CITY PUTS UP FOR HYDRANT RENTALS

Over $4000 Ordered Paid to Escanaba Water Company

ACTION TAKEN BY COUNCIL

Water Company Presented Communication Pleading That They Need it in Their Business

The report of the city treasurer for the month ending September 1st, was read at the meeting of the city council Tuesday evening, showing that the checker is in a rather depleted condition and arouses a feeling among some that retrenchment should be the watchword of the "dads." On the 1st of Sept., there was but $13,925.52 in the treasury and at the time of the meeting, less than $10,000, while at Tuesday evening's regular meeting amounts to approximately $15,000 were ordered paid, having been contracted since the previous meeting. Thus it was necessary for the council to authorize the proper authorities to negotiate for a loan of $10,000 to tide the city over till the cash box is replenished at the time of the next tax harvest.

One of the sums ordered paid Tuesday evening was the neat little amount of $4,182.00. This was authorized paid to the Escanaba Water Company for hydrant rentals from Jan. 1st 1908, to July 1st 1907. This payment came through a communication from W. J. Hatton, superintendent of the water company. Mr. Hatton said that whereas the company was obliged to use all moneys at its command in the interest of the filtering plant, for the purchase of crushed stone, cement, labor, etc., the council was asked to allow the amount so that the good work begun, would not be hindered. The bill was allowed upon the motion of Alderman Bissel, who expressed the desire of not wishing to hamper the company. Alderman Powers voiced the belief that the work should progress further as an evidence of good faith. The mayor also spoke favorably to the allowing of the bill, believing that holding back such payment, would delay the improvement. All of the aldermen voted to allow the bill with the exception of Alderman Wickert.

An opportunity having been given to hear objections, resolution was unanimously adopted approving the assessment roll for the purpose of defraying the cost which the council decided should be paid and borne by special assessment for the grading, paving, curbing and draining of Second street from a line west of Bay street.

A resolution was adopted ordering the construction of sidewalks in front of lot 1, block 29 and lot 2, block 22 in Campbell's addition.

A petition was presented from property owners abutting on Escanaba avenue asking to have that street graded and paved with crushed rock and treated with tar, also asking for a storm water sewer along that avenue. The petition was referred to the street committee, also similar petitions from residents on Harrison avenue and Tweedy and Fourth streets.

A communication from the superintendent of the water company gave the information that the water main extension from Mary street to May street on Sinclair street had been completed and turned on Aug. 31. This is an extension of nine blocks long, four fire hydrants being installed.

Attorney Clyde Hayden presented a bill for $105.71, claimed to be a balance due Mrs. Catherine Boyle for board and room and for nursing Helen Roddy, a small pox patient, from Jan. 21 to March 21. The sum of $30 had been paid Mrs. Boyle, it being claimed that she was only entitled to that amount. The bill was referred to the finance committee.

The street committee was authorized to have a water fountain erected on North Sarah street.

Several matters were left over, including the city and school appropriations, which were left to the finance committee with instructions to report at an adjourned meeting to be held on Friday evening, Sept. 25.

A Pleasant Surprise

Miss Anna Cadieux was tendered a pleasant surprise Friday evening in honor of the twentieth anniversary of her birth. The gathering was at the home of Miss Emma Sturgeon, 327 May street. The evening was pleasantly spent in playing games and a musical program was offered. As a token of esteem, the guest of honor was presented with a beautiful bracelet. Dainty refreshments were served during the evening and a general good time is reported.

DEBS IS COMING

Socialist Candidate Will Stay Here An Hour—Sept. 23 the Date

Escanaba citizens of the Socialistic faith are looking forward in great anticipation to the coming visit here of Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist candidate for the presidency of the United States. The Debs party is to appear in this city for an hour on Wednesday Sept. 23.

Announcement at first was to the effect that the Debs special train which is now making a tour of the country, would stop here but twenty minutes. Letters received Saturday, however give the assurance that the Debs party will remain here for an hour, arriving at 10:00 o'clock in the morning from Hancock, which city they will leave early in the morning.

Mr. Debs' manager sent word to the effect that owing to the brief stop in Escanaba, the presidential candidate would speak from the car at the North-Western depot. An effort is being made by local parties to persuade the visitors to make the stay long enough to go to the city hall to permit of making the address at that place.

From here Mr. Debs will go to Green Bay, arriving in that city at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, with a brief stop at Menominee. From Green Bay the party goes to Appleton, arriving there at 9 o'clock on the morning of Sept. 24, reaching Chicago the next day. The ability of Eugene V. Debs as an orator is unquestioned and it is a certainty that he will be greeted by a monster crowd in Escanaba.

Will Try Land Grab

Several Escanaba people are figuring on taking a chance in securing a slice of land in the opening of the Rosebud reservation in South Dakota, the drawing on which will occur Oct. 5 to 17.

A number of people in the city have made and are making inquiries for rates etc. and it is probable that a number will go from here. The North-Western road is making a good rate for the trip, also the C. M. & St. P.

The throwing open of this South Dakota land will give over 5,000 people each a choice farm in Tripp county, South Dakota, for a small sum per acre. A total of 838,000 acres will be opened. People drawing one of these farms pay $7.00 an acre; one-fifth down balance in five years. Chamberlain and Presho, South Dakota, are the places of registration and the best of these lands are easily reached from those places. Presence at drawing is not required. Those who draw one of these farms will be notified by mail.

ARONSON THE NOMINEE

Board of Canvassers Stand By Decision in Refusing a Recount

Sheriff Aronson was declared the republican nominee for sheriff. Such was the decision of the county board of canvassers at their meeting Wednesday afternoon. The board was acting upon the petition of Adam Henry for a reconsideration of the board's action taken last week in refusing a recount of the vote for the office of sheriff. The legal representatives of the contesting parties were present Wednesday and presented arguments for and against the reconsideration.

Nomination Contested

The Menominee county board of canvassers is to determine whether the name of Fred H. Haggerson or Charles Line shall be placed on the electoral ticket as the republican candidate for the office of district attorney. A voting machine which was used in the first precinct of Spalding, where Haggerson received 120 votes and Line 19 is the direct cause of the board's taking action. Attorney Line petitioned the board for a recount, claiming that the machine was illegally used. It is the contention of the petitioner that a voting machine cannot be used at a primary election and in this connection he has received a telegram from the attorney general, upholding his position. The board of canvassers has the power to decide the matter, however, and after it renders its decision the only recourse of the defeated man is to the court. It is very probable that an injunction restraining the placing of the name of the selected candidate upon the ticket will be issued by the man whom the board decides against. The voting machine used in the first precinct of the township of Spalding, where Mr. Haggerson received a big majority, was the only one used in the county. If the board decides to throw this vote out, Mr. Line is the nominee so close was the race.

Won Watch Prize

Ole Harstad of Bark River, drew the gold watch offered at O. M. Thompson's shooting gallery for high score for last week. There was a tie between Mr. Harstad and Arthur Ashland of this city each having 122 points. The tie was shot off Monday, Harstad making 117 and Ashland 114.

BOLD POSTOFFICE

ROBBERS IN COURT

Ross And Roche Appear in U. S. District Court Thursday

KOSS POSTOFFICE ROBBED

Prisoners Charged With Crime of Six Weeks Ago—Held Here Till Tuesday

Frank Ross and George Roche, who have been detained in the Delta county jail for the past few weeks, were taken to Marquette Tuesday by Deputy United States Marshal E. D. Mosher. There on Thursday they answered to the charge of blowing open and robbing the safe in the postoffice at Koss, details of the arrest and preliminary hearing before U. S. Court Commissioner I. C. Jennings having, previously been published in the Iron Port.

It will be remembered that Ross and Roche were arrested in this city about seven weeks ago by United States Postoffice Inspectors E. E. Fraser and J. O. Clark. Evidence was introduced at the preliminary examination sufficient to bind the prisoners over to the higher court under bonds of $3,000 each. In default of bail the prisoners were detained in the Delta county jail till the convening of the U. S. district court at Marquette. At the preliminary hearing no direct evidence was given, but there was a web of very strong circumstantial evidence. The inspectors at that time had clues to stronger proof which they were not prepared to present at that time.

The prisoners are considered to be a bold, bad pair and it was fully expected that it would be ascertained beyond a shadow of doubt that both of the men had had criminal records. There were several robberies in this section of country similar to the one at Koss and Ross and Roche are believed to be the perpetrators of some of them at least. The two fellows came to Escanaba several months ago and opened a shooting gallery on upper Ludington street, which they were operating "off and on" prior to the time of their arrest.

It was the opinion of many that the conduct of the shooting gallery was merely a blind to shield the fellows in their crime. There were several circumstances leading up to and following the arrest that tended to furnish strong evidence of guilt. A quantity of stamps mailed by them and more found in their possession tallied almost exactly with the number missing from the postoffice at Koss. Another source of evidence was the fact an amount of pennies found in the trunks of Ross and Roche tallied pretty close with the amount taken at Koss.

WHITE'S THEATRE

Monday Will Witness Reopening After Being Closed Eight Weeks

L. J. White, owner of White's theatre was up from Marinette recently paving the way for the reopening of the local theatre on Monday next. Mr. White announces that he will open with a first class vaudeville bill, giving the patrons of that popular playhouse the very best obtainable at popular prices. At the time of the reopening, the theatre will have been closed eight weeks. During that time Mr. White has closed negotiations for strong talent.

Working on Filtering Plant

The Escanaba Water Company is actively engaged in the preliminary work on the construction of a filtering plant. It was announced Tuesday that the excavation for the plant had been completed also that the first carload of reinforcing steel had arrived on that day, followed by the second on Wednesday.

It will be remembered that Judge Stone recently set aside the injunction restraining the water company from collecting rentals. The decision of the judge was for a period of 60 days with the provision that it would be placed in force at the expiration of that time if the judge upon his visit here to hold circuit court did not observe a certain degree of progress toward the completion of the plant.

K. O. T. M. Commander Here

The local tents Knights of the Maccabees enjoyed a celebration and banquet at the Odd Fellow's hall Thursday evening. Grand Commander Lovelace of Michigan was present and delivered the address of the evening and as each Maccabee was allowed the privilege of inviting one guest, there was a large attendance.

HESSEL-MC EWEN NUPTIALS

Ceremony Performed Wednesday Afternoon at Parsonage of St. Patrick's

The following from Wednesday evening's issue of the Daily Mirror, tells the story: At 5 o'clock this afternoon, a quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the parsonage of St. Patrick's church, when Miss Rose Hessel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Q. R. Hessel of Ogden Ave., and George McEwen were happily united in the bonds of matrimony. In the absence of the Rev. Father J. M. Langan, the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Wechter in the presence of only relatives of the contracting parties.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was becomingly gowned in white Sapho satin, trimmed with Irish point lace and embroidered filet. Miss May Hessel, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid. She wore a pink Lingerie gown. Cassius McEwen, brother of the groom, acted as groomsmen.

The ceremony at the parsonage was followed by the serving of an elaborate wedding dinner at the home of the bride's parents at 406 Ogden avenue attended only by relatives of the bride and groom. The dining room of the home was prettily decorated for the occasion the color scheme being red and white. The newly married couple will leave at 9 o'clock this evening over the North-Western road on their honeymoon. They will be absent about ten days, during which time they will visit Detroit, Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

The bride is a popular young woman of Escanaba and possesses a large circle of friends. The groom is a popular and promising young business man, who for the past five years has been the publisher of the Iron Port.

Friends of the happy couple join in wishing them all the happiness and prosperity obtainable in life.

Were Early to Wed

At 4:00 o'clock Wednesday morning at St. Anne's church occurred the marriage of Miss Agnes Chartier and Mr. Thomas H. Glavin, a well known and popular young couple of the city. The wedding was a very quiet affair, only a few of the friends being aware of the event till after the announcement was made. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father George LaForest. Miss Alice Salvail acted as bridesmaid and Mr. J. N. Gaudette as groomsmen. The groom, a son of Dennis Glavin, is a plumbing, heating and sewer contractor with headquarters at 519 Ludington street. The newly married couple left Wednesday morning for the East on their honeymoon.

DEMOCRATS ACTIVE

Placed County Ticket in Field at Convention Tuesday Evening

At a Democratic county convention held Tuesday evening at the office of Michael Doherty, a county ticket was placed in the field, with the exception of the offices of prosecuting attorney and court commissioner, the executive committee being given power to fill the vacancies on the ticket. The following nominations were made: Sheriff—Charles Ford. County Clerk—George Stoik. Judge of Probate—John P. McCall. Treasurer—John Roddy. Register of Deeds—Charles Peterson. Representative—Victor LaPorte. Coroners—Bonander Smith and John Meyers. County Surveyor—Fred Leighton.

The only contests were in the nominations for sheriff and clerk, Officer George McCarthy and James S. Doherty being close seconds for those honors.

Call on Local Friends

George E. Holbein of Manistique, editor of the Pioneer-Tribune, and Otto Fowle of Sault Ste. Marie, were visitors in the city on their way home from Menominee, where they had been to attend the Fairbanks Day celebration and shake the hand of the vice-president. Mr. Fowle is one of the most prominent residents of the Soo. He is president of the First National Bank, president of the Soo Commercial club and president of the board of control of the Newberry asylum. Both Messrs. Holbein and Fowle enjoy an extensive acquaintance in Escanaba and spent their time greeting their numerous friends. They report the Menominee fair and Fairbanks celebration especially a great success and state that there were 20,000 people on the fair grounds on Wednesday. The Iron Port acknowledges a pleasant call from the gentlemen.

Young Re-nominated

H. O. Young, of Ishpeming, was honored by the Republicans of the Twelfth district of Michigan, through their convention held in Marquette Saturday, with nomination for a fourth time as their representative congress.

GREEN BAY 7;

ESCANABA 4

First of Series Played Yesterday Was a Comedy of Errors

WALSH DOES GOOD WORK

Local Pitcher Had Twelve Strike-Outs to His Credit—Play Saturday and Sunday

Green Bay 7; Escanaba 4. The above tells in brief the comedy of errors which took place at South park yesterday (Friday) afternoon in the series of three week-end games between the two teams.

There was a series of errors from start to finish and charged about equally against both teams. Mike Walsh in the box, saved the lives of the locals and did some clever work, having 12 strike-outs to his credit. Roach, the jovial twirler for the visitors, was somewhat lacking in strike-outs, but he was warmed up toward the end of the game and put on more steam, which he will no doubt increase providing he pitches today's game.

The visitors won their game in the second inning, the only stage when they succeeded to any marked degree in finding Mike Walsh's benders, hitting the sphere for five runs. The thoughts of a league team evidently preyed upon the minds of the home baseballists, for they displayed a nervousness and it looked as if the baloon would go up then and there. But Escanaba steeled down to business and with all their errors, allowed the visitors but two runs after the second inning.

The fielding force of the visiting team did some exceptionally good work in the gardens, taking everything that came their way with but one exception. One of the comedies of the game was in the first half of the seventh when Lehr, on second for the locals, evidently misjudged the distance in an attempted throw to the home plate, the ball striking pitcher Walsh in the slack of the pants, causing a spontaneous outburst of applause from the fans.

Escanaba put up one of their poorest games of the season. The visitors were but a little better, but it was noticeable that they have the ginger to do better and it is to be hoped they will. Likewise Escanaba.

The line-up of the teams was as follows:

Green Bay	2b	Escanaba
Boyle	2b	Lehr
Kernen	3b	Aronson
Stiekney	lf	N. Walsh
Strummel	1b	Matt
Carroll	cf	H. Ohmsted
Hammond	ss	Lentz
Vance	rf	Flath
Reidy	c	J. Walsh
Roach	p	M. Walsh

The score by innings was as follows:

Escanaba	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	Total
Escanaba	0	0	1	0	0	1	1	1	1	4
Green Bay	0	5	0	0	0	1	1	0	0	7

HAD A CLOSE CALL

Escanaba Man Nearly Shot—Rifle in Hands of Careless Youth

A resident of the city reports that while near the South park Sunday, he narrowly escaped being shot by a 32-calibre rifle in the hands of a lad about twelve years of age, who was shooting at birds. Owing to the smoke it was difficult to see and the bullet whizzed past the gentleman's head by a close margin. The boy was caught and given a good reprimand for the carelessness. It is well known that there has been a slaughter of robins in the city during the summer by mischievous and cruel youths. There is a law against this practice and a more determined effort should be made to protect our song birds.

Were Happily Wedded

In the presence of a few friends and relatives, Miss Tracy Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Peterson of South Sarah street, was united in marriage at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening to Mr. G. H. Lueck, by the Rev. John C. Rooney, pastor of the First Baptist church, the ceremony being performed at the home of the Rev. Rooney. After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Lueck left by automobile for Narenda where they boarded the 9:30 North-Western passenger train for Chicago and points in southern Wisconsin where they will visit for two weeks.

Both the bride and groom are well known and popular young people and have a large circle of friends to join in offering congratulations. Miss Peterson for some time had been employed at the local office of the Michigan State Telephone Company while Mr. Lueck has for several years been a prominent young business man.

DENNING AND SCULLY

Pitted For Sparring Exhibition To Be Given Tuesday Night—Other Bouts

The Escanaba Athletic club members have made plans for a good card of sparring exhibitions at Peterson's opera house next Tuesday evening. There will be four events. The big event will be ten three minute rounds between Tommy Scully of Escanaba, and Earl Denning of Chicago. Both are well known prize ring artists, whose records assure a fast exhibition of the art of self defense. These participants will weigh in at 115 pounds at the ringside. Scully is too well known to need any introduction on the part of the Port. He has a long list of battles to his credit extending over the past eight years. Denning also has a good record. His last battle was with Young Smith at Waukegan, Ill., Smith being knocked out in the second round. Denning is well known in sporting circles and comes with a record that promises a good card in his bout with Scully.

What promises to be another good event will be the mill between Jimmie Ryalls of Escanaba, and Dick Kramer of Menominee. These boxers will go six three minute rounds.

Paddy Ryan of Appleton, and Ted Young of Milwaukee are on the card for six three minute rounds.

Another preliminary to the big event of the evening will be a four round contest between two well known local boxers.

Case Was Settled

Alex Nieman of Masonville, formerly of Rapid River, appeared in Judge Glaser's court Monday morning to answer to the charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses. The complaint was made by August E. Brauns of Escanaba. It is alleged that Nieman purchased a bill of goods to the amount of $32.26, consisting of fruits, vegetables and tobacco, representing that he was still the owner of a fruit and candy store at Rapid River. It was further alleged that Nieman had sold the place of business some time before the purchase was made. It is charged that the goods were shipped to Nieman at Rapid River and that he shipped them directly back to Escanaba and disposed of them. The case was settled, the defendant paying the amount of the bill and the costs.

RIGHTERS NOT IN IT

No Match for Regular Team in Last Sunday's Game—Score 10 to 0

In the absence of an outside team on Sunday, the Richters took advantage of the open date and tried conclusions with the first team. The Richters failed to get a look in, the final score being 10 to 0. Only on one occasion did the defeated nine advance a man beyond the third eack and only twice did they see second.

Up to the second half of the third inning, neither side scored and the few fans present were treated to a pretty exhibition of ball playing. But at this stage of the game, the regular nine got busy in their half of the third.

The score by innings was as follows:

Escanaba	0	0	3	1	4	0	1	x	—	10

The line-up of the teams was as follows:

Degrees Were Conferred

The Masonic hall Monday evening witnessed the conferring of the Royal Arch degree, followed by a banquet. Grand High Priest Earl Brackett of Petoskey, and Grand Lecturer Horace S. Maynard of Charlotte, were guests, the conferring of the degree being preceded by a reception given in their honor.

There was also a school of instruction called by the grand officers, including Grand Master of the Third Veil A. J. Young of Escanaba.

The degree work was followed by a banquet, at which A. J. Young presided as master of ceremonies. Toasts were responded to by the grand officers and several local Royal Arch Masons.

A Unique Shower

A unique "shower" was that given in honor of Miss Tracy Peterson last Friday evening at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. William Peterson on Second St. The event was a "preserve shower" and the bride-to-be was presented with a large quantity of preserved fruit with which to stock her larder. About 20 friends were present and a sociable evening was spent with refreshments playing an important part in the program. Miss Peterson is to be married soon to Mr. Gus Lueck.

THE INSURANCE LAWS.

Michigan is directly interested in the effort which will be made in Wisconsin next spring to repeal the stringent insurance laws passed at the legislative session. Michigan is interested because the laws are said to be so complex, troublesome and disastrous to the insurance interests as to have driven a number of excellent insurance companies out of Wisconsin and across the lake to us.

When the insurance laws were passed, practically all of the reputable insurance companies doing business in Wisconsin entered complaint at what they considered the passage of impracticable laws by impracticable men who knew nothing of the subject which they professed to clarify. The result of the passage of some of these laws has been the practical withdrawal of nearly all of the standard insurance companies from Wisconsin. These companies have necessarily been obliged to continue their insurance collection on policies already in force, and more than one of the accounts have come to Michigan.

The interesting feature of the case in its development the present month is the defeat of Speaker H. L. Ekern for renomination for the lower house in the Wisconsin legislature. Ekern was the chosen champion of the insurance reforms. Ekern based his principal claim to renomination on his work in connection with the insurance laws. He failed to receive credentials from the voters is the suggestion to a long distance observer and that his insurance laws are not proving as acceptable and satisfactory as their projectors had promised.

It is impossible for a layman to legitimately comment on the merit of this Wisconsin legislation because insurance regulation is a technical subject requiring expert judgment. It would seem, however, that any legislation which might drive from the commonwealth such a line of business as has left Wisconsin because of declared impossibility of fulfillment of the new insurance laws, must be questionable statesmanship. Legislation in the interest of the people frequently treads upon corporate interests with perfect license and propriety. But the principal aim and purpose of legitimate legislation should not be solely that of harassing vested interests.

If Speaker Ekern had been refused renomination because of the results of the insurance laws, which he fathered, the laws probably have earned the censure which insurance companies have directed toward them. It would seem that laws which thus apparently rise to curse their sponsor, and which at the same time are charged with the responsibility for driving insurance interests from the state, must be questionable in public policy.

Nothing is more properly the subject of rigorous restrictions than life insurance, because nothing more directly concerns the American home. Legislation which improperly and impracticably restricts legitimate insurance activity, however, is not in the interest of policy holders because the safety of a policy depends entirely on the success of its company.

Many in the Upper Peninsula are anxiously awaiting the coming of Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist candidate for the presidency, who will arrive in Escanaba at 10:00 o'clock on the morning of Wednesday, Sept. 23. Mr. Debs possesses many friends and admirers outside the portals of his political faith. There are many who cannot accept all of the doctrines Mr. Debs stands sponsor for, but they nevertheless believe him sincere in his beliefs and recognize in him a man of brain power, a hard laborer for the cause he represents and an orator of marked ability before the American public. Mr. Debs is a man of strong personality, and although he may never realize fully the fruits of his labors, his name will go down in history and the nation will profit by some of the brilliant ideas advanced by him—reforms that are bound to come through some political source.

It will injure no man to hear Eugene V. Debs and it may do them some good. He is not a radical, spreading anarchy, but a man of reasoning power.

Mining Journal: In Delta county a recount on sheriff was denied by the county board of canvassers because the seals of the ballot boxes were found to be broken. The members of the board couldn't be sure that the boxes had not been tampered with. The apparently defeated candidate may appeal to the courts for an order of mandamus compelling the recount. It's an eventful year in Delta county politics.

9,000 Barrels of Pickles

Forty-five hundred barrels of pickles have thus far been placed in the vats at the factory of the Michigan Pickle company in Menominee and with the season not yet over it is estimated that the total harvest for this one plant will be not less than 6,000 barrels. With all of these cucumbers paid for at the rate of about one cent per pound, the amount of money disbursed to farmers will total up to thousands of dollars. Cauliflower, onions and beans have also been pickled in large quantities. The acreage was increased greatly this year over last and a still larger increase will be made next season. Had the weather conditions all along been perfectly favorable for raising cucumbers, the crop would have been increased many per cent. As it was, the dry weather interfered.

State Inspector Here

State Inspector Peter Fitzpatrick of Ishpeming, who has been in the city during the week, has ordered several changes for the safety of the public at the local theatres. At the Peterson opera house the doors must open outward and exit cards and red lights were ordered placed over the exits. At the Grand the doors must open outward. At the Bijou only a couple of minor changes are to be made.

DOING THEIR DUTY

Scores of Escanaba Readers Are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys
To filter the blood is the kidney's duty. When they fail to do this the kidney's are sick.

Backache and many kidney ills follow; Urinary trouble, diabetes, Doan's Kidney Pills cure them all. Joseph Labissonniere, of 500 South Seventh St., Marquette Mich., says: "I suffered severely with my kidneys and back for years and had to lay off work a number of times on account of the intense pain all through my back. There was a constant dull aching misery accompanied by acute knife-like thrusts when I least expected them and the pains would be so intense as to bring tears to my eyes. The secretions from my kidneys were very much disordered being irregular and unnatural in appearance. I doctored and tried many remedies without success until finally I saw Doan's Kidney pills advertised and highly spoken of so I obtained a box and began using them. I noticed a change for the better in twenty-four hours. I continued taking them using three boxes, when the trouble all disappeared and never returned. My wife was also cured of kidney trouble by Doan's Kidney pills. We are both more than glad to give our names as endorsers of this valuable remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

Only One Socialist

According to the election returns there is only a single socialist in Menominee county. Only one socialist vote was cast for governor and this voter resides in the first precinct of Holmes township. The election commissioners, when the one socialist vote was discovered, took the matter as a huge joke until they investigated further and found that there were only twenty-two Democrats in the entire county, according to the election returns. Whether all of the Democrats and socialists outside of those mentioned have turned Republican or not is a mystery. The commissioners announce that the contest between Attorney Charles Line and Attorney Fred Haggerson will not be settled until Monday, when a special session of the three commissioners will be called. Each candidate will be represented by attorneys.

GARDEN

Born on the 11th, to Mr. and Mrs. Russell Pelletier of Van's Harbor, a son. Mother and son are doing fine.

Mr. Joseph McPhee, is reported as being very low with typhoid fever at his father's residence in Van's Harbor.

The Rev. Mr. McKenzie is holding a series of revival meetings this week, at the Congregational church in this village.

Mr. and Mrs. James Tompson of Cates Bay, lost a son, six-months-old child this week. Funeral services were held at their residence, the Rev. McKenzie officiating.

The railroad between Van's Harbor, Garden and Cooks Mills is now an assured fact. Several gangs of men were sent onto the line last week, and are now at work at grading, track-laying, etc. I am told that it is the intention to have the road ready for business this fall.

Mr. Richard Shier has sold his residence on First avenue in this village, to Mrs. Joseph Kollman, late of Isabella. Mr. Shier has also disposed of his entire lumbering interests and camp outfit, and will remove with his family to Colorado, where he will locate permanently. Garden loses a good citizen, but our loss will be Colorado's gain.

It is remarkable how much better the average spectator can judge balls and strikes, and whether the runner is safe or not, than the umpire can. And the less the said spectator knows about the game, the louder he will cuss the umpire. We are led to these reflections by the conduct of some of the smarties at the game on the Garden grounds last Sunday.

Jacob Landis of Isabella, transacted business in this village on the 14th. The Port scribe acknowledges a pleasant call. Mr. Landis has recently erected, and has now in operation a portable saw-mill, and also a feed-mill on his farm in Isabella. He reports that he is doing a good business with both. This will be a great convenience to the settlers in that end of our township.

The ball game on the home grounds last Sunday between the Nahma and Garden clubs, resulted in what might be called a "fizzle," the Nahma club quitting at the end of the first half of the sixth inning to avoid a worse beating. As it was, the score stood 1 to 2 in favor of Garden, with Garden one inning to play to make even innings. Although Nahma put up a stiff game, they were evidently out-classed when brought in contact with our boys. The game should have been played out. People who pay to see a ballgame, pay to see the whole game. Any club that quits because the umpire makes what they may think is an unfair decision, is cheating the people out of what they have paid for, and are entitled to get.

By the way, why don't the Garden club fix up their ball ground fence? As it is now, probably one half of the people on the ground sneak in to avoid paying a quarter.

It is a shameful thing to admit that we have such people in Garden, but it is a fact all the same. There are a class of people around Garden, walking on two legs, and who call themselves men, who will sneak into a ball game through a hole in the fence to avoid paying a quarter. Some of these people who thus disgrace themselves and their species, are well-to-do people. Men owning farms and well able to pay. For shame, gentlemen! Either dig up your quarter, or stay away. Don't lower yourselves by any such petty meanness.

Aich. Gee. Esa.

LATHROP

Mr. Warner of Gladstone, is in Nahma this week.

Art Hoffman was calling on trade the first of the week.

A new son arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Pety, Monday.

A large crowd of Nahma people went to Garden on the steamer Maywood last Sunday.

W. J. Laird, F. Good, W. E. Barlow J. P. Cameron W. A. McClintch and B. Barlow attended a Masonic meeting at Escanaba Monday evening.

The game between Nahma and Garden last Sunday resulted in a score of 4 to 3 in favor of Garden; only six innings being played. Garden was at bat when the pitcher threw a ball and the catcher yelled "hit it," which the batter did, making a foul. The umpire immediately called it a "ball." When asked how a foul ball could be called a ball he informed his interrogator that the umpire had the authority to call a foul ball a ball at any time he saw fit to do so and that every time the catcher exercised his vocal organs, the delivery would be called a "ball."

This was a new one to the Nahma boys and the captain said that play would be resumed when the umpire could show a rule to that effect. A rule book was produced but of course the rule in question could not be found. The umpire, however, refused to reverse his decision and the Nahma captain quietly led his team off the field.

Tipp County, S. D. Government Land Opening

The government opening of a million acres of fine agricultural and grazing lands will probably occur about Oct. 1st. S. land office will probably be located there. Pamphlets describing this land and how to secure a quarter section homestead, free on application to any agent Chicago & North Western Railway.

Her Age.

A woman in Ohio was refused a license to marry because she gave her age as 30 when in reality she was 80. Now, as according to proverbial philosophy, a woman is as old as she feels, and if this woman felt like 30 after twice marrying and becoming a grandmother, she should have been encouraged for the sake of public policy in her persistent grasp on juvenility.

On the Turn of a Coin

By Cleveland Moffett

(Copyright, by Shortstory Pub. Co.)

Down the corridor, walking carefully, came four hospital attendants, holding the stretcher resting on two large wheels, rolling noiselessly. The operation was over. On the stretcher lay a young woman, unconscious. Her face was beautiful, but white as the covering sheets, and her head was wound with bandages. She breathed faintly through parted lips.

Out of the operating-room came the surgeon who had finished his work, and with him his assistants, young men in blouses and black caps, most of them wearing pointed beards. An odor of carbolic acid followed them.

"Poor girl," said one, as he watched the stretcher turn into one of the wards. "I wonder if she'll speak before she dies."

"It will be better for her assassin if she doesn't," said another.

Then they went off to various duties. Last of all came Auguste Caseau, hurrying and behindhand, as usual. He had risen late, had reached the hospital late, and had had no breakfast. Of all the medical students at the Laribolere hospital there was none more popular than Caseau, but the pleasures of Paris at night often made him neglect his duties of the day. In the present instance he did not know who the young woman was whom he had just seen under the knife, nor had he any idea how her skull had been crushed with such frightful wounds. All he knew was that she had remarkable beauty and was doomed to die.

He was hurrying off to a neighboring cafe when a stranger waiting at the door touched his arm. The man's eyes were eager, he spoke with ill-concealed excitement and seemed like one who had gone many hours without sleep.

"Tell me," he said, "did she speak?" Caseau shook his head, looking at the man suspiciously.

"Can she live?"

"God knows, the doctor took 16 pieces of bone out of her head."

"Holy Mother, 16 pieces of bone!" Caseau was walking meantime toward the cafe, and the man followed him. His eagerness for information betrayed an interest in the case that argued some special knowledge, and Caseau was curious. "Will you drink?" he said, when they had taken seats at a table.

The stranger called for absinthe and drained his glass quickly.

"Pardon me, I forgot that you do not know I have been through so much for the last 12 hours that I am dazed. Do you believe in occult things, hallucinations and so on?"

Caseau was only in his second year, and the lectures on hallucinations did not begin until the third, so he answered guardedly.

"That depends," he said, with an air of holding knowledge in reserve. He questioned with his eyes, and for the first time appeared sympathetic. The man ordered another absinthe.

"I will tell you about it," he said. "I shall go mad unless I tell some one. In the first place, let me assure you that usually I am the most matter-of-fact man in Paris; I never get angry, I never get excited, but last night—"

He paused and a little shiver ran over him.

"But last night," repeated Caseau encouragingly.

"It was about nine o'clock when I reached the corner of the Rue Breda, where I live. I hurried upstairs. Our apartment is on the fifth floor looking out on the Rue Fontaine, and a balcony runs along the windows where my wife keeps flowers growing. It is a nice place to sit summer evenings, and I expected to find her there."

"Imagine my surprise, then, on opening the door, to find the apartment quite dark, except for the glow of the little night-lamp from the bedroom at the end of the corridor. And instead of seeing my wife come running to meet me, all smiles, I found her sitting on the bed in a fit of hysterical weeping. Hurrying to the bedside I brought my wife to be calm, assuring her that I was there to protect her."

"At last my wife recovered sufficiently to explain her fright as well as she was able to do so. She had dined alone about six o'clock and about seven had given Amandine, our servant, permission to go out for the evening. Then she had spent a little time tidying up the apartment, and about half-past seven had settled down to read in the room where we have our library. This room faces on the Rue Breda. In front of this room there is a short stretch of balcony, which ends in a iron partition that separates it from the balcony of the house adjoining, which is No. 4. It would be possible for a man to climb on this partition and step from one balcony to the other."

"As my wife read she must have dozed, for presently, although her back was turned to the window, she seemed to see a man of large stature standing on the balcony outside and peering into the room. This man had bushy red hair and eyes of the palest blue—eyes that frightened her. Presently he withdrew stealthily, climbed over the partition, and peered into a window of No. 4. Once again he drew back, seemed to hesitate, smiled with a grim humor and noiselessly drawing a coin from his pocket spun it in the air and caught it deftly in his open palm. Then moving closer to the window for better light he nodded, put the coin back in his pocket and forthwith entered the room where my wife sat, passing easily through the long, door-like halves of the window, that were swung wide open.

"Spellbound, my wife watched the man, who paid no heed to her, but made his way at once to the bedroom she following in mortal terror. Approaching the bed he noticed that its curtains were drawn and paused a moment, casting his eyes about him as if in search for something. Near the fireplace lay a heavy brass poker which he picked up, returning with it to the bedside. Breathless my wife watched as he put aside the curtains. A woman lay there sleeping, with her face turned away, but my wife thought it was herself. She saw the man lift the poker as if to strike, at which the woman lying in the bed started and looked toward him. At this my wife's and she cried aloud.

"Of course it was only fancy, a dream, if you like, something that was not real, for the next instant she was alone in the room. But the effect was most distressing. Do what she would she could not drive from her mind the face of that tawny-haired assassin, with his pale blue eyes.

"Finally she went to bed, hoping that sleep would give her some relief; but she could not sleep, she could not get her thoughts out of the morbid channel in which they were running. So, anxious, restless, sick at heart, she had waited for me to come, and my coming, alas, brought her only added terrors.

"You are preventing me from eating my breakfast, sir, with your queer story," said Caseau. "And besides, I can't see what it has to do with the young woman who has just been operated on. She is not your wife?"

"No, thank heaven, but you know who she is?"

"Not I," said Caseau. "I got in too late to learn any details."

"She is Marie Gagnol, who occupied the apartment adjoining yours in No. 4, Rue Breda."

"My God!" exclaimed Caseau. "Just then one of the other students came in from the hospital. 'She's dead,' he said. 'She never spoke. But they are going to try an important experiment on her. Dr. Rosseau thinks she closed her eyes with fright at the very moment when she saw the murderer, and never opened them since. He's going to test his new apparatus for getting the last image recorded on the retina. If he succeeds it will be a new triumph for the hospital and for science.'"

"Gentlemen," said the stranger impressively, "if the doctor's experiment succeeds I believe on my soul that it will also be a triumph for justice."

That afternoon Dr. Rosseau made the experiment, with brilliant success; it was one of the first demonstrations of the possibilities of colored photography. Registered in the sensitive film of the dead woman's eyes, was found the distinct image of a man of unusual size, who clutched in his hands an uplifted poker. The man's hair was red, his eyes a pale blue.

Two months later such a man died under the knife on the Place de la Roquette. He had been arrested, convicted and condemned on the sole evidence of a pair of lifeless eye-balls supported by the testimony of a woman who had never seen him except in a vision. On the eve of his execution he made a full confession. He stated that the murder was a chance crime, prompted only by greed. He had reached the balcony running in front of Nos. 2 and 4 Rue Breda by using a rope hung from the roof. He declared that for about five minutes while he was standing outside he had hesitated whether to enter the apartment of No. 2 or No. 4. He had respected the decision on the turn of a coin.

TO USE OLD SKIRTS

The Economical Woman Can Find Here a Chance for Great Saving.

Many are the schemes of the economical woman, who tries to make the most of everything. The advent of the tunic, or overskirt, gives the saving woman another chance to practice economy.

This is using up a well-cut silk or satin foundation skirt to give an "air" to an overskirt and bodice of a simple striped material.

A woman who owned a smoke-gray silk foundation skirt had it carefully sponged, pressed out and left untrimmed. She bought at the shops a remnant of gray and white striped cotton voile at a small price and made an overskirt and bodice of it.

For the latter she used a piece of the gray silk body lining, cutting it low-necked, taking out the sleeves and finishing the edges with a tiny point of lace.

The tunic was opened up the side, cut to points, put into a box plait at back, and its edges were bound with a three-inch bias fold of the material.

The bodice was simply draped over a gump of lace and was drawn into a five-inch empire belt of gray silk fastened with old silver buttons at the back.

How to Train a New Maid.

It is a good plan in the average sized house for the mistress herself to show the new maid the ways of the house. If she is the parlor maid, to take her to the dining room and herself lay the table for the first meal, explaining exactly where she likes the various things placed. If the maid is inexperienced, show her exactly how the dishes should be handled and all other details which will help her in carrying out her various duties. She will be more likely to remember her instructions if she receives them direct from her mistress than if a fellow servant told her.—Home Chat.

Bleaching Linen.

Half a pound of chlorinated lime.
Half a gallon of boiling water.
Two tablespoonfuls of washing soda.
Put the lime into a basin and pour the boiling water over it, add the soda, stir to break up all the lumps, and enable the water to extract all the chlorine. Strain carefully to remove all the powder. Bottle and keep ready for use. The solution should never be stronger than one part of the liquor to four parts of hot water. Bleach the linen in this.

WITH LACE BRETTELES

A Pretty Waist—Combining Embroidery Medallions and Lace.

One way of combining embroidery medallions with all over lace is illustrated in this pleasing waist. The bretelles, with their scalloped edges, are becoming to most women, and, despite their simplicity, they impart quite an air to almost any costume. For this reason the design is suggested for a gown that is to be freshened up to last out the season, or for one that is being remodeled altogether. It requires so little of the dress material, for even the sleeves can be made of chiffon cloth, if liked, or of plain net.

The bretelles are bordered with a half-inch strip of satin, either cut on the bias so that it will fit around the curves, or else cut out of a larger piece of material and shaped with precision. The medallions are applied before the bretelles are fastened in position. There is no definite place for them to go through. When oval ornaments are selected and they are fairly large, three will be found enough to use on each half of a bretelle.

Luncheons in Colors.

Luncheons in colors are very popular, and one of the prettiest of them is the lavender luncheon. A very effective desert for this luncheon may be frozen custard that has been tinted with unfermented grape juice. Candied violets may decorate the custard, and the dish in which it is placed be garnished with plumbago clusters.

Some Pretty Autumn Hats

THE summer outing hats have been unusually attractive and the new fall models bid fair to maintain the standard.

Many of the new models in soft felt repeat shapes that have grown familiar to us in Panama and other straws, but there are occasional new notes too, especially among the small motor hats. Take, for example, the little soft turban of the sketch, with its bowl shaped crown of white felt, its close rolled brim faced with emerald green, its green scarf and fluffy green pompon. This would not be becoming to every woman, but it is pretty, piquant and may be had in other color schemes besides the white and green.

There are other little motor turbans, more exclusively dedicated to the car. One of these models is made in felt or in suede and has a low broad crown around which a motor veil matching the hat in color is draped, the long ends falling loose in the back. The narrow, rolled brim is fastened up to the crown by little straps which hold the veil in place, but which may be unfastened so that the veil may be drawn down over the face.

Felt hats in white, mode, gray, etc., shaped like the popular Panamas and trimmed like the latter with plain or fancy silk scarfs, will be worn through the autumn, and wider brimmed, larger crowned shapes in similar soft felt, but echoing the shapes so common in white chip throughout the summer, are trimmed simply in big swathing scarfs or in an enveloping scarf with one big bird or a couple of wings.

Another scarf trimmed felt hat has a large crown and wide brim rolling at the edges and the scarf runs through six slits cut in the side of the crown and is knotted at the left back.

OLD COACHES TO GO.

Motor Cars to Supplant "Herdie" in Washington.

A curious public vehicle that runs along the streets of Washington is doomed to extinction. Congress, at the last session, provided that within a year the company operating these coaches must operate motor cars.

In Washington, this form of "bus" is called a "herdie," so called after Peter Herdie, its inventor. In the early '80s herdie lines were put in operation on Pennsylvania avenue and other important streets in opposition to the horse car lines. They were well patronized, but after several years their service grew poorer and the street car lines changed their power from horse to cable and later to the underground electric system. The herdie ceased to run on streets served by the ordinary traction lines, but survives on several of the principal residence streets. These coaches run on a regular (or irregular) schedule, and the fare, five cents, is deposited by the passenger in a box at the front of the coach after the manner of the ancient hobtail car.

Still Being Built in Washington.

An illicit still, fine the collector of internal revenue does not know anything about, is being built within the traditional stone's throw of the bureau of engraving and printing in Washington. That is the place where all the stamps supposed to be put upon alcoholic liquor packages are engraved and printed. This distillery is being built around a very high telephone pole. It will shortly be one of the most perfectly appointed distilleries in the country. Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry of the department of agriculture, is superintendent of the construction of it, and when the fires are started and the properly prepared mash begins bubbling the pure food expert will begin making high class stuff.

First, he is going to use watermelon rinds, sweet corn cobs, and other things the like of which are thrown into the garbage on the farms of the country. He is going to convert the sugar in these waste products into alcohol, which in turn will be denatured so as to make it unfit for use as a beverage.

His primary object is to show how the farmer, by using garbage, can provide fuel for running the farm engine—one of the internal explosion kind. Congress passed the denatured alcohol bill two years ago, but as yet the farmers are not taking much interest in their privilege. Dr. Wiley intends to show them a few things.

Tots Made Criminal by Law.

The enforcement of the new child labor law is credited with responsibility for the juvenile crime wave now sweeping over Washington. The records at the House of Detention, where the boy lawbreakers are sent pending trial, show that juvenile crime in one week increased more than 100 per cent. over the preceding week, or 75, as against 36 for the preceding week, and 32 for the week preceding that. It is asserted that the increase in juvenile crime is due to the large number of boys rendered idle by the operation of the new law.

It is stated officially that about 500 boys have been denied permits to work, to which must be added a larger number who have been deterred from working by their dread of the red tape connected with the enforcement of the law and the trouble necessary to secure permits.

House of Detention officials say it may be that matters will adjust themselves later, after the law has had time to get in good working order.

Names Don't Count.

Surnames count no longer on the visiting cards of official Washington. The job's the whole thing. Any one must have the real thing in jobs before he can break into the smart set.

Just where the idea sprang from no one seems to know. Its development was mushroomlike. In a day, almost, the fad was on. Uncle Joe Cannon was one of its first devotees. His card would make his constituents rub their eyes in amazement. It reads simply: "The Speaker."

Admiral Dewey does not have his name on his card, either. It reads simply, in large, flowing script: "The Admiral of the Navy." This means that there is only one admiral and only one navy.

It's a little hard on the senators; there are so many of them the plan will not work. Instead the senator povers himself with real distinction by leaving off his official station and simply printing it so: "Mr. Foraker."

BATHING AN INDIAN IDOL.

Curious Ceremony Attended by Thousands of Devout Pilgrims.

Thousands of pilgrims from the various outlying villages and other parts of the Hooghly district poured in from an early hour in the morning to the temples of Jagernath, says the Calcutta Statesman.

The image of the god is placed on a conspicuous part of the temple, so that it can be viewed at an advantage by the immense crowd of pilgrims, and there at a certain fixed hour the bathing ceremony commences.

The most curious part of the festival is that water is not poured on the image of the god until a certain small bird is found sitting on the topmost banner of the temple. There is a popular belief that the bird comes from Puri, the famous place of Hindu pilgrimage, to Mahech on the day of this festival, and his very presence is an indication that the ceremony should commence. Immediately after the bath the bird disappears.

A country clergyman, while recently advocating the support of a charitable object, prefaced the circulation of the plate with the following address: "From the great sympathy I have witnessed in your countenance, there is only one thing I am afraid of—that some of you may feel inclined to give too much. The result was an overflowing collection.

Marine Insurance.

Marine insurance is the oldest kind of modern insurance. Its principles were first employed in the fourteenth century by the merchants of Barcelona, in Spain, when that city was the capital of the kingdom of Catalonia and when its hardy mariners were second to none in the world. About the same time, and also at Barcelona, the famous code of maritime laws known as the "consulado del mar" was promulgated, which is the foundation of the present shipping laws of every country.

"THE PALE GIRL."

Did Not Weather Coffee Was the Cause.

In cold weather some people think a cup of hot coffee good to help keep warm. So it is—for a short time but the drug—caffeine—acts on the heart to weaken the circulation and the reaction is to cause more chilliness.

There is a hot wholesome drink which a Dak. girl found after a time, makes the blood warm and the heart strong.

She says:

"Having lived for five years in N. Dak., I have used considerable coffee owing to the cold climate. As a result I had a dull headache regularly, suffered from indigestion, and had no 'life' in me.

"It was known as 'the pale girl,' and people thought I was just weakly. After a time I had heart trouble and became very nervous, never knew what it was to be real well. Took medicine but it never seemed to do any good.

"Since being married my husband and I both have thought coffee was harming us and we would quit, only to begin again, although we felt it was the same as poison to us.

"Then we got some Postum. Well, the effect was really wonderful. My complexion is clear now, headache gone, and I have a great deal of energy I had never known while drinking coffee.

"I haven't been troubled with indigestion since using Postum, am not nervous, and need no medicine. We have a little girl and boy who both love Postum and thrive on it and Grape-Nuts."

"There's a Reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read, "The Road to Wellville," in pgs.

"They'll Never Take Me Alive!"

How the Unconquerable "Maiden Moonshiner" of Kentucky, Intrenched in the Rocky Hills, Has Faced Single Handed the United States Government Officers, and Is Accused of Wounding, Perhaps Mortally, One of the Attacking Party.

MAY FOUTS

WHERE MAY FOUTS BARRICADED HERSELF FOR BATTLE

Down behind a natural fortress of huge boulders in eastern Kentucky a woman who has not yet seen her thirtieth birthday is calmly, intrepidly and successfully defying the mighty government of the United States.

A few days ago, single-handed, she beat back a posse of the best revenue officers Uncle Sam could muster. Her aim is true and her belief in her sovereign right to make her own brand of whisky from her own corn is supreme and immovable.

Mary Fouts, aged 27, is America's only moonshiner maid, and she is a moonshiner by birth, inclination and training. Her father was a moonshiner before her, and the several ramifications of her family hold records for battle with revenue officers that any mountaineer might envy.

For 10 years the Beaver Creek district, on the Knott-Floyd-Letcher border, has been a moonshine stronghold, the scene of many a pitched battle between moonshiners and government officials. Blood of both sides has stained its narrow ravines and picturesque mountain paths. If a record of lives sold for the mountain brew had been kept doubtless the greater number of notches would have been cut by Uncle Sam. But when it came to this woman, this tall, stalwart, calm-eyed, sure-aiming young woman on her native heath, Uncle Sam was baffled. Chivalry died hard, even when backed by law and justice, and to send his picked shots against a woman was more than even Uncle Sam wanted to do. In time the clash had to come, yet the woman won against the law and its armed officers.

Mary Fouts was born in the rude home where she now distills what is said to be the best brand of whisky obtainable in all Kentucky. Her baby eyes studied the still, and her baby ears learned to catch quick, ominous whispers. Just as the child of the proverbial artist accepts poverty as the price of parental genius, as the child of the king believes that royalty can do no wrong, so this child of the mountains believed that making whisky without government consent was the inalienable right of hill people.

Her parents were ambitious for the little Mary, however, and sent her to school, where she proved exceptionally bright, and acquired an amount of "book learning" which dazzled her humble relatives. But she never forgot her love of the mountain life and never lost her grip on mountain traditions.

When other girls were writing notes to each other or making paper dolls Mary Fouts was drawing pictures of stills, and finally she presented to her astonished teacher a perfect reproduction of a still, including the "worm" which she had evolved from some odd bits of copper that came her way.

During her twelfth year, when home on her vacation, she made a "run" of very fair moonshine whisky in an old coffee boiler in her mother's kitchen. At 16, her education finished, Mary Fouts declared against muslin frocks and cross-road dances. She wanted the free life of hazardous life of the moonshiner.

A woman moonshiner! Even bold Kentucky gasped. Women there were who had protected their "men" and fought for their "men" and even died with their "men"—but a woman who wanted to be a leader of men in moonshining, well, that was going some!

A few years later, Mary Fouts came into her own. Her father died, and she became the head of his household and the manipulator of his famous still. And what was more, Mary Fouts made a whisky of no mean reputation. She raised her own crop of corn and coaxed it as only a farmer who loves his growing things can coax. And then she made it into the right sort of whisky, pure and unadulterated.

"I would not adulterate my whisky for any price, nor, for the whole world," said Miss Fouts in a recent interview—and she meant it. No head of a great food factory ever regarded the output of his establishment with greater reverence and pride and affection than does Mary Fouts the product of her illicit still. And down there in Kentucky when a man wants the real thing in whisky he demands Mary Fouts' whisky, willingly paying the higher price asked for her brand.

New, of course, the United States government, with its nighty system of officers and spies, was not ignorant of Mary Fouts and her calm, unswerving violation of the laws. But how to reach Mary Fouts without sacrificing national pride by spilling the blood of a woman who sinned only because she thought it no sin; but her right, was a problem even for a great government. If Mary Fouts would kindly sneak out of her stronghold and murder a man in cold blood, then the law might take its course. But Mary Fouts was distressingly peaceable and industrious. She attended strictly to her own business.

Mary Fouts did not come to town nor haunt highways. But she certainly did know how to guard her property, particularly her still. This had a natural barricade of rocks, and behind this barricade Mary Fouts kept a collection of Winchesters and ammunition which meant a fight to a finish—and it is a sorry thing for a posse of men to find themselves fighting against one intrepid woman who had been guilty of no greater offense than turning the product of her own land into cash according to the methods followed by her ancestors for generations. And of these ancestors she was as proud as the scions of English nobility of the ancestors who fought under William the Conqueror.

But something had to be done. There were seven counts against Miss Fouts. The government felt that patience, even with a fair woman, had ceased to be a virtue. The dignity of the law must be maintained, without bloodshed if possible, with bloodshed if necessary. But first diplomacy.

A revenue officer sent to Miss Fouts by a trusted friend to the moonshiner this message in writing:

"Meet us at the schoolhouse on Beaver-Creek Thursday and promise you will never violate the law, never moonshine any more, and we will see to it that you are fully pardoned for all."

"I will never meet you," was her curt reply, and to her mother she said:

"There's no use talking—I will keep this still going in spite of all the government. It is a duty to you I mean to fulfill. Father stilled all his life and stilled good whisky. There is no reason why we shouldn't keep up the family reputation. They will never take me alive," she is said to have added.

For, you see, Mary Fouts, for all her contempt of government and the law, is no rude mountain woman of uncouth bearing and rougher speech. She is the embodiment of the twentieth century business woman—a bloom in Kentucky hills.

So the quaint old Fouts homestead was put in a state of siege. The Winchesters were cleaned, loaded and made ready. The revenue men were sure to come after that bold defiance. And come they did, headed by United States Marshal F. M. Blair, one of the most determined and successful men in the revenue service. With him was a picked posse—and before him, well barricaded by a natural breastwork of impenetrable rock, was Mary Fouts, the moonshine maid, with Winchesters and ammunition enough to stand off an army.

According to the officers' story they pressed forward, and then Mary Fouts fired. She deliberately, say the revenue men, opened the fight and made it possible for the revenue men to do their duty. They returned the fire, to a man, but Mary Fouts was safe behind the boulders. Onward they pressed, and for half an hour the mimic, one-sided battle raged, then Deputy Marshal Hiram Day fell sorely wounded, and was carried away on a stretcher by his baffled companions. What will happen to Mary Fouts depends upon the outcome of Day's wound. If it prove fatal, as the doctor's predict, Mary Fouts will have to face a charge of murder without the mitigating plea of self-defense, and Uncle Sam's sense of chivalry will not be violated. But at the time of writing, Mary Fouts, the moonshine maid, remains undisturbed in the Kentucky hills, calmly "stilling" the corn-colored brew that is the pride and joy of Kentucky connoisseurs.

OFFICER BUTTONS GOWN.

New York Patrolman Aids a Pretty Miss Out of Difficulty.

A young woman came out of one of the residences facing Washington square, New York city, garbed in a princess gown. She hesitated a moment, looking doubtfully at the loafers on the park benches and forlornly up Fifth avenue. Then she went over to Policeman George Donnelly, who was standing at the corner gazing with an official eye upon the grass.

"I beg your pardon, but will you do me a favor?" she said, with slightly heightened color.

"Sure, miss," replied the officer in his best manner.

"Will you please button my dress for me?" she entreated, in apparent calmness.

"What?" gasped Donnelly.

"I said, would you please button my dress? These princess affairs are so tight that I just can't get my arms up. There are three buttons I cannot reach."

She turned her back on the policeman, and his staring gaze traveled to a point midway between her shoulder blades and stopped. There he saw some lace, a thin line of blue ribbon, and—

"Certainly, miss," said the guardian of the law when he realized the necessity, and he began tugging at his gloves.

"Oh, I am so sorry to trouble you," the young woman said, "but there wasn't a soul in the house, and I am very anxious to get uptown."

"No trouble at all," the policeman insisted, and stuffing his gloves in his pocket he took a firm grip and started to work.

"My fingers are all thumbs," said Donnelly.

"Yes, that's the trouble," replied the girl, encouragingly. "One button comes loose while you try to fasten the next one."

"I'll have it in just a minute." And then, after some more endeavor, the policeman straightened up with an air of satisfaction.

"Thank you very much, officer," said Miss Washington Square, composedly. "I knew I could depend upon you." Then she pushed her way through a crowd that had collected and climbed upon a waiting stage.

Donnelly mopped his heated brow.

"It's a gay life," said he. "Well, the city hires me to preserve order and decency, and I guess I done it that time."

MARRIAGE BY PHOTOGRAPH.

Some Defensive Movements Undertaken by Japanese in America.

The Asahi Shimbun has an article which throws an interesting light on the question alluded to in our last issue, namely, marriages by photograph between Japanese residing in America and their countrywomen in Japan. It appears that two movements of a self-defensive nature have recently been organized by Japanese residents in the United States.

The first is a crusade against gambling by the Chinese, a vice which is indulged in on such a scale and which involves such evil results that the presence of Orientals in general becomes objectionable in the eyes of American citizens. Japanese agitation for the suppression of this vice prom-

A Timely Air.

During one of the political tours of Mr. Cleveland, in which he was accompanied by Secretary Olney, he arrived during a severe storm at a town in which he was to speak. As he entered the carriage with his friends and was driven from the station the rain changed to hail, and immense stones battered and rattled against the vehicle. A brass band, rather demoralized by the storm, stuck bravely to its post and played.

"That is the most realistic music I have ever heard," remarked the president.

"What are they playing?" asked the secretary of state.

"Hail to the Chief—with real hail!" rejoined Mr. Cleveland.

It Came Off.

The fair bather was in the greatest danger when the heroic rescuer seized her by the hair. It came off. Puffs and coils and waves and rats it strewn the shuddering sea.

Then he grasped the tiny knob of real hair that remained on the lady's head and drew her into shallow water. Did she thank him for saving her life?

She didn't.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Fires seem to be raging with all their fury these days, and unless rain comes within a few days a great deal of timber will be destroyed. We understand the fire is burning about three feet into the ground, which will require very heavy rainfall to extinguish.

Several of our young folks are "sporting" around in new sweater vests. They are certainly very becoming, and a garment of which the boys should feel proud. You had better get in line, boys, if you want to be up to date, as we understand there are but a very few of them left.

A great many people were greatly confused last Wednesday morning when they awoke, as they were unable to see ten feet ahead of them and the thought

Mr. Alexander Hamilton Green, who is residing at his summer home in Indian Town, recently purchased a new suit, hat and shoes, etc., and is now one of the best and sportiest looking "chaps" along the Bay. The basketball game at Gladstone last Sunday between the new team of that city and the strong Rapid River aggregation was an overwhelming victory for the R. R. boys, defeating their opponents by the score of 22 to 1. The game was too one-sided to be in the least interesting and proved to the Gladstone fans that their team is not in the class of the locals. Because—Your power to EARN money will probably come to an end before your need to SPEND money does.

Because—you can do nothing in a business way without money.

Because—A Savings Account gives you a chance to better yourself by looking about occasionally.

Because money in a Savings Account is the kind of a friend that don't go back on you in time of need.

Because—Money spent thoughtlessly gives you no real return for its value. You will think twice before you draw from a Savings Account.

Because—A Savings Account gives you a prestige and standing both with yourself and others, and lends encouragement in every trial and discouragement.

Because—You know it's a mighty good thing to have.
