LITTLE GIRL DIES IN FLAMES

Home Consumed While Mother Was Picking Berries

OCCURRED ON SUNDAY

Six-Year-Old Daughter Of Mrs. Delia Bedore Is The Victim Of The Sad Fatality

An accident full of pathos, was the heart-rending calamity that befell the household of Mrs. Delia Bedore, 610 Murray avenue on Sunday morning canaba citizens who are living under last. As a result of what appears to have been a piece of gross carelessness and negligence, Marcella, a bright little daughter of six years of age, lost her life in the firey elements which consumed most of the ten room home, together with a large share of the contents. The residence was owned by Mrs. Bedore, a widow, whose husband passed away about two years ago, ly in the form of a strong petition. leaving her with nine children to eke out an existence.

The sad fatality occurred while the widowed mother and one of her children were out picking berries in the vicinity of Danford hill, about four miles from the city. The berry patch was reached by the mother and child about 5:30 o'clock Sunday morning. In less than two hours time, through a neighbor who drove to the section in which the unfortunate mother was engaged in her task, Mrs. Bedore was informed that she was wanted at home. It was with reluctance that she left the berry patch and it was not until her arrival home that she was acquainted with the

According to the story of the mother, she left her little daughter home sleeping, confident that the child would be safe in the care of two of the oldest sons, the eldest of which is twenty-three years of age. It seems that James, the eldest son, was engaged in cutting the hair of his ten year old brother, Michael, the boy being in a kitchen to uence proper. About 7:15 o'clock they which the child had been left sleeping, but found the fury of the flames too great and the smoke too stifling to permit of such a course. Two of the boys then procured a ladder in an effort to gain entrance to the second story bedroom. In this attempt they were also unsuccessful and were finally driven back and into the horror of a realization that their little sister was doomed to death.

In breathless anticipation, the children and neighbors awaited the arrival of the fire department, their arrival being several minutes later. The fire had gained such headway that their first efforts were turned to subduing the flames. In the space of a very few moments the firemen were enabled to gain the room in which the little victim had met her tragic and untimely death. The little girl was found lying in bed with one hand resting on the top of her head and the other on her right cheek. The feet, limbs and body were found badly burned, while the face was quite natural and the hair not burned in the least. Those who viewed the sight say it was a pitiful one andbrought tears to the eyes of the tender hearted.

Mrs. Bedore is still left with eight children, the surviving ones being James, George, Ernest, William, Henry, Della, Michael and Searl. Two of the boys at the time of the accident were at work on a farm with a having crew, having been summoned home im-

The origin of the fire is a mystery and is yet unsolved. It is declared by members of the family that there was no fire in the rooms on the second floor and no matches the child could have got hold of. The lower floor was occupied by Joe Badger and family, who lost a part of their household goods. Mrs. Bedore states that she carried insurance on her house to the amount of $500, but none on her household effects.

A jury was impanneled by Coroner L. O. Kristine, consisting of the following: Frank Bordeau, Henry McFall, A. B. Chambers, George Blanchard, F. S. Edwards and Charles Gay. The members of the jury viewed the scene of Sunday morning's fire and the following morning at 10:00 o'clock met in the office of the coroner to decide upon a

BETTER PROTECTION ASKED

Experience of Sunday Has Awakened North Escanaba

As a resuit of the fire at 610 Murray street last Sunday morning and the sad fatality that befell little Marcella Bedore, the citizens of North Escanaba have launched an urgent demand for better protection in that section of the city. The residents out there feel that they are fully justified in making such a demand, arguing justly that I they are paying their proportion of taxes. They are not only handicapped by the long distance from the 'two fire companies but the read-appearance travel in but the roads necessary to travel, in some sections, are almost impassable. Then another strong point in favor of the protection clamored for is the danger of delays to the department in crossing the tracks of the North-Western railway by reason of freight and ore trains blocking the crossing on Stephenson avenue.

Not only do the residents of North Escanaba express the belief that more adequate protection is needed, but the belief has been expressed by many Esmore fortunate conditions, and not in a constant dread that if their homes catch fire they are certainly goners. The experience of last Sunday morning was ample evidence of the necessity of immediate action to relieve the minds of those of the citizens of the city who are practically isolated as far as fire protection is concerned. In all probability this matter will be called to the attention of the city council immediate-

Suggestions were offered as to plans both for the county, state and national campaigns and from the enthusiasm shown at the initial gathering in Escanaba, it is proposed to put up a red-hot campaign, offering a list of candidates from top to bottom of men representative in the fullest sense of the term of the principles espoused in the cause of labor.

A committee was named at the recent gathering consisting of one member from each of the local councils The purpose of the committee is to outline plans of action. A meeting of the committee was held immediately after the mass meeting and another meeting will, be held soon to decide upon a time and place for the next mass meeting. It is also the intention to secure the services of notable labor speakers for Escanaba and vicinity during the approaching campaign.

BAND GIVES CONCERT

First Open Air Treat Of The Season At City Park

Several hundred people took occasion to visit the City Park last Tuesday evening, the principal attraction being the open air concert given by the Escanaba city band, the first concert treat of the season. The band shows a decided improvement over last season and their prograem was listened to very attentively and was well received by the music lovers present, who gave the necessary evidence of appreciation. It will be a source of pleasure to know that the Tuesday evening concerts are to be continued throughout the balance of the warm season and they will no doubt attract larger crowds to the bay shore to not only enjoy the musical program, but to enjoy the cool breezes from the waters. On Thursday evening the members of the band gave an excursion on the bay, the same being enjoyed by a larger crowd, the band providing a good concert program throughout the trip.

Told Interesting Tales and Displayed Many Curios

Interesting tales of soldier life in the Philippines were told at the St. Clair Hotel Thursday morning till about 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon by George W. Owen of Milwaukee, who has just re-turned to the states after a continuous service in the regular army for nine years, eight of which have been spent among the Filipinos. Many groups were entertained in listening to the stories as related by Mr. Owens and gazing upon the many curios which he has brought back with him from the far away isles. The gentleman received his honorable discharge from the service of his Haeldischarge from the service of his Uncle Samuel on May 1st, since which time he has been on his way home, stopping at many important points enroute.

Owen arrived here over the Soo road and was on his way to Little Lake, Marquette county, where he will visit a sister. The young man was discharged with the rank of corporal. From his conversation, it was readily seen, that he is a close observer and that he has taken advantage of the opportunity to learn and observe as much as possible for one forced to work up from the rank of a private. He held the close attention of the many gathered about him in relating his experiences and telling of the treachery of the Filipinos.

Among numerous curios exhibited by

Mr. Owens, was a plume holder, said to have been worn by General Lawton and claimed to have been picked up by Mr. Owens when the general fell in battle, the subordinate soldier stating that he was about thirty feet from his superior. The other curios consisted of pictures of army life and natives and their abodes. He also had in his possession relics from Japan, even to an opium pipe and the accessaries thereto. One of the relics highly prized by Mr. Owens is a necklace of shells found in the deep seas, the size being very small.

Evidently Mr. Owens is impressed with army life, for, despite the fact that he has experienced nine years of service, he stated that he thought he would re-enlist after having had an opportunity to visit for a few months among friends and relatives.

ONLY A FEW MORE DAYS

Then Concern will take hold of City Lighting-Also Negotiating with Adjacent Cities.

Things are moving along nicely with the Escanaba Electric Pulp and Power company, an industrial concern launched in this city a little over a year and every indication is that it will soon be one of the important factors in shaping the future of this city. A representative of the Iron Port is informed by Mr. P. L. Utley, manager of the concern, that the company will soon be ready to take hold of the city lighting. The change will be made in the course of a very few days-in fact just as soon as the city switch board is ready. As was done in the case of the Escanaba Street Railway company two mouths ago, the city will close down its steam plant, arranging with the Power company for furnishing the necessary current from their power plant at Flat Rock, the finishing touches upon which are now being made. The officers of the Escanaba Electric Pulp and Power company are as follows: President, O. L. Huie; vice-president, J. M. Malloy; secretary and treasurer, P. L. Utley. The last mentioned gentleman is also manager of the Escanaba Electric Street Railway company.

The possibilities of the newly orgsnized company are not limited to furnishing power to the city and the street Railway company but are practically unlimited. Negotiations have presence of a large number of relatives been under way for some time with the officials of Gladstone for furnishing power for lighting that city. ### Pure Water For Menominee Schools

Contracts are to be let this month in Menominee for five artesian wells which are to be sunk near 'school buildings of the city. Five wells have been dug the last three years and the very finest of water is made available for drinking purposes. The wells now to be bored will complete the chain and each of the ten school buildings of the city will then have an artesian well in close proximity to it. The completion of the wells is part of an elaborate system which will do away with the germ collecting drinking cups and supply all of the buildings with clean and absolutely pure water. The plan is to place a pneumatic water system in each building, which will be independent of the city water system and which will force artesian water to every portion of the schoolhouse. The buildings will be equipped with sanitary drinking fountains which will make the use of drinking cups unnecessary.

Truthful Engineer Tells of Wid Experiences That Disgusted Him with That Especial Kind of Humor in Engines.

"Bill," said the engineer, "was telling me about an engine out in the western part of the state the other day that did a queer thing.

"They were standing all quiet enough at a station. The engineer was out on the board and the fireman was down on the ground doing something. All at once, just how or why I don't know, and Bill couldn't figure it out himself, the engine broke away from the tender and started off all alone down the road. .

"The first thing she did was to knock the engineer down and cut both legs off . She kept on down the line eight or ten miles, running wild. At a crossroad she smashed into a train and that laid her out.

"I call that a pretty sad kind of a joke; but it shows what engines will do sometimes. Some engines are just about like folks in that respect. They are always looking out for a chance to fool somebody and play some kind of prank on 'em.

4 "The funniest engine I ever saw was one that I had myself out on the Western coast. It was the first one I ever took after I got my commission as engineer.

"That engine fairly laid awake nights hatching up ways to make it interesting for us boys. If we were stopping to get a drink and I was down oiling up she seemed to know that then was her chance. She'd just start right out and buckle in like mad to get away from us.

"You couldn't trust her to stand a She was just like some horses; she wouldn't stand a minute without hitching when she took a no-

"It was one dark night with a storm over the prairie. The rails were slippery and we hadn't been making our time very well. We left Waupack 40 minutes late.

"Well, just as we got fairly outside Waupack, where the K & M bends in toward our line, I felt the old thing give a mighty leap ahead. But as night express on the K. & M. I knew we were in for a race. Our engine was settling down for business.

"I shut off the steam. I tried to keep the air on so that she wouldn't get away from me, but she buckled in all the harder. I began to get a little scared myself.

"For the first mile or two it was about an even thing with us. We kept right along side by side. I could see that the men over on the K. & M. were doing their level best to keep up with us. The fire fairly flew out of their smokestack. And all the time were were not using a pound of steam. Still our drivers were just

"And we began to gain. She had it in her to win if you only let her out; I'll say that for her. She was the fastest engine I ever had anything to do with. You always had to hold her back.

"Just as we were pulling into San Tone the thing that made my hair white happened. We were then two or three train lengths ahead of the K. & M. For quite awhile I had been so busy trying to keep the upper hand of the engine that I hadn't had time to watch the blocks.

"All at once I looked up and there right opposite us was a signal set against us. That meant that we'd got to stop and wait for orders. I shoved the air down harder than ever, but the old thing never cared. On she pounced like a mad animal.

"I let sand on the rails and that made no difference. It looked as if we were bound for destruction.

"It went on that way for five minutes and I expected every minute something would happen. Then all at once she began to sag back. We could see the lights of San Tone a little way ahead and I knew we were just at the crossing of the K. & M. It would have cost me my job if we had run over that without stopping.

"But she pulled up just at the crossing, as calm as if she never had been on a tear in all her life. I could hardly stand up when I got down from my engine that night; I was so weak. It took every particle of the sand out of

"I told 'em down at the office that if they didn't give me another engine I would quit the road. And I would. I was too old a man to have such jobs as that put up on me!

LITTLE GIRL DIES IN FLAMES

flome Consumed While Mother Was Picking Berries

OCCURRED ON SUNDAY

An accident full of pathos, was the heart-rending calamity that befell the household of Mrs. Delia Bedore, 610 Murray avenue on Sunday morning last. As a result of what appears to have been a piece of gross carelessness and negligence, Marcella, a bright little daughter of six years of age, lost her was ample evidence of the necessity of life in the firey elements which consumed most of the ten room home, together with a large share of the contents. The residence was owned by Mrs. Bedore, a widow, whose husband attention of the city council immediatepassed away about two years ago, ly in the form of a strong petition. leaving her with nine children to eke out an existence.

The sad fatality occurred while the widowed mother and one of her children were out picking berries in the vicinity of Danford hill, about four miles from the city. The berry patch reached by the mother and child about 5:30 o'clock Sunday morning. In less than two hours time, through a neighbor who drove to the section in which the unfortunate mother was engaged in her task, Mrs. Bedore was informed that she was wanted at home. It was with reluctance that she left the berry patch and it was not until her arrival home that she was acquainted with the

According to the story of the mother, she left her little daughter home sleeping, confident that the child would be safe in the care of two of the oldest sons, the eldest of which is twenty-three years of age. It seems that James, the eldest son, was engaged in cutting the hair of his ten year old brother, Michael, the boy being in a kitchen to the rear and separate from the residence proper. About 7:15 o'clock they escape from the windows. One of the which the child had been left sleeping, but found the fury of the flames too great and the smoke too stifling to permit of such a course. Two of the boys then procured a ladder in an effort to gain entrance to the second story bedroom. In this attempt they were also unsuccessful and were finally driven back and into the horror of a realization that their little sister was doomed to death.

In breathless anticipation, the children and neighbors awaited the arrival of the fire department, their arrival line plans of action. A meeting being several minutes later. The fire of the committee was held immediately had gained such headway that their first efforts were turned to subduing the flames. In the space of a very few moments the firemen were enabled to gain the room in which the little victim had met her tragic and untimely death. The little girl was found lying in bed with one hand resting on the top of her head and the other on her right cheek. The feet, limbs and body were found badly burned, while the face was quite natural and the hair not burned in the least. Those who viewed the sight say it was a pitiful one and brought tears to the eyes of the tender and is yet unsolved. It is declared by members of the family that there was no fire in the rooms on the second floor and no matches the child could have got hold of. The lower floor was occupied by Joe Badger and family, who lost a part of their household goods. Mrs. Bedore states that she carried insurance on her house to the amount of $500, but none on her household effects.

A jury was impanneled by Coroner L. O. Kristine, consisting of the following: Frank Bordeau, Henry McFall, A. B. Chambers, George Blanchard, F. S. Edwards and Charles Gay. The members of the jury viewed the scene of Sunday morning's fire and the following morning at 10:00 o'clock met in the office of the coroner to decide upon a

BETTER PROTECTION ASKED

Experience of Sunday Has Awakened North Escanaba

As a result of the fire at 610 Murray street last Sunday morning and the sad fatality that befell little Marcella Bedore, the citizens of North Escanaba have launched an urgent demand, for better protection in that section of the city. The residents out there feel that they are fully justified in making such a demand, arguing justly that Ithey are paying their proportion of taxes. They are not only handicapped by the long distance from the 'two fire companies but the roads necessary to travel, in some sections, are almost impassable. Then another strong point in favor of the protection clamored for is the danger of delays to the department in crossing the tracks of the North-Western railway by reason of freight and ore trains blocking the crossing on Stephenson avenue.

Not only do the residents of North Escanaba express the belief that more adequate protection is needed, but the belief has been expressed by many Escanaba citizens who are living under more fortunate conditions, and not in a constant dread that if their homes catch fire they are certainly goners. The experience of last Sunday morning immediate action to relieve the minds of those of the citizens of the city who are practically isolated as far as fire protection is concerned. In all proba-bility this matter will be called to the

HOME FROM PHILIPPINES WILL SUPPLY

Told Interesting Tales and Displayed Many Curios

Interesting tales of soldier life in the Philippines were told at the St. Clair Hotel Thursday morning till about 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon by George W. Owen of Milwaukee, who has just returned to the states after a continuous service in the regular army for nine years, eight of which have been spent among the Filipinos. Many groups were entertained in listening to the stories as related by Mr. Owens and gazing upon the many curios which he has brought back with him from the far away isles. The gentleman received his honorable discharge from the service of his Uncle Samuel on May 1st, since which time he has been on his way home, stopping at many important points enroute.

Owen arrived here over the Soo road and was on his way to Little Lake, Marquette county, where he will visit a sister. The young man was discharged with the rank of corporal. From his conversation, it was readily seen that he is a close observer and that he has taken and observe as much as possible for one forced to work up from the rank of a private. He held the close attention of the many gathered about him in relating his experiences and telling of the treachery of the Filipinos.

Among numerous curios exhibited by Mr. Owens, was a plume holder, said to have been worn by General Lawton and claimed to have been picked up by Mr. Owens when the general fell in battle, the subordinate soldier stating that he was about thirty feet from his superior. The other curios consisted of pictures of army life and natives and their abodes. He also had in his possession relics from Japan, even to an opium pipe and the accessaries thereto. One of the relics highly prized by Mr. Owens is a necklace of shells found in the deep seas, the size being very small. Evidently Mr. Owens is impressed that he has experienced nine years of service, he stated that he thought he would re-enlist after having had an opportunity to visit for a few months among friends and relatives.

The Marathon race, chief event of Launch Carrying Men to Their Homes Is Swamped on First Trip Across the Monongahela.

> Pittsburg, Pa .- A gasoline launch, "The Merry Widow," carrying from 16 to 20 workmen from the Jones & Laughlin Steel company's plant across the Monongahela river to their homes in the south side section of the city. was capsized shortly after six o'clock Monday night in 20 feet of water by waves from a coal boat. The following nien are known to be drowned: Henry Schaffer, 18 years old, half owner of the launch.

George Kimberly, 26 years old. Thomas Rhydderck, 52 years old. Whether others were drowned is not known. The police are endeavoring to ascertain the names of the men who were in the launch when the accident occurred. Considerable confusion prevailed and up to nine o'clock at night only a few of the men who had been in the larger had been located safe. Several months ago Penry Schaffer, one of the known victims, and Anthony Charles, both formerly employed in the steel plant, purchased the launch for the purpose of transporting the mill men to their homes across the river. The idea met with great success among the men and "The Merry Widow" started Monday night on its initial trip. When nearing the opposite shore the launch encountered the waves of a large pool coal boat which suddenly swammed the little craft throwing all into the river. It is believed that, as the accident occurred near the shore, most of the occupants escaped.

Rhydderck, who was drowned, was a lay Methodist preacher.

BORAX! NATURE'S DISINFECTANT.

CLEANSER AND PURIFIER

Everybody realizes the necessity of some method of purification of sinks,

Most people are familiar with the use of disinfectants in their ordinary sense-all of which are unpleasantly associated with disagreeable odors, on which are depended to kill the contagion (which disinfectants must of necessity be of a more or less dangerous character) and must be used for this purpose and for no other, and in consequence kept from children and careless handling. There is, however, within the reach of all our readers a simple, safe and economical article that will not only answer for every disinfecting purpose -but can also be used for a multitude of domestic cleansing and purifying purposes-Borax. Borax is a pure, white harmless powder coming direct from Nature's laboratory; in fact Borax has often been called "Nature's Cleanser and Disinfectant.'

Two tablespoonfuls of Borax in a pailful of hot water poured down the grease-choked pipes of a sink, or flushed through a disease-laden drain, cleanses and purifies it, leaving it clean and sweet.

Bed clothing and clothes used in a sick room can be made hygienically clean and snowy-white, if washed in a hot solution of Borax water.

Kitchen and eating utensils, used during illness will be kept from all possibility of contagion if Borax is used when washing them. Pure as snow and harmless as salt, and because it can be used for almost every domestic and medical purpose, Borax must be considered the one great household necessity.

OVE TO YOU'IS CREETING TO TARS IN HAWAH AND SAMOA. THE

A BEAUTIFUL PAW PAW, PLANTATION NEAR HONOLULU, WITH JAPANESE LABORERS

Hawaii and Samoa sailors of the Atlantic fleet saw a mid-Pacific paradise peopled by a noble race whose hospitality is a proverb beautifully expressed in their own charming words of greeting, "Aloha" in the Hawaiian islands and "Talofa" in the Samoans, signifying "Love to you," in both languages. Our "alohas" and "talofas" ('howdies" and "halloes") are formal and often hollow and heartless, while those of the Kanakas may be counted on as sincere and heartfelt. Not so much does the paradise consist in shaven lawrs, castle homes, and pampered luxury in domestic life, as rather in the simple homes of the natives, in the charming villas of the foreigners nestling in tropical luxuriance, and in a climate ef a soft variableness of only ten degrees, never leaping from the rigors of Antarctic to crucible calories as in the temperate zones; which are often not temperate but excessive in both heat and cold. When the pavy lads entered the harbor of Honolulu they/saw to landward a sky-line of peaks and craters, some grim and somber in a mail of ancient lava, others fresh and green with a boskage produced by an unstinted moisture and a tropical warmth. Many of these peaks are extinct craters whose fary energies ceased in the remote past, and are now grazing lands whose inner bounds are animated with feeding flocks and herds. One of these, known as the "Punch-bowl," forms a stable and lofty background for the beautiful city spread out between it and the sea. But, alas! if there were a thirsty "jacky" among all the boys, this crateriform punch howl contains not even so much as a "drop-of-the-crater," - only an occasional horder's cot, whose-occupants, all unconscious of the bustling city not far away, are familiar with the note of the quail and the ployer and the vanishing some of the sky-lark.

When the boys went ashore and into this mid-ocean metropolis they found few remains of aboriginal conditions. They found everything un-to-date: the streets regular, bread, and well paved; the buildings substantial and moderr. Electricity dibubines the streets and the street-cars. Beautiful manslons and costly villas are hidden among howers of tropical trees and shrubs. Avenues of tall-royal palms sway their fronds against the sky, and vistas of coceanut palms lead the way to cettages away from the theroughfares. Artistically trimmed lawns and hedges and well-kept gardens meet the eye at every turn. Ornamental flower texts furnish the necessary color in the prodigality of tropical green. Gorgeous hibiscus spangles the hedge rows, and the pomegranate in fruit and bloom presents a novelty to unfamiliar eyes from northern latitudes. The churches have donned the hederal gowns as in Eu-

Many sampled the national dish called poi, a favorite coinestible curiously made and partaken of with great zest at the Hawaiian "Luan" or feast. Poi is made from the bulb of a water plant called taro by the natives; it is a plant of the arum family resembling the calla lily; it has an oblong root, which, when baked and mashed, forms a glutinous paste without much taste, except to an educated poi-palate; however, Jack tried the poi. Before he got clear of the landing place to enter the city he saw the flower sellers who work special kinds of flowers into various fantastic decorative ornaments such as wreaths and hat-bands. The Kanakas are a musical and flower-loving people; and the boys were not many hours in the insular capital before they had evidence of their musical bent and at least a commercial love of flowers. They were also reminded how different peoples by some circumstance of fortulty are led into a peculiar personal habit of decoration the Jaranese and Manchurian women into giving chief attention to fantastic and elaborate coiffure, the Chinese to "lily-feet;" the women of other nations into loading their arms and ankles with bracelets and anklets, others again into trimming the ears and nose with rings.

Rice fields were familiar to boys from some of our southern states, but they were a novelty to those from the north who know rice only in a rice-pudding; the sugar cane plantation recalled the fields of fodder-corn on the northern home farm. Instead of the chestnuts, beech nuts, butter nuts of a northerner's boyhood be found chiefly.

If the boy from the fleet could not find his accustomed muskmelon with which to slake a tropical thirst, he found an excellent substitute in the succulent and well pepsinized pawpaw, a wonderfully wholesome and refreshing tree fruit, plantations of which he saw in the immediate suburbs of Honolulu, He did not look for apples as a native product, but in lieu thereof he indulged his frugiverous instincts on oranges, mangoes, pomegranates, guaves, and Some visited the great pineapple plantations a few miles out of the city.

THE EXECUTIVE BUILDING, HONOLULU.

the boys of the fleet saw in this delightful mid-ocean territory, let us pass on to another. When they took leave of Honolulu they had a sail of 2,270 miles a little each of south, before they were greeted by the "talofas" of our most southern wards in the south Pacific, the natives of the Samoan islands. These islands are nearly 1,000 miles south of the equator, and I do not recall that we can claim a foot of territory in the southern hemisphere barring the island of Tutuila and its insular appendages. The two latter islands of the group belong to Germany. It is just 140' years since this group was first visited by Europeans; but it is claimed by apparent authority that they were first peopled about 800 years ago, and strange to say, by people from the island of Sumatra, some 50 of whom had set out in crazy old canoes in search of some imaginary devil whom they wished to destroy. After wandering over the illiminate Pacific for long, weary months-touching at the Philippines; and at the Hawalian islands, they finally reached the Samoans.

It is claimed that the Samoans are the finest native race in the world. The boys of the fleet saw a fine type of an aboriginal in the Kanaka of the Hawaijans and here again they saw another branch of the same racfal tree; but it is difficult sometimes to reconcile all the theories as to origins of primal races; it has been claimed also that the aborigines of Australia came from Sumatra; the Australian, the lowest aboriginal known, and the Samoan the highest, both from the same parent stock about the same time. It appears a little awkward historically. We will leave that matter with the ethnologist. Our sailors saw for themselves that the typical Samoan is generally a fine specimen of physical development and possesses pleasing, moral qualities, the latter taking over the island of Tutuila which contains the small but fine harbor of Pago Pago.

The island of Tutuila is 17 miles in length and three or four in width, and the inlet constituting the barbor of . ago Pago is about two miles in length and a half mile in width, surrounded by heavily wooded mountains.

The native people with warm brown skin, their houses without any inclosing walls and with palm-thatched roofs, most attracted the attention of the naval lads. The typical Samoan must not be judged by the "beach" types who are generally menialized by contact with travelers and sea-faring men. The true characteristics of the Samoun, as in other parts of the world, must be sought among the rural folks, and this can only be done during & prolonged sojourn. A foreigner need have no fear in penetrating the interior; he is quite safe and even welcomed with a sincere "talofa." The tapo or belle of the viflage kindly receives him, and most likely preserve him with a cup of their favorite beverage called Kava. Poi, as already mendaged, is a national dish with the Kanaka, which the fleet boys sampled; at Pago Pago they tried the Samean national drink. Although the tapo be fair az 'airness goes in Samoa, and also be the daughter of a chief or family of high rank as she usually is, and although womanhood generally is here of a vigorous order, the well known gallantry of over sea warriors was hardly equal to a cup of the refreshing Kava after the process of manufacture became known. Kava is made from the root of the plant Piper methysticum, and its chemistry involves a rather unusual manipulation, or I should rather say, mastication.-The prettiest maids are selected for Kava making; they are seated around a huge wooden bowl; the green or dry Kava root is cut into small pieces; and after the girls have been required to sinse out their mouths, they all proceed to chew the sliced root. As fast as thoroughly chewed it is stored up in their cheeks, chipmunk fashion, until the fullness becomes burdensome, when they disgorge into the wooden bowl until sufficient has been chewed for the comany present. This finely comminuted pulp is diluted with water and stirzed with a bunch of roots, and delivered in a cocoanut cup, first to the most in Michigan Democrats appear to be profiting by the experience of Wisconsin Democrats in their attitude toward the primary election. In Wisconsin it was the "Moses" La Follette who "led the children out of bondage," as it were-to be. In the neighboring state there is danger that the minority party will lose their state organization as a result of the new law which applies to and is compulsory with all parties. The Michigan legislature acted more wisely in making the primary system optional with the various party organizations-t o experiment with if they choose, or leave it alone if they so desire. The plan is more fair to the people of the state. Here in Michigan, the Republicans will give the system their first trial at the November election and if they are not satisfied with the results they are in a position to drop the primary without working any hardships upon other party organizations. In Wisconsin this month, the Democrats met in state convention with the object in view of naming a state ticket, which, according to their state law would necessarily have by the D. & C. Line. to go before the primary. Two years ago the same plan was carried out, but this year it was decided to drop the ticket to Mackinac. Just the thing for plan to avoid a clash in the summer reading. Send a two-cent ranks of the party owing to a warm contest over the governorship nomination. The convention gatherings, however, are merely for the purpose of keeping alive the party organization which the Democrats fear would Gladstone by reason of the death of A. vanish in time if the "love feasts" are not held occasionally to inject a little enthusiasm

Iron Mines Are Not Working Full Force-Quiet Year Anticipated-Big Copper Mines Arc Active

The Iron Ore, published at Ishpeming, Mich., in its last issue sums up the iron ore and copper conditions in the following manner:

"The mining of ore is being conduct-Lake Superior producing ranges this ing a big tonnage, and there are large | r f; McDonald, p. stocks at lower lake ports to care for their immediate needs, and plenty of ore at the mines to provide for the wants of furnacemen next winter. There will be a big falling off in tonnage sent out compared with the great total of 1907.

"Consumers are buying carefully, not wishing to lay in heavy stocks until more certain of the political outcome of next fall. Politics are rather uncertain, although all the odds would be on the republican side, but notwithstanding this there are many large enterprises that will counsel caution.

Thus today we find the furnaces operating yery quietly, this being reflected in the moderate shipments from our mines and upper lake shipping ports. Everyone is saying "next year" will be a hummer, and none are predicting that the present will be more than a very quiet one, with the volume fair, but not what it might have been.

"Many of the iron mines are working only half time, thus keeping their organizations in better shape than if they had discontinued entirely. There has been no cut in wages, neither has there been any reductions in the cost of living, the price of meats and other necessities having been raised. It isn't a pleasing regulation.

"In Marquette county, there have that produce ore of the silicious class,- feet of water. Stack's friend now places but the tonnage sent from them and the canoe and mule in the same labor engaged is small. None of the category as far as treachery is concernbig producers are adding to their forces | ed and in the future will keep as far and we shall be very well pleased if away from both as possible.

"In the copper list the Mich mines are generally busy and have let out only a few men. The copper mined is being sold, so far as can be ascertained, but there is no money in the price obtained for the metal to compensate for the investment in its production. There is interest in several lake properties that have a chance for finding lodes looked upon as very valuable, and this has been reflected in the buying of their shares during the past few weeks."

TWENTY HURT IN WRECK

Soo Line Train Jumped The Track Last Monday

Three cars in the ditch, one riding the ties and about 20 people injured, none of them seriously, is the result of a wreck that took place about noon with Soo Line'train No.86, due to arrive at Sault Ste Marie at 12:10, about four miles out from the union depot. The train was in charge of Conductor 'Dave' Bailey with "Clare" LeFaver, engineer, both of Gladstone and well known in Escapaba.

Fortunately no persons were killed in the wreck, but twenty persons were more or less injured.

The cause of the trouble is not known. The engine did not leave the track, and the first intimation that the engineer and and fireman had of anyair-brake connections. The baggage and mail coach following the engine left the rails but remained upright on the ties while the three coaches following left the grade entirely and tumbled over onto the side of the right of way. It is believed that the baggage car was the first to leave the track but it could not leave the grade because of the engine holding it while the other cars were not held from running wilder after leaving the rails and finally left the grade entirely. Engineer LeFaver succeeded in stopping the engine in three or four car lengths after he perceived that something was wrong. Another train had passed safely over the track a few minutes before.

It is considered miraculous that many were not injured seriously or even killed as two of the cars tumbled clear over onto their sides and the passengers were thrown about violently.

TEAMS BROKE EVEN.

Results of Two Games with the Menominee Team.

It is expected that Escanaba will send a large delegation of base ball fans to Menominee next Sunday, to witness the the game between the team of that city and the strong Escanaba nine. In the games here last Saturday and Sunday the locals broke even, taking the first of the series by a score of 4 to 0, not giving the visitors a look in. In Sunday's game the visiting team was materially strengthened, some of the stronger players coming, being unable to leave to participate in the opening game. This fact and the costly errors on the part of the locals accounted for the defeat of Escanaba in what proved to be one of the closest and most exciting game ever witnessed in the city, the board at the end showing a score of of 2 to 1.

The lineup for Saturday's game was as follows: Menominee-Hanson, sb; Hubert, ss; Klebs, c; Powel, fb; Botkoll, If; Hubel, cf; Creamer, tb; Toded in a rather quiet manner on all the dish, rf; Stitt, p. #### Treachery Of A Canoe

John Stack, Jr. and a friend who is his guest, had an experience Sunday in which they had a chance to test the extent of the dampness of the tributary waters of Lake Michigan. The gentlemen were enjoying a ride just off shore in a canoe. Mr. Stack's friend evidently was not thoroughly acquainted with the balky elements of the particular craft in which they were navigating. A quick movement on his part resulted in overturning the canoe and parcipitating the gentlemen where they were readily made aware of what the wild waves were saying. Fortunately they received nothing more than been a few small properties restarted an involuntary ducking in about three effort was made on the part of the coroner to place the blame, if any, for gross negligence and at one stage of the inquest it looked as if there might be the material for a suite for criminal negligence on the part of Joseph Badger, who occupied the lower portion of the building. One witness testified that Badger had made the statement to one of his superiors where he is employed, to the effect that he heard the cries of the child for help, but that as it was no kin of his, he deemed it of more importance to save his household effects. An effort was made Monday afternoon to locate the party to whom Badger is alleged to have made such a statement, but such a witness and damaging testimony was not forthcoming and the investigation was necessarily dropped. In taking the evidence of Badger the services of an interpreter were necessary. He is an illiterate and were the fact not taken into consideration, it might have been construed that he contradicted his own testimony and did not corroborate that of his wife. Badger held to the story that upon learning of the fire he procured a pail of water and attempted to reach the fire in the second story, but was driven back by reason of the density of the smoke. It was then, he declared, that he devoted his energies to saving his own household goods. The witness also stoutly held to the claim that he did not know that the child was in the building and added that at ho time did he hear the cries of the victim of the sad affair.

One unfortunate circumstance in connection with the fire alarm was that when the first alarm was turned in it was not done with proper care. Chief Tolan of the fire department answered the 'phone. In their excitement the party merely said: "There's a fire out here, come quick." The receiver was then hung up with a bang in the excitement. The chief was entirely at sea as to where the fire was. He made immediate efforts to locate the same but was obliged to wait till a second alarm was turned in from the alarm box in that section of the city.

The body of the child was shipped Tuesday morning to Stephenson, where the family formerly resided and where the funeral services and interment took

That is the way New York is saving those about-to-be insane.

Many Patients Cured. This splendid place up on the Hudson near Poughkeepsie has 2,200 patients. It averages two new ones a day. Some 25 per cent, of all those received are discharged as cured. But of those who have incipient insanity and can be taken in time the percentage of cures is 70 per cent.

The Acute ward has been built for incipient cases-those on the verge of insanity. It wants people to come of their own accord. It wants to get cases before they become chronic, in order that there may be a chance to

Dr. I. G. Harris took a writer for the Sunday World around the new building the other day. It looks like a wellbuilt hotel. There are accommodations for 80 patients, 40 of each sex. For those who are not excitable there are small dormitories; for other cases there are private rooms.

In each wing there is a reception room and dining-room and an open-airporch. The patients sit six at a table just as they might in a hotel, at tables decked with flowers and bearing spotless silver and immaculate linen. The food is far better than the average boarding house provides.

There are three floors, each with its separate rooms and dormitories, and rooms for placicians and attend-ants. Each floor has its own sitting room and bath arrangements for the continuous bath, and there are also all the other kinds of bath which any sick person might need-douche, sitz, needle, rain, spray and ordinary tub and shower.

There is a fully-equipped electric room, too, where there are electric baths, X rays, static treatment and other things of twentieth century in-not insane, but mentally tired. "One of the great rewards of our profession is the thanks we often get from those we have cured. They did not know at the time what, the matter was, but after they had been cured they realized what had been done for them. I think there is nothing that can satisfy a physician more than the appreciation of those he has saved from mental night."

Already there have been many applicants for the new treatment. When the new hospital opens it will be first come, first served. If the patients be found to improve upon treatment they will not be deemed insane. If they should fail mentally after a period of six months, then the regular commitment proceedings will ensue, just as they would have done had the patient waited till the disease had progressed

Work When Possible.

To-day 75 per cent, of the men patients and 65 per cent, of the women patients at Poughkeepsie are able to work. This gives their minds something to think about and Kelps toward a cure, if this be possible. They are encouraged to wear their own clothes If they can afford it, and they are allowed to receive as many visitors as the doctors consider good for them. ### NO SUMMER RESORT

VISITOR TELLS OF THE HEAT IN WASHINGTON.

When the Asphalt Melts on the Street and You Can Fry Eggs on the Iron Plates Along the Car Tracks.

"I was standing at the door of a hotel on Pennsylvania avenue about three o'clock one sizzling afternoon," said a recent visitor to Washington, "when I saw a young woman stop short out in the middle of the street and begin to hop around on one foot in the most extraordinary manner.

"She was mighty conspicuous out on that simmering expanse of asphalt and I started to the rescue. I didn't know what was the matter, but it did seem that when a lady stopped and did fancy steps in the hottest spot in Washington it was a plain hurry up call of some sort.

"As I hotfooted it to the rescueand you can bet it was hotfooting all right, all right!-- I spied the young woman's shoe sitting up all by itself and looking like empty is the cradle baby's gone.

"I thought it was just a case of a dropped pump, and I was going to hike back to the shade, where the thermometer was below a hundred at any rate, when the girl made a dab at her shoe with her stockinged foot and then began to do more fancy steps.

"What do you suppose was the matter? Give it up? Well, the asphalt was so hot that it was about like boiled down molasses candy for stickiness. The high heel of the girl's shoe had gone through the crust and there

She'd slip her foot into the shoe and try to lift if out that way; but nay, nay, Pauline, the asphalt just boiled down a little tighter. Finally she took hold with both hands and gave that shoe a yank which fetched it; but it never fazed the grip the asphalt had. She got her shoe, but the heel stayed behind, and she went off with a threeinch limp that was heartrending.

"That's what I mean by losing your heels over the heat. I was telling a Washington man about the shoe incident, and he said pshaw! that was nothing.

"He said that a few years ago folks down there got to talking about the facilities for enjoying a hot time in Washington, and just to show what could be done somebody fried eggs on one of the iron plates that abound along the electric car tracks.

"I believe it took half an hour to finish the frying, but from my experience I should say that if that was true the man wanted his eggs fried on both sides and very hard.

-"I think that man had a well-stored memory anyway.. He was telling how damp it gets in Washington sometimes, and he said that he knew a lady who once shut up her apartment for the summer and when she came back she found mushrooms growing in one of the cupboards."

"Down cellar, I suppose."

State Land Commissioner Rose courted arrest. "If any responsible person will agree to have me arrested for violating the primary election law, I will make a speech for one of the candidates for governor, just for the purpose of having the law tested," he said. Rose does not believe a law is constitutional which deprives a man of the right to express his choice among the candidates for governor simply because he holds a state office. A great deal of interest is being taken here in the meaning of the primary law, which says in section 46: "Any state officer, whether elective or appointive, or appointee of any state officer, or any member or employe of any state board, or any state employe who directly or indirectly solicits votes for governor, lieutenant governor or United States senator on primary election day or at any time prior thereto, shall-be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor."

Would Abolish Office.

The commission of inquiry into the state forest and tax _lands met at Grand Rapids to formulate its final report. Five of the nine members were of great importance, although its text was not made public until the governor had seen it. Its most drastic action was the recommendation that the land commissioner's office be abolished and his work done by a commission of forestry. The commission of inquiry sented to the next legislature. The commission has made a thorough study of the state tax land and goes into much detail in its report and recommendations. There has been some criticism of the commission's expense. but Francis King of Alma said that it would probably not run above $7,000. The commission has employed "timber and this could not be done cheaply.

During the past few weeks there a good word for any of the candidates for governor or lieutenant governor. provision that it shall be a misdemeanor for a state officer or any employe of the state, directly or indirectly, to solicit votes for any candidate on primary election day or any time prior thereto. Attorneys have been inclined to construe this provision of law as preventing public speaking by another state officer or employe in the interest of any candidate for the offices named. They assert that the purpose is to solicit the votes of the people, and that it is none the less solicitation because the votes are solicited collectively instead of separately. The subject has been discussed quite extensively in capital circles and It is not unlikely that Attorney General Bird will be called upon to give an opinion deciding the question, Should it be held that public speaking is prohibited by state officers or employes in the interest of gubernatorial candidates several prominent persons may have to be called off the stump.

Rural Carriers Hold Convention.

Earle Named President.

The good roads convention closed at Grand Rapids by electing officers and adopting resolutions favoring state and national aid, the working of convicts in preparing road . material and the improvement of rural mail routes. Saginaw made a bid for the next convention, but no action, was taken. Edward Hines of Detroit presented the report of the nominating committee, indorsing the following officers, and it carried: President, Horatio S. Earle, Detroit; first vice-president, Isaac B. Potter, New York; second vice-president, Curtis Hill, Columbia, Mo.; third vice-president, A. N. Johnson, Springfield, Ill.; secretary, F. W. Boughton, Grand Rapids, treasurer, The Michigan Trust company, present. The commission's report is Grand Rapids. Curtis Hill, state engineer of Missouri, pleaded for peripatetic prison pens and stone crushing plants, with a capacity of about 100 cubic yards dally, to be drawn around the country by traction engines and used wherever needed. He said Green county was now using one of this kind framed a statute which will be pre- at an expense of $15 a day, or $535 per mile for material for stone roads.

YOUNG POSTMASTER HELD

Inspector Charges Albert Riethmeier with Misappropriation of United States Funds While in Office.

Gera.-Albert Riethmeier, postmaster at Gera, is under arrest, charged with the misappropriation of $800 of government funds. Riethmeier's arrest was caused by Post Office Inspector William M. Cookson, who has been working on the case for some time. Riethnfeler was taken to Saginaw before United States Commissioner George B. Brooks, after spending the night in the county jail, and bound over to the October term of the district court for triff. He was released under $700 bond. Friends of Riethmeier came to his assistance and the shortage was made good, but he will be prosecuted by the government for diversion of money order funds. Riethmeier is only 23 years old and Politeness.

It was the last day of the term in one of our public kindergartens. The children were all seated around the tables thoroughly enjoying the treat of ice cream which the teacher always provided on this occasion.

Glancing around the room at the beaming faces of the children, the kindergartner noticed one child pick up his plate and lick it.

She went up to him and said in a low tone of voice: "Freddie, put down your plate; it is not polite to pick it up and lick it."

Fred obeyed at once, quietly placing his plate on the table. He then put his head down to the plate and licked it.

Tommy's Streak of Luck. "Tommy," said a young lady visitor at his home, "why not come to our Sabbath school? Several of your little friends joined us lately. Tommy hesitated a moment. Then suddenly he exclaimed: "Does a little red-headed kid by the name of Jimmy Brown go to your school?" "Yes, indeed," replied the new teacher.

"Well, then," said Tommy, with an air of interest, "I'll be there next Sunday, you bet. I've been laying for that kid for three weeks, and never knew where to find him."

Pigeon Joins Recessional.

A little fellow who sings in the choir of a Long Island village church is the happy possessor of tame pigeons. One of them follows him to the pretty vine covered place of worship and during the sermon coos and flutters among the crimson ramblers at the open window. One recent Sunday when the recessional began the bird had never failed me-one set of Cuti-flew in and circled about the little cura Remedies did the work. A well-known English bishop some time since lost his third wife. A clergyman who bad known the first wife returned from Africa and wanted to see the grave. He called at the cathedral and saw the verger.

"Can you tell me where the bishop's wife is buried?"

"Well, sir," replied the verger, "I don't know for certain, but he mostly buries 'em at Brompton."

HEALTH AND INCOME

Both Kept Up on Scientific Food.

Good sturdy health helps one a lot to make money.

With the loss of health one's income is liable to shrink; if not entirely dwindle away.

When a young lady has to make her own living, good health is her best asset.

"I am alone in the world," writes a Chicago girl, "dependent on my own efforts for my living. Some of our young men who had their photos taken in fighting costumes were greatly surprised to learn upon their return home that their mammas had cornered the shingle market as a gentle warning for the future.

It is reported that a few of our young ladies have decided to advertise in the London Gazette for young men who own automobiles, as they claim the boys of Ford River are unable to go fast enough to keep warm even in the hottest of weather. We wish we knew their names or whereabouts.

It does not seem possible that we could be blessed with such beautiful weather at this time of the year when same is so badly needed to allow the farmers to reap their harvests and put up their hay. However, a gaeat many are already kicking about the heat. Perhaps it will be even warmer than this for some of us poor sinners some day, and therefore we should be only too thankful that the Lord is putting us wise as to what we will have to contend with if we do not mend our ways.

The Ford River base ball team did not break up last week as had been reported, but we have been advised that the Wells team now wish it had, or that they had not been so anxious to cross bats with us in our own back yard, as they arranged to have a picnic here to help cheer the boys on to victory, but were sorely disappointed when they saw their boys defeated by an overwhelming score. S.nith started to pitch for the home boys, but after seeing some of the boys play ante-over, and others innings on wild throws, etc. the score, standing 6 to 4 in favor of Ford River. based on Milton's "Comus" The Wells boys tied the score in the 4th inning, but after that it was merely a case of seeing who could run the longest and oftenest without getting tired in which department the home boys out classed their, opponents. The final score was 20 to 14 in favor of Ford River. The scores made were as follows: Smith 3, Baitalls 1; Lafountain 1; Lefaive, 4; Johnson, 2; Jeppesen, 3; Peterson, 2; A. Anderson, 1; W. Thermometers regis-tered as high as 95 degrees in the tered as high as 95 degrees in the shade. If anyone ventured the old stereotyped query, "is it hot enough for you?" it was almost invariably not answered, for people were too busy fanning themselves or looking for cool places to even talk. It was too blamed hot. Relief came Thursday evening, when the wind shifted to the west bringing with it a decided drop in temperature and the weather of yesterday gives the promise of a life worth living.

The movement to secure an excursion on the North-Western road to Menominee on Sunday on account of the ball Canada. He says he was very glad to game, has failed and the fans of this city who wish to see the sport will either pay full fare and ride on the regular trains if they travel by train, or they will take advantage of the excursion on the steamer Maywood, the exceptionally low rate of $1.00 being made for the round trip, while the fare from Gladstone will be 25 cents more. The boat excursion is arranged by the Danish Brotherhood of America. Maywood will leave the Stephenson dock Sunday morning at 7:30 o'clock, the boat arriving at the twin cities a little after noon. It is expected that a large crowd will take advantage of the steamer excursion, as there is no regular train leaving for Menominee Sunday morning, which would neces-sitate going down the day before.
