WALLACE'S

The Mountain Wonder of the Sacramento Valley Graphically Described.

Just as Shasta formed the landmark for the trappers and hunters and miners of forty and fifty years ago, so it is now the beacon for travelers for many miles in every direction. Going northward by rail through the Sacramento valley one catches occasional glimpses of its snow-white slopes many hours before its base is reached.

From this point a clear and unobstructed view can be had of the entire western slope of the mountain. There is first a gradual rise through the timber belt, then comes an open stretch covered with grass or low apparal, and then the snow line is reached and there is apparently a single broad smooth sweep upward over the snow and on to the summit, more than two miles above the spot where the observer stands.

All summer long scarce a cloud obscures the peak, but week after week it raises its proud head into the clear azure above the surrounding mountains, which are but mere pigmies in comparison, and exposes every feature of its noble slopes, tremendous precipices and eternal drifts of snow and ice to the awe-struck gaze of man.

On the slopes of Shasta are two immense glaciers, one of them being half a mile wide and over two miles in length. It is the melting of these vast frozen streams and of the snow fields that cover the mountain to a tremendous depth that give rise to the Sacramento and some of the tributaries of the Klamath river, the source being a never failing one.—Philadelphia Times.

CONCERNING EYES.

What They Are Supposed to Indicate as to Character and Ability.

Long almond-shaped eyes, with thick-skinned eyelids that cover half the pupil, are indicative of genius when they are found in conjunction with a brow which is full over the eyebrows and which has one deep, perpendicular line between the eyebrows. I have frequently noticed the combination, says a writer, in the faces of distinguished literary men and artists.

—Trials of the Grocer.—"Good morning, Mr. T." said Mrs. Newsplee, as she sailed into the corner grocery, "have you any electric currents? I was just reading in this morning's paper that a judicious use of them is very beneficial to the system; do you think once a week would be often enough to cook them?"

—The Road to Ruin.—Husband—"What are you so much interested in that paper?" Wife—"I was reading one of those articles on how to get up a cheap dinner." Husband—"Do you want to ruin me?"—Munsey's Weekly.

Terms Considered Paper Among the English.

To adequately indicate the divergence between the ways of English society and our own would require a volume, but some striking examples may be given in a few paragraphs. To begin with the names applied to servants. In England there is no such thing as a "dining-room girl." She is called a "parlor-maid." What we term a "stair-stair girl" is a "house-maid." There are no "chamber-maids" or "waiters" in an English private house.

Americans who ape English usages almost always blunder in the use of crests. In England, only men put crests on their paper, silver, clothing, carriages, etc. For a lady, and especially a young lady, to put a crest on any thing would be considered bad form.

From this point a clear and unobstructed view can be had of the entire western slope of the mountain. There is first a gradual rise through the timber belt, then comes an open stretch covered with grass or low apparal, and then the snow line is reached and there is apparently a single broad smooth sweep upward over the snow and on to the summit, more than two miles above the spot where the observer stands.

In England, shooting is never called "gunning" or "hunting." The latter term is spoiled exclusively by fox-hunting. A horse pool at jumping is called a good "fomer." All jumps except ditches and "water" (or oils) are called "fences." On the other hand, what we call "races" in England are running-races. There are no trotting-races. All English races are run, not upon a dirt track, but upon grass; hence the expression, the "turf."

A word about the etiquette of calls and cards. In England it would be the worst possible form for a gentleman to call on an unmarried lady and ask the servant if she is at home. He must always ask for the mother only. A gentleman is never asked to "call again soon," but he is told: "I hope we shall see a good deal of you."

An unusually fine specimen of a phosphorescent fungus was recently found on some wood-work in a damp mine near Scranton, Pa. It was fan-shaped and from the tips of its branches sufficient light, it is said, was emitted to see and read moderate-sized print by, while the figures on the face of a watch could be plainly seen.

—"Hey, you there, come here," said a sharp-voiced woman from the back steps of a house to a passing tramp. The tramp plowed his way through the new fallen snow to the steps, thinking the woman had taken pity on him and would supply him with a lunch.

—"Oh, I'm so disappointed! Henry promised me a seal-skin this winter; but he didn't get it." "I don't wonder you feel badly. Hope deferred maketh the heart sick."—Puck.

Floods in the rivers of Arizona, the Colorado, Gila and their affluents, last week swept the valleys clean of everything. At Yuma nothing except a portion of the railway structure is left standing and the town, which is built upon a new site, is higher ground. Many deaths by drowning are reported and the estimate of loss of property is $3,000,000 or more.

ESCANABA, MICH., MARCH 7, 1891.

Republican State Ticket.

For Justice of the Supreme Court, ROBERT M. MONTGOMERY, of Kent County.

STATE OF MICHIGAN.

DEPT. OF STATE, LANSING, Feb. 5, 1891. TO THE SHERIFF OF THE COUNTY OF DELTA:—

SIR:—You are hereby notified, that at the general election to be held in this state on Monday, the 6th day of April next, the following officers are to be elected, viz:—

An Associate Justice of the Supreme Court in place of John W. Champlin, whose term of office will expire December 31, 1891.

Also two Regents of the University in place of Charles J. Willett and Arthur M. Clark, whose terms of office will expire December 31, 1891.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Great Seal of the State of Michigan, at Lansing, the day and year first above written.

DANIEL E. SOPER, Secretary of State.

SHERIFF'S OFFICE, Escanaba, Feb. 13, 1891. Township and City clerks, and all officers upon whom devolve duties in connection with the election above referred to, will take notice.

GEORGE McARTHUR, Sheriff of Delta County.

THE Iron Mountain papers are hot. The Journal has no good word for Dick Flannigan nor the Range a kind one for Jo. Fleishem.

THE most ludicrous thing going is the universal commendation, by the democratic press of the state, of the course of La Governor, Strong contrasted with the attacks of the same papers upon Speaker Reed.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Ontonagon Miner says that Ewen, the new town in the "home stead" country is "full of revolution, crooked whisky, gamblers, fallen women and depraved men."

THE Doran bill, which proposes a tax on the iron mines sufficient to close all but the most profitable of them, receives the support of the democratic press of the lower peninsula.

MILWAUKEE information, or what Milwaukee papers disseminate as such, must be taken with a ? in most cases. The tale of an immense transaction in iron ore—the output of the Norrie mine and a big lot of Ashland ore is flatly contradicted by the managers of those mines, who say that not only has there been no sale of ore, but no inquiry for it, even.

ALFRED E. HUNT, of the Pittsburg Reduction Co., which manufactures aluminium upon a small scale, its capacity for production being only 375 pounds a day, estimates the cost of the production of that metal if undertaken on a scale sufficiently great, at only twenty cents a pound.

GEORGE HEARST, senator from California, who had been long ill, died last Saturday evening. He was born in Missouri in 1820, went to California in 1850, acquired wealth, entered public life in 1864 as a member of the legislature, was appointed to the senate to fill the unexpired term of Gen. Miller, deceased, in 1885, and was elected for the term commencing in 1887.

IRON PORT thinks the chances are against the organization of Dickinson county. Those who are in the fight think differently—at least the friends of the movement.—Range, Iron Mountain.

For the reason that we have no interest whatever in the result; that if the county is erected we shall regret only that it was not called Quinnesec, rather than Dickinson, or if it is not erected our only regret will be that some good friends of ours will suffer disappointment; we may be able to see the probabilities more clearly than "those who are in the fight" on either side.

THE TOTAL state tax levied last year was $1,800,000. The output of iron was 7,675,000 tons. Had it been taxed as Senator Doran proposes to tax it our iron industry would have paid it all, practically ($1,535,000). Can any one, even a Michigan democrat, have the check to call an equitable arrangement? But the industry would never pay that amount, nor a moiety of it.

THE FOLLOWING is the remainder of the state proposed by the bill introduced by Representative Jackson, of Wayne:

1st District: Livingston and Oakland counties six townships of Wayne and seven wards of Detroit. Democratic, solid.

2d District: Twelve townships of Wayne, the city of Wyandotte and nine wards of Detroit. Democratic.

3d District: Lenawee, Washtenaw, Jackson and Ingham counties. Debatable, but probably democratic.

4th District: Hillsdale, Branch, Calhoun, Kalamazoo and Eaton counties. Five strong republican counties pitched into one district.

5th District: Cass, St. Joseph, Berrien, Van Buren, Allegan and Barry counties. Six republican counties in this district.

6th District: Ottawa, Kent and Ionia counties. Probably democratic but not safely so.

7th District: Clinton, Shiawassee, Genesee and Saginaw counties. Three republican pluralities swamped under Saginaw. Democratic.

8th District: Macomb, Lapeer, St. Clair, Sanilac and Huron counties. Democratic.

9th District: Tuscola, Bay, Midland, Gladwin, Arenac, Iosco, Ogemaw, Ocooda, Alcona, Alpena, Presque Isle and Cheboygan counties. This is the "shoe-string" district, reaching from below Saginaw bay to the Straits, and is intended to be made democratic by the vote of Bay county, but can be redeemed by work.

10th District: Muskegon, Oceana, Newaygo, Mecosta, Isabella, Grand and Montcalm counties. Six more republican counties, and the district stretches across the state, from Saginaw to Lake Michigan.

11th District: All the counties of the lower peninsula, nineteen in number, not embraced in the districts from one to ten, twelve republican, seven democratic.

12th District: The upper peninsula. That the intent of the measure is to make as many democratic districts as possible is patent, but with the republicans of the state awake and at work, in earnest, we believe the result of the work will be the securing of but one safe democratic district in addition to that which previously existed.

AN UPPER PENINSULA democrat, reading the Doran bill, exclaimed "Great Scott; if that bill passes I will be the only democrat left in the U. S. P."

BROTHER MASON, of the Delta, asks "what is Mr. Longyear's place in the political field?"

CONCERNING the unseating of Senators Morse and Horton the L'Anse Sentinel says: "We know nothing of the merits of these cases, but the action looks like a nasty job."

THE Iron Trade Review expects to see lake carriers "go up the lakes with coal and come down light" this season.

THE LEGISLATURE is bored with petitions for and remonstrances against an appropriation to cover the expenses of the G. A. R. at Detroit upon the occasion of the coming annual encampment in that city.

HON. JOHN POWER presided over the democratic state convention which assembled at Lansing on Friday of last week and Fred Estee was its recorder.

THE Delta wants a new deal this spring. From its issue of last Saturday we clip the following:

"The methods of the past must be put aside, this spring and a new policy adopted, which shall be put into effect by new men."

There is no more indication of anything being done in ore freight contracts than small sales of ore for next season's delivery.

OUR ELDER BROTHERS, the people of England, have long been divided into two great parties; the one, composed chiefly of the land owners and agricultural classes, the Tory, Conservative, or (as sometimes called) country party.

REPRESENTATIVE WAGNER, at home for a day, tells the Marquette people that there is grave danger of the passage of the Doran measure taxing the output of our mines.

CONCERNING the effect of the Doran bill, should it become a law, the Iron Ore says: "It would have the effect of reducing the pay of the miners and laborers employed in and around the mines to meet that tax."

WE believe the effect would be between that and the result predicted by Mr. White. The best mines would be operated, reducing the pay of laborer, and the poorer ones would be closed.

THE final trial of the new gunboat Bennington showed her to be a first class ship.

By improved, and the variety has been increased until now American made gloves are steadily driving out the foreign gloves.

One hundred and seventy five glove makers and 20,000 people in Fulton county draw their subsistence directly from glove making.

SENATOR DORAN introduced a bill in the State Senate a few days ago, the passage of which would result in widespread disaster to the mining industries of the state.

At the Negawane mine in this city, he might become satisfied of the fact that $180,000 in cash was expended before the first ton of marketable ore was raised.

As a fact that a large number of mines were operated at a loss during the closing months of last year, and were compelled to close down entirely.

OUR Brother Griffey, is magnanimous. To credit the Dorans and Doremuses of the legislature with "good faith" and to assume that there would be "no danger of the passage" of Doran's measure of its effect was understood as conceding and assuming a great deal.

MR. PARNELL, in a speech in County Meath last Saturday, showed his hand. He looked forward not only to a parliament on College Green, with such limited authority as the British crown and parliament may be willing to confer upon it, but beyond that to Irish independence of the British crown and an Irish republic.

GEN. B. M. CUTCHERON, of the 9th district of this state, has been chairman of the house military committee of the 51st congress.
