CATHOLIC COLONY MAKERS ORGANIZE

Final details of an international colonization project directed by the Catholic church were arranged Tuesday at a meeting of the board of directors of the Catholic Colonization Society of the United States in Chicago. Officers were chosen, the charter was ratified, and the work of the society outlined.

The plans of the founders of the society, the Catholic archbishops and bishops of the United States, embrace a scheme for controlling desirable immigration from foreign countries and establishing of Catholic colonies in various parts of this country. The work is not to be carried on exclusively for the benefit of immigrants, as all Catholics who desire to leave the congested centers for life on a farm are encouraged to join one of several settlements or colonies that are being established. At least one of these colonies will be established in the upper peninsula of Michigan, and will be known as Belgia Rev. Father Jodocy, of this city, is actively identified with this colonization movement.

The officers of the society are: Director general, the Most Rev. J. J. Glennon, archbishop of St. Louis; vice director general, the Most Rev. S. G. Messmer, archbishop of Milwaukee; president, the Rev. Julius E. De Vos, Chicago; vice president, the Right Rev. Mgr. D. J. McMahon, New York; secretary, the Very Rev. Edward J. Vattmann, Wilmette, Ill.; treasurer, the Rev. Andrew Spetzer, Chicago.

The society is not organized for profit. Its chief work is that of widening Catholic membership by establishing new parishes, and at the same time preventing Catholics from scattering among those of other denominations.

To facilitate the work of the society it has been divided into three branches. The first of these is called the national society, and has for its object the location of desirable lands open for colonization and placing them before the Catholic population of this country and immigrants that annually arrive.

A division known as the Racial Societies has been formed to work among the different nationalities in Europe and in this country. Co-operation with the Catholic clergy of Europe and the appointment of officials known as "chaplains of emigration" to work among persons intending to come to the United States are features of the Racial societies.

The work begins among the emigrants before they take passage to the United States, and when they land here they are protected from the dangers that might result from their ignorance of the language and customs of the country.

The third division is the diocesan societies, through which reliable information of the character of the lands in each colony can be obtained.

MIGHT WORK WELL IN MARQUETTE SCHOOLS

At various times during the past two years there has been some talk of introducing a system of medical inspection in the public schools of this city, but a resolution endorsing the plan seems to be as far as the matter has gone. Duluth is the nearest city where the school pupils undergo a medical examination, though the system is rapidly being extended throughout the United States.

Everywhere comes the report that its results have been to show that a very large percentage of children are afflicted with some ailment, which retards their progress, but which usually responds quickly to medical or surgical treatment. What little evidence is at hand indicates that the boys and girls of Escanaba are no exception. Though no data has been made public, it is understood that some of the public school officials have made some investigations along that line, and have become convinced that the backwardness of many Escanaba children is due to some bodily ailment.

As already stated, the results of medical inspection where it has been given a fair trial have been highly satisfactory, as a fair illustration of which the following letter, written by a superintendent of schools in a New England city is reprinted:

"We have medical inspection in our city, though usually not compulsory, parents in most cases being allowed to have a child exempt on request. In a few cases not only inspection but treatment is compulsory. We found over 400 cases of pediculosis last year, for instance, and actually forced parents to kill or remove the parasites. Last week we found a little girl with a large abscess in the ear. In the opinion of three ear specialists her life was in great danger; without treatment, indeed, they considered it probable that the child would soon die. The child has no father. The mother refused to have anything done. Under threat of arrest she allowed the child to go to a hospital, where she is likely to come out all right, though not yet out of danger. I have just come within an hour from a school where I found a little girl of five with an ulcer in the eye. The parents had been informed and refused to do anything. The child's condition was pitiable, not to use a stronger word. I shall have the case inspected by the best man in the city and if they report the need to be as great as it appears I shall actually try to force not only examination, but treatment. In 1910 we found a dozen cases of tuberculosis. I feel sure that our discovery saved the lives of five. Two have gone to a free home for consumptives, where, as per their letters, they are 'growing fat.' Three have been sent to a state sanitarium, where all are improving. Five went to a tuberculosis camp, where all were benefited. All were cared for in some way.

disease, bad cases. Their parents did not know that help was possible. When told, they gladly cooperated in sending the children to a hospital, where after nearly a year of treatment, both bid fair to entirely recover ability to walk. These are a few of the more striking cases in which I am sure we saved life, restored health, gave power to work, relieved pain and added happiness. In all we secured treatment for over 1,100 children.

"And strange as it may seem, parents generally like it! Many of them are very earnest in their expressions of gratitude. A few objected to interference with their personal liberty to keep their children as lousy as they pleased and the mother of the child with an ulcer in the ear swore at the officer who appeared before her with a warrant charging cruelty to a child, but they are the rare exceptions."

LIL RUSSEL EXPECTS TO BE ABLE TO SEE HER TOES AGAIN SOON WITHOUT SUFFERING PAIN

Atlantic City, Aug. 4.—Lillian Russell, the actress, believes she now is in a position to keep on charming for many years to come. The fair Lillian has discovered a remedy by which she is able to overcome the flesh which has been her bugaboo for several years.

Some weeks ago Miss Russell suffered from a pain. She didn't wish to have a fire started in her Chelsea cottage, but she did want to get warm. As a last resort she thought of the electric lights with which her cottage is lighter. She attached several of them to a long insulated wire and, wrapping herself in a blanket, she placed the lighted globes beneath the blanket and next to her feet.

This heroic treatment she continued for three days, and at the end of the third day discovered that not only had she overcome the pain, but she had reduced a slight ailment which had been annoying her. Prior to the electric treatment the fair lady had almost given up hope of ever seeing her toes again.

The discovery once made the treatment was continued. After several weeks she declares she has lost about 15 pounds.

MERRY CHICAGO FOOTPADS MAKE VICTIM LAUGH AND JOKE AS THEY GO TO PLUNDER HIS RESIDENCE

Chicago, Aug. 4.—Being held up was a laughing matter to Herman Freeman last night, but it was no joke at that.

Freeman laughed at the command of a masked robber who pressed a revolver against his body.

Freeman had left his home at 11 o'clock to mail a letter. As he approached the corner two masked men confronted him and commanded him to hold up his hands. Just as the command was given one of the robbers caught sight of a policeman approaching.

"Laugh, or I'll bore you through" commanded one of the robbers, as he pressed the gun into Freeman's side. Freeman laughed.

"Now turn and walk with us and keep up a pleasant conversation," was the next order.

The trio turned and walked ahead of the policeman, engaged in animated conversation punctuated with guffaws and laughter. Freeman helped along with the guffaws, he told the police last night.

The robbers marched Freeman to his own house, took him into the hallway and there robbed him of his valuables.

FATHER TALKS ON SHOOTING MYSTERY

Green Bay, Wis., Aug. 4.—Attorney M. J. Doyle, father of Gerald Doyle, who was injured by a bullet in Chicago, made a statement in Chicago, according to the Milwaukee Sentinel, in which he explained a motive that he believes his son might have had for trying to wound himself, although not commit suicide. The Chicago dispatch in the Milwaukee paper is as follows: "My boy shot himself so that he would enlist my sympathy. He has probably lost a lot of money on the board of trade and knowing that his marriage was imminent, saw financial troubles looming ahead. He did not try to kill himself. I intend to make him tell the truth."

This statement was made on Wednesday by Attorney Michael J. Doyle, of Menominee, Mich., father of Gerald A. Doyle, who was mysteriously shot in Garfield park while on his way to catch a train for the home of his fiancée, Miss Helen Jones, in De Pere, Wis., where he was to be married on Thursday.

The wedding may take place in the hospital. Miss Jones says she will marry Doyle as soon as he recovers. Mr. Doyle said that his son was anxious to "get rich quick," and that this had caused him to get into financial trouble on several occasions.

"Gerald would have no reason for doing anything which would cause him to postpone his marriage to Helen," said Mr. Doyle. "I believe that he will tell me the truth, after I have talked with him for awhile. A year ago he lost money on the board of trade and came to me for assistance. I warned him against speculation."

"I suppose that he got caught again and was afraid to tell me of his troubles. For that reason, I believe, he planned to wound himself slightly and thought that while he was ill he would tell me his troubles and I would not reproach him. He and Miss Jones will be married, as they are much in love with each other and this little tragedy should not be allowed to wreck their lives."

MAY ROBSON SCORES IN BRIGHT COMEDY

Miss May Robson and supporting company, who appeared before a capacity audience at the opera house last evening, not only succeeded in rejuvenating "Aunt Mary" but also in driving dull care away from all who witnessed the pretty little play. People who witnessed the "Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary" last night are not surprised that Chicago, New York and London went crazy over it, for the play is one of the cleverest, most wholesome comedies seen in this city in many a day.

Miss Robson as "Aunt Mary" plays the part of an elderly maiden lady of the whole-souled, big-hearted New England type, who is much perturbed over the many escapades of her nephew, who is attending college in New York, until she herself is induced to make a visit to the big city. Her nephew to whom she has always been a mother, and his friends, see that "Aunt Mary" is given a taste of real New York life, and her stay is a constant round of dining, winning and merriment. Strange as it may seem, "Aunt Mary" becomes a Roman among Romans and enjoys the "rejuvenation" fully as much as her hosts. After three weeks, she goes back home, but she has tasted city life and is dissatisfied with her former surroundings.

Eventually, she finds her way back to New York and presumably lives near her nephew and his charming wife, whose love story is one the threads by which the story is bound together into a continuous plot.

The part of "Aunt Mary" gives Miss Robson much opportunity to show her wonderful versatility as a comedienne. With her delightful wholesomeness and originality, she had her audience laughing one minute and ready to weep the next, oftentimes merely changing her facial expression without saying a word.

Supporting Miss Robson is an exceptionally strong and well behaved company. The leading man is Jack Storey, who takes the part of a reckless, care free, yet good hearted college boy, to perfection. Fay Cusick, with whom Jack is madly in love, is beautiful and her acting fascinating. Paul Decker, Arthur Deering and John McMahon, as college boys and pals of Jack, each represents a distinct and wellknown type, and does it well. The minor parts are in capable hands and the play as presented last evening was amusing and refreshing.

PLOT TO RESTORE DIAZ UNEARTHED

Mexico City, Aug. 4.—A plot has been discovered to return former President Porfirio Diaz, and re-establish him a dictator of Mexico, in case of a cabinet crisis, and many arrests are being made. The conspiracy is said to have been hatched out in the states of Nuevo Leon and Sinaloa where 300 arrests have been made to date, the most of them in the capital cities of Montgomery and Cullacan.

The Maderista are taking strong measures against the counter revolution following the announcement of General Bernardo Reyes' candidacy for the presidency. Forty-five hundred Maderista soldiers have established permanent camps in the states of Guerrero, Jalisco, Oaxaca and Campeche, strongholds of the new uprising.

Reports of disorder caused by starvation are coming in constantly at Huittalao, state of Morelos, soldiers looted the town, getting 5,000 persons with which to get food.

Announcement is made that Minister of the Interior Vasquez Gomez a Maderista, intends to resign and that his place will be filled by Manuel Calero.

Gen. Bernardo Reyes said last night that within three days he would formally announce his candidacy against Madero.

Francisco I. Madero had written General Reyes that he was willing to release him from his promise to be the minister of war in his cabinet, if elected, and told him that he would not consider his determination to oppose him in the election an unfriendly act. At that time, however, the general declared he would not enter the race, saying that he feared the entry of an opposition candidate would be followed by armed strife.

NEW DUTIES TELL ON JUSTICE HUGHES SO HEAVILY THAT HIS FRIENDS DON'T RECOGNIZE HIM

New York, Aug. 4.—Ignoring the biblical injunction against "trimming the corners of thy beard," Charles Evans Hughes, now associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, made his first official appearance in New York today since he resigned the governorship with his hirsute adorning mowed into a vandy effect.

And the gray strands have multiplied in it, too, as if hard work in the cramped cloister of the august tribunal he now adorns does not agree with him. The justice appears appreciably to have lost flesh, also.

The springiness of his step is not as notable as it used to be, nor is the sprightliness of his spirit so pronounced. Altogether he is so changed in looks that old friends had to gaze on him twice today before being able to satisfy themselves that it was he.

Mr. Justice Hughes came over to New York to preside over the hearings in the question of increasing postal rates on magazines and other periodicals by the committee appointed the President Taft under a resolution adopted by the sixty-first congress. His associates are Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard, who on first glance can be easily mistaken for Theodore Roosevelt, and H. A. Wheeler of Chicago.

The commission held its sessions in the court room of the United States circuit court of appeals, in the federal building. Postmaster-General Hitchcock, with two assistant postmaster generals, Messrs. Stewart and John J. Britt, was present to urge the adoption of his insistent demand for the increase. All three of them made earnest appeals for raising the rate to an amount that virtually would drive scores of publications out of business. Frequently they were interrupted by sharp questions by Mr. Hughes, which showed that he has retained his famous inquisitorial facilities.

Mr. Hitchcock reiterated his opinion that full rates should be charged for the advertising pages of periodicals carried as second class matter. The ultimate end in view, he said, was the advancement of the rates to cover the full cost of carriage and handling of this class, although he did not advocate the immediate adoption of the policy. He would give the publishers ample time in which to adjust themselves to the changed conditions.

Explaining that the final statistics of postal transactions for 1911 were not yet available, Mr. Hitchcock presented a mass of figures taken from the report of 1910.

"During 1910," he said, "there were carried in the mail 8,310,164,823 pieces of first class mail, consisting of letters, other sealed matter and postal cards. The cost of handling and carrying this mail was $36,792,511.35, while the postal charge was $154,796,668.08 leaving a clear profit of $88,004,156.73.

"During the same year there were carried 4,326,259,864 pieces of second class matter, newspapers and other periodical publications. The cost of handling and carrying was $30,791,615.03, while the postage was only $10,167,344.10.

The self-supporting condition of the postoffice department, Mr. Hitchcock said, is made possible only by the fact that other classes of mail, particularly the first class, are excessively taxed to make up the loss caused by inadequate charge on the second class. The postmaster-general declared in conclusion that his scheme for increasing the second class rate would result in one-cent postage for letters.

The hearing will be continued tomorrow when it is expected the publishers will present their side of the case.

CONGRESSMAN SAYS IT'S LEGAL ROBBERY

Washington, Aug. 4.—Representative Witherspoon of Mississippi, speaking today on the cotton tariff revision bill, characterized as "legal robbery" a tariff which raises more revenues than are necessary to defray the public expenses.

"Then," he charged, "as a compensation to the overburdened mill, it proposes to rob the American laborer, professional man and other classes of the consuming public to the extent of making the cotton mills' profits as large or larger."

"KEEP TO THE RIGHT"

READ THE ESCANABA MORNING PRESS

The paper that prints the news when it is news.

The only paper in Escanaba that guards its columns against matter unfit for the home.

If Its True and Clean You See it FIRST in the Escanaba Morning Press

In two years the Morning Press has achieved the largest circulation of any newspaper in Delta county. This record has been made not with contest or premium schemes, but

Because---The Morning Press is newsy

Because---The Morning Press refuses publication to matter unfit to be read by women and children

Because---The publishers of The Morning Press give full value for the money of their patrons

Because---The publishers of the Morning Press do not take away what should go into the value of the paper by offering illusive voting contest and premium schemes.

The Escanaba Morning Press is the most popular advertising medium in Delta Co.

Because---It reaches 20,000 readers daily

Because---It covers a field untouched by another Delta county newspaper

Because---It is the paper that all people read for news when it is news

DROUGHT PROVES DRY FARMING A SUCCESS

Cheyenne, Wyo., Aug. 4.—The long, hot drought through which the trans-Missouri country has just passed, demonstrated as nothing else could do the value to the plains country of the system of agriculture called "dry farming."

It showed the farmers of Wyoming, Western Nebraska and Colorado that if they would be successful they must adopt to a certain extent the system which has been worked out by the scientific agriculturists. In fact, dry farming this season proved the salvation of the corn and wheat crop in many sections of the West.

Briefly, the system is simply to conserve and to get the benefit of every drop of water that falls. The winter rains and the melted snows sink into the soil. Then the dry farmer keeps the surface of the ground broken up, and so prevents the moisture from being absorbed into the air. Where the surface hardens and dries, all the water will evaporate, but if the surface be pulverized the small pores of the earth are broken and the water can not evaporate.

And that is the simple system which this year has proven itself of inestimable benefit to Western farmers, and which thousands of others will adopt, not that its practical benefit has been so clearly shown.

The system is not intended for corn alone, but for wheat, oats and, in fact for any grain which farmers plant.

As an example of what the process will do many cited the case of Arthur H. Youmans of Brock. Youmans has just threshed the wheat which he cultivated by the "dry farming" method. As a result, he harvested fifty-two bushels to the acre for forty acres. Surrounding farmers harvested from fifteen to nineteen bushels per acre.

All planted under the same conditions, the soil was similar and from all indications the yield should have been the same. But Youmans cultivated his wheat by the dry farming method, and the other farmers handled theirs as their fathers did before them. Youmans harrowed his wheat fields time after time, keeping the surface of the soil broken and pulverized and preventing the evaporation of the moisture. His neighbors put their wheat in, harrowed it once and left it to the mercies of nature.

The rains failed, and when the hot winds blew the neighbors' wheat went down as before a prairie fire. And Youmans' wheat stood the drought without flinching. When the harvest time came around Youmans' harvested fifty-two bushels to the acre and his neighbors garnered less than one-third as much.

With his corn Youmans will have even better success than with wheat. His neighbors plow their corn twice and then "laid it by." Not so with Youmans. He harrowed his corn twice, plowed it four times with an ordinary cultivator, twice with a small shoveler cultivator and will continue to play it as long as the corn needs it.

When the soil in his neighbors' fields was baked brown and carried a hard crust on its surface. Youmans' corn fields were four inches deep in dust. The moisture evaporated from his neighbors' fields, but remained down below the dust in his own. And when the hot winds blew the neighbors' corn folded up its blades and withered under the fierce heat.

DREAM PREVENTS FLAT HOUSE FIRE

New York, Aug. 4.—It was fortunate for the 100 or more tenants in the five-story building at 307 East Ninth street that Maurice Troman the janitor, had a bad dream at 3 o'clock this morning. Troman has an apartment on the ground floor with a window opening into the hall.

As he awoke with a start from his dream he saw a glare in the hall, and rushing out found a lively blaze. A streamer of oil-soaked rags led from an empty can on the ground floor up to a gallon and a half can filled with oil on the second. With a broom he whisked the streamer away from the cans and fled in his night shirt to the street and signalled Officer Loughman, of the London Market street station, who sent in an alarm. Police think there may be a pyromaniac in the section, who started the flames simply to see the apparatus turn out.

FR. HERBERT TRANSFERRED

Rev. Father Herbert, assistant pastor of St. Joseph's church for the past two years has been transferred to Streator, Ill.

Father Herbert will be succeeded at the local church by Rev. Father Leo of Cincinnati, who will arrive in the city within a few days.

Father Herbert will be associated with two other priests in his new charge and will have a great quantity of work assigned to his charge.

Since coming to Escanaba, Father Herbert has become known to a host of people outside of St. Joseph's congregation and in all circles he is sincerely loved and respected.

Among the young people of St. Joseph's church he was particularly popular. It was through his efforts that the Alpha Dromatic Club was organized and ideal club rooms fitted up for young men of the parish. Father Herbert will long be kindly remembered by the people of Escanaba.

MANY FRIENDS WILL ATTEND FUNERAL TODAY

The funeral of the late Cornelius McMonagle who died suddenly Thursday morning will be held from St. Patrick's church this morning at 9 o'clock. Requiem Mass will be offered for the happy repose of his soul. Interment will be at St. Joseph's cemetery. The pall bearers selected are: Cornelius Gallagher, Francis McCauley, Owen Gallagher, Patrick P. McCauley, John Finn and John O'Donnell.

LASSOED YOUNG MOOSE

Superior, Wis., Aug. 4.—Lassoing a moose from a rowboat and then tying the animal up to a tree on shore was the unusual experience of Co. Hill of Quincy, Ill., and J. P. Cheever of Brookings, S. D., who are on a fishing trip to Isle Royale. News of the adventure was contained in a letter to friends in Superior.

While strolling near shore Monday with a guide, they came upon a parent moose and a young calf. At sight of the boat the moose took to the water, heading for the mainland.

Hotly pursuing in their boat, the party succeeded in lassoing the calf which towed them some distance, finally changing its course to the island.

As the moose dashed to shore Col. Hill tied him to a nearby pine tree, but the moose finally broke loose and vanished in the forest.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Harris and family of Escanaba spent Thursday in Gladstone at the home of D. McCarthy.

MUST PAY ALL IN ADVANCE NOW

According to a law passed by the last legislature, persons starting suits in circuit courts must pay certain fees at the time of starting the suits and other fees as they progress through the court. Up to the present, the county clerks have frequently been losers, as it has been found impossible to collect some of the court fees after the settlement of a case. The new law contains the following:

Before any suit at law or in chancery is commenced, or application is made for a writ of mandamus, prohibition, quo warrant, habeas corpus or other extraordinary writ, the moving party must pay the clerk $3. Before the entry of final judgment by default or pro confesso, the clerk must be paid $2. Before final entry is made in any contested case, the clerk must be paid $3. Before the filing of any ex parte petition in chancery, the clerk must be paid $2, which shall be in full for all fees for the proceeding. Before filing an ex parte petition at law, the clerk must be paid $4. On appeal to the supreme court on writ of error, the clerk must be paid $5 and the appellant must furnish copies of pleadings, records, etc. These fees, now payable in advance, shall be held to be in full for clerk, register, entry, judgment and decree fees in any suit from the commencement thereof to and including the issuance and return of the execution or other final process.

ATTACK IS ANSWERED

—let us all be faddists, we can afford to.

The contention that "man has developed physically as far as he may" is but further argument that man is matter and governed by its laws. Happily the world is fast awakening to the fact, that man (the true man) was created spiritually and given the birthright of dominion over all, including the physical body which materialists call man.

To claim that "all we know we acquire through our nervous systems" leaves God out of the universe entirely and is nothing but the grossest materialism and belongs to the dark ages. If there is a God, a Supreme Intelligence, as the Bible states, and man is "His Image and Likeness," then man may acquire all the knowledge that he can use for right purposes provided he realizes his birthright of dominion here and now.

Sincerely yours,
CHARLES K. SKINNER,
