FASHIONS of the MOMENT

PARIS.—Evening gowns and evening wraps are receiving more attention than any other clothes at present. This is unusual for this season. It is characteristic of most of the former that they have trains and in these trains and the manner in which they are adjusted to the gowns there are some novelties. Whereas during the winter trains were transparent, or nearly so, these new ones are of heavy materials, velvets, brocades, laces lined with fabrics such as gold brocade, gold or silver tissue and silks upon which are raised velvet flowers.

Gowns of the most filmy chiffons and tulle have trains of changeable velvet, in which one of the colors appears as the lining. White is the predominant note of the gown, but the trains rival in color all the tints of the rainbow, and some of them are just as illustrative and shadowy. Some trains hang from the shoulders and are fastened there with clasps of gold, pearls, or other stones, or if jewels are not desired there are choux of tulle, or bows with scarf ends of chiffon.

In evening wraps of the newest make there is a tendency to more fullness, which in a way justifies their name, king's or queen's wraps. They look as if they might be wrapped about one to cover but not wholly hide the costume beneath, for although simple they are all of thin stuffs through which the gowns can be plainly seen. Some are of lace lined with tulle or chiffon, others are of unlined lace, but showing some embroidery about the upper part and as a border. Some of these last are beautiful and are costly, almost beyond words.

Beer has a model all of lace of the exquisite shade of old ivory which looks as if it might be an heirloom from several generations. On the upper part, forming a sort of belero, is some delicate embroidery done in gold threads, light enough not to interfere with the beauty of the lace. The same embroidery extends across the top of the sleeve, hiding any trace of an arm size, but at the bottom, where the lace is gathered in slightly, there is a band of heavy embroidery in quite a different style. On the edge of the sleeve is a turn back cuff of orange silk and embroidery, appears on the bottom of the cloak.

There is no fastening, for these loose fitting garments are supposed, and do, hang about one after the fashion of capes, or if they are caught it is with a single invisible hook, placed well below the waist.

A great many chiffon cloaks show large, soft looking hoods made of lace, or even of crepe or silk. These are frequently most elaborate affairs, partly covered with embroidery, finished about their edges with fringe, puffs, or ruffles. Most of these hoods are really more like capes, for they are long enough to reach the belt line and they extend across the shoulders so as to cover completely the top of the sleeves. They are graceful and especially becoming to a slight figure.

Coats of Taffetas and Chiffon. Besides brocade and stripes there are many coats seen of changeable taffetas and of chiffon, both plain and changeable. Many of these are simply a foundation for lovely embroidery, some of which is executed in silks, others in ribbon, others in gold and silver, and still others in wools. They do not necessarily follow any particular period in their style, but are intended solely as a charming note of color for any summer costume.

Those of chiffon are generally quite loose fitting and sleeveless, being like tunics, but much shorter. In fact, they are frequently worn over tunics, either of muslin or of embroidered batiste, thus bringing into a gown three distinct materials, all delightfully combined.

With the advent of warm weather a great many voile, taffeta and light summer silk gowns have appeared. The voiles are among the most lovely of all, for they come in charming colorings and many of them are patterned and bordered with most artistic and unusual designs. As a rule they are made up over some contrasting shade of silk or satin and nearly always they are trimmed with lace and satin, according to whether or not they are intended to be dressy.

Finely dotted voiles in all the pale tones are fashionable made-up simply for morning frocks. They are generally trimmed with bands of satin and the bodices show gumpies and undersleeves of the lace, this being the only departure from strict simplicity. White voiles, with stunning borders, are made over whatever may be the palest tint in the border, does resemble a big, lovely, soft crown and an especially good model showing a skirt draped shawl fashion, the two points hanging on either side of the front and the back showing one single point in the center. This style shows to good advantage all the border and is also used for most of the bodices.

In most of these gowns sleeves of lace are shown and these are either transparent or are provided with the thinnest lining of mousseline. Lightness is the principal effect aimed at in these voile gowns and to accomplish this the most supple of satin is used for lining them, and most of the bodices are free from whalebones, belts, or anything of the nature. In fact, some of them have their bodices mounted on to chiffon in place of satin, and if this is not sufficiently heavy two thicknesses are used.

Black still in the lead. Taffeta is having a great rage, as much if not more than did satin last year. In spite of all the efforts of the majority of the dressmakers to introduce all kinds of shades into these frocks, black and dark blue still continue to be more frequently seen than anything else. Black takes the lead of all the colors, but it is in almost every case combined with quantities of white, which completely takes away from any too somber look.

The hat which has been christened for the queen of England is a most chic and delightful little affair and was probably chosen out of compliment to her well known predilection for all sorts of small head coverings. It is capote shape with a rounded crown and droops at either side like a helmet. There is the thinnest possible brim that turns back, it is really nothing more than an apology for a brim, or an excuse for a line of velvet or colored straw to relieve its severe line. The trimming is always the same, no matter whether the hat is white, black, or any pale color. It consists of a shaped algrette, which extends across the front from ear to ear.

It is quite high in the center, nine or ten inches, and only four or five at the sides, and is shaded from deep yellow to white, the tips only being of the latter color. It actually is fastening to any face, framing it in these gently waving, feathery plumes. The prettiest of the models are of white straw with a line of black velvet to mark the brim, and in white, with velvet to match, they are charmingly youthful looking and smart.

White hats are the things of the moment, and the newest trimming consists of imitation feathers made of tulle, lace and mousseline. They are quite out of the ordinary and also they are quite impossible to describe, for they must be seen to be appreciated. Some are as light and fragile looking as thistle down, the tulle or lace being platted and held in place by invisible wires.

The illustration shows an original model in navy blue and black shot taffetas, and Venetian lace in the same shade.

Among the comfortable hats that have been invented for summer wear, especially when traveling or motoring, is a turban of colored horsehair. The French call this material by the name of orin, and it is woven out of such silken threads that it has practically no weight.

The form of these turbans is East Indian. They are wrapped or swathed around a small frame of milliner's wire and lined with white China silk. They are excellent for steamer wear, because they have no brim, and one can lean back against the chair with entire comfort. Of course, for the woman who must have her eyes always shaded from the light these turbans are impossible, but for the ordinary mortal they are both stylish and comfortable.

INDUSTRY AND MECHANICS

HANDY RULER FOR PAINTERS

Of Much Assistance in Keeping Straight Line While Working on Edge of Wood.

One of the most difficult parts of the house painter's work is to paint the edge of woodwork abutting wall paper, windowpane or floor. Heretofore they have had to work carefully along the edge and fill in later. A New York man has invented a device which he calls the painter's time-saver, and which is in reality a ruler to guide the brush and prevent the smearing of anything over the line to be followed. The device is a piece of metal with a wide, straight edge and legs at the other end. The elevation affords room to hold it in the hand. The ruling edge is held along the edge of window sash or door jamb and the workman can paint along it rapidly without fear of consequences. The implement must be pressed down tight, so no paint works its way beneath. For people who like to do their own painting one of these rulers is almost indispensable.

USE WOODEN STEAM BOILERS

Assertion Seems Incredible, Yet They Were Made and Used as Recent as 1817 on Boat.

Steam boilers made of wood! It sounds incredible, and yet such boilers were formerly made and used. Even as recently as 1817, a steamboat plying between Norwich and New London, Conn., was equipped with wooden boilers, and the reason that they burst under "extreme" pressure was attributed principally to the fact that they had no "condensers, safety valves, or balance wheels." From 1801 to 1804 there was a wooden boiler in service at the Center Square, water works, Philadelphia. A partial view of this boiler is shown herewith. The ash pit, fire box and flues were made of iron, but the inclosing box, in which the water was contained and the steam generated, was of wood. The steam pressure used was very little above that of the atmosphere, but the difficulty of procuring leads even with this small pressure led to the early abandonment of wood as material for steam boilers.

Ticket Printing Machine. Railway ticket printing machines are shortly to be installed at a Birmingham (Eng.) station. The booking clerk, when requiring to issue a ticket to any station, takes a blank card, places it in a slot in the sliding carriage, and moves it along until the pointer is opposite the alphabetically arranged name of the required station. He then depresses a handle, and the ticket drops out, printed with the names of the starting and destination stations, price, date, consecutive number, class, etc., while an automatic register of the operation is made at the same time.

Coating With Metal. A new method of coating various substances with metals, the invention of a Swiss engineer, consists in reducing molten tin, zinc, copper, lead, aluminum, or other metal or alloy to a state of pulverization by pressure of an inert gas—nitrogen or hydrogen—and in that state driving it against the surface to be covered from a flexible tube with a tip like that of a large vaporiser for liquids.

Paper Mills in India. Paper mills in India have not been very profitable, as the raw material has to be brought from long distances and the cost of freight, set up the profits. India's import of paper and pasteboard in 1910 fiscal year was of the value of $3,284,850. Bamboo for paper making there is suggested.

POOL AND BILLIARD TABLE

Frame is Adjustable to Different Dimensions and Has Provision for Side Pockets.

A Pennsylvania man has invented a combination pool and billiard table that is nothing less than startling in its mutability. The same article can be used not only for both pool and billiards, but it can be used on floor or table and, finally, can be folded up and stood in a closet when not wanted. All these things are made possible by the fact that the bed of the table is a single strip of heavy rubber that when stretched taut along the bottom of the frame provides a firm, level surface. The frame is adjustable to different dimensions and has corner pieces that are inserted for billiards and removed for pool, when pockets are adjusted at the corners. There is also provision for side pockets. Furthermore, the cue is adjustable to different lengths. This table can be used in the house or out of doors, on land or on water, and when not in use can be stood up out of the way. For floor playing a ball attachment is fastened to the end of the cue.

COMBINED CROWBAR-TRUCK

Used in Sets of Three for Moving Heavy Loads About—Quite Useful in Factories.

A combination crowbar and truck has been invented for moving heavy articles about in workshops, factories and warehouses. While the articles can be used separately, they are usually employed in sets of three, as they thus preserve a better balance for the load and expedite its handling. At the end of a long, strong handle are two stout iron rollers covered with an iron casing, with a spike set near the tip. This spike prevents the load from slipping, and yet is short to do any damage. The truck-crowbars are inserted under the object to be moved and by bearing down on the handles the load is lifted clear of the floor and can be wheeled to any point desired. Articles weighing three or four tons can be trundled about on these trucks as easily as an ordinary packing case. Even in shops equipped with traveling cranes these implements will be useful.

Dirty Windows Exclude Light. A German professor has ascertained that in industrial cities windows which have not been washed for ten days exclude from 35 to 48 per cent. of the light. If not washed for four weeks, they may exclude as much as 80 per cent. of the light.

INDUSTRIAL AND MECHANICAL NOTES

Buenos Aires is the largest hide and wool market in the world. Ninety-seven American manufacturers have agencies in Madrid. Tokio, Japan, intends to spend nearly $16,000,000 on drainage works. Stoves burning alcohol are being introduced into Canada by Germans. Sandstone will absorb a gallon or more of water to the cubic foot of rock.

A large Hamburg restaurant is housed in a building of compressed paper. A file may be kept from filling up with lead by applying a coat of thin oil just before filing. At a recent gem exhibition in London there were shown blue, pink and aquamarine diamonds.

Sheet aluminum makes better vice jaws for handling soft metals than either brass or copper. So-called burglar proof glass, made in France, withstands revolver bullets and blows from a mallet. Approximately one-third of the world's supply of copper now is being produced in the Philippines. Lime was one of the earliest materials used to improve the soil, being mentioned by Plato and Pliny. For the first times in the history of the industry in that state Ohio mined more than 30,000,000 tons of coal last year.

In a stone arch bridge recently built in France molten zinc was used to bind the stones together instead of cement. Light but strong waterproof paper that successfully imitates leather and rubber is made in Japan from vegetable fibers. London requires taximeters to be connected to the front wheels of taxicabs because the rear wheels do the most slipping.

DISFIGURED WITH CRUSTS

"Some time ago I was taken with eczema from the top of my head to my waist. It began with scales on my body. I suffered untold itching and burning, and could not sleep. I was greatly disfigured with scales and crusts. My ears looked as if they had been most cut off with a razor, and my neck was perfectly raw. I suffered untold agony and pain. I tried two doctors who said I had eczema in its fullest stage, and that it could not be cured. I then tried other remedies to no avail. At last, I tried a set of the genuine Cuticura Remedies, which cured me of eczema when all else had failed, therefore I cannot praise them too highly.

"I suffered with eczema about ten months, but am now entirely cured, and I believe Cuticura Remedies are the best skin cure there is." (Signed) Miss Mattie J. Shaffer, R.F.D. 1, Box 8, Dancy, Miss., Oct. 27, 1910.

"I had suffered from eczema about four years when boils began to break out on different parts of my body. It started with a fine red rash. My back was affected first, when it also spread over my face. The itching was almost unbearable at times. I tried different soaps and salves, but nothing seemed to help me until I began to use the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. One box of them cured me entirely. I recommended them to my sister for her baby who was troubled with tooth eczema, and they completely cured her baby." (Signed) Mrs. F. L. Marberger, Dreherville, Pa., Sept. 6, 1910.

NOW'S THE TIME

The Panama Canal is somewhat more than three-fourths completed. It will be ready for opening on time or somewhat better—that is in three years the Canal will be finished.

Therefore it is becoming urgent that Congress provide immediately for the administration of the Canal and for the terms upon which shipping may use it.

The World's shipping will need to be somewhat enticed, Panama will have a competitor in Suez. The advantages of Panama will have to be advertised, and special advantages will have to be created, such as dry-dockage and coaling facilities.

Now, these things cannot be provided overnight. Neither can shipping be induced in a fortnight to turn Panamawards. A long campaign of publicity will be required. Also ship builders and owners must be given time in order to avail themselves of the opening. They may wish to construct ships for the route, to arrange for traffic going that way. In either event they need at least a two years' notice as to fares, conveniences, terms and such matters.

After completing such a glorious work as Panama, to have the Canal open to be unused for two or three years would be inglorious. Yet that is what must occur, provided that Congress takes no action soon such as we have indicated.

To construct a wide deep ditch across the Isthmus is not enough. It also must be treated as a business proposition. Let Congress exhibit a sound business foresight then, and pass laws putting the administration of the Canal in the hands of the Army Engineer who built it, and who shows his intelligent appreciation of what must be done to make it a success.

MYSTERY IN DOYLE SHOOTING

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 3.—Gerald Doyle, the young attorney of Hammond, Ind., and son of Michael J. Doyle, of Menominee, Mich., who was shot under mysterious circumstances while hurrying through Garfield park shortly after 1 a. m. yesterday will recover. The shooting took place on the eve of his wedding, plans having been made for his marriage next Thursday to Miss Helen Jones of Deperre, Wis., and Doyle asserts that he was hurrying to catch a train for Deperre when he was shot from ambush. He is not seriously wounded, the attending physicians say.

Police of the Fillmore street station who are investigating the mystery, express the opinion that Doyle attempted to commit suicide, although they are unable to advance any motive for such an act, and Dr. John M. Culon, an uncle living at 819 Independence boulevard, says that when Doyle left his home shortly after midnight he was in good spirits and talked enthusiastically of his approaching marriage.

Two policemen assigned from the Fillmore street station to clear away the mystery that surrounds the shooting reported to Capt. John Haines that the coat worn by the young attorney was burned with powder and that a revolver was found near him, which undoubtedly had been used in firing the bullet that lodged in Doyle's right shoulder. The police also scout Doyle's statement that he was hurrying through the park to catch a late train.

One theory that the police are working on, however in addition to that of attempted suicide is that Doyle was mistaken for some one else and that the bullet which has interrupted his wedding plans was not intended for him. At the Robert Burns hospital Doyle told a straightforward story to the doctors and his uncle and aunt.

"I was hurrying through the park intending to catch a late train and go to see my sweetheart," he said. "Suddenly I heard a noise in the bushes near me, they seemed to part and a face that I did not know peered out. Then there was a flash, I felt something sharp in my shoulder and I fell to the ground. I could not say whether I was shot by a man or a woman."

Doyle was found in the park by Dr. M. O. Hoover, 1536 Grand Avenue. The doctor says that he heard a shot as he was driving through the park in an automobile and on investigation found Doyle unconscious in a clump of bushes in the east end of the park, between West Adams and West Monroe streets.

As soon as Doyle recovered consciousness at the hospital he told the tale of being shot from ambush and has stuck to it ever since.

Doyle's father is reported to be hurrying to Chicago, and early in the day he announced over the long distance telephone that he would insist on a thorough investigation by the police. He declared that if the police attempted to explain away the mystery on the theory of suicide, he would "take steps to cause them to change their minds."

He expressed the belief that his son was the victim of an assailant whom he did not know.

Miss Jones was overcome when informed by telephone of the shooting of her fiancé and she at once braced as out of the question the suspicion of the police that Doyle had attempted to kill himself. She protested that her sweetheart was well and happy and his business prosperous, so that there could not have been any motive for self-destruction. Miss Jones said that she received a letter from him yesterday in which he said that he would soon be with her. There was a sigh of relief when she was informed that Doyle would probably recover and she said that she would not come to Chicago unless his condition became serious.

Dr. Cullen, who went to the hospital as soon as he heard of the mystery, said today:

"I cannot understand it. I never knew my nephew to carry a revolver, and he was so well and happy when he called at our house last night that I cannot believe that he attempted suicide. He told me that he was shot by an unknown person and I cannot think otherwise."

Miss Jones was reached at her home at Deperre over the long distance telephone and informed that Mr. Doyle was reported by hospital physicians to be in an encouraging condition. At the time they were probing for the bullet.

"Thank you, very much," she replied.

"Have you received any message from him today?" was asked.

"I do not care to make any statements," she said, in reply, and then called another woman to the telephone who said:

"Miss Jones will not talk."

"At two o'clock this afternoon the surgeons at the hospital announced that they had been unable to find the bullet in Doyle's shoulder. It was admitted that this made the case more complicated but it is probable that an X-Ray examination will be made this afternoon and an effort made to locate the lead before there is any danger of blood poisoning.

Chief of Police Peter Austgen of Hammond, Ind., today denied a report that a Detroit girl had made threats against the life of Doyle as a result of some former love affair.

"We simply heard that he had had some sort of trouble over a girl in Detroit," said the chief. "What it was nobody ever knew. An officer, however ever came down here from Detroit about a year ago and Doyle went to see him and they had a talk together. From what I have heard of the Chicago shooting, I doubt if this had anything to do with it."

IRON TRADE REVIEW

The Iron Trade Review says: In mill operations and sales of finished products, July made a better record than June. The opening days of this month give promise of still further improvement. There is, however, continued irregularity in prices, especially of plates, sheets and bars.

Steel works operations of the various subsidiaries of the United States Steel Corporation are scheduled this week 76 per cent which will represent the highest rate of ingot production during the present year. During the past week, the Steel Corporation was active at 72 per cent of ingot capacity. The addition steel making equipment to go into commission this week is being scattered throughout the different classes of plants. Blast furnace production is fractionally less this week than last, through the shifting of stacks, but it is still better than 65 per cent. One Schoenberger and one Donora furnace in the Pittsburgh district have gone out and one of the Duquesne furnaces has been ordered in this week. The pig iron stocks of the Steel Corporation were reduced 23,000 tons last week. The Cambria Steel Co. is operating all of its blast furnaces and open hearth capacity.

Efforts of some of the southern furnaces to advance quotations on pig iron on the base of $10.25 to $10.50 Birmingham for No. 2 have resulted in checking the buying and $10 iron is still available. In the east, an inquiry for 6,000 tons of basic is pending, and will probably go to Virginia makers. Three inquiries for malleable in the Chicago district, aggregate 20,000 tons. The leading cast iron pipe company is reported to have purchased a considerable tonnage in the south. A central Pennsylvania consumer is reported to have closed for a round tonnage of foundry and forgo iron. Details of the transaction are not available. Basic seems to be firm at $13 valley.

A large amount of structural material will be required for projects which it is expected will soon be under way in western Pennsylvania. The new Field Columbian Museum, Chicago, will require 8,000 tons.

Inquiries for about 10,000 cars are pending at Chicago, where the orders from railroads have been a very material help to the Mills during the past month. The general contract for the Kansas City union station, which will require 8,000 to 10,000 tons of structural material will probably be awarded to the George A. Fuller Co.

THE MAN WHO WINS

Any man can go without many comforts before he can safely dispense with a savings account. It is his paymaster in time of idleness, and his insurance policy against sickness; it is protection for his loved ones in case of death, and above all it is his testimonial of manly self-denial, industry, forethought and independence. Luck and fortune play but little part in the drama of modern industrial life. It is the man who works every day he can, and saves what he can, who wins. He wins because he is the most fit. That is the law.

HERE ARE NEW LAWS PASSED

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 3.—Here are the most important of the laws passed by the recent session of the legislature, and which will go into effect Aug. 2. The list does not include any of the acts that were given immediate effect, or any local acts.

To amend the general banking laws to provide that in case the capital of a state bank becomes impaired the state banking commission may order an assessment against stockholders to repair the deficiency; an act to provide the so-called immunity bath for persons testifying for the state in any trust prosecution; one making it unlawful for any state officer having his salary fixed by law to retain any fees for the performance of his salary.

An act requiring the auditor-general to be made a party in all cases commenced for the purpose of setting aside any sales of state land or delinquent tax; one designating New Year's Day, Memorial day, Fourth of July, Labor day, Thanksgiving day and Christmas, all Saturdays and days designated by the president or governor as public holidays in the schools and requiring schools to hold suitable commemorative exercises on Lincoln's birthday, Washington's birthday and Columbus day; an act relative to the issuance of bonds by school districts; an act amending an act relative to the payment of tuition of pupils and providing for their transportation to another district, of all pupils who have completed the studies of the eighth grade.

Authorizing the insurance of automobiles; providing for the incorporation of insurance companies to insure property against loss or damage by fire; authorizing the state tax commission to investigate tax assessments and employ experts to assist in the valuation; amending the act relative to the incorporation of the Benvolent & Protective Order of Elks; an act amending the act relative to county school commissioners and examiners.

Acts changing the name of the insane asylums of the state to "hospitals," empowering school districts to establish and maintain trade schools, gymnasiums and scholarships and to accept legacies; increasing the fee which an attorney may draw from a county for defending a criminal case when appointed by the court; amending the highway laws; amending the law relative to committing insane persons to the insane hospitals; authorizing boards of supervisors to levy a tax with which to purchase real estate to be used as a site for public buildings; amending the act relative to county schools of agriculture; revising the regulations governing fishing in the big lakes; authorizing clerks of justice courts to sign summonses and subpoenas; repealing an act relative to punishment of the careless shooting of persons by persons in the pursuit of game; amending the law relative to the transportation of baggage on railway trains; providing for physical training in state normal schools and in the public schools of all cities of over 10,000 population; amending the act relative to the prevention of contagion from dangerous diseases; amending an act relative to the protection of game and birds; allowing an action at law on a decree for alimony of a court of another state; prohibiting the sale of certain pistols, explosives, etc.; amending the law relative to the use of voting machines at general elections; prohibiting certain classes of immoral advertising; making it a felony to break or enter any outside showcase; providing for a tonnage tax on steam vessels; providing for lawful netting of dogfish, carp, etc.; providing for a specific tax on mortgages; appropriating $4,000 for the state board of library commissioners.

Acts providing for a specific tax on the stock of certain railroads; restricting and regulating the business of loan sharks; allowing threshers to place a lien on grain which they have threshed; providing for reporting occupational disease; empowering board of supervisors to levy a special tax to be used in advertising the agricultural advantages of a county; to prohibit rebates on insurance policies; providing for placing a bronze tablet on the redwood tree "Michigan" in Yosemite park; making it unlawful for foreign insurance companies to write insurance in this state except through licensed agents; to enable persons between 16 and 21 years of age to contract for life insurance; exempting wood lots used for reforestation, from taxation; declaring telephone companies to be common carriers; releasing Shiawassee county from the expense of maintaining state troops at Durand during railroad strike; providing for the sale of real estate under the license of the probate court; providing for the election of mine inspectors in the upper peninsula; providing for uniform bills of lading for steam railroads and electric lines; providing for the purchase of Michigan coal by state institutions; providing for clerks of justice courts in cities between 25,000 and 100,000 population.

An act revising the state military law to repeal the section making county trustees responsible for the expense of state troops sent into their confines to preserve order; amending the act exempting soldiers' property from taxation; prohibiting the adulteration of turpentine; amending the act relative to the issuance of stock by public utility corporations; prohibiting the hunting of rabbits with ferrets and guinea pigs; providing for employing convicts on state highways; providing for a uniform system of accounting in state and county offices; prescribing the qualifications of telegraph operators, railroad conductors, firemen, brakemen and switchmen; prohibiting the killing of deer in Oakland county until 1920; defining the right of married women to their earnings; authorizing the providing of school books for indigent children.

An act amending the home rule act relative to cities; authorizing the killing of beaver under certain regulations; preventing the adulteration of candies; permitting the use of county drains for disposing of sewage; regulating billiard and pool rooms located outside of incorporated cities and villages; allowing the deposit of county funds in private banks; authorizing the incorporation of shoe dealers' mutual fire insurance companies; limiting the amount of primary school money which certain school districts may draw in the annual apportionment; amending the act relative to the employment of women and children; authorizing school boards to acquire sites for agricultural schools, playgrounds, etc.; authorizing boards of supervisors to borrow money to maintain fair and industrial exhibits intended to assist in the development of the resources of the counties; authorizing the state to condemn private property for public use; authorizing the parole by the governor of a convict who has served 25 years of his sentence; amending the act relative to paying convicts for overtime work prohibiting the issuance of trading stamps; amending the act relative to standard forms of fire insurance policies.

An act requiring the completion of an organization of a bank within three months after the application for state license has been filed, else the application is void; providing for mill commissions and certification of mill approved by the commission; requiring mutual fire, hail and tornado insurance companies to file lists of authorized agents with the insurance department; prohibiting false billing and weights in freight shipments and making it a misdemeanor; to prohibit drivers of milk wagons opening bottles of milk; amending the local option law relative to the sale of liquor by druggists, making the physician responsible for prescriptions issued; amending the act relative to foreign corporations; amending the act relative to minority stockholders; requiring the use of corrugated corks in bottles containing poisons; abolishing sororities and fraternities in public schools; regulating charges for transporting express packages and placing the business under the supervision of the state railroad commission; making it a felony to tamper with a gas, water or electricity meters; amending the general primary election law.

THE PETERSON

The merit of this comedy is in its simplicity and wholesome sweetness from the mirth-provoking character of "Aunt Mary". Even the phlegmatic Englishman of London crowded Terry's Theatre for eight weeks, so great was the success of Miss Robson and her American company.

Aunt Mary's Rejuvenation is effected through her nephew Jack, who is a college boy with astonishing proclivities for trouble, and worrying his aunt, who invariably extracts him from his difficulties. One incident is the beating of a cabman, which turns out expensive, and then a breach-of-promise suit for $15,000 worth of damaged affections, as a climax to the many disagreeable incidents in the career of Jack. Aunt Mary has ceased to be patient; she disinherits her nephew; meanwhile Jack is having a gay time in New York, and has arranged a dinner in honor of the birthday of Betty, his sweetheart. In order to have Aunt Mary at the feast, one of the party telegraphs her that Jack is down sick, in order to hasten her arrival so a reconciliation can be made between her and Jack. Aunt Mary immediately packs up and takes the first train for New York, and bounces into the house expecting to find her dear Jack in bed when she interrupts an expensive dinner. "Betty" lads to make the best of the situation, pretends to be the maid and attaches herself to Aunt Mary, as her personal attendant. The boys are lavish in their attentions, and she swings into place with jolly abandon—even learns to smoke cigarettes and enjoy herself hugely, and when she returns to the seclusion of her home, she misses the hum and bustle of the city and is miserable. She is rich, has vigor and enjoys excitement, why should she cling to solitude? She sends for Betty and Jack follows. They confess to their love and Aunt Mary is really pleased, not for a day, probably, but all the time, most likely.

Miss Robson is supported by the same company appearing with her in London. She will appear at The Peterson this evening.

ALL MUST ENROLL UNDER NEW LAW

Under the amended primary election laws, which went into effect yesterday, everyone must enroll as a member of some political party in order to be eligible to vote at any primary election. This provision applies regardless of whether a voter may have enrolled under the old law, and means that there must be an entire new enrollment before the next primary election day, a year hence.

Opportunity to enroll will be given all voters on the first Monday in April preceding the primary election in August and also on the last Saturday in January of each year. The new law also provides that any qualified elector may become enrolled and be eligible to vote at any primary election if he shall deliver to the city or township clerk or other officer in charge of the enrollment book, a written request for said enrollment accompanied by an affidavit setting forth that he is a qualified elector of the voting precinct and that it is his intention to affiliate with the political party in which he seeks to enroll. However, every voter must enroll at least two months before the date of a primary election in order to be eligible to vote at that election.

The requirement of an entirely new enrollment will serve to clear up the records in this city, as there has been no re-enrollment for many years and the lists are in bad shape. It is likely to result in considerable confusion, however, and unless the new law is given a great deal of publicity, there are likely to be many who will lose their vote at the primary next August, because they have failed to enroll. Once again it may not be out of place to state that enrollment is not registration, and that being registered does not entitle anyone to vote at a primary election.

Pleasure in Everything. If we apply ourselves seriously to wisdom we shall never live without true pleasure, but learn to be pleased with everything. We shall be pleased with wealth as far as it enables us to benefit others; with poverty, in not having much to care for, and with obscurity, for being unenvied.

John Henry Gets A Surprise

By GEORGE V. HOBART

Bunch and I had engaged Skinski to go out on the circuit with his slight-of-hand sketch. We needed the money. Everything was ready to start, and Bunch and I attended to the shipping of all the scenery and props and trick stuff; we were too busy to believe me.

On Wednesday we tried all day to locate Skinski, but he was nowhere. Just before I left home for the fatal scene Peaches said, "I'm so sorry business will keep you in the city this evening, John; but of course I realize you have much to do before we sail on Wednesday. Alice Grey just phoned over that she has a box at a theater somewhere, I didn't ask her where, but if you're sure you won't be home I'll go with Alice and Aunt Martha."

"By all means," I answered, and kissing her good-bye I trolleyed to New Rochelle.

Bunch was there ahead of me and so were Skinski and Ma'moiselle Dodo, all working like beavers.

"I'm going to take the 11:40 to town," Skinski informed us after all was in readiness for the performance. "I have a very important date, haven't I, Dodey?"

"You betcher sweet!" she puffingly replied.

Bunch and I loafed around till about an hour before show time, when we put a young chap we had sworn to secrecy on the door, and then we went back on the stage and began to chatter nervously.

At seven o'clock Dodo came in with one of those sunburst souses, and as she went sailing by to her dressing room she gave us the haughty head and murmured, "You betcher sweet!"

Seven-thirty and no Skinski. I was afraid to tell Bunch what I was thinking, and Bunch was afraid to think for fear he'd spill something. Eight o'clock came and still no Skinski.

It was pitiful.

I began to see visions of an insulted audience reaching for my collar over the prostrate form of my partner in crime.

At 8:15 the orchestra leader came up to see why we didn't ring in and Bunch told him to ring off.

I told Beethoven, or whatever his name was, to tune up and play everything in sight till I gave him the warning.

At 8:20 Ma'moiselle Dodo waltzed out of her dressing room made up to look like a cream puff.

"Where's Skinski?" I shrieked. "It's nearly 8:30 and he's keeping that mob waiting. Isn't he going to show up?"

"You betcher sweet!" she gurgled, and passed on.

At 8:25 I rushed into Skinski's dressing room, put on a swift make-up, dove into Skinski's fright wig, hid my face behind a false moustache and the whole family, and he is going to pay all the expenses for a three months' trip.

"And is that where you invested my few plunks?"

"Water! water!" I gasped faintly, and I meant it, but Peaches thought I was only cutting up.

"I knew you'd be delighted," she capered on; "and it was all I could do to keep from telling you long ago. Uncle Peter says that this is the dull season in your brokerage business and the trip will do you a world of good. You need only take a few hundred dollars for pocket money, and he's going to invest your $5,000 where it will be immensely productive."

I could only sit and listen and pass away.

What would become of Skinski and Bunch and our good money?

How could I ever account for the missing funds without leading Peaches down to Wall Street and showing her the tall buildings they had built with my dough?

And while these dismal thoughts ran through my mind Peaches grabbed that European trip between her pearly teeth and shook the lights out of it.

That night I had an attack of insomnia, neurotic, nervous pro-

BAR 'UNSEXED' DANCE

CLERGY REFUSE TO O. K. THE NEW SEGREGATED WALTZ.

Bishop Says Method Proposed Would Prove Unsatisfactory to Devotees of the "Light Fantastic"—Waltz Alleged Immoral.

Chicago.—Prominent Chicago clergymen, including a bishop, have declined to endorse the views on "unsexed" dancing expressed by H. H. Van Meter, superintendent of evangelistic work of the Christian Endeavor Union, in an address before 200 girl residents of the Chicago Rescue mission.

Mr. Van Meter declared great immorality is caused by the close contact of men and women during the "dreamy" waltz and "rhythmical" two-step, and said the two sexes should be segregated. In this manner, he said, the exercise of dancing might be retained without the attendant dangerous feature as dancing is now conducted.

Bishop C. F. Anderson of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago said Mr. Van Meter's idea might be a good one from a theoretical standpoint, but would prove unsatisfactory to those who found pleasure in "tripping the light fantastic."

"I read part of Mr. Van Meter's address," said Bishop Anderson, "and while I understand the idea he wishes to convey, I think the method he proposes would prove to be impractical."

"As I view the question, I believe dancing would become a dull, uninteresting performance if those who enjoy it were compelled to dance exclusively with their own sex."

"I don't know how to dance, and I am quite sure I would fall utterly in the necessary grace if I tried to dance, but, as an observer, I would say that dancing would lose all its charm for those who like it if it was 'unsexed,' as Mr. Van Meter proposes."

Rev. A. E. Bartlett, pastor of the Church of the Redeemer, is another who does not hold the same views about dancing as does Mr. Van Meter. "Dancing has been practiced for 3,000 years," said Rev. Mr. Bartlett, "and I think it is about time we were compelled to do it."

"It is my opinion that any such change as Mr. Van Meter proposes is altogether unnecessary. Dancing is a legitimate pleasure and in many cases it is a clean, genuine pleasure to those who love music and the poetry of movement."

TWO GIRLS FIGHT FOR LOVER

Battle Proves a Hard One Until One of the Combatants Lands a Solar Plexus.

Providence, R. I.—Reversing the usual order of things two men fighting over a girl, two Swedish maidens met in the ring in a fashionable road-house on the outskirts of Providence, and fought with boxing gloves over a man of whom both were enamored. The affair is now in the hands of the police and it is likely the promoters will be brought to account.

The fight was held after a Swedish masquerade ball in which the young ladies met and passed jealous words over the man in the case. It was suggested that they adjourn to the road-house after the ball and settle the matter. They agreed. Many were tipped off quietly and scores of people were on hand to see the exhibition.

Both girls entered the ring, stripped after the manner of professional boxers. They donned the gloves and went after each other in a manner that delighted the party assembled, every member of which was pledged to secrecy. It was an even fight for two rounds but in the third one girl landed a solar plexus blow and knocked the other fair combatant to the floor where she was counted out.

Didn't Kiss the Widow.

Wilkesbarre, Pa.—Alderman Donohue held Daniel Beardon under bond to keep the peace because he did not kiss Mrs. Mary Burke, a neighbor, after talking of doing so and being so timid that he finally had words with her about it, and Mrs. Burke had him arrested for disorderly conduct. When Alderman Donohue heard the facts he said: "Beardon, all members of the female sex, from their infancy up, like to be kissed. Osculation is one of the necessities of life. I do not consider you gallant in having asked this woman for a kiss and then not taking it."

Fight Fire on 25th Story.

New York.—New York's firemen responded to an alarm for the loftiest blaze they have ever been called upon to fight. It was on the twenty-fifth story of the new municipal building under construction just above City Hall park, a pile of lumber stored for flooring purposes having caught fire. The firemen rode up twenty stories in the construction elevators and from there hose attached to a standpipe was carried up by hand and the blaze was speedily extinguished.

Kitten Has Five Legs.

Marquette, Mich.—A kitten with five legs is a curiosity that is being exhibited by Clary Nadeau of this city. The extra leg projects from the left hind leg and is almost as long as the regular limb. The kitten has perfect control of the extra member, which does not seem to be any obstacle, as the animal shows the most life of the five in the litter.

CURE THAT SORE THROAT

Sore throat is inflammation of the mucous membrane of the throat, and if this membrane happens to be at all sensitive a predisposition to sore throat will exist.

Paxtine Toilet Antiseptic is both a preventative and a cure for sore throat because it possesses extraordinary cleansing, healing and germicidal qualities. Just a little in a glass of water, used as a gargle, will quickly relieve all soreness and strengthen the mucous membrane of the throat, and thus overcome all tendency to sore throat.

Paxtine is far superior to liquid antiseptics or Peroxide for all toilet and hygienic uses.

Paxtine may be obtained at any drug store, 25 and 50c a box, or sent postpaid upon receipt of price by The Paxton Toilet Co., Boston, Mass. Send for a free sample.

GOT THE WRONG MAN

TRAILED SWINDLERS OVER COUNTRY TWO YEARS.

Crooks Who Fleeced Missouri Man Out of $30,000 on Fake Horse Race Reckoned Without Spirit of Revenge.

New York.—After a search lasting for more than two years Thomas W. Baillew, a wealthy merchant of Princeton, Mo., caused the arrest here of James Morton, suspected of being one of a band of wiretappers and "fake" poolroom men, charging him with having been one of the men who assisted in swindling Mr. Baillew out of $30,000 on a spurious horse race. Morton was caught in New York in a spectacular police raid.

From the moment two years ago Mr. Baillew realized that he had been the victim of a swindle he determined to follow the men who fleeced him and to cause their arrest. He has been on their trail ever since and as a result of his trips from one coast of the country to the other 18 men are under indictment in the federal courts of Iowa, where the alleged fleecing of Mr. Baillew was carried out.

According to the story which Mr. Baillew has told the federal investigators, a stranger gained his confidence somewhere in the west nearly three years ago. The stranger gained the confidence of Mr. Baillew to such an extent that he obtained a loan of $500. The loan, it turned out, was the first step of a cleverly laid plan to obtain more of Mr. Baillew's money.

As soon as the time arrived for repaying the $500 the stranger told Mr. Baillew he was unable to meet the debt, but suggested that he knew a way in which an amount far in excess of that which he owed could be obtained. Then, according to Mr. Baillew, the stranger outlined to him a "fixed" race to be run on May 12, 1909, on a road near Council Bluffs, Ia., without the knowledge of the authorities. If Mr. Baillew would bet on a horse whose name the stranger gave there was no possibility of loss, he said.

Mr. Baillew fell in with the plan. He drew $30,000 in cash from a bank, went to see the race and bet on the horse whose name had been given him. Half way over the proposed distance the horse he had bet on was made to stumble, his rider feigned injury and the men who had assisted in duping Mr. Baillew disappeared with his money. They had displayed more in actual cash than Mr. Baillew had bet, in order to convince him the prearranged plan was bound to win. But the man who accepted Mr. Baillew's wager was one of the band, and he disappeared with the others as soon as the horse collapsed.

When the police of Iowa failed to apprehend the men who obtained his money, Mr. Baillew began tracking the band himself. Wherever a wire tapper or "fake" racing man was arrested, Mr. Baillew traveled there in his efforts to seek out those for whom he was searching.

GHOST WHO PLAYS BILLIARDS

Sportive Spirit Plays Many Weird Antics in a Fashionable Meriden, Conn., Clubhouse.

Meriden, Conn.—A ghost that plays billiards and pool, and rings bells and keeps the help on the jump both day and night is worrying Meriden's fashionable Home club and many members threaten to resign.

The ghost has made its presence known every afternoon by ringing the front door bell. The porter finds no one at the door, but soon things start within. The bells in the grill and bar rooms begin to buzz, every number on the indicator showing in order. The water finds no one who has sought spiritual refreshment.

The pool and billiard room is the favorite haunt of the ghost. After night, when players have quit, a ghostly game is played and the balls are heard to crack. Investigating members can find only a sleepy porter catching forty winks.

Dead Woman's Age Secret.

Boston, Mass.—Christie Violette, a wealthy Boston woman who died recently, in her will directs the executor to erect on her lot in Forest Hill cemetery a monument of granite to her memory at an expense of $100, and also a small headstone, and expressly forbids him to have the date of her birth or her age or the name of the place where she was born inscribed on the coffin, monument or headstone.

Can't Will Away Her Child.

New York.—That a mother cannot dispose of her child by will is the ruling of the New York Supreme court here. The court awarded to Leopold McMayer the custody of his little daughter, who the mother had willed should go to the wealthy grandparents. A father's right to the possession of a child, the court explains, is equal to the mother's, and on her death it becomes absolute.

Wolf Plays With Children.

New York.—A big GRAY wolf escaped from a private menagerie at Sheephead Bay and two keepers, assisted by the police, searched from an hour before they found the animal playing quietly with a group of little children in a yard near the water front. The children, believing the wolf to be a new kind of dog, had made friends with him at once when he appeared.

MORE EXCELLENT REPORTS FROM WESTERN CANADA

Grains Are Heading Out Rapidly and Harvest Is Now Approaching With a Great Demand for Harvest Help.

Last week it was pointed out in these columns that there would be a yield of about 200,000,000 bushels of wheat throughout Western Canada, an increase of about 100,000,000 over the previous year, and that the demand for farm help was very great. Confirmation of this news is to hand and the cry still is for more help. The Canadian authorities are hopeful that the friends of the 400,000 or 500,000 Americans who have gone to Canada during the last few years will come to the help of these people and induce as many able-bodied men as they possibly can to take advantage of the low rate which is being offered from all points on the Canadian Boundary, and particulars of which can be had from any of the following Agents of the Canadian Government: M. V. McInnes, 176 Jefferson Avenue, Detroit, Mich.; C. A. Laurier, Marquette, Mich.; J. S. Crawford, Syracuse, N. Y.; Thos. Hetherington, Room 202, 73 Tremont Street, Boston, Mass.; H. M. Williams, 413 Gardner Bldg., Toledo, Ohio; Geo. Aird, 216 Traction-Terminal Bldg., Indianapolis, Indiana; C. J. Brighton, Room 412, M. L. & T. Bldg., Chicago, Ill.; Geo. A. Hall, 2nd Floor, 125 Second Street, Millwaukee, Wis.; E. T. Holmes, 315 Jackson Street, St. Paul, Minn.; Chas. Pilling, Clifford Block, Grand Forks, N. D.; J. B. Carboneau, Jr., 217 Main Street, Blaine, Minn.; J. M. MacLachlan, Box 197, Watertown, S. D.; W. V. Bennett, Room 4, Bee Bldg., Omaha, Neb.; W. H. Rogers, 125 West 9th Street, Kansas City, Mo.; Benj. Davis, Room 6, Dunn Block, Great Falls, Montana; J. N. Grieve, Auditorium Building, Spokane, Wash.

Every facility will be afforded men of the right stamp to secure advantage of these low rates. To those who propose to go, it may be said that they will have this splendid opportunity of securing first hand information as to the excellent producing character of the lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. They will have the opportunity of seeing some of the greatest wheat fields in the world and probably the largest yield of wheat, oats and barley that has ever been grown on the Continent. And all this on land some of which cost the settler only the $10.00 necessary to enter for his homestead, or, if he purchased, in some cases, costing him from $7.00 to $10.00 per acre, but which is now worth from $15.00 to $20.00 per acre. Even at these prices the land is remarkably cheap as will be realized when the statement is made that from 20 to 25 bushels per acre and over of wheat are grown, netting the farmer from $3.00 to $10.00 per acre; and this on land that he got for nothing or paid merely a nominal price. In fact the production shows that $18.00 to $20.00 per acre would be a nominal price for land that would produce as these lands produce.

And Then He Escaped.

"William," said Mrs. Peckem, sternly, "did you ever stop to think that some one might steal me when you are away?"

"Well," responded the poor husband, with a far-away look, "I was a little alarmed when a horse thief was prowling these parts last week."

Mrs. Peckem stiffened up haughtily. "A horse thief, eh?"

"Yes, I heard that he carried off two or three nags from this district." And then Peckem made a bee-line for the door.

Making It Legal.

"We don't know what to do about Piute Pete," said the Crimson Guich citizen. "He was a real good fellow, but he would be careless about shooting up the populace."

"Did you straighten out the matter?"

"To some extent; we elected him sheriff, thereby makin' it look a little more legal."

ISHPEMING TEAM IN GOOD FORM

Ishpeming, Mich., Aug. 3.—It is probable that the postponed game between Ishpeming and Negaunee will not be played this week. Manager Thoren of the Negaunee team yesterday stated that in his opinion the diamond would not be in fit condition for the contest before the end of the week.

It is hinted that it is not the state of the diamond that is the real cause of Negaunee's refusing to play this week. This contention is supported by the following dope; that if the contest were to be played tomorrow or Friday the pitcher who is used tomorrow would not be in the best of form for the crucial series with Escanaba on Saturday and Sunday, and as Mahoney and Rosevear are the only two effective pitchers that Negaunee has at present, this season seems to hold together fairly well.

The locals are at present in the best form of the season, and Manager Ray promises that from now on they will continue to display far better form. He stated that he is satisfied that a pennant winning stride will be struck in Saturday's and Sunday's games with Marquette. If Ishpeming really can hit their old pace at this time first place will not seem so far off. At present only six games separate the leaders and the tailenders, and as there are still twenty more games to be played there are plenty of chances for effecting a big shake up in the percentage column.

Captain Clark yesterday received the hat offered by M. A. Kahn to the player having the highest batting average on August 1st. If Clark continues to keep at the head of the local list until after Saturday's game he will receive the pair of King Quality shoes offered by Johnson Bros.

This was agreed upon by the managers of the teams yesterday.

FRAIL WOMAN KILLS WORTHLESS HUSBAND

San Francisco, Aug. 3.—Unable, she says, "to make a man" of her husband, Anna Langley, a frail woman, ninety years old, shot and killed him today. They had been married fifteen months.

Early today James Langley left home, saying he did not intend to return. Mrs. Langley bought a revolver and started on a hunt, finding him in a saloon. According to bystanders, Langley turned on her with a torrent of abuse. Without a word the girl wife fired four shots. One struck Langley, and he died on the way to a hospital Mrs. Langley was arrested. "I do not see why I should be detained," she said at the city prison. "I did nothing wrong and I am not sorry." She said she had supported the man since their marriage.

Wolgast never goes through a long training siege—he doesn't have to, as he keeps himself near to fighting condition all the time. He figures that two weeks will be a sufficiently long time for him to work for McFarland and says that this amount of training will send him into the ring in the best of shape.

MICHIGAN FARMERS TO HARVEST GREAT CROPS

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 3.—The greatest crop of farm products in the history of the state will be harvested in Michigan this year.

The fruit crop will be exceptionally large, the absence of late frosts giving the trees a chance to blossom early. The wheat crop will be 2,000,000 bushels larger than in 1910, and will approximate 15,000,000 bushels. Beans first reported dead because of the dry and hot weather, will show a yield of 2,000,000 bushels, or 1,500,000 bushels greater than the 1910 record of 6,500,000 bushels. Late potatoes are showing good, state authorities estimating a 24,000,000 bushel yield. The early potato crop was a failure, because of the drought. The sugar-beet crop will be worth $7,000,000, or $1,000,000 more than last year, or $2,000,000 more than in 1909.

Climatic conditions throughout the winter, spring and summer have been entirely favorable to all growing crops. In the western part of the state, or the orchard of Michigan, but few fruit trees were winter killed. It was the first spring in years that reports of the "fallure of the peach crop because of a severe winter or late frosts" were not made. There are more farmers in Michigan now than ever before and a greater acreage is being given over to all crops. The wheat acreage last fall was considerably larger than in previous years, and the crop was advanced to such a point that the hot weather of July brought it to ripeness properly.

RICHMOND HOBSON WOULD BE SENATOR

Washington, Aug. 3.—Captain Richmond Pearson Hobson, hero of the Merrimac and now serving his third term as a member of the national house, has announced that he would be the wearer of a senatorial toga. This is making the politicians of Democratic Alabama take notice and none of them more than Senator Joseph F. Johnston—that witty old raconteur who keeps the cloakrooms of the Capitol in good humor many successive days of a congressional session. For it is Johnston's seat that Hobson covets and that he has already informed the Alabama people he will ask them to give him a primary to be held next year.

Rumor runs that Hobson will have no walk away. The glamour of his Spanish war achievements has now worn off. He has made a good representative in so far as looking after the thousand and one little congressional errands are concerned. But it is said that Alabama folks have gotten as tired as has congress of Hobson's bombastic ways and his thuddeous alarms about prospective foreign wars. He has been of almost no utility in the serious work of law making at the Capitol. As a former naval constructor, he has been able occasionally to give the house some expert information, but his eccentricities of view have impaired the confidence of the house in his good judgment.

If that new campaign publicity bill which the senate has just enacted along with a strong corrupt practices provision as an amendment, becomes law within the next two or three weeks, as seems probable, it will be binding on some half-dozen senators who are running this year. Virginia is in the midst of a red-hot primary campaign for the designation of two United States senators, who will be required to file with the federal authorities an account of their expenses.

Senator Le Roy Percy of Mississippi is running like a scared rabbit, for a re-election, with ex-Governor Vardaman as his opponent, and the primary vote there is to be held before long. In these and still other states, where senators are designated on an "off year," the law will be given a good trying out immediately after its completion. As it is a very sweeping and radical enactment, this is probably fortunate, because at the session of Congress next winter there will be opportunity for making any needed amendments.

In their big contest, next year, for the control of the senate, it will be literally true that the Democrats will have everything to gain and little or nothing to lose. In a class of 31 senators, whose terms expire March 3, 1913, and whose successors will be elected during the next eighteen months or thereabouts, there are only thirteen Democrats. Of that number there is but one Democratic seat that the Republicans have any chance of winning. It is the seat of Senator Watson of West Virginia. That state is normally Republican.

The states that will have the election of successors to Democratic senators are Alabama, Georgia, Kansas, Texas, Louisiana, Virginia, Oklahoma, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee. However decisive the elections may be next year, it is very certain that for the first half of the next administration neither party can have very much of a majority in the Senate. The congressional travellers, who have frequented New England during the summer capital regime of the two previous seasons will not be a feature of the Beverly landscape this year. The president will wind up practically all his business with senators and representatives and they with him before Congress adjourns. The lawmakers will be as anxious to avoid a journey to Beverly as he will be to have his days and evenings free from official cares.

Apart from the fact that the president will be absent from Beverly some of the time, especially if he cruises along the Maine coast, he is to travel into many states of the West in the autumn and that will afford the congressmen opportunities to talk with him about politics and patronage in advance of the regular session of next December.

DESCRIBES FIGHT TO SAVE STEAMER

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Aug. 3.—John H. Hanson, a local compass adjuster, was one of the 18 people who suffered hardships on the ill-fated steamer Rappahannock, that went down last Monday night in Jackfish bay. Hanson who has just arrived here, tells the following story of the loss of the boat:

"With lifeboats ready to be manned and with eight feet of water in the hold the crew stuck by the captain in an effort to save the Rappahannock. The boat left the port early in the morning of July 24. It began to get choppy and soon a heavy sea was rolling and the wind blew a gale. The barge Montezuma was a lug on the steamer and about 75 miles north of Whitefish Point on the Kenewa course Captain Rattray tried to head into the wind in order to ease the barge. The latter failed to come up and the tow line parted. An effort was made to lay to near the Montezuma, but about 3 o'clock it was found that the Rappahannock had begun to leak badly, gaining four inches an hour. The seas stove in the starboard side, filling the cabin and the stoke hole.

"At 11 o'clock the mate reported seven feet of water in the hold. At 5 o'clock the engineer could not get to his feed pumps so high had the water risen.

"Suddenly the water went forward a bulkhead must have been smashed and the starboard side began to bulge. Later she again filled up. Then it was that Captain Rattray called his men together and asked them what should be done. He asked whether they would stay with him on the Rappahannock or give her up and take to the boats.

"To a man they said they would stick to the boat as long as possible and try to beach her. Captain Rattray then told his men that although the chances were poor and it looked as if the Rappahannock was a dangerous proposition to stick to, he would endeavor to beach her. He asked if they were with him and they declared they were as long as there was anything to stick to.

"I have sailed both salt and fresh water for the past 22 years, but I never saw a bunch of men with more real stuff in them than the Rappahannock's crew and I never saw more loyalty to captain and owners. When the old boat looked as if she might break in two at any minute the fireman took of their life belts and picked coal of the water with their hands to keep the fires going. About 11 o'clock Monday night we finally found a place where the shore appeared to be free from rocks. Here Captain Rattray beached the Rappahannock, the crew and himself exulting that they had accomplished their purpose.

"Where she went on there was about 22 feet of water forward and about 50 feet under her stern. The captain sounded and began to fear the Rappahannock was going to slide. He ordered all the men off and we had just reached shore when a part of the Rappahannock's stern broke away. Then she broke amidship and slid back into the deep water with a roar as her hatches blew off. We had no provisions with us except a loaf of water soaked bread. We made a fire and dried our clothing as best we could, then we slept until daybreak."

THE BIJOU.

After being dark for about three months the Bijou was again thrown open to the public last night. The house was packed to the sidewalk at each performance.

Probably the biggest feature now at the popular little play house is the motion picture "The Way of the Eskimo," which was taken near Portage point last winter. The picture last night drew rounds of applause each time it was thrown on the screen.

BEER QUESTION WON'T BE ACTED UPON JUST YET

Washington, Aug. 3.—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley's board of food and drug inspection today concluded its hearing on the question, "What is beer?" Still somewhat unenlightened, however, it will continue to gather information from chemists and brewing experts before announcing a decision.

Some idea of the attitude of the authorities toward the beers now sold may be derived from a letter written by Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, produced at today's hearing by John R. Mauff, of Chicago, representative of the National Consumers' league as well as of the barley growers of Wisconsin and Minnesota, who insist on the superiority of their product over corn and other grains used. The letter was written Jan. 24, 1911, to an Indianapolis barley dealer, and Secretary says:

"I have just been interviewing our chemists and pure food experts along barley lines, and it is in their minds and mine to reach something definite with regard to what beer is. We could require that beer made from anything else but barley should have a label showing its component parts; I think we can go that far if we find that his beers injurious to the public health are being made, we could declare them adulterant and stop the interstate trade in them. It seems to be a subject concerning which our people know less than of almost anything else, but I have been urging inquiry into it. I am in sympathy with you along this line. Investigation will bring out the facts, and we will have an investigation made."

Lawrence Maxwell of Cincinnati, former United States solicitor general and now representative of thousands of corn growers in the Middle West, protested against the movement to label specifically the beers made from products other than barley malt and hops.

Asked by A. Slaughter of the Wisconsin state board of the American Society of Equity whether he would object to the labeling of all beers, Mr. Maxwell declared that labels were unnecessary, that President Taft in his decision on "What is Whiskey?" had laid down the rule that no liquor need be labeled as to its component parts. "Beer is beer," said Mr. Maxwell, in conclusion.

Mr. Mauff read from advertisements of brewers claiming that their beers were made from barley malt and hops when in reality none of these ingredients was used. One advertisement said: "If you only knew what we know about beer, you would drink no other than our beer."

"Yes," continued Dr. Wiley, "Maybe if we knew what they know about beer we wouldn't drink any beer at all."

FIANCEE HASTENS TO LOVER'S BEDSIDE

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Miss Helen Jones, who hurried to Chicago from her home in De Pere, Wis., when her fiance, Gerald Doyle, an attorney, was mysteriously shot while in Garfield Park, today announced her intention of going through the marriage ceremony as soon as Mr. Doyle recovers from his wound.

In a statement made today at the hospital, Mr. Doyle declared that he believed that his assailants are the same persons who severely beat him in Menominee, Mich., several months ago as a result of litigation over a business deal.

Michael J. Doyle of Menominee, father of the wounded lawyer, arrived in the city during the afternoon and after an interview with his son expressed the opinion that the young man had shot himself.

"I don't think he wanted to commit suicide, but I think he wanted to injure himself sufficiently to arouse sympathy and to postpone his marriage," said the father. "He has been speculating on the board of trade and has lost heavily."

Man's Best Friend. State appellate court rules that a dog sleeping in a hallway is not a public nuisance. Can't imagine anywhere else that a sleeping dog would be a nuisance.

The Boy's Day of Joy. After all, no girl can ever experience such a sense of triumph as comes to a boy when he discovers that he actually needs a shave.

JAP HERO ARRIVES

New York, Aug. 3.—A government cutter met the Cunarder Lusitania when she steamed up the bay last evening and when the great ship lay to at quarantine, Captain Templin M. Potts, U. S. N., sprang aboard to extend the greeting of President Taft to Admiral Count Helbachiro Togo, chief of the naval staff of the Japanese empire and victor of the battle of the Sea of Japan, who will spend seventeen busy days in "doing" America.

A series of receptions and entertainments has been arranged for the doughty admiral and his staff by the most prominent people in the official life of the country, and but few royal princes who have visited this country have been accorded such a welcome as will be extended to the Japanese patriot. For weeks official Washington has been astir in anticipation of his coming. Dinners, luncheons, sight-seeing tours, visits to the military and naval stations in the vicinity of New York, and entertainments by prominent bodies of Japanese will take up his time. Wherever he may elect to go a courteous Washington official will be at his elbow to see that his every want is satisfied.

Immediately after he is comfortably located in a hotel, Major-General Grant, in command of Governor's Island, will wait upon him and on his return visit will salute him with nineteen guns. Admiral Togo will receive a like salute when he calls upon Rear Admiral E. H. O. Leuts, the commandant of the New York navy yard, as well as from the warships that may happen to be in port at the time and are visited by the Japanese delegation.

The program for Admiral Togo's entertainment while in America has not been made fully public, but he will be the guest of honor at many notable functions, among them a dinner at the White House and a luncheon given by Secretary of State Knox. The Nippon club of New York and the Japanese Society of America will also be his hosts. One of the most interesting of his visits of inspection will be paid to the New York navy yard, where the new battleship Florida lies nearly completed. Other points of interest in the admiral's itinerary will be the navy and army schools at Annapolis and West Point respectively. Here the summer cadet camps will be paraded before him in review and displays of skill and prowess arranged for his entertainment.

When he leaves New York Admiral Togo will go to Washington where he will be entertained by President Taft, Secretary of the Navy Meyer, and Secretary of State Knox, among others. He will also go to Mount Vernon to place a wreath on the tomb of Washington. From Washington Admiral Togo will return to New York and after a few days will leave for Canada, via Niagara Falls. After seeing the falls he will proceed to Vancouver, B. C., where he will board a trans-Pacific liner on his return to Japan.

She Wanted to Know. At one of the public schools in the city of Hamburg a little girl eleven years old asked her teacher who named Adam and Eve. It's what we'd all like to know, but as the teacher couldn't answer the question she complained of the child and had her punished, and lost her place as teacher in consequence. The school board said it was all right for anyone to find out if he could. Can you tell?

Probably Holds Record. Mr. Elias Taylor, parish clerk of Felsted, England, has retired on reaching the age of ninety, after fifty-one years of service. During his term of office he daily ascended the church tower to sound the clock. He discharged that duty 18,500 times, and climbed 100 miles of stairs.

THE GRAND.

To pick the head liners of the three big acts at the Grand the last half of this week would be impossible, as they are all fine.

Margaret Marlow and her four pick-anninies are good. Miss Marlow has an excellent voice and the pick-anninies are all good dancers.

Michelangelo does things with old rags that make one sit up and take notice. His picture of Napoleon on his way to the island of St. Helma is great.

Harris and Hilliard, in "The Winning Miss," scored a hit at all performances yesterday. Both have good voices and good selections.

REPORT OF INSURANCE PROBE TO BE STARTLING

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 3.—Startling information relatives to the methods of certain casualty companies doing a industrial health and accident insurance business are expected as a result of the investigation which the leading state insurance departments of the country are making at present. It became known here today that Commissioner Palmer of Michigan, who went to New York Sunday to attend a meeting of the investigation committee, of which he is chairman, has been astounded by the revelations which preliminary investigations has brought out.

"The meeting was called, it is understood, for the purpose of discussing further steps to be taken and the scope of the examination necessary to determine what action, if any can be taken against certain of the companies, not all of them being involved. It is understood that some of the companies have made it a practice to settle with the beneficiaries of this class of policies at less than their face value, inducing people without knowledge as to their rights under their policy to accept less in settlement than they are entitled to. It is alleged that some companies have made it a practice to charge applicants fees for policies which could not be legally collected.

An instance of the method of operation of certain companies is related in which the widow of a policy-holder was paid $100 in settlement of a $500 policy, the company alleging that while her husband was paying the rate of insurance for non-hazardous employment, he met death in a way which placed him in the hazardous occupation class and, under the premium paid, she was only entitled to $100.

New York, Aug. 3.—"Dorothy Arnold is not dead; she is abroad and her parents have gone there to look for her. That is all that can be said definitely now."

Miss Griffith, companion to Mrs. Rufus W. Peckham, Dorothy's aunt, is today quoted to this effect in a dispatch to the World from Biddford Pool, Maine.

"Miss Arnold was heard from some weeks ago—yes, months ago—in an indirect—might say, very indirect—manner," Miss Griffith continues. "The information came that she was abroad and it was concluded that further information would follow."
