NUMBER 33

PETITIONS FILED

All Candidates for Office at Primaries Have Filed Their Petitions

The period prescribed by law for the filing of nomination papers closed at 4:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. A surprise was sprung at the eleventh hour by C. C. Stephenson, who filled notice of his candidacy with County Clerk A. P. Smith at almost the last minute. There are in all twenty-five candidates for the ten nominations for office in the government of Delta county, following being the list of Republican candidates whose names will appear on the official primary ballots:

For representative, S. M. Matthews, Peter Jensen, Otto C. Stegath. Judge of Probate, Thomas B. White, Judd Yelland, A. Clyde Hayden and A. W. Wolfe.

For sheriff, Frank W. Aronson, James R. MacDonald, A. J. Henry and C. C. Stephenson.

For county clerk, J. A. Semer, A. P. Smith.

For treasurer, long term, J. J. Mallmann, E. M. St. Jacques.

For treasurer, short term, no nominations.

For register of deeds, C. W. Malloch, Patrick J. McCauley.

For prosecuting attorney, Henry R. Dotsch, A. W. Norblad.

Circuit court commissioners, Torval E. Strom and Charles E. Gallup.

County surveyor, D. A. Brotherton.

For coroners, Dr. P. C. Dube, N. P. LaPine and L. O. Kirstine.

As is seen from the above list, D. A. Brotherton has no opposition for the office of county surveyor and Atty. Torval E. Strom and Atty. Charles Gallup are the only candidates for the two circuit court commissionerships that are to be filled.

County Treasurer Joseph J. Malmann having been chosen by the board of supervisors to serve until the next general election his term of office will close on Tuesday Nov. 3 and a short term for the office of treasurer was therefore offered extending from Nov. 3 to Jan. 1. Neither of the two candidates in the race desired to become a candidate for the short term as well as the long term and it will probably be necessary for the supervisors to name a treasurer for that period.

CHIEF TOLAN GOES TO COLUMBUS, O.

Will Attend National Gathering Of Fire Chiefs

COUNCIL PROVIDES FOR IT

Mayor, City Council, Police And Fire Department In Labor Day Parade On Sept. 7th

The regular meeting of the city council last Tuesday evening was one of the shortest on record, adjourning just twenty-five minutes after Mayor Perron called the meeting to order. There were no discussions to prolong the session and if any of the "dads" pulled the latch string after the midnight hour and offered wifely the excuse that the council had a meeting, they are well thought of, but guilty of taking advantage of their better half. But such surely would not apply to any of the members of the Escanaba city council.

There was but little business aside from the regular routine work and adjournment came at 8:45.

The council accepted the invitation from the Trades and Labor Council inviting the mayor, city council and the members of the police and fire departments to participate in the parade on Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 7.

A number of the property owners along South Georgia street petitioned the council urging that the contract for the paving of two blocks be canceled and that the entire street from Wells to First be paved with asphalt, early in 1909 with a 30 foot roadway. The petition was referred to the street committee.

City Engineer Brotherton presented a report of work done and material furnished by the Northern Construction and Engineering Co. since his previous report, showing a balance due of $2,665.59, the work being on Third street and Stephenson avenue. The report, contrary to the action of the previous meeting, was accepted and placed on file without lengthy discussions in which charges were made that material was being used by the contractors that was not up to the provisions of the contract. It was rumored that protests were to be made to the council at Tuesday evening's meeting, but they failed to materialize and it is evidently the case that there is "peace in the camp" as far as the use of inferior crushed stone on certain streets is concerned.

The city engineer presented an estimate on the cost of improving the park tracts on Harrison, Dousman, and Tilden avenues, giving the total estimated cost at $200.

Alderman Power's motion was adopted to allow $50 to Chief Tolani of the fire department, to attend the chief's convention of the National association to be held at Columbus, Ohio, on Aug. 24-25-26-27. The chief will leave this evening for the convention city. The chiefs from Ishpeming, Negaunee, Marquette and Menominee are to attend and take advantage of the gathering which is in the nature of a school of instruction.

The council designated the places for the primary registration to be held on Aug. 29. The following were named as inspectors: First ward, Jos. Urwan; second ward, R. E. Morrell; third ward, Peter Olson; fourth ward, Adolph Dupuis; fifth ward, Jesse Owen; sixth ward, John Tolani; seventh ward, Chas. Parisseau. The registration will be held at the usual places.

Dr. W. A. Cotton, John J. Cleary and John Moe were named as a board of election commissioners.

MENOMINEE WILL PLAY TWO GAMES

Series Opens at South Park This Afternoon—Fast Ball Assured

RAPID RIVER LOSES SERIES

Games Interspersed With a Little Fistic Contest Not Appearing On The Bill

It is pleasing news to the fans of Escanaba to learn that another series of two games are to be played between the locals and Menominee team at South Park today and tomorrow. Each team has two games to their credit and the coming games have been awaited with much interest by the local admirers of the sport during the week and the indications are that the contests will be watched by monster crowds. These games will no doubt decide the championship of the semi-professional teams of the upper peninsula. The steamer Sailor Boy will run an excursion to this city tomorrow (Sunday) morning and it is expected that a large crowd of fans will come to see the sport. The locals will do battle royal in an effort to win the honors and will naturally exert every energy to carry off the honors.

The Escanaba base ball team took the two games of the series played with Rapid River last Saturday and Sunday, winning the first, a hotly contested game by a score of 9 to 4. The series was interspersed with a little fistic contest on Saturday evening which did not appear on the bill and in which Capt. John Loell of the Escanaba team was made the object of a pummeling.

The trouble began to brew in Saturday's game, when Capt. Loell tried to explain an error which he claimed had been made by the umpire during the progress of the first game. During the evening the captain met the umpire and tried to explain the rule to him, but both became angry and after an exchange of a few words that were warmer than the weather, blows followed.

It was only when some of the Escanaba players interfered that the fracas came to a close. Loell appeared in the box during Saturday's contest and pitched excellent ball, a fact that evidently disappointed the opponents more than it surprised them, resulting in the episode of Saturday evening. McDonald pitched the first part of Sunday's game for the locals, but having an "off day" he was replaced by Mike Walsh, who did excellent work during the remainder of the game. Sunday's game resulted 5 to 4 in favor of the locals.

The Richters base ball team played a double header at South Park Sunday afternoon, defeating the Fayette and Nahma teams. The first game, a seven inning contest, played with Fayette, resulted in a score of 5 to 4 in favor of the locals. The batteries were: Richters, McCarthy and Hirn; Fayette, Bivett and Charlie. In the second game with Nahma, the Richters defeated them by a score of 6 to 5. The batteries were Richters, Beitzer and Hirn; Nahma, Jennings and Pignat. The feature of the second game was a home run by Hirn of the victorious team.

Happily Wedded

At the home of Mrs. L. A. Cates, 915 Wells avenue, on Thursday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock occurred the marriage of Miss Lumina Ray Bassingthwaite to Mr. Walter E. Martin. The nuptial ceremony was performed by the Rev. Pliny B. Ferris of the First Presbyterian church, in the presence of a number of the friends of the young couple. Miss Bessie Franklin presided as maid of honor, while Mr. Robert Martin of Marquette, brother of the groom, acted as groomsmen. The Cates home was beautifully decorated for the occasion and the happy couple were the recipients of numerous beautiful wedding gifts, attesting of their popularity.

The bride is a popular young lady of Escanaba, having made this city her home for a number of years and for some time has been employed as saleslady in the cloak department at the Ed. Erickson Company's store. The groom during his two years residence in Escanaba has become one of the popular young men of the city. During his residence here he has held the position of advertising manager for the Young & Fillion company. Mr. Martin came here from Sault Ste. Marie. Both the bride and groom have countless friends who wish them unbounded happiness and prosperity throughout their married life. The couple left by automobile immediately after the wedding for Wells, where they awaited the south-bound evening train on the North-Western road to leave on their honeymoon.

GLADSTONE HAS FIRE

Stave Plant of N. W. Cooperaage Company Destroyed

Gladstone suffered quite a fire loss last Tuesday evening when the stave mill portion of the North-Western Cooperaage and Lumber Company's plant was totally destroyed, entailing a loss said to be $35,000, partly covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is uncertain, but is thought to have started from an over heated bearing. It was only through the heroic efforts of the Gladstone fire department and the private fire fighters of the company, that the balance of the plant was saved. As a result of the fire, about 100 men are thrown out of employment, but it is understood that the company will immediately begin the rebuilding of the plant. The fire was discovered by the watchman shortly after the midnight hour, but it had gained considerable headway and the flames being fanned by a stiff breeze made the task of the fireman a difficult one, but they succeeded in confining the flames to that portion of the plant in which the fire originated. The large sawmill, in close proximity to the stave mill was threatened several times and small fires through the yard were quickly extinguished. It was necessary for the firemen to work till well along into the morning before the fire was finally under control. Early Wednesday morning, a second alarm was turned in, a blaze in the smouldering ruins having started anew, but it was quickly put out. The company carried an insurance of $20,000, a large portion of which was placed with Escanaba agencies.

Engagement Announced

Announcement has been made of the coming marriage of Miss Margaret Lillian Harris, daughter of Hon. and Mrs. Michael B. Harris, to Mr. Edward P. Reynolds of this city, the coming nuptial event to occur at Harris on Wednesday, Aug. 26. The bride-to-be frequently visited Escanaba and possesses many friends here. Mr. Reynolds is a train dispatcher in the employ of the North-Western road and enjoys the friendship of many Escanaba people.

No class of plays seem to have a firmer hold on the American public than good rustic plays, and none seem to prosper like those which have a New England background for a foundation on which the story is built. We need look for no better proof than "The Old Homestead" or "The County Fair" and in the same class as these will be presented at the Peterson Opera house Aug. 25, the latest success, "Along the Kennebec", which while using the New England village and its people for plot and story, is entirely different in theme. The play is the story of a waif, the fruit of an ill-favored marriage, a heartless father, a daughter driven away from home and a child's battle with a "sometimes" cruel world. The company carry the promised in plenty.

FILTERING PLANT SAYS MR. STONE

Important Ultimatum at Marquette on Tuesday Last

INJUNCTION SUSPENDED

But Only For Sixty Days—Must Begin At Once on Construction—Better "Do It Now"

The members of the Escanaba Business Men's association certainly have reasons to congratulate themselves in the success of their crusade for pure and wholesome water in this city, with the end in view of compelling the Escanaba Water company to erect and maintain a filtering plant, a necessary adjunct to the health and convenience of the citizens of the city, which the company has stubbornly denied them for so many years.

The officials of the Bad Water company might have saved themselves the humiliation of defeat had they acted in a spirit of fairness when the "hand writing on the wall" was discerned.

It was Judge John W. Stone who called the officials of the Water company off their high horse at Marquette on Tuesday, when he suspended the injunction against the company. But it was provisionally, however. It is for a period of sixty days with a thorough understanding that the company begin work immediately upon the much needed filtering plant. The ultimatum of Judge Stone was rendered after a complete resume of the local situation in the presence of representatives of the local Water company and Business Men's association.

The judge gives the situation the stamp of disapproval in the "declaration of independence" that when he visits Escanaba early in October to open the term of circuit court, he expects to observe the completion of the foundation for a filtering plant, the building under course of construction and a portion of the necessary machinery on the ground.

The judge does not hesitate in declaring what course he will take in the event that such action is not taken on the part of the Water company and he does not mince matters in treating with the company on this important question. He announces that if things are not found as he directs, when he visits our city in October, he will once more declare the injunction to be in full force, again preventing the company from collecting hydrant rentals from the city or water rates from private consumers.

For twenty years the Water company has escaped justice and stubbornly refused to give to the citizens of Escanaba that for which they have paid and had a right to expect. The company is now placed in a position where it will not be healthy for them to trifle and ignore promises, for they are dealing directly with a bar of justice which gives evidences that it is proposed to make the company toe the mark. An attempt to escape from the demands of justice as handed down by Judge Stone means summary action that will prove disastrous to the Escanaba Water company.

The Business Men's association was represented at Marquette by Leslie French, M. J. Ryan and F. H. Atkins of the board of directors, and Arthur H. Ryall, the association's special attorney. The company was represented by President Weaver and Attorney George Gallup.

MAY HOLD HEARING

Escanaba Before State Railway Commission

C. L. Glasgow, A. D. Scully and G. A. Dickinson, members of the Michigan State Railroad Commission were in Escanaba Wednesday night for the purpose of investigating the local situation they being on their annual inspection of the peninsula lines. The transportation committee of the Escanaba Business Men's association had the visitors in charge, in an effort to convince them fully that a discrimination is being made against our city in the matter of railway rates. A comparison between the rates charged locally and in neighboring cities was made. After several hours spent in a discussion of the rates, the local committee was advised to get all their evidence together with the end in view of being given a hearing before the board.

Monday night J. W. Scott succumbed to a gunshot wound in the lungs received Friday night.

More Trouble if Bowe Dies. Another death is expected momentarily. W. H. Bowe, chief clerk in the county treasurer's office and one of the most popular citizens of Springfield, is slowly sinking from the effects of the bullet wounds and the beating which he received from a crowd of negroes Friday night. Bowe's friends have warned the authorities that "Billy" will be avenged and the event of his death will cause a redoubling of vigilance by the troops' commanders.

Evidence is not lacking that many citizens who were known to have important testimony regarding the mob and its leaders have been deterred from offering this to the state's attorney because of threats of violence made against them anonymously.

Loot from Stores Recovered. The gathering of evidence began in earnest Monday. Policemen in plain clothes were sent to search the houses of prisoners and suspects, and as a result the police station looked like a general store. Groceries, hardware, clothing, dry goods and shoes were recovered in great quantities, most of them bearing the price tags of the looted business houses. Naturally many arrests followed. Eighty prisoners were crowded into the small cell room at the police station.

Troops There Number 4,200. With the arrival here Sunday of the Second and Seventh Infantry regiments, I. N. G., and two squadrons of the First cavalry, all from Chicago, the entire National Guard of Illinois, with the exception of the Sixth Infantry and the Eighth Infantry (colored) was on duty in the riot-ridden districts Sunday night. In all, 4,200 guardsmen are in the city.

Private J. B. Klein, Company A, First Infantry, killed a young man named Earl Nelson at Kankakee, and his case was considered Sunday by a regimental court of inquiry, which reported to Adj. Gen. Scott that Klein's act was performed in the strict line of duty.

Following is a list of the dead: The Dead. William Donnigan, negro, 60 years old, lynched by mob.

Scott Burion, 65 years old, negro, lynched by mob.

John Caldwell, shot in stomach by militia.

J. W. Scott, 70 years old, shot during rioting.

Louis Johnson, 17 years old, shot during rioting.

Night of Wild Riot. From the early attack of the mob on the Loper restaurant in the business district and applied to the homes of the negroes, good and bad, without discrimination.

The night was made hideous with the volleys of gun fire by reckless men and the demoniac screams and shouts of drunken men athirst for blood and destruction.

The sum total of the night's work was the destruction of the Loper restaurant, the complete ruin of 25 or 30 small places of business on East Washington street and the burning of 50 houses in the residence district where the negroes had congregated.

The story of Friday night runs in four chapters: The looting of the lowed to run through the city. The officials were afraid the rioters would break into the cars and kill the colored porters.

Guns were taken away from the members of the Springfield company of militia as they marched down the street.

Desultory fighting was going on in several parts of the city while the main crowd, 10,000 strong, was tearing up the negro quarter.

Prominent Man Beaten by Negroes. A sign of the feelings with which the blacks regarded all whites was given when William H. Bowe, chief clerk in the county treasurer's office, narrowly escaped being lynched by a band of negroes while on the way to his home early Saturday morning.

With two companions he had gone to the district known as the "bad lands" to see the devastation wrought by the flames. As they were leaving a dozen negroes confronted Bowe and his friends and ordered them to halt.

Bowe alone obeyed the order, the others running away. After probably fatally shooting Bowe his assailants robbed him of jewelry, tearing a diamond ring from his finger.

Joe Farmer, one of the gang, recognized Bowe and pleaded with the others not to lynch him. Only for this he probably would have been killed.

Mayor Issues Proclamation. In an effort to reduce the crowds on the street to a minimum, Mayor Reece on Saturday issued a proclamation requesting all good citizens to remain at their homes and not to congregate on the streets, and thereby lend strength to the turbulent element.

Mayor Reece also requested all business houses and stores, with the exception of restaurants and drug stores, to close their doors at six o'clock. The merchants promptly complied with the mayor's request.

But while this plan for keeping people off the streets was aided by the storekeepers, the citizens generally did not pay much heed to the executive's proclamation. Thousands of people not only from Springfield, but from surrounding cities, thronged the streets, and the appeals of the soldiers and police to disperse were in vain.

Mark Houses of Whites. In the poorly-lighted residence sections in where there was a scattering of whites, the latter took the precaution on retiring of hanging white clothes on the doors or the fronts of the houses to notify the rioters that the places were not occupied by negroes.

Most of the negroes and their families who were burned out or otherwise made homeless by the mob were cared for in tents at Camp Lincoln, and a guard of troops was placed there to protect them.

Mayor Hides and Flees. In connection with the mayor's attempt to quiet the crowd during the attack on Loper's place Friday night it was related that the mob became so threatening against the mayor himself that after he had been forced to Mueller's cigar store, adjoining Loper restaurant and the killing of a boy, Louis Johnson; the demolition of the stores and business houses of the negroes on East Washington street; the burning of homes in the black belt, and finally the wanton murder of a negro and the stringing of his body over a burning building with the intention of watching it consumed in the flames.

Militia Fail to Stop Rioting. The declaration of martial law and the presence of 3,000 militia in the city failed to check the mob spirit Saturday.

After smoldering all day, the flames of riot blazed up again at night, the lynching of an 18-year-old negro being the first act of violence.

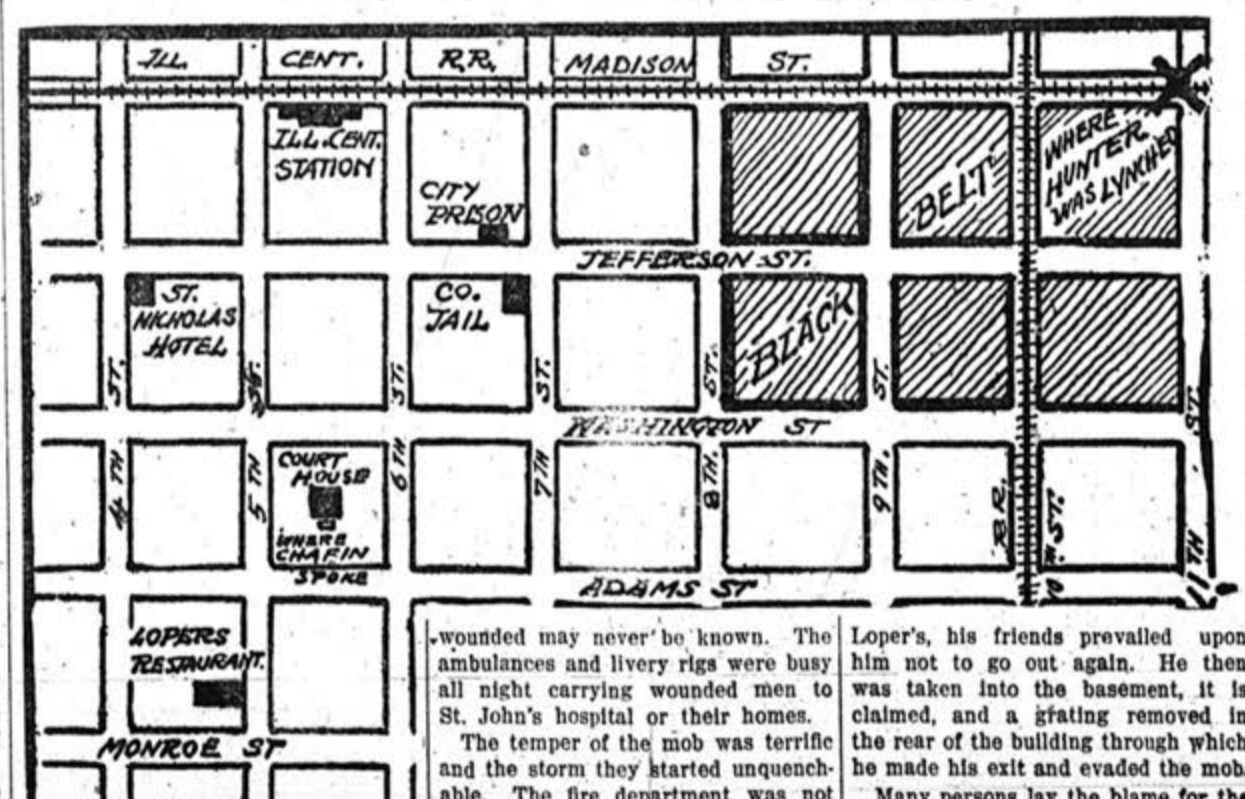

William Donnigan, once a friend of Abraham Lincoln, and for more than 50 years a citizen of Springfield, was the latest victim of the racial warfare resulting from the assault upon Mrs. Earl Hallam, a young white woman, by a negro Thursday night.

Donnigan was brutally beaten by the mob, hanged to a tree, and otherwise mistreated.

late Saturday night the residence of Rev. G. M. McDaniel, 1144 North Seventh street, a colored preacher, was torn down by a mob. The preacher and his family were not in the house at the time of the attack. In the afternoon they had been served with a notice to clear the city at once.

Wounded Kept in Hiding. The amount of fighting there was Friday night and early Saturday morning and the exact number of wounded may never be known. The ambulances and livery rigs were busy all night carrying wounded men to St. John's hospital or their homes.

The temper of the mob was terrific and the storm they started unquenchable. The fire department was not allowed to make runs to burning homes of negroes. Men ran into the street and grabbed horses' bits. Others cut the hose. The department had to content itself with holding fires from spreading to homes of white men.

Is Pe-ru-na Useful for Catarrh?

Should a list of the ingredients of Peru-na be submitted to any medical expert, of whatever school or nationality, he would be obliged to admit without reserve that the medicinal herbs composing Peru-na are of two kinds. First, standard and well-tried catarrh remedies. Second, well-known and generally acknowledged tonic remedies. That in one or the other of these uses they have stood the test of many years' experience by physicians of different schools. There can be no dispute about this, whatever. Peru-na is composed of some of the most efficacious and universally used herbal remedies for catarrhal diseases, and for such conditions of the human system as require a tonic. Each one of the principal ingredients of Peru-na has a reputation of its own in the cure of some phase of catarrh or as a tonic medicine.

The fact is, chronic catarrh is a disease which is very prevalent. Many thousand people know they have chronic catarrh. They have visited doctors over and over again, and been told that their case is one of chronic catarrh. It may be of the nose, throat, lungs, stomach or some other internal organ. There is no doubt as to the nature of the disease. The only trouble is the remedy. This doctor has tried to cure them. That doctor has tried to prescribe for them.

No other household remedy so universally advertised carries upon the label the principal active constituents, showing that Peru-na invites the full inspection of the critics.

Laws That Hurt Holland. Holland is not a poor country; as a matter of fact it is the third richest, proportionately, of all Europe. Its wealth is forcibly spread over its tiny surface, for lawmaking has prevented undue accumulation and quashed the small capitalist. When the father and mother dies, the farm, business, whatever the little property may happen to be is at once cut up, smashed to pieces, flung on the market at any price; the proceeds are compulsorily divided among the children.

Retort Courteous. Admiral Lord Charles Beresford has sat in parliament on several occasions. I didn't think you could do it. You don't look like a statesman." "Perhaps not," was the bluff sailor's retort. "No more do you look like a weathercock." —Belman.

Kellen and Miss Van Wyck

By J. W. SCOTT

(Copyright, by Shortstory Pub. Co.)

The Southern Pacific railroad and Rogue river came down the winding gorges of southern Oregon running abreast like wolves on a blood trail by paths that shuffle in and out and cross and re-cross as they drive to the south, ever to the south; and wherever the road sweeps over the river on a bridge the water tugs at the piers to bring it down; and year by year the sweating engines of many thundering trains hoot derision at the turbulent sea of the mountain raging with foam on his lips.

Kellen's division was in this part of the world. He was a conductor, and as he punched tickets from Mokuhlteno to Skybelt and from Skagland to Kitswitch he forgot about how the river ran and clutched at the feet of his firewagon, and inwardly cursed the monotony of things and the aridness of life, and prayed a change. He was of the kind of men who take too much interest in too many women. There is always trouble in that, but there is not always a tragedy in the bottom of the bag. His wife had blue eyes, and while she was growing a little bit faded, there was a pathetic, babyish sweetness in her face that would have nuzzled some men to the foot of her throne throughout the day and the evening a few miles above Nesqualmie, and from there ride away on horseback together. Miss Van Wyck was to station herself in the woods by the railroad at a grade-foot where his train slackened speed, and he was to drop off the train covertly when it should pass, take the horse she should bring for him, and ride with her 30 miles through the night and the woods to the Oregon coast. Then they were to make Seattle by steamer and train, and go east. Once east they should plan further. For one thing, Miss Van Wyck would thereafter have an escort when she went riding, and she would not have to endure the depressing rain clouds hanging over the Nesqualmie hills. When Mrs. Kellen should see fit to give Kellen a divorce, they would be married. Kellen gave his wife no hints, but left the blow to fall upon her without warning. He wanted his scheme to succeed and to avoid hindrances, and was therefore very cautious.

They selected Friday evening for their departure, notwithstanding the evil devil that presides over that day, because Miss Van Wyck would not be inquired for till Monday morning, when the children should return to school, and that would give them a big start. She told the horse owner of the village from whom she hired the horses that she was going riding down the river to Ballerton with a friend who would call for her at the house where she dwelt—that she had time to make the proper arrangements, while he had not—and accordingly the horses were left at her door.

The owls were hooting in the shadows when she reached the rendezvous at the grade-foot, and the river was growling among the willows. Her nerves were on razor edge when Kellen's train went by, and back among the trees, she jerked her restless horse's bobbing head with aimless and unreasoning viciousness.

But Kellen did not get off as the train skurried along puffing and flashing its lights. Miss Van Wyck sat waiting on her horse a long time, starting after the train and biting her lips, while her heart variously fluttered and sank and stood still. The gloom of the woods increased and was imparted to her soul. She waited stoically for an hour, hopelessly and wonderingly, and then turned toward Nesqualmie.

A quarter of a mile above the trysting spot the Rogue runs between narrow shores like a mad river, and a railroad bridge crosses it there. At the train drew near the bridge, Kellen was seen to go out on the platform and look ahead, according to a custom of his. Later the forward brakeman missed him, and he was found no more upon the train.

Down the river a mile from where he should have dropped off to join Miss Van Wyck with an eager smile on his face, the river spreads out suddenly over a flat in shallows, and here there was a ford leading back to Nesqualmie. Miss Van Wyck rode through the fir trees under the moonlight to this spot, and there she saw something in the river close to the bank, half in and half out of the willow shadows. It was going round and round slowly in an eddy, and its white face was turned up to the moon. No doubt it looked ghastly, for when she galloped into Nesqualmie half an hour later, she was raving and wringing her hands in a state of hysteria. Her nerves had been seriously shocked, and as she swayed and shook in the saddle it was gathered out of her incoherent moanings and self-reproaches that something was wrong at the ford.

Some men went out there, and there they recovered Kellen's body from the river; and they picked up the horse that had been led for him, browsing along the road. Afterward, it was found that a signboard on a post that stood close to the railroad track at the bridge where he disappeared had been twisted half around. It was thought that he leaned too far out and struck that, which was criminally close to the track; and it is probable that at the time when Miss Van Wyck was waiting for him in the grisly timber with parted lips and heaving breast, he was washing heedlessly by, his ears deaf and his eyes blind, in the current of the Rogue.

The horse owner and the nurse who attended Miss Van Wyck through the fever that followed the hysteria, and listened to her delirious babble, furnished information that patched out her story. Kellen was buried at Mokuhlteno, where his wife lived, and no one whispered anything to his wife about Miss Van Wyck; so the fading little woman, with the pathetic, charged eyes of blue, grieved over him sincerely. The funeral took place, while Miss Van Wyck was delirious, and Kellen was some time in his grave when she recovered. This saved her pain, because she could not have gone to the funeral had she been well, being unknown to his wife, and having no recognized ground of acquaintance with him that would have justified it. As soon as she was well she resigned her school and hurried away from Nesqualmie. She now teaches school in the south of California in a bare, flat region where the sun shines all the time. She cannot endure rain, nor clouds, nor mountains, nor woods—and running water in the moonlight turns her sick and shuddering.

She Galloped into Nesqualmie Half an Hour Later.

night of all time. But Kellen wanted fire, evidently. The pathos and the babyishness and the sweetness probably wearied him.

When Miss Van Wyck tripped on the coach step and gave him a smile for aid received, out of black eyes burning in a pale face a trifle strained and worn looking, there is no question but that the watcher of men's lives recorded the arrival on the road he traveled of a woman of interest to him.

Kellen owed Miss Van Wyck to the gods of the public school—they led her into the region that knew him. She taught school at Nesqualmie, and when she took up the birch rod there she elevated the window blind and noted down Kellen's train as a means of escape, as it whirled along the river bank by the black water and ripped up the valley.

When she donned the robe of office she did not say: "Here are many little ones to me given that I may mold them into fine vessels as the potter shapes the clay; and that is enough." No. She said: "This place is lonely. I see no young men here. What a vile wilderness."

She knew that she had to ride alone in the summer afternoons, and that the birds and the squirrels chattered horribly; and that the loneliness struck upon her nerves and made her start at shadows. Wherefore she was very dissatisfied.

But she fell upon the device of going up the road to Potlatch, which was

Coffee Salesmen Meet

The National Grocer company's peninsula forces of salesmen met in this city last Saturday to attend a special "Coffee" meeting arranged by Supt. V. Moran. Not only the salesmen were present, but the heads of the office departments of the Soo and Esanaba houses who gave valuable suggestions to the salesmen. The gathering opened at noon with a banquet at Tretchler's cafe, which was followed by a school of instruction.

seat, looking expectantly forward whenever the coach door opened, and that a faint blush put warmth in her white cheeks, and a look sprang into her eyes when he came down the aisle. It may be he forgot about his wife in talking to her. It does not matter. He did forget about her, and about the vows pledged at the church when she was not so faded; and he made a plan to help Miss Van Wyck kick the dust of Nesqualmie from her shoes forever.

They fixed up between them to go away from Oregon secretly; and he quietly wound up his few business affairs and drew all the money he had in bank. Their plan was to meet in

For the Hostess

Suggestions for Enjoyable Entertainments, Second Wedding Anniversary, and a Practical Shower.

Porch Parties.

These August days demand strictly outdoor functions, if entertainments given in this manner may be called by that formal name. Instead of having the customary method of conducting a fish party by guessing the names written on slips of paper, a hostess did this at a recent party: There was a large rug on the piazza supposed to represent the sea. It was covered with stiff paper fish folded slightly through the middle. There was a brass ring in the head and the name of the fish was written underneath. Each guest was given a small hook and line, and each one was given the name of a fish. There was "Miss Cod," "Mr. Shark," etc. There was a time limit, and each person could retain only the fish bearing his or her name; all others had to be returned to the water in good condition.

There was the jolliest kind of a time. This is a fine scheme for children, and a globe of gold fish might be one prize.

The following game is not exactly new, for there have been flower contests galore, but this list is an unusually good one. Here are the questions and answers:

1. Tell a bird to get up in the morning.
2. What flower is most precise?
3. Tell a little boy to cry, using his name.
4. A sweet, and another name for patch.
5. A rich man.
6. The Scotch word for "inability."
7. A means of transportation and a kind of people.
8. A bird and an aid to a rider.
9. What might a certain domestic animal do in winter?
10. A wild animal and part of a lady's wearing apparel.
11. A word of farewell.
12. A Christmas decoration and a German word.
13. What foreign nobleman like to do.
14. A flower with a commercial value.
15. What might a man say to his sweetheart in a fog?

The answers are: 1, wakerobin; 2, primrose; 3, balsam; 4, candytuff; 5, aster; 6, canna; 7, carnation; 8, larkspur; 9, cowslip; 10, foxglove; 11, forget-me-not; 12, hollyhock; 13, marigold; 14, stocks; 15, love-in-a-mist.

Flowers in pots, Japanese ferns (they need no water), or flower-shaped pins are all appropriate for prizes.

A Beverage Contest.

This beverage contest was arranged as a "mixer" at the beginning of an evening at which there were many strangers present.

The programs were in shape of old-fashioned goblets, and the prizes were a medicine glass with markings showing teaspoon, tablespoon, ounce, etc., and a traveling glass in a leather case. Tea, coffee, cocoa (these all iced), punch and "sundaes" were served with a variety of small cakes and wafers. The questions are given below with answers:

- For the cowboy—brandy.
The sailor—port.
The brewer—whisky.
The golfer—tea.
The floorwalker—cordial.
The drummer—seltzer.
The poultryman—cocktail.
The consumptive—coffee.
The prize fighter—punch.
The financier—mint julep.
The fat man—stout.
The hypochondriac—champagne.
The lumberman—sauterne.

- The invalid—ale.
The preacher—sundae.
The shoemaker—cobbler.
The undertaker—beer.
The wife-beater—liqueur.
The promoter—water.

Second Wedding Anniversary.

The paper wedding marks the second year of wedded life, and it may be made a very pretty affair. Paper is so decorative when used with artistic skill.

There is almost no limit to the possibilities of decoration. The invitations are issued in the usual way with the date of the original wedding. Choose whatever color is desired, then make shades for all the gas jets and lamps, cover flower pots and jardinières and make portieres and draperies of three-inch strips of crepe paper. Fancy Japanese parasols, fans, dollies and wall-panels may be used with good effect; also paper napkins and table covers.

Use paper flowers as garlands and bouquets. Paper cases for holding bonbons, ices and salads, and even the tumblers may be covered with dainty frills of paper.

For favors, the largest size snapping motto caps are appropriate and decorative. Pile them in the center of the table, attached to ribbons to be drawn out by the guests.

If the host and hostess, as well as the guests, are attired in garments of paper so much the merrier. If this can be carried out pass booklets in which will be written down what character each one is supposed to represent. A prize of paper may be awarded. The shops are so full of paper novelties that the hostess will be able to give each one a souvenir. One hostess on this occasion made darling little baskets by braiding crepe paper and placed a tiny fern in each one. Making hats out of crepe paper is a good stunt for a party of this kind.

A Practical Shower.

A prospective autumn bride has just been the recipient of a "shower" that was not only very acceptable, but did not tax the pocketbooks of the guests, which, I assure you, is quite an important item in these days of elaborate and costly affairs that often precede weddings.

The guests, who were all close friends of the bride-to-be, were each asked to bring a "jar" or "glass" of "something" as best suited their convenience. "Thimbles" was also written on the card. So all came prepared to sew. The hostess had provided materials for all sorts of kitchen towels and dust cloths, which were all hemmed and in neat piles by the time refreshments were served.

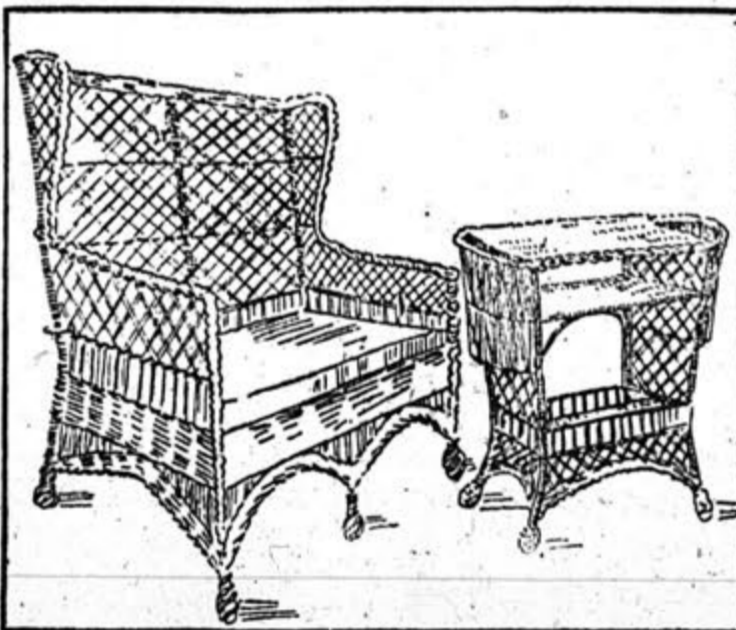

Besides home-made jellies, marmalades, cans of fruit, pickles of all kinds, there was a jar or two of imported ginger, and even peanut butter. The contributions for the emergency shelf were presented in the dining room at the table and caused much amusement, as nearly every article was accompanied by the recipe, a merry jingle, or a terse bit of advice.

MADAME MERRI.

A Silver Watch-Holder.

A new wrinkle for the toilet table is the watch-holder, made like a picture frame. It is of sterling silver and the watch fits into the opening, where it is clamped into place, so when the watch is not in use by the woman herself, there is a pretty and useful clock on the dresser.

FOR THE VERANDA

With the hot-weather season the veranda, having the advantages of both the indoors and outdoors, comes in for much service, and on this account some attention should be paid to its furnishing.

For the furniture of the veranda one of the best materials is the light and summery wicker. The main difficulty in choosing the material is the ugliness of so many of the styles shown in the shops. Probably more ugly furniture is made of reed and wicker than of any other medium.

There are certain shapes to be found, however, that are good in design as well as comfortable. Many of the most attractive foreign models are being duplicated in this country in the less expensive grade, and there are also dignified native designs, showing that good taste and simplicity can be obtained in this kind of furniture. In these models the less complicated system of weaving and the metal-tipped foot are used in place of the tortuous curves and the bulbous foot. Two attractive wicker pieces are shown in the drawing—a settee and a table—both of excellent design.

The wicker furniture must be simple and agreeable in outline, and with its cushioned seats is very comfortable. A long seat or bench placed along the wall is very comfortable if well provided with pillows, or a swinging seat or hammock may be substituted. Flower boxes give an opportunity for a brilliant massing of color, and the flowers should be selected with regard to their coloring.

Famous Houses That Were Tangible Reminders of Great Men Destroyed or So Changed as to Be Unrecognizable.

Leaf by leaf the roses fall; drop by drop the springs run dry. One by one our Lanes and Penates are being taken from us. The landmarks are being removed, gradually, so that modern Washington does not know the original capital city; and in the near future our modern Washington will neither be known nor remembered.

Preserved and venerated are the relics of antiquity in the old world; as likewise also are mementoes of the events of national and international importance retained for the benefit of posterity. But in our new world nothing is ancient; and nothing is likely to become ancient, for we are not permitted, nor to be permitted to have tangible reminders of our great men, nor mementoes of our great events.

The residence of Jefferson Davis, once a great senator and a great secretary of war, is now the business office of a notorious corporation.

The residence of John Quincy Adams, wherein he dwelt as a member of congress fighting for the right of petition, is gone; and, alongside of it where once stood the home of Daniel Webster, when he prepared and delivered his famous reply to Hayne; these two, have gone into nothingness, and on their joint sites there has been erected a massive iron structure, veneered with marble. There is nothing here to indicate to future generations the triumph of the "right of petition," nor to suggest the origin of that famous, effective speech for "Liberty and Union, now and forever, one and inseparable."

The home of the ante-bellum Washington club, where all of the great men of note daily and nightly gathered; where Daniel E. Sickles shot down the despoiler of his home; the house subsequently the home of Secretary of State William H. Seward, where he was assaulted and left for Lincoln by the assassin, the night that Lincoln was killed; the house which was afterward the residence of Secretary James G. Blaine, and where that singularly popular politician breathed his last; no longer exists. In its place there is a modern theater, whence the strains of music and the strainings of the voices of alleged prima donnas vibrate across the park, even into the defenseless ears of the family in the White House.

Within one block of the treasury there stood a famous hotel, built in 1836, from whose portals there went forth for inauguration as president of the United States, Martin Van Buren, James K. Polk, Zachary Taylor, Millard Fillmore, James Buchanan, Abraham Lincoln, Ulysses S. Grant, Rutherford B. Hayes and James A. Garfield. But that landmark is gone.

Two blocks north, there stood a Methodist church which was the spiritual home of many eminent men; and of several presidents, including William McKinley. But it is gone. Beneath its roof John Quincy Adams, Jackson, Polk and Lincoln also heard the word of God. On its site is a large office building. The church is gone and almost forgotten.

On the corner of Third street and Pennsylvania avenue, northwest, once stood the Washington hotel, the home of Vice-Presidents Hannibal Hamlin and Henry Wilson; also the residence of Speakers Polk, Grew and of numerous other eminent gentlemen. The old structure, with its bricks full of memories, will soon make room for an apartment house.—Los Angeles Times.

Made Boom for Sherman.

Alfred Angus Early, who is principally famous for the fact that when he whispers cut glass and other delicate articles aren't safe within a 40-foot radius, is claiming credit for the nomination of James Schoolcraft Sherman of New York for the vice-presidency.

"I done it," said Alf to a bunch of newspaper men and politicians the other day. "I can prove that. I opened the box of Sherman buttons in the Cannon headquarters and gave away the first one. Nobody had ever thought of Sherman before that."

Mr. Early could add with truth that he distributed 20,000 Sherman boom buttons in less than two days, and the most of them he personally pinned on folks' coats. It made no difference to him whether the pinnee was a Sherman man or a Fairbanks man or a Cummins man or what other kind of a man. He went right on pinning just the same. When he found a particularly obstreperous partisan who would have none of his lapel and button work he waited until said obstreperous partisan had turned around, and then stuck a couple of buttons on his back.

Doan's Kidney Pills bring the quickest of relief from backache and kidney troubles? Is that relief lasting? Let Mrs. James M. Long, of 113 N. Augusta St., Staunton, Va., tell you. On January 31st, 1903, Mrs. Long wrote: "Doan's Kidney Pills have cured me" (of pain in the back, urinary troubles, bearing down sensations, etc.). On June 29th, 1907, four and one-half years later, she said: "I haven't had kidney trouble since. I repeat my testimony."

This woman says that after months of suffering Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made her as well as ever.

Maude E. Fergie, of Leesburg, Va., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I want other suffering women to know what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. For months I suffered from feminine ills so that I thought I could not live. I wrote you, and after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and using the treatment you prescribed I felt like a new woman. I am now strong, and well as ever, and thank you for the good you have done me."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

DR. BRADLEY AND THE GOVERNORSHIP.

Several organs of the state are making a great furor in giving expression to their belief that Dr. Bradley stands no show in the race for the gubernatorial nomination before the primaries on Sept. 1st. At the same time they are apparently sweating drops of blood and it is very apparent that while reticent about it and on the surface appear confident, their knees, figuratively speaking, are trying to shake hands. If there are any in doubt as to the qualifications of Dr. Bradley, they should peruse the following which recently appeared in the Detroit Times:

Look at the face of this man and you will see he is a dynamo of energy. Determination is his main attribute and at the present time he has his mind up to defeat the third term aspirations of Governor Warner.

What are his qualifications, you ask? I will tell you. He is one of the best auditor generals we have ever had. During his term of office he has succeeded in having three-quarters of a million acres of delinquent tax land returned to our state.

These lands were sold for the benefit of different counties throughout Michigan, netting so far nearly seven hundred thousand dollars.

Think of that and add to it another fact that you may well put down in indelible ink.

In his official capacity he has wrung from the biggest corporations and their kindred enterprises specific taxes amounting to over $3,000,000.

Three million dollars and over! Think of it! No wonder the people are demanding that he run for the governorship. He put new life into the inheritance tax from whose corpse he wrung over six hundred and fifty thousand dollars, all of which went to the benefit of those who are living in these hard and strenuous times.

Dr. Bradley, like a distinguished parliamentarian, does not want to be considered a moderate man.

He not only possesses positive views but he sees they are enforced. He is not alone a man of thought but a man of action.

He sees a wrong and strikes at it. Like Lincoln he loves the common people, for as Abraham said, the lord must have loved them, for he made a great many of them. He believes in equal taxation for all classes of property. Rich and poor are alike to him and this motto is inscribed upon his banner in letters of burning light: "I believe in taxing the telegraph and telephone properties according to their value."

Our worthy aspirant for the governorship is a foe to all political juggling and loves to fight in the open.

He has good, sound, common sense and has practical ideas of how to get a higher standard of civic honesty than exists today.

The state of Michigan is just about seventy years old and for every year over a million dollars has been appropriated in taxes to be borne by the general property of the state.

Try and figure one million in your mind and it will keep you busy. Dr. Bradley is a man that loves large affairs. There are some men built that way. His fifty years of robust, active life sit lightly on him and in his race for the governorship he has already set the pace.

He believes that courage is half the battle and he believes he'll win.

He is a product of Michigan's soil and a native of Shiawassee county, and is well known throughout the state. Endowed with more than the usual share of fine energy, he became a candidate for the auditor generalship and since his successful re-entrance and continuance in that great office he has become a marked man in the eyes of an admiring public.

His qualifications are unquestioned. His experience is of incalculable value, and such experience as he has had will naturally lead to higher things.

Do you think he will win the nomination in the September primaries? was asked one of Dr. Bradley's waggish friends the other day. In reply he said: "You may as well ask me if a duck swims."

Another of Dr. Bradley's friends, more seriously minded, asks this pertinent question: "Who wants Governor Warner for a third term anyhow? What in the name of heaven has he done to warrant such assumption?"

One cannot help contrasting the present governor with President Roosevelt, a gentleman whose innate modesty is a splendid attribute to the character of a man who is really great.

THE WISCONSIN SENATORIAL TOGA.

If the Republicans of the upper peninsula of Michigan could have the voice in the selection of a United States senatorial nominee at the approaching primaries in Wisconsin, "Uncle Ike" Stephenson would be the almost unanimous choice. Why? In the first place, because the people of the upper peninsula know him. They have been so closely allied with Marinette's "Grand Old Man" in a business and a social way that they feel that it would be nothing more than justice to his good deeds to gratify the political ambition of Mr. Stephenson in his declining years for the power he has been for good in the upbuilding of the "New North" in the way of promoting and carrying out industrial problems that would stagger the average person to even contemplate. Northern Wisconsin and the upper peninsula of Michigan owe much to Mr. Stephenson. The people of Wisconsin in its entirety owe far more than a senatorial toga to the Marinette prince of industry and the Republicans of the Badger state will certainly prove themselves a most ungrateful lot if they do not reward the man who has for several years unloosened his purse strings to carry out the reforms in that state which could not have been realized had it not been for the freeness of "Uncle Ike" in contributing liberally to the campaign funds, also personal contributions to the political czar of Wisconsin, who has ascended to a point in the political arena, where he imagines that he has passed the crisis and no longer needs the financial assistance of the man, who, by his zeal and liberal tendencies, has made it possible for the ungrateful personage to elevate himself and sweep in the credit of which no small proportion belongs to Hon. Isaac Stephenson. We believe that the Badger state will do the right thing at the right time, and that the Republicans have it within their power, to give to Mr. Stephenson the long term in the U. S. senate—and not insult him with a turn down and the very unsatisfactory honor of merely filling out the unexpired term of Ex-Senator John C. Spooner.

The turn which the water question has taken now demonstrates the wisdom of the president and directors of the businessmen's Association in not accepting the proposition which the water company presented to them two weeks ago, asking that all legal proceedings be dropped. The water company is now given an opportunity by Judge Stone to make good its promises by starting the work on a filtration plant within 60 days and failure to do so will mean that the injunction which has now been suspended will again be put in action.

The candidacy of Stanley M. Matthews for the office of representative in the state legislature is steadily increasing in favor as the time for the primary draws near. Mr. Matthews in his canvass of the county has made many friends and supporters and there is now strong sentiment in his favor both in this city and Gladstone and in the townships. Mr. Matthews' qualifications for the office make him the logical candidate.

He is not only a man of business experience and ability, but is one the people can trust to look after their interests.

Congressional Convention

A call has been issued for the Republican congressional convention for the Twelfth district of Michigan, embracing the fifteen counties in the upper peninsula, with a total representation of 97 delegates. There being no opposition to H. Olin Young of Ishpeming, the present incumbent, he will be the unanimous choice to succeed himself in the lower branch of Congress. The call is signed by O. C. Davidson of Iron Mountain as chairman, and M. M. Duncanson of Ishpeming, secretary. Out of the 97 delegates, Delta county is entitled to a representation of eight.

Old Settler Called

Mrs. Mary Kee, mother of Dr. David Kee of Gladstone, and William Kee of Fayette, passed away Tuesday night at her home near Fayette after a lingering illness. The deceased was one of the early settlers of the county and enjoyed a large acquaintance.

Pastor Will Remain

The Rev. Leonard Kasper, pastor of the Emmanuel German Lutheran church, has returned and will resume his duties here next Sunday. It will be pleasing news to the members of his congregation and many friends to learn that the reverend gentleman refused to accept the call to Cudahy, Wis. and will remain here, notwithstanding that many flattering inducements were held out to him. Rev. Kasper was absent six weeks, during which time he visited Oshkosh, Milwaukee and several other Wisconsin cities.

Were Happily Wedded

Miss Lizzie Fountain and Alfred Deshaies, both of this city, were married at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning at St. Anne's church. Miss Helen Cyr acted as bridesmaid and John Hutt as groomsmen. The bride wore a pretty gown of white, while the bridesmaid wore a gown of pink.

After the ceremony members of the wedding party repaired to the home of the bride's parents where a wedding breakfast was served. At 11 o'clock the couple left for Chicago where they will visit for a short time, before returning to Escanaba to make their home.

Death Calls Child

Bernard McCauley, the one-year-old son of Capt. and Mrs. Cornelius McCauley of Manitowoc, passed away Tuesday at the home of Capt. James McCauley, 214 North Fannie street, where Mrs. McCauley and babe have been visiting. The child became ill with cholera infantum, complications developing.

The body was taken to Manitowoc Wednesday for burial. Capt. McCauley, father of the babe, is master of the steamer Carolina, and was unable to reach this city before the death of the child.

Started Rough House

Wm. Bedore, a young man residing in North Escanaba, appeared in Judge Glaser's court Tuesday morning to answer to the charge of disorderly conduct. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail. It seems that on Monday night Bedore visited a house of (un)questionable character and not being admitted when he gave the signal and counter sign, he proceeded to give voice and physical expression to his wrath in proceeding to smash in the windows with a club. As a result of his experience he was arrested with the result as above stated. The prisoner is a brother of the little girl who was burned to death about a month ago, when the Bedore residence was destroyed by fire.

FORD RIVER

(Delayed from last week)

Mr. Schraeder of Grinnell Bros., Escanaba, was in our city last Wednesday on business.

Mrs. J. W. Smith and son returned from the Cottage Hospital, Escanaba, where Mrs. Smith had gone a few days ago.

Dr. Davis, expert optician and oculist, is in our city this week with a full line of glasses, etc. We understand he is meeting with great success, as are his patients for whom he has fitted glasses since his arrival.

John Londerville made a short visit with his parents the middle of the week but returned Thursday morning to his abode in Gurley, where he is whipping his base-ball team together that he may break the home team's winning streak when they cross bats at Ford River next Sunday.

The "misfits" got together last Sunday and showed the home people that even though but two of the regular players played in their regular positions they knew something about base ball and defeated the strong Union Stars from Escanaba by the very close score of six to five. With the exception of the fifth inning when the visiting team made four of their five runs it was a very pretty and interesting battle. Smith pitched the first six innings when Anderson took his place, going to first base where Anderson watched his team play rings around the Stars. But two men saw first base in the three innings pitched by Anderson. The following departments are open in Escanaba: College, Commercial, School of Music, Academic, Preparatory, School of Art.

The Rev. Father Langan left Monday for Milwaukee for the purpose of taking a well earned and needed rest, having entered a sanatorium for that purpose. He left on the advice of his physician, who was fearful lest he might suffer the same break down he did about two years ago. It is expected that with the rest and careful treatment, the reverend gentleman will recuperate sufficiently to return about Sept. 1st. His friends trust that he will fully recover his health.

Mr. and Mrs. Starrin have returned from Negaunee, where they enjoyed a few days visit.

John Danielson of Stephenson, was a visitor here the earlier part of the week.

Members of the Woman's Relief Corps enjoyed a lawn social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Greenfoot, last evening.

Leslie R. Haring has accepted a position in the D. S. S. & A. railroad office at Marquette.

The Ford River team will cross bats with the Gurley, of which John Londerville is manager and captain. We trust all will be out to witness the game.

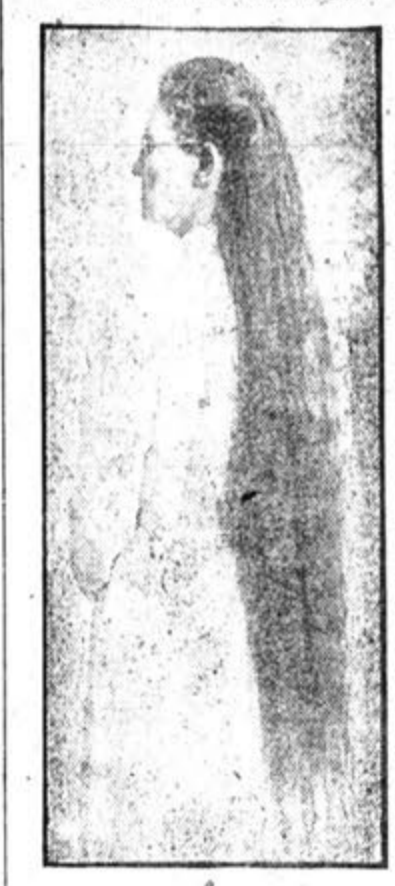

HAS HAIR AT FIFTY LIKE A GIRL'S AT TWENTY

Matrons as well as debutantes can have luxurious, beautiful hair.

Read What She Says:

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 26, 1906.
MRS. E. BURNHAM, Chicago, Ill.

Dear Sir—I will make you the same statement I have made to a great many of my friends, that my beautiful hair is due solely to E. Burnham's Hair Restorer and Hair and Scalp Tonic, which began the use of your Hair Tonic and it benefited me to such an extent that now my hair is thick, heavy, lustrous, measuring 40 inches long, and is as beautiful and as heavy as had no more gray hairs than a girl of 20—my hair has grown 41 inches in six years and is still growing very fast. I am now 50 years old. I am making the statement believing that it is only just to you and the public that they should know and be advised of the real merits of your hair preparations. Respectfully,
Mrs. Hattie R. Schaefer

E. BURNHAM'S
Hair and Scalp Tonic

Ask your dealer to show you the original photo of this lady.

E. Burnham has found the cause and cure for baldness, dandruff and other scalp infections. The scalp being one of the weakest parts of the cranium, blood becomes sluggish and the follicles or the roots of the hair become impaired and disengaged from want of nourishment.

E. Burnham's Hair and Scalp Tonic overcomes this by feeding and strengthening the hair follicles, putting the scalp in a healthy and normal condition, giving the hair new life, stopping it from falling out and removing dandruff and other scalp infections.

Richter Beer enjoys a deserved popularity in public places where beer is served and patrons are learning to designate it in ordering, that they may avoid the possibility of getting an inferior brand.

There is a vim and a snap to this beer that is a sign of A1 materials and superior brewing. It affords just the proper degree of healthful stimulation needed by busy people and its effects are greatly beneficial. It makes good red blood and builds up the tissues.

DOWNWARD COURSE

Fast Being Realized by Escanaba People

A little backache at first. Daily increasing till the back is lame and weak.

Urinary disorders quickly follows: Diabetes and finally Bright's disease. This is the downward course of kidney ills.

Mrs. Leonard Richer, of 407 Rock St., Marquette, Mich., says: "My daughter eight years old, was afflicted with a bladder weakness and as the various remedies we tried did her no good, we became very much discouraged. Bed wetting was a nightly occurrence and it worried us a great deal. At length we got a box of Doan's Kidney pills and gave them to her. They not only stopped the annoyance, but cured the child's kidney's and greatly improved her health."

Plenty more proof like this from Escanaba people. Call at Mead Drug Co's store and ask what their customers report.

NAVAL RESERVES BACK

Hancock and Escanaba Boys Returned Last Sunday

The cruise of the U. S. S. Yantic ended last Saturday, returning to port at Hancock after a very successful week of maneuvers for the naval reserves bordering on the great lakes, participated in by the Escanaba and Hancock divisions. The home boys returned Sunday night, coming from Marquette by train. It was a great disappointment to many of the citizens of Escanaba that the Yantic did not strike the local port on the return trip, as it had been planned that the two divisions referred to were to come ashore and parade Ludington street, concluding with a drill. It was also expected that our citizens would have an opportunity to inspect the Yantic in all its departments. Many anxiously looked for the coming of the Yantic all day Sunday.

The maneuvers at South Manitou in which all of the naval reserves of the states bordering on the great lakes, except New York, have participated, were not concluded until last Tuesday, but owing to the insufficiency of the allowance made by the state the men on the Yantic, including the Hancock and Escanaba divisions were obliged to cut short their tour of duty. The Escanaba boys who recently returned from the rendezvous at South Manitou report all well and everybody having a good time, besides taking great interest in the drills of the squadron.

Coffee Salesmen Meet

The National Grocer company's peninsula forces of salesmen met in this city last Saturday to attend a special "Coffee" meeting arranged by Supt. J. V. Moran. Not only the salesmen were present, but the heads of the coffee departments of the Soo and Escanaba houses who gave valuable suggestions to the salesmen. The gathering opened at noon with a banquet at Tretchler's cafe, which was followed by a school of instruction.

SHED LIGHT ON DARK PLACES OF THE EARTH

CONTINENTS ARE BEING MAPPED

Marvelous Results Achieved by Systematic Exploration

Tremendous Tracts Have Been Opened Up in the Last One Hundred Years—Northern Asia Still a Field for the Venturesome—Peary Now Undertaking One of the Greatest Feats.

PEARY'S new expedition to the north pole opens up an interesting field of thought, writes Edmund Noble in the Boston Sunday Herald. It emphasizes some of the inconsistencies of human achievement. This is an age of scientific marvels. Man has harnessed nature to do his bidding, and is daily discovering new forces or new ways of utilizing them. After penetrating to the depths of the sea, he is already aspiring to the dominion of the air. He weighs planets and suns in his balances, and writes down their composition in the unerring formulae of the chemical laboratory. His telescopes and prisms fetch exact information from the very "confines of the universe." He has not yet completed the survey of his own planet. The night skies have become to him as an open book, yet there are worlds at his very elbow which the most recent geographical science is compelled to class as "unknown."

This delay in mapping the earth is less surprising when it is remembered that geographical science could begin only at a late stage in the evolution of man. For its very possibility, systematic exploration of the planet needed highly civilized peoples, good at conquering, as well as in trade and travel. The earliest promoters of geographical knowledge were thus peoples like the Babylonians, Assyrians, Egyptians, Phoenicians and Greeks. None of them knew the shape of the planet on which they lived, many of them believed it to be a flat plane, diversified by hills and valleys; some pictured the territory of their "known world" as surrounded at distance by a wide river called ocean.

Five hundred years B. C. this nucleus of culture, from which modern civilization was to come forth, comprised a patch of territory considerably smaller than the United States, reaching from the confines of the Persian empire on the east to Spain and the coast of Africa on the west, the whole bounded to the north by the "Hyperboreans." The subsequent expansion of these limits up to the beginning of the Christian era was mainly the work of the Greeks, the Carthaginians and the Latins. The "known world" of the Roman empire reached from Britain to India and China. Germany had then come into view, and Scandinavia was outlined. The northern fringe of Africa had widened somewhat, but the ancients continued to style northern Asia as "Schythian."

By 1492 A. D. Iceland and Greenland were talked about; "Russia" had taken the place of "Sarmatia"; Mongolia and Manchuria found mention on the maps; and there were recorded "landfalls" on the coasts of North America.

then a blank on the maps, and Alaska utterly untraveled. There are still patches of North America which need description, and vast areas of South America on which the zeal of the explorer is yet to cast light.

AREA STILL UNEXPLORED. Vast Extent of Unknown Territory in Northern Asia.

THE great territory of northern Asia, out of which Chinghis Khan emerged with his Tartar-Mongols in the thirteenth century to be the terror of Europe, has resisted the geographical investigator longest of all. From Marco Polo to Prjevalsky and Sven Hedin, a succession of explorers has been at work in this still mysterious section of the earth's surface, rendered all the more inaccessible by strange languages, stranger customs, and rooted distrust of the "foreigner." It was the Russians who were first showed the way from Europe to the Pacific, for after Yermak had reached Sibir in 1579, the successive stages of their advance could not but end in the regions of the Amur, the Sea of Okhotsk, Kamtschatka and Behring straits. Central and southern Asia have been actively explored for two centuries past; yet there are still unknown areas of considerable extent in Burma, Tibet and China.

Australia, now the home of a civilized people living below the equator, is of peculiar interest to Americans. Prior to the sixteenth century this immense continent, with its population of over 6,000,000, was totally unknown to the world. The Spanish, following in the wake of Magellan, were the first to sight it; the Dutch explored its coast lines, and after the voyage of Capt. Cook in the latter end of the eighteenth century, the English took up the work of colonizing and exploring what was originally called "New Holland." Even in 1800 it was an unknown waste, peopled by savages interesting to the anthropologist and supporting flora and fauna of considerable value for the purposes of descriptive natural history. But by and by settlers appeared, and a few populous cities and towns sprang up. Thanks to the efforts of men like Wentworth, Evans, Sturt, Burke, Willis, Warburton, Forrest and Giles, a large part of the interior has been explored.

DEVELOPMENT IN AFRICA. Great Continent Has Only Recently Been Opened Up.

AFRICA is another great continent with which the world made late acquaintance. Egypt, the "shepherd kings," the Nile, the pyramids, make up its classic period. Modern Africa began for geography when, about 450 A. D., Hanno, the Carthaginian, sailed down its west coast as far as Sierra plorer. This immense continent first fed the demand for slaves, then satisfied the greed for territory. Unlike China, it was not coveted too late to be partitioned, and to-day, outside Morocco and Abyssinia, there is not a square mile of its area which is not claimed and owned by one or other of the European powers.

EXPEDITIONS TO POLES. Last Portions of Planet's Surface to Be Reached.

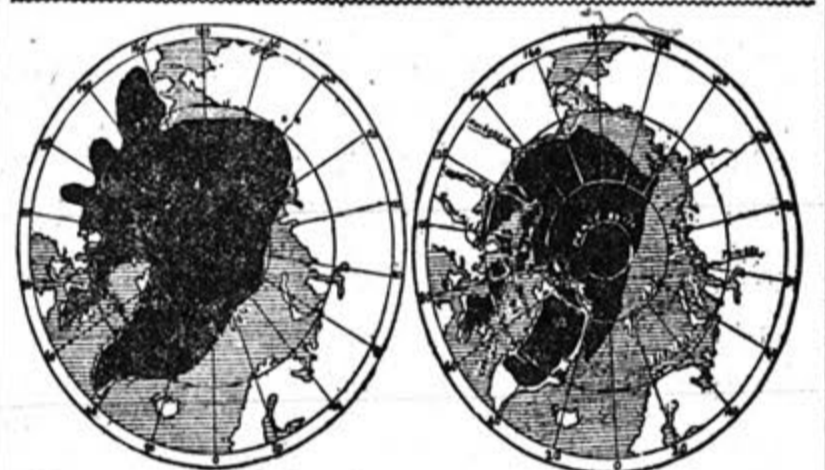

THE last portions of the planet's surface to be reached and explored are the poles, both of them more or less ice-bound. The south pole, especially remote from the great centers of civilization, has never attracted more than a scientific interest. The first work done in the geography of the arctic was done by the discovery of the South Shetland Islands in 1816 by Capt. Smith. Various "lands" have since been revealed—among them Enderby Land and Graham Land by Bischoff in 1831, Wilkesland in 1840, by Wilkes, and Victoria Land by Sir James Ross, two years later—but it is not yet definitely known whether these are mere islands or parts of a continent. Extensive land areas around the south pole are meanwhile suggested by the slope of the ocean floor and by the character of the antarctic icebergs. The coasts are fringed with glaciers, which project for long distances into the sea, showing that if an antarctic continent exists it must be covered everywhere by immense sheets of ice. Ross passed an ice front 200 feet high and 150 miles long; he saw great mountain ranges on Victoria Land, including two volcanic peaks whose height he estimated at from 7,000 to 15,000 feet. One of these was in eruption, pouring forth its lava upon the surrounding snow. The supposed antarctic continent, if one exists, has been estimated at nearly purely scientific and culminated in the "dash for the north pole." In 1827, with the aid of sledges, Parry reached 82 degrees 45 minutes. Nearly 50 years later Markham raised this record to 83 degrees 20 minutes. In 1883, as a member of the Greely expedition, Lieut. Lockwood succeeded at 83 degrees 24 minutes in coming within 450 miles of the pole. The year 1895 marked the attainment of 85 degrees 14 minutes by Nansen, who had adopted the "drift" method of attack. The Abruzzi expedition came in 1900, when Cagni raised the figures to 85 degrees 33 minutes.

"Farthest north" is now 200 miles from the pole. It was attained by Commander Robert E. Peary in his last expedition of 1905-6. Leaving civilization in the Roosevelt, Peary spent three weeks in boring through the narrow ice-swept channel between Greenland and America, only to have his ship driven ashore into winter quarters at Cape Sheridan. In a subsequent sledge trip over the ice, the explorer was cut off from his supporting parties. The final dash, with eight men and six teams of dogs, enabled him to reach 87 degrees 6 minutes, where the condition of the ice and lack of food compelled immediate return.

BRINGING GOLD FROM KLONDIKE. Estimated That More Than $30,000,000 Will Be Sent to Seattle.

Gold from the candle-lit clefts of placer mines in the Tananna and Nazina districts, from Gold Bar creek in the Klondike and from the thousands of "lays" on winter diggings in the Nome district, dug out by hand and cleaned up at the end of the sluice boxes in the good old-fashioned "sour dough" way, was not brought to Seattle last spring, but is coming by Arctic Regions as Known in 1800 Arctic Regions as Known in 1900.

4,000,000 square miles. Up to the present, and in spite of several recent expeditions, navigators are much farther from the south than from the north pole. In 1842 Ross reached 78 degrees 10 minutes, one of the latest records is that of Borchgrevink, who in 1899, gained 78 degrees 50 minutes by using sledges in a dash over the ice.

The romance of polar exploration—of its perils and its heresim—centers in the north. The arctic pole is much nearer to civilization than the antarctic, has a closer connection with the great continents, and is or ought to be somewhat in the line of the world's travel. The movement northward began with the discovery of Greenland by Gubniorn at the beginning of the tenth century, and with the planting of colonies on its shores by Eric the Red in 985. Nearly ten centuries thereafter were spent by explorers, first from the Asiatic, then from the American side, in discovering and defining the contours of the arctic coasts. Both mercantile and scientific aims were in evidence. On the one hand was the search for the northwest passage by Davis, Frohisher, Hudson and Baffin; on the other the no less eager pursuit of the northeast passage by Barentz, Chancellor and others. In 1850-54 McClure successfully accomplished the northwest passage, and gained the reward of $50,000 which had been offered by the British parliament in 1763. By an equally successful feat in 1878-79, Baron Nordenskiold, the Swedish scientist, made the northeast passage in the Vega by passing from Norway along the Asiatic coast into the Pacific ocean.

FRANKLIN'S FATAL JOURNEY. One of the Most Terrible Episodes of Arctic Exploration.

ONE of the most terrible episodes of Arctic exploration was the loss of Sir John Franklin and his crew of 129 men. He began his voyage in May, 1845. A year later his vessels, the Erebus and Terror, became ice-bound near King William Land. After the death of their commander in June, 1847, the crew made a vain effort to fight their way over the ice to Great Fish river. Many expeditions were sent out, both by land and sea, to search for the missing, but they succeeded only in finding three graves of men who had died at an early stage and had been buried in Beechey Island. In 1854 Rae met a young Eskimo who told him that four years previously 40 white men had been seen dragging a boat to the south of the west shore of King William Land, and that a few months later he had found the bodies of 30 of these men. In 1858-59 McClintock discovered in King William Land a human skeleton lying on its face, and his companion, Hobson, found a record of the Franklin expedition, stating its history between 1845 and 1848. Further searches were continued up to 1873, in which year Lieut. F. Schwatka of the United States army, discovered several graves and skeletons.

THE NORTHWARD MOVEMENT. After exhausting mercantile, exploratory and humanitarian motives, finally became purely scientific and culminated in the "dash for the north pole." In 1827, with the aid of sledges, Parry reached 82 degrees 45 minutes. Nearly 50 years later Markham raised this record to 83 degrees 20 minutes. In 1883, as a member of the Greely expedition, Lieut. Lockwood succeeded at 83 degrees 24 minutes in coming within 450 miles of the pole. The year 1895 marked the attainment of 85 degrees 14 minutes by Nansen, who had adopted the "drift" method of attack. The Abruzzi expedition came in 1900, when Cagni raised the figures to 85 degrees 33 minutes.

When the first steamers reach here from Nome it is expected that the price of ice cream and watermelons will be boomed considerably. This is the statement of old-time "sour doughs," who assert, backed by evidence, that men who have lived all winter on bacon and beans in the north have a hankering for ice cream and watermelons that nothing else can satisfy. Next to the ice cream and watermelons the miners demand fresh green vegetables, young onions preferred, and then later on perhaps they become learned in the mysteries of cauliflower au gratin. Rich and juicy beefsteaks stand at the top of the list and clam chowder is not far behind. By the time the men from the glacier-bound gulches become acclimated they turn from these enjoyments, carefully examine their bank accounts and then buy a ticket on a railroad to visit "the old folks at home."

Muskegon Man, Recently Married, Must Leave Wife at Home for Prison Bars—At Large for Two Years.

Muskegon.—With a recently-wedded wife in a comfortable home, known as a hard-working man, and supposedly safe from the clutches of officers, Robert F. McCullough, who broke jail two years ago at Defiance, O., was arrested and confessed his crime. He went back, donned prison stripes and, leaving his sorrowing young wife here, began to serve out a sentence that he could not endure two years ago. Chief of Police Dowd and Detective Petersoz were scanning circulars of wanted jail-breakers and thieves and four hours after the circular was received McCullough had been arrested through the resemblance the circular photo bore to him.

LOOKED FOR OTHER TWO.

Little One Had But One Idea of Term "Fore-Handed."

Little Catherine has been boarding on a farm this summer, and many of the rural expressions are wholly unfamiliar to her. One day she chanced to hear her country hostess praising the good qualities of a certain thrifty neighbor.

"He really ain't got much, compared to some folks," said the farmer's wife, "but he makes out wonderful well; he's a fore-handed."

That evening the man thus lauded happened to drop in, and Katherine immediately sidled up to him, with curious eyes. Slowly she revolved about the chair in which he sat, and so persistently did she gaze at him that the farmer's wife finally noticed it.

"Well, Katherine," she said, "you seem to find a good deal to look at in Mr. B.—don't you?"

"Why," replied the child, her little forehead wrinkled in perplexity. "I did want to see his two over hands, but I can't. Is he sittin' on 'em?"

TRIPP COUNTY, S. D.

Government Land Opening.

The government opening of a million acres of fine agricultural and grazing lands will probably occur about Oct. 1st. The Rosebud extension of The Chicago & North Western Ry. is the only railway reaching these lands, and Dallas, S. D., is the railway terminus and the only town on the reservation border. The U. S. land office will probably be located there. Pamphlets describing this land and how to secure a quarter section homestead, free on application to W. B. Kniskern, P. T. M., C. & N. W. Ry., Chicago, Ill.

THE "LESS" AGE.

Cholly—It's wonderful, bah Jovel Riding without hawses, telegraphing without wires, and all these things. Maude—Yes and thinking without brains.

One by the Colonel.

Some one had been telling the colonel about weather so warm that eggs could be fried on the sidewalk. "Call that hot weather?" scoffed the colonel. "Why, that's nothing, sah." "Think not, colonel?" "No, sah. Why, Ah has seen it so hot down south, sah, that the popcorn popped right on the stalk."

"And that's not all, sah. The juice in the cane in the next field turned to molasses, ran through the fence, mixed up with the popcorn and formed the finest combination of popcorn and molasses that ever crossed your lips, sah. Talk about hot weather? Huh!"

Absorbing.

Silas—Ha! Ma! Reuben got bunked again.

Cyrus—Do tell! What was it this time?

Silas—Why, Reuben saw an ad that stated that for one dollar they would send him some of the most absorbing literature he ever read.

Cyrus—And what did they send him?

Silas—Why, they sent him a pamphlet entitled "How Blotters Are Made" and another entitled "Points on Turkish Towels."

SELF DELUSION Many People Deceived by Coffee.

We like to defend our indulgences and habits even though we may be convinced of their actual harmfulness.

A man can convince himself that whisky is good for him on a cold morning, or beer on a hot summer day—when he wants the whisky or beer. It's the same with coffee. Thousands of people suffer headaches and nervousness year after year but try to persuade themselves the cause is not coffee—because they like coffee.

"While yet a child I commenced using coffee and continued it," writes a Wis. man, "until I was a regular coffee fiend. I drank it every morning and in consequence had a blinding headache nearly every afternoon.

"My folks thought it was coffee that ailed me, but I liked it and would not admit it was the cause of my trouble, so I stuck to coffee and the headaches stuck to me.

"Finally, the folks stopped buying coffee and brought home some Postum. They made it right (directions on pkg.) and told me to see what difference it would make with my head, and during the first week on Postum my old affliction did not bother me once. From that day to this we have used nothing but Postum in place of coffee—headaches are a thing of the past and the whole family is in fine health."

"Postum looks good, smells good, tastes good, is good, and does good to the whole body." "There's a Reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkg.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Africa as Known in 1800.

Africa as Known in 1900.

It took 500 or 600 years more to trace out the general features of the seas, islands and continents. The chief steps in this advance, which included the brilliant exploit of Magellan, whose ship, the Victoria, first circumnavigated the globe, were the discovery of the Americas and of Australia, and the partial exploration of Africa and Siberia. Columbus reached San Salvador in 1492, and his succeeding voyages revealed Jamaica, Trinidad and the Orinoco. Amerigo Vesputi coasted down the continent of South America in 1501, and Magellan discovered Patagonia and Terra del Fuego in 1520. Mexico was added to the map in 1518 by Grijalva and California visited in 1532 by Cortez. For 300 years thereafter the work of exploring the Americas proceeded by leaps and bounds, yet in 1800 more than half of their territories remain geographically unknown. The whole region west of the Mississippi was

Leone, and the knowledge of it was advanced a further stage when in the fifteenth century Portuguese explorers, including Vasco da Gama, rounded the cape. In Africa, exploration has followed the flow of the great rivers, and will ever be associated with such names as Livingstone, Mungo Park, Bruce, Baker, Stanley, Speke, Schweinfurt, Du Chailu, Serpa Pinto, Wissmann and Donaldson. The Niger had its course determined in the early part of the nineteenth century. "Today," says a geographical expert, "the Nile has been scientifically explored for its entire length of 3,400 miles; the Niger, with the exception of a small portion of its middle course, for 2,500 miles; the Zambesi for 1,500 miles; and the Congo, which in volume is exceeded only by the Amazon, for nearly 3,000 miles." In Africa, where vast areas are still "dark" for geography, the politician has sometimes followed, has now and then accompanied the ex-

News Notes from Lansing

Interesting Happenings at the State Capital of Michigan.

Lansing.—Judge Mandell, in the Wayne circuit court, dissolved the injunction restraining Hayden Stone & Co. of Boston from disposing of the securities which they hold as collateral for loans made to the failed brokerage firm of Cameron Currie & Co. of Detroit. The securities approximate in value $1,675,000 and secure claims of Hayden Stone & Co. amounting to $1,300,000. The dissolution of the restraining order was opposed by a number of attorneys representing intervening creditors who claim specific stocks among the collateral as their own, which they allege Currie & Co. had no right to have deposited for collateral. No stocks are exempted from the operation of the order. The order dissolving the injunction directs Receiver Austin to order the sale of the securities. The court authorized the receiver to secure an expert to watch the interests of the creditors and to advise as to the time and place of the sale. Attorney Stevenson, representing Hayden Stone & Co. for the first time made a full statement of that firm's position in the failure. He said: "We have decided to come into this court and submit ourselves fully to its jurisdiction in this case. But we say that with the understanding that everybody having claims will do likewise. We have been notified by many creditors that they claim specific stock and some of them are threatening to sue us for that stock in separate actions. Before we will allow such claims to be prosecuted we will go into a court of equity at Boston and fight this suit there. If the order is granted we will sell the stock, keep enough of the proceeds to cover our claim, and turn the balance over to the receiver and try out every claim against us in this court."

Michigan Railways in Rate Raise.

The Indianapolis freight bureau filed with the interstate commerce commission a complaint against the Pennsylvania and 18 other railroads operating in the Central freight association territory, which consists of Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. It is alleged that prior to August 1 rates from the Atlantic seaboard to this territory were fixed according to a percentage on the New York to Chicago rate. On that date an advance was made on rates on coffee and sugar from New York to Chicago and Indianapolis, amounting to three cents per 100 pounds on coffee and two cents on sugar, while to many places within the Central freight association territory, no change was made. The result of this, it is alleged, is that a discrimination is made against Indianapolis, a distributing point, and the margin of profit on sugar and coffee being small, it is said the increase works a marked hardship upon dealers of that city.

To Succeed Charles Johnson.

Gov. Warner will appoint Charles Carpenter, president of the Michigan Federation of Labor and private secretary to Mayor Ellis of Grand Rapids, as secretary of the state board of arbitration to succeed Charles H. Johnson, who is to be deputy labor commissioner. Mr. Carpenter is one of the labor leaders of the state and has for a number of years been a prominent factor in the Michigan federation.

Investigation to Start.

The state railroad commission is going to conduct a rigid investigation into the Ypsilanti wreck, when 39 persons were injured, as it appears that the disaster was due to gross negligence on the part of employees. This line has had four bad accidents in as many months. The wreck will be investigated by D. U. R. officials. The four passengers and the car crew were all injured, but none seriously.

He Pleads "Half Guilty."

Charles Glosser, an aged Meridian township farmer, pleaded "half guilty" when arraigned on a charge of cruelty to animals. He admitted shooting at a cow, but contended that the animal was an ugly brute and had nearly killed a niece. Fined $25 and costs, Glosser declared that he would not pay the fine if he could. The alternative is 70 days in the Detroit house of correction.

Chokes Self to Death.

Peter Bennett of Alaledon township placed a wire around his neck, formed a loop about a crowbar and twisted the bar until he choked to death. The act was committed in a barn on his farm, eight miles southeast of Lansing. Bennett had been in an asylum two or three times. He was about 60 years old.

Hemans Files Petitions.

Petitions for Lawton T. Hemans nomination for governor on the Democratic ticket have been received from St. Joseph county. H. H. Aplin of Bay City has qualified as a candidate for the state senate and W. H. Bradley of Greenville desires the nomination in the Eighteenth district. Both are Republicans. L. G. Dufoe has qualified as a candidate for congress in the Tenth district, and Washington Gardner of the Third district has filed petitions.

Must Wed to Secure U. S. Job.

Miss Dorothy Moxness of Lansing cannot obtain a position in the department of agriculture because she is not a citizen of the United States. She is an expert chemist, and has been employed as an instructor at the Agricultural college and as assistant chemist for the state pure food department. In making application to the agricultural department at Washington, Miss Moxness stated that she was born in Norway and that her parents still reside in that country. Back came the discouraging information that she could not take a civil service examination, as positions in the government service may be held by only native or naturalized citizens. How to become a naturalized citizen is a question that is concerning not only Miss Moxness, but the attorney general's department. The laws do not provide for the admission of women to citizenship, but a marriage with a citizen might render Miss Moxness eligible to an appointment under the government.

Silent on Pension Bill.

At the eighteenth annual reunion of the Calhoun county battalion held at Marshall, Col. C. E. Foote, department commander of the Michigan G. A. R., called attention to the legislation needed for the protection of the widows and dependent orphans of the soldiers of the civil war. He dwelt at considerable length on the widow pension law and that amendment of the senate which provided for the care of widows of soldiers which was killed in the house. Col. Foote urged that congress adopt this amendment. He said there were two members of congress on the stand with him, Gardner and Townsend, and he urged them to declare themselves to fight for this measure and for all other legislation favoring veterans.

Petitions Coming In.

The first Democratic primary petitions have been received at the secretary of state's office. They ask for the nomination of W. N. Ferris and L. T. Hemans for governor and Edward T. Ryan of Houghton for lieutenant governor. H. H. Aplin, candidate for senator in the Twenty-fourth district, and W. H. Bradley, candidate for senator in the Eighteenth, have filed petitions. The petitions of Congressman Washington Gardner of the Third and L. G. Dufoe, prospective congressman of the Tenth, have been checked over and found to contain the required number of qualified signers.

Warner to Take Action.

Gov. Warner is to consider the complaint made against Prosecuting Attorney George B. Yerkes by the Detroit "committee of 100." While the governor was in Detroit he paid the prosecuting attorney a visit and requested him to send to Lansing for his official perusal a written statement setting forth the prosecutor's side of the controversy, and his reasons for refusing to file charges with the state's chief executive against Police Commissioner Smith. The statement will involve a defense of Mr. Yerkes' course throughout the whole of the recent fight.

Favors New Constitution.

The executive committee of the Michigan State Grange met here and unanimously adopted the following resolution: "That while the new proposed constitution falls short in some particulars, we believe that as a whole it more nearly meets the needs of the state at present than the old one, and we therefore favor its adoption." Details for the State Grange meeting to be held at Saginaw, December 9, were arranged.

Title Men Get Together.

The Michigan Abstractors' association, in session here, elected officers and selected Grand Rapids for the next convention. H. Van Aldern of Grand Rapids was chosen president and J. S. Urdike of Allegan secretary and treasurer. The convention closed with a banquet which was attended by the members of the Wisconsin association, who met across the Menominee river at Marinette.

Qualifies as a Candidate.

Judge Frances H. Dodds of Mt. Pleasant has qualified as a candidate for congress in the Eleventh district against George G. Covell of Traverse City.

Junket for Zimmerman.

The state auditors have authorized Banking Commissioner Zimmerman to attend a national meeting of banking commissioners to be held at Denver.

After electing their officers for the ensuing year and selecting Manistee as their convention city in 1909, the Sheriffs', Prosecuting Attorneys' and Chief of Police association of Michigan adjourned. The officers follow: President, Thomas J. Grady, Manistee; vice-president, A. P. English, Menominee; secretary-treasurer, Sheriff Sutton, Ann Arbor; directors, E. J. Schwartz, Sault Ste. Marie; John Larkin, Iron Mountain; C. W. Amidon, Grayling, and Patrick Kain, Saginaw.

SHERMAN NOTIFIED

Taft's Running Mate is Told of His Nomination.

ALL UTICA CELEBRATES

Parade Precedes the Ceremony and Sports and Band Concert Follow—Secretary Root Among the Speakers.

Utica, N. Y.—Representative James S. Sherman at noon Tuesday was formally notified of his nomination for the vice-presidency at the Chicago convention last June, and the final ceremonies of officially placing the Republican national ticket before the people was completed.

The notification was made the occasion of a general holiday and the residents of the city, irrespective of party, took part in the tribute to a fellow townsman. The city, especially on Genesee street from the downtown section to the Sherman residence, was handsomely decorated.

The day began with a vice-presidential salute of 19 guns, fired at seven a. m. Then followed a parade of the city police and fire departments and at 11 o'clock the members of the notification committee were escorted to the Sherman residence.

Secretary Root was one of the distinguished guests at the notification ceremonies and made a brief address. In addition to the addresses of Senator Julius C. Burrows, chairman of the notification committee, and of Mr. Sherman, there were remarks by President M. W. Stryker of Hamilton college, from which the vice-presidential candidate was graduated; by Mayor Thomas Wheeler and by Charles S. Symonds, chairman of the local reception committee.

The later afternoon was given over to field sports, races, baseball, etc., at Utica park, and in the evening there were band concerts downtown and an electrical illumination of the principal streets.

FIRE IN SUMMER RESORT.

Kaatskill House and Cottages on Lake George Destroyed.

Glen Falls, N. Y.—Fire Monday destroyed the Kaatskill house in the Kaatskill Bay district of Lake George and three cottages. Many women were in the fire brigade and some of them received minor cuts and burns. Several men also were slightly injured. The loss will approximate $100,000. A cottage owned by Mrs. N. F. Nelson was the point of origin of the fire. A roaring log fire in an open fireplace overheated the flue, which ignited the woodwork beneath the roof. Beside the Nelson cottage, those of John Allen of Brooklyn and James Wing were destroyed. The hotel was owned by A. P. Scoville and was entertaining about 125 guests.

The guests at the Nelson cottage saved few of their effects, but those of the other cottages and the hotel were able to drag their trunks to the lake front.

BABY CRIED AND SCRATCHED

All the Time—Covered with Torturing Eczema—Doctor Said Sores Would Last for Years—Perfect Cure by Cuticura.

"My baby niece was suffering from that terrible torture, eczema. It was all over her body but the worst was on her face and hands. She cried and scratched all the time and could not sleep night or day from the scratching. I had her under the doctor's care for a year and a half and he seemed to do her no good. I took her to the best doctor in the city and he said that she would have the sores until she was six years old. But if I had depended on the doctor my baby would have lost her mind and died from the want of aid. But I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and she was cured in three months. Alice L. The Spider and the Fly.

In the long warfare between the spider and the fly, the latter has had the housewife for its auxiliary and friend. The flies have been tolerated, even fed and nurtured, while the spiders and their webs have been ruthlessly destroyed. This unremitting and unrelenting war against it keeps the spider population down, while the flies increase and multiply by the millions and ten of millions, almost unchecked. The spider is ugly and his web is unsightly in the estimation of most people, but spiders hurt no human creature. They feed on flies, which are the foes of mankind, and do mankind a service.—Philadelphia Press.

Rapid River is putting on metropolitan airs, the latest being the building of more new cement walks. Another block is being laid from Waldo's corner to the Congregational church, the expense being borne by the village.

John Londerville spent Sunday with his folks at this place, and while here helped his teammates from Gurley wrest the laurels from the Ford River base ball team by a score of 5 to 3 in a hard fought, ten inning battle.

The home team will cross bats with the Maccabees of Escanaba, Sunday, Aug. 23. After the way the home team has been playing the last few games, it is expected they will at least give a good account of themselves.

After having innumerable chances to win an easy game from the Garley team last Sunday, the home boys were defeated by a score of 5 to 3, after staying off their unwelcome defeat for ten long innings. Times without number scores could have been made had the base runners played the game as it should have been played. Instead of this, some of them got within a few steps of the home plate and would then commit suicide by trying to get back to third base when nothing short of a galling gun could have kept them from getting home safely. Then, too, some of the best batters seemed to have an off day, or had forgotten how to hit the ball, and either struck out or batted the ball into the unwelcome hands of their opponents. This, perhaps, was all that saved these batters from showing how poorly they could run bases. While we do not wish to rob the visitors of any credit due them, there were times when the home team discouraged their followers by their loose playing, through which means all of the opponents' scores were made.

The home team was wonderfully strengthened by putting Battala behind the bat, and the way he handled the big mit, and the way he and Jeppesen caught the runners trying to steal second base were about the only features of the game.

PETER JENSEN
Candidate for Representative

The Nomination for the office of Representative is quite important and should not be overlooked by the people of Delta County, in their excitement for other County offices. It is a well known and undisputed fact that ninety per cent of the people must earn their bread by the sweat of their brows, therefore the men who have gone through that school, are best qualified to represent the common people. Mr. Jensen is the only one of the candidates who have presented themselves before the people, that has gone through that school of life, therefore he possesses the best ability to render good judgment upon any question that may come before the State Legislature to the best interests of the people of Delta County. New Legislation will undoubtedly come before the legislature which will be of much importance both for organized Townships and incorporated Cities. Mr.

Jensen has been elected and re-elected to office both in the townships of Bay de Noc and the city of Escanaba, there by obtaining valuable experience in public affairs, which is of good assistance to any man whose seeks to represent the people. Mr. Jensen believes that the present law that provides for the public sale of state lands at Lansing is a law that discriminates against the poorer and common people, and favors those who have plenty, and if nominated and elected will do all in his power, to have such land sold at the court house in the county where it ought to be sold, giving the people with smaller means an equal chance to go and bid on a parcel of land, and not be forced to stand the cost of making a trip to Lansing. Mr. Jensen is a man of good, honest and clean character.

A vote cast for him on Sept. 1st, 1908, will be for the best interests of the people.
