YOUNG GIRL BADLY MAIMED

Seventeen-Year-Old Miss, with Both Legs and an Arm Broken, Cannot Survive Her Injuries.

Meadville, Pa.-One killed, another fatally injured, while three are seriously burned, is the result of a fire in soda bottling works here Monday. The fatality and injuries were caused by a bursting soda charging tank, falling walls and the flames. The loss is estimated at $7,000. The cause of the fire is not known. Two residences and a barn immediately adjacent to the bottling plant were consumed before the fire was controlled. When the flames reached the charging tank it exploded with a terrific roar, and pieces of the heavy metal were thrown . with great force in every direction, subjecting the employes who had not made their escape to a veritable charge of shrapnel. Walter, Fries, 14 years of age, was struck and instantly killed, while Eleanor Martin, 17 years old, had one arm and both legs broken, besides receiving internal injuries from omen Workers in Feather and Artificial Flower Trades in Paris Live on That Sum.

How to live on 60 cents a day is a problem which the Paris syndicate of women workers in the feather and artificial flower trades solves, or attempts to solve. The problem is also one which thousands of girls or women in Paris have to face somehow. In the trades mentioned 60 cents a day is the average pay. The budget drawn up by the union is a pathetic miracle of thriftiness. It contains over 60 items of expenditure and accounts for every penny. Rent heads the list and is down for $30 a year. Heating costs $1 a month for six months of the year and lighting $5.90 for the whole twelve months. Expenses for meals are, breakfast, 11/2 cents a day; luncheons, 8 cents; dinners, 6 cents. Clothes includes two pairs of boots, $3; one pair of summer shoes, "to save the boots," 60 cents; soling and heeling, $1.60 a year; two blouses at 35 cents each, two dresses at $5.50 each, three pettlcoats, $2,25. Some items are peculiarly pathetic. Matches, 1 cent a month; pen, ink and paper, 10 cents a year; postages, 32 cents a year; receipt stamps for quarterly rents, 4 cents; conclerge's annual tip, $1; needles, thread, etc., for mending, $3; four baths a year, 50 cents; household expenses, $6.75; washing,

The grand total shows a balance on the right side of about $2 annually. This has to cover all extras, such as omnibus fares, which are not included in the estimate. This budget has been drawn up by the syndicate for the benefit of those of its members who find a difficulty in making both ends meet. One wonders how many evermanage to balance such a budget, which, by the way, makes no provi-

Recently a Batignolles landlord died leaving a will, by which he exempted all his tenants from a quarter's rent and bequeathed a sum of $6,000 for distribution among the caretakers of his houses and those occupants of the same who happened to be pressed for money at 'the time of his demise. Another landlord has now died, leaving a larger sum to his dependents than the Batignolles man. He lived at Auteil, where he owned an extensive house, occupied by many tenants. To the caretakers conclerges of this establishment the Auteil landlord left in his will $100,000. They are to have and to hold this money on condition that they remain honest and charitable people.

NOT MEANT FOR DIVER.

Nature Seemingly Had Neglected to Fit Young Scotchman for Profession He Desired.

Not all men are fitted for all things. The fact that an individual shines in one profession is no proof that he may adopt any career with equal success. Rob. whose adventures are recorded in Mr. Whitmarsh's "The World's Rough Hand," was a good fellow, and doubtless played his part in the world with credit to himself, but he was not born to be a diver, as his experiences show. One of the greatest dangers in diving is that of

The quality a diver needs more than any other is presence of mind. A young Scotchman, six feet tall, by the name of Rob, applied to me for a position as diver. He had a sweetheart at home, and, tempted by the high wages, was anxious to learn the business. One time, when work was slack, I let him go down.

I told him minutely how to manage, screwed on his face glass and sent him under. I felt him land on the bottom and signal that all was right. Then he walked away from the boat, paying out most of the line. After a little he stopped. I imagined him resting, and thought he was doing remarkably well.

All at once I noticed a dark bladder-like object floating at some distance from the boat. At first I thought it was a turtle. Something made me look at it more carefully, and then I began to haul the line in. The "turtle" was Rob. As he drew nearer we could hear him screaming his loudest inside the swollen dress. I got him alongside, unscrewed the escape-valve, and hauled him on deck. All the time he was crying: "Let me out!"

When Rob came to his senses, we learned that he had become frightened lest his dress should burst, and had screwed the escape-valve the wrong way, keeping in the air instead of letting it escape. He lost his presence of mind altogether, and fell down. The confined air accumulated in the bulklest part of the dress and floated him.

The second attempt Rob made as a diver nearly cost him his life. He made the very same mistake with the valve. Then, crazed by fear, he began to unscrew his face glass. Fortunately for his sweetheart, he lost consciousness before he got it off. He was delirious for some hours after we had hauled him up. We decided he was not fit for a diver, and that his road to fortune lay in some other direction.-Youth's Companion.

Republican State Convention.

The Republican state convention which meets in Detroit on the 31st of July to nominate the state ticket other than governor and lieutenant governor will consist of 945 delegates, which is a reduction of about 131/2 per cent. from the 1,094 of the last convention. The delegations from the counties, however, are not uniformly reduced in that proportion, a new system of apchanges in the relative strength of many counties and districts. Heretofore, Michigan Republicans have ap- Poor Farm Well Conducted, portioned their delegates upon the total vote instead of upon the Republican vote, a method at variance with that of many other states, and one that has always seemed to many of our own people illogical and unreasonable. The primary election law in providing for the election of county delegates by Australian ballot, provided that the state delegates to be elected in county conventions should be apportioned upon the Republican vote, so that counties with strong Republican constituencies should not be outclassed in Republican conventions by counties with less Republican votes, on the strength of the votes they would cast against the Republican ticket. The delegates have now been elected upon that plan, and this and the relative gain in population of northern over southern counties results in transfer of considerable strength from lower countles to upper.

Money Ordered Distributed.

In the supreme court a'decree was entered in the recently desided case of the Union Trust company against the Preston National bank and the Union Trust company, receiver of the City Savings bank. The court orders that the trust company is chargeable with interest at five per cent. on the proceeds of the sale of certain bonds of the Detroit & Fline railway and that the amount in its hands for distribution is $53,677.10 on July 2. The Detroit United railway is entitled to receive $8,164 of this amount, and the remaining $44,912 is to be divided equally between the Union Trust company, receiver, and the Preston National bank.

Files Supplementary Brief.

A supplementary brief was filed by Judge Cahill in the supreme court in the case involving the constitutionaliy of the senatorial apportionment .ct. In it he points out that if the legislature can cut off Wayne county with four senators, because of the suppositious advantage that a county obtains by having more than one senator, by the same reasoning the legfslature can cut off the county with three senators. The present apportionment, he said, is more unequal than that of 1891, which was held to be unconstitutional.

Secretary L. C. Storrs, of the state board of correction and charities, paid an official visit to the Ingham county poor farm. He declares that the house and farm are conducted in as good a manner as any of the poor farms in the state and that the inmates receive excellent treatment from the keeper, J. G. Cannon for the State.

Gov. Warner has been notified that congress has granted the state of Michigan six brass or bronze cannon which have been condemned, and are to be used in making a statue to Stevens T. HOW IT FEELS TO SAIL IN A TOR-NADO AND GET A BROKEN BACK.

CELEBRATES THE DAY

The Effects of a Tornado As Felt by Mr. Herfert-The Victims of the Glorious Fourth.

Tornado Victim.

After having his back broken by a cook stove, turned over and over in a tornado-wrecked cabin, and finally carried through the air a distance of ing year. 50 feet, to be dropped on a pile of fence rails, Herman A. Herfert, formerly of Romeo, Mich., is now in St. Mary's hospital in Bay City. He has a chance for his life.

Herman left Michigan four years ago. After working for three years in Dakota he accepted 160 acres of land on the homestead plan and built himself a cabin.

Three weeks ago Wednesday, the first night he occupied it, came the storm. The building was torn from the ground, overturned and carried through the air with Herman and the cook stove revolving in circles on the inside. "All of a sudden something hit me," said Herfert, in describing the accident. "I didn't know what it was and didn't come back to life for over an hour. Then they dragged me out and found my back was broken. The funny thing about tornadoes is that you feel so light and nice while you're in the air, but when you start to come down-that's awful."

Herfert has a brother and a sister living at Romeo and another brother in Richmond, Mich. He says several other homestead shacks were blown over by the same storm, but he was the only person badly hurt.

Another Railroad Sult. The state has another railroad tax-ation suit on its hands. Thursday a bill was filed in the circuit court for an injunction to restrain the auditor general from proceeding to collect the tax as-sessed against the Wisconsin & Michigan Railroad Co. for the current year, The tax levied amounts to $31,528.28. A statement made to the tax commission as to the value of the property of the company, however, shows that the railroad is worth the amount at which it was assessed. The tax commission declined to reduce the assessment when the second roll was ordered made by the supreme court after the Galbraith law had been declared void. This statement, showing the property to be worth $1,800,000, is understood to have been made by the company as a basis of sale and not for taxation purposes.

The Spear Case.

At Jackson Judge Parkinson, in the ircuit court, upheld the contention of Milton M. Spear, alias Baron Van Schlosser, the Detroit forger, that he should not have been sentenced by Judge Phelan under the indeterminate sentence law. He accordingly sentenced him to three years straight in Jackson prison. This will enable him to get the benefit of good time and will lessen his sentence materially.

Judge Parkinson's contention is that Spear's crime was committed about four years ago while the indeterminate sentence law didn't go into effect until about one years ago. Therefore, Spear should have been sentenced under the old law.

There are a large number of prisoners in Jackson and other prisons in the state who hope to take advantage of this decision.

Spear was sentenced to from three and one-half to seven years.

Easy Milking.

The cows on Gov. Fred. M. Warner's are now quickly and scientifically milked every day by machine. Specially constructed vacuum pumps operated by gasoline motors are now doing the milking a great deal better and astonishingly faster than by the old hand method. The machines have been in operation at the farm for over a month and have proved successful in every respect. By the new method a cow can be milked in a minute's time. Twelve cows can be milked at once and it takes but 40 minutes to milk 36 cows. The governor has six of these machines which are placed in the barn. Long pipes are stretched out into the barnyard where the cows are milked, the cups are attached and the motor and pump started. The cows | don't seem to mind and stand quiet until released.

GASOLINE EXPLOSION KILLS,

MAIMS AND BURNS VICTIMS. THE AWFUL SIGHTS SEEN.

HOLOCAUST RESULTS WITH MANY TERRIBLE AND DIS-TRESSING CASES OF SUF-FERING AND DEATH.

Betails of the Catastrophe. Four men were killed and two fatal-burned in an explosion of a gasoline tank which completely wrecked the Cosendal dye works, in the heart of the business district of Saginaw, at 9 o'clock Friday morning. E. A. Foehi, an employe, who was killed, was completely denuded, the clothes being blown from his body, which was burned almost to a crisp.

The dead body of Foehl presented a horrible appearance, his blood streaming and his cooked flesh coming off in chunks, being dragged from the ruins first. It was seen at once that he had been instantly killed and attention was given to the injured. The firemen next carried out the unconscious form of John Cosendai, Jr. He was placed in the ambulance and hurrled to St. Mary's bospital. His appearance was frightful and women in the immense crowd that had gathered fainted at the sight. It is believed he will die.

Fred Laing, a young boy, fell from the tree into which he climbed to watch the fire and dislocated or broke his arm. F. Eglas, a trimmer for Seltner Bros., rushed to the Sherman house stables, and while helping to remove the horses one of the maddened beasts bruised and taken to Dr. McMcekin's Earl Norris, the first of the injured out of the wrecked building, was burned about the head, feet and hands, and rushed up Jefferson avenue, the blood streaming from wounds. A dray picked him up and hurried him to St. Mary's, being the first of the injured to reach the hospital, Cosendai was laid on a shutter before taken to hospital and begged the police to kill him. His suffering was peartrending. When they lifted him into the ambulance some of the cooked flesh stuck to the shutter, and farm near the village of Farmington , he gave a shrick of agony that turned spectators pale, The Cosendai family lived in the upper floors of the bailding, which is a three-story brick structure, and the fact that the women were in front of the store, where little damage was done, saved them from death or terrible injury.

The Killed and Injured. Edward A. Foehl, 23, single, taken from the ruins immediately after explosion

Louis Cosendai, 24, single. George Siegelko, 24, workman, Carl Cosendal, terribly burned all

Fred Laing, arm broken. F. Eglas, trampled by horse and badly bruised.

George Sigercord, lacerated arm, burned about head. Conflagration Theeatened.

The force of the explosion tore a great hole in the center of the block, the dye works being reduced to kind-ling in the rear. Windows for blocks around were shattered and the explo sion was heard throughout the entire city. A panic immediately ensued. Thousands of people rushed into the streets in the downtown section, parnlyzed with fear. The girls in the department stores close by made a mad effort to get out of the buildings and the streets were filled with excited men and women and crying children.

The wrecked building caught fire, the flames sweeping through the center of the block with great rapidity and threatening the business section bounded by Jefferson, Genesee, Baum and Tuscala with total destruction.

The entire fire department was called out and the apparatus from headquarters, only three blocks away, was on the scene in a moment. Numerous streams were flowing within a few moments and in forty minutes the fire was checked and the conflagration averted. The work of rescue was com-menced even before the arremen arrived.

The fire communicated to the Sherman house barn at the rear of the boiler house, and this structure was damaged probably $8,000. The loss on the Cosendal building will be $3,000. Plate glass was shattered in buildings on Jefferson opposite the dye house, and there was not a window left in the block in the center of which the explosion occurred. The loss is estimated at $30,000.

Was Known to Sailors Before the Twelfth Century-Indispensable Adjunct to Navigation.

Some Asian people, perhaps the Chinese, discovered, many centuries ago, that a kind of iron ore possessed a very peculiar quality. We call this ore magnetic ore, in more common language, lodestone, and it is very widely distributed, especially in the older crystalline rocks. It was found that if a bit of lodestone were placed in water upon a piece of cork or straw braid it would turn till the axis of the stone assumed a north and south position. A phenomenon of magnetism had been discovered by means of an ore that is peculiarly susceptible to magnetic influence.

It is an open question whether the Chinese utilized the directive power of the lodestone, but it is certain that the first rude compass was not used on European vessels before the twelfth century of our era. By that time the true magnetic compass had been evolved through the discovery that if an iron or steel needle were stroked on a lodestone it would receive the attractive and directive power of this ore. With this wonderful appliance placed at the service of navigation, the vessels that had hugged the coasts soon dared to venture even out of sight of land. A new impetus was gradually given to cartography, for now the true directions of the coast lines might be charted with some approach to accuracy. It was the hapy fortune of Italian sailors to make the surprisingly excellent surveys of the directions and lengths of the Black sea and Mediterranean coasts and along the Atlantic to British waters that have come down to us in the so-called Portulan maps .-Cyrus C. Adams, in Harper's.

The reason for the wonderful amount of nutriment, and the easy digestion of Grape-Nuts is not hard to find. In the first place, the starchy part of the wheat and barley goes through various processes of cooking, to perfectly change the starch into Dextrose or Post Sugar, in which state it is ready to be easily absorbed by the blood. The parts in the wheat and barley which Nature can make use of for rebuilding brain and nerve centers are retained in this remarkable food, and thus the human body is supplied with the powerful strength producers so easily noticed after one has eaten Grape-Nuts each day for a week or 10 days. "There's a reason." Get the little book, "The Road to

SIXTY CENTS A DAY.

Women Workers in Feather and Artificial Flower Trades in Paris Live on That Sum.

How to live on 60 cents a day is problem which the Paris syndicate women workers in the feather and artificial flower trades solves, or attempts to solve. The problem is also one which thousands of girls or women in Paris have to face somehow. In the trades mentioned 60 cents a day is the average pay. The budget drawn up by the union is a pathetic miracle of thriftiness. It contains over 60 items of expenditure and accounts for every penny. Rent heads the list and is down for $30 a year. Heating costs $1 a month for six months of the year and lighting $5.90 for the whole twelve months. Expenses for meals are, breakfast, 11/2 cents a day; luncheons, 8 cents; dinners, 6 cents. Clothes includes two pairs of boots, $3; one pair of summer shoes, "to save the boots," 60 cents; soling and heeling, $1.60 a year; two blouses at 35 cents each, two dresses at $5.50 each, three petticoats, $2.25.

Some items are peculiarly pathetic. Matches, 1 cent a month; pen, ink and paper, 10 cents a year; postages, 32 cents a year; receipt stamps for quarterly rents, 4-cents; conclerge's annual tip, $1; needles, thread, etc., for mending, $3; four baths a year, 50 cents; household expenses, $6.75; washing,

The grand total shows a balance on the right side of about $2 annually. This has to cover all extras, such as omnibus fares, which are not included In the estimate. This budget has been drawn up by the syndicate for the benefit of those of its members who find a difficulty in making both ends meet. One wonders how many ever manage to balance such a budget, which, by the way, makes no provision for illness.

Recently a Batignolles landlord died leaving a will, by which he exempted all his tenants from a quarter's rent and bequeathed a sum of $6,000 for distribution among the caretakers of his houses and those occupants of the same who happened to be pressed for money at the time of his demise. He lived at Auteil, where he owned an extensive house, occupied by many tenants. To the caretakers conclerges of this establishment the Auteil landlord left in his will $100,000. They are to have and to hold this money on condition that they remain honest and charitable people.

Nature Seemingly Had Neglected to Fit Young Scotchman for Profession He Desired.

Not all men are fitted for all things. The fact that an individual shines in one profession is no proof that he may adopt any career with equal success. any other is presence of mind. A young Scotchman, six feet tall, by the name of Rob, applied to me for a position as diver. He had a sweetheart at home, and, tempted by the high wages, was anxious to learn the business. One time, when work was slack, I let him go down. I told him minutely how to manage.

screwed on his face glass and sent him under. I felt him land on the bottom and signal that all was right. Then he walked away from the boat, paying out most of the line. After a little he stopped. I imagined him resting, and thought he was doing remarkably well.

All at once I noticed a dark bladder-like object floating at some distance from the boat. At first I thought it was a turtle. Something made me look at it more carefully, and then I began to haul the line in. The "turtle" was Rob. As he drew nearer we could hear him screaming his loudest inside the swollen dress. I got him alongside, unscrewed, the escape-valve, and hauled him on deck. All the time he was crying: "Let me out!"

When Rob came to his senses, we learned that he had become frightened lest his dress should burst, and had screwed the escape-valve the wrong way, keeping in the air instead of letting it escape. He lost his presence of mind altogether, and fell down. The confined air accumulated in the bulklest part of the dress and floated him.

The second attempt Rob made as a diver nearly cost him his life. He made the very same mistake with the valve. Then, crazed by fear, he began to unscrew his face glass. Fortunately for his sweetheart, he lost consciousness before he got it off. He was delirious for some hours after we had hauled him up. We decided he was not fit for a diver, and that his road to fortune lay in some other direction.-Youth's Companion.

The eleven registration states legislature at its next session must in all fairness perform the duty of reapportioning the districts." Gov. Warner will not call a special session in any case. He will probably say the act of 1905 is so nearly like the last act of the legislature as to justify the holding of this year's elections under the old law, thus saving the thousands of dollars that a special session would cost the state. Republican State Convention.

The Republican state convention which meets in Detroit on the 31st of July to nominate the state ticket other than governor and lieutenant governor will consist of 945 delegates, which is a reduction of about 131/2 per cent. from the 1.094 of the last convention. Heretofore, Michigan Republicans have ap- Poor Farm Well Conducted. portioned their delegates upon the to tal vote instead of upon the Republican vote, a method at variance with that of many other states, and one that has always seemed to many of our own people illogical and unreasonable. The primary election law in providing for the election of county delegates by Australian ballot, provided that the state delegates to be elected in county conventions should be apportioned upon the Republican vote, so that counties with strong Republican constituencies should not be outclassed in Republican conventions by counties with less Republican votes, on the strength of the votes they would cast against the Republican ticket. The delegates have now been elected upon that plan, and this and the relative gain in population of northern over southern counties results in transfer of considerable strength from lower countles to upper.

Files Supplementary Brief.

A supplementary brief was filed by Judge Cahill in the supreme court in the case involving the constitutionaliy of the senatorial apportionment ct. In it he points out that if the legislature can cut off Wayne county with four senators, because of the suppositious advantage that a county obtains by having more than one senator, by the same reasoning the legislature can cut off the county with three senators. The present apportionment, he said, is more unequal than that of 1891, which was held to be unconstitutional.

The Effects of a Tornado As Felt by Mr. Herfert-The Victims of the Glorious Fourth.

Tornado Victim.

After having his back broken by a cook stove, turned over and over in a tornado-wrecked cabin, and finally carried through the air a distance of 50 feet, to be dropped on a pile of fence ralls, Herman A. Herfert, formerly of Romeo, Mich., is now in St. Mary's hospital in Bay City. He has a chance for his life.

Herman left Michigan four years ago. After working for three years in Dakota he accepted 160 acres of land on the homestead plan and built himself a cabin.

Three weeks ago Wednesday, the first night he occupied it came the storm. The building was torn from the ground, overturned and carried through the air with Herman and the cook stove revolving in circles on the, inside.

"All of a sudden something hit me," said Herfert, in describing the accident. "I didn't know what it was and didn't come back to life for over an hour. Then they dragged me out and found my back was broken. The funny thing about tornadoes is that you feel so light and nice while you're in the air, but when you start to come down-that's awful."

Herfert has a brother and a sister living at Romeo and another brother in Richmond, Mich. He says several other homestead shacks were blown over by the same storm, but he was the only person badly hurt.

AROUND THE STATE.

Another Railroad Suit. The state has another railroad taxation suit on its hands. Thursday a bill was filed in the circuit court for an injunction to restrain the auditor general from proceeding to collect the tax as-sessed against the Wisconsin & Michigan Railroad Co. for the current year, The tax levied amounts to $31,528.28. The company claims that the tax is disproportionate, excessive and illegal.

The company claims that it had some correspondence with the tax commission in regard to its assessment, and was informed that the assessment of $500,000, as fixed the prevfous year, would not be disturbed. Relying upon these assurances, the company says it did not appear before the tax commission during the period of review, and was greatly surprised to find that it had been assessed at $1,-800,000, or more than three times the value placed upon the road the preceding year.

A statement made to the tax commission as to the value of the property of the company, however, shows that the railroad is worth the amount at which it was assessed. The tax commission declined to reduce the assessment when the second roll was ordered made by the supreme court after the Galbraith law had been declared void. This statement, showing the property to be worth $1,800,000, is understood to have been made by the company as a basis of sale and not for taxation purposes.

HOLOCAUST RESULTS WITH MANY TERRIBLE AND DIS-TRESSING CASES OF SUF-FERING AND DEATH.

Details of the Catastrophe.

Four men were killed and two fatally burned in an explosion of a gasoline tank which completely wrecked the Cosendal dye works, in the heart of the business district of Saginaw, at 9 o'clock Friday morning. E. A. Foehl, an employe, who was killed, was completely denuded, the clothes being blown from his body, which was burned almost to a crisp.

The dead body of Foehl presented a horrible appearance, his blood streaming and his cooked flesh coming off in chunks, being dragged from the ruins first. It was seen at once that he had been instantly killed and attention was given to the injured. The firemen next carried out the unconscious form of John Cosendal, Jr., He was placed in the ambulance and hurried to St. Mary's bospital. Earl Norris, the first of the injured out of the wrecked building, was burned about the head, feet and hands, and rushed up Jefferson avenue, the blood streaming from wounds. A dray picked him up and hurried him to St. Mary's, being the first of the injured to reach the hospital, Cosendai was laid on a shutter before taken to hospital and begged the police to kill him. His suffering was heartrending. When they lifted him into the ambulance some of the cooked flesh stuck to the shutter, and he gave a shrick of agony that turned spectators pale.

The Cosendal family lived in the upper floors of the building, which is a three-story brick structure, and the fact that the women were in front of the store, where little damage was done, saved them from death or terrible injury.

Conflagration Threatened. The force of the explosion tore a great hole in the center of the block, the dye works being reduced to kindling in the rear. Windows for blocks around were shattered and the explosion was heard throughout the entire city. A panic immediately ensued. Thousands of people rushed into the streets in the downtown section, paralyzed with fear. The girls in the department stores close by made a mad effort to get out of the buildings and the streets were filled with excited men and women and crying children,

The wrecked building caught fire, the flames sweeping through the center of the block with great rapidity and threatening the business section bounded by Jefferson, Genesee, Baum and Tuscola with total destruction.

The entire fire department was called out and the apparatus from headquarters, only three blocks away was on the scene in a moment. Numerous streams were flowing within a few moments and in forty minutes the fire was checked and the conflagration averted. The work of rescue was commenced even before the firemen arrived.

The fire communicated to the Sherman house barn at the rear of the boiler house, and this structure was damaged probably $8,000. The loss on the Cosendal building will be $3,000. Plate glass was shattered in buildings on Jefferson opposite the dye house and there was not a window left in the block in the center of which the explosion occurred. The loss is estimated at $30,000.

THE FIRST COMPASS.

Was Known to Sailors Before the Twelfth Century-Indispensable Adjunct to Navigation.

Some Asian people, perhaps the Chinese, discovered, many centuries ago, that a kind of iron ore possessed a very peculiar quality. We call this ore magnetic ore, in more common language, lodestone, and it is very widely distributed, especially in the older crystalline rocks. It was found that if a bit of lodestone were placed in water upon a piece of cork or straw braid it would turn till the axis of the stone assumed a north and south position. A phenomenon of magnetism had been discovered by means of an ore that is peculiarly susceptible to magnetic influence.

It is an open question whether the Chinese utilized the directive power of the lodestone, but it is certain that the first rude compass was not used on European vessels before the twelfth century of our era. By that time the true magnetic compass had been evolved through the discovery that if an iron or steel needle were stroked on a lodestone it would receive the attractive and directive power of this ore. With this wonderful appliance placed at the service of navigation, the vessels that had hugged the coasts soon dared to venture even out of sight of land. A new impetus was, gradually given to cartography, for now the true directions of the coast lines might be charted with some approach to accuracy. It was the hapy fortune of Italian sailors to make the surprisingly excellent surveys of the directions and lengths of the Black sea and Mediterranean coasts and along the Atlantic to British waters that have come down to us in the so-called Portulan maps .-Cyrus C. Adams, in Harper's.

SIXTY CENTS A DAY.

Women Workers in Feather and Artificial Flower Trades in Paris Live on That Sum.

How to live on 60 cents a day is problem which the Paris syndicate of women workers in the feather and artificial flower trades solves, or attempts to solve. The problem is also one which thousands of girls or women in Paris have to face somehow. In the trades mentioned 60 cents a day is the average pay. The budget drawn up by the union is a pathetic miracle of thriftiness. It contains over 60 items of expenditure and accounts for every penny. Rent heads the list and is down for $30 a year. Heating costs $1 a month for six months of the year and lighting $5.90 for the whole twelve months. Expenses for meals are, breakfast, 11/2 cents a day; luncheons, 8 cents; dinners, 6 cents. Clothes includes two pairs of boots, $3; one pair of summer shoes, "to save the boots," 60 cents; soling and heeling, $1.60 a year; two blouses at 35 cents each, two dresses at $5.50 each, three petticoats, $2.25.

Some items are peculiarly pathetic. Matches, 1 cent a month; pen, ink and paper, 10 cents a year; postages, 32 cents a year; receipt stamps for quarterly rents, 4 cents; concierge's annual tip, $1; needles, thread, etc., for mending, $3; four baths a year, 50 cents; household expenses, $6.75; washing, $10,75.

The grand total shows a balance on the right side of about $2 annually. This has to cover all extras, such as omnibus fares, which are not included in the estimate. This budget has been drawn up by the syndicate for the benefit of those of its members who find a difficulty in making both ends meet. One wonders how many ever manage to balance such a budget, which, by the way, makes no provision for illness.

Recently a Batignolles landlord died leaving a will, by which he exemptedall his tenants from a quarter's rent and bequeathed a sum of $6,000 for distribution among the caretakers of his houses and those occupants of the same who happened to be pressed for money at the time of his demise. Another landlord has now died, leaving a larger sum to his dependents than the Batignolles man.

He lived at Auteil, where he owned an extensive house, occupied by many tenants. To the caretakers conclerges of this establishment the Auteil landlord left in his will $100,000. They are to have and to hold this money on condition that they remain honest and charitable people.

NOT MEANT FOR DIVER.

Nature Seemingly Had Neglected to Fit Young Scotchman for Profession He Desired.

Not all men are fitted for all things. The fact that an individual shines in one profession is no proof that he adopt any career cess. Rob, whose adventures are recorded in Mr. Whitmarsh's "The World's Rough Hand," was a good fellow, and doubtless played his part in the world with credit to himself, but he was not born to be a diver. as his experiences show. One of the greatest dangers in diving is that of

The quality a diver needs more than any other is presence of mind. A young Scotchman, six feet tall, by the name of Rob, applied to me for. a position as diver. He had a sweetheart at home, and, tempted by the high wages, was anxious to learn the business. One time, when work was slack, I let him go down.

I told him minutely how to manage, screwed on his face glass and sent him under. I felt him land on the bottom and signal that all was right. Then he walked away from the boat, paying out most of the line. After a little he stopped. I imagined him resting, and thought he was doing remarkably well.

All at once I noticed a dark bladder-like object floating at some distance from the boat. At first I thought it was a turtle. Something made me look at it more carefully. and then I began to haul the line in. The "turtle" was Rob. As he drew nearer we could hear him screaming his loudest inside the swollen dress. I got him alongside, unscrewed the escape-valve, and hauled him on deck. All the time he was crying: "Let me out!"

When Rob came to his senses, we learned that he had become frightened lest his dress should burst, and had screwed the escape-valve the wrong way, keeping in the air instead of letting it escape. He lost his presence of mind altogether, and fell down. The confined air accumulated in the bulklest part of the dress and floated him.

The second attempt Rob made as a diver nearly cost him his life. He maderthe very same mistake with the valve. Then, crazed by fear, he bekan to unscrew his face glass. Fortunately for his sweetheart, he lost consciousness before he got it off. He was delirious for some hours after we had hauled him up. We decided he was not fit for a diver, and that his road to fortune lay in some other direction.-Youth's Companion.

OPERATION AVOIDED

EXPERIENCE OF MISS MERKLEY

She Was Told That an Operation Was Inevitable. How She Escaped It.

When a physician tells a woman suffering with serious feminine trouble that an operation is necessary, the very thought of the knife and the operating table strikes terror to her heart, and our hospitals are full of women coming for just such operations.

There are cases where an operation is the only resource, but when one considers the great number of cases of menacing female troubles fured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Com-pound after physicians have advised operations, no woman should submit to one without first trying the Vegetable Compound and writing Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice, which is free.

Miss Margret Merkley, of 275 Third Street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"Loss of strength, extreme nervousne shooting pains through the pelvic organistation and aramps compel me to seek medical advice. The doctor, at making an examination, said I had a fem trouble and ulceration and advised an operation. To this I strongly objected and decir to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Copound. The ulceration quickly healed, the bad symptoms disappeared and I once more strong, vigorous and well." Dear Mrs. Pinkham;

Female troubles are steadily on the rease among women. If the ly periods are very painful, or too fre-quent and excessive—if you have pain or swelling low down in the left side, bearing-down pains, don't neglect your-self: try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable

Republican State Convention.

The Republican state convention which meets in Detroit on the 31st of July to nominate the state ticket other than governor and lieutenant governor will consist of 945 delegates, which is a reduction of about 131/2 per cent. from the 1,094 of the last convention. The primary election law in providing for the election of county delegates by Australian ballot, provided that the state delegates to be elected in county conventions should be apportioned upon the Republican vote, so that counties with strong Republican constituencies should not be outclassed in Republican conventions by counties with less Republican votes, on the strength of the votes they would cast against the Republican ticket. The delegates have now been elected upon that plan, and this and the relative gain in population of northern over southern countles results in transfer of considerable strength from lower counties to upper.

Money Ordered Distributed.

In the supreme court a'decree was entered in the recently decided case of the Union Trust company against the Preston National bank and the Union Trust company, receiver of the City Savings bank. The court orders that the trust company is chargeable with interest at five per cent. on the proceeds of the sale of certain bonds of the Detroit & Fline railway and that the amount in Its hands for distribution is $53,677.10 on July 2. The Detroit United railway is entitled to receive $8,164 of this amount, and the remaining $44,912 is to be divided equally between the Union Trust company, receiver, and the Preston National bank.

Files Supplementary Brief.

A supplementary brief was filed by Judge Cahill in the supreme court in the case involving the constitutionaliy of the senatorial apportionment ct. In it he points out that if the legislature can cut off Wayne county with four senators, because of the suppositious advantage that a county obtains by having more than one senator, by the same reasoning the legislature can cut off the county with three senators. The present apportionment, he said, is more unequal than that of 1891, which was held to be unconstitutional.

The state board of pardons considers itself overworked. It is likely that the next legislature may be asked to provide for the payment of an annual salary to the members of the pardon board.

The Effects of a Tornado As Felt by Mr. Herfert-The Victims of the Glorious Fourth.

Tornado Victim.

After having his back broken by a cook stove, turned over and over in a tornado-wrecked cabin, and finally carried through the air a distance of 50 feet, to be dropped on a pile of fence rails, Herman A. Herfert, formerly of Romeo, Mich., is now in St. Mary's hospital in Bay City. He has a chance for his life.

Herman left Michigan four years ago. After working for three years in Dakota he accepted 160 acres of land on the homestead plan and built himself a cabin. Three weeks ago Wednesday, the first night he occupied it, came the storm. The building was torn from the ground, overturned and carried through the air with Herman and the cook stove revolving in circles on the inside. "All of a sudden something hit me," said Herfert, in describing the accident. "I didn't know what it was anddidn't come back to life for over an hour. Then they dragged me out and found my back was broken. The funny thing about tornadoes is that you feel so light and nice while you're in the air, but when you start to come down-that's awful." Herfert has a brother and a sister living at Romeo and another brother in Richmond, Mich. He says several other homestead shacks were blown over by the same storm, but he was the only person badly hurt.

General orders for the encampment of the Michigan National Guard at Fort Benjamin Harrison, at Lawrence, Ind., for the seven days beginning August 4, have been issued. The entire organization will participate, with the exception of Co. I, Third infantry, of Ishpeming, which has just been organized. Co. A, engineers, of Calumet, which has not yet been equipped as an engineering company, will take Co. I's place in the infagtry. Service uniforms only will be used by the troops, but the officers will take their dress uniforms as well.

As the camp is to be held in conjunction with the regular troops, desire is expressed that every advantage be taken of the opportunity to learn by contact and observation the duties required of a soldier, and that the conduct of the Michigan National Guard be above reproach. A per diem will be allowed for nine days, including the two days the commands are en route.

AROUND THE STATE.

Another Railroad Sult. The state has another railroad taxa ation suit on its hands. Thursday a bill was filed in the circuit court for an injunction to restrain the auditor general from proceeding to collect the tax as-sessed against the Wisconsin & Michigan Railroad Co. for the current year, The tax levied amounts to $31,528.28. The company claims that the tax is disproportionate, excessive and illegal

The company claims that it had some correspondence with the tax commission in regard to its assessment, and was informed that the assessment of $500,000, as fixed the prevlous year, would not be disturbed. Relying upon these assurances, the company says it did not appear before the tax commission during the period of review, and was greatly surprised to find that it had been assessed at $1,-800,000, or more than three times the value placed upon the road the preceding year.

A statement made to the tax commission as to the value of the property of the company, however, shows that the railroad is worth the amount at which it was assessed. The tax commission declined to reduce the assessment when the second roll was ordered made by the supreme court after the Galbraith law had been declared void. This statement, showing the property to be worth $1,800,000, is understood to have been made by the company as a basis of sale and not for taxation purposes.

The Spear Case.

At Jackson Judge Parkinson, in the circuit court, upheld the contention of Milton M. Spear, alias Baron Van Schlosser, the Detroit forger, that he should not have been sentenced by Judge Phelan under the indeterminate watch the sentence law. He accordingly sentence law. tenced him to three years straight in Jackson prison. This will enable him. to get the benefit of good time and will lessen his sentence materially.

Judge Parkinson's contention is that Spear's crime was committed about four years ago while the indeterminate sentence law didn't go into effect untilabout one years ago. Therefore, Spear. should have been sentenced under the old law.

There are a large number of prisoners in Jackson and other prisons in the state who hope to take advantage of this decision.

Spear was sentenced to from three and one-half to seven years.

Easy Milking.

The cows on Gov. Fred. M. Warner's farm near the village of Farmington are now quickly and scientifically milked every day by machine. Specially constructed vacuum pumps operated by gasoline motors are now doing the milking a great deal better and astonishingly faster than by the old hand method. The machines have been in operation at the farm for over a month and have proved successful in every respect. By the new method a cow can be milked in a minute's time. Twelve cows can be milked at once and it takes but 40 minutes to milk 36 cows. The governor has six of these machines which are placed in the Four men were killed and two fataly burned in an explosion of a gasoline tank which completely wrecked the Cosendal dye works, in the heart of the business district of Saginaw, at 9 o'clock Friday morning. E. A. Foehl, an employe, who was killed, was completely denuded, the clothes being blown from his body, which was burned almost to a crisp.

.The dead body of Foehl presented a horrible appearance, his blood streaming and his cooked flesh coming off in chunks, being dragged from the ruins first. It was seen at once that he had been instantly killed and attention was given to the injured. The firemen next carried out the unconscious form of John Cosendal, Jr. He was placed in the ambulance and hurried to St. Mary's bospital. His appearance was frightful and women in the finmense crowd that had gathered fainted at the sight. It is believed he will die.

Conflagration Threatened.

The force of the explosion tore a great hole in the center of the block, the dye works being reduced to kindling in the rear. Windows for blocks around were shattered and the explosion was heard throughout the entire city. A panic immediately ensued. Thousands of people rushed into the streets in the downtown section, paralyzed with fear. The girls in the deheld for five hours, several trains bepartment stores close by made a mad effort to get out of the buildings and the streets were filled with excited men and women and crying children.

The wrecked building caught fire, the flames sweeping through the center of the block with great rapidity and threatening the business section bounded by Jefferson, Genesee, Baum and Tuscola with total destruction.

The entire fire department was called out and the apparatus from headquarters, only three blocks away, was on the scene in a moment. Numer ous streams were flowing within a few moments and in forty minutes the fire was checked and the conflagration averted. The work of rescue was commenced even before the firemen arrived.

The fire communicated to the Shep man house barn at the rear of the boiler house, and this structure was damaged probably $8,000. The loss on the Cosendal building will be $3,000. Plate glass was shattered in buildings on Jefferson opposite the dye house and there was not a window left in the block in the center of which the explosion occurred. The loss is estimated at $30,000.

THE FIRST COMPASS.

Was Known to Sailors Before the Twelfth Century-Indispensable Adjunct to Navigation.

Some Asian people, perhaps the Chinese, discovered, many centuries ago, that a kind of from ore possessed a very peculiar quality. We call this ore magnetic cre, in more common language, lodestone, and it is very widely distributed, especially in the older crystalline rocks. It was found that if a bit of lodestone were placed in water upon a piece of cork or straw braid it would turn till the axis of the stone assumed a north and south posttion. A phenomenon of magnetism had been discovered by means of an ore that is peculiarly susceptible to magnetic influence.

It is an open question whether the Chinese utilized the directive power of the lodestone, but it is certain that the first rude compass was not used on-European vessels before 'the twelfth century of our era. By that time the true magnetic compass had been evolved through the discovery that if an iron or steel needle were stroked on a lodestone it would receive the attractive and directive power of this ore. With this wonderful appliance placed at the service of navigation, the vessels that had hugged the coasts soon dared to venture even out of sight of land. A new impetus was gradually given to cartography, for now the true. directions of the coast lines might be charted with some approach to accuracy. It was the hapy fortune of Italian sailors to make the surprisingly excellent surveys of the directions and lengths of the Black sea and Mediterranean coasts and along the Atlantic to British waters that have come down to us in the so-called Portulan maps .--Cyrus C. Adams, in Harper's.

U. S. Senator

The time is near at hand when our readers must consider this question in connection with their selection for members to the state legislature. The candidates now in the field are Wm. C. McMillan of Detroit, son of that giant in political power and influence—the late Senator Jas. McMillan; Arthur Hill, a cultured, traveled, wealthy Saginaw lumberman, and William Alden Smith of Grand Rapids, who has represented his district in congress for twelve years. If ability, integrity and legislative experience count for anything in this important matter it would seem that William Alden Smith comes nearer filling the requirements than either of the other two splendid gentlemen. ## A Hair Dressing

Nearly every one likes a fine hair dressing. Something to make the hair more manageable; to keep it from being too rough, or from splitting at the ends. Something, too, that will feed the hair at the same time, a regular hair-food. Well-fedhair will bestrong, and will remain where it belongson the head, not on the comb!

Abe Buchman was showered with rice and given a rousing greeting at the train by a good sized portion of the population of Rapid River when he arrived from Traverse City Wednesday evening. Telegrams from Traverse City on Wednesday conveyed the news that Mr. Buchman had been benedict and would arrive in Rapid River that evening with his bride. Of course everybody went to the train prepared for the occasion. Abe is now under the necessity of explaining to his friends that he is still single and the telegrams were all a practical joke planned by his friends in Traverse City who desire revenge for jokes he has turned on them.

Head Ache Sometimes?

If so, it will interest you to know that it can be stopped with Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills; and without any bad aftereffects, and this without danger of forming a drug habit or having your stomach disarranged. They positively contain no opium, morphine, cocaine, chloral, ether or chloroform in any form. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve pain, and leave only a sense of relief. The reason for this is explained by the fact that headache comes from tired, irritable, turbulent, over-taxed brain nerves, Anti-Pain Pills soothe and strengthen these nerves, thus removing the cause. They are harmless when taken as directed.

When taken as directed.

"We use Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for the chre of headache, and we think that there is nothing that will equal them. They will cure the severest spell of nervous or sick headache in a very few minutes. I am of a nervous temperament, and occasionally have spells when my nerves seem to be completely exhausted, and I tremble so I can scarcely contain myself. At these times I always take the Anti-Pain Pills, and they quiet me right away. It is remarkable what a soothing effect they have upon the nerves." MRS. F. E. KARL, Detroit, Mich.

Humphreys' Specifics for Children

The introduction of Humphreys' Specifics into the home is often through the children. When your child comes in from play, hot and feverish; and after being in bed, is restless, tosses and tumbles about, a dose of Humphreys' Specific Number One, quiets the child and the chances are largely in favor of the little one waking in the morning perfectly well and happy. Thus serious fevers and sickness may be prevented by keeping this Specific in the house.

Groaning in spirit like the camel, Lina again renounced the easy life and money of the music halls. Again she took up the burden of grand opera. Love, with great shining eyes, no longer beckoned her. But on and on she bore the burden, with her sister always by her. How she finally succeeded is well known.

Also, she had a voice. Yet she never hesitated. She had been educated for a governess. It was correct and honorable to be a governess. And a governess she would be. Even after she had lost her first three places by a strange and unique fault she never wavered.

Surely, it was a unique fault.

"This young girl is too beautiful to be a governess," wrote her first employer to the superioress of the school as she returned her. "Her conduct has been irreproachable. She is goodness itself, intelligent, patient and with a talent for teaching. Yet I will not keep her. Her presence cannot but prove a danger in a household."

THE SPARROWS' HOUSE

By JOSEPH BAUGHER

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

There was absolutely no reason why we should move; we were living in an up-to-date house in an excellent neighborhood. But Alice, my wife, thought differently, and as she was bent upon making a change, I consented on condition that she should do her own house-hunting.

"Oh, James!" she cried, as she met me one evening with a five-year lease in her hand. "I've found such a charming little home, and in such a delightful location; it's so cultured and refined, you know? I am so glad on had freed him, there came from below Henry Jr.'s account, for you know that an awful crash. Henry Jr. is getting on."

The youth referred to had not turned 14 months.

"I leased the house from a Miss Sparrow-such a superior woman!" continued my wife; "so much nicer, don't you think, than renting from those horrid agents who will never do a thing for one without making a fuss about it. Miss Sparrow says she couldn't think of giving us so charming a little home, but her sister Amy is to be married next month, poor girl! and she, Miss Sparrow, of course, doesn't care to live alone."

I offered no objections, but suggested that she should write to her Uncle Henry, for whom Henry Jr. was named, and request him to postpone his visit until we were thoroughly settled in our new home. She indignantly refused, saying that her uncle had grown very irritable and suspicious of late, and he might think we didn't want him, and that she wasn't going to have Henry Jr.'s prospects ruined by any such insane notions. My wife' uncle, an asthmatic, wealthy old bachelor, was strongly prejudiced against me, because his niece had married me when he had hoped she would nurse him in his declining years.

The night of the first of the following month found us in our new home, and excepting that a shower of prisms fell from the parlor chandelier when I lighted the gas, the evening had, so far, passed off without incident.

My wife's uncle arrived in the worst of humors; his train, being three hours late, didn't pull in until almost midnight. He drew back from me suspiclously when I offered to take his valise, and glared at me savagely over his glasses, thoroughly convinced, no doubt, that to a conspiracy on my part was due the accident to his train.

My wife, not a little hurt when her effusive greeting met with a rebuff, said she was sorry little Henry had gone to bed, for she would so like to have her uncle Henry see his little amesake. Whereupen he somewhat gruffly inquired whether Henry Jr. had any intention of absconding before Crestfallen, and worn out after a hard day's work we went to ted, but I had hardly closed my eyes when I felt myself suddenly aroused.

"James," whispered my wife, in trembling tones, "what is that noise?" sleep again.

"Water next door! Why, James, it's in this very room. Listen!" I got up and plainly heard the sound, but couldn't locate it. Hoping to find the source of the noise, I ran a lighted wax taper along the side of the wall; when I reached a point about three feet from the window I found it as a volume of flame belched forth almost to the opposite side of the room. I seized a pillow, and called to my wife for a cork.

"Take it away for the love of heaven!" I yelled, as she handed me ing plan rather early for so short an a cork, holding in her other hand a bottle. "It's gasoline!"

She gave a piercing shriek, and threw the bottle and cork out into the hall. After knocking over several things in the medicine chest she gave me a rubber stopper. I drove it into the aperture of a gas pipe from which the bracket had been purloined by the Sparrows, and which they had plugged with wax. The pillow, in the meantime had caught fire. and while I was trying to smother it my wife screamed again, and this awoke Henry Jr., who joined in the melee; this brought down my wife's repairs. uncle, whom we didn't see until I lighted the gas, although he had announced himself by a sneeze.

Finally 1 got things quieted. 1 didn't notice until the next morning how badly I had been burned. It was after dawn when I was awakened.

"James! get up, quick!" called my wife. "The room is filled with smokethe house is on fire!"

Almost sufficated, I jumped out of bed, threw open windows, and groped my way to the witchen stairs. "Phyllis!" I yelled at the top of

"There are draughts all over this house," she said, shivering as she draw her shawl around her.

"Dar ain't no draughts in dis heah ole stobe, Miss Alice, 'deed dar ain't," said Phyllis, fanning the grate with her apron.

"Never mind the grate; Phyllis," said my wife, "but make a fire at once in the parlor. The little precious upstairs will take his death of coid." And she went up to Henry Jr., leaving me gazing dejectedly through a broken window out on the rain-soaked, ash-covered landscape of the Sparrows' back yard.

I was brought back to myself by my wife calling me to come up and unrope Henry Jr., who was strenuously objecting to his bondage. Just as I

"Bress mah soul!" wailed Phyllis fromsthe parlor, "if de whole front winder of de parlah stobe ain't done fall out."

I ran down again, followed by my wife with Henry in her arms.

"This is the last straw," I muttered, looking on our new parlor carpet, ruined forever.

"Where are you going, James?" said my wife, as I was getting into my rain coat. "I'm going, my dear," I replied, "to call, as early as it is, upon that Sparrow of yours, and twist its neck." "I beg of you-I implore you not to go, James. Miss Sparrow will attend to everything, I am sure; besides, poor Miss Amy is going to be married only next month, and-"

Before she had time to finish her uncie entered and startled us with a double sneeze.

"Oh, Uncle Henry!" cried my wife, in great distress, "I knew you would take cold last night. You must let me get you something. I'm sure you must feel very bad; I will-"

"You may make yourself easy on that point, madam," he broke in. "But before I leave this house of conspirators I want to advise you to place that child in an asylum where he will be properly cared for; while you, madam, Take the gold cure! the gold cure! the gold cure!" He slammed the front door after him, and shuffled down the street.

While conning these things, Phyllis came in with her scuttle for a last load. She toldsus she had found an oil stove with enough oil in it to cook breakfast. She hesitated as she added that she had borrowed some water from our neighbor next door, who remarked that we had begun the borrowacquaintance. We commended our cook's enterprise and told her to do the best she could. And for the next ten minutes we heard her in terms forcible, if not polite, pay her respects to the stove.

Breakfast was not a success. The eoffee was cold, and the chops were garnished with coal oil, the flavor of which lingered with me for hours.

Directly after breakfast I called on the Sparrows, who, while making my complaints, did nothing but flutter and chirp. The elder bird said she couldn't afford to spend a cent at that time on

I notified her that we would vacate the house within three days.

She fluttered and chirped excitedly as they followed me to the door, and I thought I heard the betrothed Sparrow say something about damages, though it may have been nothing more than an inoffensive twitter.

After calling on my old agent, I turned my steps toward our "new home," where I met the stove man who was, for the moment, leaving. He told me that he had fixed the parlor stove, but could do nothing with the kitchen range; that during the summer months the sparrows must have built their nests in the chimney. I told him that I hadn't the slightest doubt about it. My wife was anxiously, awaiting my return. I told her of my highly satisfactory visit to our old landlord.

"Poor Miss Amy!" moaned my wife. "And, oh! you poor, disinherited, defrauded little' darling," she added, burying her face in Henry Jr.'s neck. On the evening of the third day following we were back in our old home,

The latest notion is to have one or two cushions of heart shape resting on top of the ordinary square pillows, and the result is very good, as the accompanying illustration shows. The cushion is of large size, somewhat solidly stuffed, and from six to eight inches thick. For the center the heart shape is cut out in a flat piece of silk, backed, if soft, with coarse linen or stiffer material, and set with a wide gauging made to lie flat. Sometimes, as in the example here pictured, a touch of embroidery is added. In perfectly plain corded silk without adornment the heart cushion makes an admirable accessory to the sofa furnishing. ## New Way to Perfume the Hair a Delicate Fragrance-No Heavy Scent Allowed.

The girl with the scented hair is the popular craze. Her hats seems to be scented and her veils; yes, and her complexion, too-all perfumed. Does it all come from the scent of the scented hair? That is another question. The girl with the perfumed hair knows how to select her perfumes. She does not pick them out at haphazard, by any means. Nor is she reckless with them. She picks out the right scents and uses them in the right way.

The secret in perfuming is to choose the wild flower scents. The hothouse scents are apt to be heavy. Or you can choose the "made" scents, which are very good indeed. HE LAXATIVE OF KNOWN QUALITY There are two classes of remedies; those of known quality and which are permanently beneficial in effect, acting gently, in harmony with nature, when nature needs assistance; and another class, composed of preparations of unknown, uncertain and inferior character, acting temporarily, but injuriously, as a result of forcing the natural functions unnecessarily. One of the most exceptional of the remedies of known quality and excellence is the ever pleasant Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., which represents the active principles of plants, known to act most beneficially, in a pleasant syrup, in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to contribute their rich, yet delicate, fruity flavor. It is the remedy of all remedies to sweeten and refresh and cleanse the system gently and naturally, and to assist one in overcoming constipation and the many ills resulting therefrom. Its active principles and quality are known to physicians generally, and the remedy has therefore met with their approval, as well as with the favor of many millions of well informed persons who know of their own personal knowledge and from actual experience that it is a most excellent laxative remedy. We do not claim that it will cure all manner of ills, but recommend it for what it really represents, a laxative remedy of known quality and excellence, containing nothing of an objectionable or injurious character. There are two classes of purchasers; those who are informed as to the quality of what they buy and the reasons for the excellence of articles of exceptional merit, and who do not lack courage to go elsewhere when a dealer offers an imitation of any well known article; but, unfortunately, there are some people who do not know, and who allow themselves to be imposed upon. They cannot expect its beneficial effects if they do not get the genuine remedy. To the credit of the druggists of the United States be it said that nearly all of them value their reputation for professional integrity and the good will of their customers too highly to offer imitations of the

The Building of Physical Culture City

A Few of the Many Subjects to which my magazine Religiously Devoted Vehrs ago I lest my respect for sq-called authoritres. I was weak, miserable, emaclated. Various doctors took my money, but I received no benefit. There was the turning point. I began to think for myself. I interested myself in various natural means of building health and in proof of the accuracy of the theories I gradually evolved, I built such a powerful physique that I secured a world-wide reputation as athlete.

Having, no respect for authorities, my magazine is therefore a part of myself. It is without precedence in the publishing world. It attracted attention from the first issue, and is now read monthly by over half a million people. My magazine is leading a reform for a cleanor, stronger and nabler manhood and womanhood. In it, I am trying to annihilate the world's greatest curses—prudishness, corsets, muscular inactivity, gluttony, drugs, alcohol and tobacco

I am now engaged in the building of what I term a PHYSICAL CULTURE CITY. For this purpose I bought 2,000 acres of land about 40 miles from New York, on which there is a lake of nearly 100 acre. I expect to build a city free from saloons, tobacco shops, drug stores and all other demoralizing influences.

I am trying to solve the problem of heating my HOME with SUNLIGHT. I do not consider this difficult. I expect to give readers of my magazine the result of this experimentation.

consider this difficult. I expect to give readers of my magazine the result of this experimentation.

I believe that BABIES ARE KILLED BY THE THOUSANDS by wrong methods. To prove this theory accurate and for my own personal pleasure, I am adopting from twenty to thity infants of from six to tweive months of ago. These babies will be secured from large Cities, one from each. I intend to publish various articles describing my methods of developing these infants. Their homes will be more like a greenhouse than an ordinary dwelling. I believe any human being can possess a strong, superh body, if he is willing to make the efforts required.

MEN'S DEPARTMENT Each issue of my magazine contains a profusely like trated article of exercises for men. Arthur Duffey, the world renowned athlete, conducts the Department devoted to the World of Athletics. He is also writing a series of articles about professionalism in Ameteur Ahletics.

IN THE WOMAN'S DEPARTMENT there appear monthly exercises for remedying defects and building a strong, beautiful body. Also a question Column, wherein replies to all queries are made, and a detailed weekly menu of healthful foods with recipes.

BOY'S AND GIRL'S DEPARTMENT consists of Various exercises of especial value for boys and girls.

value for boys and girls.

STORIES—I am running a wierd and wonderful interesting serial story in which are pictured the habits and character of inhabitants of Jupiter.

MEDIGAL AND OTHER QUAGKS, Years ago I started the crusade against medical quacks, the justice of my contentions has been recognized by other publications and medical drackery is doomed. Our monthly article on quackery is of striking interest SPEGIAL OFFER-VALUABLE TREATISES FREE—To introduce my PHY-SICAL CULTURE magazine, I am giving to every subscriber a free, home drugless treatment for any of the insulance. SPECIAL OFFER VALUABLE TREATISES FREE—To introduce my PHYSICAL CULTURE magazine, I am giving to every subscriber a free, home drugless treatment for any of the usual complaints, or a lesson that will enable anyone to develop any part of his body, or instructions for remedying any of the common physical defects.

The price of my magazine is ten cents a copy or $1.00 per year, Upon receipt of $1.00 we will put you on our list for a yearly subscription and immediately forward you the treatise or instructions you might desire. If notsatisfactory after receiving the magazine and treatise your money will be refunded without question. I do not want your money unit satisfied. If interested, I will send a back number, free of charge, upon receipt of your address.

Address, BERNARR MACFADDEN, Editor and Publisher Main Office; Physical Culture City, Spotswood P. O., N. J. 337 Marquette Bldg. CHICAGO. .
