ISHPEMING DEFEATED

Escanaba High School Foot Ball Team Won Victory Last Saturday.

SCORE WAS 6 TO 0.

Game was a Clean One Throughout Effect of New Rules Shown by Fewness of Injuries

The first foot ball game of the season took place at South park on Saturday between the Escanaba and Ishpeming high school teams and resulted in a victory for the local eleven by a score of 6 to 0.

Even the most ardent supporters of the Escanaba boys were surprised by the showing made Saturday and the victory over the Ishpeming team, winners of the interscholastic championship last year, is a source of considerable satisfaction.

The six points scored by Escanaba came within the first eight minutes of play during which time Escanaba tore through the Ishpeming line for long gains.

Manning, Thatcher, Cole, Bartley, Compher and Wickert were the principal ground gaining players for Escanaba while Walters, Barge and Jaedecke drove the most effective of the visitors.

The effect of the new rules was clearly shown in Saturday's game when but twice during the game it was found necessary to take out time on account of injuries to players.

The new rules make punting an important part of the play and in the exchange of punts in Saturday's game Thatcher had the best of it.

Only in the last few minutes of play did the Ishpeming players show the form which landed them the championship last year. Receiving the ball on a punt near their own goal the Ishpeming boys braced and carried the oval to the center of the field. Here they lost the ball on downs and Thatcher punted out of danger.

The game was a clean one throughout and was not marred by any wrangling or disputes.

"The Escanaba boys are a lot of gentlemen" said the Ishpeming official after the game "and I want to say that I never acted as referee in a game which was played as fairly and with less wrangling and disagreeable features than this game."

Following was the lineup of players in the contest:

Ishpeming	Escanaba
Keiffer	c. Compher
Mudge	l. g. Butler
Farm	r. g. Carey
Goodman	r. t. Cole
Jaedecke	l. t. Whitney
Gorieu	l. e. McGillis
Lally	r. e. Bartley
Goedeau	q. b. Manning
Walters	l. h. Thatcher
Johnson	r. h. Wickert
Barge	f. b. Fuller

The third prize went to Minnie Jaeger 1022 Ludington street whose guess was 2,250 yards. Miss Grace Buchanan of 1704 Wells avenue received the fourth prize, her guess being 2,254.

The prizes were as follows: first, pair of shoes; second, pair of corsets; third, pair gloves; fourth, fancy handkerchief.

Play at Marquette

FAKED SUICIDE

Joseph Vizeneau Caused Excitement at City Hotel by Suicide Claim.

Joseph Vizeneau, a laborer employed by the Kellogg Switchboard & Supply Co., was the cause of considerable excitement at the City hotel on Thomas and Dousman streets Sunday night, when he rushed into that place, throwing a half emptied bottle of carbolic acid on the floor of the room where several men were sitting. Vizeneau rushed to his room on the second floor and lay writhing as if in great agony. A physician was sent for at once by the men at the hotel who feared that Vizeneau had really taken a quantity of the acid. Upon the arrival of the physician it was found that Vizeneau had merely touched his lips and tongue to the acid and that he was in no need of a physician's attention but rather required attention from the police. An officer was called and Vizeneau locked up in the county jail. He was arraigned before Judge Linden on the charge of being disorderly and was sentenced to eight days imprisonment at the county jail.

COMES SUNDAY NIGHT

Good Play Will Appear at Peterson's Opera House To-morrow Night

"The Strength of the Weak" is the title of the new play in four acts by Alice M. Smith and Charlotte Thompson with Florence Roberts will present at the Peterson opera house on Sunday evening, October 28th.

Instead of following other actresses in parts made famous, Miss Roberts enters this season upon her contract with John Cort who will provide at least one new play for his star each season for the next five years. In "The Strength of the Weak" Miss Roberts has what is said to be the best part she has ever portrayed. It is particularly well suited to her capabilities as an emotional actress, while there are several other characters in the play which are important enough to command also equal attention. "The Strength of the Weak" is a new modern play in four acts. The story concerns the struggles of a young orphan who, at the play, is about to graduate from a women's college. She has written a book, said to be the story of her life, which is published anonymously and the disclosure of the author's name comprises one of the many interesting complications.

YOUNG MAN KILLED

Frank Farnell Carried with Ore Into Hold of Vessel.

Frank Farnell, twenty-one years of age was killed last Saturday morning by being thrown from his station at the top of the St. Paul dock into the hold of the steamer Robert H. Rodes. Farnell was at work preparing to open the door of one of the pockets when the door of the pocket suddenly gave way and he was swept with the outpouring ore into the bottom of the vessel and buried beneath tons of ore.

An attempt to rescue him was made but life was extinct when his body was finally recovered.

Coroner Sheeldo in endeavoring to find relatives of the unfortunate man discovered that the young man went by two names, papers belonging to him also bearing the name of Walter F. Lagrant. This was explained on Wednesday when Stephen Lagrant, a brother arrived to take charge of the remains, and explained that the name of the family had originally been Farnell but had been changed to Lagrant by a lower Michigan court.

TWO INJURED

Caboose Jumps Track on Northwestern Line Two Miles Out of City.

Conductor D. J. Duranceau and brakeman J. G. Hanson were injured in a wreck which occurred Thursday night on the Northwestern line about two miles west of the city. The train to which the accident occurred was a wrecker and consisted of the cars comprising the wrecking outfit and a small caboose. When within a short distance of the city and going at the rate of twenty miles an hour the small caboose jumped the track and turned completely over.

Both Mr. Duranceau and Mr. Hanson were in the caboose and both suffered severe cuts and bruises. Their injuries are not serious however and their escape from death or fatal injuries seems almost miraculous.

"Everybody Works But Father"

"Everybody Works but Father" is the title of Mr. Howard Webster's latest musical comedy which will be given at Peterson's opera house on Wednesday evening October 31st. An entire carload of new and specially designed scenery and electrical effects are used in its presentation. The chorus of pretty girls is adequately large and the big company necessary to interpret this latest laugh making musical comedy is made up of a host of comedians, dancers and singers, among whom are the old favorites, Harrison Green, Katherine Roberts, Bert O'Rourke and Gaylord Hurlock. An added feature of more than ordinary mention is the Pan-American Four—a quartette of singers of rare merit—whose ability to please is well known to the theatre goers. This is the highest salaried quartette in existence and only by rare tact and extra inducement could Webster induce them to leave New York City, and go on tour.

"Everybody Works but Father" will play but one night here and at the regular prices of the theatre. There has been quite an advance sale of seats already as the news of the excellence of the attraction has preceded the advent of the show and it is safe to predict an overwhelming attendance on the night of Wednesday October 31st.

FIND SMITH "NOT GUILTY"

Ex-Alderman Charged With Malfeasance in office Is Cleared

IN CIRCUIT COURT

Positive Denial Made by Smith of Having Received any Profits from Groos Stone Contract

Ex-Alderman Edward Smith, against whom sensational charges were brought last spring because it was alleged that while alderman of the city he had profited by a stone contract which he had executed for the entire output of the Groos stone quarry which was at that time furnishing crushed stone to the city for the street building purposes, was found not guilty of malfeasance in office by a jury in circuit court Monday and Tuesday.

While Mr. Smith admitted that he had made such a contract, he positively denied ever having made a cent profit under it and said that the contract had been turned over by him to contractors Fleming & Sullivan and later upon Mr. Sullivan's death to Fleming & Zane.

The same witnesses testified at the trial in circuit court as appeared during the hearing in Justice court.

The prosecution was unable to produce any direct evidence that Mr. Smith had received any money under the contract from any stone sold to the city under it and the jury after being out less than half an hour returned a verdict of not guilty.

Died Suddenly

Richard McDonald, forty years of age, passed away suddenly on Tuesday at his home in the rear of 519 Wells avenue. It is believed that death resulted from heart failure.

Unclaimed Money in England.

In England there is no legal provision for unclaimed bank accounts, as there is in this country and in France, where the law requires that every five years all banking institutions shall publish the names and last known addresses of owners of dormant or unclaimed accounts. It has been estimated that in chancery, the bank of England and the thousands of private banks there is a total sum of over $12,000,000 unclaimed.

When Black Was White.

When Gen. John C. Black was in New York city some time ago he asked the colored man who had performed some service for him what his name was. "My name is White," replied the man. "Aren't you a pretty black man to be called White?" said the general, jokingly. The darky looked up at the general's snowy head, his white beard and his rather white face, and said: "And, aren't yo' a pretty white man to be called Black, sir?"

Grave of Dan Rice's Trick Horse.

Dan Rice, the veteran showman, owned a farm at Girard, Erie county, Pa., and there he spent the greater part of the winters. The old one ring barn he used still stands, with other buildings erected under his supervision. Over the remains of his blind, snow white trick horse Exelsior, Rice built a mausoleum and placed a statue at the foot of the steps. Today it stands in the yard, but few know it marks the grave of a horse.

EMBS AND LOELL

Two Escanaba Boys Get Places on Michigan Team

There will be two Escanaba boys on the Michigan foot ball team this year, Will Embs and John Loell. Both played with the Michigan team last Saturday when Ohio state was defeated by a score of 6 to 0. Loell is earning more praise for his work than has been accorded to a new player for a long time. "Loell played circles about any other player in the team," coach Yost enthusiastically remarked after Saturday's game and there seems no doubt this young Escanabian has won a permanent place on the team as centre.

Embs is at present suffering from a bad knee but it is thought that he will be in shape to play against Illinois today.

Good Bill at Ben's

Patron's of Ben's theatre house have been given a decided treat during the past week in the vaudeville bill presented.

The Troubadours have been the headline attraction throughout the week and fully deserve the numerous encores which have been accorded them.

Little Irene Wickoff also drew her share of applause and well deserved it. The Chathams, in a singing and dancing number also "made good."

The illustrated song this week was exceptionally good, the management having secured the services of Mr. Clarke.

PROVE IT ANY TIME

By the Evidence of Escanabo People

The daily evidence citizens right here at home supply is proof sufficient to satisfy the greatest skeptic. No better proof can be had. Here is a case. Read:

Samuel Schoneman, miner, of 528 Stephenson Ave., Escanaba, Mich., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of a bad case of backache and rheumatism from which I suffered for five years. I had dull pains across the loins and down into my right hip and leg to the knee, at times so severe that I could scarcely hobble about and had to use a heavy stick as a support. I would awake at nights with terrible pains all through my back, and would have to turn over though it was agony to move. I used remedies and rubbed liniments but kept on getting worse. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and went to the Mead Drug Co's store and got a box. I felt so much better in a short time that I was surprised. I used three boxes altogether and my rheumatism, backache and weakness were all gone and have never returned. You may refer to me as one who can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

In view of the coming election next month, the following communication from Deputy Atty. General C. W. McGill to Atty. John Shine of the Soo, in answer to an inquiry by that gentleman, will not be amiss here:

"I have your communication in which you ask how a certain ballot marked in a certain manner should be counted. You state that 'the ballot referred to is one containing two or more tickets a cross is made in the circle at the head of one ticket' and under the party name by the voter, who then places a cross in the square in front of the name of each candidate on one of the other tickets for the same office. No other mark on the ballot. Should this kind of ballot be counted, and if so should it be counted for those candidates before whose name the cross is placed in the square?"

Replying thereto would say: Such ballot should be counted for each candidate to the left of whose name there is a cross marked in the square. The fact that a cross is placed in the circle at the head of one ticket and the voter has placed a cross in the square to the left of each candidate's name appearing on another ticket, furnishes no reason why such ballot should not be counted for the names on the latter ticket. The voter evidently did not wish to vote a particular party ticket; although he voted for all the candidates for office appearing thereon. I know of no provision in the election law which would authorize the inspector to throw out a ballot marked in the manner you indicate.

Faithful, efficient service deserves recognition and approval. Most of the candidates the republican state ticket are now serving their first terms. Individually they have made records of which their party and the people of our state can well be proud, and unitedly they have provided an administration of state affairs never surpassed for excellence in the history of Michigan. The same measure of earnest effort to give the best possible service in their important duties by Michigan's present state officers should be returned to them, through the ballot box at the coming election.

It Takes Nerve

Everything depends upon your nerves. It is nerve force that causes the brain to direct the motion of your body; it is nerve force that causes your heart to pulsate, and send the blood through your veins; it is nerve force that causes your stomach to digest food, your kidneys to filter the blood, and the liver to secrete bile.

In fact, nerve force is the power that runs your body; so if you feel worn-out, irritable, nervous, cannot sleep, or eat well, have pain or misery anywhere, your nerves are weak, and your system run-down. To restore this vitality take Dr. Miles' Nerve which will strengthen and build up the nerves. You cannot be healthy without strong nerves.

"For eighteen years Dr. Miles' Nerve and Anti-Pain Pills have been my close companions. Early in married life, while raising children, my nerves became all worn-out—could not sleep, had no appetite, indigestion very bad, and had such awful dizzy spells. Then I began using Dr. Miles' Nerve, and at once I began to improve, and soon found myself in perfect health."

business in Garden the 23rd. He is the same jolly, whole souled Miller as of old. He reports business booming and everybody busy up in Schoolcraft county as usual.

Mrs. Furch, an old lady eighty-seven years old, died at Nahma last week. The funeral services were held at the Catholic church in Garden. The old lady was a resident of this village for several years, twenty years ago.

Quite a number of candidates for county offices were in evidence on the streets of Garden last week. Among the rest were Messrs. Smith and Ryall. Next time you come to Garden boys, call on the Port Scribe. Don't forget that he has got one vote.

Mr. Alton Olmstead of this village started the 24th for Swea City, Iowa, on a visit with his mother Mrs. Levi Olmstead who has recently purchased a farm at that place. Mr. Olmstead goes with the intention of looking over the country and if satisfactory, removing there with his family in the near future. In that event Swea City will gain and Garden will lose a good citizen.

The Garden correspondent of the Port failed to connect last week by reason of illness, and must ask to be excused, promising not to let it happen again. (Till next time.) Not that it matters much, we noticed that the sun raised and set at its appointed time just the same. Like wise this old world of ours performed its accustomed diurnal revolutions according to its usual habit. Still, we will be a trifle more careful in the future, it's hard to tell just what will happen.

The Rev. G. W. Hyman, an Evangelist from the lower part of the state, held morning and evening services in the Congregational church last Sunday. It is possible that the reverend gentlemen may return here in a few weeks with two assistants and hold a series of revival or protracted meetings, in which event the Port man predicts, that some of the tough old sinners in this neck of the woods will get a shaking up that will bring them to a realization of "where they are at" or words to that effect. We need it sure.

The Bonefas Bros. have sold a large tract of timber land to the Vans Harbor Company. Seventy-five forties in town and forty-one Range eighteen. William Bonefas went with Superintendent Knox of that company to Escanaba to close up the deal one day this week. I learn that it is the intention of Bonefas Bros. to close out their large interests in this locality within the next year or two and locate in some other part of the country. Probably in the west. This is unfortunate for Garden. They have furnished employment for a large number of men in this village the past ten or more years. They will certainly be missed in the business and social life in this community. Garden can never become what you might call a "one man town" still, their removal will leave it pretty nearly that, as far as its lumbering interests are concerned.

A couple of "Transient merchants" from Escanaba struck town last week, secured a room and advertised a "Cash Sale" of a large stock of Ladies' cloaks etc. (of course it was a cash sale. If you want credit, why go to your local merchant he hasn't got anything to do except trust you.) When the village president called on them and politely notified them to pay the license they couldn't see it and promised him that they would close up and not sell any goods inside the village. Did they do it? Oh! no, as soon as his back was turned they went right on with their sale. After a two day's sale these parties left town with several hundred dollars cash in their pockets. I suppose they paid "Bob" for their meals and that is all the money they did leave. Well, I don't blame them, that's all right. Let us give what little cash we get hold of to peddlars and the transient. Our local merchant don't need it. When we get hard up for a sack of flour or a quarter's worth of sugar, he will trust us for it. That is the way to build up a town.

CLINK OF GOLD DRAWS CHINESE

Regular Traffic Done in the Smuggling of These Objectionable People to America.

RICHES FOR "CONTRABAND" DEALERS

Ingenious Schemes Devised to Elude the Watchfulness of Customs Officers—Schooner Frolic with Cargo of Coolies, Driven Into the Harbor of Providence, R. I., a Case in Point.

Boston.—It is the lure of wages so high that five years' savings make a fortune that is drawing venturesome Chinese these days into the country by novel shifts and in strange disguises.

Officially the smuggling of Celestials across the borders is dead. Experts in immigration and some inspectors will say when questioned that there is no such thing. As a matter of fact, however, although the Chinese population of the United States is not increasing, and timidity and the severity of the enforcement of the exclusion act deter many who might otherwise attempt to gain this promised land, plans for getting the contraband race into the United States are bolder and more skillfully concocted than ever.

Messages sent along the New England coast a few days ago to intercept the Frolic, a schooner yacht, with her complement of 35 coolies, called public attention to the fact that the Chinese are still mindful of the opportunities offered in this country. Tactics similar to those attributed to the vessel's charters are used by shrewd speculators, many of whom are Americans. Chinese who have persistence and courage are able to make their way here in spite of the utmost vigilance of the authorities.

From a sentimental point of view it would appear that Chinese would not care to come here for fear they would be subjected to indignities by the inspectors who are stationed at ports of entry, and in the principal cities and towns on both the northern and southern borders. This does not apply to the more conservative of the race, but there are hundreds of shrewder and bolder spirits who see a chance to gain wealth and they miss for instance, may send money home to maintain wife and children, also his parents and the parents of his wife, if need be, to say nothing of contributing to the support of a needy member of the clan, and yet be able to have a substantial emergency fund. Within a year or so an expert laundryman may establish a shop of his own or found a little business in oriental wares. If he does he may go to China, visit as long as he wishes and boldly pass through a port of entry as a merchant, for he is entitled to that privilege under the law. The ironing board, at the present time, however, is the best means by which the average Chinaman may find life smooth and profitable.

To get a chance to avail himself of present conditions in the labor market Chinese who have initiative or are under the direction of some American adventurer who is bold and resourceful frequently make their way here by methods underground and over sea.

Officers Fooled by Ingenious Makeup.

Although smuggling them across the Canadian border is now almost stopped, some of the most ingenious schemes are employed with success. It is a popular fallacy that all Chinese look alike and that no matter how they are arrayed they will betray at a glance their oriental origin. There are white men in Vancouver, B. C., who do not accept that theory, for by shrewd manipulation they are able to convert the most thoroughgoing Chinese into an American or Canadian farmer.

A coarse shirt, a pair of blue overalls and a straw hat will work wonders in the hands of an expert. Parties of Chinese going across the Dominion in bond not infrequently leave the trains 40 or 50 miles before reaching the boundaries of the United States. Here they are taken in hand by one who understands something of theatrical makeup and converted into tramps, farmers or whatever he thinks would be best suited to their talents. After that it is a walk to the border.

Making Up.

and in many cases it is possible for the coolies to gain their destination. Once within the borders of this country they usually prowl 40 or 50 miles farther before they think it safe to board a train and proceed in a more conventional manner.

Chinese have been intercepted in the state of Washington making their way on boats in the rivers, ostensibly bound to work as laborers on some of the large farms. They are disguised as immigrants of other nationalities. Many of them have essayed the roles of Italians, after incensing themselves in corduroy jackets and trousers and trying gayly colored silken handkerchiefs about their necks.

It is along the Rio Grande border, however, that the smuggling of disguised Chinese is conducted with consummate finesse. The scheme in use there, if followed by a really capable Chinaman, are usually effective. Hundreds of the more intelligent are landed in Havana and at Mexican ports, whence they can make their way to this country.

Chinese immigration is welcomed in Mexico. There is a tradition preserved in the old histories of the Celestial empire that centuries ago trading junks from China landed on the western coast of Mexico and opened up commercial relations with the subjects of Montezuma. The Chinese often have in mind this ancient relation when they go to the country over which rules President Diaz. The Chinese learn Spanish, adopt the Mexican dress and manners, learn to wear a sombrero with grace and often, after waiting for two years to perfect themselves in being imitation Mexicans, they boldly cross the southern border and make their way to the nearest Chinatown.

Many Cross Border Disguised as Nuns.

Some of the Chinese under the direction of shrewd agents have even passed over both the Canadian and Rio Grande borders garbed as nuns. Most of them are born initiators, and once they have seen their instructor in familiar poses they follow his directions to the letter.

Little is heard these days of the spectacular methods of running the blockade which were once employed by eager Chinese and have dropped into disuse. Chinese no longer have themselves packed up in boxes or chests and sent by express; neither do they go in vans, which are likely to be suddenly tipped into rivers. There are seldom wild chases across the snow from Canada to the United States, with accompaniments of baying hounds and barking revolvers. Such methods are irregular and unreliable and they have been supplanted by those which are esteemed as more businesslike.

Chinese are not welcomed in Canada any more than they are here and a head tax of $500 each is placed upon them. It is regarded as, in fact, prohibitive. Until three months ago, when a law was passed assessing them at $200 a head, no such tax was exacted in Newfoundland.

Chinese could be carried in bond from Vancouver without having to pay the impost demanded of them in the Dominion, and the result has been that many of them availed themselves of these conditions. It was until quite recently the custom to permit Chinese who were supposed to be on their way to the United States with proper credentials to remain in Canada for 90 days before they were notified to proceed with their journey. By a special arrangement, however, with the Canadian Pacific the Chinese were rushed through the British territory without having the advantage of the 90 day clause. This arrangement, however, did not hold with certain smaller railroads which carried passengers to Newfoundland. The United States Chinese inspectors have negotiated an arrangement within the last few weeks under which Chinese supposed to be on their way to the United States must be bonded.

There are now said to be hundreds of Chinese in Newfoundland who have for months been waiting their chance to attain their ultimate goal, the United States.

Claim to American Birth is Common.

One of the problems which have worried the Chinese inspectors stationed at Malone, which is the point in this state where many Chinese are brought from Canada, is the nativity clause. Scores of them present themselves and submit to arrest, for they have about them as a usual thing nothing which indicates any claims which they may be inclined to make. Hardly have they been taken into custody, however, when relatives or friends, accompanied by a shrewd lawyer, go to the rescue with birth certificates and affidavits which show that the persons detained were really born in the United States and as such are entitled to admission. It is estimated by a prominent inspector that if all the claims to American birth made by Chinese be true every Chinese family in this country must have 75 children.

Chinese of intelligence who can give any evidence that they are not laborers, but actually merchants, are able to get into the United States with little trouble. One of the familiar schemes—and it is one which is often successful—is employed by merchants for the benefit of friends and relatives here. The merchant will practically close out his business, leaving, however, a few outstanding accounts. Sometimes, if his customers are good pay, two or three obliging friends may consent to be debtors. The merchant, after comfortably establishing himself in China, sends his friend or kinsman over to the United States to close out his business, looking after his bad debts and generally adjusting things. duly certified accounts are shown to the inspectors to demonstrate the necessity for admitting the "merchant" without delay. Frequently such a one is found ironing shirts in a laundry, but his legal status is that of a dealer.

Aside from the Chinese who gain admittance through the gates of the country by means of keys to which they have no legal right, there is a vast majority who as merchants, students, travelers or actors are entitled to all the privileges guaranteed them under the statute. The classes with money do not have to fear being submitted to inconvenience. As far as the Celestials are concerned who get in without complying with the law the high wages and the industrial opportunities here make the game for them well worth the candle if they succeed.

Rough Weather Ends Trip of "Slave Ship."

In this connection a real life story of the sea, of smuggling and adventure, thrilling pursuits and hair-breadth escapes, and the perilous voyage of a little schooner, under whose battered down hatches was a cargo such as the slavers of the story books carried, ended when the Frolic of Boston was discovered by chance in the harbor of Providence, R. I.

It was the sea that had been its refuge that finally wrought the undoing of the Frolic and foiled its adventure after it had played tag with revenue cutters and customs officers for weeks along the coast. The Frolic was a battered and crippled ghost of a boat when it crept into port with 42 woebezone and starving Chinamen in its hold. In the night, while it was believed the crew of a storm beaten fishing boat was repairing damage, dories went to and from the shore and the Frolic and 27 Chinamen were landed.

The Chinamen were still being taken ashore and hidden in coal bins, when a man employed on one of the piers on a dock stumbled across a shivering group of Chinamen and gave the alarm. A little later customs and immigration officers swooped down on the Frolic and captured 15 Chinamen and two of the crew. Skipper H. K. Colby, of Boston, who led the adventure, and his mate, "Al" Adams, slipped away in a dory and escaped. On shore officers captured John C. Lehmann, of Boston, whose part in the adventure was conveying and smuggling Chinamen to the refuge of the Chinese quarter in Providence.

In his cell Lehmann said the smuggling of Chinese into New England states has been carried on for years with great profit. He stated that expedition like that of the Frolic netted about $15,000 clear of all expenses. Asked how the smugglers were able to evade the officials, he answered: "That's easy. Most places in New England are 'fixed,' and we don't have any trouble." Lehmann explained that the Chinese were groups to Newfoundland, where they Canada and from there in small grounds to Newfoundland, where they were held to await a vessel from the United States.

The two members of the crew of the

Found in a Goods Box.

Frolic who were captured said the little vessel had beaten about the coast from Eastport, Me., to Cape Hatteras for two weeks, dodging revenue cutters and coast guards, and buffeted by storms. They said the Frolic's captain only took the desperate chance of running into Providence when the little vessel had been so battered it could not stay at sea any longer.

Mistress of the Home.

MOTHERS SOMETIMES LAY DOWN SCEPTRE TOO EARLY.

Mistake to Allow Children to Hurry Parents Out of Middle Age, Where They Belong, Into Old Age, Says Writer.

BY MARGARET E. SANGSTER.

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

In the history of every home a period is reached when the mothers stop training the children and the children begin training the mothers. The process of training always involves a disagreeable side to the persons trained. Children, for instance, see when grown up that the truest kindness to them was shown when they were not allowed to have their own way, but in the early years they often enough felt rebellious when restrained or denied. The moulding touch may be so gently given and education may be conducted with so much tact that pleasure predominates. As a rule, there is some friction during training whether colts or children or parents are the subjects.

Mothers arrive by imperceptible stages at the point where they cease to take the initiative and the children take it for them. Occasionally they feel a mild surprise when a grown up daughter calmly advises them to do this or not to do the other; when there is interference with their dress, their comings and goings, and when innovations are introduced in the household management. A strong-willed mother does not easily yield her precedence and in her case the children have to wait until a fit of illness, a long visit or an absence of some sort gives them their opportunity. Once she yields an inch, they take an ell. The maternal sceptre laid down temporarily is seldom resumed with its previous vigor. Often the training of the middle aged mother is so tenderly and sweetly undertaken and accomplished that she slips into the background without being aware that she has practically abdicated her position as queen.

Yet it happens every day that women, by no means old, not at all weakened in mind or body, and as thoroughly conversant with affairs as ever they were, simply through granting concessions to their adoring children lose the rank of reigning sovereign to which they are entitled.

"Beware of letting your children persuade you that you must take care of yourself, that you must not go here or go there, or get too tired," said a wise man to a friend.

"Going down hill needs no exertion; it is just the lightest push here at the top of the hill and off you speed never climbing back again. Children often hurry mothers out of middle age where they belong into old age where they do not belong."

There is a very beautiful and thoughtful education of mothers, so exceptional and so gracious that it is worth mentioning in any discussion of the question. Thousands of mothers are so busy with housekeeping and bringing up children that they lose heart about keeping up their reading and they sit in the presence of their college-bred sons and daughters feeling that they are miserably deficient and hardly fit to breathe the same atmosphere, with their gifted offspring. "I stand by the side of the road and gaze at my daughter almost with awe," confessed a mother who had no excuse for such profound humility. Another, filled with joy and pride at the triumphs of a son whose genius was admitted, dwelt continually on the incredible fact that she was regarded with constant affection by one so brilliant and commanding as her boy. This mental attitude is of course entirely wrong and much to be deprecated.

Experience has been a richer and more profitable feature to mothers than schools and colleges have been to their children. The right management of a home imparts to a woman who is responsive and receptive, sympathetic and enthusiastic, something quite as useful as a university education.

I heard not long ago a story that seemed to me full of the sweetest sentiment and the most practical suggestiveness. A daughter who had been graduated with high honors came home with her diploma and spent her first vacation in becoming intimate with her mother. In the four years of separation the two had drifted a little apart; not in love but in acquaintance with those common affairs that form the staple of life in thought and conversation. The daughter did not go to her room or her hammock and spend hours in study and reading that would have been exclusive, though delightful, but immediately took hold of the daily work with a will. In every possible way she lightened her mother's burden and when after her mother and herself had passed many pleasant afternoons together over books that to the mother opened a new world of culture, the daughter planned a course of study that they might pursue together. Their home was remote from neighbors and they had plenty of time. Resisting the inclination to go abroad and find a congenial field for study or professional work, the younger woman stayed by the elder and awakened her to a new youth.

The saddest thing in life is to witness the discouragement of a woman who having accomplished her task of educating her children, finds herself solitary and neglected, the return for her devotion being that she is overlooked, while they are absorbed by ambition and their own business or their new relation. Sons and daughters marrying early seem to lose identity as integral parts of their old home. Their parents do not enjoy the training in patience which is theirs when at Thanksgiving and Christmas John and Mary find it impossible to come home, and when they are made to feel that their convictions and opinions are of little account with the second generation.

"After a woman is 50 years old she may as well die," was the bitter speech of a mother who realized that so far from taking the first place with her children, she had become a cipher in their estimation.

Naturally, when children have left behind their schools and school masters and are confronted with the problems and situations of maturity they have a right to independence. They must take the responsibility for their own actions. They are not unlike the birds that have learned to use their wings and get their own food and that no longer need the supervision that was once so untiring in the days of the nest. Yet it were well for most grown up children to delay too much training of their parents. How shall we train our mothers, would best be answered in most instances, by an emphatic order to let them alone. Let mothers dress as they please, set their tables as they like, hold fast to little provincialisms in their dialect, unchecked, and be old-fashioned if they wish. There are endless varieties of roses in these days, but the white rose that blooms in the old-fashioned garden is sweeter than any of the newer productions.

"TARTANS" TO BE WORN.

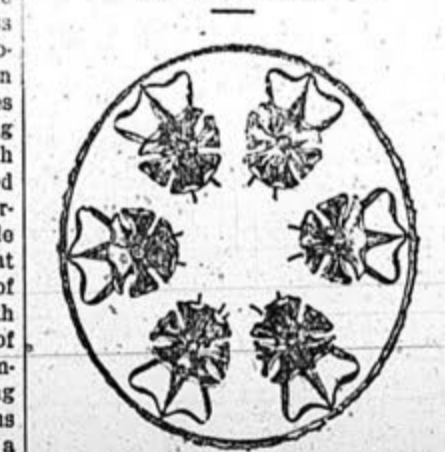

Scotch Plaid a Feature of Dress and Trimmings.

The coming winter is expected to be a distinctly "tartan" one, for the Scotch plaid is seen not only in dress materials and trimmings, but is introduced into wings and collars and even roses. Plain broadcloth costumes have been fashioned by the leading costumers in Paris and London with short sack coats and skirts trimmed with narrow bands of pipings of tartan, and a distinct novelty is the little green and blue tartan "hip" coat trimmed with collar and facings of black silk poplin and finished with old-silver buttons. Silk poplin, one of the fashionable materials for the coming season, is being used for making these little coats, with a judicious trimming of tartan, for wearing with a blue cloth skirt, and in juxtaposition is the skirt of brown and blue plaid, with orange stripe running through it to accompany a plain brown cloth sack coat, trimmed with military braiding, having on some models, a narrow flat piping of orange cloth or velvet introduced on either side of the braid.

In many of the new worsted small check cloths and tweeds there is an over plaid and striped effect in a contrast color, and among the autumn silks used for skirts to be worn with tailor-made costumes plaids and stripes are in great demand, as they brighten up a plain cloth dress.

VALAIS DESIGN.

The Valais design is traced on rather a dark colored linen, with a bold conventional poppy design, and is most effective worked out in rich, deep shades of a color.

Tip for Eyeglass Wearers.

Wearers of eyeglasses have noticed how they become dim when subjected to a sudden change of temperature—as, for instance, when the wearer goes from the cold outer air into a warm room. This may be prevented by rubbing the glasses with soap every morning. They may be polished bright after the soap is applied, but an invisible film is left on them that will prevent the deposit of moisture.
