BIG PARTY FOR CRUISE

ESCANABA AND DELTA COUNTY DELEGATION FOR DETROIT TRIP NOW IS OVER THIRTY.

Following are the Delta County men who have already signified their intention of taking part in the cruise: Charles M. Thatcher, W. D. Hughes, E. E. Byrns, H. W. Roade, L. G. English, J. J. Saurwine, John N. Lindsay, D. E. Glavin, M. Kurz, J. P. Cleary, A. H. Groesbeck, W. W. Ober, Solomon Greenhoot, M. K. Bissell, H. Salinsky, A. J. Young, W. R. Northrup, Peter Jensen, O. O. Rollins, Michael Doherty, Emanuel Olson, Peter Olson, A. G. Crose, P. L. Utley, R. B. Stack and F. S. King of Escanaba; J. A. McGuire, Ford Blythe, W. L. Marble, I. N. Bushong, C. A. Clark Gladstone and C. C. Collins and A. R. Collins of Van's Harbor.

Interest in the cruise of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau to Detroit early in next month, was aroused to fever heat in Escanaba yesterday when G. H. McCormick of Menominee, one of the members of the committee in charge of the cruise visited the city. Before Mr. McCormick left the city last night a list of over 30 Escanaba and Delta county men who will take part in the cruise had been secured and the indications are that the party from this county will reach at least the hundred mark.

A special committee will be named by President J. E. Byrns of the Escanaba Business Men's Association this morning to canvass the different business houses of Escanaba and other cities and towns of the county to allow Delta to send the largest party on the cruise of any upper peninsula county.

Menominee already has a party of 30 assured; Houghton county has guaranteed 30 with the prospects that the total will be 50; Marquette has assured the committee that a party of 30 will be sent from that county; similar assurance has been sent from Chippewa; Schoolcraft will send a delegation of 15 and other counties will follow with delegations in like proportion.

After a careful survey of the situation and personal visits by members of the committee in charge of the cruise to all parts of the peninsula the indications are that the palatial steamer City of St. Ignace will leave the port of St. Ignace on the morning of Sept. 5 with a party of at least 300 upper peninsula boosters aboard. The crack Calumet & Hecla band will accompany the party with the boat and everything possible will be accomplished to make the cruise a delightful outing as well as a brilliant advertising feature for the north country.

Upon arriving in Detroit members of the party will be met at the dock by members of the Detroit Board of Commerce with a band and a parade will be formed to the Detroit city hall. A conspicuous float in the parade will be a monster float that is now being constructed for the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau in Detroit, representing a horn of plenty as indicative of the resources of the upper peninsula. Arriving at the city hall the mayor of the city will welcome the visitors and after a short program of addresses the visitors will be taken to the club rooms of the Detroit Board of Commerce where they will be guests at a luncheon. Boat rides, auto excursions, attending ball games and a round of luncheons will be the lot of the upper peninsula men until the time arrives for their departure. They will be delivered back in St. Ignace in time to allow the Delta county men to return to their homes here that evening over the Soo Line.

All of the members of the party upon arriving aboard the boat are to be provided with white caps bearing a band of red above the brim on which will be printed the words "Peninsula Boosters." In addition they will be supplied with special badges that have been ordered expressly for the occasion. The delegation from each county will wear a ribbon giving the name of their county and when fitted out with full regalia members of the party can easily be mistaken in Detroit for heroes.

UNIQUE PARTY WAS ARRANGED LAST EVENING

Miss Marie Snyder, 318 Harrison avenue, entertained last evening at a colonial party in honor of Miss Ethel Putner, who has been her guest for some time.

The appearance of the young women in costumes of the colonial period and powdered hair added a distinctive touch to the function and presented a decidedly pretty sight. At seven o'clock a potluck menu was served, consisting of various dishes prepared by the several guests.

PURCHASE THEIR BOOKS

SUPT. F. E. KING ARRANGES PLAN WHEREBY PUPILS CAN GET BOOKS NEXT WEEK.

That all pupils in the public schools of Escanaba may be supplied with their books before the actual opening of school Supt. F. E. King has arranged to have the different grade buildings opened on afternoons of next week when the books will be arranged and ready for distribution.

Following is the announcement issued last night by Mr. King: School Books Sold at Buildings Before School Opens.

For the convenience of patrons, Mr. E. W. Doak, who has charge of the Book Room for the city schools, will be at the different buildings and sell books and supplies before the opening of school. Parents should have children bring their cards showing books needed, to the most convenient building, at times given below. Pupils who get their books before school opens will not need to wait for others, and will be better prepared to start out, right the first day.

Buildings will be open for book sales as follows: Barr school, Monday, August 28th 1:30 to 4:30 p. m.

Jefferson school, Tuesday, August 29th 1:30 to 4:30 p. m.

Washington school, Wednesday, August 30th 1:30 to 4:30 p. m.

Webster school, Thursday, August 31st 1:30 to 4:30 p. m.

Franklin school, Friday September 1st 1:30 to 4:30 p. m.

High School Book Room, Open Saturday, September 2nd, 9:00 to 12:00 a. m., 2:00 to 4:00 p. m.

Open Monday, September 4th from 2:00 to 4:00 p. m.

Yours truly, F. E. KING, Supt.

TIP TOPS WILL PLAY GLADSTONE ON LABOR DAY

On Labor Day and the day following, September 4 and 5, the Tip Top base ball team of this city will clash with the strong city team of Gladstone at that city. Both the local boys and the upper bay players have been playing exceptionally classy ball this season and two good exhibitions are looked for. The games will be one of the features of Gladstone's two big days of celebration.

POSTMASTER GENERAL ORDERS MAGAZINES AND PERIODICALS CARRIED BY FAST FREIGHT

Washington, Aug. 25.—Arrangements have been perfected by the postoffice department whereby second-class mail matter, consisting of magazines and periodicals, heretofore transported in railway mail cars, will be carried by fast freight, beginning Sept. 1. The order was issued today.

With the idea of reducing the expense of transporting this, the greater part of the second class mail, Postmaster General Hitchcock has taken advantage of an old statute permitting the department to send it by freight. The expense of transportation and delivering will be far less than at present.

ALL READY FOR THE FRAY

ESCANABA'S ANCIENT BASEBALL ENEMY COMES TODAY FOR TWO GAME SERIES.

For the Escanaba baseball team the series of games with Negaunee, opening here this afternoon promise to be among the most important of the entire schedule of the Marquette Delta county league. The games of today and tomorrow will either give Escanaba or Negaunee a firm hold on the top of the percentage column and a grasp on the league pennant that it will be hard to jar loose. Negaunee now holds the lead over Escanaba in the percentages by a fractional game and if the locals are able to make a clean sweep of the series they will rest on top with nearly a full two game lead. If Negaunee cops both, the present league leaders will hold a margin of over two games and will be in a fair way toward claiming the pennant.

Smarting from four straight defeats at the hand of the team which nosed them out last fall for the upper peninsula championship, Escanaba's champs are now prepared to fight. With all of the weak spots in the team strengthened and a strong pitching staff Escanaba is prepared today to meet Negaunee in a fair battle and in a desperate effort to get revenge for past discourtesies. Early in the league season Escanaba got a flying start and for several weeks held the lead but when the midsummer slump came it was Negaunee who pried the locals from top perch and relegated them to second position. The prying process was most trying to the tender sensibilities of the locals and it is to relieve their feelings that the present two game clash has long been looked forward to.

Every fan in Escanaba is pulling for a defeat for the present league leaders and when the two teams line up at the South park grounds at 3 o'clock this afternoon the biggest week day crowd ever attracted to the park will be in attendance. Should the locals win today the game of tomorrow afternoon will call out every fan and fanlet in this portion of the peninsula making up a crowd that is expected to break all records for the local grounds. Only fair weather for the two games is the desire of the local players and enthusiasts for with a clear sunny day nothing can prevent the wearers of the Escanaba colors from giving vent to the spleen that they have been collecting against the visitors for several weeks.

It was announced from Negaunee yesterday that Rosevear would probably twirl today's game. Capt. Aronson will warm up his entire staff of four pitchers today and the one showing the most "goods," will be sent to the mound to remain there as long as he can hold Negaunee safe. A batting blow will result in a quick hoisting scene and another of the twirling staff will be sent in to defend the honor of Escanaba.

PRIME BALL IN PROSPECT

The management of the Escanaba baseball team is already negotiating for an extended series of post season games, to be played after the close of the schedule of the Marquette Delta county league, with teams of the Wisconsin-Illinois and the Minny league. It is planned to bring the league teams of Green Bay, Rockford, Madison and other teams of the Wisconsin-Illinois league and the Duluth and Superior teams of the Minny league here for series of Saturday and Sunday and week day games immediately after the close of the regular season and in addition games may be booked with other strong teams of the peninsula.

Thus in spite of the fact that the local league season will run for but another month fans of the city have a prime baseball program booked for them up to the coming of weather conditions which will make baseball impossible.

SURPRISE PARTY WAS ARRANGED FOR A VISITOR

Mrs. John Rolph of Milwaukee, who is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Lied, was surprised by a big company of young people at the Lied home, on South Jennie street, last night. All arrangements for the party had been made secretly and Mrs. Rolph was taken completely by surprise when the big crowd of friends invaded the home. Games and music made up a delightful evening's program after which refreshments were served.

STEIMLE HAS A GOOD JOB

Edward Steimle, field captain of the Negaunee baseball team, has been appointed as assistant to the physical director of the Detroit Central high school and will assume his duties in Detroit after the close of the Marquette Delta county league schedule. Of the position that has been tendered the Negaunee captain the Marquette Mining Journal says:

Ed Steimle, capt of the Negaunee baseball team, has just been given a good position by the Detroit school board. Concerning his new work the Detroit Journal says:

"Edward M. Steimle of Atlantic Mine, who has been elected assistant to the physical director and athletic coach at the Detroit Central high school was one of the best all-round athletes ever in the State Normal college. Before going to Ypsilanti, he spent one year at Hillsdale college, where he was a brilliant football and baseball star."

"At the Normal college he made the football, basketball and baseball teams each year during his entire course, and if the college had done track work at that time, his sprinting ability would have won him a place there."

"He was one of the cleverest quarter and halfbacks in the history of the college and as a baseball pitcher was for two seasons invincible, defeating the Inter-collegiate champion teams every time they came up against him, shutting out Albion and M. A. C. easily."

"He was the chief pitcher of the Normal team that won its every game several years ago, and the Steimle and Harrison battery was too much for all the intercollegiate lines."

"Steimle won much fame as pitcher for his home team in the upper peninsula, and of late summers has been manager of the Negaunee team. He was also a spectacular basketball forward. Last year, after teaching science and coaching high school teams at Union City and Painesdale for several years, he returned to the Normal college for further studies, and acted with great success as assistant coach in football and baseball. His name was mentioned for football coach this fall. Steimle is a fine student and has been a star in teaching. 'Eddie' has always been a prime favorite at the Normal college, and Detroit Central is fortunate to secure his services. He is a brother of Clemens P. Steimle, registrar of the Normal college, who was himself a star athlete in the college."

WILL ATTEND REUNION OF HIS FAMILY

To attend a reunion of his father's family, who have gathered from all parts of the country for the event, Charles C. Metcalf left this morning for the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Metcalf at Munising. He was accompanied to that place by Miss Helen Metcalf and Master Clinton Metcalf who have been guests of their brother here for the past five weeks.

Besides the members of the immediate family of Mr. and Mrs. Metcalf at the reunion there will be a sister and two brothers of the elder Metcalf the latter coming from Maine where they are engaged as extensively manufacturers of shoes.

MASON IS HONORED

PROMINENT GLADSTONE MAN WAS GUEST OF HONOR AT BANQUET.

One of the most handsome tributes ever paid a Delta county man by his fellow citizens and fraternal brothers, upon leaving to locate in another portion of the country, was that tendered Charles D. Mason of Gladstone last night. Admiring friends who had watched his rise in public life from a lad last night gathered at the call of the Gladstone lodge of Knights of Pythias to attend a banquet arranged in honor of Mr. Mason. Addresses that teemed with personal appreciation and public acknowledgment of the position that had been achieved by him in a few short years in the community in which he was born, marked the program of toasts which followed a delightful banquet last night. With Prof. E. J. Willman, of the Gladstone public schools, presiding as toastmaster those who were called upon for set toasts were Atty. G. R. Emppson of Gladstone; Atty. I. C. Jennings of Escanaba; Rev. Frederick Spence of Escanaba and Dr. George Bjorkman of Gladstone. In addition a number of others from the big company of guests were called upon for short responses. Each of the speakers in glowing terms told of the qualities that made Mr. Mason respected and admired by all of those who had ever come in contact with him. Each of the speakers responding to set toasts were given a special phase of the life of the guest of honor to discuss and when the event came to a close there could have been no doubt in Mr. Mason's mind as to the close position that he holds in the hearts of the people who know him best, the home people.

Some of the speakers introduced a humorous element in their addresses but the point each brought out was that the Pythians of Delta county first and the people of Delta county as a whole were losing a highly respected brother and citizen by the removal of Mr. Mason from their midst. Nearly 200 people were seated at the banquet last night and throughout the serving of the different courses a delightful program was furnished by an orchestra. The banquet was excellently served and immediately following which the program of toasts was carried out.

The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion and after the close of the speaking program a dancing program was carried out lasting until 1 o'clock when the event formally came to a close.

A carload of Escanaba Pythians with their wives and partners went to Gladstone at 8 o'clock last night and returned to the city shortly before 2 o'clock this morning enthusiastically over the success of the Gladstone function.

PLAYERS ARE HERE

Oscar Knolls, a pitcher arrived in Escanaba yesterday morning to join the Escanaba team and last night when Pitcher "Rube" Gilligan and Catcher Otto Kemp arrived in the city the final consignment of players for the Escanaba baseball team of 1911 had been delivered here. Knolls worked out yesterday with the local players in a fast practice at South park and the remaining two players will be seen in action here for the first time this afternoon or tomorrow. All are signed as regular members of the Escanaba team for the remainder of the season, deals for their engagement here being closed early in the week and allowing Escanaba today to show the most formidable front it has presented this season to opposing teams of the league. Either Scanlon or Gilligan will start in today's game and Kemp may be tried out today in the catcher's box but the arrangement of the battery by Capt. Aronson will depend entirely on the condition of his men.

Miss Mae McGuire returned yesterday morning from a visit with friends and relatives in Green Bay.

LEAVE TODAY FOR AUTO TRIP TO MUNISING

Mr. and Mrs. M. Perron and sons and Mr. and Mrs. D. Laviolette of Perronville, will leave this morning in Mr. Perron's Pierce-Arrow auto, for Munising where they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Roberge until Sunday. They will make the trip by the way of Rapid River and Trenary going from the latter place to Chatham and thence to Munising. The road is reported to be in bad condition between Trenary and Chatham but Mr. Perron expects but little trouble in getting through with his high power car.

GROOM IS LOCKED UP

PROMINENT GLADSTONE YOUNG MAN WAS VICTIM OF PRAC-TICAL JOKE LAST NIGHT.

Lured from a brilliant banquet hall and after being enticed into a carriage, thrown into a jail cell was the vigorous punishment given a Gladstone groomsmen of a week, last night by his friends for being secretly married and escaping from the city before news of the wedding had spread. The victim of his friends last night was C. H. McLauren of the electrical supply firm of McLauren & Needham of Gladstone. Ten days ago Mr. McLauren without notifying any of his friends was quietly married to a prominent young woman of the Upper Bay City. He escaped from the city by auto before the wedding became known much to the chagrin of the many friends of the couple.

They returned to Gladstone late yesterday afternoon and last night went to the banquet that was being given in honor of C. D. Mason. Learning of his presence there a number of his friends congregated and sent a message to the banquet hall telling him that he was wanted on important business for a few minutes at his office. Unsuspectingly he entered a carriage that had been provided for him at the door of the banquet hall and instructed the driver to hurry to his office. One of those in on the plot was the driver and after driving for a block the conspirators were met in a body. They entered the cab and drove to the city police station where the groom of a week was locked in a cell and allowed to remain there for an hour. Finally he was photographed in a cell and allowed to return to the banquet and his anxiously waiting wife.

LATHROP PEOPLE GIVEN A SCARE

Sheriff T. J. Curran returned yesterday from Lathrop with a prisoner, who is now confined at the county jail. The man created considerable excitement at Lathrop Thursday by acting strangely. He was captured by several members of the mate population and held a prisoner in a barn until the arrival of the sheriff who was hastily summoned. It was at first thought that the man was demented but when brought here it was found that such was not the case. The prisoner is very much put out because of the treatment he has received.

GIRL IS BITTEN BY SAVAGE DOG

Henry Tesch of Schaffer has returned from Chicago where he placed his nineteen-year-old daughter in the Pasteur Institute for a three weeks treatment.

The young woman was badly bitten by a dog belonging to the family, when she endeavored to lead it home after finding it wandering about the street. It was discovered later that the dog had been bitten by another dog affected with the rabies.

FLIGHT IS FINISHED

HARRY ATWOOD BREAKS WORLDS DISTANCE AIRSHIP RECORD FLYING FROM ST. LOUIS TO NEW YORK.

AIR DISTANCE RECORDS.
Harry N. Atwood—St. Louis-New York, 1814, 1,265 miles.
Herr Koenig—German circuit race, 1,161 miles (world's record until yesterday.)
Andre Beaumont—England and Scotland circuit, 1,010 miles.
Andre Beaumont—Paris to London circuit, 1,073 miles.
Andre Beaumont—Paris to Rome, 910 miles.

(Special to The Morning Press.)
New York, Aug. 25.—At precisely 2:38 o'clock this afternoon Harry N. Atwood, holder of the worlds long distance aeroplane flight record, landed at Governor's Island amid the cheers of hundreds on the main land and the firing of artillery of the United States soldiers on the island. The word that the daring young aviator was going to make the last lap of his famous flight this afternoon was flashed from Nyack, N. Y., shortly after dinner and the crowds were in readiness for the landing. It was generally understood that Atwood would not attempt a landing in the city owing to the great crowds that would be attracted, but would make for Governor's Island where he would not be handicapped in coming to the ground.

The young aviator left Nyack at 1:58 and flew the distance of approximately 25 miles in 45 minutes. The distance from the starting point of the flight, St. Louis is 1,265 miles from New York and the actual flying time for the entire distance was twenty-eight hours and thirty minutes, breaking all former records. The average flight per hour was practically 45 miles. By making the flight from St. Louis to this city Atwood not only has established a new record but will also receive a prize of $10,000 in cash from Gimbel Brothers.

BREITENBACH TO L'ANSE

Dr. O. C. Brietenbach, former health commissioner of Escanaba and the man who did much toward solving the city's water problem, will locate at L'Anse, Mich., to practice his profession. Dr. Brietenbach has been located at Watersmeet for the past two years serving as surgeon for the William Bonifas Lumber company, but the opening that was offered at L'Anse and the future possibilities of that district attracted him strongly and he has made definite plans to locate there. Dr. and Mrs. Brietenbach arrived in the city yesterday from Minneapolis after a short visit there and will go to L'Anse to remain permanently within a few days. The L'Anse Bay Lumber company, which is financed in the greater part by Escanaba men, is about to construct a large mill at L'Anse and the entire country about the town is opening up as one of the richest agricultural districts in the peninsula. Dr. Brietenbach established an excellent practice in Escanaba and served for several terms as city health commissioner.

It was Dr. Brietenbach who through a series of tests determined that a polluted water supply was the cause for the prevalence of typhoid fever here. He led a campaign for the construction of a filtration plant here and his work was finally rewarded by the Escanaba Water company construction such a plant. Dr. Brietenbach has a host of friends here whose good wishes will go with him to his new field.

AUTO CLUB IS FORMED

Menominee, Mich., Aug. 25.—The Marinette-Menominee County Automobile Association was organized last evening at Hotel Marinette, forty-seven twin city auto owners signing the papers of organization.

W. B. Gregory of Menominee was appointed temporary chairman of the meeting and Harry White of Marinette secretary. A constitution was adopted and a board of directors chosen as follows: Frank Lauerman, Harry Brown, E. W. Leroy, Harry White of Marinette, W. B. Gregory, Joseph Leisen, C. C. Hanson of Menominee and Sam Woodward of Peshtigo.

A meeting of the directors will be held soon at which time officers for the new association will be elected. It is expected that at least two hundred local auto owners' names will be added to the membership list.

WILEY-WILSON CONTROVERSY DIVIDES DULUTH CONVENTION INTO TWO HOSTILE CAMPS

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 25. The National Association of Food and Dairy Departments has split squarely on the Wiley-Wilson controversy. Slates of candidates for the election of officers, which will take place tomorrow afternoon, have been prepared by each side.

The Wiley adherents practically concede defeat for the presidency at present. A fight will be made by the Wiley supporters for other offices. On the Wiley slate, L. F. Brown of Tennessee is named for president. On the Wilson slate, W. P. Cutler of Missouri is named.

BAPTISTS WILL HOLD MEETING

The twenty-second Annual Meeting of the Marquette Baptist Association will be held with the Emmanuel Baptist church in Iron Mountain, Mich., August 29, 30 and 31.

An elaborate program has been arranged for the meeting and much business will be transacted. The program includes talks by a number of missionaries from foreign countries and some famous ministers. Stereopticon views will be shown by missionaries depicting conditions in the countries where they are working. These will be instructive.

A number of delegates will attend the meeting from Menominee and Rev. E. A. Schultz will lead the devotional exercises Thursday afternoon during the conference session.

The Marquette Baptist Association is known far and wide. People attend this meeting from many different remote places in the United States. The meetings are of the greatest importance, as during the different seasons every subject of the church work is taken up and treated by experienced workers in the different fields. Missionary work is studied and various methods of teaching the gospel to the heathen are decided upon after discussions. The meeting is a good thing for every one who attends.

LAUNDRESS DIES FROM INJURIES

Rhineland, Wis., Aug. 25.—Mrs. Kate Smith, whose arms were cut in a steel mangle in the Onelda steam laundry here two weeks ago, died from blood poisoning yesterday at her home in Marshfield, where she was taken by her father in spite of the warning of physicians here that she should not be moved.

The girl in trying to extricate a piece of cloth from the mangle caught one hand first and then the other and her arms were both drawn in to the machine and terribly mangled.

Jesse Hawkins, the owner of the laundry, sold the plant after the accident, declaring he had enough of the business as warnings did not keep girls from getting careless.

BULLET IS REMOVED

Menominee, Aug. 25.—Gerald Doyle, the young man who was shot while in Chicago a short time ago, was removed from that city to St. Joseph's hospital Tuesday evening. Yesterday an X-ray was used in locating the bullet and an operation was performed about noon to remove it. After the piece of lead was removed the young man rested easily and the physicians think that he will have no trouble from the wound.

4,000-MILE TRAMP OF MAN AND WIFE GIVES HEALTH THEY SOUGHT.

Boston, Aug. 25.—Tanned by the summer sun and in excellent health, the seeking of which was the object of their tramp, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Woolf, of Kansas City, are in Boston today, after a 4,000-mile walk across country.

A year ago Mr. Woolf, a musician, was in such poor health that physicians feared for his life. They advised a long trip in the open air, and as a result Mr. and Mrs. Woolf left their home on October 15, for a tramp. They had no direct route, and so they covered a much greater distance than they would had they set out directly for Boston.

When they left Kansas City Mr. Woolf weighed 107 pounds; now he tips the scales at 140.

OFFICER BITTEN 50 TIMES IN BATTLE FOR LIFE WITH BULLDOG IN VACANT HOUSE

New York, Aug. 25.—Patrolman Otto Matolla, though armed with club and revolver, nearly lost his life in a combat with a bulldog in the vacant story dwelling house, No. 313 East Ninety-seventh street. The man fainted from 50 wounds after he had killed the brute.

The vacant house in Ninety-seventh street was on Matolla's list of premises to be watched, owing to the depredations of gangs of young thieves. When the patrolman tried to front door at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon he found it open and he pushed in without hesitation, closing the door behind him.

As he stepped into the front room which was only dimly lighted from the windows, a large, white bulldog sprang at him and bit him on the arm and then on the leg. The man tried to draw his gun, but the dog seized that arm in its teeth as in a vise.

Matolla got out his club and realizing the desperateness of the encounter, he began to yell for help. He could not get back to the door, with the big dog clinging to him with its teeth, and so he kept on yelling.

The cries had been heard by persons in the street and a crowd quickly gathered but no one would venture inside. Safe outside as they were the

FINDS THE BUSINESS NEEDS CHECK REIN

Milwaukee, Aug. 25.—Important legislation for the control of insurance companies doing an industrial, health and accident business is proposed in the report of the special committee of the insurance commissioners of the United States which was made public at the session of the commissioners' annual convention here today.

The basis of the legislation proposed is given in the report on the examination of fourteen companies in which nearly 2,000 settlements affected by these companies are discussed and criticized. The report says that only two or three of the companies examined have been found to be substantially underserving of any criticism.

The report makes these recommendations: That a standard industrial, health and accident insurance law be enacted; that pro-rating or change of occupation should be permitted only when the insurance had actually changed his occupation; that the policy fee be abolished; that all industrial agents and collectors be licensed by the state; that frequent examinations covering not only financial conditions but also the treatment of policy holders be conducted either by the individual states or by a committee of the convention, and that publicity be given to the results of all such examinations.

The board of education of Iron Mountain has decided to purchase a moving picture machine. It will be employed in teaching history, geography and for other purposes. Picture machines are employed in teaching successfully in a number of eastern schools, but Iron Mountain will enjoy the distinction of being the first city in Michigan to establish the innovation.

Chauffer Who Escaped With Newport Belle Declared By Expert To Be Of Royal Lineage

New York, Aug. 25.—Here is balm, in the shape of a pedigree, for the wounded pride of the aristocratic Franches of Newport and New York, whose daughter ran away and married Happy Jack Geraghty, chauffeur.

Herbert O'Hara Molineux, digger into ancient lore and lineage, presents proof of the descent of the bridegroom from royalty itself—yea, from the very fighting kings of Ireland, a line from which the reigning family of Britain sprung—so that according to the strict rules of precedence, should Mr. French or any of his Vanderbilt connections invite Mr. Geraghty to dinner he would be entitled to walk in advance of all present.

Mr. Molineux is strong in his defense of the Geraghtys from the accumulated scorn of Newport and Tuxedo, and backs up his contentions with excerpts from chronicles and O'Hara's famous Pedigree, the standard book on the subject.

He traces the evolution of the surname of the young man who won Julia Estelle French and gilded youth of Newport, from MacOrchata, the historic form, to MacOiraghty, Garrity, Garrett, to MacGeraghty and finally to Geraghty. Could even the Franches ask more?

The antiquarian finds Mr. Geraghty a descendant of Brian, brother of Niall of the Nine Hostages, one of the most powerful and famous warriors in ancient Irish history, who himself fought to become Ard Righ, or avenging of the Isle. Brian himself—he must not be confounded with the more famous Brian Boru, or Brian of the Cow Tribute, known in its English form in poetry and romance as Brian Boru—was considerable of a warrior.

He stoutly defended his title of king of Connaught. He was elevated to that sovereignty largely through the prowess of his brother and was the first king of that province of the Hy-Niall sect.

A connection with the all-conquering Brian Boru is also very probable. He came about three centuries after King Uiall and Kipp Brian, but he, too, became over-king and ruled over Connaught. Bon is the hero who defeated the Danes at the great battle of Clontarf in 1014 and who revived the ancient tribute of the cows from Leinster because that province had assisted the invaders.

Probably young Mr. Geraghty has some of the romantic qualities of this great ancestry. It is related that King Brian caught a chance sight of Gormlaith, called the most beautiful woman in the world, and who was the sister of his foe, the king of Leinster.

His heart was inflamed with love, and, according to the custom of the time, he set out to take the lady by force. He marched against her brother, defeated him at the Glen o' Gap, in Wicklow, and soon after married the beautiful Gormlaith.

ARK of the COVENANT was NOT STOLEN

MOSQUE OF OMAR, JERUSALEM

THE Moslems of Palestine have been rioting with fanatical turbulence and all Christendom has been exercised because the sacrilege of stealing the Ark of the Covenant was wrongfully imputed to Captain the Honorable Montague Parker of the First Life Guards of the English army, and a party of archeologists whom he commanded. He was aided and abetted, it was alleged, by Lieut. Robin Duff, an officer of the Second Life Guards and a relative of King George V.

Assisted by the connivance of the Turkish government and by bribes to Mohammedan soldiers, the Englishmen are accused of rifling the sacred bowels of Mount Moriah, the site of the Temple of Solomon and of the Mosque of Omar at Jerusalem, and of making off with the Ark, after unearthing the venerable coffer from its purported place of concealment for more than twenty centuries. The explorers, according to news cablegrams, were pursued to the coast by the hue and cry of scandalized Moslems, and echoes of their pious indignation are reverberating through Europe and America.

Worried clergymen have predicted that some such fate would overtake the English officer as befell the men of Bethabemesh, of whom 50,070 are declared in the Old Testament to have been smitten of the Lord because certain of their townsmen ventured to look inside the Ark; or as happened to Ussah, who put forth his hand to steady the holy chest when it rocked upon its cart, and who was slain "for his error" by Jehovah, in his suddenly kindred wrath.

Explorers invited to Continue Work. The outcry of sacrilege has not been completely quieted by Capt. Parker's solemn declaration that he found no Hebrew antiquities whatever beneath the Mosque of Omar, and that he was not searching for the Ark, but for the tombs of David and Solomon. A conclusive refutation of the accusation is the fact that the Turkish authorities have invited the Englishmen to renew their excavations next autumn. For Jerusalem and its relics are as halloved to a Moslem as they are to a Jew, because Mahomet is reputed to have begun at the Holy City his fabled expedition to the Seven Heavens.

Besides, it is the opinion of most students of the Bible that the Ark was probably destroyed when the temple was burned by Nebuchadnezzar, and that it had certainly disappeared before the composition of the book II Maccabees.

Speculation as to the present existence of the Ark is perhaps due to the remarkable phenomenon of its abrupt disappearance from Holy Writ. In one verse of the book of II Chronicles the Hebrew palladium is restored with rejoicings to the Temple of Solomon. In another verse of the same chapter it is dismissed, as with a wave of the hand, in the words: "And there it is until this day." Except metaphorically or incidentally, the Ark is but once again mentioned in the Bible.

While most scholars believe that the Ark was lost immediately before or during the Hebrew captivity in Babylon, some hold that it was taken by the conquerors to the capital city of the Chaldees. But, if so, it was almost certainly restored when the Jews were reinstated in Jerusalem, in 520-16 B. C. Others declare that the Ark was not taken into captivity, but was hidden away in the secret chambers of the temple, in the apartment where wood was kept, and it is related that a certain priest, while working in the apartment, noticed that some stones projected above the others. He so soon began to tell the story to a fellow priest that he expired. That was regarded as a sure sign that the Ark was buried in that place.

However, if the Ark was really taken to Babylon, which most scholars doubt, it seems to have been returned to Jerusalem, according to the sequel related in the book of Ezra.

It is possible, some writers say, that the Ark had declined in esteem among the Hebrews themselves, during the centuries which befell their nation. Perhaps, also, the leaders may have taken alarm over the honors of worship paid to the Ark from the day when Joshua "rent his clothes and fell in the earth upon his face before the Ark of the Lord until evening, he and the elders of Israel, and put dust upon their heads." It is known (II Kings 18, 4) that King Hezekiah "broke in pieces the brazen serpent that Moses had made; for unto those days the children of Israel did burn incense unto it."

Before the beginning of our era, Jewish scholars began to seek explanations for the disappearance of the Ark, thus proving that it had previously vanished. One legend of the Talmud is that Solomon constructed a secret cave in which the national fetish was to be borne in time of peril, and that it was there concealed by King Josiah. Before he was defeated and slain by King Pharaoh-nechoh of Egypt, some of the rabbi held that the Ark would reappear with the advent of the Messiah, and others that it had been miraculously taken up into heaven. The latter belief is reflected in the Apocalypse of John. The Mohammedan doctors believe the sacred chest was thrown into Lake Tiberias and that on the day of the last judgment it will swim to the surface.

Adopting for a moment the improbable conjecture that the Ark survived the restoration and was placed in the second temple, it would not be difficult to conceive what was its final fate. It once recalls the number of times Jerusalem was sacked between the rebuilding of the walls and the complete raising of the Jewish capital by the Romans.

It is certain that the Ark was no longer in Jerusalem when the city ended its long agony by the Roman sword and firebrand in 70 A. D. Neither is it credible that the Ark was hidden in any of the secret chambers and caves which honeycombed the ground beneath the city. Nor is it probable that the Ark had still been in existence, could have escaped the pious curiosity of the Christians when they became the rulers of Jerusalem under Constantine, in the fourth century of our era.

No Trace of Ark in 2,000 Years. For 160 years the Moslems held the city, but, with this prolonged opportunity, did not recover the Ark, which was almost as holy to them as to a Jew. Godfrey of Bouillon, the Crusader, captured Jerusalem in 1099, put 70,000 Moslems to the sword, burned the Jews in their synagogue and plundered the Mosque of Omar. For 88 years the Christians held the Holy City, until Saladin retook it in 1187. During none of these revolutions was a trace of the Ark discovered. Nor has it been found during the eight centuries that the Turks have been masters of the Holy Land.

All Sunday school pupils know the story of the Ark. It was built under the supervision of Moses, on plans and specifications minutely supplied by Jehovah himself. It seems at times to have acquired the power of locomotion, and to have flown as a guide before the Israelites in their wanderings. "The Ark of the Covenant went before them in the three days' journey to search out a resting place for them. And it came to pass, when the Ark set forward, that Moses said 'Rise up, Lord, and let thine enemies be scattered.' And when it rested, he said, 'Return, O Lord, to the many thousands of Israel.'" (Num. 10, 33-35-36).

When the priests bearing the Ark set their feet in the River Jordan, the waters parted and the Israelites journeyed over dryshod. Carried about the walls of Jericho, its magic influence undermined the fortifications until they crumbled at the blast of a trumpet. Captured by the Philistines and set up beside their god, Dagon, the Ark compelled the stone image to bow before it and fall shattered to the earth, while Dagon's worshippers were smitten with plagues of bubonic fever and mice.

David, one of the most astute of politicians recovered the chest from the Philistines. In his joy, and perhaps in his desire to impress his subjects with the sanctity of the fetish, the King danced before it "with all his might." Michal, his wife and the daughter of Saul, "saw King David dancing and leaping before the Lord, and she despised him in her heart." For this impiety she was condemned to sterility. David's son, Solomon, set the Ark in honor of his new temple, and from that day to this, save for the passage in II Maccabees quoted above, the holy chest has disappeared from history.

Uncle Toby's Thousand Dollars

By M. J. PHILLIPS

(Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.)

"Jerry," observed Uncle Toby, "it's time you were married."
"You think so, Uncle?"
"I certainly do," replied Uncle Toby. "How old are you?"
"Twenty-six! You surprise me. Yes, sir, you should be married. No young man should pass that age and remain single."

"You did, Uncle Toby," grinned Gerald McIntyre. Tobias Brenton was a confirmed bachelor of many years' standing.
"That's all right, boy," returned his uncle. "I'm the exception. But you should be married. Tell you what, Jerry—"

"What, Uncle?"
"The day you get married I'll give you a thousand dollars for a wedding present."
"You will?"
"I will—with one proviso. If you marry anyone but Patience Allene Truesdale."

"Who?"
"Patience Allene Truesdale."
"Who's Patience Allene Truesdale? And why couldn't I marry her? And where does she live?"
"I didn't say you couldn't marry her," replied Tobias Brenton. "I haven't anything to say concerning her. I believe she is now at Collegeville. What I did say was that if you married anyone but her, I would give you a thousand dollars."

"But, Uncle, I don't know this Truesdale, and there's no possibility of my marrying her, or anybody else."
"It's nearly train time," observed Uncle Toby, rising. "I realize you don't know Miss Truesdale, and so what I said may seem foolish. But you can't say I haven't put the proposition up to you. Think over this getting married, Jerry. A thousand dollars is a thousand dollars, these days. Let me hear from you."

The rest of the day Jerry gave his muscle to the hardware store where he was employed, but not his mind, for that was elsewhere.
He was, he knew, Uncle Toby's favorite relative; and his uncle wanted him settled in a home of his own.

"There's Something Troubling You."

Uncle Toby had no prejudice against matrimony, only so far as it applied to himself. That part of his talk was reasonable and understandable.

But as to Patience Allene Truesdale—rather a pretty name, though an odd one.
Who was Patience Allene—Patience Allene; it was a quaint, sweet name—against whom his uncle seemed so prejudiced?

After supper he changed his clothes, tried on four neckties, and went to Collegeville.
A rickety trolley line bumped and jolted him to the normal town. Jerry got off the car at the corner of Normal avenue and Main street, feeling as foolish as a man searching for the rainbow's end.

Jerry felt like an alien as he joined the leisurely procession on the streets for all the talk of semesters and test-books and discipline. He went on up Normal avenue to the campus.
A block from the handsome pile of buildings he came to a house overflowing with festivity. The bland moon shone down on a half-score of girls grouped Turk-fashion on cushions on the porch.

There was chattering and laughter and an undercurrent of plaintive tinkling, for three of the party in the center had stringed instruments. From out of the pleasant babel, as Gerald passed the gate a voice said:
"Lead 'My Sweetheart Was a Rover,' Patience Allene."

"Patience Allene? Why—why?" stammered the young man to himself. "Have I really found her—so soon?" He crossed the street at the first intersection, doubled back on the other side and halted beneath a friendly maple opposite the group.
From up and down the street came appreciative hand clapping when the selection was ended. Jerry joined heartily in the applause; but his tribute was to the soprano voice that had led the rollicking college song.

A moment later he regretted his enthusiasm; a contralto, bubbling with little rills of laughter, floated over to him.

"Peek-a-boo, you rascal, you, I see you hiding there!"
Jerry suddenly remembered it was time to catch the car back home.
He met Patience Allene Truesdale presently; the girl of the soprano voice was really she. It took five trips to Collegeville and three ice cream socials before he accomplished an introduction.

Then he made up for lost time. He called on Patience Allene as often as Normal convention and the girl herself would permit; patronized soda fountains and confectionery stores, as well as the two moving picture theaters, liberally, and otherwise followed the path which his uncle's words should have barred. He fell heels over head in love with Patience Allene.

As for the girl, he could not determine whether she cared for him, any more than he could be sure her eyes were blue instead of gray. She was capricious. And yet beneath it all Jerry knew there were depths in her nature.

He puzzled still over the mystery of his uncle's dislike for Patience Allene. She came from his uncle's home town, Long Rapids; and when he had craftily introduced his name into the conversation one night, she had spoken glowingly of Mr. Brenton, who was her father's best friend, she said. It was Mr. Brenton who had advised her to attend the Normal, so she could be a high school teacher.

"There's something troubling you, Jerry," she said, so unexpectedly that he was taken completely off guard. "Tell me what it is."
Jerry, blundering, attempted to finesse; it delayed things a little longer, but at last he had to tell.

"Your uncle needsn't have worried," she said coolly, when he had finished. "I haven't any designs on you or your prospects. You are wasting time with me; better begin trying to earn that thousand dollars. No, I'm not angry; good night!"
Jerry, raging, went home to find Uncle Toby, having dropped into town unexpectedly, the center of his own merry family circle.

In five minutes Uncle Toby, the wealthy, the courted and the masterful, was on his way to Collegeville, virtually a prisoner in the custody of this grim and silent young stranger.
Patience Allene was alone on the front porch of the boarding house, a forlorn little huddle which shrank away at sight of them.

"Now, sir," grated Jerry, "I brought you here to say that your prejudice against Miss Truesdale doesn't make any difference. We're going to be married; and we don't need that thousand dollars."
"Is this true, Patience Allene?" asked Uncle Toby.

Patience Allene did not seem to mind the queerness of Jerry's marriage proposal. "Yes," she said, simply; "but, Mr. Brenton, what did you say to Jerry?"
"What did I say, Jerry?"
"You said you'd give me a thousand dollars if I married anybody but Patience Allene."

"Correct. Anything else; any reflection on her?"
"No."
He took a hand of each. "My dear young people," he said, "your uncle has 'put one over,' as the boys say. Ever since I began buying dolls for Patience Allene and marbles for you, Jerry, I determined she should be your wife. I never mentioned one of you to the other. If you dreamed I wanted you to marry, you'd have flown apart. There, now; never mind thanking me. I must be getting back. I'll let you walk that three miles alone. And—the thousand dollars shall be five thousand."

They went with him to the gate, clinging shyly to each other's hands, starting sentences of apology and gratitude that were never finished, since they must stop to look into the wonder and glory of each other's eyes.

And Uncle Toby smiled whimsically as he went away, yet sighed a little, too; for he knew he was already forgotten.

Ostriches for Baluchistan. An unexpected rival to South Africa in the matter of ostrich breeding has come forward. This is the state of Las Beysia, a little colony to the southwest of Baluchistan, whence news comes that a certain sum is to be set apart for experiment in breeding the birds. The climate and soil are said to be admirably suitable and, bearing in mind the example of South Africa, there seems to be no reason why the native breeders should not be successful.

The only drawback lies in the all important matter of the first supply, for according to the South African law as at present constituted, it is unlawful to export either ostriches or eggs. Those in authority at Las Beysia, however, are hopeful of overcoming this difficulty.

Aid for the Hobbled. "You know those rubber rings that are fastened to the bottom of chair legs, sometimes half a dozen, one on top of the other, to raise the chair high enough for a child to sit at the table," said the restaurateur. "Well, we are using them by the dozen, not to boost the children, but to give the women with tight and tied-in skirts a chance to sit down."
"High chairs, so the well informed tell me, prevent their knees from poking through the material; therefore high chairs are a necessary equipment in every restaurant that caters to well-dressed patrons. The style is too ephemeral to warrant buying a lot of long-legged chairs, so we simply elevate a part of those we already have by means of rings and reserve them for the hobbled woman."

Classic Coiffure

Photograph by Underwood & Underwood, N. Y.

THOSE members of the fair sex who are fortunate enough to possess a face and figure that are fitted to the classic garb, whose lines are now so fashionable—and there are many of such among our belles—are naturally turning to the Psyche knot as an appropriate way of wearing the hair. The coiffure is alike becoming to the maid or the matron, and it may be worn at the angle that is most becoming to the expression or shape of the face.

BATHS FOR THE HOT DAYS

Dippings That Really Refresh the Wornout Frame—Hot Water is Better Than Cold.

There is nothing more refreshing these hot days than a bath, either hot or cold. The former in very hot weather is more cooling than the cold plunge, which acts as too much of a tonic. Baths are not equally refreshing. Plain soap and water are all right for cleansing, but when a bath is intended to put new life in us, when half dead with heat, it is well to choose some of the medicated ones whose tonic values were well known to the ancients. If nothing better offers try a lemon bath. This is much in favor with Cubans and deserves to be better known. Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bath of hot water. When it has cooled sufficiently it will be found wonderfully refreshing. Witch hazel baths are cooling and refreshing, particularly if one is troubled with prickly heat, mosquito bites or stiff joints. Pour in a goodly supply just before stepping in the tub. Sea salt has all the value of dipping in the ocean if used in one's own tub. It can be bought by the package and should be dissolved several hours before bathing. If one suffers from mosquito bites or hives try a bath in which a little carbolic acid has been dissolved. The itching is quickly allayed. Care must be taken not to have the solution too strong. Boracic acid is also good used in the same way.

SUMMER FROCKS THAT WASH

Simple Garments May Be Made Very Attractive by a Little Originality and Ingenuity.

Much originality and ingenuity may be exercised in planning these summer frocks of wash fabric or silk, if one or two salient rules for the cut of the garment be very carefully followed. A gown designed along perfectly correct lines is made collarless, with V or square shaped neck, peasant bodice, elbow sleeves, and high empire waist-line, finished either with a narrow cording of the material or a narrow draped girdle. The skirt may be laid in one-half-inch tucks all around, finished at the lower edge with a plain fifteen or twenty inch flounce, or it may be made with a wide panel in both front and back and circular side portions.

Variety of design is obtained by the addition of applied yokes of contrasting material cut in many original shapes, the same material trimming the sleeves.—Harper's Bazar.

IN MOUSSELINE DE SOIE.

This waist is of black mousseline de soie tucked all over and trimmed underneath with a band of gold lace, which shows through the mousseline de soie. Both the front and back of the waist are bordered with black satin; the corslet and the bottoms of the sleeves are edged with the satin.

The collar and cuffs are of velvet lace, the cravat of black satin.

The New Tunic. The latest fashionable freak of the tunic so persistently present is one of color. From a veil of clouds it has evolved into a white mist and the result is quite sufficiently striking to satisfy the most ardent cultivator of the unique.

One of the handsome creations carrying out this idea was a dark blue tunic with a tunic of sheersat white tulle three-quarter length. A band of heavily embroidered tulle, into which were introduced hints of blue and gold, finished the tunic, which was belted in at the waist with a black, blue and gold cord ending in heavy tassels.

Short Tunics Seen. While the short tunic seemed doomed to a short life last season, it has again been incorporated in the new garments and has the indorsement of Worth, says the Dry Goods Economist. This effect is brought out in some of the smartest gowns, when the waist and short tunic are made in one.

WASTE OF WAR

By Rev. Samuel M. Dick, Pastor of Wesley M. E. Church, Minneapolis.

TEXT—And he will judge between the nations and will decide concerning many peoples; and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more.—Isaiah 2:4.

This prophecy is beginning to reach its fulfillment. When the awful cost in life and treasure is reckoned with, it is astonishing that sensible civilized men should ever resort to war to settle any question. There is another reason apart from its destructive character why war should not be resorted to. It never settles any question. The best it can do is to restate it and put it in another form. Take for illustration the Civil war in this country. Did it settle the race question? Did it settle the slavery problem? Not by any means, but if the amount of money that war cost us during its progress and for pensions since, had been expended among the colored people of this nation for industrial education and other civilizing agencies that race today would have been further advanced in the scale of progressive peoples than it will 500 years from today under the present circumstances.

Christ's kingdom does not come by the sword. It is within you. The patriotism of war rules the world with the sword. The patriotism of peace rules the world with an idea. The one is spectacular and wins instantaneous applause; the other is quiet, unseen and its marks are seen only in generations. One is like a derrick, it moves the mass of iron by force applied in one place; other is like a sunbeam, it moves the mass of iron by the unseen expansion of its molecules.

The maintenance of peace by preparedness for war is out of harmony with the gospel, with reason, with ethics, with economics and with common sense, and any institution that is out of harmony with all these things should be discontinued. The prophet says the nations shall not only settle down to the great industries of peace but that they shall not learn war any more. As long as peace is maintained by overwhelming navies the nations are learning war and the progress of the world is checked. Given national jealousy, hatred, preparedness for war and any trifle is sufficient to produce war. Given national fraternity, great prosperity on the part of the people and no armaments and no problem is sufficiently grave to produce war.

The logic of preserving peace by increasing the navies of the world would finally leave the world power in the hands of one nation. It would be only a matter of time when all nations but one would become bankrupt.

The foolishness of increasing armaments is seen in the experience of our own peaceful republic. For the eight years preceding the Spanish war, our appropriations for the army were a little less than $24,000,000 per annum, and for the navy a little over $27,000,000 per annum. For the eight years preceding 1911 the appropriations for the army sprang to $33,000,000 per annum, and for the navy to more than $102,000,000. We are now spending for army, navy and pensions the enormous sum of $470,000,000, or 72 per cent of the entire revenue of the United States. If this increase alone in the army and navy were turned toward the industries which make a nation rich and happy, it would enable and maintain an industrial and agricultural experiment station in every county in the United States and give it more than $50,000 per annum for its work. What would this mean to the people? Last year our farm products of all kinds were valued at more than $4,700,000,000. With an experiment station conducted as Minnesota is conducting her work among the farmers in every county, with $50,000 per annum to operate it, the agricultural products of this country could easily be doubled, and with its doubling every other industry would keep pace. As it is now, we are spending at least $125,000,000 annually on our army and navy more than is necessary for reasonable national policing, and thereby losing annually more than $4,000,000,000 which we might have if we followed the law of gospel and common sense and used the amount of money to develop the resources of the country that we are now footing away on war measures and getting absolutely nothing for it.

How long, oh how long, will this wickedness and nonsense continue? Abiding in Christ. Abiding in Jesus is nothing but the giving up of one's self to be ruled and taught and led, and so resting in the arms of everlasting love. Blessed rest! The fruit and the foretaste and the fellowship of God's own rest! found in them who thus come to Jesus to abide in him. It is the peace of God, the great calm of the eternal world, that passeth all understanding, that keeps the heart and mind. With this grace secured, we have strength for every duty, courage for every struggle, a blessing in every cross, and the joy of life eternal in death itself.—Rev. Andrew Murray.

Every pew in a crowded church has somebody in it who might become a power for the Lord, if he would only do what he could.

UNIFORM DIVORCE LAWS

The suggestion that the governors of the state each send two delegates to Washington to agree upon a uniform divorce law for all the states must be looked upon as experimental and educational.

In each of the states one could pick delegates who would take either view and there we have a condition for mutual agreement that could hardly be surpassed should somebody send delegates to a convention authorized to fix up a universal religion of common acceptance should a committee be appointed for choosing husbands and wives for all persons who are inclined toward marriage.

Divorce is the natural product of intense individualism, the centering of all interests, hope, faith and love in self. If men and women could get away from this idea for a moment and see it in proper perspective we would see them learning to bear and forbear with better grace, and entertaining greater respect for one another and for the rights of one another.

FAVORITE SONS OF DEMOCRACY. It is now said that New York will send a Dix delegation to the National convention. Maine is expected to send a Plasted delegation, Connecticut a Baldwin delegation, Colorado a Shaf-roth delegation, Indiana a Marshall delegation. New Jersey, Ohio, North Dakota, Oregon and other states will be expected to fall in line with support of their Democratic Governors.

The big independent papers of the East are already taking alarm at this plan. The New York Evening Post fears that a Dix delegation would really be named by Murphy, which, when it left the New York governor, would go to Harmon or some other conservative rather than to Wilson. It is already iterating a demand that the Empire State stand for some one who has a chance to be nominated and who will be independent of Murphy. Its objection is to the favorite son idea, when it is worked simply for the purpose of having a delegation that can be delivered elsewhere when the boss wags his finger.

A bolt of lightning struck a Connecticut farmer and welded the iron monkey wrench and jackknife he had in his pocket. It is a good thing that he didn't happen to have a mowing machine and an extra set of harness in his clothes at the same time.

Col. J. Ham Lewis is back from Madrid with the announcement that the Spaniards propose making a political issue of the blowing up of the Maine charge. Let's see. How many votes will Spain have in the national convention next year?

Champ Clark, who gets thirty-three dollars a day as speaker and five hundred dollars a night as a speaker, was glad enough to have congress adjourn during the Chautauqua season.

Captain Oberlin M. Carter wants the House of Representatives to investigate his case. Exactly, and the Senate should at the same time take up the Snell murder.

It is bound to be but a matter of time until Aviator Atwood got himself lost trying to find those towns he was scheduled to visit.

Oh, no; the President did not pardon Schedule K. He only issued a reprieve.

CHICK FRASER MAKES NEW RECORD

Danville, Ill., Aug. 25.—Chick Fraser ex-Cub and ex-Pelican, established a new strike-out record for Three-Eye league yesterday, fanning fourteen of the Rock Island players and winning the game for the home team 4 to 2.

Many foreigners are declaring their intention to become citizens of the United States at the office of the deputy clerk of the United States district court. Some are coming back from Canada and others from Norway, Germany, Italy, Denmark and Russia.

Miss Anna Olaness, who registered at Snyder a few days ago without having declared her intention of becoming a citizen, was informed by Judge Witten today that she can register a second time at Minot by taking out her first citizenship papers. The first application will be destroyed.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 25.—By retiring six coal and ore vessels into ordinary for fifteen days, the managers get a refund of the insurance premium which will be considered as profit in comparison to the amount the ships would earn. It is said to be impossible for the boats to run light one trip, and break even with the delays they have. Should there be no profitable cargoes in sight at the end of the fifteen days, they will remain in port an additional fifteen days.

RIVERMAN WILL ATTEMPT RAPIDS ON 14 FOOT LOG

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Aug. 25.—James Pollock, a riverman hailing from Tower, Mich., has announced that next Sunday afternoon he will go over the rapids in St. Mary's river on a fourteen-foot log. Only one man not riding a canoe manned by Indian guides has ever accomplished this feat. This man accidentally went over the rapids on a bale of hay when the old steamer Independence blew up at the head of the ship canal about sixty-five years ago. His experience practically paralyzed him.

Pollock will make the attempt for a purse of $50, and has posted a forfeit of $25 that he will make the attempt. Although Indian guides who have shot the rapids for ninety years class Pollock's attempt as an attempt at suicide, he declares the feat will be easy for him.

HEROIC MOTHER MAY LOSE CLAIM

Minot, N. D., Aug. 24.—After living five years on a claim and supporting two children, Mrs. Varvaon Simunten, whose husband dropped out of sight five years ago, may lose her homestead, according to a decision handed down by Judge Witten, superintendent of the Berthold Indian reservation opening today. Judge Witten ruled that she cannot prove up on the five-year plan without establishing her husband's death. Seven years' absence from the state is required in order to establish death by presumption.

Mrs. Simunten filed on a homestead nine years ago when she was unmarried, proved up by commutation and later married Nicolli Simunten. One winter night Nicolli went out to do the chores and that was the last seen of him. The police conducted a search for several years, but without avail. It is thought he met with foul play.

Twins were born to Mrs. Simunten a few weeks after her husband's disappearance, and she has worked hard to support the family, hoping that she could prove up the claim at the end of five years. Her husband never took out his first papers and that makes matters worse. A special act of congress would be required to give Mrs. Simunten title to the land unless she can raise $250 to prove up by commutation as the agent of her husband. This she cannot do.

That crops in North Dakota are excellent is the statement of W. C. Wampler of Dayton, Ohio, and P. M. Pough, of Camden, Ohio, who came to Minot to register in an automobile, traveling 1,500 miles. "Our first impressions of North Dakota are first class," said Mr. Pough today. "We were particularly impressed with the wheat crop in the Red River valley. We are going to Regina, Canada, to look over the country there and then will return to Ohio."

NEW YORK MARKETS

Although the market was under heavy pressure the greater part of the day and although the support in Steel around 70 appeared to have been temporarily withdrawn, the stock market had taken as a whole did not suffer the severe decline which ordinarily might have been expected in view of the aggressiveness of the element committed to the decline, investment demand has been moderate but not of sufficient importance to warrant enthusiasm but the borrowing demand for stocks on a broad scale and many issues are lending flat. The general tendency may still be downward but a rally at least of moderate extent seems to be in order.

USES HEADLIGHT FOR HARVESTING

Argyle, Minn., Aug. 25.—Eugene La Bine, a Marshall county farmer, is harvesting 500 acres of wheat with one machine, working day and night. The binder is run with eight horses, four to a shift, and a headlight is used at night, throwing light over the wheat ahead. The night shift of horses stand the work much better than those used in the heat of the day and La Bine predicts night binding will become the vogue in the northwest.

Amusements

THE PETERSON. It can readily be seen that a tremendous amount of scenery is needed to display these gorgeous effects. A large company is required for the many characters involved. For the musical numbers a chorus of much charm and beauty is promised. Fifteen song hits are heard, all tinkling, teasing and tuneful, and it is a safe guarantee that "The Cow and the Moon" will prove a most enjoyable evenings entertainment. Mr. Sellon has provided a strong cast of extravaganza players including Maude Amanda Scott, Hazel Rice, Bess Taft, Clarence Sterling, Mm. Gross, Walter Wilson and many others. The date here is for Tuesday Aug. 29th at the Peterson.

WOMEN TO RAISE FUND FOR McNAMARA DEFENSE.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—Women and girls employed in the bureau of engraving and printing will raise money for the assistance of John J. McNamara, secretary of the structural iron workers' union, now in jail at Los Angeles, Cal., charged with dynamiting the Los Angeles Times building. The sympathies of the women were aroused by a speech made to them by Representative Frank Buchanan of Chicago. Mr. Buchanan read a letter from McNamara in which the labor leader made a complete denial of the charges against him.

MAN DEAD; GIRLS HELD

New York, Aug. 25.—Three girls are held as witnesses in the case of James McNearney, who was found dead in his apartment in 126th street today. He was shot through the heart.

Only McNearney's body was in the room when the police arrived. Half a dozen bullets were in the walls. Neighbors told of an early morning melee in the apartment.

The girls under arrest were found several hours later in a neighboring house. They gave their names as Julia Crowe, Mary Byrne and Margaret Flino. The police say the latter was McNearney's wife.

One of the tenants, awakened by the fusillade, said she saw Margaret Flino trying to crawl out of a window to a fire escape and that a man and Miss Byrne pulled her back. She also said she saw another man inside the room where the shooting took place. The trio denied any knowledge of the affair.

TURKISH SECRETARY WEDS ST. PAUL GIRL.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 25.—St. Paul society is adfuter over the marriage today of Richard Edward Blacque Bey, first secretary of the Turkish ministry at Berlin, and Miss Josephine Kalman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Kalman, of this city. Over a thousand invitations were issued for the ceremony in the sacristy of the cathedral by Bishop Lawler of St. Paul. The bridesmaids chosen were Miss Cecilia Kalman, sister of the bride, and Miss Katherine Beresford, daughter of Admiral Lord Beresford of England.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, Now Her Girls Are Grown, is Ready to Aid Her Husband in Work as Governor

Trenton, N. J., Aug. 25.—"I believe that the successful wife is the one who meets her husband at every turn. She must be his intellectual complement as well as his companion and housekeeper. Now that my daughters are grown up, I can devote more time out of my home than I was able to in years gone by."

This statement was made by Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, wife of Gov. Wilson of New Jersey, last night, as she made final preparations to aid her husband in a better understanding of the conditions existing in the state institutions of New Jersey.

Mrs. Wilson, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, is here this morning on a automobile tour of state institutions of feeble-minded.

"This trip of the governor" she said, "is one that particularly interests me. We are looking into what is being done in our institutions to correct mental and physical infirmities. My daughter Jessie, who goes with me, is specializing—if I may use that word—in settlement work. Ever since she finished her course at college in Baltimore, and after she had

GOOD ROADS MEETING

It is quite possible that the Good Roads Association, which will meet in Lansing on Sept. 1, will serve to put the road question more forcibly in the minds of the people of the upper peninsula. The meeting is for the purpose of talking about the improvements of roads throughout the state of Michigan.

Every small town and city will be requested to send as many delegates as possible in order to get the idea plainly before every farming district. It is probable that there will hardly be a town in Michigan that will not send one or more delegates to the convention. The same thing was tried in Indiana two years ago and so many delegates attended that it was necessary to use three hotels in Indianapolis for their accommodation during the good roads congress. The report from that meeting was a good one and a year later the report of word done by suggestions received at the convention was very encouraging to the road association of that state.

People of Delta county are greatly interested in the good roads question and it is quite possible that many will attend the good roads convention who are not named as delegates. They will simply go to hear what is said concerning the improvement and the building of good roads where heretofore there have been none.

MISS ESTHER CLEVELAND TO MARRY THE SON OF A PRINCETON PROFESSOR

New York, Aug. 25.—A dispatch from Tamsworth, N. H., this afternoon states that it is reported there that Esther Cleveland, eldest daughter of the late President Grover Cleveland, is soon to marry Randolph D. West, son of Professor Andrew West of Princeton University. Miss Cleveland is about twenty years old.

ACTS RESULT OF HYPNOTIC SPELL

Green Bay, Wis., Aug. 25.—Can the responsibility for the recent queer actions of Leonard Phillips, the Chicagoan who was detained in the custody of Sheriff Peter A. Van Veghel since Monday, be traced to his being repeatedly in a state of hypnotism? Mr. Phillips, it is said by persons connected with the sheriff's office, was the subject of hypnotic demonstrations with a show. His actions in staring at the sun or a bright light resembled the manner of a person hypnotized.

The usual state in which the young man had been for two days changed entirely yesterday afternoon and he talked with County Judge Merrill, Assistant District Attorney Fred D. Merrill and others connected with the court. The judge was convinced that Mr. Phillips' mind was normal and discharged him. Mr. Phillips and his sister departed for Chicago. Dr. Olmsted and Dr. Moreaux of Luxemburg first conducted an examination to test his sanity and they pronounced him of sound mind.

It was at Luxemburg that Mr. Phillips first attracted the attention of the authorities. He got off the west bound Green Bay road train Monday afternoon and, with a prayer book in his hand, gazed at the sun for over an hour. He was brought to this city that evening and while in jail stared at electric lights and when out of doors stood looking at the sun. A change came over his mental condition during yesterday afternoon and the man proved to be as rational as anyone.

EXPECT NEW DIETZ TRIAL

Fond du Lac, Wis., Aug. 25.—Attorney Maurice McKenna, lending counsel for John F. Dietz, has received the second installment of 300 pages of the Hayward trial. This makes 600 pages in all, about half the record. Court Reporter A. H. Shoemaker, himself a lawyer, is giving all his spare time to the matter, and Mr. McKenna is certain that he will have the entire record in his possession before many weeks.

The Hayward trial was one of the longest in the history of criminal prosecutions in the state, and the work of going over it is naturally a big one. However, Attorney McKenna is positive that counsel for the defense will be ready to put the matter up to the supreme court by January.

One thing is certain, and that is if there are longer delays they will not be the fault of the defense. As soon as Dietz is granted a new trial, his counsel will be ready for trial and will force the issue. They are anxious to cut the Cameron Dam defender's period of confinement at Waupun as short as possible.

In the meantime all reports from Waupun indicate that Dietz is doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances. He suffers a little from an injury he received fifteen years ago from a fall, but that has always troubled him more or less every year. As far as the hand injury during the cabin siege is concerned, it is now better than it has been at any time since the injury was received. In fact, the hand has not shown evidences of an infection since Dietz has been a prisoner.

"The Indian Brothers"

The Story of an Indian's Honor

"A Famous Duel"

This very amusing film makes use of an old subject to create new fun. The foreign nobleman thinks he is insulted by the good-natured American clubman and challenges him to a duel. The American knows nothing of fencing and is very much afraid that the heroine won't arrive in time to save him. She does though and the clubman (John R. Campbell) has a chance to tell his version of the story.

"Memories of Past Life"

In this love story we first see a girl announcing her engagement at a birthday party. A famous painter paints her portrait which leads to another love affair, and the girl deserts her first love, ultimately marrying the painter. Many years later a nephew of the first man falls in love with the daughter of the artist and the uncle gives his consent because of the girl's resemblance to his own first love.

ARTIST AND TWIRLER CLASH WITH FISTS

Chicago, August 25.—Tom Hughes, pitcher of the Washington team in the American league, and Edward Johnson, a Chicago artist, fought out a lively encounter in an alley back of a downtown hotel tonight until stopped and arrested by the police. Both men took a severe drubbing and were bleeding freely when arrested.

The trouble started in the grill room of the hotel, when Johnson criticized Hughes' pitching in Tuesday's game against the Chicago Americans.

Hughes is said to have suggested that he and Johnson settle their differences of opinion by a round of fist-cuffs.

"You're on," Johnson replied. "If you can't fight any better than you pitch, I'll win easily."

Charles King was selected as referee. Hughes and Johnson repaired to the alley, removed hats, coats and neckwear and the fight started.

King and Johnson were forced to spend the night in a cell at the Harrison street police station for their part in the bout. Hughes was released on a cash bond and departed for Detroit with his team. Before he left, however, Hughes shook hands with Johnson and declared the incident closed.

Mr. Manton's Methods

By CLAUDINE SISSON

(Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.)

Life was very easy for Gordon Manton, bachelor. He had the fortune left by an aunt—he had very few worries—he was a bachelor with no thought of marriage—he had no lads to keep him awake at night.

Mr. Manton could have spared the money to build three or four free libraries, but he didn't build them. In a vague way he realized that the world ought to be made better, but he knew that it was a sure thing the first man he reproved for profanity would hit him on the jaw. The poor suffered for ice in summer and for coal in winter; but the rich suffered from imposters, thieves and burglars the year round, and that appeared to be an offset.

He had only to glance over his morning paper, to see that this was a very wicked world. It ought to be so, however, to furnish a contrast to Heaven. If the world were good enough then what would become of the arguments of priests and ministers?

One summer afternoon Mr. Manton lay down on the lounge for a nap. He knew that thousands of the men around him couldn't indulge in this luxury and earn their bread at the same time, but in a sleepy way he reflected that those thousands had their glasses of beer every night, while he positively disliked the liquid. He had slept for an hour when he quietly awoke to find an intruder in his room. It was a ragged girl of fifteen. She was down on her knees riding a bureau.

"If you knocked or rang I didn't hear you," he said as he sat up.

The girl rose up and looked him in the eyes for half a minute.

"It was over the roofs and through the window for me. You were sleepand went down. When he recovered consciousness he was in a bare room, hands and feet tied, and a couple of hard-looking men waiting for the event. They had gone through him, but that was a mere trifle. They wanted five thousand dollars to give him his liberty. Mr. Manton didn't rage. It was a straight business proposition. Only that day he had read of thirteen members of a state legislature being arrested for offering to sell themselves. Was this crime worse? He didn't charge that it was. He simply refused to buy himself at the sum named.

The kidnapers were not cruel men. They simply wanted their money. They fed their captive and waited with what patience they could. And then one night came Janet. She entered by the skylight, but her hands and face were clean and her hair brushed. She cast the captive loose and then said:

"I ain't stole a thing since that day."

"That's pretty fair," replied Mr. Manton.

"And don't you think I look nice?"

"You surely do."

"It's because you let me fall in love with you. I want to please, you know. An uncle of mine is in this job. Going to bring the cops down on him when you get out."

"Not at all, young woman. Two weeks ago a real estate man who is called eminently respectable came near beating me out of twenty thousand dollars. Why should I blame a couple of men not so eminently respectable for trying to do me out of a quarter of that sum?"

"I guess you'll be glad to hear I've got a place in a box factory at four dollars a week!"

"Yes, that's good. Most all thieves, robbers and burglars admit there's no profit in their trade."

"You rather be loved by a factory girl than by a thief, I know. I'm thinking of you most all the time. Well, we've got to shun up the rope and make over the roofs."

Fifteen minutes later Mr. Manton was on the street and walking homeward. He met several patrolmen and passed two police stations, but he had nothing to say. Janet's uncle and his pal had tried to extort money from him, which is a prison offense. He passed hundreds of buildings whose owners were squeezing the tenants down to the last cent to pile up their own profits. Why not a law to punish them?

Two weeks later the bachelor received a scrawl on a postal card which read:

"I guess you'll be glad to hear my wages have ris to five dollars a week, Janet."

Yes; he was glad. It was three months before another card came. It read:

"My wages has ris to six dollars a week and I have a bow, but I'm loving you still."

Then a year passed, and a third card announced a "ris" to eight dollars and "more love" and four months later the climax:

"I am now the 4 lady, and have got married to Tony Griggs, but he says I may still love you. Respectably, yours, Janet."

"And if I had preached reform to her where would she have been?" asked the bachelor of himself as he laid down the postal. "Seems to me it's just about as well to let things work out by themselves!"

Hall.

Hall is the frozen precipitation from the air that belongs to the summer while snow belongs to the winter. Hallstones clash together in the air, and the sound of an approaching or retreating hallstorm is very characteristic. Their large size permits them to acquire great velocity while falling, and this makes a hallstorm destructive. The prevailing theory as to the formation of hall is that powerful ascending air currents carry raindrops and hail snow upward, where they are frozen and chilled, forming bodies on which rapid condensation takes place when they fall to a warm and moist stratum below. This theory explains the layering of structure often found, but does not explain the angularity of many hallstones.

Honesty Rewarded.

A charming story of a working girl's good fortune comes from High Wycombe, Buckinghamshire, England. A few days ago the girl saw something fall from a passing motor car. She immediately signaled to the occupants, who turned back, and when she handed up the "find" a sovereign was placed in her hand, to her great amazement. When asked what she would have done had she not attracted their attention, the girl said she would have taken the package to the police. The party thereupon took her for a trip to London and back to Oxford, and in the end presented her with a gold watch and chain.

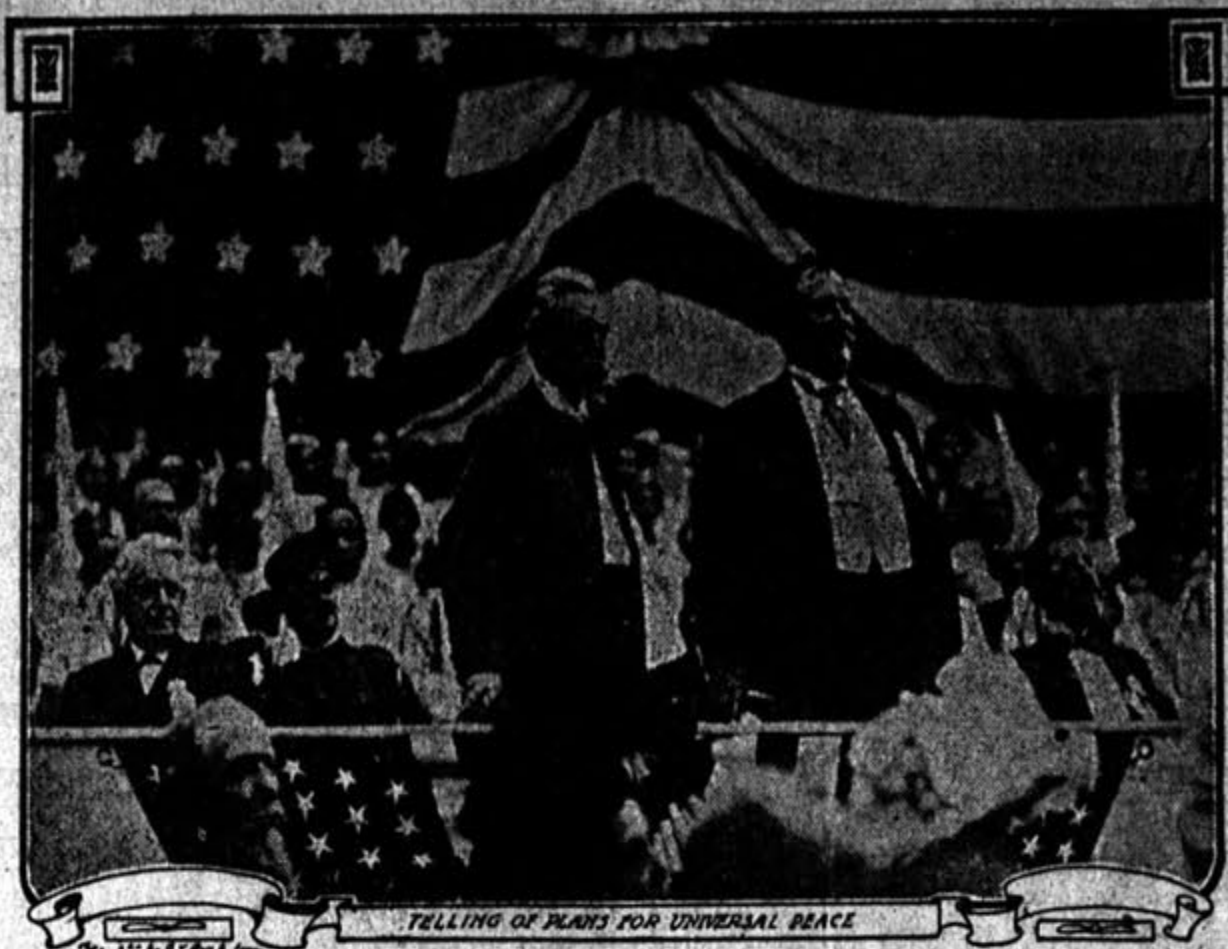

Turning Night into Day.

When the doors opened in the little Indiana theater a farmer wandered in and looked around.

"Ticket, please," said the doorman.

"The only thing I've got agin these here coppers," said the Hoosier as he walked away, "is that they don't give till bedtime."—Success Magazine.

NOTABLE FISH BOOK

Scientific and Literary Work of Much Magnitude.

Task Begun Years Ago by Dr. C. H. Eigenmann, Dean of Graduate School of Indiana University, Near Completion.

Pittsburg—A scientific and literary task of much magnitude, which was begun several years ago by Mr. C. H. Eigenmann, curator of fishes at the graduate school of Indiana university, is nearing completion and will appear in book form in the near future. Dr. Eigenmann is known as an authority upon the fresh water fish of South America. August 28, 1908, accompanied by an assistant, he sailed from New York for British Guiana, South America, arriving in Georgetown September 6. During the fall and winter following he explored the rivers of British Guiana and brought home nearly 40,000 specimens.

Selections from every species were reserved for the Carnegie museum. The remaining duplicates were distributed in exchange for collections from different countries, the exchange being made with the United States National museum, the Field museum of Chicago Museum of Comparative Zoology of Harvard university, the British museum in London, the Royal museum in Berlin, the Imperial museum in Vienna, the Natural museum of France, and many other. In this way, the collection of the Carnegie museum has been greatly enlarged.

One important and interesting result of Professor Eigenmann's expedition was the discovery of more than 100 species of fresh water fishes new to science. These "types" made the Carnegie museum the possessor of about 600 species of the 2,500 known. This is a remarkable accomplishment in view of the fact that the Carnegie museum is the youngest of the world's great scientific institutions of this character. A type in scientific parlance is the particular specimen of an object in the natural world which is used as a basis for the first scientific description of it.

MUSIC TO REFORM CONVICTS

Orchestra Leader Is Appointed to Make Novel Experiment in the Atlanta Federal Prison.

Atlanta, Ga.—Believing that music has the power to work a reformation in the hearts of convicts, the United States department of justice is trying an experiment at the Atlanta federal prison. J. P. Mathieson, of Atlanta, a director of several orchestras in the city and a composer, has recently been appointed by Attorney-General Wickersham to take charge of the musical feature of the prison work.

For some time past there has been an orchestra at the prison, but there was no trained man to lead it. The men were so deeply interested in the work of the orchestra, however, and it seemed to give them so much pleasure, that Warden Meyer believed it would eventually aid at least in bringing them to a better kind of life. With this end in view he asked for the appointment of an orchestra leader.

An examination was held under civil service rules and Mathieson got the place. He has found the interest intense. He intends to organize a band, in the near future, as well as the orchestra. New music is being obtained every day. Warden Meyer is well pleased with the progress up to date.

DOG TELEPHONES FOR HELP

Locked in Store, Rover Yelps into Instrument and Police Finally Come to His Rescue.

East Orange, N. J.—Rover, a yellow dog owned by Michael Ballotti, a bootblack, of 39 1/2 Greenwood avenue, this city, called help when it found itself locked up in the shop, by knocking down the telephone, calling central, and then sending such noises over the wire that the telephone operator sent word to the police that something was wrong in the shop. The result was that a policeman was sent there and the dog was released.

Rover, in his efforts to reconcile himself to his imprisonment, had eaten most of Bellotti's blacking. He also had reduced the shop to a condition of unprecedented disorder.

One of the girls in the telephone exchange was nodding near the switchboard early when a call came from the Bellotti telephone.

"Hello!" she said.

There was no human response, but she heard coming over the wire a whining and snarling noise, and at intervals, the sound of things falling. Once she thought she heard a human being pleading for mercy, and immediately afterward came a gurgling sound. The uncanny noises worked on her nerves, and she called up police headquarters.

"I am sure there is something wrong in Bellotti's," she said. "The noises there are simply terrible."

Patrolman Zink rushed to the place, forced a window and found Rover making desperate efforts to get out.

Limit on Her Stay

Magistrate Says Ten Days Is Enough for Mother-in-Law.

Would Be Far Better Appreciated if They Would Shorten Their Visits and Confine Themselves to Postal Cards.

New York—Magistrate McGuire, in the Flatbush court, fixed ten days as the limit for visits for mothers-in-law. The case in point was that in which young Mrs. May Coyle had summoned her mother-in-law, also Mrs. May Coyle, a resident of Boston, to come on a charge of disturbing her domestic peace and happiness.

Harry Coyle, son of Mrs. May Coyle of Boston, sat back in the rear of the court room and never opened his mouth. His pretty young wife did all the talking and painted her mother-in-law as a "kill joy" and a "carina."

"She came down from Boston ten days ago," said the younger Mrs. Coyle, "and took charge of everything. Every time I opened my mouth she squelched me. I didn't know how to cook; I didn't know how to wash the baby; I didn't know how to do this, that or the other thing. She broke all our rules and made new ones; she told us how they did things in Boston, and that that was the only right way. Finally she turned my husband against me, and I had to take myself and my baby home to mother. I telephoned her to go home, but she refused."

Capital to Lead in High Prices War

WASHINGTON.—The high cost of living is becoming a live topic again. Much of the mail that comes to members of congress daily deals with the subject. Constituents of senators and representatives are saying that if the legislative body can do anything to bring prices of the necessities of life down, it ought to do it. Among public men there is very general agreement that the topic will be to the front in the presidential campaign next year.

James Wilson, secretary of agriculture, has come forward with the suggestion that every large municipality ought to take up the cost of living problem. He thinks the problem of reducing the cost of living is one that must be settled by municipalities. Federal legislation can, he declares, at best do but little toward bringing prices down.

The secretary is trying to persuade the leading citizens of the national capital to get in behind an inquiry here as to why things people have to buy are so high. He has a notion that if Washington would conduct an investigation that resulted in obtaining cheaper food for the people, other cities would soon become interested.

Secretary Wilson suggests that President Taft appoint a commission to study the situation here at the national capital. The president has indicated that he is willing to carry out the suggestion of his secretary of agriculture if the people of Washington would indicate that they really want such an investigation made.

"One of the most pitiful things of modern times," said Secretary Wilson, "is the manner in which the poor of the large cities are beaten down by the prices which prevail at this time. The prices are such that no man working for ordinary wages can meet them. They are beyond the pocketbook of the poor, and there is nothing that gives the poor any protection from them. This condition undoubtedly prevails in nearly every city."

"The farmer does not get half the price the consumer pays. Many persons are inclined to place the blame for high prices on the farmers, but as a matter of fact the farmers are not benefited by the high prices. A few middlemen, selected individuals, who step in between the farmer and the consumer, are the persons who reap the benefit."

Huge Guns Will Shoot Fifteen Miles

THINK of a gun which will hurl a 1,400-pound projectile through nine inches of the best face-hardened steel 15 miles away from where it is fired! This is what Uncle Sam's new 14-inch guns will do. They will shoot beyond the horizon. In other words, the range of the monsters with which the two new battleships, New York and Texas, will be equipped is greater than it is possible to see a target the size of a ship of the Delaware type. Under the most favorable conditions not even the tall masts of the Delaware could be seen from a ship of the same size 15 miles away. And the new 14-inch gun is effective at that range.

The navy department has just completed a successful test of the gun and work will go forward at once in the Washington factory to make the 20 huge weapons needed for the two vessels.

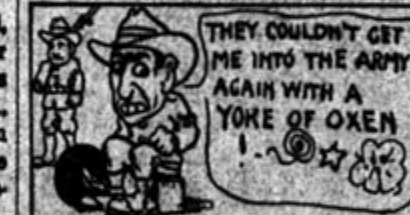

The recent tests made with the naval service 12-inch gun on the old battleship Texas in Chesapeake bay showed that the efficiency of the gun-makers had reached a high state. These 12-inch guns literally made a sieve of the Texas at a range of 12,000 yards, or six miles. It was the longest range at which actual shooting had ever been done. Eight to ten miles is about the maximum for these guns.

The new 14-inch gun's weight is 62.6 tons. The diameter at the breech or butt is 47 inches and at the muzzle 24 inches. The cost of one gun and breech is $74,770. The carriage upon which the gun will be mounted in the turret of the vessel will cost $50,000.

The projectile weighs 1,400 pounds, is 66 inches, or five and one half feet, in length and costs $450. It is loaded with a bursting charge of 45 pounds of "dunnite." The powder charge used behind the projectile to give it velocity consists of four bags of 50 pounds each of smokeless nitrocellulose, yet even then it would be over half a minute from the time of firing before the projectile would hit the mark 15 miles away.

Army Regulations Are Being Modified

ARMY regulations are being changed for the benefit of the enlisted man. The old rules which have added to the hardships of the common soldier are being modified to keep pace with modern ideas of humanity and justice, and, in the course of a short time, it is hoped that conditions will be so far improved that desertions will be practically unknown and reenlistment will be general. Gen. Leonard Wood, chief of staff, is working out the proposed changes and his efforts have the sympathy of President Taft, who ever since his administration as secretary of war has been interested in the enlisted man.

As long as the ancient regulations continued in force, both President Taft and General Wood agreed, little real amelioration of the soldier's condition could be brought about. As long as young soldiers were sent to jail and herded with criminals for trivial offenses, they believe, the army would continue to be shunned by a large class of desirable men who would otherwise be inclined to enter the service.

One of the first reforms to be inaugurated was that of the sentences administered for slight infractions of army law. The most common of these offenses now, as it has been for many generations, is desertion, and most of the desertions are unintentional. Upon conviction the culprits are sentenced to three to six months in a military prison, not because their offense merited such punishment, but because the ancient regulations had it that way.

Under the new system the punishment for mild cases of desertion is merely a deprivation of leave, extra work or the cutting off of special allowances. The guardhouse is only to be used for real offenders and the military prison for hardened criminals.

The Progress of Our Game Protection

THE report of Dr. T. S. Palmer of the government's biological survey on "The Progress of Game Protection" is an exceedingly interesting document. It bears every evidence of careful study of conditions. Nothing is set down which in any way can be attributed to guesswork. It can be regarded as accurate and authentic. Doctor Palmer is known to scientists as a man of method with an infinite love of the subject of which he is making a life study.

Deer, moose, elk and other big game of pronounced economic value are increasing in numbers. With the awakened interest in their protection and with the constant improvement in laws intended to save useful species there are sound reasons for the belief that future generations of Americans will know the animals that man today knows, and that legitimate sport will be possible in the years to come. The movement for the conservation of the natural resources of the country takes full heed of the necessity for the preservation of the wild birds and mammals.

Some few species of big game are now so scarce that they are almost extinct. The government has control only of such game animals as are to be found in the territory directly under federal rule. Notwithstanding this limited authority the additional protection given the wild life in recent years by the several states is due largely to the efforts of the officials of the United States biological survey, which is a bureau of the department of agriculture. For several years each winter the government's scientists have appeared before the different state legislatures to urge protection for the birds and mammals, and as a result of their efforts nearly uniform laws are in force all over the country.

BIG BASE BALL TRADE TALKED

Philadelphia, Aug. 25.—President Egel of the Phillies certainly is a modest person. He wants to trade off the ancient and honorable, but still effective Earl Moore. He shows his modesty in what he asks for Moore.

All Fogel demands of the Cubs for Earl is Schulte and Reulbach—a slugger who has made twenty home runs this year and a pitcher who is great once he hits his stride.

Of the Pirates Fogel wants Babe Adams and Vincent Campbell and of the Giants Rube Marquard. Either Chance or Clarke would be lynched if they traded as Fogel wishes and McGraw might get the same dose if he let go of Marquard.

Fogel did offer to throw in an outfielder for Schulte and Reulbach, but did not name the party.

New York, August 25.—Manager Chance of the Cubs denied last night that he was trying to get Pitcher Moore of the Phillies. There was a rumor today that he had offered Cole and either Hofman or Good for the Philadelphia twirler. Chance's statement concerning the rumored deal was "nothing doing."

MARTY O'TOOLE HAS A DOUBLE

Steve Evans is always on a live one, says W. J. O'Connor, a correspondent with the Cardinals. The last day in Pittsburgh about 7,000 fans hid themselves to the ballyard to see Marty O'Toole. Coming back on the car, which was crowded, everybody was talking about O'Toole.

Steve Evans hopped on and found Ivey Wingo standing in about the middle of the car. Ivey had red hair, and looked a great deal like O'Toole. This was Steve's cue:

He braced Ivey with extended mitt, and spied in a strange whisper: "Hello, Marty. How do you like Pittsburgh?"

The crowd ate it up. One public-spirited citizen introduced himself to Wingo, and invited him (Wingo) to call around for lunch the following day. Then Steve asked Wingo about his great pitching feats in St. Paul; and in the meantime many passengers rode past their intended destination. Steve never overlooks a bet.

Seemed to give him a New Stomach. "I suffered intensely after eating and no medicine or treatment I tried seemed to do any good," writes E. M. Youngsters, editor of The Sun, Lake View, Ohio. "The first few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets gave me surprise and relief and the second bottle seemed to give me a new stomach and perfectly good health." THE EYE EASILY DECEIVED.

Look through a red glass, at a bed of scarlet geraniums, and the flowers will look white in the sunlight. This discovery has been used by artists to photograph colors. It shows how easily the eye is deceived. But use any glass with golden grain belt beads, and they will not deceive you by altering your opinion that they are the true table beverage for the home, and fatigue preventative for the family.

Constipation and indigestion are twins. They kill people inch by inch, sap life away every day. Hollister's Rocy Mountain Tea will remove the cause and drive the disease away. 35 cents, Tea or Tablets. For sale by Hill Drug Store.

TOM CHIVINGTON WILL GO THE WAY OF JOEY O'BRIEN, ED GRILLO AND TOM HICKEY

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 24.—On January 1, according to the best advice obtainable on the subject, Mr. Thomas Chivington, now president of the American Association, will wrap the mantle of his office about him and lay him down alongside of Tom Hickey, Joe Grillo and Joe O'Brien. For at that secret meeting of the league held in Chicago when the famous petition was forwarded to the national commission, it was also decided to place the aside under Thomas as leader of the league.

Holding the office of president of the association is a precarious task. O'Brien was rolled to make room for a president of Tebeau's choosing, and now Tebeau is said to have it put up

SENATORS WINS ONE AND DROPS OTHER

Detroit, Aug. 25.—The Senators and Tigers split the double bill today, the visitors taking the first 16 to 2 and dropping the second 7 to 6 in ten innings. The Bengais seemed to be trying to set a new world's record for misplays in the first as they were credited with 11 errors. In the second the locals were able to connect with 14 off Cashlon's delivery.

The Score—1st game: R. H. E. Washington 16 16 0 Detroit 2 10 11 Batteries—Johnson and Street. Mullin and Stange.

The Score—2nd game: R. H. E. Washington 6 9 0 Detroit 7 14 3 Batteries—Cashlon and Henry. Willett and Schmidt. Umpires—Perrin and Dineen.

BOSTON TAKES BOTH ENDS OF DOUBLE FROM BROWNS.

St. Louis, Aug. 25.—Boston cleaned up on the locals in both games today 3 to 2 and 6 to 2. The first game was a fight between Wood and Lake, the former allowing 7 and the latter 8 hits. In the second Hamilton was pounded for 11 swats.

The Score—1st game: R. H. E. Boston 3 8 1 St. Louis 2 7 5 Batteries—Wood and Nunamaker. Lake and Stephens.

The Score—2d game: R. H. E. Boston 6 11 3 St. Louis 2 3 3 Batteries—Thomas and Carrigan. Hamilton and Krickell. Umpire—O'Laughlin.

YANKS ARE CLEANED UP BY WHITE SOX.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Although binged for 13 safe ones today Scott managed to keep them scattered and won from the Yanks 6 to 5. Fisher was touched for 8 safe swats.

The Score: R. H. E. New York 5 13 2 Chicago 6 8 2 Batteries—Fisher andweeney. Scott and Block. Umpires—Evans and Mullin.

CLEVELAND PITCHERS IN FIGHT ON STREET CAR.

Akron, Ohio, Aug. 25.—After Fred Blanding, pitcher of the Cleveland American league club had thrashed Nat Haynes, an Akron comedian, following a quarrel on a traction car near Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, last night Blanding, Eugene Krapp, William Mitchell and Crum Kaler, all pitchers for the Cleveland team were placed under arrest.

When the facts were presented to County Prosecutor Frank Rockwell of Akron, he refused to give up an affidavit and allowed all four players to go. Last night the players entered a loaded car and found Haynes occupying to full seats with his feet and baggage. On advice of the motorman they threw the baggage on the floor. A fight followed.

BEST SPORT IN THE GAME

To be the "best sport" in base ball in the best sense of the words is an honor that many covet. Every league every team, has in its record many instances of unselfish sportsmanship on the part of the players. Stories are common of men staying in the game when they should be in the hospital of players going through the daily grind and performing brilliantly when their physical condition was such that it would have kept many men from work involving much less physical and mental exertion than base ball.

Detroit has its roll of honor, and without an effort one can call to mind numberless instances. Right now Delehanty is giving a fine example of gameness. On the last eastern trip Cobb added another leaf to his laurels by staying in the game. Early this season Eddie Collins played with the Athletics ran bases darily and fielded brilliantly when he might as well have been on crutches.

bedecked with medals by an admiring populace.

According to reports from Detroit, the board of commerce, of that city, has arranged the finest and most extensive program ever prepared for a visiting delegation. It is now up to the people of the upper peninsula to show appreciation of their hosts' efforts by sending a large and representative excursion. The upper peninsula visitors will be met upon their arrival at the Detroit dock with a band and a reception committee, whence they will be escorted to the city hall, and formally welcomed. The two days' stay in the city will be a continual round of pleasure, and one afternoon will be spent at the baseball park, watching Detroit and Chicago play the great national game. Drives to the city's many beauty spots and tours through automobile and other manufacturing plants will be other attractive features of the entertainment as planned.

"This will be the first time in history that a delegation representing the entire upper peninsula has invaded Detroit," said a local businessman yesterday, "and it is important to every business and industry north of the straits that we visitors make a good impression. Most Detroiters have a much mistaken idea of the upper peninsula and its people and here is a golden opportunity to set them right. It seems to me that no progressive business man can afford to miss this opportunity to advertise himself and his part of the state, and every industry will be many times repaid by having official representatives with the excursionists. I think at the last moment there will be more who want to go than the boat will accommodate, but by delaying sending in their applications for reservations, they are causing the committee much needless anxiety."

C. & H. Band Programs.

The Calumet & Hecla band has been engaged for the trip and Director Barnard has arranged the following programs to be played on the boat:

- Program No. 1:
Overture, "Fra Diavolo," Suppe.
Selection, "Madam Sherry," Hochsna.
- Cornet solo, "Columbia Polka," Rollinson, Fred S. Cowley.
- "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," descriptive, Lovenberg.
- Selection, "Attila," Verdi.
- Vocal solo, "Asleep in the Deep,"

Petrie—Frank Simonich.
"Southern Memories, Hecker.
March, "Hail! Hail! the Gang's all Here," Bellsted.

Program No. 2:
Overture, "William Tell," Rossini.
Selection, "Bright Eyes," Hoschna.
Euphonium solo, "Torreador Song from Carmen," Henry R. King.
"Battle of San Juan Hill," descriptive, Sweet.
Quartet from "Rigoletto," Verdi.
Mexican serenade, "La Paloma," Missud.

Reminiscences of all nations, Godfried.
"A Slippery Place," comic rag march—Hacher.

Program No. 3:
Selection, "Golden Girl," Howard.
Piccolo solo, "The Mocking Bird," Damar—Joseph Smith.

Blue Danube waltzes, Strauss.
"Old Kentucky Home," solo for different instruments, Daloy.
"Flirtation," duet for fuet and clarinet, Barnard—John Herman and August Torreano.

Remick's Hits No. 8—Lampe.
March, "Mr. Rooster," Lampe.

Program No. 4:
Overture, "Mill on the Cliff," Boesinger.
Selection, "Girl in the Train," Fall.

"Miserere," from "Il Trovatore," Verdi—F. S. Crowley and H. R. King.
Echoes from the Metropolitan opera house, Moses.

"What's the Matter With Father?" humoresque, Lampe.
Piccolo solo, "Skylark polka, Meyer—Joseph Smith.

A—"Imorzetta," Mexican dance, Barnard.
B—"Pizzicato" polka, Strauss.
Medley, "All Alone," Von Tilzer.

AUTOIST WAS SCARED OF CROWD OF AUSTRIANS

Frightened by a gang of Austrians who had crowded into the road a short distance within the city limits at North Escanaba the driver of a small red automobile was cowed until he saw an Escanaba man driving a horse pass through the crowd with little difficulty. The driver of the horse found the autoist standing a short distance up the road from the crowd of Austrians with his machine shut off and evidently fearing to force his way through the crowd. He appealed to the driver of the rig for aid but as the Escanaba man had passed the men without being molested he turned a deaf ear and the autoist finally mustered sufficient courage to make a wild dash through the crowd and without any in the party attempting to molest him.

LAKE TOWBOAT MISSING WITH A CREW OF TEN

Detroit, Aug. 25.—A dispatch from Midland, Ont., says that the small steamer and tow-boat C. C. Martin, of Midland, with a crew of ten persons, was probably lost in a storm on Georgian bay Monday night. The barge Albatross, in tow of the Martin, sank during the gale, but her crew reached the lighthouse at the mouth of the French river last night in a yawl boat. Nothing has been heard from the Martin.

As soon as the survivors of the Albatross reported last night their battle with the storm, searching parties went out for trace of the Martin. They returned this afternoon, without success. Among the ten persons on the Martin were Captain George Vent and his wife, Richard Nella, James Hook and Charles Oliver, all of Midland.

FIND ORE WHEN NAME IS CHANGED

Helena, Mont., Aug. 25.—A strike of fine copper ore has been made in the old Morran property in Picnic gulch near the village of Wickes. The property is owned and operated by Stephen Richards. Recently he changed the name of the claim to the "Gold Star," and apparently the change brought with it good luck. This claim adjoins the Balliet property on which a strike was made several weeks ago, the ore in the one claim closely resembles the ore in the other, and carrying nearly the same values. The strike in the Gold Star consists of two and one-half feet of high-grade ore. In view of the two strikes it seems as though Wickes, a once famous mining camp, is destined to take on new life.

In the Bonanza tunnel on the Montana claim, which the Corbin Copper company is operating at Corbin, twelve miles from Wickes, the vein has been cut and is showing some splendid values in silver and lead ores. The vein was encountered about two weeks ago and assays subsequently made show 31.7 ounces in silver and 19.7 per cent lead to the ton, making the ore in the neighborhood of $35 ore. Later assays have been given still more encouraging returns.

Scandinavian Courtship.

It was considered beneath the dignity of a Scandinavian warrior to court his bride by gallantry and submission; he always waited until she had bestowed her affections on another and was in her way to the marriage ceremony, then collecting his faithful followers they fell upon the wedding party and carried away the bride. It was much in favor of this practice that marriages were always celebrated at night.

THE GRAND.

A bill that is attracting much attention from theater goers of the city is that arranged for the latter half of this week at the Grand. Lyon Brod and Lorraine, presenting a musical comedy sketch entitled "A Rehearsal at Home" have an act which introduces a number of delightful features and which is interesting throughout. The comedy features of the act are clean and good.

Callahan and Kline, booked as Dixie Dandiest Dancers, easily hold first position in dancers brought to Escanaba in vaudeville. Both are clever and their act is certain to please all patrons of the show house.

PEARSONS MAKES HIS FINAL GIFT.

Hinsdale, Ill., Aug. 25.—Dr. D. K. Pearson, the philanthropist, who has distributed a fortune of $7,000,000 in benefactions, has made his last gift. He gave the town of Hinsdale his residence and five acres of ground, valued at $35,000, for library purposes.

With the bestowal of the residence and grounds, to be maintained as a public library, art gallery and park. Dr. Pearson accomplished what he long had planned, the distribution of all his wealth for the benefit of humanity.

Announcement of the gift was made to a number of citizens in Hinsdale, whom Dr. Pearson had summoned to his home. Entering upon his ninety-second year with failing health, Dr. Pearson will leave his home to spend the remainder of his days at the Hinsdale sanitarium, to which he goes almost penniless.

PLAYER IS HIT WITH CLUB AND BADLY GASHED

Through an accident in batting practice on Wednesday, Casey, right fielder for the Negaunee baseball team, was hit over the eye with a ball club which slipped from the hands of one of the other players. A long gash was cut across the fielder's forehead and for a time it was feared that he had been seriously injured. It was reported yesterday however that the wound is healing rapidly and he will be able to appear with his team in the games against the locals today and tomorrow. Of the accident the Negaunee correspondent for The Mining Journal says: While indulging in a batting practice

Wednesday, Casey, right fielder of the Negaunee team, received a severe blow of a bat in the head, inflicting a bad cut over his right eye and discolored his left eye. Joe Carey, the center fielder, was using a new bat and it slipped from his hand, striking Casey with full force. It was thought for a time that the right fielder was seriously injured, but he is able to be out, though his features are somewhat disfigured. Casey has had more than his share of ill luck this summer. In the exhibition game with Senator Proctor's Elkhart Blue Sox a week ago last Tuesday he had his jaw dislocated. He will be in the game as usual on Saturday and Sunday at Escanaba, though the plasters will probably not be removed from his right eye by that time.

ANN ARBOR PAPER PRAISES LOCAL LAD

In a recent article regarding the base ball game at Ann Arbor between the Superiors and the St. Thomas teams of that city for the championship of the city, and in which John Walsh of this city played behind the bat for the St. Thomas aggregation, the Ann Arbor Times-News speaks very highly of the performance of the local boy.

In addition to his performance behind the bat, "Gash" made one hit and stolen two bases and came home with the only run made by his team in the game. He is credited with 10 put outs no assists and no errors. The Superiors succeeded in getting two runs across the pan, winning the game.
