage was sufficiently disguised at the time. What rendered it remarkable was in part the fact that at Somerville, N. J., Duke did a stately pleasure dome decree that has few equals in the country. Upon 2,500 acres of rolling Jersey land he erected stables perhaps the finest in the state, surpassing even those of Florham, the seat of the Twomblys. The house is less impressive, being of that style of architecture which suggests a summer hotel.

Here, to an estate dignified by magnificent grounds, where costly bronzes are set about as in a Roman villa, where a great artificial lake gave a faint echo of Fontainebleau, where the finest thoroughbreds put thousands of dollars at hazard every time one of them chokes on a stolen apple, Duke brought his bride last November, quietly.

The Dukes lived together until April. Then Mr. Duke went abroad, but it now appears that he left behind detectives and lawyers to arrange a legal separation.

I first knew Duke as a newspaper man. He had made money in the tobacco business, and thought it would be a good idea to start a New York paper to combat the tendency of the press to denounce cigarettes. With young Joseph Knapp of the Major-Knapp lithographers' firm, who figured that a newspaper could use colored pictures as Sunday supplements, Duke started the Recorder on an expensive scale. Many of the ablest people on the press of the city were connected with the Recorder in its brief existence.

For some years the Recorder ran in debt and into the pockets of its founders. At one time the combination of cigarette money, yotting schemes and Sunday chromos boosted the Sunday circulation to 125,000; but the panic of 1903 hit the venture and it could not recover. Even the powerful head of the tobacco trust was mistaken when he thought he could run a newspaper better than the other fellows.

OWEN LANGDON.

Utilizing One's Best Abilities Spells Success

By CHARLES E. HUGHES, Noted New York Lawyer Who is Directing New York Legislative Insurance Inquiry.

REAL success means not contentment alone, for there are many contented men who have no right to be contented, because they are not utilizing the powers and abilities of which they are possessed. Such men are not successful, however contented they may be. Success depends upon the individual. What would be success for one man would be failure for another. I regard a successful man as one who has utilized to its fullest extent the best ability in him. One man may have great ability as a money-maker; then he would be successful when he had made much money. Another man may have ability as an artist; he is successful when he has won fame by his art. If a man leaves any one of his talents to lie idle he is not a successful man. Mere money-making is a poor sort of success.

Poise is essential to success. It is a quality in which too many are lacking; they rush and hurry and get excited, and end in being rattled just at the time their coolest judgment is required. I notice that most successful men are those whose minds are always cool, who, no matter how swift the movements of their bodies, are able to deliberate coolly, and to pronounce calm, sober judgment, even under disturbing circumstances. It is not the man who reaches the corner first who wins, but the man who knows exactly what he is going to do when he reaches the corner.

There is a pleasure in achievement, there is an inspiration in work, and work well done will make a man contented with his lot. I believe in work, hard work, and long hours of work. I have never known a man to break down from overwork; it is the worries and the dissipations that cause men to break down; work alone will not do it, except in rare cases.

Joseph, an Ancient-Modern Young Man

By DR. WM. HOGE MARQUESS, of Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Kentucky.

The life of Joseph is recorded as an example of what a young man can make of his life and career if his life be linked to God. This story, though 3,000 years old, is yet representative of men of all lands and of all ages, for life and God and conscience are unchanging.

The lesson of divine providence looms large in the life of Joseph. Every man's life is under the care and control of God. Joseph was a great success in life, but facts show that he was led to this success, step by step, in the providence of God, by unexpected ways. Out of troubles into triumphs. His life illustrates the saying of Solomon: "A man's heart devises its ways, but the Lord directs his steps." His is a plain case of man's free choice and action, with God's providence sweeping around man's action in a vaster circle and bringing it to its final issues.

As to the matter of faith in Joseph's life: The law of every noble life is recognition of God. Faith simply consents to the plan by which God seeks to direct our lives. A remarkable feature of Joseph's conduct is his reference of everything to God. This is a key to his history on his human side.

The matters of temptation, like Potiphar's wife, the troubles of his fellow-prisoners, the dreams of the king, visits of his brothers and shadows of later years, Joseph decided in the light of his personal relation to God. And this principle of trust in God and acquiescence in His will ought to be the law of life to every man.

Then I note his character: The glory of every human life is its moral quality. Many would read the life of Joseph to admire his sudden rise to rank in wealth and power. But the real glory of Joseph's life was his holiness of heart and life. The kingly thing about him was his conquest over temptation, and his loyalty to conscience and to God. He was a pattern man, a saintly man, a manly saint. You can find no flaw in the rectitude of his conduct. The time came when the honors of Pharaoh's court were lost, wealth and political power gone, but character not lost, the influence of a holy life not lost. And this is the only lasting glory in any human life.

The One Man We All Like

By A. ST. JOHN ADCOCK, Author of "The Luck of Private Foster," Etc.

With various modifications, this is what any man is liable to bring upon himself by doing us a good turn. We are so apt to be obsessed by an irksome suspicion that he is remembering the incident after he has forgotten it, that he is still expecting our gratitude even though he does not ask for it, and in the coils of that deplorably human suspicion our liking for him slowly and miserably strangles. There are exceptions, but it is certain that we do not all like the man to whom we are indebted, nor the man who is indebted to us. The perverseness of humanity is such that, as Polonius warns us, it is wiser not to hope to make friends by either borrowing or lending, by either accepting favors or conferring them.

Peckwater comes nearer to fulfilling the ideal. He is a man we all like, but he is not the only man, or the man we like best. We are not proud of him, and do not boast of his friendship. He is neither rich, notorious, nor aristocratic! he has no social qualities, being dull, nervous, unconvivial. We approve of him as a neighbor; we like him in his place; but his place is not beside us in society. The society man whom we ought to like, but don't—the tactful, handsome, brilliant, elegantly polite man of the world, is the man that all the ladies like; that's why none of us like him.

We like so many, with reservations, and up to a certain point, that one is forced to admit, at last, it is practically impossible to single out any particular type as the type that is liked by all of us. Nevertheless, there is indeed one man that we, all of us, do like. I shall not presume to say whether he is the best or the worst of men, the wisest or most foolish, the handsomest or the ugliest; but there is no doubt that nearly everything we do is done for his benefit, that we are sincerely sorry when he is ill, and rejoice as sincerely in his welfare; that though all the world be against him we never turn our backs upon him; that however bad his reputation we can always find excuses for him and are fatuously convinced that he is a very likeable fellow; and that however plain or unlovely his countenance may appear to others, we are satisfied that it is at least good-looking every morning as we gaze at it while we are doing his hair.

YIELDING LAST WORD

HOME HAPPINESS SHOULD NOT BE STRAINED TO BREAKING.

Silence at Times Requires Much Self-Control—Politics Too Dangerous for Family Talk—Inflicting One's Fads on the Family—One Where a Little War Would Have Been Preferable—The Last Word Before the Day's Separation—Gayety as Virtuous as Solemnity.

BY MARGARET E. BANGSTER. (Copyright, 1906, by Joseph B. Dowles.)

Looking back upon a heated discussion or a stubborn argument, in cooler moments, people are often astonished that they wasted so much time and strength in trying to have the last word. A man convinced against his will, is of the same opinion still, and in nine cases out of ten domestic discussions result in discomfort all around; simply because both parties are determined to have their own way. The last word is not always a pleasant word nor a wise one. It takes no little self-control to leave the advantage with the opposite side, yet many a time we are grateful if they have the good sense to forego continued speech and take refuge in silence. This is sure to be true if we argue on politics. They are too dangerous to be admitted into family talk.

Home happiness is a chain that is strong or weak, according as it is measured by the strain each separate link will bear. If there is a weak place anywhere, then one may say good-by to peace, and happiness is more dependent on peace than on anything else. It cannot flourish in an atmosphere of strife and contention. This is why I would exclude politics, unless all feel alike about men and issues.

We need not limit the "last word" to disputes and squabbles. In household management there arise frequent occasions for settling questions of importance, in which no two of the family take precisely the same view, and yet in which there may be complete amiability and a deference to the wishes of others that remove the discussions from anything like wrangling. For example, when the question is of choosing a profession for the boy or a school for the girl, or of selling a favorite horse or introducing another dog into a house where everybody does not equally like dogs. There may be honest distaste and aversion or honest desire and affection, or there may be a forethought which looks far ahead, or a superficial view which sees only to-morrow. In any case, about the school, the horse, or the dog, the last word is the decisive one, and it is uttered presumably by the one who sees furthest and is most unselfish and considerate.

Otherwise, the last word is that of a tyrant, and tyranny is fatal to home enjoyment. Tyranny strikes a blow at the life of the household, and makes quiet living impossible in that environment. Just as in "Dombey and Son," the despotism of the elder Dombey was a withering and scorching blast within the doors of his mis-called home, so despotism anywhere works mischief that cannot be repaired.

I knew a man whose foible it was that he must have the final word about everything. Beyond his own gates he was a fairly good citizen, a man of strict integrity, and a reputable merchant. Once he had turned his latch-key in the door, his whole nature, and certainly his manners underwent an extraordinary transformation. He wanted to adjust everything in sight, he prowled about 't' kitchen, peering into the pots and pans, and driving the cook to distraction. He crept furtively around the drawing-room, touching a finger here and a finger there, to see, if possibly a little dust might have settled on the furniture, and scanning the corners of the ceiling above and the floor below with inquisitive eyes, in the apparent hope that a cobweb in one place or a crumb on the other might give him an opportunity for criticism. Whatever was proposed he at once vetoed, making himself a wet blanket on the pleasure of the young people and dampening any enthusiasm which might be in their breasts. As for his poor wife, she had long ago said good-by to enthusiasm and spontaneity.

The length of his daughters' frocks, the color of their hair ribbons, the style of their shoes, and every trifle in their conduct alike came under his incessant fault-finding. Now and then, he took up a fad with extraordinary insistence, and while the fit lasted was bent to the family if they ventured to disagree with him. Once I remember he took it into his head to regard common table salt as a most virulent poison. No salt was permitted in seasoning, no salt was allowed on the table, no salt was admitted within the pantry door. An unfortunate guest, looking vainly around the table, inquired for salt. "Madam," he said, "I would as soon give you arsenic." A son of the house ventured to ask for it, and was summarily sent to bed.

At another time, the same good man had a fancy that all nutrition and every possible requirement for physical growth were folded up in the little compass of a lima bean. Therefore, for some time the family breakfasted, dined and supped almost exclusively on lima beans as an article of diet. "Why in the world," said a kinswoman, "do you all give up to Harold in so absurd a fashion? Life is not worth living at the price you have to pay for it."

"The truth of the matter is," said the person addressed, "that Harold is so set upon having the last word that we do anything for the sake of peace and quietness."

Here was an extraordinary instance of the folly and futility of paying too little war would have been preferable.

We are not always so careful as we might be about the last word we say to one another when we separate for the day. The child starting for school should have a tender word of encouragement, the lad going out for an evening is the better if mother or sister go to the door with him, give a look at his tie, and say something nice about the suit he is wearing, and the man going to business in the morning should never be suffered to leave home without a kiss and a last loving word. A man does better all day long if he starts with the approving smile and the wave of the hand which a wife can give.

Many things may happen in the course of a single day. None of us are immune from accident. Men have before now left home for a few hours and been gone for many years. Let the morning word be always one of cheer, when it is the last word that can be exchanged till the gloaming.

In this world of chance and change, no duty is more incumbent on people at home than to be encouraging and cheering, and to take a rose-colored view of whatever may be expected to happen.

People who go about with long faces, who yield to the blues, who are crabbed and perverse, have a good deal to answer for. They lessen the sum of pleasure in the world. They make other people sad and give the right of way to melancholy, and dim the brightness of the daily path. In a girl's album the other day I saw this stanza:

"Just as a place to live in
This old world is hard to beat.
There is a thorn for every rose,
But aren't the roses sweet?"

That is the sort of "last word" which we should be all the time saying. There is little danger that we shall not be sufficiently serious. Sobriety is in our blood. Gravity is forced upon most of us by our circumstances, and we cannot always be jolly. Yet there is no need that we should go about dragging on our feet the ball and chain of irritability, moroseness or depression. Gayety is as virtuous and honorable in its proper place and time as solemnity.

Hjalmar Boyesen, the Norwegian poet, wrote an enchanting little lyric all about a girl who was called the Briar Rose. She went dancing through the days, and when the other maidens were milking the cows or spinning, she was idle. Everybody condemned her, and sympathized with her mother because she had so heedless a daughter. She seemed as frivolous as a butterfly, but there came a day when there was a chance for an act of timely heroism, and it was the little Briar Rose who sacrificed herself and saved the town.

Friends, it does very little good to scold and nag and condemn other people. What we all need to do is to look at ourselves. Are we willing to yield the last word? Are we willing, first and last, to say words that are genial and helpful? As the children sing:

"Little acts of kindness,
Little words of love,
Make our earth an Eden,
Like the Heaven above."

TUNIC FOR SMALL BOY.

Our Design Is Charmingly Simple and Generally Adapted for the One for Whom Meant.

This little tunic may be worn over first knickers, or over short petticoats. It is of cream cashmere, trimmed with silk-embroidered insertion; but the pattern is equally suitable to be copied in washing materials for summer wear. The cashmere is finely tucked where it joins the yoke, the tucks being about

WITH THE FIRST KNICKERS.
Three inches in length. A band of insertion, bound each side with plain silk, is carried down the center front, the wristbands being of the same. The waistband is of kid, and the trimming is left to individual taste. The style is suitable for a child from two to three years old.

Girl with Thin Hair.
Stop shampooing it. Fill a thimble with sweet oil. Every night dip your finger tips in it and massage your scalp. Part of the hair and be careful not to get the hair oily. Run along the line of the parting with your finger tips. But do not get your hair greasy.

A New Belt.
A belt with a watch pocket is new—in plique or linen. It is wide—four or five inches—has the usual oblong gilt buckle, and the pocket is at the left side, a little pointed flap detaching down over it to hold the watch securely.

Secretary Shumway of the state board of health gives notice of the fact that health officers in various parts of the state are failing to enforce the quarantine regulations prescribed by law, and he suggests the danger that Michigan may be visited by another small pox outbreak if this neglect is continued. It would seem that those who are responsible for the enforcement of township, village and city health laws could hardly afford to accept the responsibility which failure to do their full duty might involve, regardless of their individual views in the matter.

It is certainly true that the desire of the great majority of the people of our state is for the full enforcement of the measures provided for the prevention of disease and for its limitation so far as adequate means in that direction will provide. The best efforts of one community can be made of little value through the carelessness of another. Enforcement of health laws is a matter of state-wide importance and is deserving of state-wide attention and respect.

Heart of Chicago

Lincoln J. Carter's "Heart of Chicago" will shortly be seen at Peterson's Opera house on the evening of Thursday Sept. 28. This play has been before the public for almost a score of years, and has played in every town and most of the theatres in the United States and Canadian provinces. That such an attraction could keep in the good graces of the theatre goers for so long a time, there must be something of more than ordinary merit in the play. Aside from the strongly written lines and well connected story, the scenic effects are the most novel of any melodrama on the road. The story is familiar to every theatre patron and needs no explanation. An excellent cast is said to be with the attraction this season. Mr. Carter has tried to select it from the best members of the various companies that have appeared in the piece in recent years, and how well he has succeeded is voiced by a general approval by the leading critics where the piece has played this season. Some exceptionally clever vaudeville acts are shown during the action of the play, whose locale permits of the introductions in such a manner as not to distract from the story of the play.

NEW TRACK COMPLETED

Double Track System on Ludington Street Finished.

The work of constructing a double track on Ludington street was completed last Saturday by the Escanaba Electric Street Railway company. Escanaba now has a system equal to that of any city of its size in the country and superior to those of many cities twice as large.

Popular Melodrama.

Lincoln J. Carter's popular melodrama, "The Heart of Chicago" will be seen at Peterson's Opera house Sept. 28. This play needs no introduction to theatre goers as it is as well known as "Uncle Tom's Cabin," "Old Kentucky" and "Way Down East."

Mr. Carter has brightened the story of the play and equipped the play with some new scenic effects, among which is shown a view of the new White City park, Chicago's million dollar amusement park. The approaching engine still continues to astound and enthrall the throngs who nightly gather to see this splendid production.

Remarkable Voyage of a Bottle

Three years ago this summer a couple of ladies who were visiting at Baileys Harbor were enjoying themselves bathing in the lake off that point when they in a spirit of fun wrote their names, place and date, on a slip of paper and put it in a bottle with the request that the finder of the message should write and let them know where and when the bottle was found and the message discovered.

About three weeks ago one of these ladies, who was visiting friends in this city, her home being at Two Rivers, received an answer to the message in the bottle. It came from a gentleman who stated that the bottle had been found at a small summer resort on the southern shore of Lake Erie, near Cleveland. According to the surface currents of the lakes as prepared by the Weather Bureau, this receptacle to arrive at that point must have traveled fully 1,000 miles or more. It would have followed the west shore of Lake Michigan up around the head and back to the straits of Mackinac along the westerly side of Lake Huron to St. Clair River, through Lake St. Clair to Detroit river and then into Lake Erie. This is certainly a most remarkable voyage. It is hard to guess how long the bottle was under way, as it is possible that it was impeded in the journey for weeks at a time by being cast up on the shore and again floated off. The gentleman who found the message was a resident of Vancouver, B. C.

What Kansas Did to Standard Oil. Miss Tarbell's story of the Kansas oil war concludes in the October McClure's with "What Kansas did to Standard Oil."

It is an exciting story, for they do things with a swing in Kansas, and in the light of their campaign the country at large, which has seen the Standard Oil Company bob up serenely out of successive legislative whirlpools, must conclude that the octopus has at last been matched if not yet finally destroyed. Miss Tarbell makes clear the whole course of the "trust busters" their mistakes and their triumphs. She follows the battle from the polls to the wrestle with problems of remedial legislation and the final fight in the courts, by which the Santa Fe has been brought to terms and a beginning made of real independence for the oil industry.

With her authoritative knowledge of the great oil trust's method Miss Tarbell is able to lay hold immediately of the vital moves in the Kansas fight, and her story thereby gains a clearness which makes it a valuable key to the industrial situation all over the United States.

THERE IS MONEY IN GROWING GINSENG

Prof. W. L. Howard of Missouri State Agricultural College says: "I advise American farmers to cultivate Ginseng. Big profits may be realized. It is a hardy plant and is easily grown."—A recent bulletin issued by the Pennsylvania State Agricultural College in part says: "The supply of native Ginseng root is continually diminishing and the price per pound is correspondingly increasing, while the constant demand in China stands as a guarantee of a steady market for Ginseng in the future. The market for our cultivated root will exist as long as the Chinamen exist."—Counsel General W. A. Rublee of Hong Kong says in the U. S. Consular reports: sale of the Ginseng root grown in America is very large here and the demand is so great that much more could be disposed of advantageously. The root is as indispensable to the 400,000,000 Chinese as is their rice."

Ginseng is a staple on the market the same as corn, wheat, and cotton. The present market price varies from $5.00 to $8.00 per pound according to quality, while the cost of production does not exceed $1.50. There is room in an ordinary garden to grow several hundred dollars worth each year. The plant is hardy and thrives in all parts of the United States and Canada, except in the arid regions. We are successful growers and can show you how to make money growing Ginseng. You can get a good start in the business for a comfortable income. We have several thousand choice roots for sale for fall delivery. The planting season begins in August and continues till the ground is frozen.

AMERICAN RULES A TINY KINGDOM

William Cary, of Oakland, Cal., Is Absolute Monarch of the Isle of the Calf of Man.

POPULATION OF THE DOMAIN IS FORTY-ONE

Remarkable Story of Royal Sovereign and His Country—Prefers Native State to His Island and Is Ready and Willing to Sell Latter.

New York.—Would you be a king? Would you, like Robinson Crusoe, be "monarch of all you survey?" Not an imaginary ruler such as you see in the comic operas of the day, but the real thing, with the lives of your subjects at your command. If so, communicate with William L. D. Cary, of Oakland, Cal., king of the Isle of the Calf of Man, who is tired of his domain, and is willing to dispose of it to anybody who will meet his price. The kingdom comprises just 900 acres.

The king came to New York the other day. There was no visiting delegation down the bay to grant the freedom of the city to the royal visitor, but he didn't mind that a bit. He and his queen consort went to a hotel, but no flag was hung out in their honor, as there was for the Japanese and Russian envoys. "W. L. D. Cary and wife," was on the hotel register, and nothing more. There weren't any seneschals or chamberlains or gentlemen-in-waiting or equerries or secretaries or even masters of the robes, much less a common or garden valet.

Only Real American Monarch.

Mr. Cary is the only real American king. Although a section of the constitution distinctly says that no title of nobility shall be granted by the United States, and that no person holding any office of profit or trust under them shall, without the consent of congress, accept any present, office or title from any king, prince or foreign state, King William, who is an American citizen, as well as a sovereign, may snap his fingers thereat. The parliament of Great Britain has established the status of Mr. Cary. He doesn't hold any "office of profit or trust" under our government, and he hasn't "accepted" any from a foreign power.

King's Power Absolute.

King William's title to his domain is from the same source of warranty as Edward VII., king of Great Britain and the Isles, emperor of India, defender of the faith. His power is ever more absolute, for King Edward has no say in making the laws of Great Britain, while King Cary, of Oakland, Cal., makes all the laws of the Calf of Man. His say is absolute over his 41 subjects. But he prefers to live in Oakland, Cal.

The kingdom of William, Rex, really lies in British waters, but is not subject to British authority. What's more, the king is tired of his dominion and you can buy his kingdom for not so much. It is on the market for sale to the highest bidder. It comprises just 900 acres.

This vast pocket kingdom lies to the southeast of the Isle of Man, which is England's, all right, and it is legally denominated as the Calf of Man. It breeds the same tailless cats as does the Isle of Man, but it hasn't any Haikane. Its coast line is five miles long, and its chief industry is the caring for picnic parties from the Isle of Man. British waters surround it, but Great Britain can neither make laws, collect taxes, nor conduct criminal proceedings. This is the prerogative of King Cary alone.

Inherited from Older Brother.

King Cary came into his own at the death of an older brother. He, in turn, accepted the scepter from ancestors who lived when England was but a collection of warring shires, and the great nation of to-day nothing but a promise in the dim future. A long line of Carys has bossed the Calf of Man ever since history began to be made in that section of the world.

Just how the Californian came to be king is interesting history. Way back in the cloudy past an ancestor of the Carys held his own shield over the head of the king of England during a desperate battle. The king escaped unscathed, but the Cary who saved him was desperately wounded. In recognition of his fealty and bravery the king of England gave this Cary the Isle of Man to be his to rule over forever. There W. L. D. Cary was born.

But he got tired of the limits of 900 acres when he was only a boy, and he came west. In California he made a fortune, and in Oakland he chose to make his permanent home, despite the call of the scepter from the Calf of Man. His older brother died, and the cry "The king is dead, long live the king!" summoned him from Madison street, Oakland, Cal., to his ancestral inheritance. He looked it over. Then he turned up his nose. What was the use of living there in royal splendor over 41 subjects, when a hotel in San Francisco could put him up over night for three dollars in far better style than picknickers are cared for on the Calf of Man?

"Sell it!" ordered the king, laying down his scepter, and noting by his watch that he could catch a boat which would allow him to make the first steamer for the United States and Oakland, Cal.

Orders American Flag Raised.

And then, being a naturalized American citizen, he did just what any good American would have done—he ordered the American flag hoisted over his domain.

He knew they couldn't stop him, for that had been tried before. When his father was king Great Britain had made the attempt to tax the island, thereby putting it under the kingdom's

This is no joke; and he does claim it, for much valuable wreckage is cast up on the rocks and reefs of his diminutive domain. Great Britain put up two lighthouses on the rocky coast line, to keep vessels off the dangerous rocks, but King Cary, with the careful California bringing up, promptly bought them, so that nobody could say he wasn't ruler in fact.

Furthermore, just to show his fearless American spirit, King William installed an American, a Mr. Hughes, as lighthouse keeper. Mr. Hughes made his money in Liverpool, but has a summer residence on the Calf of Man. He has fitted up the lighthouse as his home, and it is a marvel of luxury in its way. Mr. Hughes is rich, but the Calf of Manmen say he is a good lighthouse keeper. His butler stands the night watch.

Many good dollars—of course they come in the shape of sixpences—are made by the sale of a pamphlet extolling the glories of the place and recounting its romantic history. It is of his followers, a ship was quickly manned to check O'Neil's career. The vessels met amid the gloom and storm of a December night, and hideous was the din and dreadful the clamor which arose from their opposing decks.

"At length the band of O'Neil gave way, and their leader lay lifeless in the arms of his victorious enemy. But brief time was allowed for sorrow or the shout of victory.

"In this moment of dread and anxiety I was particularly struck by the appearance of one of the unhappy sailors, who, heedless of the unsteadiness of the masts, and the promptitude required to reach the cliff, bore in his arms the body of a female with which he reached the shore just as the vessel sank beneath his feet, dragging with it the mast to which he had so lately clung.

"The horror of awaiting destruction had been too much for the feeble spirit of the maiden, and as she sank into his arms when the vessel struck against that dreadful rock the silver

STATE TAX IS HEAVY

EACH PERSON IN MICHIGAN PAYS $15 YEARLY.

ENTIRE LEVY $33,000,000

This Vast Sum Represents Amount Credited to Commonwealth by Report of Commission—Toll on Roads Jumps $2,000,000.

(Wm. Eilers, Staff Correspondent.) Lansing, Mich., Sept. 14.—Approximately $33,000,000 is paid annually by the people of this state for the support of township, city, county and state government; thus it follows that each person in Michigan, man, woman and child pays yearly $15 toward this great fund. These facts are gleaned from the annual report of the state tax commission, which has just recently been given out for publication. This sum includes taxes, licenses and other forms of revenue which the legislature may see fit to collect from residents of the commonwealth. These figures are somewhat startling, as they mean a levy of nearly $15 per capita for the entire population of the state, including men, women and children. Of the total of $33,000,000, the commission states that $29,700,000 is paid as a direct tax on property, the amount raised by indirect tax being $3,300,000. The state received from all license fees during the year, $2,634,131, and from inheritance taxes $181,769. Deer licenses brought a total of $7,204, and the insurance companies' taxes and fees nearly $400,000. The franchise fees collected by the secretary of state from corporations doing business under the laws of the state amounted to $50,569. Telephone and telegraph companies paid a total of $65,150 of taxes, based on gross earnings at the rate of three per cent, on the business derived within the state. On an ad valorem basis the railroads paid a tax of $3,756,149, as against $1,483,600 in 1902, when the tax was computed by specific levy on gross earnings.

George A. Prescott is experiencing the thrilling feeling which one feels when loomed for public office. An eastern Michigan son tells of his reasons for believing that Prescott will be the United States senator from Michigan to occupy Senator Alger's shoes. This recital was heard at Mr. Kelley's feast: "Senator Alger won't serve out the balance of his term. If he doesn't, Warner must name his successor for the balance of the term. Congressman Sam Smith might have it, but he won't take it. Smith knows Arthur Hill and W. C. McMillan and William Alden won't regard any man the governor might name for the short term as the man of destiny unless it might be one of them. If an outsider is named he's sure to have a fight on hand when the legislature meets. Why should Smith risk his seat in congress for this? I have it straight that Prescott is the man who will get the pleasure of telling his grandchildren that he was once in the United States senate if the necessity for naming a senator ever comes up to the governor."

Kelley Holds Great Fete.

Mr. Kelley, of the state legislature, has held a merry-making at his home in Benton Harbor. The jubilee being held when the peaches were ripe, and the guests being state senators, everyone else excluded, a strange combination of fruit and politics was the order of the festivities.

Ever since the close of the legislature the event had been contemplated by the senators and newspaper men from big publications in every section of the state were present to amass political gossip. Hence impromptu booms, bearing Benton Harbor dates, were as common as bear stories from a football camp. Anyhow, the "blowout," as the senators call it, was an excellent advertisement for Benton Harbor, and may have some effect on the legislation of 1907.

Legislators mingled with the "big" men of both that city and St. Joseph, and the result will no doubt be seen when some aspiring youngster in the house, or perhaps senate, introduces a measure which may inconvenience the fruit growers. Woe to him who makes this mistake. The legislators want it strictly understood that they and the peach element are one and inseparable. "Let us alone and we'll be happy," is the sentiment echoed from Benton Harbor. And so Kelley's fete may have more than a social effect on the Michigan legislature, after all.

Insurance Revenue Large.

The state department of insurance has an important connection with the revenues of the state, as well as being of value to the insuring public in the way of guarding, as far as possible,

Law Is Again Denounced.

(Special Correspondence.) Michigan's indeterminate sentence law has been criticised from every corner of the commonwealth, and Attorney Humphrey, of Charlotte, according to Ionic dispatches, is the latest celebrity to pounce upon the act with both feet. He says the boys are serving time under this law for grand larceny, when said cases were only petty larceny. Under the present law they are in for a five years' sentence if not favorably treated by the state pardon board. He says further: "There is absolutely no use for the law, as it forestalls any attempt of the court to separate justice from injustice, and no one is so capable to do this as the judge, who knows all the circumstances." Judge Davis, of the Eighth judicial district, said: "It is unjust and makes criminals of boys. It is cruelty."

Owosso.—Judge Smith released on probation, John Burwell and Adam Kauter, the self-confessed highwayman who robbed a citizen last winter.

against the financial instability of the companies from which they purchase needed indemnity. The stock life and so-called old line or regular life insurance companies are the principal sources of revenue to the state so far as insurance companies are concerned, the fraternal beneficiary societies, cooperative and mutual benefit associations and mutual fire insurance companies being required by law to contribute very little to the revenues of the state. No taxes whatever are levied against the three classes of insurance organizations last named. During the fiscal year there was turned into the state treasury by the insurance department a total of $424,814.51, of this total the stock fire and marine insurance companies paid $201,809.89, this sum representing three per cent, on the premiums collected in Michigan by the class of companies named during the year. The life companies which are required to pay a tax of two per cent, on their Michigan premiums, contributed $182,996.69, while the so-called casualty and surety companies, which also pay two per cent, on gross premiums, yielded up $115,701.65.

STATE FAIR A SUCCESS.

FIFTY-SIXTH ANNUAL EXPOSITION A RECORD-BREAKER.

Detroit purloined the privilege of holding the state fair from Pontiac, but perhaps it was for the best, nevertheless. The fifty-sixth annual event, which, however, was the first which the Michigan metropolis ever saw, has closed and it was a record breaker in every sense of the word. The show really resembled a great world's exposition more than a state fair, for everything which was installed was put in its place with an eye towards making it a permanent fixture. Hears of stockraisers are glad. They came from every corner of the state to exhibit their products and compete for prizes, and the contests were so narrow that everyone went home feeling satisfied. The array of agricultural implements was the best that has ever been gathered together for a state exhibition. All manner of things from hogs and squashes to Knabenshue's airship were to be found on the grounds. Crowds of 50,000 a day were common and, though the records of the fair have not yet been made public, it is believed that new attendance marks have been set. General Superintendent Hoffman said: "It was the best fair from every point of view that Michigan has ever witnessed. The exhibits are far superior to those at Pontiac, and everything was gotten in hand in a shorter space of time." Hoffman's statement is echoed by Secretary Butterworth. "I candidly admit," said the Lansing man, who has just returned after the closing of the show, "that this year's state fair has all its predecessors beaten by a long distance. The fact that it took place near Detroit no doubt had a great deal to do with its success, but its exhibits, racing, stock features and enthusiasm of the people mark it as a record-breaker. I have visited the exhibitions for the past six years and I believe the fifty-sixth annual Michigan state fair was the best from every viewpoint."

Wheat Yield Poor.

The monthly weather crop report has just been issued for August, and among the bigger features of the statement is the comment on the wheat yield. Taken generally, the crop is not up to expectations, and this year's net proceeds from the cereal will net the farmer far less than that of last season, it is said. The average estimated yield per acre is 19. The quality, as compared with an average, is 91. The total number of bushels of wheat reported marketed by farmers in August at the flouring mills is 206,519, and at the elevators, 213,286, or a total of 419,805 bushels, which is 270,877 bushels more than reported marketed in the same months last year. In spite of the fact that there has been much unfavorable weather this year for oats, the yield will be up to the average. The estimated average yield per acre in bushels is 15. The weather during August was very favorable for corn. It not only cared well, but began to ripen, so that some of it is already out of the way of frost. Beans have made a good growth and will yield well. The condition of potatoes is lower than last year, which is due principally to the unfavorable weather early in the season. There has been a large growth of clover this year, but many correspondents state that it has not filled well.

Michigan Topics in Brief.

Post mail service on the upper peninsula is the reason attributed to the loss of business by Detroit and Grand Rapids and the gain by Chicago.

Double postage rate is suggested by postmasters as a remedy for the publication of worthless papers.

Because a chemical company dumped refuse into the river at Midland, killing the fish, a citizen came to Lansing and protested to Gov. Warner.

Postmasters of Michigan held their sixth annual session at Battle Creek. The following officers were elected: President, Will H. Brunson, St. Johns; vice president, Col. Frank H. Latta, Battle Creek; secretary and treasurer, H. A. Hopkins, St. Clair. The next meeting will be held at Detroit in August next.

THE LITTLE KINGDOM

only 500 yards to the Isle of Man, and a ferry runs with as prosaic regularity as do the iron steamboats or the Flat-bush trains. A syndicate has leased the island for five years, and is paying most comfortable dividends.

The summer girl is the chief point of interest. The legend which they buy for sixpence and read when they get back to King Edward's larger domain was written in 1826. Here is a bit of it:

History of the Kingdom.

"Many years before these enlightened days, during that period of time which may truly be called the dark ages of the Calf, when rats and rabbits enjoyed undisputed possession of it, and man had not yet sought a residence on its barren shores, a circumstance occurred which caused a great sensation among the inhabitants of the little village which crowns the opposite shore. The portly matrons of this retired hamlet were roused from their accustomed state of torpor by the unusual appearance of a human figure upon the highest summit of the neighboring isle, apparently engaged in some laborious employment.

"Bushell, for such was the name of this solitary being, was the possessor of a small domain on the neighboring coast of Ireland. Close to his little patrimony lay the princely castle of the great O'Neil, whose only sister had been the object of Bushell's childish affections, and was the sole possessor of his more matured devotion." With O'Neil he had always lived on terms of the greatest friendship, now joining in the fatigues of the chase, now uniting in the skillful navigation of the wintry seas. But no sooner did O'Neil discover the object of his friend's affection, than all their intimacy was destroyed.

"At first he contented himself with withdrawing from his society and forbidding him to approach his castle, but when he found his precautions insufficient, that the lovers still met, and that the affection of Bushell was returned, he commenced a series of persecutions, which in those days were sufficient to drive Bushell from his peaceful home, to become an outcast from the haunts of men. Having thus removed the object of her affections, he hoped that his sister would soon cease to remember him. But when many months had elapsed, and Mary's ediness still remained unchanged, he determined to watch her more narrowly, and soon discovered that the intercourse, though rendered more difficult by his tyranny, was not destroyed, but that Bushell was still lurking about the neighborhood, and found means of communication with his sister.

Bushell Rescues His Sweetheart.

"Incensed at this discovery, he commanded her to prepare to embark with him in a few days for a distant continent, there to bid adieu to the vanities of the world, and conceal her errors under the sanctity of the veil. Intelligence of this cruel determination was quickly conveyed to the outlawed Bushell, who resolved upon the bold design of attacking the vessel of O'Neil and rescuing his beloved Mary from the horrors of a living tomb. The design once formed, was quickly executed, and calling together a few cord was loosed, and she yielded to that death she feared.

"Many years elapsed, and I heard nothing more of the unfortunate stranger, till it accidentally came to my knowledge that a person answering to his description had landed on a small and uninhabited island called the Calf of Man."

SEQUOYAH THE NEW STATE

Why This Name Was Chosen to Designate the Former Indian Territory.

In selecting the name Sequoyah for the new state of what has hitherto been the Indian territory, the statehood constitutional committee has conferred a fitting and very proper honor upon one of the leading members of the Cherokee nation, who did more than anyone else to advance the cause of education and civilization among his tribe.

The name Sequoyah to-day is chiefly associated with the big trees of California, but when used as a botanical name the word is spelled Sequoia, says the New York Times. Probably few persons, however, know that Sequoyan, from whom the mammoth trees were named, and who is now to be honored in the name of a state, was the inventor of the Cherokee alphabet. This famous Indian, whose memory deserves to be better known, was born about 1760, and his early life was spent in the village of Tuskegee, Tenn. Among the white men he bore the name of George Guess, and as a young man was noted as a successful hunter and trapper. He possessed an inventive turn of mind and was a skillful worker in silver ornaments.

On one of his hunting expeditions he broke his leg, and during his enforced idleness Sequoyah's attention was directed toward devising an alphabet for the Cherokee language. He realized the importance of written characters among the white men, and after months of hard work he submitted to the leading men of his tribe his alphabet, consisting of 85 characters.

Sequoyah was laughed at, and even his wife called him a fool for spending so much time in making queer characters. He succeeded, however, in formulating a list of characters expressing every sound in the Cherokee tongue. It was put to a severe test. The missionaries among the Indians were quick to appreciate its value, and about 1821 Sequoyah had the supreme satisfaction of seeing his alphabet adopted by the Cherokees. With minor changes, Sequoyah's characters are in use to-day, and educators have called his alphabet one of the most perfect ever devised to express any written language. Sequoyah died in 1843.

The first printing press to use Sequoyah's alphabet was set up at New Echota, in the Indian territory, and its first issue was a copy of the Cherokee Phoenix, published in February, 1828. Within five years of the acceptance of the alphabet, over 700,000 pages of Cherokee literature were printed in the territory. Sequoyah lived to see many beneficial results accrue from his invention, if such it can be called. He was made a chief of his tribe and received many high honors from the red men before his death. His remains are buried in the future state that will bear his name.

King Cary came into his own at the death of an older brother. He, in turn, accepted the scepter from ancestors who lived when England was but a collection of warring shires, and the great nation of to-day nothing but a promise in the dim future. GET POWER.

The Supply Comes from Food.

If we get power from food, why not strive to get all the power we can. That is only possible by use of skillfully selected food that exactly fits the requirements of the body.

Poor fuel makes a poor fire, and a poor fire is not a good steam producer. "From not knowing how to select the right food to fit my needs, I suffered grievously for a long time from stomach troubles," writes a lady from a little town in Missouri.

It seemed as if I would never be able to find out the sort of food that was best for me. Hardly anything that I could eat would stay on my stomach. Every attempt gave me heart-burn and filled my stomach with gas. I got thinner and thinner, until I literally became a living skeleton, and in time was compelled to keep to my bed.

"A few months ago I was persuaded to try Grape-Nuts food, and it had such good effect from the very beginning that I have kept up its use ever since. I was surprised at the ease with which I digested it. It proved to be just what I needed. All my unpleasant symptoms, the heart-burn, the inflated feeling which gave me so much pain disappeared. My weight gradually increased from 88 to 116 lbs., my figure rounded out, my strength came back, and I am now able to do my housework and enjoy it. The Grape Nuts food did it." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

A ten days' trial will show anyone some facts about food.

MEN'S CHANGING IDEALS.

Their Ideas About Home Change Greatly with the Progress of Years.

As the male member of the human species advances in years his ideas as to what constitutes an ideal dwelling change so absolutely that there is between the different places he would select almost no similarity, says a writer who has made a study of the subject.

When three years old his ideal is a tent formed from a table cover, a blanket, a spread, a piece of carpet, or other material that can be so arranged that it will form a little place into which to crawl.

At six the best possible dwelling is a hut built of barrel staves, boards and planks, and unknown to persecuting adults, and especially to policemen.

A boy of ten would select a spacious cave, with a marvelous secret entrance, preferably with the entrance under water at flood tide, with the floors covered with heavy and costly carpets, the walls decorated with deadly weapons inscribed with gold, silver and precious stones, and with enough food stowed away to enable the inhabitants of the place to live for a year if necessary.

At 20 the heart's desire is a room in a large hotel where the cost would be at least three dollars a day, and where there would be a dinner at seven o'clock, with lots of pretty and rich women present, a big smoking room and plenty of stationery with a heavy gold monogram or crest stamped on it.

At 25 the best possible home is a neat, comfortable modern flat in some respectable neighborhood, not too far from the cars, theaters and shopping district, and with asphalted streets so there will not be too much noise.

At 35 the only proper dwelling is a town house, preferably situated near houses of men whose wealth is reckoned in the tens of millions of dollars and who really have considerable money, said house to have a mammoth ballroom, music room and art gallery; and in addition to this house, another country house within easy distance of the city, and still again in addition to these two houses a modest but quaintly elegant cottage at some popular seashore resort.

At 50 a man's tastes have toned down and he longs for a little cottage in the country, where all is quiet, where birds sing and there are chickens in the yard, a cow in the stable, a goodly plot of ground that continually yields an unending supply of fresh vegetables, and where all is modesty, sweet content and freedom from the usual annoyances that make life a burden.

At 60 the cottage has grown smaller, and the man would be content with less ground, fewer chickens and vegetables, and could get along quite nicely without the cow.

At 70 any place will do so long as a man is not disturbed and has reasonable assurance that he will not be.

FATHER OF CONCORD GRAPE

Memorial Proposed to Massachusetts Man Who Originated the Variety.

A movement has been started looking to the erection of a memorial to Ephraim Bull, the originator of the Concord grape. Mr. Bull found a grape vine growing wild in the woods and transplanted it in a yard in Concord, Mass. From that vine, which is still growing in the place where M. Bull set it, has sprung the entire Concord grape industry. Autumn and grapes soon will be here. It is an appropriate time to start such a movement.

It is proposed to secure enough money by voluntary contributions both to put up a monument to Mr. Bull and to give perpetual care to the old vine which he tended with such skill and effect. Grape vines are extremely long lived. In California there are some which are certainly several hundred years old. There seems hardly any limit to the time they will survive and remain healthy and fruitful if properly tended. The plan of maintaining Mr. Bull's vine in perpetuity is not, therefore, so impracticable as it might seem to persons unfamiliar with grape culture.

The Concord grape is peculiarly hardy and prolific. The growing of it has expanded into an extensive and highly profitable industry, and it is the progenitor of several other fine grapes. Every year Concord grapes are converted into thousands of cans of jellies and jams, while carload upon carload of them are eaten raw. A fruit which is a source of so much profit to some and of so much gustatory joy to all should have many warm friends, and these friends should unite to do honor to the man to whom they owe so much.

She Never "Boarded."

"It was in the Boston subway that this occurred," said a Providence business man, according to the Journal, and frequently journeyed to the Hub, "and I was an interested observer. I don't know whether you'd call it an accident or a tragedy, I suppose the woman in the case regarded it as a tragedy.

"In alighting at that station near the Common, where I also happened to get off, a blundering, awkward hulk of a passenger who was all feet stepped on her, and made her skirt look as though it had been through a mangle.

"She was in a state of mind, of course, and no one could blame her; but the worst was yet to come. An alert official, notebook in hand, hurried up to her, anticipating trouble for the road.

"Where did you board, madam?" he inquired.

"Board?" she ejaculated indignantly, with a rising inflection, and speaking so that she could be heard above ground. "I never boarded in my life!"

Could Get No Rest.

Freeborn, Minn., Sept 18th (Special).—Mr. R. E. Goward, a well-known man here, is rejoicing in the relief from suffering he had obtained through using Dodd's Kidney Pills. His experience is well worth repeating, as it should point the road to health to many another in a similar condition.

"I had an aggravating case of Kidney Trouble," says Mr. Goward, "that gave me no rest day or night, but using a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills put new life in me, and I feel like a new man.

"I am happy to state I have received great and wonderful benefit from Dodd's Kidney Pills. I would heartily recommend all sufferers from Kidney Trouble to give Dodd's Kidney Pills a fair trial, as I have every reason to believe it would never be regretted."

Dodd's Kidney Pills make you feel like a new man or woman, because they cure the Kidneys. Cured kidneys mean pure blood, and pure blood means bounding health and energy in every part of the body.

Hon. Charles A. Towne, Ex-U. S. Senator from Minnesota, brilliant orator, clever business man, brainy lawyer, whose national prominence made him a formidable candidate for the presidential nomination in 1904, writes us the following:

"Gentlemen: I am glad to endorse Doan's Kidney Pills. The remedy was recommended to me a few months ago when I was feeling miserable; had severe pains in the back; was restless and languid; had a dull headache and neuralgic pains in the limbs and was otherwise distressed. SMITH NEVER DISSENTED.

Was Always Agreeable No Matter How Tall the Story Related to Him.

See Shaw and Senator "Tom" Carter, of Montana, were swapping stories, says the Brooklyn Eagle, when the secretary of the treasury told a good one about a man out in an Iowa town who was never known to disagree with a statement of another, no matter how improbable it might be.

"One day a group of fellows determined to see if they couldn't get Smith—I'll call him Smith," said See Shaw, "to express a dissenting opinion. So when Smith came along one of the boys said:

"I had a most remarkable experience the other day, Smith. As I was coming into town through the hills yonder I saw a buffalo up a tree eating grapes, so I shot him. Did you ever see a buffalo up a tree, Smith?"

"Well, I can't say that I have," returned Smith, regretfully.

"What," persisted the story-teller, "never saw a buffalo up a tree eating grapes?"

"Well, no, I never saw a buffalo up a tree, but," said Smith, brightening up, "I know they are very fond of grapes."

Tired, Nervous Mothers

Make Unhappy Homes—Their Condition Irritates Both Husband and Children—How Thousands of Mothers Have Been Saved From Nervous Prostration and Made Strong and Well.

A nervous, irritable mother, often on the verge of hysteria, is unfit to care for children; it ruins a child's disposition and reacts upon herself. The trouble between children and their mothers too often is due to the fact that the mother has some female weakness, and she is entirely unfit to bear the strain upon her nerves that governing children involves; it is impossible for her to do anything calmly.

The ills of women act like a firebrand upon the nerves, consequently nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous dependency, "the blues," sleeplessness, and nervous irritability of women arise from some derangement of the female organism.

Do you experience fits of depression with restlessness, alternating with extreme irritability? Are your spirits easily affected, so that one minute you laugh, and the next minute you feel like crying?

Do you feel something like a ball rolling in your throat and threatening to choke you? All the senses perverted, morbidly sensitive to light and sound; pain in the ovaries, and especially between the shoulders; bearing down pains; nervous dyspepsia, and almost continually cross and snappy?

If so, your nerves are in a shattered condition, and you are threatened with nervous prostration.

Proof is monumental that nothing in the world is better for nervous prostration than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; thousands and thousands of women testify to this fact.

PISO'S CURE FOR

COUGHS, COLDS, BRONCHITIS, AND CONSUMPTION

A. N. K.—A 2092

Suffered 23 Years from Constipation and Stomach Trouble

Wilbert Thompson never knew a well day—he had been constipated all his life—many doctors treated him, but all failed to even help him—his health failed rapidly and on January 21, 1903, Mrs. Thompson asked us to suggest a treatment for her husband. We thought the case too serious and recommended that a specialist be consulted—but he also failed to help the patient—NOW HE IS WELL.

Mull's Grape Tonic Cured Him

Mrs. Thompson first wrote us as follows: "My husband, aged 23, suffers from sharp pains in his stomach and sometimes thinks it is his heart. Let me know by return mail what causes the pain, if you can. Mr. Thompson has been treated by several doctors, but they have given him up."

We promptly advised that a first-class specialist be consulted. "We quote: "We want to sell Mull's Grape Tonic, because we know it will cure constipation, but Sec. a bottle is no object to us when a human life is at stake, and if your husband's case is as serious as you state, we suggest you consult a reliable specialist, not the advertising kind, promptly." At the same time, knowing that Mull's Grape Tonic could do no harm, we advised its use until a physician could be consulted. January 25th, Mrs. Thompson wrote that a physician had been consulted. He diagnosed the case as being chronic constipation and dyspepsia. His treatment was followed faithfully, but there was no perceptible improvement in Mr. Thompson's health. Then he began taking Mull's Grape Tonic and on September 3, 1903, we received the following letter from Mrs. Thompson:

"You will remember that I wrote to you last January in regard to my husband's health. It is four months since he quit taking Mull's Grape Tonic for constipation, which he suffered from since birth. He took just 24 bottles of it and is perfectly cured. He is much stronger and has gained considerably in flesh. I cannot thank you enough for Mull's Grape Tonic. It is worth its weight in gold. Just $12 cured him and he has spent hundreds of dollars with doctors who did him no good. It did all you claimed it would."

Very respectfully yours, MRS. W. H. THOMPSON, 801 Main St., Peoria, Ill.

Mr. Thompson stopped taking Mull's Grape Tonic in June, 1903. He has been completely cured and has taken no other medicine since that date. Almost two years and no return of the disease, should prove a permanent cure.

FARM NOTES

From the Escanaba And Ford River Valleys.

From Right Best News and Northwest Farmer.

Anyone who wants a convincing argument as to the possibilities of the Upper Peninsula in agriculture should take a trip through the valleys of the Escanaba and Ford Rivers during the month of August and September. The parties traveling through the upper peninsula by the usual routes pass by this great garden spot; on the east going by Escanaba through the sand plains north to Ishpeming and Marquette, and on the west through the broken hills of the Menominee Range and the Marquette Range to the Copper country. What the traveler sees on these roads gives him no idea of the country which lies between, which is off the regular traveled routes.

Starting at Wells, at the mouth of the Escanaba river, the Escanaba and Lake Superior railroad follows the Escanaba river very closely for about twelve miles, and crosses over the divide into the valley of the Ford, which it follows very nearly to the head waters, and connects with the C. M. & St. Paul R. R. at Channing, the western terminus of the railroad. This railroad is no little jerk water, but has an enviable standing in the railroad world. It has the record of having hauled the heaviest train ever drawn by one locomotive, and daily handles from two to five ore trains from seventy-five to ninety 60-ton cars, besides a log train, and a passenger service.

Along this railroad are large tracts of land now covered to a large extent by timber. This, however, is being removed by the lumber companies and the jobbers, and land is being turned over to settlers for agricultural purposes.

Probably nowhere in the United States is there a tract of land of equal size, with as good facilities for marketing crops; nor is there a tract, with the possible exception of some places on the prairies, containing as little waste land. Anyone who sees the crops raised in this locality on the small farms which have been started here and there in the different settlements, cannot but see that some day this country will be a wonderful agricultural country.

Near Wells and Flat Rock, close to the mouth of the Escanaba river, the I. Stephenson Company is harvesting a wonderful crop of oat hay raised on the bay shore. At Flat Rock, the first stop of the train out of Escanaba, is located the I. Stephenson Co's garden, where garden crops of all kinds seem to be vying with each other as to which will make the best showing.

At Groos, the next stop, within sight of the railroad station are seen two more beautiful gardens, those of Jacob Groos and John Bickler, two Germans who make a small amount of land produce a great amount of garden product. These parties, each of them, also have fields of Alfalfa, from which they have already cut one crop and which is now ready for the second cutting. The I. Stephenson Company has put in a herd of about forty-four cattle in the pastures along the east side of the river, and they are fattening up wonderfully on the rich grass and pure water which they are able to obtain with ease.

At Gladstone crossing, the next stop on the railroad, a glimpse is had of one or two farms in the Flat Rock settlement. A drive through this settlement gives a sight of some of the finest fields of grain that it has ever been the writer's good fortune to look upon; wheat, barley, oats, peas, corn and garden crops, all in first class condition and promising wonderful yields. The farms of John Barron, Carl Martell, Wm. Hughes and Frank Pierce look especially fine. The fruit in the orchards never looked better, and the trees just planted this spring are all thriving. Anyone who looks at the perfect fruit produced by these orchards cannot fail to see that the Upper Peninsula of Michigan is going to be the great apple producing country in the future.

Passing up the river to Cornell, we find a new settlement built up around what was originally a loading station for cedar products and logs. George Mashek has his headquarters here. From a field within sight of the station there was threshed last year 306 bushels of oats cut from three acres of ground. This field is again planted to oats and bids fair to equal the result of last year. Back from the town a short ways are located about one dozen settlers who went in on land of the I. Stephenson Company last year, every one of whom is making a good showing. The farms of Henry Wilson, Chester Wilson, Isaac Carlson, John Mattson, Andrew Backlund and A. D. Everingham are especially noteworthy for what has been done in the short time they have been located on their land.

Five miles further we come to Woodlawn, formerly called White. Near here are a large number of settlers who are making a great showing in this new country. The Finnish settlement near the big dam on the Ford river is especially noticeable. Here are nine Finlanders, one of whom has been on the land two years and the rest only a little over a year, and yet every one of them has a real farm; house, barn and clearings from eight to fifteen acres in extent with crops of hay, oats, potatoes, pumpkins and other vegetables. Not one of these Finlanders would sell out his farm for twice what he paid for it, and for good reason. Beyond this settlement are the farms of O. J. Sporeen, Peter Fason and Ben Mac Lay, each of which is a nice little garden spot in the woods.

From Woodlawn to the end of the line are only scattered farms here and there, but the chances of future development are equally as good as in the settlements already started.

Parties who are looking for a location for farming would do well to investigate this location in the upper peninsula before looking elsewhere.

George Baxter, of 834 S. Charlotte St., Escanaba, Mich., carpenter, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and Doan's Ointment several years ago when living in Dorchester, N. Y. One day I caught a heavy cold which settled on my kidneys. The pain was intense and the kidneys refused to act and for a few days I was completely prostrated. I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and took a dose before I left the drug store, went home, and it was all I could do to get there, lay down all doubled up with pain and fell asleep. When I awoke the pain was gone, the kidneys began to act but the secretions were highly colored and of very bad odor and appearance. I took another dose of Doan's Kidney Pills and went to bed. When I awoke in the morning I was entirely relieved. Since using two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills I have never had any more trouble of the same nature. I also know Doan's Ointment to be a splendid remedy for itching hemorrhoids. My advice to anyone suffering from this affliction or from kidney complaint is to go to the Mead Drug Co., and get either remedy which is needed. There is no doubt as to the beneficial results which follow."
