THIRTY-SIXTH YEAR

ESCANABA, MICHIGAN, SATURDAY, JUNE 30, 1906

NUMBER 28

A GAME BASE BALL A PIECE

Crystal Falls Took Saturday's Game and Escanaba Won on Sunday.

LARGE CROWDS OUT

Errors by Escanab Lost First Game But in Sunday's Contest Only One Error Was Made.

Escanaba and Crystal Falls came together for the first time this year on last Saturday and Sunday, and the result was an even break. The visiting team is reported to be one of the strongest teams in the U. P. and the local team were certainly against a hard proposition. In Saturday's game errors on the part of Escanaba players were plentiful and were responsible for at least four of the six runs scored by Crystal Falls. Olmsted pitched fine ball after the first inning, when hits were bunched, together with errors in the infield and outfield, allowing Crystal Falls to pile up four runs. Nema-check who pitched for Crystal Falls, was very effective, keeping the six hits made off him well scattered throughout the game. Escanaba made its only scores in the fifth inning by means of a base on balls, followed by two hits.

In Sunday's game, Escanaba reversed its form of the previous day and almost succeeded in shitting out the visitors. The local team's line-up was considerably changed and but one error was made during the game. The error came after Kueder's three bagger, allowed Crystal Falls to make its only score. Pete Nolden was in the box for Escanaba and pitched a remarkable game, allowing the visitors but two hits and striking out seven men. Buckley and Jaegers were also in Sunday's game both doing good work. Flath, Escanaba's center fielder was conspicuous for his batting and all-around good playing. During the major part of Sunday's game the Crystal Falls were retired in quick order by the excellent fielding and good playing of the local team. The Escanaba players took kindly to the curves served up by Murray who was in the box for Crystal Falls and pounded out eleven hits.

Escanaba scored three runs in the first inning by launching hits. Buckley made a two base hit in this inning. In the third inning Kueder made a three bagger and scored when Murray singled. Both sides were retired quickly after this excepting in the fifth inning when a three base hit by Flath and a hit by Buckley drove in another score.

Following was the lineup of the two teams for the Saturdays game.

GOVERNMENT BUILDING

Escanaba May Secure Long Hoped for Appropriation.

TO COST $50,000 00

Bill of Congressman Young for Building Here is Favorably Reported Upon By Committee.

Escanaba's long hoped for government building for which the citizens of this city have petitioned repeatedly seems about to be granted by congress. The bill asking that a $50,000 building be erected in Escanaba was introduced in the house of Representatives by Congressman Young early in this session and word has been received that the house has acted upon the bill favorably and it now remains with the senate to confirm the action of the committee.

For but three cities in Michigan, Escanaba, Alpena and Manistee, were appropriations recommended and as Escanaba is the only Upper Peninsula city to be favored it is believed that the bill will go through.

Should the appropriation be secured, the city will feel greatly indebted to Congressman H. O. Young for his efforts in the matter.

L. VAN WINKLE SURPRISED

Gold Headed Cane Presented to L. Van Winkle by his Employees

L. Van Winkle of Van's Harbor was the recipient of a pleasant surprise last Tuesday evening at his home in Van's Harbor.

A party of about fifty of the former employees of Mr. Van Winkle called on him and gave him an old-fashioned surprise party. During the evening's festivities, Mr. Van Winkle was presented with a handsome gold headed cane having the inscription "Louis Van Winkle, from his employees at Van's Harbor," upon the head. The presentation was totally unexpected and nearly "took Mr. Van Winkle off his feet," as one of the party aptly described it. However, he soon regained his composure and in a few well chosen remarks expressed his appreciation of the gift and especially the spirit which prompted the act.

On Saturday evening, June 16th, Mrs. Van Winkle was presented with a beautiful gold headed umbrella, by her many friends.

The party thoroughly enjoyed themselves until way after midnight.

Bear Went For Trapper

Fred Hagen, a farmer living in Holmes township, three miles west of Daggett, Menominee county had an exciting experience recently with a bear. Bears have been quite numerous in the county the past year, and farmers generally have taken precautions to save their stock from the ravages of bruin.

When the bears began to visit the vicinity of Hagen's farm he set out a trap and his work was rewarded. Hagen went out as usual to look over the territory, when he suddenly beheld a monster bear coming towards him, a bear trap dangling from his front paw.

The bear evidently did not like his new ornament and when it beheld Hagen made for the man. Hagen waited until the bear came within speaking distance. When within ten feet, and the bear not showing any friendly move, but instead two rows of white ugly teeth and a bloodthirsty mouth, Hagen aimed his gun at the brute and let him have the contents right between the eyes. The bear dropped dead. The bear was one of the largest ever seen in that part of the country, measuring 8 feet 4 inches from nose to "stern," and weighing about 500 pounds.

HEAVY ELECTRIC STORM

In This Region Thursday Morning and Again in the Afternoon.

WROUGHT MUCH HAVOC

Ben's Theatre Damaged and one Woman Badly Burned. Churches and Dwellings Struck by Lightning.

One of the most terrific electrical storms in the history of Escanaba swept over this city early Thursday morning and again late in the afternoon, doing considerable damage to property and burning one woman so severely that little hope is entertained for her recovery. The atmosphere was heavily charged with electricity and a heavy downpour of rain accompanied the storm.

At Ben's theatre, 1010 Ludington street, the most damage was done. A bolt of lightning entered the theatre in the rear and the sceneries were immediately fired and in a few minutes the entire stage and dressing rooms were a mass of flames.

The fire department arrived in time to prevent the flames from spreading to the front portion of the building. The first and second floors of the building were considerably damaged by water.

Potter's Cafe occupies the lower floor. The loss to the building and fixtures, which amounts to about $2,000, is fully covered by insurance and as soon as the insurance has been adjusted, Mr. Salinsky will start the work of repairing.

All engagements booked for the theater have been temporarily cancelled. Besides the fire at Ben's theatre, a church and two residences were struck by lightning during the early morning storm.

The German Lutheran church at the corner of Wells avenue and Birch street was considerably damaged by a bolt of lightning striking the steeple.

At the home of Judge T. B. White the lightning struck a flag pole on the house but did little damage.

The residence of Peter Arnold at 912 Hale street was also slightly damaged by a bolt of lightning.

During the afternoon storm the lightning struck the steeple on St. Anne's catholic church and the large wooden cross surmounting the building was torn down and splintered to bits. The motor and dynamo in the basement, which furnish current for lights and power for the pipe organ, were also put out of commission by the lightning.

It is feared that the new pipe organ which was recently installed is also damaged.

The most tragic occurrence during the storms happened shortly after 5 o'clock in the morning when Mrs. Charles Anderson of 303 North Sarah Street was struck by a bolt of lightning and so seriously burned that grave doubts are entertained for her recovery.

Mrs. Anderson had started a fire in the kitchen stove and was standing nearby when the lightning entered. It struck the chimney and descended, entering the kitchen of the Anderson home on the second floor. The appearance of the house is such as to lead to the belief that the lightning passed through the house several times before leaving.

When Mrs. Anderson was struck she fell to the floor unconscious and what little clothing was not torn from her body by the bolt immediately burst into flames, completely enveloping the unfortunate woman. The other two occupants of the room—Lena Anderson and Lambert Peterson—were momentarily stunned but soon regained their presence of mind and started for water. For some reason the faucet on the second floor would not work and Peterson had to go to the ground floor where he connected the garden hose and soon had the flames extinguished.

Dr. Youngquist was immediately summoned and the burns were dressed.

The Iron Port pressroom, too, was put out of business for awhile as a result of the storm Thursday afternoon. At the same instant that the cross was torn from St. Anne's church, the shock blew out the fuses on the switchboard and burned out the electric motor which furnishes power for driving the presses. Another motor has been installed, however, and only a few hours delay resulted.

5:00, bicycle race, prize Babing rod and reel, starts at corner of Stephenson avenue and Ludington street, finish at Charlotte street.

Evening program
Band concert at City Park.
Grand display of fireworks at city park on bay shore.

From the State Capital

Information and Gossip Furnished by Special Correspondent at Lansing.

Lansing.—Auditor General Bradley, in behalf of the people of Michigan, and under direction of Attorney General J. E. Bird, has started a suit in the Ingham county circuit court against the Detroit, Grand Haven & Milwaukee Railroad company, et al., to collect $305,743.21, alleged to be due in back taxes. Frederick E. Drygs, John Bell, Francis Pavy, the Grand Trunk Railway company, and the Detroit, Monroe & Toledo Railroad company are also made defendants. It is asked that the defendant road be decreed subject to the general railroad laws of the state, and its property liable to taxation, and that the taxes assessed for the years 1903, 1904 and 1905 be held as valid debts and liens on the railroad and property of the D., G. H. & M. company. The full amount of the interest at one per cent on all the taxes and the penalty is also asked for. The plaintiff holds that the Detroit, Grand Haven & Milwaukee company is subject to the tax in the same manner as other railroad property in the state under the act which provides for the taxation of railroad properties upon their cash value, as fixed by the state board of assessors. The company has claimed special privileges under an old charter, and in the suit involving the constitutionality of the new taxation law this was the only company exempted. It is evidently the purpose of the state officers to endeavor, to have the road declared to be subject to the general railroad laws.

Indeterminate Sentence Act.

M. T. Murray, of the state board of pardons, discussing the recent application of writs of habeas corpus made by convicts for release from the reformatory at Ionia, said that it was interesting to note that the applicants are of the class for whom the indeterminate sentence act was especially intended. "The case of James Porter," said Mr. Murray, "is an excellent example to cite in favor of the law. Porter was sentenced by Judge Chittenden for a term of nine to eighteen months on a charge of larceny. A hurried examination of Porter's record shows that he was sentenced from Cheboygan county in 1887 under the name of Horace White to Jackson for a term of 15 years on a charge of criminal assault, and that he served his full sentence, less good time. He was sentenced under the same name from Otsego county in 1902 to Jackson prison for a term of two years on a charge of forgery, and served that sentence, less good time. In less than eight months after release from his second sentence he was tried before Judge Chittenden on a charge of larceny from the person and received a sentence of nine to eighteen months. It is fair to presume that Judge Chittenden did not know of the convict's previous record. His statement to the governor at the time of sentence is made in three lines which reads as follows: "He deserves the minimum—and the maximum if he does not show a disposition to reform." If the judge knew of Porter's previous record his statement to the governor assumes the form of a joke, for if 17 years' imprisonment, less good time, on former charges failed to produce reformation, it is hardly expected that the desired result will be obtained in a nine to eighteen months' sentence in the Michigan reformatory. Under the indeterminate sentence law society can be protected from this class of criminals, with whom the law is very unpopular, for the statutory period, which in this case is five years. A number of confirmed criminals are being held in our penal institutions to-day under this law and the authorities await with great interest the decision in these cases."

New G. A. R. Officers.

Dr. J. B. Griswold, of Grand Rapids, the new commander of Michigan department, G. A. R., has appointed Fayette Wyckoff, of Lansing, assistant adjutant general, and W. B. Bostock, of Grand Rapids, assistant quartermaster general. Dr. Griswold is a native of Vermontville, Eaton county, where he was born June 21, 1842. He was a student at the Michigan Agricultural college when war was declared. He served one year with the Second cavalry and was discharged on account of disability. Returning from the south, he began the study of medicine and in 1864 was commissioned assistant surgeon of the Fourth Michigan infantry. He was commissioned regimental surgeon in 1865 and served as such until mustered out in 1866. He was also medical inspector of the department of San Antonio, Tex. Dr. Griswold received his degree from Rush medical college, Chicago, in 1867. He removed to Grand Rapids in 1873 and was appointed city physician and elected alderman. He recently resigned as a member of the state board of registration in medicine. Dr. Griswold was married in Ann Arbor, 1868, to Mary B. Wisner.

National Guard Encampment.

Further information has been received from the war department in relation to the encampment of the Michigan National Guard at Indianapolis, beginning August 3. All arrangements for the transportation and for the provisions and stores at camp are left in the hands of the quartermaster general of the state organization, and it is reported that the brigade shall arrive at Indianapolis with all equipment necessary to establish a proper camp. For the transportation of the troops the federal government allows $20,000, the other expenses being borne by the state. Quartermaster General Kidd has found that the prices for many of the supplies will be cheaper at Indianapolis than they were at Ladington. Officers' horses will be engaged there, but the artillery and cavalry will probably transport their own.

Oppose Clemency for Hoffmann.

According to a prominent state official, friends of John T. Hoffmann, former coroner of Wayne county, will have much difficulty in securing his release from Jackson. An important barrier to clemency, it is said, is the fact that Hoffmann never settled for the sums unlawfully taken, and as he had never given a bond he is still considered a debtor to the people of the state.

Looking Forward to the Fourth.

Believing that he may be instrumental in saving some lives, Secretary Shumway, of the state board of health, has issued a statement showing the number of deaths caused by lockjaw resulting from the use of toy pistols, cannon crackers and other explosives. He also calls attention to the fact that the sale of certain explosives to persons under 13 years of age was made a misdemeanor by a law passed in 1883. Secretary Shumway advocates the enforcement of this law.

MICHIGAN EVENTS NOTED

MR. FERRIS DECLINES PRIMARY NOMINATION IN BRIEF LETTER.

SALE OF STATE LANDS.

Brief Notes of Things Done and Seen in and About the State During the Past Few Days.

Mr. Ferris' Letter.

Chairman John T. Winship, of the Democratic state central committee, has received a letter from Woodbridge N. Ferris, dated the 19th, declining the Democratic nomination for governor. The letter follows:

Big Rapids, Mich., June 19, 1906.
To John T. Winship, chairman Democratic and his wife shortly after his birth, now, Mich.:

Dear Sir:—Nearly two years ago, on the spur of the moment, while the state Democratic convention was in session, I consented to accept the nomination for governor of Michigan, in the event that the best interests of Democracy demanded it. The state campaign of 1904 is now a part of history. I am grateful for the magnificent support I received. Beyond a doubt some good was accomplished.

Early in the spring of this year I was approached by friends of reform, who asked me to again become a candidate. I have no personal political aspirations whatever. My responsibilities in connection with my school are heavy and exacting. This work involves the best efforts I am capable of rendering mankind.

Under one condition and only one was I willing to even think of becoming a candidate. This condition involved an enthusiasm on the part of the people that months of observation convince me does not exist. I, therefore, decline the nomination for governor.

You and Secretary Canfield, together with other members of the state central Democratic committee, have been thoroughly loyal to the interests of better government.

It is embarrassing for me to disappoint you, the Democrats and a host of Michigan Independents. I hope a leader can be found who is so situated that he will not be hopelessly handicapped by his daily round of professional duties, one who can enter the contest and arouse an enthusiasm which shall bring to Michigan a clean and economical administration. Gratefully yours,
W. N. FERRIS.

Colonizing State Lands.

Chicago speculators are attending the sale of northern Michigan state lands in the state land office, buying for colonization purposes. Once every two weeks the Michigan Central Park Co. of Chicago runs a special car to Roscommon to interest those who will buy acreage for farming and ranching purposes, those who seek resort lots. This company has placed 8,000 lots on a tract adjoining Higgins lake and it announces that 6,000 of them have been sold, "mostly to Chicago, Detroit and Toledo capitalists."

Many of the buyers have not seen their lots, but seem satisfied with their investment of $25 or more. On the entire tract, however, there are less than a half dozen buildings.

Want a Forger.

The state of Missouri has filed a requisition for Holbrook T. Estill, who was sentenced from Kalamazoo to the Ionia reformatory February 16, 1904, for forgery, and is wanted for similar offenses in many other states. Missouri authorities understood Estill's sentence would expire in August, but as it was for three to fourteen years, it is believed the requisition will be denied. Estill had a wife in the south, but married another at Dowagiac previous to his arrest.

Returned the Bible.

Alumni of the class of '76 U. of M. signaled their reunion Wednesday by returning to the University of Michigan the Bible which some of their number had taken from the chapel 30 years ago. The sacred volume was taken during one of the pranks of the class, when a horse was led into the chapel. In those days the boys wearied of rising early to attend the exercises. With the return of the book the class hopes for the forgiveness of President Angell.

Little Girl Missing.

Rose Whalen, a 9-year-old girl, of East Jordan, whose father is dead, is missing, and is thought to have been drowned. Bessie Frasier, another little girl, says they were playing together Tuesday evening on the bridge, and that Rose fell into the Jordan river. The current is swift, and the body would be swept into the lake. Searching parties have been unable to find Rose.

Found Dead.

Miss Margaret F. Van Etten, aged 28, well known in social circles in Flint, was found dead in her bed, alone in her home Sunday morning. The physician called assigned heart disease as the cause. Three weeks ago Miss Van Etten's widowed mother died, and for two weeks the daughter has been visiting friends in Jackson, returning to Flint Saturday. She spent Saturday evening at the home of a neighbor and had returned to her own house to pass the night.

The recent rains have insured a fine crop of huckleberries and all kinds of fruit in Northern Michigan.

John Evanson, a South Shore fireman, was struck by a span of a bridge while leaning from the engine cab, and was hurled into Peshekemo river and drowned.

As Marion Packard was putting on her commencement gown, to take part in the graduating exercises of the Ann Arbor high school, she received a message that her father, at Flushing, Mich., had suddenly died. She abandoned the commencement exercises and caught the train for home.

JACKSON PRISON.

Are the Prisoners Resentful of Wholesome Discipline? Seems So.

The recent fire in Jackson prison—the fourth within as many months—adds to the conviction that the convicts are endeavoring to burn the prison piecemeal, in retaliation for the deprivation of privileges under the Armstrong regime.

The wagon shop was first burned to the ground, entailing a big loss. Then followed fires in the tailor shop, in the engine room, and last the shop of the Trade Table Co.

The last fire broke out at noon as the convicts were being marched to the dining room for the midday meal. It originated in the packing room of the factory, where the chairs, which are principal product of the company, are prepared for shipment. Before it was brought under control it had destroyed probably $2,500 worth of stock and damaged the building to the extent of $2,000.

Warden Armstrong has been drawing the lines of discipline very much closer at the prison. He has proceeded on the theory that good conduct cannot be purchased by privileges; that liberal treatment should first be earned by good conduct before it was granted. Some prisoners have taken exception to this attitude and there has been more or less trouble.

The new warden has stood firm, has administered the affairs of the institution on a strictly non-partisan basis, so far as the employment of officials is concerned, and has been doing his utmost to carry out the ideas he considers necessary for the well-being of the institution.

So far he has declined to talk for publication, but it is generally known that he believes there are a good many things in connection with the administration of the prison which require radical revision.

There is no direct evidence that the fires have been set by prisoners, but the circumstantial evidence is pretty strong. Those who know the warden best believe that the manifestations of insubordination will have but one effect. Mr. Armstrong is not wholly in accord with the rule of the board abolishing corporal punishment, it is believed, and it may be that the strap will find its way back to the prison if discipline cannot be maintained in any other way. It is not to be inferred that as a general thing, the prison is now lacking in discipline, but with several hundred prisoners working in shops it is difficult to guard against the vindictiveness of a few prisoners who perhaps believe they can force more liberal rules.

MICHIGAN IN BRIEF.

Henry Krussell, aged 21, son of a Bear Creek farmer, dropped dead of heart disease in the railroad depot at Brutus.

Pere Marquette train, No. 401, consisting of three passenger coaches, was derailed five miles south of Bay City, but luckily no one was injured.

Through the breaking of a cable at the Quincy mine, an eight-ton skip dropped down No. 6 shaft and killed Olat Peytkanu and Matt Last.

The only living ex-justices of the Michigan supreme court shook hands in Lansing Wednesday. They are Allen B. Morse, of Ionia, and Edward Cahill, of Lansing.

Seymour Phillips, a giant in stature, quarreled with John Kruss, a youth, and threw him into the Kalamazoo river, where the boy narrowly escaped drowning. Phillips was fined $10.

Meadows and pasture land near Waterford are suffering from a plague of grasshoppers, said to be of the Kansas variety, and fear is entertained that the insects may destroy other crops.

John Henry Murphy, aged 55, well known in western Michigan as a traveling salesman for a monument firm, dropped dead of heart trouble in a Grand Rapids hotel Tuesday morning.

Isalah Blythe, justice of peace at Mass City, who became separated from his fishing party, was found. He had spent the night in the top of a tree with five timber wolves beneath anxiously awaiting his coming down.

Swabian societies of Michigan and Ohio will probably form a state band as the result of a German gala day in Jackson Sunday attended by 1,000 visitors from out of town, including Detroit, Ann Arbor and Toledo.

James A. LeRoy, United States consul to Durango, Mexico, wires friends in Pontiac that he may not accept the consular position and the climate, and is doing some profitable literary work.

Michigan National Guard and Naval Reserves will get $55,833 from the national government by the militia appropriation bill just passed by the house. This is twice last year's appropriation, and carries provision for rifle ranges.

His mind temporarily unbalanced, it is claimed, by excessive cigarette smoking, Wade Reed, of Swartz Creek, attempted to give a circus ring performance there with his horse and buggy. He was arrested and fined $15. He is 22 years of age.

Bert Truman dropped dead in Hartford mine, Negaunee, while waiting for a cage to take him to the surface. He was leader in the Methodist church choir and one of the most prominent Englishmen in the county. He leaves a widow and five children.

"John Doe," said to be a churchman who fell through indulgence in drugs and liquor, and who is serving a long term in state's prison for burglary and arson at Michigan Center, has had his sentence commuted by Gov. Warner, and he will be released July 1.

H. A. Tilley, of Jackson, formerly well-to-do, has become insane through financial reverses and is in the Kalamazoo asylum.

Peter D. Loomis has announced his resignation as cashier of the Jackson City bank, with which he has been engaged for 26 years, since he was 17 years of age.

Flower Day was observed at Jackson prison Sunday with elaborate services. An address of welcome was given by a long term Detroit man, whose name is suppressed, and a response by Mrs. Jennie Wilcox, state organizer W. C. T. U. Over 700 bouquets were presented.

Fireworks for the Fourth

The Fourth of July that quickens the heartbeats of all American youngsters and the nerve quivers of all American mothers is once more upon us, a fact too well realized as we dodge an exploding coil of firecrackers or blink fast as we hurry by a street urchin cocking his toy pistol:

But while the din of the Fourth, instead of stirring our souls with patriotism, may give us a weak-kneed longing to follow our pet poodle's example in crawling under the bed, when the day is safely over and we sit at the front window, waiting for the evening's fireworks—our sidewalk already saturated by a cautious hose and buckets of water standing on the roof—we begin to feel reconciled to our forebears' indiscretion in signing the Declaration of Independence.

Our earliest recollections link the Fourth of July and fireworks so indissolubly together that we fancy it was the vivid conviction of the nursery that Washington and his associates, after signing the illustrious document, hurried round the corner to confer with the inventors of pinwheel, bomb and rocket, writes Mary C. Ringwall, in the Los Angeles Times. But long before the colonial fingers let go their hold on the mother hand, long before America claimed her own on the world's map, some ambitious wizard had stolen into fairyland and secreted himself there until he had learned the magic art of making fireworks. Just when and where he gave the first display on his own little planet, history does not record, but very early the Chinese took embroidery lessons of him, as it were, and none have surpassed this child-natured race in the ingenuity of their pyrotechnics.

Quick to seize any excuse for their beloved pastime, which they poeticaling to their clothes. If the work is particularly dangerous, a man or woman labors alone in a room. In front of each building is an emergency barrel, while at one end of the village a large tank insures adequate water supply.

There are three special divisions in the general work—making the cases, that is, the paper tubes and shells; combining materials to give power, light and color; and putting the explosive and illuminating power into the cases.

The making of a Roman candle is said to be one of the simplest but most dangerous tasks. The Roman candle-maker sits in a tiny room "alone by himself." On a shelf to his right are the powder and other inflammable substances; on his left, the shells for the candle, while in front of him is a machine like a comb running up and down, every tooth of which acts as a ramrod packing the load into the case—and incidentally striking a spark by friction, now and then creating an instant explosion.

An artist draws designs for all the set pieces, the manufacture of which is quite complicated. For the creation of a bomb, that triumph of pyrotechnic beauty, a large sphere is made first. Its shell is of hard paper, sometimes 20 inches in diameter, and this is filled with smaller shells "coconut size," in each of which is the material that, when ignited, makes a certain colored light.

A unique celebration of the Fourth of July took place in Sitka, shortly after Uncle Sam purchased Alaska for a new hobby horse. In the morning there was an exciting canoe race in the harbor, prizes of blankets, etc., being given to the Indian victors. Early in the afternoon a procession formed, marching to the mouth of the

Making It Lively for the Old Man

It describe as "letting off flowers," the Chinese indulge in fireworks on all occasions. The national festivities of the new year are, of course, illumined by an exuberance of rockets and fantastic pyrotechnic phenomena representing everything from a fish to a man. There are constant local, private manifestations—for births, marriages, funerals, meetings of friends, theatrical spectacles, etc. One touching use of fireworks by the Chinese is when a young woman visits a temple dedicated to the goddess "Mother," and praying that she may have a little son, has "flowers" of hope and promise set off in the goddess' honor.

In all probability fireworks were introduced into Europe through Italy, the Italians employing the art as early as the sixteenth century. It is stated that fireworks were used in England, in a pageant honoring the nuptials of Henry VIII. and Anne Boleyn, while one of the earliest and most noted pyrotechnic displays in France was at Fontainebleau.

One of the leading American weeklies, an August issue of 1902, contains a most-interesting account of a fireworks factory on Long Island. The point of view of grandmothers, anxieties and pet aunties focusing anxiety upon the firing off of Fourth of July implements of joy is here turned toward the daily perils of workmen and workwomen who manufacture these dangerous toys.

This village of shops covers 15 acres not far from Manhattan Beach, and the working force was then composed of 90 persons, 30 of them women. The 45 houses, many no longer than a woodshed, are built in three regular rows, each 60 feet apart. Only a few persons work in any one building, and all are obliged to bring their lunches and eat where they work, never congregating in groups for fear of fire from chemical or powder clinging to their clothes. If the work is particularly dangerous, a man or woman labors alone in a room. In front of each building is an emergency barrel, while at one end of the village a large tank insures adequate water supply.

There are three special divisions in the general work—making the cases, that is, the paper tubes and shells; combining materials to give power, light and color; and putting the explosive and illuminating power into the cases.

DIED SUDDENLY

Joseph L. Moser Stricken With Apoplexy at Home in Danforth Settlement.

Joseph L. Moser, a resident of Delta County for the past thirty years, died suddenly at his home on a farm in Danforth settlement last Saturday. The cause of his death was apoplexy and as Mr. Moser lived alone, his death was not known until the day following, when Mrs. Moser who conducts a store at North Escanaba went to the home to visit her husband and found him lying dead in the house.

A physician was called and it was found that death had evidently occurred several hours before. A lighted lamp stood on the table and from the position of the body it is believed that Mr. Moser was about to retire for the night.

An investigation of the death of Mr. Moser was made by Coroner Sheedio and after the testimony of Mrs. Moser was heard a verdict of death from apoplexy was returned.

Mr. Moser was seventy-seven years of age and came to Delta county in 1876. Besides his wife, one son, E. L. Moser of Marquette, survives him.

Joseph Ripley's Career.

The appointment of Joseph Ripley, superintendent of the Soo waterways, as engineer in charge of the designing and construction of the twelve big locks to be built as important parts of the Panama canal, is a just recognition of his valuable services in the engineering department of the government during the past twenty-nine years. There is probably no better posted man in the world on locks and their construction than Mr. Ripley and he is recognized as such by the government officials. He has been a resident of the Soo ever since his graduation from the University of Michigan in 1876, entering the employ of the government in June 1877. During the construction of the Hay Lake channel he was in charge of the improvement and in March, 1898, he was appointed general superintendent of the canal, a position he has since and now holds. He was appointed a member of the board of consulting engineers of the Panama canal and with the members went to the isthmus and made a personal inspection of the proposed route. He was one of the minority to stand out for a lock type canal, which type will prevail. It is estimated that the canal will take nine years to construct and Mr. Ripley will be required to be on the ground most of the time. He will, however, be given six weeks' vacation each year and will be thus enabled to annually visit friends and relatives at the Soo and drink in the ozone of Lake Superior.

Ulcerated Tooth Causes Death

Miss Sophia Bray, daughter of William Bray, an old resident of Ironwood, is dead as a result of blood poisoning. An ulcerated tooth was the cause of the infection. She would have been nineteen years old in September.

Epilepsy Fits St. Vitus Dance

Are nerve diseases, and unless checked, lead to destruction of both mind and body. The weak, shattered nerves must have something to strengthen and build them back to health. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve is a remarkable nerve tonic and stimulant. It strengthens the nerves, relieves the nervous strain, and influences refreshing body-building sleep and rest. Persistent use seldom fails to relieve these afflictions.

"I was taken with epileptic fits; had eleven in less than 12 hours. My father sent for our family physician, but he could do very little for me, and I grew worse every day, and at last they had three doctors with me, and I still got worse. My father heard of Dr. Miles' medicines and bought a bottle of Nerve and a box of Nerve and Liver Pills. I had taken only a few doses until I began to feel better. I took 12 bottles, and it cured me sound and well. It has been worth all the world to me. I recommend it wherever I go. You may use this as a life-long testimonial to the merits of your medicine, for I am enjoying the best of health, and feel that my life and health is due to this wonderful medicine."—R. F. D. # NEED TALENTED WOMAN GIVE UP CAREER FOR HOME AND HUSBAND?

ROOM IN HEART FOR BOTH LOVE AND WORK

Now She Has Found a Husband Who Promises Devotion and Freedom to Pursue Her Literary Duties to Any Extent She May Desire.

To love, cherish—and obey! Is this a promise to be kept to the last letter? Does it mean even the sacrificing of a talent under dictation? Must the woman give up the natural gift at the bidding of the man, though it may not prevent her from loving and from cherishing?

"No!" said Mrs. Ethel Watts Mumford, most emphatically.

"Decidedly yes!" retorted George Dana Mumford, lawyer and capitalist and lately the husband of Mrs. Mumford, one of New York's most talented and successful woman writers.

Can a woman who writes be, at the same time, a good wife and a good mother? Can a woman devote herself to art and her home at one and the same time?

"Certainly!" declared Peter Colles Grant, broker and lover.

Mrs. Mumford agreed with him very decidedly. So now the marriage of Mr. Grant and Mrs. Mumford follows quite naturally on the heels of the celebrated divorce case of Mumford vs. Mumford.

Ethel Dickinson Watts was one of the most talented daughters of the south when she met George Dana Mumford. Born in New York herself, she was still the high type of southern girl that her mother, Mrs. D. G. Watts, meant her to be. She was tall, athletic, witty, vivacious, beautiful, clever.

Her mother, a woman of wealth, saw that the daughter's natural gifts were not neglected. She had a fine education, and then was sent to Paris to finish. She studied painting under Benjamin Constant; she spent a year traveling in Europe—and the orient. There was another year in Japan, a long stay in the South seas, journeys to the south and west in the United States, and visits in Mexico and Central America.

When Miss Watts got back to New York, says "The World," of that city, she was bubbling over with ideas which she longed to put down in black and white. And so there blossomed out another successful woman writer.

Then came Mr. Mumford. He was rich, good looking, a graduate of Columbia '89, and Harvard '91, a member of half a dozen smart clubs, and well known socially in New York and in Tuxedo. He fell head over heels in love with the talented girl, and she thought she loved him. This was in 1894, when both were very young. It was a quick, ardent courtship and a beautiful wedding. Then a delightful honeymoon abroad and a return to a beautiful home. A little boy was born two years later—the apple of his father's eye. It looked like a most happy union—this marriage of the brilliant southern girl and the polished "varsity man."

But here the Muses took a hand and upset all these pretty little plans of Pan Cupid. The young wife's literary bent, temporarily laid aside during the courtship and honeymoon, again asserted itself. Tales of adventure, poems of the seas, romances of far-away lands—all were seething in her brain.

And so she took up her pen again and wrote.

One after another the things came into being, only to be striven for by the publishers. But prose and poetry did not comprise all the brilliant girl's talents. She would write a play and she did—"The Scenario"—and the talented Annie Russell presented it. It was a story of Mexico and Paris—note how the young wife kept close to the scenes she had visited before her marriage.

And all the time she wrote and wrote. Things were finished, only to be torn up and rewritten. Other efforts were destroyed, never to be seen by anyone. And all the time, too, the boy was growing bigger and bigger, and needing more and more his mother's care.

Who shall say who began the trouble?

If a vital household dispute arises, either wife or husband must make the sacrifice. It is for the outside world, knowing nothing of what transpires around the hearthstone, to say who shall yield?

Mrs. Mumford wanted to write. Mr. Mumford didn't want her to write. There was the problem. He wanted his wife to entertain, to go out with him, to give him all her spare time, to spend her energies within her home and not between the covers of the magazines.

Mrs. Mumford said "No!" She insisted that she could be a good wife and a good mother, and still give rein to her literary ambitions. Neither side would yield. There were quarrels. So, after five years of married life, in 1899, Mrs. Mumford took her boy and left her husband alone in his New York home. As for her, she went to California and acquired a legal residence there. Then suit for divorce on the ground of desertion was brought by the young wife; the proper papers were served on Mr. Mumford. He appeared by an attorney, but put in no defense. In 1901 Justice Hebard, in the superior court, San Francisco, granted the decree, and the young wife, free now to write all she pleased, went back to New York with her little son, whose custody the court allowed her. But even in California, when the lawyers were busy untying the knot tied so few years before, Mrs. Mumford's pen was not idle. She brought out her first novel in California—"Dupes"—published by the Putnams, and very successful. Then followed another novel, "White Wash," and "The Cynic's Calendar," published in San Francisco.

In New York Mrs. Mumford began writing again, mostly stories for the leading magazines. She took up her residence with her mother, who is very wealthy.

Meanwhile the divorced husband, eager still for a home, was not idle. Hardly was the ink dry on the legal decree divorcing the two, when he met Mrs. Claire Drake Butterfield, widow of the immensely wealthy Theodore Butterfield, of Rochester. Six months after the divorce was made public Mrs. Butterfield announced her engagement to Mr. Mumford. In June, 1902, they were married at the Church of the Messiah, by Rev. Dr. Minot J. Savage, assisted by Rev. Dr. Clay MacCawley. There was a honeymoon down at Mr. Mumford's country place, and when they came back to town in the autumn it was to live just across Central park, where Mrs. Mumford No. 1 lived with her mother and her little son.

Forgotten, Mrs. Mumford soon forgot.

"I'll never marry again," she told her friends, "unless a man comes along who will not mind how much I write and paint," but they laughed at her.

"Wait and see!" was the drift of what they said in reply. "There are men who won't mind how much you write and paint."

They were right.

"The man came along six months ago. He was Peter Leavitt Grant, a Scotchman, formerly of Granttown, Scotland, but now a member of the New York brokerage firm of Leavitt & Grant.

He was older than Mr. Mumford and broader in his views. They met at the house of mutual friends—the rich broker and the beautiful young authoress. He was immensely taken with her literary work and never wearied of praising it to his friends—so different from Mr. Mumford, whom it bored quite thoroughly.

Mr. Grant frankly told his friends he believed there were plenty of clever women who could follow their talents and at the same time be good wives and mothers. He held that there could be no incompatibility between the art of a woman and the helpful comradery of the home.

Finally the time came when he felt that he could say this same thing to Mrs. Mumford. He did. His answer was a whispered "Yes," just as the young college man, Mumford, had received it 12 years before. But this time it was a more qualified, one. With it went the understanding that the bride-to-be for the second time could write and paint and study just as much as she pleased.

"That is distinctly understood," replied the gallant Mr. Grant, and a few days ago the engagement was announced.

"My daughter will keep on with literary work," explained Mrs. Watts, the mother, "just as she always has done. There is no reason whatever why a woman cannot be a good wife and mother and at the same time give some time to her talents."

"Mr. Grant understands this perfectly and is just as interested in my daughter's success as we are. He is very proud of what she has done already and looks forward to even better things in the future. They have gone on a honeymoon in the country and in the autumn they will sail for Europe to visit Mr. Grant's family in Scotland."

As for Mr. Mumford, he was seen at his office and took the news of his former wife's engagement rather testily.

"Mrs. Mumford is my divorced wife," he said, "and I cannot discuss her affairs or her coming marriage. She is no longer a part of my life."

The wedding took place on Saturday, June 2, Rev. Charles Townsend, of Orange, N. J., Mr. Grant's pastor, officiating. It was a quiet little home ceremony at Mrs. Watts' house, only members of the families being present. Hereafter Mrs. Grant will divide her time between New York and Scotland, but the public can assure itself that fiction and adventure from the pen of Ethel Watts Mumford.

And now Cupid, god of love, and Clio, muse of literature, will walk hand in hand.

Paris, June 11, 1906.

Dear Percy: While I am not on the ground and cannot size up the present situation with every confidence in my judgment, I think it would be wise to clean up the yards and all the houses, so as to be ready for any inspectors or reporters who may ask to be shown through the plant. I may be wrong, but probably it wouldn't hurt anything if you were to do a little cleaning up. You can get Thomas Jefferson Jackson to do a week's whitewashing. He can daub up enough fences in that time to make the cattle and hog pens look fairly clean, and possibly he could finish in time to whiten up the interior of some of the rooms of the plant.

As I think it over, I guess it would be a good idea to clean the floors in all the rooms. Naturally a great deal of grease will fall on the floors in 10 or 12 years, and much of it will be ground into the wood and saved. Pieces of pork, beef, mutton and rind and a great deal of lard, no doubt, cover the floors to a depth of six or seven inches in places. This should be scraped up carefully and turned over to the olive oil department, where it can be placed in the vats with oxalic acid and formaldehyde. It can be bottled as "La Picha Olive Oil. Quality Guaranteed by the Italian Government." The sediment can be used in the boneless chicken department.

Here is another thing you can do: Send for reporters from every paper in the city and give them a little talk on food purity and similar rot, tell what efforts we've made to kill germs, and tell how for years we have sprayed the walls, floors, tables, wagons and tools with formaldehyde in order to be certain of absolute cleanliness. In proof of the statement show them our formaldehyde bills for the last five or six years. That'll convince 'em.

How is the egg business coming along? I met a famous French chemist yesterday who showed me a thing or two about eggs, and I had always supposed I knew about everything worth knowing. I think we can revolutionize the egg business. This fellow has a secret preparation that preserves eggs for as long as seven years. It's something wonderful. Best of all, this stuff is cheap, costs only eight cents a gallon, and a gallon is enough to preserve nearly a million eggs. You need only one drop of the stuff and great care must be observed not to use more than one, as two drops cause the stomach to rebel and three cause serious illness and sometimes death. However, we must all take chances in this world. This Frenchman has invented an instrument with which the egg is punctured, the preservative injected and the hole sealed.

I have offered him $500,000 for his formula and instrument, to become my exclusive property, and I think he will accept. That seems like a large amount of money, and it is, but think how soon it will come back. We will save thousands and thousands of dollars in ice. And when he perfects it so it can be used on meat—well, inside of a few years the phrase "cold storage" will be deader than Chaucery's Depew. Your affectionate father,

JOHN BEEFHAM.

New York.—Stanford White, the well-known architect, member of exclusive clubs and prominent in society, was shot and instantly killed by Harry Kendall Thaw, member of the Pittsburgh family of millionaires and husband of Evelyn Nesbit, the actress at the Madison Square roof garden, Monday night.

Mr. White was an old friend of the Nesbit family and was instrumental in procuring a position on the stage for Evelyn, when she came to New York years ago and served for some time as an artist's model.

It was near the close of "Mamselle Champagne," a musical comedy, with which the garden was opened, that Thaw approached the table at which White was seated with another man, and fired three shots from an automatic revolver into the breast of the architect.

Thaw was locked in the West Thirtieth street police station, where he made a statement that the death of White was deserved, for many reasons.

There is no doubt that jealousy, amounting almost to insane hatred, was responsible for the deed. In his statement Thaw mentioned several times the name of his wife, coupling this with characterizations of White that he was a blackguard and a scoundrel.

Mrs. Thaw was on the roof at the time of the tragedy. She had only time to rush out as the special policeman was leading her husband away a prisoner and throw her arms around his neck, crying, hysterically: "Oh, Harry! Harry! Harry!" when she collapsed and was taken away by friends.

The tragedy, while a shock to the friends of both men, was not altogether a surprise to them. They knew, and have known for several years, that against the architect Thaw had the most bitter feeling.

The feud dates back to the time when Thaw first fell in love with the young woman who is now his wife, and made no secret of his feeling. It had come to the ears of White, and his friends had often discussed it with him; some had even warned him to be careful. But, declaring that there was no reason for animosity, the architect went about his business as usual.

Washington.—The senate Monday discussed the conference report on the railroad rate bill for more than four hours, but did not dispose of it. It was made evident, however, that another conference will be ordered.

The discussion dealt entirely with the anti-pass and commodity amendments, to both of which objection was made on various grounds. Senator Spooner expressed the opinion that under the pass provision as reported senators and members of the house of representatives would not be prohibited from accepting passes, and other senators construed part of the provision as in the interest of a discrimination in passes that could be made to take the place of rebates. Senators Tillman and Lodge sharply criticized the change in the commodity amendment so as to prohibit "railroads," and not "common carriers," from engaging in the production of articles to be transported by themselves, as in the interest of the Standard Oil.

An extraordinary sudden death occurred the other day in Paris. A sexagenarian went to have his photograph taken. He sat in a chair before the camera, and as the photographer uttered the customary words, "Please don't move," down fell the old man on the floor. It was naturally supposed that the sexagenarian was in a fainting fit, but he was in reality dead, as the doctor who was sent for testified after a brief examination of the body.

THE DOCTOR'S WIFE

Agrees with Him About Food.

A trained nurse says: "In the practice of my profession I have found so many points in favor of Grape-Nuts food that I unhesitatingly recommend it to all my patients."

"It is delicate and pleasing to the palate (an essential in food for the sick) and can be adapted to all ages, being softened with milk or cream for babies or the aged when deficiency of teeth renders mastication impossible. For fever patients or those on liquid diet I find Grape-Nuts and albumen water very nourishing and refreshing. This recipe is my own idea and is made as follows: Soak a teaspoonful of Grape-Nuts in a glass of water for an hour, strain and serve with the beaten white of an egg and a spoonful of fruit juice or flavoring. This affords a great deal of nourishment that even the weakest stomach can assimilate without any distress."

"My husband is a physician and he uses Grape-Nuts himself and orders it many times for his patients."

"Personally I regard a dish of Grape-Nuts with fresh or stewed fruit as the ideal breakfast for anyone—well or sick." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

In any case of stomach trouble, nervous prostration or brain fog, a 10 days' trial of Grape-Nuts will work wonders toward nourishing and rebuilding, and in this way ending the trouble. "There's a reason" and trial proves.

TERRIBLE ITCHING SCALP.

Eczema Broke Out Also on Hands and Limbs—An Old Soldier Declares: "Cuticura Is a Blessing."

"At all times and to all people I am willing to testify to the merits of Cuticura. It saved me from worse than the torture of hades, about the year 1900, with itching on my scalp and temples, and afterwards it commenced to break out on my hands. Then it broke out on my limbs. I then went to a Surgeon, whose treatment did me no good, but rather aggravated the disease. I then told him I would go and see a physician in Erie. The reply was that I could go anywhere, but a case of eczema like mine could not be cured; that I was too old (80). I went to an eminent doctor in the city of Erie and treated with him for six months, with like results. I had read of the Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Resolvent, and continued taking the Resolvent until I had taken six bottles, stopping it to take the Pills. I was now getting better. I took two baths a day, and at night I let the Ointment with great effect after washing in warm water, to stop the itching at once. I am now cured. The Cuticura treatment is a blessing, and should be used by every one who has itching of the skin. I can't say any more, and thank God that He has given the world such a curative. Wm. H. Gray, 3203 Mt. Vernon St., Philadelphia, Pa., August 2, 1905."

TEETH THAT WERE USELESS

Fuzzle to the Man Who Had Suddenly Sustained the Loss of Them.

Harry Leon Wilson, author of "The Spenders," was domiciled for a summer in Connecticut with a colony of artists and writers, all of whom had to go into the city every day, relates the Saturday Evening Post.

Wilson was doing nothing but loafing. He loafed artistically, and from time to time met and had fun with some of the natives of the place. One day he found two men in the road who seemed congenial, and he struck up an acquaintance with them. He proposed a drive and they got a surrey and two horses.

"Can you drive?" asked Wilson. "Sure," one of his sudden friends replied, "I am a fine driver."

They got aboard and started down the road. Before they had gone half a mile the team was frightened by a passing automobile and ran away. The driver valiantly steered the horses into a telegraph pole and Wilson and his two friends were thrown helter-skelter into the road.

Wilson slowly gathered himself together. One of his friends was sitting in the ditch rubbing his bruises and the other stood in the middle of the road gazing in tearful misery at two front teeth which he held in the palm of his hand.

"Pretty lucky escape, wasn't it?" asked Wilson, for want of something better to say.

"Yes," replied the man with the teeth, weeping afresh, "but please, oh, please, tell me, what shall I do with these?"

A man who had started with a friend on a week's automobile tour stayed away two weeks. When finally they got back to town, he went home, and his wife received him coldly. "What is the matter with Pitcoe?" said the lady, sharply. "Ah, poor fellow," said her husband, "at this moment his wife is giving him the very deuce!" And that wily speech got him off.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twentytwo per cent; or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirtyseven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse, but you must see that it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Castoria causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. A. F. Peeler, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy."

Dr. E. Down, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria in my practice for many years with great satisfaction to myself and benefit to my patients."

Dr. J. E. Wagoner, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I can most heartily recommend your Castoria to the public as a remedy for children's complaints. I have tried it and found it of great value."

Dr. Edward Parrish, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild laxative effect and freedom from harm."

Dr. J. R. Elliott, of New York City, says: "Having during the past six years prescribed your Castoria for infantile stomach disorders, I most heartily commend its use. The formula contains nothing deleterious to the most delicate of children."

Dr. C. G. Sprague, of Omaha, Neb., says: "Your Castoria is an ideal medicine for children, and I frequently prescribe it. While I do not advocate the indiscriminate use of proprietary medicines, yet Castoria is an exception for conditions which arise in the care of children."

Dr. J. A. Parker, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a sure and reliable medicine for infants and children. In fact, it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."

Dr. H. F. Merrill, of Augusta, Me., says: "Castoria is one of the very finest and most remarkable remedies for infants and children. In my opinion your Castoria has saved thousands from an early grave. I can furnish hundreds of testimonials from this locality as to its efficiency and merits."

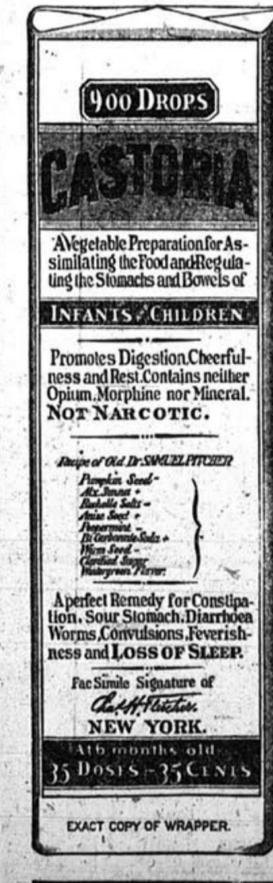

Dr. Norman M. Gere, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "During the last twelve years I have frequently recommended your Castoria as one of the best preparations of the kind, being safe in the hands of parents and very effective in relieving children's disorders, while the ease with which such a pleasant preparation can be administered is a great advantage."

Dr. F. H. Kyle, of St. Paul, Minn., says: "It affords me pleasure to add my name to the long list of those who have used and now endorse your Castoria. The fact of the ingredients being known through the printing of the formula on the wrapper is one good and sufficient reason for the recommendation of any physician, I know of its good qualities and recommend it cheerfully."

TIME TO ACT

Don't Wait for the Fatal Stages of Kidney Illness. Profit by Escanaba People's Experiences.

Occasional attacks of backache, irregular urination, headaches and dizzy spells are common early symptoms of kidney disorders. It's an error to neglect these ills. The attacks may pass off for a time, but return with greater intensity. If there are symptoms of dropsy—puffy swellings below the eyes, bloating of limbs or ankles, or any other part of the body, don't delay a minute. Begin taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and keep up the treatment until the kidneys are well, when your old-time health and vigor will return. Cures in Escanaba prove the effectiveness of this great kidney remedy.

William Anderson, painter, of 1222 Wells Ave., Escanaba, Mich., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of a bad case of kidney complaint and backache from which I had suffered for a long time. I thought it was the tertipentine and lead used in painting that effected me. I had dull headaches, my eyes pained and watered and my limbs became swollen. I consulted a physician and used medicine but could not get much relief. I finally began using Doan's Kidney Pills and after taking three boxes the swelling left my limbs. I have none of the pains in my back, headaches do not bother me and my eyes do not pain and water, and I am still in the painting business. It was my kidneys that were sick and Doan's Kidney Pills produced the whole results I have mentioned. I am very glad to recommend them to others."

MUST SPRINKLE PAVEMENT

Barber Asphalt Co. Says it is Duty to Run Sprinkler on Ludington Street

In order to prevent the asphalt pavement on Ludington street from being seriously damaged during the warm months of the year, by sharp shod horses, the city should arrange to keep the street well sprinkled.

This information was received this week from officials of the Barber Asphalt Company. It is also pointed out that during the summer months owners of horses should have their horses shod with shoes bearing heavy calks in order to prevent the chipping of the pavement which is caused by sharp calks.

Among the miners at Ishpeming, an Association is being organized this month, $10,000 being raised locally and $40,000 will be contributed by the mining companies for an Association building. Last Tuesday, the Durand Railroad Y. M. C. A. received an offer from the Grand Trunk R. R. of $5,000 for an Association building providing $2,500 more is raised locally. This will be done.

An important department of the Young Men's Christian Association work today is that for boys. Each local Association in addition to the work for boys accomplished in its buildings, conducts a summer camp at some nearby lake or river. More than three hundred boys were in these local camps in Michigan last year. As a model for the local camps and a training school for their leaders, as well as to accommodate those from cities having no Associations, the State Executive Committee has established a State Camp for boys twelve to sixteen years of age on the shores of Torch Lake in Antrim county. The prospectus of this camp has just been received and is an attractive booklet. Parents or boys interested can secure a copy by addressing L. E. Buell, State Secretary, Ann Arbor, Mich.
