

PROOF IS SECURED THAT BALDWIN TRIED TO DUPE GRANGERS AT FAYETTE

Supervisor Charles Arnold of Fairbanks, Secretary of Fayette Grange, Issues Statement Thorwing Clear Light on Musselman Resolution Scandal

BUT TWELVE MEMBERS PRESENT

Resolution Endorsing Grand Rapids Candidate not Read at Meeting—Unscrupulous Musselman Manager Accused of Prostituting Interests of Grangers to Further His Political Ends

That the passing of a resolution endorsing Amos Musselman, of Grand Rapids for governor, at a meeting of the members of the Delta County Grange at Fayette on June 23, was a deliberate political trick worked through the meeting by F. L. Baldwin, Musselman's manager in Delta county, was definitely proven yesterday in a statement issued by Supervisor Chas. Arnold of Fairbanks township, secretary of the Fayette Grange.

In spite of the claims to the contrary made by Mr. Baldwin, Supervisor Arnold, who was present at the meeting asserts, that aside from the officers there were but seven men and five women present at the meeting when the resolutions were introduced. Mr. Arnold asserts that the resolutions were not read in full at the meeting, but were referred to only in a general way and the resolution endorsing Musselman was included with a number of others, none of which were read to the members.

Supervisor Arnold asserts that none of the members of the grange in the meeting knew on what they were voting and that after the close of the session, three of the seven men in the hall came to him and asked him what they had voted for and it was not discovered until later that included in the resolutions was one endorsing the Grand Rapids candidate for governor and declaring for prohibition in Delta county.

Mr. Arnold accuses the manager of Musselman's campaign in Delta county of prostituting the interests of the Grangers of the district to achieve his political ambitions for it is one of the fundamental by-laws of the order of Grangers that no resolution shall be introduced at any meeting declaring for any political candidate.

In addition Mr. Baldwin is charged by the secretary of the Fayette grange as making public and using as political capital any action that may have been taken at a closed meeting of the grange.

Ever since the announcement came from Fayette that the Grangers there had declared for Musselman, it has been suspected by political leaders of the county that the grangers had been duped by the unscrupulous agent of Musselman in this district and the statement issued by Supervisor Arnold yesterday proves that contention.

Following is the statement issued by Mr. Arnold yesterday: "I am secretary of the Fayette Grange and was present at the meeting of the Delta County Grange held at Fayette on Tuesday, the 23rd day of June, 1910, when the resolution endorsing Musselman and declaring for prohibition in Delta county was brought up and passed. The resolution was not read at length and the members present did not understand what it was or its contents. There were several resolutions presented at the same time, and, together and each resolution was referred to in a general way as to the subject it was supposed to cover. The meeting was a closed meeting and not an open one. Besides the officers there were seven men and five women present. The resolution was not intended for publication and should not have been. As I understand, it is against the constitution and by-laws of the Grange to publish any resolution passed at a closed meeting. The Grange was not organized for political purposes. It endorses measures and not men.

Three of the men who voted for the resolution came to me afterwards and asked me what the resolution was about and asked, "What did we vote for?"

Mr. Seward the deputy master of the State Grange told me that he asked Mr. Baldwin not to publish the resolution. Mr. Seward was present and refused to vote for the resolution.

CHAS. ARNOLD.

CONTINENTALS WILL PLAY AT NORWAY

Members of the Continental baseball team will go to Norway on Sunday to meet the strong team of that city. The Norway team is reported to be stronger than in years and the crack local amateurs are expecting a hard battle when they journey to the range town. Following the excellent showing made by the Continentals at the Soo, however, local fans will watch with interest the result of the game.

PARTLY CLOUDY WEATHER PROMISED

Partly cloudy weather, with a possibility of rain, is that predicted for today by Observer H. S. Cole. There was little rain reported yesterday except in Missouri and in the mountain regions. Kansas City reported a fall of 1.14 inches but all other rains in the country were light.

OSBORN GAINING STRENGTH IN LOWER PENINSULA

Ludington, July 15.—Chas. S. Osborn closed his tour of Mason county with a big meeting on the court house grounds here tonight. Upward of a thousand were present and gave Mr. Osborn the closest attention. Mayor Rath presided. Mr. Osborn told the voters that if they desired a continuation of the present regime in Michigan to vote for the shadow of the Warner administration, Lieut. Gov. Kelly, but if they wanted a change to support him. Eight automobiles accompanied by the Ludington band toured the county with him, big meetings being held at every stop. A well known Belleville business man who has been a champion for Musselman, in fact for any one who could defeat the present machine, came up after the speech and pledged his support to the Soo man with the statement: "Osborn is the man who can clean up Michigan and I am for you." Tomorrow will be spent in Oscoda county.

CHICAGO WOMAN DIES AT GLADSTONE

After a prolonged illness from tuberculosis Miss Mamie Connors, formerly a teacher employed in the public schools of Chicago, died on Wednesday at Gladstone. The young woman came north a few weeks ago and went to Maywood where she remained until her condition became critical and she was then moved to Gladstone where her death occurred. A relative from Chicago came to Gladstone and accompanied the body to her home, where the funeral will be held today.

BOY LOSES A FOOT

Attempting to crawl under a train at the Soo line dock at Gladstone yesterday afternoon Guy Brunette, a delivery clerk, was caught and his left foot was so badly crushed that amputation was necessary. The unfortunate lad was employed as delivery clerk at O'Connell grocery store and drove to the dock with a bill of goods for a boat. Finding a train standing in the way the young man started to crawl under one of the cars. The train began to move and before he could escape his left foot was caught by one of the wheels and crushed. He was hurried to a physician's office where it was found that nothing could be done to save the member.

ADOPT NEW COUNTY ROAD IN FAIRBANKS TOWNSHIP NOW

Members of the Delta County Board of Road Commissioners yesterday formally adopted as a portion of the county road system what is known as the Fairbanks county road running from the center of Point Detour to the bridge over Lempeke's creek. The road commissioners will improve that road immediately and have asked the state highway department for approval of the road building plans that are contemplated. John Larson of Maple Ridge has completed the work of clearing, grading and ditching the Rapid River road and the commissioners yesterday made a final settlement with the contractor. The contract for improving the road connecting Woodlawn and Coppell was yesterday awarded to Henry Martin who will begin the work at once.

BATTLE CREEK WINS ELKS' PRIZE DRILL

Detroit, Mich., July 15.—Today the thousands of delegates to the national reunion of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks went almost in a body to Belle Isle to see Battle Creek, Mich., win in the prize competitive drill. Teams were erected also from Los Angeles, Denver and St. Joseph, Mo., lodges, the latter three finishing the competition in the order named. The contest was for a 1500 cash prize. Early tonight the gunboat Wolverine, the Nashville, of the Illinois naval reserves, the Don Juan De Austria and the revenue cutter Morrell left their berths in the river and steamed in line of battle against Belle Isle. Under cover of fire from the gunboats, landing parties were sent ashore there to meet a detachment of the Michigan national guard who defended the island. After a heavy gun fire the result still seemed problematical until an officer of marines stopped his men, who were charging, to make a photograph and thus save the land forces an advantage which turned the tide of battle. The ships retired in good order, however, with no casualties.

TO FINISH NEW FORD RIVER SWITCH ROAD THIS AFTERNOON

The Solid Rock Construction Company will this afternoon complete the pavement on the last gap of the Ford River Switch road, making a continuous line of fine macadam extending from the city of Escanaba to the Menominee county line. But one gap of a block and a half, running up to Sarah street remains to be paved and it is hoped that the city officials will make arrangements to provide for that piece of pavement at once.

SAYS DAVIS MAY FIGHT

Attorney For Former Superintendent of Schools Says He Would Compromise on Year's Contract.

Attorney John Cumiskey, representing ex-Superintendent F. D. Davis, of the Escanaba public schools, who was ousted this week, yesterday gave notice to President John MacRae of the board of education, that he will make a fight on his abrogated contract. Attorney Cumiskey informed President MacRae, however, that Supt. Davis had been advised by his friends to throw up the three year contract given him by the old board of education, immediately before two of the members retired from office, if the present board of education would compromise and award him a contract for one year. President MacRae informed Attorney Cumiskey that the people of the city had spoken in no uncertain terms in the last two school elections held on the matter of retaining Supt. Davis and advised the attorney that no action looking to a compromise would be considered. It is understood that a number of the friends of ex-Supt. Davis held a meeting last night to decide whether or not any action should be taken by him in an effort to force the board of education to abide by the contract given by the old board, but the result of the meeting was not divulged.

FORMER ESCANABA MAN MAY ENTER BIG TIMBER DEAL

W. E. Wells, formerly superintendent of the Escanaba and Lake Superior Railroad at Wells, but now superintendent of a large lumber company at Kalspel, Mont., may enter into a partnership with two former Menominee men and purchase a tract of timber in Oregon on which is 100,000,000 feet of timber. The men, with whom Mr. Wells may enter the deal are Geo. P. Eisman formerly of Menominee and W. E. Hallenbeck of Wausaukee. The men are now looking over the property and may purchase the timber tract together with a logging railroad and a sawmill.

GOODNESS OF HEART IS JAILER'S UNDOING

La Crosse, Wis., July 15.—Because he is overflowing with human kindness, S. F. Brown, turnkey of the county jail, is said by the county board and the district attorney not to be a proper man for his position and he was today summarily removed by Sheriff Duncan, who acted under a resolution passed by the county board. Brown is alleged to have been responsible for the escape of nine prisoners in the last few months. It is not charged that he connived in their escape, but it is said he was too easy with the prisoners and that they took advantage of him.

MAN TIRED OF CELL QUICKLY

Alex Lafave, of Gourley, has no particular liking for the Delta county jail. This he demonstrated when arrested for assaulting Moses Kurz and sentenced to spend 15 days in jail or pay a fine of $10, and costs. He at first refused to pay the fine and professed a willingness to go to jail. After he had been in a cell for 15 minutes he changed his mind and paid the fine and costs. Read C. R. Williams' Shoe ad. in this issue.

ESCANABA YOUNG MEN RETURN FROM FINE TRIP

After enjoying a delightful two weeks' launch cruise to a number of points on Green Bay and along the Fox River, a party of six Escanaba young men returned to the city last night. Leaving Escanaba two weeks ago the members of the party visited Marinette, Green Bay, Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Oshkosh and as far up the Fox River as Freeport, Ill. Returning after leaving Green Bay the members of the party stopped at Fish Creek, Sturgeon Bay and Washington Island. Those in the party were: P. A. Aronson, Matt Peterson, Taylor Peterson, William J. Schmidt, Henry Peterson and Hans Hansen. Every feature of the trip was enjoyable and the members of the party returned to the city highly enthusiastic over the beauties of the scenery that is offered along the entire route.

YOUNG TO EAST SIDE

After completing the portion of his canvass of Delta county on this side of the bay, Congressman H. O. Young, accompanied by a party of prominent Republicans of Escanaba, left yesterday for the east side townships of Delta county. He will make a personal canvass of Garden, Fairbanks and Nehma townships and will remain in that district until practically every voter has been seen. Among those who accompanied Mr. Young on his Big Bay trip were: Atty. John Cumiskey, Judge Judd Yelland and Poor Commissioner Fred M. Olmsted.

FORMER HEAD OF GLADSTONE SCHOOLS HERE

Prof. William Kittle, formerly superintendent of the Gladstone public schools and well known to a number of Escanaba and Gladstone people, stopped in Escanaba yesterday to visit with friends for a few hours, while enroute to Manistique where he will join his wife who is visiting there. Prof. Kittle is now secretary of the normal schools of Wisconsin, holding a position under the state administration and which work he has found to be very congenial. Since leaving this district Prof. Kittle has completed a course at the University of Wisconsin and for years has been known as one of the prominent educators of Wisconsin.

WILL BUILD A PARSONAGE AT RAPID RIVER CHURCH

Members of the congregation of St. Charles Catholic church of Rapid River are making arrangements for the erection of a modern parsonage to be constructed on the church property there. The building will be of modern type and will prove a most valuable addition to the assets of the congregation as well as furnishing a comfortable home for Rev. Father Duford, the pastor.

WAR DEPARTMENT FIXES ITINERARY FOR CRUISE

HOT BASEBALL PROGRAM IS TO BE PROVIDED

A hot baseball program will be offered at South Park on Sunday when the Richters and the Tip Tops will clash in a game that will be interesting throughout every inning. The Richters and the Tip Tops, both members of the City Amateur league are intense rivals and stay at home fans who witness the game of Sunday are certain to see a contest that is played for blood from the start to the finish.

WOOD CASE WAS HEARD IN COURT

Whether Charles Walker of Northland will be able to collect the full price claimed by him for 250 cords of wood sold the Mashek Chemical and Iron Company, will be decided by Judge O. V. Linden. It is claimed by the company receiving the wood that it was not of the proper length or quality and both sides introduced their testimony in court yesterday morning. Attorney A. H. Ryall appeared for the plaintiff and Attorney F. D. Mead for the defendant. After the testimony was introduced the case was taken under advisement by the court.

MAN LOST A FOOT

While attempting to jump on the footboard of a logging train at Bryan, Mich., yesterday afternoon, Richard Manders, an employee of the Escanaba Lumber company fell beneath the wheels and his right foot was crushed to a pulp. The injured man was taken to the Menominee River hospital where the foot was amputated just above the ankle.

CAN'T UNDERSTAND CAUSE OF ARREST

Mitchell Fillion, who it was charged sold a mortgaged horse, returned to Escanaba last night and will today meet the complaint against him and settle the case. Mr. Fillion claims that the man who held the mortgage on the horse had full knowledge of the fact that he had sold the animal and advised him to do so and the reason for his arrest cannot be fathomed by the guest of his brother, James Laffkas and George Laggis for a few days.

J. J. HICKEY RETURNS FROM IRELAND VISIT

John Hickey, the popular baggage man of the North Western Ry. Co. returned yesterday from an extended tour through Ireland and England. A Morning Press representative interviewed Mr. Hickey on important matters relative to his journey and observations made while en route. To a question: What attracted your attention most on your trip from Chicago to New York? Mr. Hickey replied: "I took the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern train from Chicago to Buffalo, and the New York Central from Buffalo to New York. Nothing of special interest attracted my attention until we arrived at a station in Indiana called Gosben, where we were switched on a slow track to allow the Twentieth Century Limited to pass. We were informed that the Limited was 30 minutes late and would go by at a terrific speed. We were all anxious to see her, and the longer we had to wait, the more exciting it became. At last she rounded the curve about three miles from us. We could hear the roar of the two monster engines, latest type and pride of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Ry. As they came thundering down the line they seemed to realize that part of the fare would have to be forfeited if they did not arrive in New York City on time, and they were making magnificent effort as they swept by at the rate of 90 miles an hour. We all cheered, waived our hats and handkerchiefs. Continued on page 2.

STICKING TO ONE'S BUSINESS.

It was Mark Twain who rewrote the old adage, "Don't trust all your eggs in one basket," to read, "Put all your eggs in one basket—and watch that basket." This was after Mark Twain, successful as a lecturer and author, took his flight in publishing, and failed. He meant to say that a man should confine himself to the kind of business he understood, and be content to attend to that.

The champion pugilist, who seems to be far from a champion fool, has his version of it, in explaining why he sold out his picture rights. "If I had kept my share," he said, "I felt that by the time the twenty-five or thirty of us got through cheating one another, there wouldn't be much money left." He took the offer, and now that public opinion has knocked out the picture, he seems to be a double winner.

Mr. Johnson's special business seems to be closing people's eyes for a price. He says to Mr. Jeffries, "I shall close your right eye for a matter of sixty thousand dollars," and does it. Nature called him to this artistic, if not necessary, work, and he does well to confine himself to his calling, precarious as it is.

Clash! Baseball teams clash every day. Two politicians come together to argue out a difference and they clash. The dishes clash, the two trains going in opposite directions on the same track clash. Motorcycles and automobiles clash. The United States and Italy clash. Germany and Great Britain are likely to clash. Asquith and Redmond are sure to clash. Roosevelt has clashed with both Insurgents and Regulars. Johnson and Jeffries clashed. Give us another word.

STATE POLITICS.

In his speech at Honor in Benzie county Monday night Chase S. Osborn said that it is impossible to get a new deal in Michigan politics by continuing the same appointees on the pay roll and that is exactly what will happen in case of Mr. Kelley's election and he cites State Labor Commissioner Dick Fletcher as the best illustration of the truth of this assertion. Fletcher is now going about the state telling how big a majority Mr. Kelley will receive, while the party leaders in Bay county state openly that the Soo candidate will carry Dick's own county. "Will Fletcher be appointed labor commissioner if Mr. Kelley is elected?" asked Mr. Osborn in a speech at Thompsonville. "He won't be if I am elected," said Mr. Osborn with considerable emphasis. "The time has passed when a job-holding boss of the Fletcher type can step out and deliver a county and the good people of Bay county will make that very plain to him next September," stated Mr. Osborn.

Congressman Townsend is now busy every weekday making speeches in his campaign for senator. This week he will put in five days speaking in the fourth congressional district, comprising the counties of Allegan, Barry, Berrien, Cass, St. Joseph and Van Buren and one day in Calhoun. His itinerary for next week will take him into Newaygo, Muskegon, Oceana, Mason, Manistee, Grand Traverses, Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet, Kalkaska, Wexford, Missaukee, Mecosta, Osceola and Montcalm.

The Republican party in Michigan has a chance to redeem itself by noninating Chase S. Osborn at the September primaries. Warnerism and Patrick H. Kelley, are inseparable—paste this in your hat and keep it there until after the primary. You will be money ahead when taxes are assessed.—Isabella County Republican.

Mr. Osborn's three days' tour in Cheboygan and Presque Isle counties was productive of excellent results in advancing his candidacy for the nomination for governor. All of his audiences were most enthusiastic, welcoming him warmly, and bidding him goodbye reluctantly. Mr. Osborn made an impression which will be lasting.—Cheboygan Tribune.

Senator William Alden Smith, who was one of the foremost in advocating the primary election law, is today more pleased than ever with the result of its workings.

It is a happy situation," he says, "to see such men as are running for governor in the race. Under the old system not one of them could have hoped for success in this campaign. Under the primary system they go directly before the people whom they will serve and leave it to the people to decide which suits the greatest number and is therefore the choice for the position. It is a fine spectacle and I am glad that such men can now place their names before the voters of the state and be sure they will be victorious or vanquished by none but the people."

CAN HE DENY?

Did Mr. Kelley Make Pledges for Support? It's Charged.

Sault Ste. Marie, June 23.—An upper peninsula man, who is actively interested in Chase Osborn's campaign for the governorship, in an interview here today threw a veritable bomb into the Kelley camp by directly charging the lieutenant-governor with having made a pledge, months ago, to the mining interests of the upper peninsula that he would, if elected governor, veto the tonnage tax bill if it passed the legislature. He said:

"My attention has been called to an editorial in the Lansing State Republican, which has lately become the Kelley mouthpiece, in which the declaration is made that the gubernatorial contest lies between Osborn and Kelley. This is followed by the bald statement that Osborn is 'pledged to the mining interests, while Kelly is pledged only to the good of the state.'"

"Up to a few days ago I was inclined to agree that the contest lay between Messrs. Osborn and Kelley, but since Kelley's Mt. Pleasant speech, in which he attempts to repudiate his intimate association and connection with the present administration, I am beginning to believe Kelley will be a negligible quantity in the situation before primary day. People instinctively admire loyalty even when the object of that sentiment is not entirely to their liking. But when, as in the present case, a man who is an integral and important part of an organization, who has been largely responsible for the success at the polls of that organization, attempts to repudiate it solely because he finds public sentiment almost universally unfriendly to that organization, I have too high an opinion of public intelligence to believe he can get away with it."

"The second declaration in the Republican is a most unfortunate one so far as Kelley is concerned, since it permits of a rejoinder which will puzzle Mr. Kelley to meet satisfactorily. "Mr. Osborn is pledged to no special interests, either in the upper or lower peninsula. He is pledged to see equal and exact justice done all interests. His political record and the character of his declarations upon the stump; in fact his entire life and the quality of his mind give absolute assurance upon this point. But how about Mr. Kelley?"

"Is Mr. Kelley prepared to deny without qualification that in his efforts prior to Mr. Osborn's entrance into the race, to secure the support of the upper peninsula that he gave certain representatives of the mining interests his personal pledge that he would protect the mining companies against the tonnage tax proposition should it become an issue before the next legislature? Is Mr. Kelley ready to deny that he gave these representatives the assurance that if a tonnage tax bill passed the legislature, and he were governor, he would kill it by his veto?"

"I don't believe Mr. Kelley will answer these questions. He has had one good opportunity to do so, but declined. The Detroit Free Press, several weeks ago, asked a similar question. Kelley ignored it then, and I presume he will ignore it now."

"While equitable assessment for taxation is still a problem as it always has and will be for years to come, it is no more a problem now than it has been during the six years of the Warner-Kelley regime. Throughout the six years of Warner as governor, and Kelly as lieutenant-governor, no word on this subject escaped either Kelley or his chief. Now that Kelley is a candidate and needs an issue he has become very keen for equitable assessments, particularly in a section of the state where he does not expect much support."

"The real issue in Michigan today and the issue in which every citizen is interested is that the money collected for state taxes shall be honestly, wisely and conservatively expended. Since the Kelley-Warner record along this line is not exactly popular, Kelley is making every effort to distract attention from this phase of the situation."

Latest News in the World of Finance and Trade. By PAINE WEBBER & CO., Marquette, Michigan.

BOSTON MARKETS

Liquidation in Lake continued again today, being principally accounted for by selling weakly margined accounts. Good judges say that the stock is more than discounted any over-booming which has been done and is selling now at a price wholly warranted by underground conditions. Indiana and North Lake were weak in sympathy. The balance of the list showed no change and was as dead as ever. N. Butte is in especially good demand around present prices and we think it can be safely purchased.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Considerable irregularity marked today's session with trading not so active as heretofore. The strength in the grain market did not have a material effect although some liquidation was noticed in the northwestern roads and also Canadian Pacific. We see nothing to warrant a change in opinion and still believe depressions will occur from time to time which will afford sufficient opportunity to make moderate purchases and which if accompanied by stop loss protection should act as a barrier against unforeseen developments. We would lighten accounts on advances.

THE CURB MARKETS

There has been small offerings of electrolytic copper at 12 1/4 and sales have been effected at 12.30 a pound, the nearest approach to the 12c level thus far reported. There is in contemplation, we understand, the formation of a syndicate of American and European copper interests for the purpose of trying to buy a large block of the metal at 12c. A man who has followed the trade for years says:

"Consumers of the metal will soon awaken to the realization that copper is cheap at its selling price." We have it upon the authority of one of the leading copper interests, the President of one of the largest producers, that conferences are now in progress in both this country and abroad with a view of bringing about the long looked for and much talked of curtailment of copper.

VALUABLE ARTICLE OF FOOD

People Along the Coasts of Japan Regularly Gather Harvests of the Seaweed.

"A large income is derived by the inhabitants of the coasts of Japan from gathering and selling ordinary seaweed," said Jeremiah King of Atlantic City.

"More than 3,000,000 yen is derived by the harvesters of the deep each year. This does not include the large amount of the product consumed by the natives."

"Certain kinds of seaweed are used for food and its by-products represent thousands of dollars annually. As choice a dessert as I ever have eaten was made from weeds gathered on the southern coast of Japan. This mixed with sugar and sprinkled with rum makes a dessert rarely equaled on this side of the Atlantic."

"There are families on the coast of Japan whose ancestors for hundreds of years have lived entirely from the proceeds of the seaweed gathered from March to November and sold for food. The natives anchor branches of trees at the mouths of the rivers which flow into the ocean. The incoming tide deposits seaweed on the branches. The natives gather it, dry it, and after mashing it with huge knives sell it in large quantities."

Know His Better Half.

This story, according to the New York Telegraph, comes from a lawyer: A worthy and provident man went to this legal adviser to make his will. He gave many instructions and it seemed that everything was arranged. The lawyer began to read over his notes and put a point to his client. "Oh—you have made provision for your wife in the event of her surviving you. Does that remain unaltered if she should marry again?" "No, no," said the client, eagerly. "What am I leaving her? One thousand dollars a year. If she marries again make it $2,000." The lawyer thought there must be a misunderstanding and pointed out that most men put it the other way about. "I know," said the client; "but the man who takes her will deserve it."

A Musical Burglar.

An ingenious burglar was recently committed in a fashionable jeweler's shop in Vienna, the thief having entered by a hole he had made in the ceiling while playing the flute. The flat above was let in lodgings, and the burglar was discovered, when she had let a small room to a well-dressed young man, who played the flute all Sunday morning and afternoon. In the evening he went out and did not return. A jommy and other burglar's implements were found in his luggage, and the man must have made the hole in the floor with one hand while he played the flute, in order to draw the noise, with the other.

EXCLUSION ACT IS GOOD LAW

"On what theory does the United States government prohibit Chinese from coming into this country, while other classes of aliens, apparently more undesirable, are not excluded?" This question was propounded to Immigration Inspector Edsall yesterday. Mr. Edsall has been engaged in the Chinese branch of the Immigration service for several years and during that time has worked in all parts of the United States, by reason of which he is qualified to discuss the Chinese problem as an expert. "Well," replied Mr. Edsall, "while it may be true that there are more undesirable aliens admitted to this country than the Chinese, that cannot be urged as any reason for admitting the Chinese, provided they, too, as a class are undesirable residents. In this part of the country the Chinese are so few in number that upper peninsula people cannot appreciate the feeling toward the yellow men elsewhere, on the Pacific coast, for instance. If there were no exclusion law the Chinese would literally drive white men out of certain lines of business and even under present laws that is in large measure true along the Pacific coast.

"In this locality the Chinese are principally engaged as laundymen and in the restaurant business, but in the west their commercial activities are much more widespread. In the manufacture and sale of women's undergarments, for example, the whites find themselves up against ruinous competition along the Pacific slope and I think it safe to say that most of that line of goods is now made and sold by Chinese in that locality. In San Francisco there is a Chinese store employing 100 Chinese clerks and in other cities are stores employing as many as twenty-five clerks. These clerks are paid wages that white labor could not live on and the owners of the business live on almost nothing. The only effective curb to the growth of such stores is the limited supply of Chinese labor at hand, brought about by the exclusion act. The same is true of the Chinese factories where these goods are made.

"In the large cities the Chinese problem presents a different aspect. Twenty years ago there were only four Chinese restaurants in Chicago; now there are over 200. One of these restaurants represents an investment of $125,000 and is patronized by the best people of the city. Several others are finely furnished and first class in every respect. The great majority of them, however, are chop suey joints with an immoral atmosphere. It has been demonstrated in many instances that these joints are operated in collusion with keepers of resorts in the red light districts and that they have directly, or indirectly been responsible for many an innocent girl's downfall. "When conducted by whites, this kind of establishments can be rather easily handled by the police, but when operated by Chinese the problem becomes more difficult. The Chinese are the most crafty of criminals to run to earth. They are like rats; no sooner do they hear an alarm than they are in hiding. As soon as one learns that an officer or inspector is on the scent, it is tipped off to the whole colony in incredibly short time and the men wanted are not to be found. In some cities this thing has gone so far that one or more Chinese is the absolute head and dictator of the red light district.

"On the Minnesota iron ranges the Chinese problem has an interesting aspect, where they have gone into the hotel business to a considerable extent. In these hotels white girls are usually employed to do the menial labor and while so employed they are in great danger of moral corruption. The police of the range cities have told me of a number of such instances. The practice of sending young girls to Chinese laundries on errands should be discontinued by every mother. That was what resulted in the murder of Elsie Siegel in New York last year and numerous cases of a similar nature can be cited. "As a general proposition the Chinese are quiet, hard-working people and on the surface made no trouble to the officers or the public, but their manner of life is such that they can work for wages that Americans could not exist upon, and for this reason the white laborer must be protected from their invasion. As I have suggested, their common connection with places of immoral atmosphere in the large cities and the difficulty of suppressing them when engaged in such business is another good reason why the exclusion law is defensible.

"Chinese are honest, as a rule, in their business dealings with the whites, just the same as three or four Americans engaged in business among a community of foreigners would have to be honest in dealing with them. In their dealings with each other the Chinese are no different than any other class of people, as far as honesty and integrity are concerned. They are averse to resisting an officer or fighting of any kind, but they are masters of dissimulation and trickery when it comes to evading the clutches of the law. One of their favorite subterfuges is in bribery and it is an exception if an officer makes an arrest of one of their number without being offered a large sum of money to let him go."

SILENT FOR 31 YEARS, TRIES VAINLY TO SPEAK TO SISTER WHEN ON DEATH BED

Somerville, N. J., July 15.—Silas Hoffman, who has not spoken a word for 31 years, according to his neighbors, is dead. He passed away last night without breaking the silence which he had preserved so long. Just before he died he made an effort to speak to his devoted sister, Mrs. Margaret Lane, who has cared for him in his lonely house throughout his eccentric career. The attempt failed, owing either to weakness or to the fact that he had lost the power to articulate.

One winter night more than 16 years ago he slipped on the ice and broke an arm while walking in his garden in the dark. After that accident he never left his bed.

Whether Hoffman was insane was never determined. He had been examined by a score of physicians with a view to determine his mental condition. His continued silence baffled scientists up to the time of his death.

Physicians had been expecting Hoffman to die every year for the last decade from sheer inactivity. His vitality for a number of years had been so low that at times his heart almost failed to beat and for several days before his death his attendant physicians could not detect any pulse.

BAR WOMEN AT HUNT

English Sportsman Shows Indignation at Cancellation of Race.

Reference to "Marsports" Demonstrates Fact That Games Calling for Grit and Determination Are Dwindling in Popularity.

London.—The woman's role on the hunting field has been a continual source of discussion among English fox hunters.

Point to point races are a regular feature of the winding up of the hunting with most of the packs, and of late years women's races frequently are included in the program.

The incident caused speculation in hunting circles, and now the affair gets additional interest from a sporting challenge by Sir Claude de Crespigny.

When one notes how the women of England are growing taller, stronger and harder, while there is a general tendency toward physical degeneration in men, one wonders if an Amazonian England is a possibility of the future.

"At the point to point meeting I was informed the women who had in so sporting a spirit entered for the race were furious at the event being struck off the program.

"So far as I can make out some stily old women, not of female sex, set about worrying the honorable secretary, threatening to absent themselves if the race was left in.

"A much greater sportsman than any of these marsports offered to produce twelve women from his own hunt who would pound any twelve men of any hunt.

"If any of the objectors resent my description of them they will know where to find me."

Sir Claude's reference to twelve women who would pound any twelve men of any hunt gives a point to the lament raised by a contributor to the Weekly Nation over the decadence of British sport.

Some trained dogs were set like prisoners to run everlastingly uphill over an electrically-driven treadmill.

They were kept at this until the poor beasts looked ready to drop with exhaustion and the chemical tests showed that the drain on what constitutes energy in dogs and men was too great to be longer maintained.

The professor injected large doses of spermin under the dogs' hides.

"Lady" Bootblack is Latest

Partners to Be Established in All Parts of Gotham to Accommodate Fair Sex.

New York.—Innovations in the form of women shoe shiners are to be introduced to New Yorkers in the near future by the United Shoe Shining company.

Other parlors for men will be established in all the principal hotels, congregating places and street corners.

At least, the prospectus of the company says so. The company declares it has an authorized capital of $1,500,000, with shares at one dollar each.

Shoes will be cleaned and polished according to the very latest ideas, the prospectus states, and shabby places will have to give way to "conveniently located, sanitary, orderly and tasteful establishments, where

"GIRL" WEIGHS 685 POUNDS

Seattle, Wash.—Miss Trixie, the 685-pound Astoria (N. Y.) girl who has been exhibited all over the country, gave considerable trouble to the officers of the steamship Aymeric.

Miss Trixie, with her brother, Baby Trixie, are being taken to the big exposition at Nanking, China, to be held this summer, and when the fat girl arrived at the wharf the trouble began by the captain being called on to provide a gangplank sufficiently strong to allow Miss Trixie to board the ship.

The gang plank was made, but a ten-foot section had to be taken out of the ship's rail to admit the 92-inch hips of the fat New York girl.

How to get her into the cabin and from the cabin into a state room and from the state room to a berth large and strong enough, etc., etc., caused the captain and first officer to have brainstorms.

The two "children"—one is twenty and the other eighteen—together weigh 1,281 pounds. They will have to sleep on the floor of their state rooms on this trip across the Pacific.

Miss Trixie was finally settled comfortably in the finest room on board the ship, but her meals will have to be brought to her, for the door to the saloon is too small for her girth and the stairs are too weak to hold her weight.

Strange to say, the fare of these two heavyweights is the same as it is for a ninety-six-pound Chinaman who is returning to his fatherland.

Whether the fashion of riding astride, which steadily has spread since Mrs. Alex Tweede set the example, is to be recommended it is hard to say.

When one notes how the women of England are growing taller, stronger and harder, while there is a general tendency toward physical degeneration in men, one wonders if an Amazonian England is a possibility of the future.

Berlin Specialist Claims to Have Found Cure for Tired Feeling—Experiments With Dogs.

Berlin.—Prof. Loewy of the Berlin Agricultural High school, a famous specialist, has arranged so that nobody need ever be tired any more—has found how to inoculate us against that exhaustion of vital energy which we call getting fagged out.

He has discovered that a substance called spermin injected under the skin removes the symptoms of exhaustion and enables weary creatures to go on working long after nature usually cries "Halt!"

Some trained dogs were set like prisoners to run everlastingly uphill over an electrically-driven treadmill.

They were kept at this until the poor beasts looked ready to drop with exhaustion and the chemical tests showed that the drain on what constitutes energy in dogs and men was too great to be longer maintained.

The professor injected large doses of spermin under the dogs' hides.

The Bayonne board decided to ask the council to make a special appropriation at once, so the breeding spots may be destroyed before the mosquitoes get on the wing, which will be about ten days hence.

Prof. John B. Smith, state entomologist, has promised to have the state pay half the expense of the fight against the pests in Bayonne.

Commissioner Delaney said a systematic fight would be made throughout the county and that the Pennsylvania, Central and Lehigh Valley railroads would spend about $35,000 in their share of the work.

Mother of Triplets Honored. London.—According to time-honored custom, King George has forwarded to Mrs. Jackson, wife of a Hull tramwayman, a king's bounty of $15 that is given to every one giving birth to triplets.

Mrs. Jackson now has nine children. The whole town of Hull is proud of the event and is raising a big local fund for her benefit.

Cafe Brings $300,000. Paris.—The Cafe Anglais was sold the other afternoon at auction for $300,000 to a Belgian group after spirited bidding. The price per square meter almost equaled that of the highest price obtained for New York city land.

At sunrise on the following day I lit a fire by which to prepare soup for the senior, who still slept, and as I was engaged thus I saw the lady Maya walking toward me and noticed that her hands and feet were swollen.

"You are more to me than my father, James." "But, Maya, having come so far I wish to see a sacred city." "As you will," she said, letting fall his hand. "See, my father has found the place and calls us."

and, with a little scream of terror wriggled forward along the floor. Then she rose to her feet, and picking up her linen robe, crept toward the entrance to the cave, where she put on her garments and walked slowly toward the camp, bearing the precious water with her.

"No, but I am sure that unless he has water he will die within a little more than an hour. Therefore I have made up my mind to try to descend the cueva. Will you be so good as to watch the senior till I return, and if I return no more, as is probable, tell your father what has happened?"

"That was water," he muttered. "I can taste it." Then he saw the cup, and the sight seemed to give him a sudden strength, for suddenly he stretched out his arms, and snatching it from my hand, he drained it in three gulps.

answered. "I thought that the want of water would have killed him ere now." "He has had water, father. I descended the cueva and fetched it," she added after a moment's pause.

"That same evening Maya told me of her father's words and said: 'I think that before all is done I shall need the help that you have sworn to give me, senior, for I can see well that my father will be against me unless my wish runs with his purpose.'" changed that we started in astonishment. "Different indeed was she to the ill-dressed and travel-stained girl who had been our companion for so many weeks. Now she was dressed in a robe of snowy white bordered with embroidery of the royal green and having the image of the heart traced in gold thread on the breast. On her feet were sandals, also worked in green, while round her throat, wrists, waist, and ankles shone circlets of dead gold.

"The food is ready," said Zibalbay, "such as it is. Be seated. Nay, daughter, you need not stand before me. We are still fellow wanderers, all of us, and ceremony can wait till we are come to the City of the Heart."

Camels Are the Freight Cars of Bagdad

weighing about 225 pounds, for the convenience of camel drivers in loading. The rates charged for carrying freight across the desert vary with conditions, being lowest when camels are cheap, labor and pasture plentiful and freight offerings none too numerous. For a common burden camel $30 is a fair price, though the trotters or swift messenger camels are worth more. A young camel can sometimes be had about Bagdad for as little as three or four dollars.

Besides its use for riding and carrying purposes the Mesopotamian Arabs depend on the camel for milk. Shoes are made from its tough, calloused hide and in times of famine its brittle, strong tasting flesh is eaten. Condensed milk, made by boiling fresh camel milk until evaporation leaves only a hard chalky substance is prized among the desert nomads. By rubbing this substance between the hands it reduces to powder and when mixed with warm water it makes a refreshing drink highly esteemed among the desert folk.

Camel calves are weaned in their eleventh or twelfth month. When a camel caravan is on the march the very young camels are often tied upon the back of the mother animals, since they cannot endure the fatigue of a long march. Valuable dogs and Arab desert hounds, called "alugeys," also ride in the same way.

"Don't Smoke," Moral in Monkey's Death

would move right into the clouds of smoke and would snuff with evident relish.

One day Yeoman Miller was writing a letter and had just lighted his pipe. The bugle called "collision quarters," and he dropped his pipe and started to the station on the run. Miller, returning to his "ditty box," which had been doing duty as a writing desk, was surprised to find the pipe almost empty. It was full when he went to quarters. He took a look about and saw all the men had their pipes. When he looked at the monkey it did not look at him in the eye as it usually did, but turned its head in a guilty manner. Yeoman Miller examined the pipe and found the marks of little sharp teeth on the red stem.

Next day, after catching the monkey smoking his pipe again, Yeoman Miller decided that "Chico" had to have a pipe, and so he made him one from an ivory nut, with a reed stem.

Some of the young apprentices thought it was cute to see "Chico" smoke cigarettes, and they taught him the use of the "coffin nail." From then until his death he was rarely seen without one.

"Be careful, young man," said the recruiting officer, as he espied a new recruit concealing a "home-made" behind his chair, after hearing the tale of "Chico," "or you will meet the same fate as he."

Youth Suffers From Too Much Credit

The cab took them home.

"Just charge it to me," said the careless youth.

"Identification card, sir," said the chauffeur.

"What's that?"

"Our company always issues identification cards to its patrons."

"Well, I haven't one. Come to the office tomorrow and I'll pay you."

The youth scraped together the necessary 70 cents before the chauffeur appeared next day.

"By the way," he said, after he had paid, "tell your people to send me one of those identification cards, will you?"

In due time the card came. Bills were to be rendered at the end of each month, according to the polite note which accompanied the card. Forthwith the street cars lost one who had been a regular patron. Hence, the piece of paper, with the "For taxicab hire, $189.90."

It is more than likely that walking will be good for him for some time to come; and it is more than likely, too, that one of those who idly fish in the Potomac may drag up on his hook a certain card of identification.

Laundry Day for Uncle Sam's Money

UNCLE SAM now has a wash day. It isn't a laundry for soiled clothing, but for good United States paper money. When some of the bills find their way back to the bureau of engraving and printing in Washington whence they came bright, crisp and new, a credit to the engraving art, they are really and truly in the "filthy lucre" class.

Now your wise old Uncle Samuel proposes to wash the bills and use them over again instead of destroying them as has been the custom.

Director J. D. Ralph is on the job watching with interest the renovator of dirty bills do its duty. The machine on trial is one invented by Frank B. Churchill and was submitted by him, along with others of different makes, for trial. It is now being demonstrated in the bureau.

The machine now in use takes bills and spreads them on a screen. This screen is revolved rapidly through a solution of soap and water, which takes off the grime. The next disc takes them through a strong solution of a disinfectant, which removes the germs. A third disc removes the traces of the other two waters and sends the bill out onto a plat ready for the "plater." The "plater" is the same roller used to press new money. It is this machine that gives new money its crispness. After the washed-out bills are run through the "plater" they are comparatively new—the ink colors having been brought out again and the dirt removed.

It is Mr. Ralph's idea that the life of a banknote will be extended about sixty per cent. by the new method. The machine which he wants will cost between $800 and $1,000. It will save from $500,000 to $1,000,000 annually.

Ideas in Blouses

THESE three blouses may be copied in most blouse materials. The first is in white washing silk, finely tucked and trimmed with Valenciennes lace insertion. A frill of silk finishes the right front. The deep cuffs are of wide insertion. Materials required: 2 1/4 yards 36 inches wide, 4 yards narrow insertion, 1/2 yard wide for cuffs.

The second is in spotted saphyr, made with two wide tucks over the shoulder that are stitched to bust. A wide box-pleat, stitched at each edge, and ornamented with buttons, trims the front. Collar band and cuffs of embroidery insertion. Materials required: 2 1/4 yards 28 inches wide, 1 dozen buttons, 1/2 yard insertion. One of the most attractive blouses.

The third is a style suitable for voile or other thin material, to be made of the same as is used for skirt. It has first a small round yoke and collar of tuck net, then a shaped yoke of fancy silk or embroidered net, the material being arranged in short tucks. The sleeves are gathered into shaped cuffs to match the yoke. Materials required: 1 1/2 yard 44 inches wide, 1/2 yard embroidered net or silk, 1/2 yard tuck net.

EXTENDING THE CLOSET ROOM MADE HER OWN CHATELAINE

Good Plan by Which Space May Be Made When the Compartment Is Small.

If one is short of closet room a very good plan is to hang skirts sideways in the closet instead of hanging skirts, frocks and coats all flat against the back wall of the closet. Frocks may also be hung sideways, leaving only the coats to be stretched on hangers and suspended from the back wall of the closet. In order to hang garments sideways it is necessary to have a shelf across the top of the closet and to screw small hooks on the under side of this shelf. The hooks are arranged in pairs along the under side of the shelf, each pair of hooks being meant for a single skirt or frock. Two loops of braid are sewed in each skirt band and two in each frock at the waist line, one loop being hung on each hook. The garments are much more easily gotten at in this way than when they are hung one over another at the back of the closet. This method of hanging also permits the garments to hang perfectly straight, and makes it possible to store a large quantity of clothes in one closet. If the closet is deep enough the coats also may be suspended on stretchers from the shelf. This is an ideal arrangement, for it leaves the closet door free for a pier glass, which is a most useful adjunct to a girl's room.

In Place of a Knot.

The use of a knot is to be avoided in sewing and not to be tolerated in embroidery. The accomplished needle woman rarely finds it necessary to start with a knot, save in gathering or basting. Sometimes a tiny one is slipped under a hem, but it will show on right side if material is sheer and makes an ugly lump in ironing. Two or three over-and-over stitches taken on wrong side of material is as secure as a knot, and much more sightly. In embroidery there is no excuse for a knot. Two or three tiny stitches taken on outline or in body of work where it is afterward covered will hold any stitches. Knots only tend to an untidy wrong side, which no good embroiderer will tolerate, and make the work rough in laundering.

Embroidered Pongee.

Pongee frocks are now ready for the last touch, which is given by the embroiderer. Handwork put upon this excellent surface is never wasted, and the tones of the pongee is the exact background for the dull leaf green and old rose of the conventional running vine of the Tudor rose design.

This is used successfully on the side opening of a plain Russian blouse house frock, and its sections are repeated in short strips at intervals on the tunic's side opening. The work is flat in effect, suggesting very little padding.

A Bathing Hint.

A hint for women who bathe in the brine and at times find the temperature of the water chilling is to wear a close fitting one-piece garment of very thin flannel under the silk bathing suit. This makes the salt water bath no less efficacious and is a safeguard against rheumatism. The precaution is an especially good one for those who swim at the Maine seaside resorts.

HAT FOR SUMMER

Picture hat for summer wear of pale blue chip, lined with black chip. Medallions of blue linen edged with lace and large chou de lace.

Washing Irish Crochet.

Irish crochet collars and neckwear may be the most durable a girl can use or the most unsatisfactory. It depends upon the laundering.

Wash in thick hot suds made from pure white soap. Rinse through several waters and put through a thin starch water. Squeeze out excessive moisture between cloths.

Pin the crochet piece to a cushion or heavily padded board. Pull out all the points and edges, fastening each one with a pin to the cushion. Allow it to remain until dry, when it will look like new.

If the lace is much yellowed the cushion can be stood in the sun during the drying process.

A drop of bluing can be added to the last rinsing water, or if a creamy tint is liked the lace can be put through a weak tea.

Printed Net.

Printed nets in black and white effects are very stylish and are extremely smart when trimmed with black lace and black velvet.

Cupid and the Proprieties

By Catherine M. Patterson

(Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.)

Monday morning was drawing perilously near and the party had just broken up. It was one of Patricia Norton's regular Sunday night supper parties, whose guest list never numbered more than eight and usually less—and the Falwells and Jimmie Brent were the latest stayers. Mrs. Falwell and her husband were just leaving. Mrs. Falwell and her husband! It was always that way, not that Mrs. Falwell was the more important of the two or the possessor of any mental, moral or physical superiority, but it just naturally was. Yet every one liked Mr. Falwell and he himself seemed quite content with things as they were.

Jimmie Brent had risen with the Falwells, but after they had gone he still remained. In his hand he held a half smoked cigar.

"May I stay until I finish this?" he inquired, indicating his weed.

"Surely," said Patricia.

"Brent promptly knocked off not only the ashes, but the live end of the cigar. Patricia's eyebrows went up inquiringly.

"Your motive, Jimmie?" she questioned.

"You said I should stay until I finished this cigar," holding it off and admiring its proud, brown beauty.

"But I don't expect you to be forever doing it."

"Forever!" mused Jimmie. "I'd like to make this last forever."

"Jimmie Brent, you are coming back to a forbidden subject. Finish that cigar in five minutes—for then out you go."

"Do you mean that, Patricia?" making no move to light his cigar and—if possible—settling himself still more comfortably in his chair. "May I ask how you are going to do it? You can't use brute force, you know."

"I shan't attempt to do it myself," she said, with dignity. "I shall call Aunt Nancy, and if she can't accomplish it she will call the janitor."

"Call Aunt Nancy? Good. She thinks you are making the mistake of Patricia stopped in the middle of her speech, and her face flushed.

"Go on. What did she say?"

"She said," repeated Patricia, with an effort, "that if I was not engaged to you I ought to be, and—"

"My sentiments exactly. The lady of the hatchet-face is not such a bad sort, after all. But to go on. What else?"

"She said it was disgraceful the number of times that you come here, and the lateness of your stay is always perfectly shocking. And those are my sentiments, Jimmie; you simply must go."

"Not until you have promised to become Mrs. J. Brent before the year is over."

"I'd never do that."

"Very well, then, here I'll sit. Meantime, take heed unto yourself and remember the hour."

"I am remembering it, Jimmie. Please, please go. Finish your cigar as you cross the park."

"No, thank you; that isn't included in my campaign plans. Tell me more about these interesting people. Who is the second member of the family that you know?"

"A horrid, freckled boy, who is the most ubiquitous person with whom it has ever been my misfortune to come in contact. He is always in the halls and lately he has insisted on posting my letters for me. Fairly snatches them out of my hand and races off like mad. I can't stir any more without finding him at my heels."

"You seem to have made a conquest, and, after the manner of womanhood in general, you don't appreciate it. By the way, how did all these remarks of the hatchet-faced one reach your ears? That point isn't quite clear to me."

"Aunt Nancy told me. The woman herself and the janitor, to whom my most estimable neighbor across the way has also been talking, it seems, told Aunt Nancy."

"But, Patricia, what was that you said about people listening to tales from servants, and talking to them?"

"Jimmie, you are horrid. It is different with Aunt Nancy. She is—"

"A dear, as I have always maintained," interrupted Jimmie. "But come, Patricia. Aren't you going to accept me this time?"

"No, I am not. Oh, Jimmie, it is one o'clock. Please go."

"Can't help it if it is 5 o'clock a. m. Patricia, you know you love me, only you are too contrary to admit it. You have kept me in suspense for six long years and that is more than enough. Moreover, you have yourself to think of. If the people across the hall have noticed my numerous and late visits, so have the other people in the building."

"Stop!" cried Patricia. "Please, please don't say anything more like that. And won't you go home?"

"I will not until you promise to be my wife, Patricia," and, rising quickly, Brent crossed to Patricia, who also had risen. He took her in his arms. Patricia attempted to free herself.

"Promise me, Patricia, that you will be my wife," coaxed Jimmie, gently but there was underneath it all a stern tone that implied that the man would brook delay no longer.

"Will you go at once if I do promise?"

"I'll go in five minutes. I want to tell you something first. Is it a bargain?"

"Yes, Jimmie, I will marry you."

"Before the year is over?"

"Yes."

Brent bent and kissed her before he asked: "On your word of honor, in spite of what I am going to tell you? Oh, I promise you I haven't committed a penal offense or disgraced the family in any way," he said, quickly, in answer to the glance of startled inquiry from Patricia.

"Tell me. You have my word, and that once given holds good for all time."

Brent bent and kissed the face he held between his hands before he spoke. "Patricia, I am the main part of the new family that has just moved into the apartment across the hall."

"You!" gasped Patricia. "And, the woman with the awful face and voice! They are dreadful, even if she is related to you."

"But she isn't a relation of mine, so don't look so distressed. She will not come to pay us long visits. She is a most estimable woman, however, and my—housekeeper."

"And the boy?"

"The 'hatchet-lip,' which I believe was the affectionate and tender term you used in conjunction with him, is my young brother, who, by the way, thinks that you are the one woman. And all those tales were purely my own invention, carried to the right person by my faithful housekeeper. You see, dear, I was getting desperate. Remember, you have promised, on your word of honor, to marry me; so there is to be no retraction of your promise."

"Marry you? I certainly will," said Patricia, positively, "if for no other reason than to keep my eye on you in the future and prevent your doing something still worse. But do you remember your own promise to go?"

"Yes; and I'll go," said Jimmie, snatching up his cigar from the chimney piece. "Only I'll smoke this, not as I cross the park, but as I cross the hall."

"I'd Never Do That."

all the many mistakes of your life in so persistently refusing to marry me. Call Aunt Nancy in if you wish, she is on my side."

"I should say she is. She made the coffee so strong tonight that if it had wanted to do so it could have walked off bodily with this entire apartment. And all that because 'Marce' Brent he likes his coffee dark strong that if he cup was ter br'k de coffee would 'most stand up alone."

"All of which goes to prove my point. As for the janitor, nice sort of a name you would have if one of your Sunday nights ended in a disgraceful brawl between the janitor and one of your guests."

"Nice sort of name I'll have, anyway, if you stay here much later," muttered Patricia, glancing at the clock. "Those new people across the hall are taking a lively interest in me as it is, and they have been here only a week."

"You don't say so!" offered Jimmie, politely, covering his lips quickly with his hand, ostensibly to conceal a yawn.

"Jimmie, you are sleepy. Please go home."

"Haven't finished my cigar."

"You are not likely to if you don't get busy and smoke it."

"I'm not in a hurry, thank you. But about those new people across the hall, Patricia? Tell me more about them. What do you think of them?"

"I think they are horrid," said Patricia in a tone that bore the hallmark of conviction. "I've seen only two members of the family, but they are enough. There is an old, gray-haired woman, so lean and angular you could use her for a costumer. She owns a barbed-wire voice that corresponds perfectly with her hatchet-face."

"Barbed-wire voice, hatchet-face," repeated Jimmie. "She is perfectly agreeable from me. But what sort of person is she? Your description doesn't reveal that little detail."

"Oh, doesn't it? Then perhaps the fact that she discusses the other people in the apartment building with the servants may throw some light on the subject."

"It does help some. But what has she said about—about—well, about you, for instance?"

"Well, she said that if I were not—"

NO CHANGE

Mrs. Easy—What are you doing this Lent, sweetheart? Mr. Easy—I'm giving up about ten per cent of my salary to you—just as usual!

WHY HE THOUGHT

Willie—Is Mr. Jones married? Mama—Not that I know of. Willie—Well, he always sits to sister when they're in the house.

LOADED TO THE GUN

Jiggs—What makes you look so much like a vacant look? Jiggs—I guess he's full.

THE RESEMBLANCE

Miss Jackson—You have a tear in my eye. Mr. Johnson—Wax be a tear. Miss Jackson—No; he's a peddler.

AN EXCEPTION

Mrs. Grouty—When I myself into trouble I drag a woman in after me. Mr. Grouty—Oh, I know about Jonah and the whale.

merging sea, like a shadow before his blistering eyes, and as his own limbs went out from under him...

His heart seemed to stop beating. He strove to pull himself together, but his head fell forward. Faintly, as on a battlefield, voices came to him...

Darkness enshrouded him but a few moments, when a dash of cool water brought him back into light. He felt himself lowered upon the sand and after a breath or two he twisted himself on his elbow...

From down near the shore she called back some word, and with a shrill cry Winnosme followed her. Nathaniel struggled to his elbow, to his knees—staggered to his feet. He saw the boat drifting out into the night...

away. In the wet sand, where the incoming waves lapped his hands and feet, Nathaniel sank down, his eyes starting out into the shimmering distance where Marlon had gone.

And she was not the king's wife! He staggered to his feet again and plunged into the lake until the water reached to his waist, calling her name, entreating her in weak, half-choked cries to come back to him.

He dropped upon his knees beside them and saw that life was returning full and strong in Nell's face. "You will be able to walk in a few minutes," he said.

He spoke confidently, as a man who sees his way open clearly before him, and yet as he turned, half running, to the low black shadow of the distant forest he knew that he was beginning a blind fight against fate.

"God bless you, little Winnosme!" he whispered. "I hope that some day you will—forgive me." The girl understood him. "If I have anything to forgive—you are forgiven."

THINK OLD MINE MAY BE VALUABLE

It transpires that C. E. Shields, Hugh McPherson and J. A. Broadwell, the Howell (Mich.) men who were in Houghton last week, presumably en route to Isle Royale on a fishing trip...

The party left last Friday in the tug Valerie, which conveyed the motor boat Louise II of Detroit, which was brought here by the party with the intention of making the trip from Houghton unassisted.

Portage lake life saving station and Mr. Broadwell were in the boat. They were picked up after the fog passed. It is the belief of some that the Howell men are examining the Minong in the belief that other parties have discovered it to be a rich mine.

PIRATES AND GIANTS USED FIVE PITCHERS

Pittsburgers Again Clean Up on the New York Nationals.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 15.—Five pitchers were used by the two teams in today's game before the Pirates repeated their victory of yesterday over New York, winning today by the narrow margin of 8 to 7. The locals used Maddox, Leever and White in the box while both Buggs Raymond and Wiltee were tried by the Giants, the locals getting 12 safeties off the pair. The score:

	R. H. E.
Pittsburg	8 12 2
New York	7 8 1

Batteries: Maddox, Leever, White and Gibson; Wiltee, Raymond and Myers and Schell. Umpires O'Day and Brennan.

SUGGS AGAIN MAKES GOOD FOR CINGY REDS

Cincinnati, July 15.—Pitcher Suggs again today got away with a victory after allowing 11 hits but trimmed Boston 5 to 1. Suggs worked easily, but tightened up mightily with men on bases, while the locals bunched their bingles of Curtis and Ferguson. The score:

	R. H. E.
Cincinnati	5 8 0
Boston	1 11 1

Batteries: Suggs and McLean; Curtis and Graham and Rariden. Umpires Johnstone and Easton.

"I'LL FIGHT LANGFORD IN A CELLAR"—JOHNSON

"Will I fight Langford? Say, will I ever pass up a fine spring broiler?" That was Jack Johnson's answer and query, and his golden smile threw a glow over his apartments at Baron Wilkins' liquid emporium in New York as he sat in his library to be interviewed.

"Now, this Langford matter has about reached a point where it's up to me to call Samuel's bluff. Here's what I am prepared to do: I will fight Langford provided he will wager the $20,000 he claims he has for a side bet. I am going to bring him out of that dream, fore he never saw that kind of money, and, what's more, you know it's a fortune when it comes to placing it up in real coin. I will have to be shown.

"Now, Sam is due in New York, I understand, within a few days. Let him put up that money and we will go in some side room, cellar or out in a lot and fight it out. There need be no purse and all the trouble about training and the great expense that it incurs. I will take a night off from the show and fight him and let the winner take the $40,000.

"Samuel is after a fat and juicy purse, but why fool the public into paying out its good money for me to fight a man that I can almost name the round I can whip him in? Let's have it out in private, and that will settle it for all time.

"There is one chance of Samuel getting away without putting up that kind of coin. He can't lick me and won't bet, and now here's another proposition: If he will agree to meet Joe Jeannette in a finish contest I will back Jeannette and perhaps if he can beat Jeannette he will not have to make that bet with me.

"What right has he to claim a chance at the title when he cannot whip Jeannette? Joe is twice as tough as Langford and Sam knows it as well as I do, and you can take it from me that he will pass me up on my proposition to fight him in private for $20,000 a side.

"I made him a proposition before to fight Jeannette and he passed it up and still he wants to fight me for the title."

HAVE BEEN PALS FOR MANY YEARS

No group of stars as brilliant in the baseball sky as Fred Clarke, Hans Wagner and Tommy Leach have ever held together as long as Pittsburg's big three. Starting out at Louisville, when the Kentucky metropolis was owner of a major league franchise, they have spent thirteen years of service in Dreyfuss harness and are right now in their prime condition, due, the smart set say, to their perfect mode of living in private life and sober method at all times. No fan has ever heard but good out of the trio, who are generally regarded as manufacturers of baseball brains sufficient in quantity every season to supply the universe.

Leach started out as a third baseman, but is in center field now. Wagner has played almost everywhere. Clarke has always played the outfield since he received his start many years ago in Savannah, then a member of the Southern league. One player now with Pittsburg has seen longer service with Owner Dreyfuss. Sam Leever has served under Barney's flag for seventeen consecutive seasons, which may be a record for one player with one league.

GROOME ROUTS DETROIT TIGES IN EASY GAME

Ex-Champions Bow to Near Cellar Champs of the League.

Washington, D. C., July 15.—Groome kept the hits off his delivery scattered today and trimmed the Detroit Tigers 7 to 3. Killian, who was on the mound for Detroit was slaughtered with a total of 12 hits being taken off his delivery. The score:

	R. H. E.
Washington	7 12 3
Detroit	3 8 3

Batteries: Groome and Beckendorf; Killian and Schmidt. Umpires O'Loughlin and Egan.

YANKS AGAIN CLEAN UP ON THE NAPS

New York, July 15.—After both teams had bunched their hits off the two pitchers used by each side the Yanks trimmed the Naps today 8 to 7. Both teams played raggedly, but the visitors were even worse than the locals. The score:

	R. H. E.
New York	8 9 3
Cleveland	7 8 5

Batteries: Manning, Quinn and Sweeney and Mitchell; Falkenberg, Harkness and Bemis. Umpires Connelly and Dineen.

ATHLETICS FINALLY TAKE GAME FROM BROWNS

Philadelphia, July 15.—The Athletics took revenge today for yesterday's defeat at the hands of the cellar champs when they shut out the visitors 2 to 0. Combs held the Browns to five hits that were scattered while the locals got to Pelly for five that were bunched. The score:

	R. H. E.
Philadelphia	2 5 1
St. Louis	0 5 1

Batteries: Combs and Lapp; Pelly and Stephens. Umpire Perrine.

BOSTON TAKES FOURTH GAME FROM THE SOX

Boston, July 15.—Boston took the fourth straight game from the Chicago White Sox today when they trimmed the visitors 6 to 2. Scott and Lange were used by the visitors and while they were not pounded hard all of the hits were bunched. Smith proved a puzzle for the Chicagoans throughout the nine innings. The score:

	R. H. E.
Boston	6 5 1
Chicago	2 6 2

Batteries: Smith and Carrigan; Scott, Lange and Payne and Block. Umpire Evans.

JOE GANS HELPED JOHNSON TO WIN

During the progress of the big fight at Reno on the fourth, probably no one thought of Joe Gans, battling off the rushes of the white pugilist in Prescott, Ariz. Yet the once mighty Gans may have been one of the greatest factors in Johnson's complete victory over the sturdy Jeffries. It was Gans advised the colored champion to fight just such a battle as he waged July 4.

Gans told his heavyweight friend that the sure way to defeat Jeffries was to peck and peck away at his face. A glance at the chart showing the number of blows peppered on Jeff's person indicate how closely Lili Arthur followed instructions.

"THE LEAGUES." By "Dope."

Washington is looking for a first baseman as Unglaub has slumped in his work this year.

Rutherford, a Cornell College outfielder was given a trial by Manager McGuire of the Naps on Wednesday.

Pfeffer of the Cubs has been a disappointment this year.

Two days in succession, when Roth of Cincinnati was called upon as a pinch-hitter, he hit safely.

McGraw has five hard-hitting outfielders in Snodgrass, Becker, Murray, Devore and Seymour.

Chance has not pitched Jeff. Over-all in some time.

"Wee" Willie Keeler managed to get in a game recently, although he only ran for a batter.

Since Big Ed Walsh has been pitching for the White Sox, he has been beaten by Boston only on two occasions which date to this year.

Mathewson suffered his third defeat of this year on Thursday at Pittsburg.

Gandil and Zelder, the two White Sox cripples, are back in the game.

The White Sox, who for the last four years have led the American league in fielding, will from the present showing hand the honor over to the McGuire "Naps" this year.

Pittsburg has captured two games straight from the "Giants," yet they could glean only four hits in each game.

The White Sox cast-offs Altizer, Cravath, Gill, Patterson, Fiene, and Altrock are playing such good ball this year that the Minneapolis nine leads the American Association by a good margin.

COTTON LEAGUE HAS HANDY UMPES

The Cotton States league boasts of a pugilistic umpire. His name is Archie Hunt, and a few nights ago the umpire demonstrated his fighting ability to the entire Greenwood team. Hunt was fired by the president of the league a week ago and blamed two of the Greenwood players for it. They met in the hotel the other night and something was said to Collins, one of the players and he accused Hunt of betting on the games and was promptly knocked down by Hunt. This brought the entire team into the fray. Jack Law, the next one to face him, was knocked out and he then proceeded to clean up the entire team. After the smoke had cleared away it was found that he had cleaned six members of the team and he was promptly arrested. He was later fined $8.50 in a justice court, which he paid and went on his way rejoicing.

MIGHTY HONUS FALLEN BADLY

The mighty Honus Wagner, idol of the Pittsburg baseball fans, has fallen from the pedestal he has occupied for a long time. At the ball ground he is openly jeered and on the downtown streets he is the subject of the newsies' jokes and stares of adult followers of the game. Honus says he doesn't care if the people say he is to blame for the poor playing of the Pittsburg ball team. He says he is tired of National league baseball.

Wagner has created dissension in the ranks of the team and this alone is now assigned as the valid reason for the miserable playing of the world's champions, who seem destined to drop still lower unless Manager Clarke takes drastic measures to make Wagner play the best ball of which he is capable or assigns the big and at present German to a place on the bench. The Pittsburg baseball enthusiasts remained loyal as long as they could and cheerfully gave up $1 per during the fore part of the season.

"I am tired of playing National league ball, anyway," is the way the former mighty Honus puts it. "I think a man ought only to have to play ball when he feels like it. Why, the way we are, we are not much better than well fed slaves. We are supposed to be ordered around by the manager as the fancy dictates him. I'm tired of it."

SOO MAN CONFIDENT

Houghton, Mich., July 15.—Col. Charles H. Chapman of the Soo, former deputy state railroad commissioner under Chase S. Osborn of the Soo, arrived in Houghton yesterday morning on business connected with the McKeone gold dredging company. He was seen at the Douglass House and as he is one of Chase S. Osborn's closest friends he was asked concerning the gubernatorial campaign.

Col. Chapman says that he has not seen Mr. Osborn for a month, as the candidate is busily engaged in his whirlwind campaign in lower Michigan. But he is confident that Osborn is gaining ground steadily. Col. Chapman says that the campaign has now narrowed down pretty definitely to a struggle between Osborn and Kelley. He believes in Osborn's chances but laughingly admits "Pat will get a few votes alright".

PRIVATE BANK IS MADE STATE BANK

Powers, Mich., July 15.—The Exchange Bank of Powers, Mich., of which Frank Witmeyer, formerly of Marquette is cashier, a private institution owned by C. W. Gardner and E. C. Best of Minneapolis, Minn., has been reorganized and incorporated into a state bank; incorporators are as follows: C. E. Bradner, I. Makevitch, J. Fontanna, Dr. T. J. Hutton, H. H. Little, C. O. Peterson, Hans Rasmussen; Kell Bros., Theodore Bellmore, Donna Morreau, F. J. Witmeyer, C. J. Quade, C. D. Symonds, of Powers, Mich.; Nicholas Peterson Xavier Labre and F. Walter Paule, Spalding, Mich.; Theodore Kilekamp Sr., William Keel, and J. J. Corcoran, Spalding, Mich.; Albert J. Pinkora and Robert Kirby, Hermansville, Mich.; G. T. Werline, H. E. Nadeau, Louis Nadeau, Jos. Servais and F. M. Sperline, Nadeau, Mich.; C. W. Gardner and E. C. Best, Minneapolis, Minn. The following directors elected at meeting for a year: G. T. Werline, Nicholas Peterson, F. J. Witmeyer, C. W. Gardner, and E. C. Best. The officers elected are: President, E. C. Best; vice-president, C. W. Gardner; cashier, F. J. Witmeyer. The capitalization of the new bank is $20,000 and the title The First State Bank of Powers, Mich. The new institution expects to commence business about Aug. 15th.

The present owners are more than satisfied with the growth of the bank in the past year and a half under the direct management of Mr. Witmeyer, who succeeded in doubling the deposits during that time.

WERLINE TO PUT UP HARD FIGHT

G. T. Werline, of Nadeau, who is touted as the probable candidate of the upper peninsula Democracy for congress to succeed H. O. Young, and who is now serving as a juror in federal court, declared this morning that he expects to make a vigorous campaign of this district in case he receives the nomination from his party. He says that nothing definite has as yet been arranged but that, if nominated, he will make a cow-path tour of the district, meeting as many of the voters as possible and speaking in every town and city, large enough to make it worth while.

Mr. Werline believes that the Democrats of the upper peninsula will have an opportunity to pool a large vote at the congressional election next November. He thinks it will be a Democratic year throughout the country. He recognizes the odds that will be pitted against him in the coming fight, but is hopeful of making a good run, believing to dissatisfaction with the tariff on the part of the middle classes, especially the merchants, will cost the Republicans many votes.

It is expected that a goodly array of able upper peninsula Democratic speakers will be impressed into the campaign service, notably P. H. O'Brien of Calumet, City Attorney Cuddy of Menominee, Hon. John Power of Escanaba, M. M. Riley of Ironwood and Prosecuting Attorney M. J. Doyle of Menominee county.

William Turnbull of Turnbull, Cameron Depler Company of Superior is in the city on business yesterday. Dr. William Firkus left this morning for Watersmeet on professional business.

COUNTY WILL GET MONEY FROM THE STATE

A total of $103.50 will be received by Delta county from the state, as the state's portion of wolf and wild cat bounties that have been paid here since August of last year. A total of $207 was paid out by the county since last August in bounties and one half of the amount is to be refunded by last August in bounties and one-half the state. Of the amount that will be returned $75 will be for wolf bounties and $28.50 for wild cat bounties.

FENDISH CRIME AT LITTLE LAKE

One of the most fendish deeds in the annals of Marquette county crime was committed near Little Lake early Wednesday evening, when one Palmer Gruette, a half breed Indian, brutally attacked and criminally assaulted the sixteen year old daughter of Joel Anderson. The Anderson girl had gone down to the commons near Little Lake to get the cows about 6:30 when she was accosted by Gruette. After pounding and choking her well nigh to insensibility, the fiend accomplished his foul purpose before her screams could bring help to the scene. He then quickly made his disappearance in the woods and had not been apprehended up to a late hour last evening. The girl is at the Gwinn hospital, and it is said that her condition is not so serious as first reports indicated.

A short time before the assault on the Anderson girl, Gruette entered two homes at Little Lake and attempted assault on the women occupants. In both instances, however, he was driven away by the timely arrival of assistance.

As soon as the news of the dastardly assault became known at Little Lake, searching parties were formed, farmers arming themselves with rifles and shot guns, and talk of lynching Gruette, should he be found, was everywhere heard.

Sheriff Lehman was notified of the assault late Wednesday evening and was informed that Gruette was thought to be on his way to Marquette. The officer went to Lawson yesterday and followed him back nearly to Chocoma, only to lose the trail. Gruette passed west through Skandia at almost the same time that the sheriff went through on the train east. Gruette was walking part of the time on the track and part of the time on the county road, and he finally struck off into the woods. The sheriff did not once get sight of his man though he came very close to him yesterday afternoon.

Searching parties have been formed all along the line between Little Lake and Marquette and it is thought that Gruette can not escape. Gruette has been working at the B. J. Goodman mill at Little Lake for a few weeks and is understood to have come there from lower Michigan. It was reported here last evening that he formerly worked at Birch, and that he has relatives there. Gruette is twenty-six or twenty-seven years of age, five feet, eight inches tall, stoutly built and looks like a half breed. He wore a greenish coat, dark trousers, a black soft hat, has long black hair, smooth face, and the knuckle of the middle finger of the right hand has been dislocated. He wore canvas shoes and a black cotton shirt. He is a ball player and sometimes goes by the name of Louis Gruette. He was raised near Livingston, Mich.

FOREST FIRES BURN FINE TIMBER TRACT

A forest fire approached close to Cornell on Sunday and destroyed a fine piece of timber belonging to Supervisor John D. Colburn of that place. The grove was being saved by Mr. Colburn as a part of an excellent farm owned by him there but the fire ran through the timber and it will be necessary to cut the entire grove this fall.

J. J. HICKEY RETURNS FROM IRELAND VISIT

and christened her "Halley's Comet," as we passed through the trail a cloud of dust that followed in her wake.

At Toledo we took a sleeper to Syracuse and did not see much of the country until we arrived there. The scenery from Syracuse to Albany along the Mohawk Valley is beyond description, and from Albany along the Hudson River to New York City is the most beautiful and picturesque country I have ever seen. I took second class passage on the White Star Line Steamer Cedric from New York on the 28th day of May, at high noon, and landed in Queenstown on the 4th day of June at mid-night filled with enthusiasm and love for the old land.

"What incidents of note would you be willing to give for publication, during your stay in Ireland, was asked.

Mr. Hickey paused in deep meditation and replied: "I was supplied with letters from Francis J. Kilkenny, president of the Irish American Home Going Association of Washington, D. C., and made use of them in all the principal towns. From Queenstown I went to the City of Cork and from there by car to Blarney Castle, there I met a number of tourists from Australia, New Zealand, Canada, England, and the United States.

I had the great satisfaction of kissing the Blarney Stone, which I find gave a soft speech to my tongue that is not always meant, known as "blarney."

From thence I went to Lismore in the County Waterford. My native home, and visited places of historical interest, among which was the Duke of Devonshire's Castle, built in the 18th century, and St. Cartrage church which is believed to be one of the most ancient churches in Ireland, built in the 6th century. I also visited the Monastery at Mount Mellery one of the most noted seats of learning in Ireland.

From Lismore I went to Limerick and paid a visit to the famous "Treaty Stone," while viewing this emblem of England's perfidy I was filled with a sense of righteous indignation at the wrongs and persecutions of my ancestors through the failure of England to abide by the terms of said treaty.

From Limerick I went to Tralee and from thence to Beauty's Home, "Kil-lamey." The magnificent grandeur of the lake and mountain scenery baffles all description. No wonder poets rave over and are enchanted with the magnificent beauty of this world renowned edep of Ireland. From Killarney I went to Dublin, the capital city of Ireland, and had the pleasure of meeting some of the most noted men connected with Ireland's national affairs. I called on Mr. Nugent the National Secretary of the A. O. H. in Ireland, who received me very kindly. Mr. Nugent took me to the A. O. H. Club Rooms, and from there to the Lord Mayor's Mansion, and introduced me to the Lord Mayor of Dublin, with whom I had the honor to dine. The Lord Mayor gave me a letter to David Shuby, Esq., M. P., who was attending Parliament in London. I visited Glaswin cemetery where the bodies of Daniel O'Connell, the Irish liberator, and Charles Stewart Parnell, the uncrowned king of Ireland, lay buried, but not dead, for their spirits still live in the faithful hearts of their countrymen.

From Dublin I went to London, England, where I was admitted to the House of Parliament through the courtesy of David Shedy, Esq., M. P., and was given a seat in the visitor's gallery, and listened to some very able speeches by some of the members.

Mr. Hickey, what has been your observations in regard to Ireland's present condition, and her future prospects for national liberty?

"Mr. Hickey replied that Ireland's present condition has been greatly improved through the persistent efforts of the Irish National League and other societies of a more aggressive nature. I find that Irishmen are well educated up to a knowledge of their rights and will not rest content until Ireland will take her place among the nations of the world as a free and independent people.

The future appears to be all radiant with hope of the promised Home Rule, which is believed by adherents of the Parliamentary Party to be coming and in sight."

To conclude, Mr. Hickey: Much has been said and written in regard to the Irish Colleens, what has been your observation?

In reply to this question, Mr. Hickey brightened visibly, and said: "Well, the Irish Colleens are most charming. The queens of all I have ever met."

To quote the poets words: "She dresses not in scarlet silk, In damask or in lace, Nor with the cream of foreign milk Does she lavate her face.

She wears a homemade flannel gown, Embroidered with greens, Which dignifies without a crown Those lovely Irish Queens."

WHY "SWEET 16" TAKES TO RATS, PUFFS, PSYCHE, KNOTS, FUDGE AND GIGGLES

Greeley, Colo., July 15.—Girls turning 16 are absolutely irreligious, according to Dr. G. Stanley Hall, president and professor of psychology at Clark university, Worcester, Mass., lecturing at the summer normal school here, yesterday. Hence it is, he explained, that they are devoted to rats, puffs, psyche knots, fudge, giggles and other ephemeral things.

"The budding girl is as baffling a problem as the soul of a woman," said Dr. Hall, "and the world now knows that instead of no soul at all, woman now has one, two, three, or even four more than man.

"The young girl is absolutely irreligious in her nature. She is myopic, seeing the immediate future. Her life is all emotion and for that reason a certain religious fervor is likely to appeal to her. She should be protected from professional religionists."

TOUGH SYSTEM FOR HUSBANDS WHO HOOK UP WIVES TO BE TAUGHT AT FASHION SHOW

Chicago, July 15.—The fashion show at the Coliseum July 30 to Aug. 6 will attempt the emancipation of the American husband. Living models will pose in unbuttoned and unhooked modern apparel of women and prizes, says the press agent, will be offered to the "married man" who first completes the eighty-three button or ninety-six hook course. Expert men dress-makers will demonstrate the touch system of buttoning. The model will attempt during the operation to arrange veils, touch up the hair and eyebrows, adjust the hat and "rubber" out of the window as if at the dress of a passing woman.

MONSTER KILLED SO LADY LIVES

Fifty Foot Tape Worm Driven out Many Demonstrations Performed

Office in the Jepsen Block to be Kept Open Sunday

Friday is marked by some as a day of misfortune, but Vurpillat has proven it to be as good a day as any other. The office in the Jepsen block was visited by as many people yesterday as on any former day—only more came. All accepted cases left the office with full assurance that life had a brighter side than that which they had viewed for many years past. The skeptics even acknowledged that the eccentric gentleman claims for his remedies are justified and sustained by the cures that have been attained. All who have investigated the victories won over disease by Vurpillat and his New Discovery, agree that all claims for success have been facts. The half has not been told. Cures have been effected in the quiet of many of the homes in Escanaba. They do not reach the newspapers, but those who have been made happy by the kind action of the New Discovery tell the story to some friends. They commend the medicine, and their friends do likewise. A semi-endless chain is being formed, and Escanaba's citizens are being cured where, in many cases, cure had been thought impossible.

Last night at the entertainment on the show grounds, corner Ludington and Sarah streets, our people were given a genuine treat in the line of yanderlille. Afterwards they were astonished and highly pleased at the platform demonstrations of the power of the New Discovery. Among one of those who acknowledged the kindly action of Vurpillat's discovery was Mrs. A. Wallin of 1215 5th street, who had been troubled with stomach trouble for a number of years. In eating her case, Mrs. Wallin said: "For the past few years I have suffered severely from stomach trouble. I was very nervous and constantly had pains across the small of my back that would be followed by dizzy spells. My appetite was very irregular, at times very ravenous, while at other times the sight of food was obnoxious to me. A friend advised the use of Vurpillat's New Discovery. Upon their advice I purchased a package and after taking a few doses I passed this monster I have here. I can truthfully recommend this medicine to any one suffering as I did."

For the benefit of the working people the office in the Jepsen block will be kept open Sunday between the hours of 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., where consultation and examinations are given free to all who care to call.
