Will Be The Base Ball Team Put On The Diamond This Season By Escanaba

With the reputation of always having a fast team in the field in the past, front with the fastest base ball aggrega tion ever put before the fans of the city. A stock company, with a capitalization of $2,000 has been organized and a value of $25, being sold in denominations of one fifth at $5. Besides the shares of stock to be sold, fans of the city wishing to aid in financing the team may make donations of any amounts they may see fit, and the same will he placed in the treasury.

Extensive improvements at the ball park will be carried out as soon as the weather permits and the grounds are in working order. A new fence will be built, inclosing a much smaller area than at present inclosed. The grand stand will also be extended northward to cover the present ticket office and bleachers will be rebuilt, much larger than at present, so that the total seating capacity at the park will be more than double what it now is

The grounds themselves will be scraped and leveled and then rolled and packed, making one of the fastest diamonds to be found in the upper peninsula.

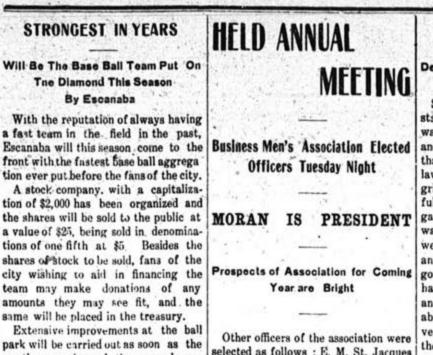

For the purpose of disposing of the stock is the organization, the city has been divided into two districts, the territory east of Georgia street being covered by Arthur S. Holmes and John J. Tolan and the territory west of Georgia street being worked by Herman Salinsky and Miles Thomas.

Makes Cut In Rates

The announcement by the Northwestern system that a rate of 11 cents will be put into effect for the National Republican convention at Chicago, as interpreted as meaning that eventually every one of the lines doing business west of Chicago will be compelled to make the same rate.

This will mean that for the first time since the 2-cent fare went into effect the roads west of Chicago have consented to make an excursion rate.

Heretofore in making rates for Eastern business, the reduction has been made on the east-of-Chicago business the co-operation of all the members, is regular fare to and from Chicago selected as follows : E. M. St. Jacques vice president, John E. Todd secretary, Leslie French treasurer, W. R. Smith and J. J. Cleary trustees.

Considerable enthusiasm marked the meeting of the Escanaba Businessmen's Association which was held Tuesday evening at the city hall, at which time the annual reports from the officers were received and and officers elected for the coming year.

The financial condition as shown by the report of Leslie French, treasurer of the Association was particularly satisfactory and the Association stands today with practically $500 cash in its treasury.

The work the association has been oing during the past year was reviewed by J. A. Stromberg, president of the association, and it was shown that the association has made its influence felt in a number of ways for the good of the city. The one great thing which the members of the association have to feel proud of is the fact that the city now has a permanent association and is in shape to handle matters that pertain to the advancement of the city.

Mr. J. V. Moran, manager of the National Grocer company, was chosen as president of the association for the the coming year.

Mr. Moran when notified of his election was escorted to the hall and after thanking the members for the honor conferred upon him, outlined a policy which he would pursue as president of the association. Mr. Moran's address was a strong one and left no doubt in the minds of his listeners but that the association, under his guidance and with destined to prove a great help to the been a mortal one. The strangest feaprogress of the city during the coming ture of the combat is the fact that the Mr. Moran emphasized the necessity buck not only exhibited utter fearlessof harmony within the association and ness but refused to retreat when seversaid that he accepted the position with al hours later Mr. Long came upon it the understanding that there were to be in the woods. Deputy Game Warden Hayward Making Good Record in His Office

MANY ARRESTS MADE

Since March 1st, the familiar face of state deputy game warden C. E. Hayward has been seen quite frequently in that some of the violators of the game laws know that he is around to their grief. Since that time he has successfully prosecuted 13 violators of the game and fish laws and still has a few warrants to serve. Among his seizures were large quantities of beaver skins and deer skins, the proceeds of which go to the state department. There has also been large quantities of venison and fish that have been sent to charitable institutions. One shipment of venison which was seized was made to the state prison at Jackson and another to the Delta county poor farm. Three barrels of whitefish, his latest seizure, was taken from an express car enroute to Chicago and has been turned over to the Delta county poor farm.

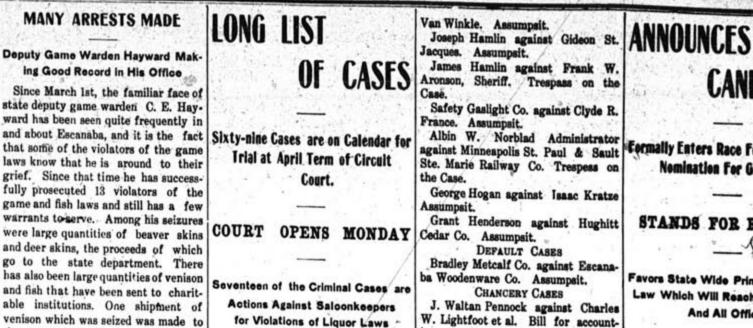

Beaver trapping on Days river and its tributaries has been successfully routed by the warden, the traps of the violators are all confiscated, the temporary wigwams of the Indians engaged in the traffic have been destroyed and some of the Indians themselves have been arrested. It is safe to say that there will will be no more trapping on Days river for some time to come. When asked about the killing of song birds, warden Hayward said "the greatest harm to the song bird comes from the foreigner who comes from Chicago in the spring to work on the railroad grades during the summer. They come in droves and board in cars along the railroad. They kill everything they see, porcupines, skunks, all kinds of birds, and even rob mice nests, all of which goes into the same pot of its Italian soup."

Mr. Hayward stated that he intends to take steps to prevent as much as possible this kind of law violation.

Deer Fights Off Savage Dogs

With its sides dripping blood from cruel gashes, but never flinching, a big buck fought a desperate battle with two savage dogs near the residence of John E. Long, a farmer living twelve miles from Menominee. And the deer emerged victorious. Had not Mr. Long after vainly attempting to call of the dogs, summoned their owner, it is more than probable that the fight would have

If the Western lines break the regular rate agreement they have maintained for so long, it is only natural that they will be asked to make concessions by other interests. In the light of the recent rate announcement by the North-western, which will undoubtedly be followed by other lines. it will be difficult for the roads to very well refuse.

Stopped the Marriage

"Stop that marriage. The parties are first cousins?" This dramatic message was flashed over the telephone at Menominee by County Clerk Hansen to Rev. D. E. Long, just as the latter was about to marry two young people from Wallace township. Needless to say, the marriage came to an abrupt close, despite the entreaties of the would-be bride and groom. The couple had called at County Clerk Hansen's office and asked for a license. Mr. Hansen, being acquainted with both the young man and young woman asked if they were not related. The replied that they were second cousins. The license was then issued. Shortly afterwards Mr. Hansen received opposite information and upon communicating with relatives, learned that the couple were first cousins. He immediately telephoned Rev. Long and stopped the wedding. When the parties learned of the clerk's'action they confessed the truth.

Good Roads Advocated

The construction of roads on a scientific basis, the plans to that end calling for an initial expenditure of $100,000 is the proposition now receiving serious consideration in Iron county. A bond issue for the sum stated is contemplated. A mass meeting in the connection has been called for April 16 at Crystal Falls and it is expected that at that time the county board will be memorialized to take appropriate action in the matter. Sentiment appears much in favor of the bonding proposition. State Highway Commissioner Horatio S. Earle will be present to address the meeting in advocacy of the good roads movement.

"This is hardly the time for specific declarations, but I will take an early opportunity, without attempting to dictate a platform for the republican party, to express my views regarding the important problems that should claim our attention and solution. I desire at this time, however, to state my position broadly and unmistakably in regard to primary elections. I favor a state-wide primary law that will be obligatory upon all parties, for the nomination of all officers from governor to coroner, a primary law that will cover the entire state, every party and all officers. It occurs to me that it is high time that the telegraph and telephone companies be placed under the ad valorem system of taxation, and I will continue the fight that the attorney general has been waging along this line. I have taken a great deal of pride in the conduct of the office of C. A. Dr. Bradley is too well known in this section of the state to need any extended mention at this time. Practically all his life has been spent in two adjoining counties. In Shiswassee county he knew all the hardships which fall to the lot of a poor boy whose father lost his life in the union cause, and he dug ditches, worked on a farm and blacked stoves in a hardware store in shipped to Felch on Tuesday where the getting his boyhood livelihood. Later he moved to Eaton county and from there went to the university for his medical education paying his own way and gaining a knowledge of hard knocks and the value of good friends, which has since made him a warm hearted friend to many in adversity and gives him an appreciation of why the people of the state object to extravagance or nseless expenditure of public money. His management of the office of audi-tor general has made him many friends among those who have ascertained the thorough, painstaking manner in which he has required the affairs of that office to be conducted. He believe the people of the state want i bus ness like administration of state affairs and that in one reason he has eutered the race.

The fire started at 10:40 a. m. and was not under control until nine o'clock in the evening, notwithstanding that half of the Boston fire department's strength and steamers from a dozen other cities and towns went to the aid of the Chelsea brigade. The loss was estimated at fully $10,000,000. About 1,500 families are homeless.

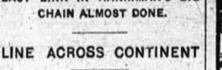

Flames Spread by Gale.

The fire originated in the rear of the Boston Blacking company's works on West Third street, near the Eastern division of the Boston & Maine railroad and in close proximity to the Everett City line. A terrific gale from the northwest carried burning shingles, embers and myriads of sparks to a score of wooden buildings, most of them of cheap wooden construction. unanimously agreed to at the annual The fire started almost in the extreme southwest section of the city and cut a path to the end of Maverick street at the extreme southeastern end of and other traffic of the Mississippi the city, which borders on Chelsea creek. Opening of Illinois Central's New Birmingham Division April 19 Completes Route from Atlantic to Pacific.

Birmingham, Ala. - The official announdement by the Illinois Central that the new Birmingham 'division will be opened for traffic April 19 calls attention to the completion of the link in the great Harriman transcontinental route, for by controlling the Union Pacific, Illinois Central and Central of Georgia, this system will extend from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

In addition to supplying the last link in this chain, the opening of the Haleyville branch will give the Illinois Central an inlet to the great coal and iron fields of Alabama with their immense annual tonnage.

The Central of Georgia terminals here connect with those of the Illinoic Central, thus giving a direct connection from all Illinois Central points with the sea at Savannah over the Central of Georgia. Connection of the Illinois Central with the Union Pacific thus gives a complete system from one ocean to the other. The connection is expected to benefit the southeastern states and to increase Savannah's importance as a seaport. for in addition to making it the terminal for much of Alabama's coal and fron, it will receive much of the grain valley

The Mobile & Ohio will open its new Birmingham branch on April 20 and present plans contemplate having the first trains over both lines reach Birmingham the same day. To this end the commercial organizations of Birmingham have planned an elaborate reception.

The entrance of the Illinois Central has been accomplished by certain traffic arrangements and by the building of an entire new line from Corinth, Miss., to Haleyville, Ala., a distance of $0 milos.

CONGRESS MAY QUIT MAY 9.

Representative Watson of Indiana Predicts Early Adjournment.

Washington .- That the present session of congress will adjourn on or about Saturday, May 9, was the prediction Sunday night of Representative James E. Watson of Indiana; Republican "whip" of the house. Mr. Waton bases this prediction upon informa tion he has gathered as the result of a careful survey of the situation in the two houses of congress. During the past few days Mr. Watson has conferred with the leaders at both ends of the capitol in regard to adjournment, and all of them are anxlous for an early date. He thinks there is ample time between now and May 9 for the completion of the legislative program.

Many people persist in riding on the street cars, insufficiently protected by clothing. They start out perhaps in the heat of the day and do not feel the need of wraps. The rapid moving of the car cools the body unduly. When they board the car perhaps they are slightly perspiring. When the body is in this condition it is easily chilled. This is especially true when a person is sitting. Beginning a street car ride in the middle of the day and ending it in the evening almost invariably requires extra wraps, but people do not observe these precautions, hence they catch cold. precautions, hence they catch cold. Colds are very frequent in the Spring on this account, and as the Summer advances, they do not decrease. During the Spring months, no one should think of riding on the car without being provided with a wrap. A cold caught in the Spring is liable to last through the entire Summer. Great caution should be observed at this season against exposure to cold. During the first few pleasant days of Spring, the liability of catching cold is great. No wonder so many people acquire muscular rheumatism and catarrhal dis-eases during this season. eases during this season

Colored Congregation's Peril.

The first evidence of the fire on the east side of Everett avenue was when the roof of the People's A. M. E. church on Fourth street was seen to be ablaze. The services were in progress inside at the time and the congregation was unaware that a serious fire was raging. Some one notified the pastor, Rev. Charles P. Watson. He immediately turned to his people, told them of the danger and advised them to file slowly from the building. Twenty minutes later there was not a veslige of the edifice left.

Heaps of burning embers and a suffocating cloud of dust hurled down across Everett avenue by the gale, coupled with the intense heat, drove the firemen from their posts, and those families nearest the start of the condagration had only time to rush from their homes and save their lives, losng all their possessions.

Forgings Are Brought from Various Steel Works and Assembled-Exact Designs and Measurements for Weapons.

All the big guns for the navy are now made at the Washington navy yard. The forgings come from Bethlehem, Midvale (near Philadelphia) and the Carnegie steel works at Pittsburg, being supplied under contract, and manufactured under the supervision of naval officers, who are assigned to each furnace and whose duty it is to see that the steel is pure and perfect and that it corresponds to the specifications. The government spends about $3,000,000 a year for materials of this kind, and there are about $2,000,000 worth of guns partially finished at the navy yard in Washington all the time. The forgings come in the rough, but have been hammered into the shapes and sizes desired, according to drawings furnished by the ordnance bureau of the navy department.

Every 12 and 13-inch gun is composed of nine separate pieces. Each piece is so exact in its measurements that they will fit together like the works of a watch. Each gun is manufactured after a design and measurements that are sketched upon a blue print, such as an architect furnishes to the builder of a house. Battleships are constructed the same may. Every plate of steel, every rivet, every bit of machinery, every wire and steam pipe, every electric light on a man-of-war has its picture made before it comes into existence and is shaped exactly on the lines and the size indicated by the measurements that are marked upon the blue print. The forgings for a 13-inch gun-the largest that is now made, which will throw 2,400 pounds of steel 12 or 13 miles and hit a target five or six miles distant with as much accuracy as a revolver in a shooting galleryvary in weight from 25 pounds to 25 tons, and are brought by rail, over the Pennsylvania tracks into the gun factory, where they are picked up and carried to the places assigned them by traveling cranes that don't make half

Anna Defies Family; To Wed De Sagan

EW YORK .- Mme. Gould has not only broken with her family because of their opposition to her acceptance of Prince de Sagan's suit, but she de fies it to penalize her under the terms of her father's will by cutting off half of her inheritance if she marry the titled cousin of her former husband.

In all-probability the prince and the former Countess de Castellane will be married in France in May or June. It developed that Mme. Gould has had the upper hand all along in the war in her family. At the time she divorced Boni de Castellane she submitted her father's will to her own attorney, Edmund Kelly, and other eminent counsel, and asked them if the provision would apply in the event of her marrying a second time. Mme. Gould was advised that while the will undoubtedly applied when she married Count Boni it would have no force or effect in a second or subsequent union. and, further, that the courts would never sustain it.

Armed with this legal advice, which she kept to herself, Mme. Gould came to this country to try to make an amicable arrangement with her brother George and her sister Helen concerning the prince. But neither George nor Helen nor the executors of Jay from Miss Helen Gould's home to the Gould's will, Edwin and Howard Gould, Hotel St. Regis, connecting the names of his sister and De Sagan. He declared that the executors would never consent to her marrying De Sagan. The intimation was given that the forfeiture clause would be enforced, although at the moment, it is said, he knew that former Judge Dillon, chief counsel of the Gould estate, was in extreme doubt.

It had been planned that the prince should come to New York incognito and remain in concealment until Mme. Gould had placated George and Helen. His presence was discovered the day he arrived, and he fied to Philadelphia, where he remained in hiding for 36 hours, waiting for the word to make his bow. Then he came here from Philadelphia, knowing that Mme. Gould had failed to win her brother and sister and that he might as well come out in the open.

George Gould would not hear of meeting De Sagan. Then Anna declared that she would do as she pleased, and if the executors attempted to meddle with her inheritance or her sons' they would have to fight every step they took in the courts.

Naturally, when Mme. Gould played this card, which she had concealed so successfully, the occasion was not pleasant, and the upshot was that Mme@Gould moved bag and baggage

The biggest contest in the state was the triangular affair at Grand Rapids, where George E. Ellis, the present mayor, was opposed by Charles R. Sligh, Democrat, and Sybrant Wesselius, who ran independently. In this fight, more than in any other in Michigan, party lines were observed. The returns showed Ellis well in the lead, with Slight second and Wesselius trailing far behind. A hard fight was waged at Kalamazoo, where Flank H. Milham, Democrat, was elected over Charles Clarage. Milham was given a majority of $36, overcoming the normal Republican majority of 700.

Benzle and Manistee counties did not vote on local option, but Grand Traverse and Wexford counties did, the latter going "dry" and Grand Traverse "wet." Willis Sanford, a Wexford village saloon keeper, will have to move his place of business only a few rods to leave the county of Wexford and locate in Grand Traverse. And if Grand Traverse county had also gone 'Mryy" Sanford could have moved into either Manistee or Benzie counties without leaving the village. There is only one other saloon in the village, and its proprietor, Albert Kulpp, has no need of moving, as his property is safely located in the Grand Traverse county portion of the village.

Anti-Saloonists in New Fight.

Following its victory in ten out of the 14 counties where local option fights were carried on, the Anti-Saloon league has begun a campaign which is expected to result in township prohibition in the countles which voted for a majority of the enrolled vote in the license. The plan is based on the amendment the league secured to the Bunting bill in the last legislature. Under this amendment, the security bonds offered by saloon men desiring licenses may be rejected by the municipality and must be so rejected if a majority of the voters present a petition to that effect. The anti-saloon that the proposition to return to the people will contend that the act covers personal as well as surety bonds, and declare they will test the point in cense. The young man went sadly rammers, canvas covers, rope for the long and about one-inch bore, to the big 13-Inch thunderer, which is 45 feet long and made of metal that is four inches thick at the muzzle and 17 inches-thick at the breech. The sixpounder is six feet long and has a bore of 2.24 inches. The 13-inch gun at the navy-yard except powder and projectiles. The powder is made at Indian Head and the projectiles at Glesboro, on the Potomac, four miles south of Washington. A factory was recently erected there by the Fort Sterling Company, a private corporation, which has a contract for furnishing $2,000,000 worth of projectiles for the navy.

Lists Are Perfectly Kept.

The entire list of all the several thouands of guests bidden to the White House state receptions are printed the morning after each affair, in both matutinal dailies of Washington, in alphabetical order, with punctilious exactitude, initials and speiling without a flaw. They are martinets in such matters at the White House. The lists, arranged somewhat in a book form, are supplied the press from the executive offices before the ball begins. Thus the overlooked may not with impunity have recourse to the ancient strategem: "We had cards to the White House this week. of course, but we didn't go. Those crushes are such bores, don't you know." (Are "their names written there?" No? Then of course!

Machine to Remove Snow.

A new piece of highway appliance was put in use in Washington during the winter for the clearing of snow from the gutters. The apparatus is a two-wheeled vehicle drawn by two horses, and having a steel blade about 18 inches in width projecting beyond the wheel into the gutter at an angle with the curb, which blade is controlled by a lever operated by the driver from his seat. It was found that a plow can clean the snow from approximately three miles of gutters per hour. A laborer using a shovel will not clean much more than half as many miles of gutters in eight hours as a gutter plow will in one hour.

New Yorkers Have Private Theaters

N New York several persons in so clety have theaters in their own homes or in buildings which adjoin. The performances which are occasionally given in them are seldom noted in the newspapers.

They are as distinctly private as would be a musical recital given by the hostess herself. And this despite the fact that professionals are frequently engaged to furnish the entertainment.

One of the most elaborate of these ing was a stable before it was de- cony.

CIGNS are multiplying that Mrs. John Jacob Astor will succeed her venerable mother-in-law as the recognized leader of society, and it is certain that under her reign the social world will become more and more democratic without losing any of the dignity it may possess. The present season, now almost at an end, has seen Mrs. Astor grow in power, and by reason of her example there has been a striking change in the attitude fairs that the hostess herself should of the average society woman toward about to erect a theater building with the public favorites of the regular stage.

Only a year ago stage folk were admitted to Fifth avenue drawingrooms simply as entertainers. They were made to feel they came mere- as a next move to open its doors ly as employes. It was insisted that to the giddy queens of the vaudeville they should arrive only in time for stage.

cided to turn it into a theater. The interior was torn out and the ceilings and walls were redecorated after the manner of a regular playhouse. A stage large enough for all practical purposes was installed and equipped with a large number of sets of scenery painted by the well-known scenicartists.

When performances are given in the Hewitt theater the performers have the use of dressing rooms connected with the stage. These rooms are simi-" lar to those provided at regular theaters, except that special care has been taken to exclude all draughts.

There are no regular theater seats in the Hewitt theater, but instead exquisite chairs of Louis XV. pattern, done in white and gold, furnish the room. In the center of the auditorium is a fountain of white marble, in which private playhouses is that belonging the water gently trickles over a mass to Mrs. Abram S. Hewitt. The build- of lilles. > their specialties, or "turns," and they were dismissed in quick order after their individual effort to please the hostess and her guests, but now young Mrs. Astor has changed all that.

> It is the fashionable thing at present to have these players at entertainments mingle with the guests, and still more in the last few weeks many of the young women most prominent in society have lent their presence to receptions held by several popular women "stars." As a natural outcome of the mixing of stage and society, too, we have had one young. "star" of opera entertaining Mrs. Astor, Mrs. Clarence Mackay and a score of othersociety leaders, in addition to the duchess of Sutherland. And it was in keeping with the new order of afgo upon a tiny stage, built for the occasion, and sing for her guests and then dance the tarantula for them. It seems that New York society is fast becoming altogether human, and it may not be unreasonable to look for it rock for the greater part of the district consists of a fine grained silicious granite and in many places is overlain by flows of Andesite, Rhyolite, and Diorite. Quartz-Porphyry dykes occur in connection with some of the properties of the district At the Blue Bird the country rock consists of a flow of diorite. The vein system consists of two veins, both of which dip 74° south and strike north 20° east. These veins are parallel and are distant from each other some 80 feet, being separated by a quartz-porphyry dyke, also parallel with these veins, which latter are called respectively the North and South veins.

DEVELOPMENT. The principal developement work has been done on the south vein, while very little has been done on the north vein. The present developement consists of a winze 45 feet deep sunk at a point 1200 feet from the entrance of the tunnel. From the bottom of this winze a drift has been run westward a distance of 80 feet, at which point a body of sulphide ore was struck and which was followed 100 feet westward. This ore body shows up in the main tunnel above and is there some 15 feet in length, whereas it is 100 feet long 45 feet below, indicating that, m all probability, the ore chute will increase im length very rapidly with depth. The ore is perfectly uniform between the two walls and widens consistently with depth, as has been demonstrated by the winze workings. In the lowest workings the ore body averages $4\frac{1}{2}$ feet in width, while in the tunnel above it is $2\frac{1}{2}$ feet wide. From the winze there has been taken some 567 tons of ore giving a net smelter return of \$9,176.57, showing a net value of \$16.57 and a gross value of \$26.94 per ton. The ore contains 15% iron and is self-fluxing. There is now blocked out between the winze drift and the tunnel level as much ore as has already been taken out and of the same value.

Suitable machinery has been ordered for this point and the property should be made to pay its own way and earn a handsome profit even during the present depression in the price of copper. The averge metal contents of the ore is as follows: silver 18.9 oz., gold \$2.58, copper $4\frac{19}{2}$

The present plan of operation is to sink a new winze to about 200 feet below the tunnel, which will give a depth of 500 feet below the surface. A station has been cut and the winze sank 60 feet, everything now being in readiness for machinery to go on with the work. In the opinion of our mining engineer, James A: MacKillican, this ore body will increase in width and in length as depth is gained and, eventually prove to be the largest ore body in the district.

At a point some 300 feet beyond where the new winze is being sunk the vein, as opened by the tunnel and cross cuts, is shown to be about 40 feet wide and is practically barren of values. The drift tunnel follows the vein some 400 feet and the vein matter has the appearance of being leached out. In all probability, these values, which have been here and are leached out, will be precipitated at some point below, as is the case with the Butte Mines.

With suitable machinery, the ore can be mined at a cost of $2 per ton and, including the cost of development, $4 per ton. The Smelter charge for freight and treatment has been $8.50 per ton and the cost of hauling $1.50 per ton. These figures are conservative and it is hoped to reduce them very materially when the machinery arrives and gets in good working order.

Figuring on a production of but 20 tons per day and counting the values in the ore at the present extremely low prices for copper and silver, we have as follows:--

Total cost of

18.9 oz. of silver at 56c	$10.58	The second
.129 oz. of gold at $20	- 2.58
41.% copper at 13c	10.14
	23.30	3.
of mining, treatment, hauling, etc.	14.00	1
Net profit	$ 9.30	1

Twenty tons per day at $9,30 would give us a net profit of $186.00 per day and with 350 working days each year this mine should earn $65,100 per year or 65.1% on the entire capital stock of the company. In the event of a big ore body being opened the output can be very greatly increased and should copper advance materially our profits would be correspondingly higher.

50 per cent silver value ($3.70)	$1.85

As stated previously, there are 38,000 tons of ore blocked out having a gross value in gold and silver of $8.50 per ton from which can be gained a net profit per ton of $4.42 and a total net profit on 38,000 tons of $167,069.00. From this amount must be deducted the cost of the cyanide plant and the cost of putting up the raise from the tunnel to the Discovery shaft, also the cost of putting the old workings in shape for mining.

There is an ideal site for a cyanide plant on the property and plenty of water available for all purposes. In so far as the cyanide plant is concerned there is plenty of ore now blocked out to warrant the immediate erection of a plant having a capacity of 30 tons daily. With the amount of ore now in sight such a plant would be kept working to its full capacity for $3\frac{1}{2}$ years

THE OLD STOCKHOLDER AND THE NEW It was entirely due to the efforts and investigations of the late Louis Stegmiller that the present members of the company became interested in this property, Mr. Stegmiller having spent several years in examining properties in the Corbin district, and the Stegmiller Estate is still one of the principal stockholders. There never has been and there never will be any bonus stock issued to a "stockholder of this company. Each of the old stockholders paid into the treasury of the company $10.00, the full purchase price, for each and every share he now holds. Each officer and director of the company has acted in his respective capacity without salary and the money paid into the treasury has gone into the actual development and purchase of the property.

CAPITALIZATION. The extremely low capitalization of this company ($100,000.00 consisting of 10,000 shares par value $10.00) should appeal to the investor as should the fact that the stock contains not one drop of water. There have been issued to date a total of 5334 shares.

As the company has, heretofore, been a close corporation and it is still desirable to keep the stock in as few hands as possible, no subscription will be received or accepted for less than 50 shares.

There is a large body of oxidized ore opened up by this shaft to a depth of 120 feet. Three levels have been driven off from the shaft at the following depths from the collar 40, 60 and 120 feet. There is now blocked out from the Discovery shaft 38,000 tons of ore having an average gross

When Billy came in from the corral he had evolved the "great idea." And it was all for the happiness of one "Monty" Levering, once known as A. Montague Levering, but who had recently taken up the glorious occupation of a cow puncher, and whobut that is getting ahead of the story.

The girl lived in Boston, and her father was a judge and rich, which is truly an unusual condition for most judges. She was young, petite, and her cheeks were as red as the autumn apple. When she smiled her teeth were as pearls, and when she laughed the spring-time brook was shamed in comparison. At least this was the description that rested snugly in the sentimental part of "Monty's" mind; the picture that caused him to hesitate many times before he engaged in the usual "puncher" pastimes.

"Monty" was at Harvard when he met her, and he had called at her home several times. But when his father took the receiver's route the judge decided that any such thing as an affair between the young people must end. And so "Monty," in the depth of his despair, went to the west. "It will never be anyone buffou Monty, dear," she told him. "No matter how long it may be, or how far away you are, I will come to you if you need me."

"But I need you now," protested "Monty." "I used you every min ute; I will need you forever."

"Yes, dear," she replied, "but we must walt awhile and we will surely find a way."

So "Monty" rode the whole day long among the cattle, repairing count less miles of fence, listening to the walls of the homeless kyote, and thinking, thinking, thinking. As the days rolled by a look of despai. settled in his blue eyes, and the boys at the ranch held innumerable counells of war to determine ways ' and means of rendering assistance. They knew his story. . It was told by a let ter which one of the men had accidentally opened. And there is nothing like the mute sympathy of the ouncher. It is equal to any emergency; it is from the heart of nature. So when Billy McDermott conceived the idea there was an immediate conference of the clans.

But when the last coach was reached every nook and cranny of the train had been carefully searched, and the passengers were beginning to think that a regulation hold-up was in progress. "Fools, fools, fools," shricked the frantic Monty, when the mysterious proceedings were explained to him. "Don't you know that Easter happened last Sunday? My poor Helen, what must she have thought? What shall I do?" And he buried his face in his hands

"It's all that almanac of yours," sighed Billy, looking daggers at the miserable Shorty. "Ain't you got any better sense than to not know that Easter doesn't come on the same day every year?"

While every one was blaming every one else and while the wild-eyed Monty paced up and down the platform, a special delivery letter was handed to Mr. McDermott. It was from Miss Oldham, and it read:

"I am in San Francisco at my aunt's, and I have forever lost faith in mankind. I thought you were honest and good and I find that you play a misorable joke on an innocent girl. I had determined to go back home and never mention this again. But I am writing to ask you li you have any explanation to make. I have thought that there might have been some accident. If the whole thing was a joke, you need not answer this letter." With a wild yell, Monty sprang to the telegraph office and the following message to Miss Helen Oldham was hurrledly dispatched:

"Am coming to you on the next train.""MONTY." And after hours of waiting Monty boarded the express, which seemed to run at a snall's pace, and eight good men and true rode slowly out of the town.

"I want all you boys to hear me," solemnly declared the mournful Billy, as the gang assembled after supper, "and be it known by these presents that if I ever again attempt to fix up an Easter romance, I hope I'm shot a gardener. There's quite a plot of for a rustler."

Exactly one week after the above mentioned occurrences Mr. Billy Mc-Dermott again was the recipient of a special delivery letter which the "old | Catholic Standard and Times. man" brought out from town. It was from Monty.

"Good boys," it read, "you have all the cupids that ever existed beaten to a stop. Miss Helen Oldham is now Mrs. Monty Levering, thank you, and we are starting for Boston to-morrow. Judge Oldham has wired his forgiveness, and I'm afraid I will never again punch cows. Mrs. Levering and I expect to pay you all a visit, however, some time in the future. But until then good by. Regards to everybody.' "Well, I'll be darned," was the only expression that Mr. Bill McDermott could give to his feelings,

And every Easter there is a big box of carnations and many, many edibles sent out all the way from Boston to

But, as I was sayin' fore this maverick interrupted me, the only thing to do is to get a fine romance. Now, what I wants to know is, when is Easter coming? Does any of you gang know?"

Nobody knew, but Shorty finally solved the problem by declaring that there was an old almanac hidden some place about his belongings.

After a frantic search that work of literature was discovered securely hidden beneath two pairs of boots and a Mexican saddle.

"The almanac was perused carefully and concisely. And the Easter date was found.

"That figures out just right," declared the plotting Billy. "My scheme is this. Every woman likes to be married on Easter. There's somethin' about it that appeals to the feminine nature. So the thing we'll do is to

Money spent for "tonics" and "bracers" to relieve indigestion, while the poor old stomach is loaded with pastry and pork, is worse than losing a pocketbook containing the money.

If the money only is lost it's bad enough, but with lost health from wrong eating, it is hard to make the money back.

A Mich. young lady lost money on drugs but is thankful she found a way to get back her health by proper food. She writes:

"I had been a victim of nervous dyspepsia for six years and spent three hundred dollars for treatment in the attempt to get well. None of it did me any good.

"Finally I tried Grape-Nuts food, and the results were such that, if it cost a dollar a package, I would not be without it. My trouble had been caused by eating rich food such as pastry and pork.

"The most wonderful thing that ever happened to me, I am sure, was the change in my condition after I began to eat Grape-Nuts. I began to improve at once and the first week gained four pounds.

The Funny Things One Sees Smiling Round the World Bv MARSHALL P. WILDER

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles,

One evening while going through a street in a Japanese town, Yokohama, I heard a clanking sound at regular intervals, and found it was made by a man who as he walked along was striking a sort of sword on the ground. At the concussion two plates of bronze or brass were driven together, making a metallic clang. I was told that he was a watchman; paid by contributions of a few sen a month from the households along the way. As he goes about, clanging his sword, it is a comfortable assurance to these people that all is well.

This watchman is for fire chiefly, as the houses of the Japanese town are mostly all of wood, and a fire once started means widespread destruction before it can be got .under control.

On a little cart are also carried two folding screens of asbestos, about five feet high, with which the men protect themselves when facing the fire. To-anyone familiar with the American fire departments the whole outfit seems like a toy.

The police department will much better bear comparison with those of other countries than the fire department.

I was told that about 125 police belong to each station house. Their names are written on little blocks of wood, in red on one side, and black on the other. The men are on duty in the station house for two hours, and outside for two hours, and the little blocks are turned as they come in or go out, the red or black showing the superintendent at a glance just where the men are.

We were shown the cells, which were about ten feet square, fairly light, very airy, and immaculately clean. There were but five prisoners at the station house, all detained for petty offenses-rickshaw men overcharging, and similar arraignments. Their names were on little wooden tags hung outside the door. These were turned inside, however, and upon

In addition to the male wrestlers of Japan there is one band-and one only-of women wrestlers-Amazons of enormous strength, who travel about giving exhibitions. Their physical beauty and development are wonderful, and they create the greatest enthusiasm and admiration wherever they appear.

Every man on the Japanese police force is required to become proficient in the jlu-jitzu. Every day there is practice, with the best teachers, from eight a. m. until noon. About 20 at a time take part in this practice, wrestling with the masters or each other, so that each man's turn in the school comes about once a week. Fencing is also a part of their education, not for practical use, but merely to make them quick and supple. They practice with long bamboo swords, wearing wadded hoods and gloves.

After the regular modern flu-jutzu, two young men gave an exhibition for my edification of the ancient form of the art. It was not so easy nor so finished as the modern method, and was performed with such ardor that arms and elbows were cut rather hadly on the' sharp edges of the mats. The principal feature of their entertainment was the fiendish shouts with which they inaugurated each clutch.

MACHINE-GROUND PAINT.

Occasionally one hears the "handmixed" paint of the painter slightingly spoken of as "unscientific" and "not thoroughly mixed." The facts are all on the side of the painter and his handprepared paint.

It is the most "scientific" paint there is, because it is made on the spot to suit the particular purpose for which it is to be used. It is as scientific as a good doctor's prescription. If the painter did not mix it thus it would be as unscientific as a patent medicine. Moreover, the paint which a good painter turns out is made of genuine white lead and pure linseed oil. If he does not mix it himself he is not sure what is in it, and consequently his client cannot be sure.

NEW ARRIVALS IN CANADA NEARLY 300,000 IN 1907.

ABOUT SIXTY THOUSAND FROM THE UNITED STATES.

Now that it is known that in the year just closed nearly sixty thousand from the United States declared their intention of making their homes in Canada, it might not be out of place to search for some reasons that would bring this about. These people are but following the example of the fifty-five or sixty thousand who did the same thing the year previous, and an almost equal number who the year before that but followed the example of the thousands of the year preceding. An excellent climate, certain and positive crops of grain of all kinds, good markets for their produce, land -and good land, too- at low prices, easy terms of payment, (not forgetting the 160 acres of land given free by the Government, particulars of which the Canadian Government Agent whose name appears elsewhere will tell you about) and then the splendid social conditions. The situation is pretty well sized up by a writer in one of the magazines. Quoting from this article, we find this: "Those of us who made good in the States," interjected another settler as if to continue the story of his neighbor, "have had it easy from the start; a little money is a mighty good thing on coming into a new country. But those who make an entry, or even buy lands at low rates, are able to square things in two or three seasons' crops. There are hardships in building shantles, and then with increasing prosperity getting things into shape for better homes. But affairs go much as in the States. We have the largest liberty in the world; there is more home rule in the Provinces than in the several states of the Republic. Taxes are light and with only a few million people west of Winnipeg we don't get in each other's way. One's friends over the line probably thought we would not live through the winter; and while it is cold, real cold, it is free from the moisture experienced in the east. Schools are good as encouraged by the Government; the enterprising American promoter and Yankee drummer see to it that we take notice of the latest improvements and best agricultural machinery. Altogether we are as near to affairs as we would be on our own farms in the States. Winnlpeg bears the same relation to us as Chlcago did at home; and Edmonton with the surrounding region advances as Omaha did in the days when we were as young as the boys yonder.

We get together much as they did in the granges over the border; the government has established experimental schools of agriculture, and progress in every line is stimulated. This is a great region for grazing," we hear the Edgar M. Kitchin, Gerry sprang onto the mats in the middle of the room. First they bowed, by squatting down, leaning their left hand on the floor, and bowing their heads. Then standing erect, first one, and then the other gave vent to one of the blood-curdling cries I had heard. This is the challenge, intended to intimidate the antagonist. Suddenly they clutched each other and straining and struggling each strove to dislodge the other's feet from the floor.

All at once one of the men made a quick move, which it would be impos-sible for me to explain, and his antagonist was hurled backwards over his terrific thud.

. . . . At the Sugamo prison in Tokio I found many features that to an American were unusual.

The corridors of cells were arranged like the spokes of a wheel, one warden sitting on a platform that was the hub. Labor is saved in this way, for one man can watch five corridors of 28 cells each, making in all 140. There are two of these wheels built in the inner court of the prison, so that 280 cells are watched by two men, who sit on revolving stools and, by turning, can take in at a glance the five cor- man. ridors intrusted to their vigilance.

A head warden sits between the two wheels and maintains a general supervision, so that practically the entire number of prisoners are watched by but three men.

There is another inclosure where there are cells for punishment. The most severe form is the dark cell, where prisoners are punished for insubordination. They cannot be confined in this cell for more than 11 days at a time.

The cell for the next less severe punishment has a little light; so, in gradation, there are several cells for varying degrees of punishment.

The prisoners all work in different shops at basket-weaving, making mats, fron utensils and all sorts of things for which there is a ready market. They work from 6:30 a. m. until 11, when they have their midday meal. This is principally rice, and quickly eaten. Until 12 they rest (sitting comfortably on straw mats).

Advantage is taken of this time for one of the four resident chaplains to give the prisoners a talk. The day I visited the prison it was during this midday rest, and the men in two large work-rooms were sitting quietly listening to a Buddhist priest. Standing before a small altar, that looked like a reading desk, he was placed in a passageway between the two rooms, thus enabling the men in both rooms to hear him. He was talking earnestly, probably pointing out the error of their ways and exhorting them to lead better lives in the future.

Every man is credited with a certain amount of wages for the work he does, and the money given to him when he is discharged, so that he does not leave the prison penniless.

Every method seemed most humane and the prisoners treated with kindness in every way. The same consideration in regard to revealing their identity is practiced here, as in the police stations. Outside of each man's cell is a wooden sign with his name, age, crime and the length of his sentence printed on it. But a little extra tag comes down and hides his name. After my inspection I came away with the idea that to be sent to prison shoulder, landing on the mats with a in Japan was not the worst thing by any means that could befall a man.
