

LEADERS OF "SOCIETY"

Men and Women Who Have Dominated the American Aristocracy of Blood and Wealth.

MANY REQUISITES FOR THE POSITION

Mrs. William Astor Had Natural Advantages, but Mrs. Paran Stevens Ruled Solely Through the Force of Her Will—Ward McAllister and Harry Lehr Each Have Had Undisputed Sway—Look for Jew Queen.

New York.—The struggles of men and women of America to win the title of society leader of this country, which in this connection is New York, has for years been as bitter and as earnest as any of the intrigues of the old French court. In the endeavor to be acknowledged by the so-called Four Hundred as the local head of gay functions, millions of dollars have been spent, plots and counter-plots hatched, and finally such sensationalism resorted to as have made the names of Ward McAllister and Harry Lehr known. Each succeeding year has seen some new candidate enter the field for the coveted honor, and each year has seen new exploits which have fairly taken the breath away from the great-mass of people who look on and laugh or wonder.

For a good many years now, ever since the death of Mrs. Paran Stevens, in fact, Mrs. William Astor has undoubtedly been supreme. Lesser lights have shone for a few seasons, perhaps, but their brilliancy has been only that of the planets in the light of the moon. Mrs. Astor has been in reality the balance wheel which has kept the social machine moving steadily, if at high speed. Of all who have held her position, she has undoubtedly been the ablest.

Had Many Advantages.

She came to the position with unlimited wealth, with a stainless name and ripe judgment. Gracious, big-hearted, and of warm sympathies, she has won the respect of the social world over which she has ruled through storm and stress for almost half a century. Her life has been filled with brilliant successes.

Before her marriage to the wealthy William Astor she was Miss Caroline Schermerhorn, daughter of a Knickerbocker family which ruled in the old days. When Mrs. Astor made her debut in New York, her father gave a coming-out ball, the like of which at that time had not been surpassed.

Almost from the day of her marriage she found herself obliged to fight vigorously for her title of social leader. The first contest came with power, of a woman's will, more convincingly exemplified than in the career of the former notable society leader, Mrs. Paran Stevens. Unaided by any of the agencies ordinarily thought requisite in such a fight, she won the position that she selected for herself against the stubborn traditions of a society peculiarly insular in its sentiments and provincial prejudices.

Born in Lowell, the daughter of Judge Reed, she was educated there and in Boston. It was while in a finishing school in Boston that she met Miss Stevens, the daughter of Paran Stevens, the famous hotel keeper. The latter was known as the Vanderbilt of the hotel business, owning hostilities throughout the country. He fell in love with the pretty charm of his daughter, and finally succeeded in winning her hand. The first few years of their married life were passed in France, and it was not until after the birth of a son and daughter that Mrs. Stevens came to New York, to begin a social campaign unequalled in the history of America.

It was she who inaugurated Sunday evening receptions, somewhat to the astonishment of what was then Puritanical New York. They became a feature, and invitations to these Sunday evenings were eagerly sought after by the artistic talent of America. Distinguished foreigners gravitated toward her famous red window shade house near Twenty-eighth street and Fifth avenue, among them the Prince of Wales, whom she entertained so graciously that when she, with her daughter, who was then a girl just entering society, went to London, England's then their apparent returned her courtesies tenfold.

Took England by Storm.

Mrs. Stevens was received at court; Mrs. Stevens was launched on the topmost wave of English society. Miss Minnie Stevens was considered the most beautiful girl America had ever sent over. They came back to New York for the winters and returned to the other side for the London season. The daughter finally married the Hon. Arthur Paget.

Mrs. Stevens, after this event, devoted herself to making New York society, and won a place which has only been equaled since by Mrs. William Astor. She was a tempestuous, strong-willed woman, and though she made many enemies, was too powerful to be openly antagonized. Many stories were told about her, and as time went on she fell somewhat into the background. But in the heyday of her power she has never been equaled. She died in 1895, several years after she had ceased to be a power.

It was partly through her efforts that the famous Ward McAllister was launched. This man was born in Savannah, Ga. He was of the bluest American blood, but without money. From the day Ward McAllister married Miss Gibbons, who was possessed of a comfortable fortune, he set about the task of entering New York society. His first bow to the public was his announcement that there were only 400 people in fashionable society. His first social achievement was his meeting with the Prince of Wales in 1860.

Became Society Autocrat.

Later Mr. McAllister took a house at Newport, and at once made himself a power there. From 1872 to 1885 he grew in power, and gained the title of which he was always proud, "the autocrat of the drawing room." This distinction he bore without dispute until the Washington centennial celebration, when he quarreled with Mr. Fish about the arrangements for the ball and resigned from the entertainment committee.

In order to demonstrate his supremacy, Mr. McAllister made arrangements for a New Year's ball, which he carried out with success. He championed Mrs. William Astor in her feud with Mrs. Waldorf Astor, and pleasing to society and occupies a unique position.

Where McAllister made his reputation as a skillful organizer, Lehr has made his mark as a freak entertainer. By birth he is a German, the son of a German consul, who went to Baltimore and died, leaving his son penniless. By occupation he is a champagne agent. His accomplishments are many; he sings well enough to amuse a small audience; he dances well; he leads cotillions successfully and he is a good story teller. He is always willing to make a fool of himself, if only it will raise a roar of laughter. He chooses designs for and intelligently criticises women's gowns and he is a social diplomat.

Mr. Lehr has done many eccentric things which have won him notoriety. It was he who introduced the monkey dinner and carried it to a triumphant conclusion. He was ringmaster at Mrs. Oelrich's circus, and introduced punching bags at the pavilions at Bailey's beach, Newport. He was the first to take a parrot out automobiling, and the first to do a great many other unusual things. However, he was for some reason indorsed by Mrs. Astor and from that day has been a fixture.

Who Shall Now Be Leader?

Among other men who have in a minor way, from time to time, occupied somewhat similar positions, are "Freddie" Gebhardt, also of German descent; James J. Van Alen, and Elisha Dyer, Jr. Each has been before the public in some capacity, either as principal in a scandal or as a famous cotillon leader.

And now who among the women will succeed to the position still occupied by Mrs. Astor, should she wish to step out? Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt has many champions. She has one of the best houses in New York and knows how to do many things. She has talent and a grace that captivates. She has the art of manners, and, moreover, has a good brain. She had the opportunity to learn the art of success scientifically from approved models. Year after year, as a girl, she visited the courts of Europe, and the friendships she formed there will stand her in good stead.

Mrs. Ogden Mills has been mentioned, but her feud with Mrs. Belmont is still remembered, and this in itself would be a handicap. Then there are Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish and Mrs. John Jacob Astor.

It would seem that whoever succeeds Mrs. Astor will do so more by the logic of events than because of any strong effort on her own part.

society is beginning to speculate about who shall succeed her. Many of the old leaders are being recalled. From a review of their lives it would seem that, after all, the title depends more upon a strong personality than it does upon any inherited position.

How Mrs. Stevens Ruled Society.

Seldom is the force, the irresistible

Mrs. William Waldorf Astor and her daughter, Miss Caroline Schermerhorn Astor, in a feud which is history. Then came the scandal in connection with her eldest daughter's husband, J. Coleman Drayton, resulting in a divorce. But the Waldorf Astors sided with Mr. Drayton in the dispute, and so another contest was started, in which, as in the first, Mrs. William Astor was the victor. It was the bitter-

THANKSGIVING

For beauty of the generous earth;
For small successes, joys and mirth;
For large content in little wealth;
For books, for music, and for health;
For every good Thy mercies send;
And best of all—for friends.
—Youth's Companion.

SUMPTUOUS REPAST OF HALF A CENTURY AGO.

Tastes of Our Ancestors Seem to Have Been for Heavy Dishes and Many of Them.

At Thanksgiving time so much is heard of old-fashioned dinners that it may be interesting to readers to hear what the term signified in Philadelphia some years ago.

About 50 years ago a large dinner was very different to what it is now. In the first place courses, such as we know them, were practically unknown; even in the wealthiest houses there was rarely anything but soup preceding the actual dinner, but this soup was generally very rich.

Such a dinner consisted about as follows: First a handsome silver-covered soup tureen was placed on the table, filled with mock turtle or perhaps venison soup, and all were plentifully helped, the great silver ladle, corresponding to the tureen, doing good service. After the soup plates were removed a great roast turkey decked with celery and cranberries and marvelously trussed and dressed was placed at one end of the table while at the other was a large piece of a la mode beef on a platter. Roast duck and apple sauce sometimes took the place of a la mode beef but the two ends of the table had always their respective meats or poultry. Sweet and white potatoes and every sort of vegetable to be had obtained a place on the festive board, while cunning molds of cranberries and jellies and gravies, pickles and the like were in abundance.

There was generally what was known as an "oyster pie"—stewed oysters served in a puff-paste shell, the rich dressing of the oysters being made thick with egg.

There was no salad course, but of desserts there was no dearth. Pumpkin pie, mince pie, and always a wonderfully constructed meringue and either jelly or custard, sometimes both, served in glasses, while plates and nutcrackers were handed around for the nuts.

The centerpiece, was invariably a great pyramid of fruits arranged on a cut-glass or Dresden china epergne, and, when the table was very long, there were sometimes two of these fruit pyramids.

A little later, after the guests had adjourned to the drawing-room, coffee, ices and fancy cakes were served to them there. There were no little after-dinner coffee cups in those days, but generous breakfast sizes of finest French eggshell china, often exquisitely handpainted with landscapes or picked out in gold.

When there was a large party of young people, a separate table was set for them in the small library, which in those days, was generally built back of the dining-room, the latter being in the back building of the second floor, corresponding to the library or sitting room of today.

The "back parlor" was used only as such then or as a breakfast room, the state dining-room being invariably upstairs, and sometimes there was not even a dumb-waiter to assist in carrying things up from the kitchen below, so that a large dinner was no easy matter to serve in those days of large families and lavish hospitality.

DOUBLE CAUSE FOR JOY.

'Liza—We certainly ought to be thankful fo' dis turkey to-day.
Zeke—Yes; and moah so dat I done got away wid it widout bein' caught.

"Mock Turkey" for Thanksgiving.—A novel suggestion for a Thanksgiving party is a "Mock Turkey." One was made last year by taking a knitting basket and covering it with brown holland. The handle of the basket ran lengthwise, thus serving as an excellent breast bone for the turkey. The brown holland was artistically adjusted to simulate legs, wings and a neck. It was then tinted to the requisite shades by the liberal use of burnt umber paint. The stuffing of this turkey consisted of trifling gifts, accompanied with appropriate rhymes. The "carving" of the turkey was attended with much pleasant excitement. The operation consisted in making strenuous preparations for it, then suddenly with a dextrous movement of the fork, lifting the entire "skin," laying bare the interesting "stuffing."

Look Ahead.

If turkey day should find you glum—We can't all be in clover—Reflect that better days will come; Be thankful—the worst is over.

A PROSPECTOR'S THANKSGIVING

I'd been prospectin' for half a year
In the rockiest luck
A'man ever struck,
An' my hope an' my temper was out o' gear.
An' I felt just ready to up an' buck,
An' to curse the day that I first saw light,
To curse the god that was hid from sight,
To curse the fate that had led me on,
By the lamp o' hope till all hope was gone,
An' my heart grow bitter an' full o' hate,
An' I railed at the Master who would create
A man to luck
At the game o' luck
An' only git ripped up the back by fate.

I knelt me down by a mountain stream;
From its sparkling water I took a drink,
Then lolled on the rocky bank to dream
O' the tattered edges o' life, to think
I recalled the days that had come an' gone
Since I tore myself from the world
AWAY,
An' the fact on my memory seemed to dawn
That I stared in the face o' Thanksgiving Day,
A sneer rose up in my troubled breast,
An' my soul with its Maker renewed its war,
An' I asked myself with a spiteful zest:
"What have I got to be thankful for?
What has God done for a man like me?
What are the blessings thrown in my path?"

Why should I bow on a thankful knee
When He's sprinkled my trail with the fire o' wrath?
I struck my pick in the gravelly sod
As if to stab at the heart o' luck
An' sneered at the idea there was a God,
An' cursed such teachin' as worthy truck.
I glanced at my grub-bag layin' there
An' knoed when I'd swallowed another meal
I'd have nothin' to live on but mountain air,
An' in mad rebellion I ground my heel

Deep down in the unproductive earth,
An' cursed at the gods' slow-grinding'
mills,
An' cursed at the day that gave me birth,
An' the fates that led me into the hills,
Aye! cursed at everything I hurried—
At the cruel earth an' its strugglin' men,
An' wished that the old pain-givin' world
Would burst into nothingness an' then!

I rolled the sleeve up my bare brown arm—
I noted the muscles clustered thick,
I felt the pulsations, strong an' warm,
As the life-blood flowed like a rippin'
crick.
I slapped my breast with my strong right hand
An' it stood as firm as a granite wall,
Save when it in majesty would expand,
Till it stood out-round as a monster ball.

I slapped a thigh that was knitted steel,
I threw back my head on its muscled
base,
An' in my soul I began to feel
A chiding that gave me a shrike-red face.
What should I thank Him for? For health
That a man of millions would envy me,
For a frame of iron, an' a perfect wealth
Of muscle an' nerve, an' a spirit free
As the breeze kissin' my sun-tanned cheeks—
As free as the sunlight that warms the land,
As free as the eagle that soars an' seeks
The prey provided by Master's hand,
A new light entered my rebel soul,
An' I pressed the ground with my traitor knees,
An' a flood o' gratitude seemed to roll

From my glad lips up through the pine-trees
Then I hit the trail with the fire o' hope
Blown into a new an' holler blaze,
An' I trudged along up the rocky slope,
My heartstrings tremblin' with songs o'
praise.

It must a been Heaven tw'z 'tant the luck;
For I hadn't gone more'n a mile, till there
In the breast of a rocky ridge I struck
A lead that'll make me a millionaire.
—James Barton Adams, in The Sunday Magazine.

Bayberries for Thanksgiving Candles.—The revival of many an old industry has brought into vogue the bayberry candle, beloved of our grandmothers, and here and there along country byways men and women may now be found garnering the aromatic berries, which some enterprising woman has engaged to make into candles, says the Providence Daily Journal.

It requires a quart of berries to make one candle. They should be kept in a dry place till ready to use, then put into a preserve kettle, allowing two quarts of water to one of berries. They should be boiled for four hours, filling up the kettle with hot water as it boils away. Then set it back where it will simmer a while and at night set away to cool. In the morning the wax will have formed in a large cake on top of the water, and after melting and straining through a piece of the lawn or cheesecloth it is ready to pour into the candle molds. These candles give out a sweet, aromatic odor, which perfumes the room.

The True Thanksgiving.
Not in the form of a hollow prayer,
Nor the weightless words thou hearest,
Not in the mirth round the festal fare—
Is gratitude sincerest.

But deep in the bosom an unvoiced song
Of praise for the joy of living,
For roses that blossom life's path along—
That is the true thanksgiving.
—Hilton R. Greer.

The fiat has gone forth from the chief executive of Michigan that he will at once inform the sheriffs and prosecutors of the state that he will hold them responsible for any future violation of the state anti-prize-fighting law.

Percy Crawford the Newberry hunter who shot and killed the man with whom he was out hunting, has been held for trial at the Circuit Court in Luce county. Both men were attendants, employed at the Upper Peninsula Hospital for the Insane at Newberry.

Hordes of hunters from all over the United States are being dumped into this devoted land by every train and boat. They are ne'er-do-wells of everywhere, a menace to themselves and a curse and danger to the thousands of men employed in the woods. They came to kill off and take away the provisions God has given the pioneer and frontiersman. And every dollar's worth of property in Michigan is taxed to preserve game for the pleasure and surfeit of these motleys. A more impudent and fraudulent tax for a more unworthy purpose was never levied.—St. Ignace News.

Sixty per cent. of the London police are on the night service, which they prefer to day service because there is less to do. One of their main duties at night is to see that doors and windows are barred and to notify the occupants of houses when they are not. Nearly 26,000 doors and windows have been found open by them in one year.

Robbing Yourself

That is just what you are doing when you fail to get regular and sufficient sleep. Your body requires this unconscious period for repair work; without it your nerve energy becomes exhausted; and you are tired, worn-out, nervous, excitable; have headache, neuralgia, indigestion, poor appetite, or other ailments caused by a lack of nerve force. Make it your business to sleep. If you are restless, take Dr. Miles' Nervine; it soothes and strengthens the nerves, and brings sweet, refreshing, life-giving sleep, and gives the organs power to work naturally. Try it to-day.

"I had a severe spell of fever, which left me in a very weak condition and very nervous. I had severe spells of headache and neuralgia, and could sleep but very little. Every effort that was made to recover my strength was of no avail until I began taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine. After I commenced to take the Nervine my sleep was profound and restful, and the pains in my head, as well as the neuralgia pains, left me to a certain extent and I grew gradually better."

ROYAL Baking Powder
ABSOLUTELY PURE
 Healthful cream of tartar, derived solely from grapes, refined to absolute purity, is the active principle of every pound of Royal Baking Powder.
 Hence it is that Royal Baking Powder renders the food remarkable both for its fine flavor and healthfulness.
 No alum, no phosphate—which are the principal elements of the so-called cheap baking powders and which are derived from bones, rock and sulphuric acid.

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder

Made from pure, grape cream of tartar

Makes home baking easy. Nothing can be substituted for it in making, quickly and perfectly, delicate hot biscuit, hot breads, muffins, cake and pastry. Insures the food against alum.

Pure, Healthful, Reliable

NOTE—If mixtures called baking powder are offered you at lower price, remember they are mostly made from alum, a metallic acid deleterious to health.

A Snail's Pace.

A snail's rate of travel was ascertained by experiments in Florence. Half a dozen snails were permitted to crawl between two points ten feet apart. Exact time was kept from the start to the finish, and thus the average pace learned. The figures were then put into tables of feet, yards and furlongs, and it was found that it would take a snail exactly 14 days to travel a mile.

RAPID RIVER

A woman giving her name as Mrs. Ned Turner was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Hill Thursday because it is alleged that she set fire to the house of Alex Labombard. The woman entered the Labombard home which was unoccupied during the absence of the Labombard family in the woods and started a fire in the stove. There was no stove pipe to the stove and the house soon caught fire and burned to the ground, only the contents being saved.

It was believed by the local authorities that the woman was either insane or intoxicated and her arrest was made. Shortly after being put in jail she broke the lock and escaped but was recaptured at the railway station. She was taken to Escanaba and when arraigned before Judge Glaser admitted that she was badly intoxicated when in Rapid River. She claimed that she had walked from Escanaba to Rapid River and was on her way home to Canada. She gave her name in court as Alimina Laport and said she had a husband and relatives in Canada. She was sentenced to ten days imprisonment in the county jail and in the meanwhile an effort will be made to communicate with the relatives in Canada to have her removed to that place as soon as her sentence expires.

Everyone should attend the Thanksgiving ball which is given for the benefit of the base ball boys. The team needs new uniforms for next season and the proceeds of the ball will be used for that purpose.

Worth Remembering

There are three entirely different kinds of ingredients used in making the three different varieties of baking powders on the market, viz:

(1) Mineral acid or alum, (2) Bone acid or phosphate, and (3) Cream of Tartar made from grapes. It is important, from the standpoint of health, to know something about these ingredients, and which kind is used in your baking powder.

(1) Mineral acid, or alum, is made from a kind of clay. This is made with diluted oil of vitriol and from this solution a product is obtained which is alum. Alum is cheap; costs about two cents a pound, and baking powder made with this mineral acid sells from 10 to

STATE OF MICHIGAN, Twenty-Fifth Judicial Circuit, in Chancery.
Amanda Schou, Complainant vs. Bjorne Schou, Defendant.
Said pending in the Circuit Court for the County of Delta in Chancery, at the City of Escanaba on the 24th day of November 1906.
In this cause it appearing that defendant, Bjorne Schou, is not a resident of this state but of the state of Minnesota, therefore on motion of Yelani & Norblad, solicitors for complainant, it is ordered that defendant enter his appearance in said cause on or before four months from the date of this order, and that within twenty days the complaint cause this order to be published in the Iron Post, a newspaper printed, published and circulating in said County, said publication to be continued once in each week for six weeks in succession.

25c a pound.
(2) Bone acid or phosphate, is a basis of phosphate baking powders and the process is fully described in the patents issued to a large manufacturer of a phosphate powder. The U. S. Patent Office Report gives a full and exact description, but the following extract is enough:
"Burned bones, after being ground are put into freshly diluted oil of vitriol and with continual stirring and in the following proportion." etc.

From this bone acid phosphate baking powders are made; such powders sell from 20 to 30 cents a pound.

(3) Cream of Tartar exists in all ripe grapes, and flows with the juice from the press in the manufacture of wine. After the wine is drawn off the tartar is scraped from the cask, boiled with water and crystals of Cream of Tartar, white and very pure, separate and are collected. It differs in no respect from the form in which it originally existed in the grape. Cream of Tartar, then, while being the most expensive, is the only ingredient that should be used in a baking powder to act upon the soda, as its wholesomeness is beyond question. Cream of Tartar baking powders sell at about 40 to 50 cents a pound.

Such are the facts, and every one, careful of the health of the family, should remember this rule:—Baking powders selling from 10 to 25 cents a pound are made from Mineral Acid; and those from 40 to 50 cents of Cream of Tartar made from grapes.

MISSING MAN IS LOCATED

Edward L. Forsyth, Former Menominee Druggist
SEEN IN TORONTO, ONT.
Last Week by Menominee Man is Brother of Dr. Forsyth of this City.

Edward L. Forsyth, the former Menominee druggist who mysteriously disappeared from that city early last spring, was seen at Toronto, Ont., on Wednesday of last week by John J. Connors, of Menominee who met him in a hotel where the two engaged in a several minutes conversation.
Mr. Connors has been working since last spring for the Carney Lumber Co. at Owen Sound, Ont. He went there soon after Forsyth's disappearance. In company with John Vanderbloom of Marinette, also an employee of the Carney Co., he was on his way home and both men met and conversed with Mr. Forsyth.
While spending a few hours in Toronto Mr. Connors stopped into a hotel on King street for dinner. Shortly after one o'clock he was standing at the lobby desk when some one came out of the dining room behind him and called out cheerfully, "Hello what are you doing here?" "I turned about" says Mr. Connors, "and there stood Ed. Forsyth looking just the same as ever except that he lost considerable flesh and his face is somewhat thinner than formerly. I had quite a talk with him and calling back Vanderbloom, introduced him also. Forsyth told me that he was now traveling for a Canadian mining company selling stocks. He said to me, "When I left Menominee I had about forty cents or thereabouts, but I am getting on pretty well now and if all goes right for a while I will be on my feet again." "Mr. Forsyth looked prosperous and cheerful and seemed to be getting on well. He showed me maps and charts of the claims of the mining company for which he is traveling and he also showed me photographs of his two sons, Virgil and Edward. He knew all about the death of his younger son a short time ago and spoke to me of having lost his boy. He showed me photograph of Edward giving views both before and after death."

"I understand that he has been in communication with his family all along and has been with them in the west if that is where they are. I did not learn whether he was making his home with them or whether he was living in Toronto or if he had just made the city of business. He made no attempt at concealment and though he did not send any regards or messages to anyone in Menominee he did not ask me not to say that I had seen him."
"I was in a hurry at the time I met Forsyth and did not have time to talk but a few minutes. I came back later and inquired for him but he was not there then."

He was surprised at how the sores healed—"I took your New Method Treatment for a serious blood disease with which I had been afflicted for twelve years. I had consulted a score of physicians, taken all kinds of blood medicine, visited Hot Springs and other mineral water resorts, but only got temporary relief. They would help me for a time, but after discontinuing the medicines the symptoms would break out again—ranging from sores, blotches, rheumatic pains, looseness of the hair, swellings of the glands, palms of the hands scaling, itching of the skin, dyspepsia, stomach, etc. I had given up in despair when a friend advised me to consult you as you had cured him of a similar disease 8 years ago. I had no hope, but took his advice. In three weeks time the sores commenced to heal up and I became encouraged. I continued the New Method Treatment for four months and at the end of that time every symptom had disappeared. I was cured 7 years ago and no signs of any disease since. My boy, three years old, is sound and healthy. I certainly can recommend your treatment with all my heart. You can refer any person to me privately, but you can use this testimonial as you wish."

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak Kidney Nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine is scanty, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggist recommend and sell.
