HOME-COMING

How quickly the days pass! The harsh, strident voice of Business is forgotten; for who can come home without feeling the worthlessness of mere money-getting?

So when we look for the school of happiness we must come to the home, be it the old or the new one; for it is here that the happy habit is most easily nurtured and blossoms most luxuriously, bound in

"The blessed wreath of household charities."

No wonder that Old Home Week is one of the most cohesive powers of national life. No matter where a man may wander, he never fails to respond to the sentiment and the memories of the dear home.—JOE M. CHAPPLE.

"UNCLE TOM'S" PLACE IS BURNED

(Special to Morning Press.)
MAYSVILLE, Ky., Aug. 18.—Lightning struck the historic courthouse at Washington, Mason county, destroying the building.

It was one of the oldest landmarks in the county, being built in 1794 by Louis Craig, a pioneer Baptist preacher.

Daniel Webster, Henry Clay and T. F. Marshall and others noted in history, were familiar faces upon its floors and often spoke to the pioneers.

It was here that old "Uncle Tom" of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" fame was sold on the block into slavery and inspired Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stow's famous work.

A movement is now on foot to replace the historic building.

BIG ISLAND, Me., Aug. 18.—

John Launderville Cut Laces of One Shoe in Water, as Proven by Find of Yesterday

LIME TO BE USED TODAY

Shocks in Bottom of Bay Will be Used Today in Effort to Raise Man's Body

That John Launderville, who lost his life near the Stephenson dock on Tuesday, made a terrific fight for life was proven yesterday when a shoe that had been taken off by the drowned man as he struggled in the water was found near the dock. Realizing that he was in danger because of the heavy weight of his clothing, while attempting to save his son the shoe recovered showed that he had taken his knife from his pocket and cut the laces on at least on the encumbrances on his feet. Battling against death Launderville, who wore a pair of high woodsman's shoes, had shown sufficient presence of mind to attempt to remove his clothing while in the water. The laces, of tough buckskin in the shoe recovered had been neatly cut from the top to the bottom but in the operation the unfortunate man was evidently choked and went to the bottom like a log before rescuers could reach his side.

Throughout the day yesterday members of the searching party dragged the bottom of the bay in an attempt to find the body but without avail. Today like jaws will be used in an attempt to raise the body from its resting place and if that effort is futile dynamite will be used.

FAKE MESSAGE BOY IS CAUGHT IN METROPOLIS

(Special to Morning Press.)
DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 18.—In the arrest of 17-year-old "Jimmy" Vokes the police are convinced that they have captured the person who worked the fake telegram game in Detroit, Battle Creek, Lansing, Jackson and other Michigan towns.

The police say that "Jimmy," who has a police record a mile long, has admitted that he and Harry Grant, a 17-year-old boy now in jail in Chicago, stole telegraph blanks from Western Union and Postal Telegraph offices and swindled a large number of people. "Jimmie" has also confessed, the police say, to doing several other jobs.

He told that he and Harry Grant each got a telegraph messenger cap and with the blanks were ready for business. They consulted the city directory and picked out names of people whom they thought would be likely to fall for the game. Then they wrote telegrams reading:

"New York, N. Y. Man killed here. Has your address in pockets. Will write particulars. Dr. J. Reid, Coroner's Office."

The telegrams were always marked "60 cents collect," and the victim paid over the money.

Mrs. Reitz is the widow of John A. Reitz, who was one of the wealthiest sawmill owners of the city and left a large estate.

Under the provisions of Mrs. Foley's late husband's will, the fine Reitz home on Riverside avenue reverts to her children in case of her second marriage.

All her other daughters have been prominent in social circles.

Mr. and Mrs. Foley have taken a suite of rooms at the Vendome Hotel.

ESCANABA IS IN POSSESSION OF STATE NAVAL RESERVES

Yantic Bombarded City Last Night And Overcame Port Defenders Easily. Reserves Will Appear Today

PARADE HELD THIS MORNING

Nearly Two Hundred Men Will be in Line at 10:30 O'clock Today. Inspection This Afternoon and Reception Tonight

Escanaba today is in the hands of the State Naval Reserves of Michigan.

With a booming of cannon the historic battleship Yantic arrived in port shortly before 9 o'clock last night after a 19-hour run from Milwaukee and passing the fortifications took possession of the city. This morning at 10:30 o'clock members of the Escanaba and Hancock divisions of reserves aboard the Yantic will appear in parade line on Ludington street and the program of entertainment will continue throughout the day.

From 1:30 to 4:30 o'clock this afternoon all people of Escanaba are invited to visit the Yantic and boats will ply between the dock and the vessel between those hours. In the evening a reception and dancing party for friends and relatives of the Reserves will be held aboard the boat and a most enjoyable evening is anticipated.

Members of the Escanaba division who are in the city and who were unable to take part in the cruise are ordered to the armory to secure uniforms and arms and report at the vessel before 10:30 o'clock this morning. The armory will be opened early today and it is hoped that a large number of the local members will turn out in the parade.

Visitors to the Yantic will find much of interest aboard that vessel. The six rapid fire guns with which the vessel is armed were taken from the Olympic, Almiral Dewey's flagship during the storming of Manila and the vessel itself has a historical career. The reserve aboard will greet all visitors with courtesy and every effort will be made to make the stay in Escanaba a memorial one.

Escanaba distinguished itself in the races that were held at Harbo Springs and other points during the maneuver on the present cruise. Escanaba reserves won first place in the whaleboat sailing race, second in the gig race and carried off third honors in the cutter race. Throughout the cruise the crew of the Yantic has conducted itself with the utmost decorum and the officers Capt. Goddell and Lieut. C. D. Mason are greatly pleased with the showing that has been made.

GEORGE W. BEATH IS PROMOTED TO POST OF ACTING TRAINMASTER

George W. Beath, for several years one of the most popular conductors of the North Western road running out of Escanaba, will today be promoted to the position of acting trainmaster of the Peninsula division. The promotion of Mr. Beath comes in recognition of his term of service rendered the company and his great natural ability for the position which he now will hold.

Mr. Beath will act with W. J. Keating, regular trainmaster of the division the two officials dividing work that is offered in that department.

The post of acting trainmaster is a new one, being in the nature of an assistant to the regular trainmaster and thus making the work more easily handled in that important feature.

Mr. Beath had been employed by the North Western road running out of this station for a number of years and has always been known as one of the most popular of the company's local employees. His promotion is received with great satisfaction by all of his friends both in the city and through this district.

APPROPRIATION IS NOT LEGAL SO COMMITTEE WITHDRAWS APPLICATION

Because it was shown that it would be illegal for the members of the Delta county board of supervisors to appropriate funds for the Delta County fair and picnic to be held here next week until after a definite agricultural society has been organized the members of the committee in charge of the celebration, yesterday withdrew their request for an appropriation of $500 before the board of supervisors.

Subsident funds to carry out the plans for the celebration will be secured locally and everything possible will be accomplished to make the event planned a success. It was pointed out by both City Atty. and I. C. Jennings and Pros. Atty. H. R. Dotsch, who appeared before the board that it would be illegal for the supervisors to appropriate funds for the fair at this time as the law requires that the fair association must file application with the board in October of each year for the regular appropriation of one tenth of a mill on the assessed valuation of the county, to secure an appropriation. As yet a regular county fair association has not been organized but such action will be supervisors and it is expected will then be honored.

With the application under a cloud of illegality as interpreted by Pros. Atty. Dotsch and City Atty. Jennings it was thought best by the committee to withdraw the application for an appropriation at this time, and Herman Sallinsky, chairman of the committee announced the decision before a vote was taken by the board.

Members of the Delta county board of supervisors began their regular August session yesterday morning, with President John Colburn of Cornell in the chair. Routine business was transacted and action on the appropriation for the county fair was made a special order of business for 2 o'clock. After that matter had been disposed of the finance committee was authorized to borrow $10,000 to defray the expenses of the county until the next meeting was held. Applications made by the county physicians for new equipment and new conveniences at the Delta county hospital were received and referred to the building committee who will submit a report at the next meeting. Other routine business was taken up and the meeting adjourned until 9

KING OF KINGS IN PALACE AND CRIES FOR MOTHER

TEHERAN, Aug. 18. Sultan Ahmed Mirza, shah of Persia, king of kings and possessor of other titles of nobility and honor, sits alone in his palace at Teheran and cries for his mother.

On July 7, he was taken from her arms, compelled to renounce his father, separate himself from his parents, mumble words which meant nothing to him, hang on himself a bejeweled sword that was as high as he is and become the ruler of the nation, decadent in its politics, and threatened by more powerful countries.

Then he was told that he would have to bid farewell to the father. Sultan Ahmed Mirza, king of kings, is only 11 years old, and despite his titles, is a normal boy of that age.

And Sultan Ahmed did the entirely childish thing of bursting into tears when the ultimatum was given.

Everything is given the boy monarch but mother love and that is the thing for which he pines. He wants his mother.

ROW IN STATE DEPARTMENT OF GEOLOGY IS RIFE

(Special to Morning Press.)
LANSING, Mich., Aug. 18.—The serenity of the state department of geology has been rudely shaken after long years of peaceful "non-political" service.

The trouble has arisen over the appointment of Prof. R. S. Allen, state university, as state geologist to succeed Dr. A. C. Lane, resigned. Engineer A. H. Menche, of Houghton expected the appointment after four years' service. Not receiving it, he has resigned, his resignation to take effect Sept. 1.

W. F. Cooper, who for 10 years has been the assistant state geologist, representing Dr. Lane in Lansing, also left his work not to return. He is angry because of certain remarks he alleges Dr. Lane made concerning him.

Menche says that the new geologist will have considerable trouble finding someone to take his place in the upper peninsula.

BOY'S CASE IS A DOCTOR'S PUZZLE

(Special to Morning Press.)
PORT HURON, Mich., Aug. 18.—After being unconscious for ten days as the result of ptomaine poisoning, Chester Blaine Hoskins, the 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Solla Hoskins, passed away at the family home.

The case of Chester was one of the most puzzling with which local physicians ever had to contend. Just what caused the poisoning never was determined.

One of the attending physicians states that over 100 persons in Port Huron have been similarly affected in the last two or three years.

PYTHIANS TO HOLD MEETING IN LANSING OCT. 4, 5 AND 6

(Special to Morning Press.)

About 200 delegates will be present, as there are over 150 lodges in the state.

Oct. 5 will be designated as Uniform Rank day and special drills will be one of the big features. The two days following will be devoted to grand lodge business.

About seventy-five Pythian Sisters are expected.

NEW CAPITOL MAY BE SOLD UNDER HAMMER; JACKSON FOLKS OBJECT

(Special to Morning Press.)
JACKSON, Mich., Aug. 18.—"For sale at a bargain," is the sign on the front of the old Blain homestead in this city, for the greater part of four years the "war capitol" and executive mansion of the state of Michigan.

So important a part of the state's work in the civil war was played in the residence of the staunch old war-governor, Austin Blair, that the chance of the historic old place being sold, demolished and replaced gives regret to Jackson folk of sentiment.

The old homestead since the death of its loyal occupant, has been kept in much the same condition in which he left it, although there are evidences of neglect.

A proposition to purchase the old place, restore it as nearly as possible

BUSINESS, POLITICS AND THE PEOPLE.

How business rules our lives! Rather, how it rules the lives of business men! When business, that is, the almighty dollar speaks, we all fall silent as the tomb, no matter how we may have been vociferating an assenting or "rights" before.

Where, then is the cure for these manifest evils? To whom shall we turn, if we can not rely upon the big newspapers and the business men to fight our battles for us.

The evils of political life are denounced daily by word of mouth and encouraged by deed. The people in the quiet of reflection know these things are wrong and are anxious to correct them, but when it comes to voting they shrink in fear and dread of 'change' and fall to act in the spirit of the pioneers.

Here, then, is our hope—in the great common people, using the word advisedly and not in the abused sense employed by politicians.

It is the ambition of this paper to live close to its subscribers and to interpret correctly their desires and feelings on matters of public import.

This is our ambition. We believe it a laudable one and shall do what we can to attain the goal we have set. Ideals must always remain ahead of us, else we shall retrogress rather than progress.

SCHRECK GETS IT ON W. WHITEHEAD; SPONGE IS USED NAPS DOUBLE IT ON ST. LOUISANS
(Special to Morning Press.)
CALUMET, Mich., Aug. 18.—Walter Whitehead, the Duluth colored heavyweight, escaped a knockout in his ten round fight at the Amphidrome with Mike Schreck, the Cincinnati heavyweight, when his seconds tossed up the sponge near the close of the ninth round.
It was Schreck's fight from the instant the men faced each other. Whitehead showed his ability to withstand punishment but he could make little or no impression upon the man put Marlin Hart out in four rounds.
Schreck displayed science and ring generalship, the like of which has never before been witnessed in the copper country.
Schreck forced the fight from the start and so effective were his blows that he drew blood in the second and had his man groggy in the third.
The crisis came in the seventh. The early round went to Whitehead who displayed cleverness and strength, but as the round neared an end Schreck, who apparently had been stalling went at his man hammer and toms and the bell alone saved the colored scrapper.
From then on it was only a question of minutes before Schreck had Whitehead at his mercy. Three times in the eighth and twice in the ninth, before the fight ended, Whitehead went to the floor for the count.

LAJOIE RESIGNS AS MANAGER OF CLEVELAND CLUB
(Special to Morning Press.)
CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 18.—After managing the Cleveland club five years, Napoleon Lajoie offered his resignation at once.
President Killefoy and Vice President Charles Somers are undecided tonight as to the choice of a manager. Lajoie holds a four-year playing contract.
Lajoie refused to yield to Somers' plea to reconsider his action. Lajoie gave as his reason adverse comment. He insisted the players have been loyal, though it is known two of them at least have sworn to "show up" Lajoie and force his resignation.

(Special to Morning Press.)
DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 18.—The Tigers continued the display of bonehead play today and after making six errors dropped the game to the White Sox 2 to 0. The Sox played perfect baseball and Walsh was effective, a combination which tells the story of Detroit's downfall into third place in the American league.
Mullin pitched good ball but his support was at all times poor. The score:
R. H. E.
Chicago 2 5 0
Detroit 0 5 6

PASSOWS MANAGER PRODUCES GOODS
Manager Fred A. Kilest of the Passows yesterday morning covered the wager of $25 by T. A. Cleary, manager of the Continentals, on the result of the game to be played on Sunday when two of the leading amateur teams of the city will clash at South park. Intense rivalry exists between the two teams and interested fans of the city are looking forward to the game with great interest. The two aggregations on paper appear to be evenly matched and with the spirit of rivalry existing between the aggregations it seems a foregone conclusion that the contest will be a close one from the first to the last in.

NEGOTIATIONS MAY BE CALLED OFF
Dr. R. E. Hodson, captain of the businessmen's baseball team which is to line up against the professional mens aggregation on Monday afternoon, yesterday filed an affidavit with the sporting editor of the Morning Press in which it is alleged that definite information has been secured that Victor Blomstrom of the businessmen's 18 has signed up two ringers to appear in uniform under fictitious names in the coming contest. Dr. Hodson files notice in his affidavit of his intention to protest those players and under no condition will he allow his stars to get into action against any team, the record of which is not perfectly clear and untainted. The names of the ringers signed by Mr. Blomstrom are not divulged by Dr. Hodson in his affidavit but he alleges that his information is positive and unless satisfactory explanation can be made of the matter negotiations for the game may be called off.
A meeting of the manager has been arranged for this morning and fans of the city who hope to see the old time stars in action again hope that it will be possible to settle the matter amicably.

BEWARE OF CHATTERING.
Conversation, like bonbons, should be taken in moderation. About the only one that can thoroughly enjoy unlimited chatter is a member of the monkey tribe. To talk the clock around generally means words—not ideas.
Chinese First Breadmakers.
It is stated that the first bread was made by a Chinese.

LIKED WIT OF ARTEMUS WARD
Londoners for a Wonder Appreciated Work of Great American Humorist.
On the occasion of Artemus Ward's professional visit to London, which occurred not long before his death, J. E. Preston Muddock says in his book, "Pages from an Adventurous Life," that the American humorist's adventures of his "show" were as full of funny surprises as the lectures themselves. One that tickled the general public was this:
Artemus Ward Delivered Lectures Before All the Crowned Heads of Europe Ever Thought of Delivering Lectures.
And an excerpt from his lecture on "Drawing," is quoted by Mr. Muddock as a particularly delightful bit.
"I haven't distinguished myself as an artist," Ward said, in his inimitable way, "but have always been mixed up in art. I have an uncle who takes photographs in his spare moments, and I have a servant who takes everything he can lay his hands on at any moment."
"At a very tender age I could draw on wood. When a more child I owned a small cart-load of raw turpentine over a wooden bridge. It was a raw morning. The people of the village recognized me. They said it was a raw turpentine drawing. That shows how faithfully I had copied nature. I drew their attention to it, so you see there was a lot of drawing in it."
"The villagers, with wonderful discernment peculiar to villagers, said I had a future before me. As I was walking backward when I made my drawing I replied that I thought that my future must be behind me."

ABSENCE A GREAT LOSS TO PITTSIES
(Special to Morning Press.)
CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 18.—"Without Wagner the Pittsburg team is dull and slow," commented Harry Lamley, manager of Brooklyn. "Hona" means everything to that club. The Pirates have struck a slump and with Wagner out it looks bad for Pittsburg's hopes.
"Abbatello, who was sent to ed a wonderful fielding game, and short to fill in for Wagner, has played for the last month or six weeks he played. But the club misses Wagner's leadership on the infield for it is used to having him do all the heavy work. The entire club loses confidence when he is out.
"I am inclined to think that Wagner is hurt worse than is generally admitted to the public. He may play, but I do not believe he can go at his old speed for some time to come anyway."

AD. WOLGAST TO MEET TOM MURPHY
Ad Wolgast, Milwaukee's aspirant to the lightweight title has accepted terms for a fight in the east early this coming fall.
Wolgast's opponent will be Harlem Tommy Murphy who has quite a reputation as a ring battler.
The date is Sept. 1, the bout to go six rounds at Pittsburg.
At the present time Wolgast is spending a few days in Cadillac, Mich., but is keeping in condition all of the time ready to take up active training at a minute's notice. A Grand Rapids club is anxious to put Wolgast on.

It was found that Mr. Lyons' death was due to heart disease of long standing, but meanwhile the agonizing suspense had aged the prisoner terribly, his black hair having become completely white.

PRESERVE CHARM OF VOICE

Proper Care of Organ Which Nature Has Bestowed is Essential Duty of All.

A sweet voice is a powerful feminine charm. One also admires fine masculine voices which are sonorous and full. We should, therefore, be careful of this organ which nature has bestowed upon us, and improve it if possible. Coarse, shrill and harsh voices may be softened by care and study. A woman with a peacock voice can never charm. Speak in a low voice, but distinctly. Loud speaking denotes ill-breeding, and sometimes shows a domineering spirit. Many people draw the voices of others in a discussion that they may themselves attract the more attention. To keep the voice at a proper tone, never call from one end of the room to another, nor from upstairs down, nor at any distance where it becomes necessary for one to shout with all his might, as this coarsens and roughens the voice and in time ruins it. There are persons who, when spoken to, pay no attention, either from abstraction or from indifference, to anything which may proceed from others. The person who speaks is then obliged to raise the voice and repeat, and thus the habit of speaking loudly is frequently formed. These things occur in families where but little politeness is observed between those who owe one another as much consideration as is due to outsiders. One should never cry out under the influence of anger, indignation or pain. These cries forever destroy the harmony of the vocal chords. Children should be prevented from screaming when at play.

ANTIQUEITIES MADE TO ORDER.

Switzerland Proves Itself in No Way Behind the Rest of the World in This Connection.

Switzerland will have an additional attraction this season for the tourists. The one hundredth anniversary of the struggle for independence will be celebrated, and the thrifty inhabitants of the little republic, says an American tourist, "always watchful for the coin, are making great preparations for the various celebrations. Aside from the peasant and other civic festivities, they are laying in a stock of historic souvenirs, for which they know there will be a ready market. An Innsbruck paper says that one of the popular manufactured antiquities is the Swiss flag of a hundred years ago. A new one is made to resemble a centaurian by a process which includes falling the colors in the sun, bespattering it with tallow and laying it in the granary, where the mice soon give it the necessary tattered appearance. Finally it is subjected again to the rays of Father Sun, is mounted on a worm-eaten, broken staff, and is then ready for the English or American tourist in search of centennial trophies."

Must Have Something to Attain.

Alas for the self-satisfied. He who is without aspirations is poor indeed. For all life consists in realizing un-realized ideals, and he who has no un-realized ideals is already dead, and knows it not.—Lyman Abbott.

Change of Evils.

Wife—"Do come with me to call on the Joneses, they'll make you feel perfectly at home." Husband—"Well, then, what on earth is the use of going?"

Instructive.

"Your friend is a literary authority is he?" Has he ever done constructive work? No, destructive. He's a book reviewer.—Outlook.

The Difference.

What is the difference between the permission to speak in a low tone, and a prohibition not to speak at all? In the one case you are not to talk aloud; in the other you are not allowed to talk.

Simplicity.

Longfellow: The supreme excellence is simplicity.

Kettledrum a Perfect Instrument.

The kettledrum, Mr. Gabriel Cleather contended, was perfectly competent to produce atmosphere as well as rhythm. Even to tune the instrument three things were required—a perfect musical ear, a fine sense of such and five years' experience. After playing over a kettledrum melody written 80 years ago from Meyerbeer's "Robert le Diable," Mr. Cleather confessed: "I venture to say that outside the musical profession not one person in a hundred of those who listen to an orchestra to-day knows that timpani have notes and can give out a melody." No instrument, he added, has a greater range of power than the kettledrum, for none could be played softly and none had greater penetrating power.

Looking After Business.

"This flat very well," she said. "I'll be very glad to rent it to you." "I have two children."

TURKISH DAY OF REJOICING.

Hospitable Welcome Accorded to All During the Month of Ramadan.

Every year in Turkey, in the month of Ramadan, as they term it—which is the month when the Koran was revealed, in 26 parts, to Mohammed—it was for years a general custom in Turkey for the Turks to open their houses at 12 o'clock, the Turkish sunset time, to strangers and anyone was permitted to enter and take supper, a meal the Turks call ovlatir, during Ramadan. No matter how poor or how rich the persons, and whether a complete stranger or near friend, they come just before the sunset hour, and all are seated at the truly hospitable table before 12 o'clock. Immediately after sunset the Turks eat either an olive or a date, it being the legend that the holy prophet did this, and those who smoke may begin as soon as the date or olive, supposed to be the fruits of paradise, disappears. Then come jellies, as it is a belief in Turkey that sweets "collect the senses," whatever that may mean. Oddly enough, soups follow the sweets, and then after that eggs cooked in butter are served, followed in turn by mutton chops or roasted meat; these are succeeded by vegetables, and the vegetables by a sort of sugary pudding, called beurek, and after this the famous baclava or kadaiif. After all this more meat courses, fish, and vegetables are served, and such sweets as rice milk (gahajuddin), native blanc mange (mahallebi), pilaf with hshad or junket (yaurut) and coffee.

The Man to Be Watched.

Always suspect a man who affects great softness of manner, an unrefined evenness of temper, and an enunciation studied, slow and deliberate. These things are all unnatural, and bespeak a degree of mental discipline into which he that has no purpose of craft or design to answer, cannot submit to drill himself. The most successful knaves are usually of this description, as smooth as razors dipped in oil, and as sharp. They affect the innocence of the dove, which they have not, in order to hide the cunning of the serpent, which they have.—Colton.

Indignant at Loss of Beard.

Samuel Stiegler, a barber in that section of Brooklyn known as East New York, appeared in court the other day to explain why he cut off Morris Kreutzer's 40-year growth of whiskers without orders. Kreutzer climbed in the barber chair after instructing the barber to trim his beard and dozed into a gentle slumber. When he awoke he screamed with rage and mortification when he saw that he was clean shaven. As he is 66 years old and his beard was the pride of his life and part of his religion, he had the barber arrested. Stiegler declared he understood Kreutzer to say he wanted a shave and as the customer slept soundly during the operation he did not learn of his error until the work was done.

WITTICISM THAT SAVED LIFE.

Frenchman's Bright Answer to Question Appealed to Revolutionary Tribunal. The French author, Martainville, who began his career toward the close of the last century, was a royalist, and did not hesitate to attack the French revolution and its authorities. Presently, of course, he was summoned to appear before the revolutionary tribunal, with the terrible Fouquier at his head. The revolutionary tribunals at that time did not hesitate to send everybody to the guillotine who had ventured to attack them. Martainville expected to go with the rest of the victims. "What is your name?" asked the revolutionary judge. "Martainville," exclaimed the judge; "you are deceiving us and trying to hide your rank. You are an aristocrat, and your name is De Martainville." "Citizen President!" exclaimed the young man, "I am here to be shortened, not to be lengthened! Leave me my title! A true Frenchman loves a witticism above all things, and the tribunal was so much pleased by Martainville's grim response that it spared his life.

New Fruits.

"New and strange fruits from equatorial Africa and the Amazon valley figured in a sumptuous dinner that was given to Lady Arthur Paget in New York," said a fruiterer. "Many of these fruits I saw and tasted. There was the star apple. It is like our apple, only in its center is a thick, white cream, that tastes like whipped cream beaten up with stewed pear juice. "The lamroosj looked like a peach, it smelt like a rose, and it tasted like a very sweet and luscious apricot. lamroosj is my alias. "The mamomosh is the finest equatorial fruit. It is actually like a lemon, but its taste is a kind of mingling of grape fruit, powdered sugar and ice champagne. "Then there were the mannah, the nochoes and the mangosteen, all too delightful for words, and all worth, on account of the cost of shipment, from 20 cents to $4 a bite."

WINDMILL MADE INTO CHURCH

Novel House of God That Serves for Small Congregation in England.

Twelve years ago, when the villagers living off the border of Reigate Heath, Surrey, England, had no place of worship nearer than the parish church, a service was held in a school-room close by and was so well attended that the authorities looked around for a suitable permanent building. The erection of a church was out of the question, but there stood on the heath the remains of an old mill, a picturesque feature in a beautiful bit of landscape. Inspection showed that once the rats were got rid of a comparatively small outlay would furnish and render the mill fit for public worship, and soon it was opened as the Chapel of the Holy Cross. The interior of the chapel arouses interest. Four buttresses, four feet thick by six feet in height, serve as rests for two massive beams which cross each other in the center and support an upright shaft cracked with iron bands. The buttresses make four natural alcoves. The entrance door stands in one, and immediately opposite is the altar; the harmonium is placed in a third, and the bellringer sits close beside it and rings his bell; the fourth is occupied by the congregation. The rent of this novel church is only 25 cents a year.

RECALLS FAMOUS GOLF MATCH

Projected Game Brings Back Contest in Which Royalty Was Involved.

The projected golf match between two well known amateurs and a leading member of the London stock exchange for a stake of $2,500 recalls to the Westminster Gazette the famous foursome in which the duke of York, afterward James II., took a prominent part on the Leth Links in the year 1682. It was really an international contest, in which the duke, with John Paterson, a golfing shoemaker of great repute, championed Scotland against two noblemen of England, a heavy wager depending on the issue. The duke and the cobbler had an easy victory, thanks largely to the man of the last, and John Paterson's share of the stakes was so substantial that he was able to build a goodly house in the Canongate, in a wall of which the duke caused a stone to be placed bearing the Patersons arms with the motto, "Par and sure," a tribute to the cobbler's driving powers. Paterson's house survives to-day.

Holland's Famous Bird.

The stork is treated with great and singular respect in the Netherlands. These strange birds may be seen here and there, almost everywhere in the south, but I do not remember seeing any in the north. The house selected by the stork for a nesting place is considered fortunate, and very special facilities are provided by the householders to enable it to build a nest comfortably. At The Hague many of these birds are maintained at public expense. The first that I saw was from a window of the railway "Hollandspoor," when a chimney-top came into view on which were two of the long-legged creatures, preening themselves, their nest, an unsightly bundle of sticks and straw, littering the housetop.—The Chautauquan.

Translated into English.

Every one has heard the story of the Englishman who was told, when asking what was done with all the superfluous fruit grown in California. "We eat what we can, and what we can't we eat." The joke was told to another Englishman, who received it with rather a sickly smile, and upon his return home gave his own version of it. "Queer people, those Americans," he said. "Peculiar sense of humor. They told me as one of their choice jokes that when asked what they did with their fruit that was left over, they answered that 'They ate what they could and what they couldn't they could.'"

Poetry and Patriotism.

Zakris Topellus, "the most popular poet Finland has ever known," was a lover of his native land above all else. Once, says Paul Waldeman in "A Summer Tour in Finland," he wrote as follows to a little Finnish boy who was at the time residing in England for his schooling: "You are in a great and rich country, but never forget that you are only an exile. "If Queen Victoria herself should write and offer you a post in her kingdom, remember that you must answer, 'I cannot, because I have a cottage waiting for me when I am grown up. It has a roof higher than the loftiest hall in Windsor Castle. That roof is the blue sky of my own land.'—Youth's Companion.

Promising Youth.

"You don't know how proud I am of my younger brother Jerry," said Mrs. Lapaling. "Before he had been in college three years he got his baccalaureate degree."

The Salmon a Sprinter.

For short spurts, the salmon is the fastest swimmer of the fish tribe.

The Philosopher of Folly.

"When I hammer a lot of other people," says the Philosopher of Folly, "I'm not displaying intellect. Anybody can do that. But when a lot of other people hammer me, I know I'm of some importance in the world."

WANTED MORE COMMON FARE

Daily Meals of Oysters Had Begun to Pall on Palate of Tramp Printer.

An Oregon editor once got a big advertisement from a place which sold nothing but oysters. The place had just opened, and while the proprietor was willing to advertise he didn't have the cash to spend; so the newspaper man took a card which entitled him to ten dollars' worth of oysters. "A few days later a tramp printer strolled into the Gazette office and wanted a job," relates the editor. "I had nothing to offer him, but told the man he might sleep back in the composing room, and as he had no money to buy food, I gave him the meal ticket on the oyster parlor. I didn't hear from him again for more than a week. One day he came into the office looking a bit drawn and worn. 'I don't want to seem dissatisfied with what you've done for me, Mr. Carter,' he said, 'and I'm willing to admit that the luscious bivalve is a wonderfully fine bit of food; but for heaven's sake, can't you get an ad. from a ham and egg emporium?'"

Important Point That Seems to Concern Agriculturists Altogether Too Little.

It may be necessary to give up all cherished hopes for life work as planned and partly entered upon, and betake ourselves to farming to get the outdoor life and activity which is demanded if we expect to remain in good health. We are like boys at school now, and must endeavor to learn how to do everything required in the best possible way. If future conditions demand less detail in any of our methods we shall cast out what is useless; on the other hand, greater elaboration and more care may be found requisite to attain the ends desired in a satisfactory way. We are determined to learn all we can by experience of our own and from the experience of others. For whatever we do in the years to come in the line of outdoor work, be it truck gardening, light farming, raising poultry, or breeding live stock, it is our intention to be thoroughly business-like and aggressive to the extent that changed conditions of health demand. Whatever we do shall be well done and according to approved standards—and there is no better guide to profitable activity for the aggressive, ambitious business man than an efficient method of accounting, as simple as circumstances permit.

Many farmers now struggling to pay the interest on their heavily mortgaged properties might be happy and prosperous and owe no man if they could be brought to the point of willingness to learn the significance of the terms "debit" and "credit" and of rousing themselves up and applying the knowledge to the business in hand.

Word from Br'er Williams.

"De race has got ter rise an' bustle of it ever hopes ter git dar," said Br'er Williams. "Too many thinks dat all day got ter do is ter go ter sleep in de hot sun an' rise up an' eat watermelons in de shade."—Atlanta Constitution.

The Clarinet.

The clarinet has the richest, sweetest voice of all the wood-wind instruments, although its sound does not travel quite so far as that of the oboe. Whenever, as sometimes happens, there are two melodies to be played at once, the clarinet takes the lower of the two, while the violins play the upper and more important one. But in a military band, where there are no strings at all, the clarinets play the chief melody. The bass clarinet is not so smooth or so sweet as the higher ones. It has a rather choky sound, though softer than that of the bassoon.—From "The Drum of the Basage to the Great Orchestra," in St. Nicholas.

Woman Suffrage.

Glady's—"So you've sent Herbert about his business, have you?" Maybelle—"Yes. But I have since used the—recall on him."

Quality Counts.

It is not the worst liar who makes a hit, but the best.—Life.

Suez Once a Natural Channel.

There is every reason to believe that some 3,000 years ago, in the time of King Solomon, there was an open channel through Suez, by which the light draft vessels of the Phoenicians passed through on their voyages to Asia and to the gold regions of Ophir, and reached from the east coast of that continent in the course of time the two seas (the Mediterranean and the Red), by action of the waves, filled up the connecting channel, and so it remained until it was opened by the French under De Lesseps for traffic November 17, 1869, at a cost of about $85,000,000. It was subsequently enlarged at moderate cost.

His Dilemma.

Customer (nervously)—I want a beefsteak to take home to dinner. Unexpected guest, you know. Wife telephoned me to get the steak. Jane always buys the meat herself, you see, and she's awfully particular. What have you got? The Butcher (encouragingly)—Well, we do you say to a nice juicy porterhouse, cut thick; or maybe you'd prefer a couple of cuts of tenderloin? Customer (still more nervously)—Well, I'm blest if I know which. You couldn't lemme see 'em?

DELIGHT TO WEARY TRAVELER

Green Gardens of Damascus Rest the Eye After Long Journey Through the Desert.

The chief attractions at Damascus are the world-famed gardens which surround the city, the glimpse we get of oriental life as found in the bazaars, fine streets, the shops, and last, but by no means of less interest, the famous mosque of Omkadees.

One hundred and fifty square miles of green lie in compact order round about Damascus, spread out with all the profusion of a virgin forest. Orchards and flower gardens, parks, plantations of corn and of other produce pass before the eye in rapid and changeable succession. The natives claim that there are more than 3,000 miles of shady lanes in the gardens of Damascus through which it is possible to ride. On such a ride the visitor passes orchards of figs and orchards of apricots. For hedges there is the briar rose and for a canopy the walnut. Pomegranate blossoms glow through the shade; the vine boughs trail across the briars; a little waterfall breaks on the edge of the road, and all this water and leafage are so lavish that the broken mud walls and slovenly houses have no power to vex the eye. These long gardens of Damascus form the paradise of the Arab world. Making a pilgrimage to the city after weeks and months of dreary and desolate desert life, the running water is a joy to his sight and music to his ears, and it is something to walk through shady lanes, to admire the variety of landscape and the beauty of scenery in a land where the sun beats down all day with unremitting force until the earth is like a furnace of iron beneath a sky of molten brass.—Biblical World.

Priceless Relics So Concealed Must Some Day Be Restored to the Light of Day.

The actual prosaic instances of treasure trove and the Old World ceremonial involving "crown's quest law" to decide the legal rights are to be found in any text book on the subject. More interesting, with a certain fascination of romance, is the reflection that even in our own country, there are probably numerous buried hoards, says the London Chronicle.

One cannot always ignore tradition, and throughout the length and breadth of the land are to be found old legends of hidden treasure, sometimes guarded by a curse, sometimes by a special warder. There is probably almost amounting to certainty that valuables were hidden by the Romans, and even more probably by the Romano Britons. The treasures of the Incas and of pirates such as Kidd are still existent in theory; the buried wealth of India is among the rudimentary facts known to all students of the east.

But perhaps most startling and alluring of all is the theory that among the treasure trove to be at some time recovered from Persian sands or ruins are the Sacred Breastplate and the mysterious Urim and Thummim of the Jewish priesthood.

The Proper Question. The man with the glassy eye and preternaturally solemn demeanor put down a sovereign at the booking office at Charing Cross, and demanded "a ticket."

W. W. BERRY EXPERT OPTICIAN WITH H. M. STEVENSON CO. JEWELERS

WIFE DESERTS PARALYTIC MATE (Special to Morning Press.) PETERBOROUGH, Ont., Aug. 18. Unable to lift hand or foot as the result of paralysis, Pierre Buttler was deserted by his wife, nothing being left in the house but the bed on which he was lying. She packed up all the household effects, placed the several children with friends and left her husband alone in the empty house, unable even to toss his head on the pillow. The wife told F. W. Miller, agent for the charity board, that she intended to leave her husband by Tuesday, but he did not believe her.

Fletcherizing. "Yes," said the newly-fledged Fletcher, addressing his wife, "I have fully and firmly determined to turn over a new leaf and eat only two meals a day hereafter." "Which will you omit, dear—breakfast or luncheon?" sweetly inquired his better fraction. "Well, I hadn't considered that point yet. It is going to be quite a long stretch between meals, isn't it? Let me see; how shall we arrange it? Only two meals a day; we've got that point settled, but yes, now I've got it! Not to have too much of an interval in between times I think I will divide the two meals up into three instalments, come as at present."

What He Saved. A prominent Democratic politician, who lived at Albion, was appointed to the position of naval officer at Philadelphia during the second Cleveland administration. While in the city he made a host of friends and all of his waking hours, when he was not engaged in official duties, were spent with these gentlemen, attending various interesting and costly entertainments. At the expiration of his term of office he returned home, and his good mother, who was an old-fashioned German woman, said to him, curiously: "John, what did you save during the four years you were in office?" "Mother," he said, with a smile lighting up his countenance, "I accomplished wonders—I saved my life."

WANTED ONLY MONEY'S WORTH Example of the Workings of the "New England Conscience." A woman who has spent many summers at Haines' Falls in the Catskills tells the following story: "A mountain wagon full of summer excursionists stopped at the hotel on morning. They wanted to see the falls 'turned on.' In order to assure a good flow of water there is a sort of lock built above the falls. The lock is always kept closed except when somebody makes application to see the falls; then, on payment of a quarter, the gates are thrown open and a fine flow of water pours forth. The old man who had charge of the falls went out and opened the gates; the visitors were delighted, paid their quarter and drove away. About half an hour later another wagonload drove up to the hotel and asked us to see the falls. Again the old man went out and opened the gates; but owing to the previous drain on the water supply the result was far from satisfactory, and the spectators were not enthusiastic. The old man noticed the dissatisfaction of the visitors, and was, perhaps, somewhat conscience-stricken, for, when he was offered a quarter to pay for opening the gates, he hesitated a moment, then said: "No, it wasn't worth that much. I think there was just 'bout 17 cents' worth that time."

Perseverent Office-Seeker Had Finally Landed Soft Job. "I remember one man from my home town," a westerner senator said recently, "in the good old days of civil service examinations, whose dream of earthly attainment was a government place. When his party was finally successful he immediately set out for Washington and was 'on the job' long before the 4th of March, but there seemed to be a hitch somewhere. All through the spring he was about town. Wherever I went I would see him, striving for or just after an audience with some department official. By June he was seedy and broken looking, but still appeared to be 'game.' Finally I found him in the gallery of the senate chamber apparently endeavoring to kill time. "Well, have you given it up?" I asked, trying to be sympathetic. "Oh, I got the job, all right," he replied with a satisfied smile. "I'm working now!"—Success Magazine.

GRASS TICKLES MAIDENS' FEET

(Special to Morning Press.) CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—Young women of the Fine Arts society of Oak Park, who are to add in interpreting the Greek drama, "The Ladies of Athens," have tried dancing in their bare feet.

They do not like it. Therefore, although absolute fidelity to the ancient Greek period will be observed in stage settings and costumes, in that one particular the artistic traditions will be violated.

They declared the grass tickled their bare feet, and at rehearsal they giggled, quite upsetting the orchestra, and their efforts to get away from the tickle interfered with the stateliness and grace of the rhythmic Greek dance.

IRISHMEN ASK HELP OF GERMANS TO FIGHT ENGLISH

(Special to Morning Press.) CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 18. Twenty thousand members of the United Irish Societies of Chicago have gone on record as favoring a coalition with the Germans in an effort to check the further spread of English power and to win back for Ireland the rights and privileges of which she has so long been disposed of by England.

Resolutions urging an Irish-German alliance against England were adopted by popular vote at the close of the celebration of the thirty-fourth anniversary of the battle of Yellow Ford.

"HANDS UP" SAYS BOY THEN SHOOTS

(Special to Morning Press.) STRATFORD, Aug. 18.—Walking along the road near his farm in Elina township, James McClellan was met by William Young, a Barnardo boy who, possessed of a shot gun, ordered him to throw up his hands.

McClellan did not comply at once, with the result that the shot gun was discharged, and the contents emptied into the farmer's eyes some twenty feet away.

Constable Hartmerer, of Milverton, arrested the boy, who is 17 years old. McClellan is dying.

Those who will appear in the program are: Miss Ethel Shoemaker of Scranton, Pa., soprano soloist; Miss Rose Kitchen, of Chicago, pianist; Miss Florence Kitchen, of Chicago, violinist; Miss Beatrice McGowan of Chicago, cello; Olive Thatcher of Escanaba, baritone soloist; and Mrs. R. E. Morrell, organist. All but Mr. Thatcher and Mrs. Morrell are summer visitors here who have been prevailed upon to appear in the program comprising an array of talent seldom found outside professional companies.

Miss Shoemaker who will appear in several vocal numbers is a soloist of great ability and has won great praise in eastern cities where she has frequently appeared. The Scranton Tribune says of Miss Shoemaker:

For some years Miss Shoemaker has been one of Scranton's most respectable singers and her singing of modern classics of Chadwick and Mrs. Beach was really excellent. None the less effective was the Schubert well known song "Du bist Du Ruh." She possesses a clear bell like soprano voice, well in control and of faultless tone and her technique is well in keeping with her natural talent.

NEARLY CHOKES ON A FORGOTTEN "PAD"

(Special to Morning Press.) BAD AXE, Mich., Aug. 18.—Sarah Woods, 8 years old of Detroit, visiting with her mother, nearly choked to death.

The child underwent an operation a week ago for tonsillitis and her tonsils were removed. At that time the girl's life was in danger from the loss of blood and the attending physician resorted to pads to check the flow.

She was seized with a violent choking spell Monday and when the physician examined her it was found that one of the pads had been left in her throat.

This was removed and now her condition is improved.

MAYOR HOISTS A FEW AND FACES DISMISSAL

(Special to Morning Press.) DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 18.—Can a mayor be removed from office for intoxication, if the people knew before they elected him that he took a drink occasionally?

This was the question at issue at a hearing on the removal of Mayor Henderson for removal from office or getting drunk again.

It is the first case under the new law permitting removal of officials. Henderson does not deny that he takes a drink occasionally.

PINK TIME NEXT TUESDAY MORNING. WATCH FOR IT.

MAN QUILTS

(Special to Morning Press.) EVERELY, Mass., Aug. 18.—Captain Thomas Peach, a prominent figure in the Essex county G. A. R., and for ten years custodian of the United States mails on their way from the Beverly railroad station to the postoffice, has resigned his job and announced that he has cast his last vote for Taft.

Captain Peach says he did not mind making ninety-nine trips a day after mail, being on duty from 7 a. m. until 8 p. m., supplying his own horse and wagon and services to boot for $525 a year, but when it came to making an extra trip at 10 o'clock at night simply to give the president the advantage of an extra delivery, on the day Peach was celebrating his thirty-fifth wedding anniversary—all that was too much for any man to bear.

"FOOTBALL OF FATE", IN TRUTH

The county will bury the wife and has communicated with Port Huron authorities as to what shall be done with the man. The babe, it is expected, will be sent to Mrs. La Farge's parents, who live on a farm in St. Clair county.

The young couple were married in Port Huron about a year ago. La Farge's trade is that of a moulder.

After gathering at the home the members of the party went to Grenoe's hall where a most enjoyable program was carried out.

A large number of the supervisors of the county attended the function in a body and aided in making the affair a marked success.

A large number of beautiful presents were received by Mr. and Mrs. Dupont as mementoes of the occasion.

MAN MADE BRAVE FIGHT FOR LIFE

Coroner L. O. Kirstine is in active charge of the operations and will use every effort to find the body as quickly as possible.

The captain and the members of the steamer Lotus deserve great credit for their quick work in stopping the boat and bringing about the quick recovery of Launderville's son. Launderville evidently became excited when the Lotus started to back from the dock and let go the jib to change the course of the vessel which threw his son overboard.

The captain of the Lotus heard the cries of the man when the boat was still a considerable distance from the scene of the accident and immediately ordered the life boat lowered and that the boats were in the water 30 seconds after the order was given speaks well for the discipline of the crew of the Lotus. Immediately after the warning was given the captain of the Lotus steamed the boat ahead and turned about to face the scene of the accident making a quick shift and the captain and members of the Lotus deserve marked credit for the speed with which they recognized the danger and hastened to the rescue.

The machine worked perfectly throughout the trip in spite of the bad roads encountered below Menominee and the record established for the distance, with time accounted for when stops were made for meals, is an excellent one.

A portion of the testimony in the case against Nicholas Brown who is charged with keeping his saloon open on Sunday was taken before Judge O. V. Linden yesterday but the case was not definitely settled.

The case against Marcelle LaFleur who was charged with failing to file a sufficient bond, was dismissed yesterday as it was shown that Mr. LaFleur had already complied with all of the requirements of the law.

Stranded.

"For goodness sake, Harriet, why so sad?" "The cook's left, but that is not the worst of it! she took with her the recipe book for all the things John's mother used to make."

Social Circles

Rosa Bender, superintendent of one of the model family apartment houses on the east side of New York is called "Judge" by the tenants, because with sympathy and acumen, she settles all disputes of the 800 tenants in her charge.

Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker is to be the first congresswoman if Colorado women are not disappointed in their efforts to send one of their own sex to congress two years hence.

Mary H. Cooper, Beloit, Wis., is said to be the only woman probate judge in the United States. The marriage ceremonies performed by her have become almost a fad in the Sunflower state, because she omits the word "obey," in tying the nuptial knot.

NEW ELK LODGE BUTTONS ARE OUT

Several of the new Elk buttons, authorized by the grand lodge meeting held at Dallas, Texas, a year ago last July, have been received in this vicinity. There was a delay in issuing the official emblems through infringing and unauthorized designs.

The design consists of the usual Elks head, with the horns or antlers entirely surrounding the clock dial, and in the center between the points of the antlers is a red star.

On a blue ground covering the lower half of the button at the sides of the Elks head, are the letters, "B. F. O. E." in gold.

Hon. John Power, chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements for entertaining home comers in Escanaba next week, yesterday issued a call for a meeting of that committee to be held at the city hall tonight, at 8 o'clock. Plans for home comers day will be fully discussed and a definite program outlined for the day. Chairman Power desires that every member of the committee named by Mayor Greenhoot shall be present as the time for making necessary plans is short and much work must be done. Mr. Power's call for the meeting follows:

"All members of the committee named by Mayor Greenhoot to make plans for the home coming celebration in this city next week, are requested to meet at the city hall at 8 o'clock this evening. Every member of the committee is urgently requested to be present.
