

YOUNG WIFE PASSED AWAY

HESTER YOCKEY VALENTINE SUC-CUMBED TO SUDDEN ILLNESS AT SPRINGFIELD, ILL.

Following a minor operation and as a result of the extreme heat that prevailed, Mrs. Frank E. Valentine, formerly Miss Hester Yockey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Yockey of this city, passed away at Springfield, Ill., late on Saturday night. Because of the trivial nature of the operation not any of the members of her family were notified and the announcement of her death has come as a fearful shock not only to her parents, brothers and sister, but to a host of people throughout the city. The body was brought to Escanaba yesterday morning and was taken to the home of the parents on Campbell street.

At 11 o'clock this morning at St. Patrick's church, funeral services will be conducted over the body, Rev. Fr. Barth officiating. Interment will be at St. Joseph's cemetery.

Mrs. Valentine had been ill for a few days at her home at Springfield when a physician was called. It was found that it was necessary to perform a minor operation.

Mr. Valentine returned to his home, and returned to the hospital at 6:30 o'clock to learn that the heat had had a most distressing effect on his wife but the physicians offered every hope of complete recovery. Every possible (Continued on page Eight)

DETECTIVE IS BAFFLED

Detective Casey, of the Pinkerton Agency, who has been in the city for several days investigating the disappearance of a quantity of jewelry from the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hews, while the household effects of the family were being moved to a new location, left the city last night without having solved the mystery. The detective searched out every possible clue and met only with disappointment at the end of each trail, being wholly unable to account of the unusual disappearance of the jewels.

'TIS TRUE, 'TIS PITY, 'TIS PITY 'TIS TRUE.

Certain of Escanaba's merchants, when "mail order" houses are mentioned, raise a terrible "howl." This patronize home merchants and home industries. Yet, certain of Escanaba's merchants, who thus often wail, do not practice what they preach. Only recently one of these "certain" Escanaba merchants distributed throughout the city full sheet poster (in glaring red ink), asking Escanaba people to buy their wares. Yet the same bills are being sent to outside printing houses.

Escanaba has printing plants whose equipments are equal to any in this section of the country, capable to handle this work in first-class manner. These Escanaba plants are also able to place on such printing, the "union label," an insignia of good workmanship, good wages and good conditions. 261-11 "UNION PRINTER."

POST MASTER SAID TO BE SHORT $600

Macquette, Mich., Sept. 16.—Matt Kovigo, postmaster at Palmer was brought before the United States court this morning and arraigned on a charge of alleged shortage of funds at that post office. He pleaded not guilty. He will be tried next week.

Kovigo is very well known in Macquette having lived here formerly. He conducted a store on Washington street where John Lammi is now in business. Kovigo conducts a general store at Palmer in which the post-office is housed.

RIG IS HIT BY AN AUTOMOBILE

Theophile Ballargeon, driving a rig from the Richer stable in this city was struck by an automobile driven by Henry Sangers, on the Ford River Switch road yesterday and thrown into the ditch. The buggy was wrecked with one wheel being demolished, two springs broken; the reach cracked off and the whole turned over into the ditch. Mr. Ballargeon was thrown out but escaped without injury.

MARINETTE NOSED OUT

After gaining a lead of eight runs in the game of Sunday at Marinette, Escanaba's leaders played horse with Marinette's league squad in the final innings and nosed out the badgers by a score of 9 to 8. In the windup, because of an error of the lad marking up the scores on the board in the field when he failed to give Escanaba only five runs when the team made six in a single inning, many of the Marinette fans thought that the game was tied in the ninth. The official scorer, however, had given credit for the requisite number of runs and the fans finally realized that they had been misled and fled from the field.

Pressey pitched classy ball until the team started its horseplay and then joined in the general movement with the result that Escanaba landed the game by a single run.

LOCALS WERE SLAUGHTERED

Garland, St. Joseph's star pitcher who twirled a tight game against Gladstone Saturday, attempted to play the "come back" role with disastrous effects on Sunday when Gladstone copped the final game of the Upper Peninsula-Wisconsin league schedule 16 to 3. Jimmie Smith, the local speed demon, who was scheduled to pitch the game, failed to show up and Garland was forced into the game for mound duty. He was pounded heavily and finally gave way to Eddie Hirn, who held Gladstone hitless for the remainder of the game. Bottroff, Calder and Thery and Burrows formed the battery for Gladstone, playing a runaway game with the locals throughout all but the final inning when Hirn was on the mound for St. Joseph's team.

LOVER FOOLS FATHER AND WEDS DAUGHTER

Bristol, Va., Sept. 16.—Lochnivar himself could not have won a bride in more sensational fashion than Arthur Hagey did here late yesterday. But instead of a charger, Hagey used an automobile, a revolver and a party of friends.

Sixteen-year-old Myrtle Moore's father objected to her marrying Hagey and after frustrating an elopement a few days ago, sent Myrtle off to school. Late yesterday a party of Hagey's friends drove up to the seminary and sped Miss Morrow away to a cross-road where they transferred her to a buggy and sent her to Johnson City, Tenn., while the motor car continued to Abingdon, Va.

At Abingdon an officer, warned by the irate father, shot the "fires" practically off the automobile before he discovered Miss Moore was not in it. Meanwhile Arthur and Myrtle were married in Johnson City.

C.R. WILLIAMS BREAKS HIS HAND

WILL THROW FAIR OPEN

BIG COUNTY SHOW WILL BE LAUNCHED IN ESCANABA THIS MORNING.

The Northern State fair, arranged under the auspices of the Delta County Agricultural Society, will be thrown open to the public this morning.

Throughout yesterday final preparations for the big county show were under way and by noon today a large part of the exhibits will be in place and ready for criticism by the public.

The monster new exhibition building erected by the society at the fair grounds was the scene of tremendous activity yesterday. Merchants and manufacturers of this and other cities of the county were busy throughout the day completing the work on elaborate booths and displays at the fair and when the fair is opened this morning all of the industrial exhibits will be ready for the people. Many of the booths are most elaborate and are permanent affairs that will stand for a number of years as a monument to the industry of those arranging them.

This morning the regular fair program will be opened to continue through the afternoon and evening. On Thursday evening the fair will also be thrown open to the public, thus giving two open evenings to the big show.

Members of the Ishpeming city band arrived in the city last night and after playing several selections on the downtown streets went to their hotel to rest for the taking up of their work for the week at the fair here.

Following is the complete fair program as arranged by members of the committee in charge of the event:

Tuesday, Sept. 17.
7:00 a. m. Gates open to receive exhibits.
1:00 a. m. Gates open for general admission.
1:30 p. m. Band Concert, Ishpeming Band.

RAILWAY IS HONORED

Supt. C. E. Andrews of the Peninsula division of the North-Western, has been advised that the North-Western Railway company, has been awarded an unusual honor at the International Exposition of Hygiene at Dresden. The exhibit arranged by the system at the exposition has been made a part of the permanent collection in the Berlin museum of safety, thus giving an unusual honor to the company which was the only foreign exhibitor at the exposition.

FAIR WEATHER IS PREDICTED

Fair weather is predicted for the opening day of the county fair. Of general weather conditions Observer V. E. Jaki says:

The high pressure area noted as approaching from the Northwest Saturday morning, now covers all portions of the country except the Atlantic states, and a general fall in temperature has attended its movement south and east. The coolest weather is reported from the Canadian Northwest and the middle and upper Rocky Mountain and Plains states, where light to heavy frosts and freezing temperatures occurred last night. Light rains fell since yesterday morning over a large area extending from the upper Mississippi Valley east to the coast; but over the south and west the weather was generally fair. Fair weather, with light variable winds is indicated for this vicinity tonight and Tuesday. It will be cooler tonight, with conditions favorable for light frost.

ALUMNI TO GIVE INFORMAL PARTY

An informal dancing party is to be given on Thursday evening of this week at Clark's hall by the Alumni Association of the Escanaba High School. The party is to be of a strictly invitational nature. Fournier's orchestra has been engaged to furnish the music for the occasion.

RESERVES TO GET TWO NEW CUTTERS

Plans have been drawn for a new boat house to be erected for the Escanaba division of the State Naval Militia near Stephenson dock. The new structure will be 40 by 60 feet in dimensions and will be used to house two new cutters that have been ordered to be sent to the local division for practice work during the spring and fall months.

MAY CUT OFF GLADSTONE

Because of the failure of the Gladstone city officials to act in building a modern road up the Gladstone bluff to the limits of that city to connect with the macadam road just built by the county, extending to Brampton, the county board of road commissioners are considering the advisability of extending the road to west Gladstone that the farmers benefited by the new road may be offered an excellent highway to the city of Escanaba instead of Gladstone. When the road commissioners considered the advisability of building the new macadam road from the Gladstone limits through Chaison and Brampton, the Gladstone council assured the commissioners that as soon as the county started the work the city of Gladstone would build a road to connect with the county's improvement leading from the city proper up the bluff and to the limits. Up to the present time the city of Gladstone has not complied with its promise and the commissioners are now considering the cutting off of Gladstone from all benefits that were to have been derived by that city through the improvement.

AUNTY IS FAILING

Auntie Mirror waxed eloquent to the extent of several inches in her issue of last evening proclaiming the fact that the Daily Mirror is the only newspaper of the county possessing sufficient patriotism to conduct a booth at the fair.

The Morning Press congratulates Auntie on her ability in being able to buy advertising for herself as conditions are such that Auntie is warranted in expending a number of simoleons in a desperate effort to convince the public that she is still getting out a newspaper.

The Morning Press realizes to the fullest extent the value of the county fair to the community and commends without reserve all of those who have made possible the handsome exposition building at the fair grounds by their generous donations for space for the future, but the Morning Press prefers to lend its aid to the fair association by giving valuable front page space to the publicity of the fair attractions, which Auntie had failed to do, rather than seeking to gain some benefit from the fair itself.

The Lord knows that Auntie is badly in need of advertising to bolster up a rapidly diminishing circulation and the Morning Press is content to allow the doddering old girl all the space that she can take up at the fair. To give Auntie all of the chance in the world the Morning Press will remain out of the fair field and refrain from seeking to benefit itself through the local association, just remaining content in giving everything that it can possibly give to the fair and receive nothing, but the thanks of those who realize the value of gratuitous advertising offered in a publication that covers not only the city of Escanaba, but every part of Delta county.

ESCANABA WOMAN'S FATHER IS DEAD

Henry Hosking, father of Mrs. H. H. Lohmiller of this city and for many years one of the prominent residents of the Hemetite City, passed away at his home on Sunday after an extended illness. Mrs. Hosking's condition had been gradually growing more serious for the past few weeks and death came on Sunday to relieve him of his suffering.

Mrs. Lohmiller went to Ishpeming on Saturday and was at her father's bedside when the end came. Funeral services will be conducted over the body at Ishpeming on Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Lohmiller will go to Ishpeming today to remain until after the funeral.

BACK FROM STYLE SHOWS IN CHICAGO

Carl J. Jackson returned yesterday from Chicago and Milwaukee where he visited the style shows and secured the latest ideas in suit building for the fall season. Mr. Jackson returned from Chicago with a number of the newest patterns that he will incorporate in his work at the store of his brother, J. E. Jackson.

HUGHITT WILL TRY

ESCANABA LAD WILL TRY FOR QUARTERBACK JOB ON MICHIGAN VARSITY ELEVEN.

Ernest Hughtitt, of this city, former star quarter back on the Escanaba high school football team, is to be one of the candidates for quarter back position on the University of Michigan squad this fall. Menominee also has two candidates for positions on the team and the Menominee Herald- Leader says:

Menominee is to have two candidates for positions on the University of Michigan squad this year. Harold Collette left this morning for Ann Arbor where he will join the camp of candidates, and Herbert Huebel will leave Sunday. Both men are trying for positions as half backs. The two youths are prominently identified with the game, each having done star work during their high school years, and since that time as well.

Collette after leaving high school went to Beloit where he took a "lit" course. At this time he starred as half back for two years. Leaving Beloit he went to the U. of M. last year. Because of his being a freshman he was not permitted to try for the varsity team. He played half on the "All Fresh" team and loomed up prominently.

Huebel has for two years been a substitute on the regular squad, getting into the game on several occasions. Huebel will leave Sunday and will go onto the training table immediately. It is probable that the two Menominee men will be rivals for the same position.

Don Broadbridge, a Michigan man who has been the guest of Collette for three or four weeks will be out again this year. Ernest Hughtitt of Escanaba is the only other upper peninsula man who will go out, this man being a candidate for quarter back.

Menominee has produced several of Michigan's most brilliant football stars, among them being F. S. Norcross, better known as "Junior" a former captain of the squad, Charles Julner, Avel Fred and John McLean.

OFFICERS SELECTED

Mayor Lemire yesterday named four special officers to serve as nightwatchmen at the fair grounds during the Northern State Fair, which is thrown open to the public today. The newly appointed special officers are: P. Lefebvre, A. Pichle, George McGuire and Gust Nelson.

Sheriff Curran will be called upon to furnish deputies to preserve order and protect property at the fair grounds during the daylight hours of the fair.

LOCAL CONCERN FINISHES ROAD

The Delta Contracting Company of this city has completed one long stretch of macadam road in Schoolcraft county and has now begun work on another contract that has been awarded to the local concern in that county. The Manistiquet Pioneer-Press says:

The Delta Contracting Co. finished the work on the new road running from the big hill to McNamara's corner in Manistiquet township, and started Monday to move the stone crusher and other machinery to the company's road job from the Swedish settlement at Blaney.

The road just completed is up to about 100 feet in length and is as fine a road as could wish to drive over whether for pleasure or with heavy loads.

CANDY BOOTH AT THE FAIR

Members of St. Stephen's Episcopal church have arranged a booth at the exposition building at the fair grounds where an elaborate array of homemade candies will be arranged for sale. All of the women members of the congregation are interested in the new undertaking and with the big showing that is to be made nothing should interfere with the success of the venture.

COUPLE TO TAKE VOWS

In the presence of the number of friends and relatives, Miss Sarah Couillard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Couillard of Wells, will be married at 7 o'clock this morning to Mr. Gustave J. Trotter, at St. Anne's church, Rev. Father Blin, officiating.

The bride will be attended by Miss Lucy Trotter, sister of the groom, while Mr. Edward LaCrosse will officiate as groomsmen.

Following the wedding ceremony the members of the bridal party will go to the home of the parents of the bride at Wells, where an elaborate wedding breakfast will be served and at 11 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Trotter will leave for a wedding trip to Chicago.

The bride is a popular young woman of the city with a host of friends. The groom is a member of the Morning Press force and like his bride numbers his friends by the score.

DAHLGREN IS BEATEN

Cy Dahlgren, of the local pitching staff was trimmed in a five inning game, pitching for Manitowoc against Sheboygan on Sunday by a score of 5 to 2. The first game of a double bill between the two teams went 15 innings with Sheboygan winning 2 to 1 and in the second that went but the requisite number of innings, Sheboygan repeated by a score of 5 to 2.

AVIATION CLAIMS ANOTHER VICTIM

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Aviator Paul Peck of Washington, D. C., holder of the American duration flight record, was fatally injured in a fall with a biplane tonight, while flying in a gusty wind. He attempted too steep a spiral and when he struck the ground the heavy engine came through the wreckage, striking him in the neck.

A gusty wind blew at the Cicero field all day and Director Drew posted the customary warning to aviators against going up. Peck, believing his small biplane would be fast enough to carry him through the gusts, went into the air in spite of the caution.

At about eight hundred feet altitude he started to come down. His real difficulty did not become apparent till he was within two hundred feet of the ground. Then he shot downward to earth. The physicians said his skull was fractured and he was injured internally. He is expected to die before morning.

Peck had developed a monoplane and the machine in which he was killed. He was about twenty-four years old and was making a trial flight preparatory for the international aviation meet here tomorrow.

E. & L. S. WINS GAME AT GARDEN

Members of the Escanaba & Lake Superior Railway Company's baseball team on Sunday defeated the Garden team in an exciting game by a score of 9 to 8. The game was close from the first to the last inning and proved to be one of the most interesting played this season at the Garden grounds.

Johnson and Murray formed the battery for the local team while Truckey and Dube did the twirling for the Garden squad. Johnson struck out 13 men and allowed nine hits, while the Garden squad. Johnson struck out 15 and allowed 7 hits.

OLMSTED IN FORM

Henry Olmsted, the local lad who is a member of the pitching staff of the Oakland team of the Pacific coast league, has won the last three games in which he has appeared with that team and is now regarded as one of the strongest twirlers of that team. Olmsted was slow in rounding into form this season, but he has now hit his stride and it is expected will be regularly used in the box by the Oakland club's management.

INSANE PRISONER MAKES HARD FIGHT

Appleton, Wis., Sept. 16.—John Matthews, formerly of Neenah, who escaped from the northern hospital for the insane at Oshkosh on Wednesday, was captured near Dae by Sheriff M. M. Lockney after a hard fight. It was necessary to throw and bind him before he could be gotten into an automobile.

Matthews was sentenced to Wau-pun for murdering a man in Neenah. He was later found insane and transferred to the state asylum at Oshkosh from which he made his escape last Wednesday. Since then he has been wandering about this vicinity.

This morning Herman Peters, a farmer near Dale, found the man who showed fight. The sheriff was notified and he, together with his son and Peters, finally managed to get Matthews into the automobile. He was brought here to jail and will be taken to the hospital this afternoon.

RELATIVES CALLED TO MAN'S BEDSIDE

Mrs. Antoine Gamache and son, Arthur Gamache, were called to Rochester, Minn., last night by the serious illness of A. Gamache, one of the pioneer residents of the city. Mr. Gamache went to Rochester a few weeks ago to consult specialists at the hospital of the Drs. Mayo. He submitted to two operations there and yesterday word was received in the city that his condition was critical and advising members of his family to hasten there at once.

WHERE THE ERRED.

To a newspaper man it does not appear that the officers of the Jackson prison have used the best of judgment in handling the newspaper correspondents who gathered in Jackson on the heels of the prison riots.

A crooked newspaper man is but little hampered by refusing him information. He picks up a scrap here and another there and if he is working for a crooked newspaper, as crooked newspaper men usually are, he draws on his imagination to piece out the kind of a yarn he knows his crooked managing editor wants to print.

The person hurt by a stiff-necked attitude on the part of officials in cases like the one of the Jackson prison troubles is the honest newspaper man, who desires only to report, fairly and straight forward, all phases of the story he has been sent to handle. He is compelled to make the best stuff he can of giving his newspaper a story—for his newspaper must have the story—and he cannot be too severely blamed if inaccuracies creep in.

At Jackson some honest newspaper men have been seriously handicapped in their work because of the failure of the prison officials to meet them frankly, and, in consequence, the Jackson prison has been more unfavorably represented to the public than it should have been. It has been evident from his later writings that Hewitt, of the Chicago Tribune, for instance, has been actuated by a desire to write accurately and fairly of the situation, and it is conceivable that there were absurdities and obvious misstatements in his earlier articles that were due as much as to anything else to the difficulty he was under in getting accurate information.

The attitude of the Detroit Free Press in regard to the Jackson trouble has also been fair. It carefully avoided the wild excesses of the other Detroit newspapers in handling the story, and its reports were conservative and reasonable. Because of this fact it would appear that its representative was entitled to consideration at the prison. But he was denied access to the prisoners and information he believes he should have had, and he is now running a series of articles based on such information as he was able to gather from unofficial sources.

FOR GOOD OF THE PARTY.

Secretary of State Mr. Rutledge has put to rest rumors that he might ask for a recount for governor, and that he was dissatisfied at not getting the support he expected in certain counties. He has issued the following statement showing that he regards the welfare of the party greater than the ambition of any member of it:

"Many of the friends throughout the state as a result of the closeness of the vote at the primaries have been insisting that I ask for a recount. But owing to the delay caused by such procedure in determining the nominee for governorship and the consequent injury to the whole Republican ticket, I have determined not to apply for a recount. The success of our party is far greater than the success of any one person. I ask my friends to take this view of the situation."

"I wish to thank my many loyal supporters throughout the state for their support and their kind assurance of continued well wishes for me. When I announced my candidacy for the governorship I had no selfish motives; I thought that my many years of experience in state affairs and my intimate knowledge of the work of the various departments could be turned to good advantage for the benefit of the people of the state. I carried out a determination to make no promise to any person, corporation or interest other than that of a clean vigorous administration. If nominated I was entirely free to act for the best interest of the whole people. "I will do all in my power to bring about the election of the whole Republican ticket."

BANKERS ADVOCATE CHEAPER POSTAGE

Detroit, Sept. 16.—The American Bankers' association concluded its annual convention late today by selecting Boston for its next meeting place, formally advancing Charles H. Huntington of St. Louis from vice president to president and almost unanimously declaring for penny postage on ordinary letters.

The currency reform question was not taken up by the convention today. Practically the only attention given to the matter was contained in a short address of the new president. He pledged himself to work for the passage of laws "that will keep banking business in a normal and healthy condition."

United States Senator Charles E. Townsend of Michigan, addressing the bankers, severely criticized those who he declared, speculated with funds entrusted to their care. He announced himself in favor of a law to prevent banking concerns of any nature from using any of their funds for purposes outside the range of strictly conservative, non-speculative business.

Charles A. Conant of New York spoke on "Lands and Agricultural Credit." Owing to the absence of Andrew M. Soule of Georgia his prepared address on "Agricultural Development and Education" was presented to the convention and placed on record

SWUNG HER OUT OF THE WINDOW

Pittsburg, Sept. 16.—There have been many wives in the local divorce courts with many varieties of complaints, but it has remained for Mrs. Marie Kenney to make allegations well out of the usual run. Back of her formal charges of cruel and barbarous treatment and indignities, against her husband, James D. Kenney, are the allegations that Kenney suspended her by the feet out a second story window, and, by way of diversion, she says, he would break eggs in her face.

It appears the couple could not agree, albeit Mrs. Kenney is described as an exceptionally pretty woman, of stylish appearance. Her husband is a contractor. Once, according to Mrs. Kenney, she and her husband quarreled in their bedroom whereupon "Kenney, who is powerful, grasped his wife by the feet and swung her out the window in view of those who might pass by. Having thus frightened his wife, the husband drew her back into the room."

As for the eggs, it is related that Kenney did not care whether the hen fruit was new or old. He would dash them into his wife's face, she charges, breaking the mirror her pretty features. Mrs. Kenney alleges other things against her husband, among them being that he imbibed alcoholic beverages and brought home persons whose presence she did not like.

ANITA TURNBULL IS A "PERFECT 36"

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 16.—Miss Anita Baldwin Turnbull, who has become a cloak model by way of earning her living while she is fighting in the courts for a portion of the $30,000,000 estate of the late "Lucky" Baldwin, is an ideal model and a "perfect 36," according to Robert Heyneman, for whom Miss Turnbull is posing.

"It is almost impossible to secure a model with so perfect a figure, or such ability," declared Mr. Heyneman as he smoothed the silken folds of a ravishing gown in which the "perfect model" was posing. "And it is seldom possible to find a figure of any size which is just perfect; there is almost inevitably some defect. But not with her."

"She is clever, too, and a clever model can do much to make a gown salable, in knowing just how to pose. I would not hesitate to put any of these gowns on such a figure."

The contestant for many millions declares that posing as a model is delightful work.

The implicit confidence that many people have in Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is founded on their experience in the use of that remedy and their knowledge of the many remarkable cures of colic, diarrhoea and dysentery that it has effected. For sale by all dealers.

THE COMING OF PEARL

When the Besingers tell the story of Pearl they always apologize. As Mrs. Besinger says, you really can't expect people to believe anything which sounds so much like a cheap farce made out of whole cloth.

"If I really did make it up," she adds protestingly, "I'd have invented a story that sounded more reasonable. And how could it ever be reasonable for any girl to be named Pearl Beans-blossom? But she was."

"Arthur brought her first letter home to show me so I'd know it was all real. He said he was afraid that otherwise I'd insist he simply had an intoxicated imagination. You see, Pearl wrote from some little village out in Kansas that she wanted to come to Chicago and study music at Arthur's musical college. She said she knew she had talent, because every one told her so, and she was going to make it her life work and would be worth her prices? As if he were selling suits or hats wholesale, you know!"

"Arthur had quite a correspondence with Pearl. He attended to it himself, instead of turning it over to his secretary. He said he needed mental recreation, anyhow."

"Well, Pearl wrote that she would come and asked Arthur to get her a place to board, as she was a stranger in the city. I had become interested in her, for, in spite of her cheap notepaper and cramped writing and general ignorance, I could tell from her letters that she was sincere. So I found her a room in a nice, reasonable boarding house on a side street near us and Arthur sent her the address."

"Then he got a short note from his prospective pupil. She said she would arrive at the Union station the next Wednesday evening and would he please meet her, as she didn't know anything about street cars and where to go!"

"That was a pleasing prospect spread out before him—dashing madly from gate to gate of the big station all evening trying to watch six or seven trains at once! As Arthur said, the catalogue of the college did not offer the services of the president as train porter for all arriving pupils. Still, I told him that he just had to meet Pearl."

"I knew the wife of an official of one of the roads running into the Union station, so I called up that official on the phone and he was very nice and accommodating. When he found the name of the town where Pearl lived he got out folders and time tables and figured that she had to come on one of two railroads. The evening train of the likeliest of the two roads got in at 8:10."

"We were due at a card party that evening, but Arthur met the train, with a taxicab waiting warranted to break the speed limit. Pearl was not on the train. Therefore Arthur hastened to the card party and dismissed her from his mind."

"Meanwhile Pearl arrived on the unlikely train about nine o'clock. Somehow—goodness knows how—she got to her boarding house. She had that address, you know, though she didn't know the name of the owner. Therefore when the door was opened to her ring about 10:30 she brushed right in past the maid, and when they began asking why she came she merely said that she had come to study music."

"So they decided she was crazy. She was dead tired and scared, you know, and her face was all over train soot and she carried a cheap little bag and wore a badly cut coat and skirt. The more they questioned her the more tangled and bewildered she got and the more they were afraid of her."

"Finally she mentioned Mr. Besinger's name and the maid told her where our house was. The boarding house owner was not in, so nobody knew about the room I had engaged."

"When Pearl rang the door bell at our house and got the maid out of bed that scandalized person, of course, refused to let her in. However, Pearl begged so piteously to be allowed to wait till we came home that the maid finally admitted her and sat up in the kitchen waiting with a carving knife in her hand till we came."

"Arthur let us in with his latch-key. When I stepped into the library and switched on the lights I jumped two feet and shrieked because I saw somebody curled up on the couch. It turned out to be Pearl Beans-blossom asleep."

"Well, when Arthur had calmed us both, I turned Pearl into the guest-room and then I couldn't sleep. The shock of discovering her was too much for me, so an hour later I got up and began to prow around, as I've a habit of doing. As I passed the closed guest-room door I had an uncanny feeling that something was wrong, so I opened the door. Then I made one wild rush to fling the windows wide and shake Pearl."

"No, she hadn't really blown out the gas, but she had turned it off and then on again, not knowing how to deal with gas."

"I stayed in bed for two days after that awful night. Pearl Beans-blossom nearly finished me as well as herself."

"What became of her? Indeed, she isn't a grand opera star or the subject of any fairy story ending like that. Pearl went back to Kansas on Arthur's advice inside of two weeks. He said she didn't have any more voice than a Kansas rabbit!"

"I hope she got married soon and changed her name!"

BOSTON MARKETS

The local market was stronger today than it was on Saturday and the liquidation was not so general. North Butte was one of the most active stocks, advancing to 34 1/2 and closing near the top. The regular dividend of 50 cents was declared and we consider the buying better than selling. Old Col. was very strong and active and accumulation is steadily going up. The continued weakness in the New York list is discouraging to holders of the coppers and this accounts for the scattered selling which goes on all the time. We believe firmly in the future of the industry and think that after election we will have a big bull market in coppers.

NEW YORK MARKETS

While the market displayed uniform strength in the forenoon, produced mainly by scattered buying of the professional elements, still in the afternoon, irregularity became the order of things except in the instance of a few specialties. North Butte declared a fifty cent dividend. Nipissing declared 5 per cent dividend and 2 1/2 per cent extra. Ahmeek declared a $6 dividend.

SAY MAPLE RIDGE HOLDS THE BAG

The following communication was received by the Press yesterday:
Rock, Mich., Sept. 16, 1912.
The Morning Press, Escanaba, Mich.: Gentlemen—Regarding an item in your paper, under date of Sept. 10th, will say that you stated therein that the St. Joseph baseball team were entitled to the champion position in the amateur league position, of Delta county.

This must have been taken from idle ramblings of a weak mind or else a willful misstatement was made to you as the St. Joseph aggregation haven't the least claim to that position as the records will show.

Besides winning a greater number of games in proportion to the games played during the season, the Maple Ridge team defeated the St. Joseph team, in the only game that they played together, on July 21st, at the Maple Ridge grounds, by the score of 7 to 4.

The official scorer, at Rock, P. O., Michigan is ready at any time to prove this statement, which, in the mind of any reasoning person, is much more authentic than the ramblings of some poor weakling and just why they should lay claim to the championship is beyond understanding, as they have no claim, whatever, to it.

Trusting that this will set the facts straight in the public's mind, I am, Yours very truly,
FRANK JOHNSON.

CHARGE WOMAN WITH HAVING TWO HUSBYS

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Mrs. Stella Ruth Carabine, aged 24, an alleged bigamist, was arrested on complaint of her first husband, James E. Carabine, while she was sitting on the front steps of her new home awaiting the arrival of Oscar Galley, husband No. 2, who was expected with a vanload of furniture belonging to the first husband.

Mrs. Carabine was taken into custody after Galley had been locked up at the South Clark street station. The latter is charged with "knowingly marrying another man's wife."

Mrs. Carabine is said to have told Galley, who learned of her marriage, that she had been divorced from her first husband.

He then proposed marriage and was accepted. They went to South Bend, Ind., March 3, where, it is said, they were married. Then began the dual life of Mrs. Carabine, who, it is said, for two months alternately lived with Galley for a few days at the hotel, and then went to the west side when Carabine returned from a trip out of town, both men at this time being employed as brakemen. When Carabine remained in the city too long, it is charged, she would tell him that her mother wished to see her and hurry away to Galley. She made the same excuses to Galley. Carabine became suspicious and followed her.

TWO AUTOS IN A BIG WRECK

Oconto, Wis., Sept. 16.—Several well known Oconto people, including the district attorney of this county, figured in an automobile accident late Friday afternoon in which all the occupants were injured.

District Attorney John B. Chase, driving his own car, was enroute to Menominee to attend the county fair at that city and was accompanied by Walter J. Davis, a representative of the Menominee River Sugar company; Arthur J. Smith, organizer of the Fraternal Reserve Association, and Henry Youngs, a barber, all of this city.

The accident occurred about five miles from Marinette between that city and Peshtigo. Mr. Chase was driving his car at a good rate of speed as the roads are excellent for automobiling when without warning one of the rear wheels of the machine came off and the car swerved into the ditch and turned turtle, throwing all of the occupants to the ground. The car driven by Mr. Chase was a Hudson.

Immediately in the rear came Donald McQueen, an undertaker of this city, with his Ford car. He made a desperate attempt to turn out of the way of the overturned car and was obliged to go into the ditch. His car also turned turtle, throwing all the occupants into the ditch.

Mr. Chase sustained several bruises about the face, together with a few others about the body. Mr. Davis, also sustained several cuts and bruises. Mr. Smith, who is a cripple, sustained a broken rib, and his head was cut and badly bruised, as he was pinned beneath the car. Mr. Youngs received slight injuries about the face and body.

The occupants of the McQueen car also sustained injuries. Mr. McQueen was slightly cut and bruised, while Mrs. McQueen was seriously injured and remained unconscious for several hours. One of her eyes was badly injured and she sustained numerous other cuts and bruises. Blair McQueen, son of Donald McQueen, received slight injuries.

Miss Mae Williams, stenographer for Attorneys Gill & Chase, was also in the McQueen car, but she received only slight injuries. Mrs. McQueen and Mr. Smith were immediately taken to the hospital at Marinette, where medical attention was given them. The others were also taken to Marinette in an automobile. It is not known just how the rear wheel became disengaged from the axle, as the car is practically a new one.

CASSIE CHADWICK VICTIMS REPAID

Elyria, O., Sept. 16.—Part of the money out of which the people of Oberlin, this county, were fleeced by the late Cassie Chadwick, came back to them today. The United States Fidelity & Bonding company of New York, paid into court here $22,575, which represents the $15,000 bond, with interest, of the late cashier A. B. Spear of the National Bank of Oberlin, which was wrecked through its dealings with Mrs. Chadwick.

The money will be divided among stockholders of the bank, who were assessed $100,000 to pay the depositors' losses.

NOTES FROM THE VOYAGE

"Grover Cleveland was extremely dubious about Wisconsin in that particular election," remarked former Gov. G. W. Peck as he sat by our Escanaba river camp fire and puffed a Milwaukee perfect. "This was about twenty years ago, if memory serves me," he added in reply to some one who asked for dates. "I'd seen him in the east and he had turned to me and said, 'Governor, you can't carry Wisconsin this time, and if you don't I won't.'"

"My answer was that the Democrats would capture the Badger state in so far as the gubernatorial ticket was concerned and that we had hopes of pulling Mr. Cleveland through.

"I think you're wrong, George," Mr. Cleveland told me. "We have had special reports from your commonwealth and what we gather is not encouraging. I fear we are whipped there."

"Whereat the big fellow heaved a deep sigh and seemed dreadfully downcast. I hustled west and got my coat and waistcoat and went to the political anvil and hammer and tongs. We labored night and day and when the returns were in on a certain eventful Tuesday night it was shown that Geo. W. Peck had carried the state by about 12,000 and Grover Cleveland by half as much.

"My friends and I were naturally pretty much stuck up. In the midst of our celebration I thought of President Cleveland. So I sneaked away from the boys and got to a telegraph office writing the following dispatch: "Grover Cleveland, White House, Washington: "I have won Wisconsin by over 12,000 plurality and have swept you in with me, but I wish to say, it was the biggest load I've ever carried."

"GEORGE W. PECK."

"Not long afterward in the great inauguration parade I was riding at the head of the Wisconsin delegation with a formidable bunch of brass-buttoned colonels at my heels. We got near the reviewing stand and I lifted my silk hat 'way off my head and waved it toward President Cleveland, who responded with a laugh and a genial gesture. I was later asked to the White House and received the president's personal thanks for winning a victory with the burden of a presidential campaign as a handicap. We talked for an hour and a half and always were the warmest of friends thereafter."

Isaac Stephenson George is a grandson of Senator Isaac Stephenson of Marinette, who happened to be the host here on this occasion. One morning the senator mentioned to Gov. Peck and others that young Isaac was a cartoonist in the rough, although only a little lad in knickerbockers. The senator called to the boy and suggested that he borrow some paper and a pencil and show us samples of his art.

Without a moment's hesitation young Isaac hustled around and was soon at a small table turning out cartoons, at the rate of one a minute. Some of them contained that "pep" and "go" which stamps the caricaturist of brains. Gov. Peck complimented the boy and predicted for him a great future.

"Now draw us one more," said the governor, leaning back and winking at Senator Stephenson.

Pencil gravitated back and forth and the youngster leaned over to his work with tongue and cheek and eyes squinted. He produced the picture in two or three minutes and flourished it over toward Mr. Peck who looked at it long and earnestly. One of the circle tip-toed up and glanced over his shoulder. He saw a picture of a little man whom the artist had depicted as vain-looking and more or less shabby, wearing cocked hat and carrying a small sword.

Beneath the drawing was the following:

"George W. Peck, the worst governor Wisconsin ever had."

Speaking of newspapers and advertising one evening, Senator Stephenson remarked that because of a few articles in certain dailies, notably the Record-Herald, he had received 2,000 letters. The article dealt with the senator's skill as an amateur physical and mentioned a wonderful powder of mighty curative power.

The senator is many times a millionaire and one day was surprised to receive from a gentleman in Ohio a letter requesting the prescription whose secret the senator had and enclosing $1 for the same.

"I understand you are a rich man," the man wrote, "but I've never got medical advice free yet and think it a poor time to break my rule; so please accept the dollar and send me that prescription. I need it badly."

Senator Stephenson sent back the money the next day with it a letter and the prescription (chiefly aloe) which the correspondent so much desired.

SAYS U. S. GIRL IS PRETTIEST

Vienna, Sept. 16.—One of Uncle Sam's fair daughters, in the person of Valerie Lange, 17-year-old New York girl, is the winner of a big beauty contest just held here, in which "peaches" of almost every nationality took part. The Prix de Beaute and title of Queen of Exquisite Beauty and Grace were awarded to Miss Lange after the shortest deliberations by a conscientious jury, and since then a gift has been bestowed upon her by no less a person than the emperor, the venerable Francis Joseph.

Never in the memory of the oldest inhabitant of this gay town was there such a beauty contest as that just won by Miss Lange. It was a real world congress of feminine youth and good looks and the brief absence of the jury of experts on pulchritude was a trying time for the bevy of fair contestants, then each was convinced that she was the winner, and that to her alone belonged the golden apple.

Then came the announcement. The 17-year-old American girl had won. A blanching of cheeks, an incredulous stare, a frigid silence! Then the pretty, rosy-cheeked girl from the British Isles, who depended principally on her perfect coloring of creamy white and brilliant red, turned to the contestant next to her and remarked, "The jury must be colorblind," adding that the Yankee "had no complexion at all."

Miss Lucie Charlier, the trim little bit of French femininity, half coiled in the latest mode and a gown that denoted the "last cry" from the shops of her beloved Paris, snifft the air like a thoroughbred race horse as she glanced at the juvenile prize winner in a simple school girl hat of straw and a dress that never saw the mark of a swell dressmaker. "Impossible!" she exclaimed. "What tastes these barbarian Austrians have!" And with a contemptuous shrug she settled back in her seat, wishing herself back in a land that recognized beauty in its artistic sense.

The emperor's gift to the lucky American girl took the form of an exquisite necklace. Dinners and all sorts of entertainments in her honor have followed in swift succession, and the picture postcard makers cannot keep up with the demand for her fair lineaments.

WILSON AND BRYAN WILL SPEAK FROM THE SAME PLATFORM

New York, Sept. 16.—Gov. Wilson will meet Col. Bryan at Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 5, when the present nominee and former standard bearer of the Democratic ticket will speak from the same platform. This was the announcement made by the governor today. That will be on Wilson's second trip west. The only other date on this trip thus far announced is Indianapolis on October 3rd, when the governor will address the National Conservation Congress, Springfield, Ill., Des Moines and Milwaukee may be included.

PROPOSE AUTO TRIP AROUND THE LAKE

"Dear Sir: "On Thursday morning of this week the pathfinder for the annual reliability run of the Chicago Motor club will leave this city. The committee in charge of selecting the route has decided upon an innovation this year and in laying out the route to make the circuit of Lake Michigan. The more important towns taken in are Kenosha, Racine, Milwaukee, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Appleton, Green Bay, Marinette, Menominee, Escanaba, St. Ignace, Newberry, Potoskey, Charlevoix, Traverse City, Cadillac, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo and South Bend. "You will note at a glance that this route takes in not only the most important territories in the central states, but if such a route can be made feasible for the private owners it will be a great stride in promoting touring in this section. Many people have long desired to make the trip around the lake, but up to date no reliable data has been gathered, although two or three private owners have made the trip. "This run is open not only to manufacturers and dealers; but also to private owners as the penalties will only be inflicted for cars being late at controls and for mechanical work done on the road, there being no technical examination before or after the run. "The club already has many applications from private owners and local dealers who will enter cars and we would ask you cooperate to interest your local dealers and the private owners who are interested in promoting touring and good roads in your state. "A little cooperation on your part will insure this run starting with at least sixty entries. "On the return of the pathfinder, we will immediately acquaint anyone interested in this run with the result of the trip. In the meantime we earnestly request that you place this communication before your local owners interested and see if you cannot get them to write this club. What we would like, would be to have at least one entry from each town along the route."

An important recommendation concerning superannuaries was made and adopted at a session of the Detroit Methodist conference at Alpena, when Rev. W. M. Ward of Romeo, presented a resolution signed by himself, by E. P. Bennett of Port Huron, and W. G. Nixon of Pontiac, of the conference relationship committee. This resolution briefly provides that: No brother should be placed on the superannuity list who is not actually incapacitated, this should apply to those men who are already on the list; the power should be given the committee on conference relationship to guard the interests of this conference fund; that the committee respectfully asks the bishop to keep this in mind when naming appointments, the fact should also be kept in mind that there is a great demand for enough ministers to fill the pulpits.

According to the present rules of the conference, men can lawfully be superannuated before they are incapacitated for active service and this is the evil which the committee on conference relationship aims to avert.

PASTORS SHOULD WORK IF ABLE

H. A. Leeson was elected conference secretary; Ernest Scott of Manistec, statistician, and E. W. Ekelby of Williamston, conference treasurer.

The report of Statistician Scott shows that in the Detroit conference there are 325 charges. There is a total of 418 ministers in the conference. Of those, 356 are full members; 15 second year probationers, 25 first year probationers and 42 supplies.

STEAK FAMILY MADE A BIG MISTAKE WILL PUSH MICH. REUBLICAN CAMPAIGN

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 16.—After James O'Connors, musician in Co. D. United States Infantry, had failed to heed the warnings of his superior officer, Serg. G. C. Krause, he became co-respondent in the divorce suit of John Steak of Cheektowaga, who appeared before a referee in special term of supreme court and voiced arguments to show that he should be granted an absolute decree from his wife, Helen Steak. O'Connors was named as co-respondent. Serg. Krause was the principal witness.

The Steaks were married July 1, 1900, in this city. They separated a short time ago. About a year ago the plaintiff declared O'Connors and Mrs. Steak became friendly and that his marital life took on a stormy side. Serg. Krause testified that in October, 1909, he met O'Connors at a local theater in company with Mrs. Steak. That same evening he again met the pair, he said, in a hotel in Niagara street. The sergeant said that he approached O'Connors and asked him if he was not afraid to pay such attention to a married woman. The answer it appears was a decided no. Mrs. Barbara Krause, wife of the sergeant, testified along the same lines as did her husband. Mrs. Helen E. Gerdes, sister of Mrs. Steak, testified of the relations between the defendant and the co-respondent.

WILL PUSH MICH. REUBLICAN CAMPAIGN

Detroit, Sept. 16.—The Republican State central committee is preparing to push the campaign immediately after the state convention completes the state ticket. Chairman Grosbeck and Secretary Charles S. Pierce, with Major Arthur P. Loomis and prominent members of the committee have been going over the situation and laying out a comprehensive plan of action. Literature is being prepared and arrangements made for thoroughly covering the state in the interests of President Taft and the Republican state ticket. The final steps will be taken at a meeting of the state central committee which will be held at the time of the state convention on Sept. 24. A number of big orators will be heard in Michigan during the campaign. John Wesley Hill has already toured through a number of the lower peninsula counties speaking in behalf of President Taft and Republicanism in general and he will be followed by others. A number of orators will undoubtedly be sent north of the straits also.

Mrs. Helen E. Gerdes, sister of Mrs. Steak, testified of the relations between the defendant and the co-respondent.

FIRST HUSBAND THREW MONEY AT HER

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 16.—Mrs. Rachael Ebersson, who received $15,000 alimony when she divorced her first husband, Harry H. Sinnige, four years ago, will inherit $814,384, half of the estate left by her second husband, Alexander A. Ebersson, who was divorced by his first wife and who shot and killed himself four months ago. In 1906 Ebersson and his first wife and Mrs. Ebersson and her first husband were guests at the Washington hotel, alleged that he pelted her with $50 and $100 bills rolled into tiny wads. Two years later Mrs. Sinnige divorced her husband, and two months later married Ebersson. Morning Press Printing Department work does the business bringing work.

HAS PLENTY OF PIE FOR NEPHEW "WILL"

Millbury, Mass., Sept. 16.—Miss Della Torrey gave a party today in honor of her nephew, "Will" Taft. The president was fifty-five years old and he was the guest of honor. Mrs. Taft, Miss Helen Taft and C. P. Taft, the president's brother, and Mrs. C. P. Taft were present. "Aunt" Della had plenty of apple pie such as the president was fond of when he went to school in Millbury, but there were many other things to accompany a perfectly good birthday party. The president went to church in the morning with Miss Torrey, took her for a motor ride in the afternoon and started back for Beverly with all the guests later in the day. It became known here today that the president recently came to the rescue of the Unitarian church of Millbury with a substantial contribution. The money was sent through Miss Torrey, and in his letter accompanying the check the president said he was very glad to make the contribution. "Just in memory of my mother, I know," he added, "she would like to have me do something of that sort."

CAPT. JACK TO APPEAR HERE

Those who pride themselves upon their abilities as "crack shots" will no doubt receive an eye opener or two at the Northern State Fair here next week when the Fair management introduces "Captain Jack" O'Connell the most noted rifle expert in the country. "Capt. Jack" has mighty few equals in his style of shooting. He uses real bullets in direct rebuke to the "Shot"—cartridge humbugs of the various travelling shows. O'Connell has appeared before millions in every quarter of the globe while a member of "Buffalo Bill's" famous show, he is a man of extra-ordinary ability, with a ".22" caliber rifle, and some of his stunts are just a little short of the impossible. Small objects such as coins, marbles, dice—even lead pencils, are hit in midair. Shooting in various positions he cuts matches and even cards held edge-ways, etc. With a little "Ithaca" 51-4 No. "29" gauge shot gun he shoots under a tin can on the ground causing it to jump into the air, and catches it in the air with the second barrel, kicks up a can with his foot and catches it in the air with both barrels. Captain Jack is totally deaf and his entire right side is partly paralysed, but he is still a man of rare skill in the use of fire-arms. His shooting under such circumstances is wonderful in its rapidity and accuracy, and it will be worth coming miles to see him do his "stunts."

REDUCE BENEFITS ON CONTRACTS

The most important business transaction of the International Association of Casualty and Surety Underwriters at Old Point Comfort last week dealt with the reformation of the accident insurance policy so as to eliminate or curtail some of the features which have been found unduly expensive.

A committee of five was appointed, with power to act, and it is expected that the accumulation feature will be dropped, the double indemnity feature eliminated or materially modified, and the beneficiary clause abandoned. It was shown that these clauses were proving increasingly expensive to the companies, and that without any premium being received for their inclusion in the contract. They were introduced as a competitive feature, but with their general adoption the advantage to the individual company disappeared.

The accident companies might have stood this increasing burden had it not been for the rapid increase of automobile claims. One leading company reported that automobile losses had increased from 53 per cent of its total losses in 1907 to 21.8 per cent last year. No additional premium was received for this very material increase in hazards, and at the same time the company had been liberalizing its coverage in other respects. A strong stand was taken at the meeting in favor of an increase in rates on automobile owners who personally operate and care for their cars.

It was pointed out that locomotive engineers were charged hazardous rates for their insurance, but that they were a safer exposure than the average driver of a high-powered car. Present indications are that while the accident contract is being reformed an additional rate will be charged for the automobile hazard, while the so-called competitive frills are being eliminated.

JILTED GIRL ASKS ARREST OF LOVER

Chicago, Sept. 16.—An angry young woman dashed into the Summerdale police station, struck her gloved fist on the captain's desk and cried:

"I want that man arrested. He jilted me and he was going to give my ring—to another woman. Besides he's an embezzler."

The girl was led into an inner office where she amplified her story. And an hour later detectives arrested John W. Duggan, secretary of the Olive lodge, Modern Woodmen of America, St. Louis, wanted there to explain the disappearance of $1,600 of the lodge's funds which were in his custody. Duggan is declared to have confessed at the police station and to have agreed to go back to St. Louis without extradition.

The girl was Miss Bessie Boyd of St. Louis.

"I came to Chicago with Duggan about two months ago," she said. "I knew he was wanted. Then, after we had been here a while he took me back to St. Louis and disappeared with my ring. So I came back to find him. I made him give me the ring back, but he said he was through with me. Now, I understand he is with another woman, and I won't stand for it. He's at 5556 Evanston avenue. You can get him there."

The police found Duggan at the address named, living alone. Telegram from St. Louis showed that the St. Louis police have been searching for Duggan about three months.

"I guess he's spent all the money," said Miss Boyd. "He was spending pretty fast."

SOOT IS FACTOR IN COST OF LIVING

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 16.—The Pittsburg truck farmer who has his gardens near the city has discovered that his business is doomed to fail, according to the report of an expert economist, because of the soot from the smoky metropolis settling upon his vegetation.

John J. O'Connor, a member of the smoke investigation staff, industrial research department of the University of Pittsburgh, who is responsible for the statement that soot-covering is running the gardeners' business, finds that the effort to lessen the high cost of living, in consequence, is unsuccessful, Professor O'Connor said:

"In the presidential campaign much attention will be given to the question of the 'Cost of Living.' It seems a foregone conclusion that one party will feel it a solemn duty to attribute the high cost of living to the tariff, while the other party hold it a worldwide phenomenon which has little or no relation with the tariff. Before either party came to these conclusions, men felt the phenomenon and sought ways and means of reducing it. It was only natural that attention was first centered on high food prices. So it came to pass that the farmer, the middleman and the grocer were accused in turn as being the party responsible for high food prices. Each denied and the ultimate consumer decided to eliminate all three. So it is that we have a renewed interest in farming on the part of the city man. The school children are taught to care for gardens in vacant lots; men and women are digging up their yards and are planting vegetables; truck gardening on the outskirts of the city has taken on new life, and everywhere people are talking of purchasing small farms."

No matter what the results of this whole movement may have in reducing the cost of living, it is a very worthy one in itself. However, around about industrial centers which produce great quantities of smoke, the project is doomed to failure because of the action of smoke and soot on plant life in general. The subject is a new one and very few studies have been made of the effect of smoke and soot on vegetation. The most notable was that made a few years ago by the University of Leeds. At the present time an elaborate study of this subject is being made by the smoke investigation of the industrial research department of the University of Pittsburgh. Its results are anxiously awaited by all who are interested in the 'smoke problem,' both in this country and abroad.

"Soot may exert a detrimental effect on the growth of plant life in three days. In the first place by blocking up the stomata, or what we term the pores of the plant. This has the same effect on the plant that a coat of shellac would have on the human body. The soot in this case is comparable to shellac for the soot contains a tarry deposit which sticks and cannot be washed off by the rain. It is indeed fortunate that a plant's stomata are almost entirely on the underside of the leaves, otherwise no plant could exist in an intensely smoky atmosphere."

In the second place soot affects the growth of plants by coating the leaves, thereby reducing the intensity of the sunlight, and the assimilation of carbon dioxide. The smoke cloud lowers the intensity of light, and by cutting off direct radiation, tends to lower the temperature, thus still further retarding assimilation. As is well known, plants depend upon light for all chemical processes. Plants in a smoky atmosphere live practically in twilight. The cutting off the light by smoke clouds has almost the same effect, though in a lessened degree, as placing a plant in a dimly lighted cellar.

Causes Acidity of the Air.
In the third place, soot affects the growth through the corrosive effect of the acid it contains. The presence of free acid in the atmosphere exercises a detrimental influence upon plants by direct action upon the leaves and by indirectly reducing the activity, not only of the necessary amoniacal fermentation of the soil humus, but even more by lowering the activity of the nitrifying and nitrogen-fixing organisms in the soil.

In connection with the agricultural department of the University of Leeds experiments were carried on to correlate the known atmospheric impurities in the various crops. The experiments made with crops of radishes and lettuce. The condition of the soil, time and care, except the difference in the amounts or impurities in the atmosphere, were identical.

It may be objected that while smoke and soot interfere with the growth of plants in a city they will not affect plant life on the outskirts of industrial communities in which the industrial activities of the city extend far beyond the city limits exerts the same detrimental influence in the surrounding country as in the city. Again, English observers hold that particles of soot may travel as much as sixty miles. These particles are carried by wind and rain clouds that traverse in industrial areas. They absorb the solid and gaseous products and deposit them miles and miles away by rain.

To sum up, smoke and soot seriously affect the growth of plant life. This has been proven by numerous observations and experiments. "The pity of it all," says one landscape gardener "is that things would grow in large towns if only the air could be purified, for rouses conduce to warmth and shelter and their contrast to vegetation add greatly to its charm."

CONDEMN TIGHT SKIRTS AND GOPS

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 16.—Masses of false hair "that you can tell at a glance was picked from a counter," décolleté gowns and tight skirts, "suggestive and vulgar," high-heeled shoes "that malm their wearers for life," and rouged cheeks "that make the owners look like a weak imitation of a circus clown" were scathingly denounced by a committee on women's dress which made its report at the annual convention of the Kansas City direct committee of the W. C. T. U.

The committee declared itself for moderation in dress in all things. The following resolution was adopted by the convention:
"In view of the fact that present day fashions are unhealthily, unhealthy and immoral, individuals and societies should direct their best efforts toward creating a sentiment against tight skirts and dresses abbreviated at both ends. Low waists and thin hosiers should be condemned. Present extremes must be prevented from going further."

WILLIAM A. SMITH STATES HIS POSITION

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 16.—In response to inquiries that have been coming to him regarding his attitude toward the working out of the Michigan advisory senatorial primary and its binding effect upon candidates for the Michigan state legislature, United States Senator William Alden Smith of Grand Rapids here tonight gave out the following statement to the people of Michigan:

"I am very sorry that official business, especially authorized by the senate has made it necessary for me to leave the state at this time, but I feel sure that my absence will not be misinterpreted and that the work I have undertaken to perform for the government at a critical time in the affairs of Mexico, and in which the welfare of our own citizens is involved, will be considered sufficient justification of my course."

"I hope that my friends in Michigan will keep clearly in mind the senatorial situation as it now exists. For years I have advocated the direct election of senators by the people. An amendment to the Constitution has been submitted by congress to the states, but it has not yet been ratified and the nearest approach to the realization of this plan is a statewide primary."

"My unanimous renomination as the candidate for the Republican party for re-election to the United States senate, coming, as it did, without effort upon my part, is most gratifying and leads me to believe that my course in public life is very generally approved by the people of Michigan."

"During the primary campaign offers of assistance came to me frequently from those formerly allied with our party who had recently joined the so-called Progressive party. I was told many times that candidates for the state legislature who had been my former friends and supporters would, if elected, vote for my re-election to the senate if I would remain neutral in the legislative contest between these parties."

"I do not wish to seem unappreciative of this kindly feeling, but I do not care to personally profit by even the semblance of disloyalty or a failure to observe the utmost good faith in the treatment of my opponents."

"I am a firm believer in the primary law and feel it is binding upon all political parties in our state. If the Democratic party succeeds in electing a legislature of its belief, I think it is in honor bound to choose Alfred Lucking as its candidate for senator. If the Progressive party is successful in carrying the legislature, I feel that it is clearly bound to vote for Theodore M. Joslyn, the candidate of that party in the primaries. If our party wins and a Republican legislature be chosen, I shall expect to be its choice for re-election."

"Under the circumstances, with this clear-cut issue I deem it my duty to support the Republican candidates for the state legislature and shall do so in every instance. I feel that this is the only course for an honorable man to pursue. It draws the line of battle squarely and will enable the people to determine themselves and without confusion whom they desire to represent them in the United States senate during the next six years."

BLACK WIFE FAILS TO CARE FOR CHILDREN

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 16.—Chinese and negro dialect mingled with the prattle of two tiny children whose blood was half of one race and half of another, when Probate Judge Hulbert undertook to dispose of the future of Birdie Sett, 3 1-2 years old, and Albert Sett 2 years old, Monday afternoon.

"I mally the woman," explained Ing Da Sac, an intelligent Chinese, father of the children, his glance resting on the two youngsters, in charge of a woman from the society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. "All go light fo' time. Then she go 'way. I find she no good. I lose money. I can't pay fo keep my children. My fend, here, come from Chicago; say he take them. Make them all same like American."

George Walters, the friend referred to, told the court that he had come all the way from Chicago to take the two wails in spite of the fact that their Chinese blood was mingled with that

Get Back at the Judge. RECORD AS RAILROAD BUILDER

Don Juan Whittemore Retires at the Age of 51 After Most Remarkable Career.

Unquestionably one of the most remarkable careers in the history of American railroading that has furnished so many illustrious examples of brilliant or faithful work is that of Don Juan Whittemore, who recently retired as chief engineer of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad.

In fact, the crowning achievement of his life, undertaken at the age of 77, many years after the time of retirement for most men, was the supervision in many of the most essential features of the construction of a new railroad reaching half way across the continent.

INGALLS YOUTH FATALLY INJURED

Bruce Goulder, aged 14 years, of Ingalls, Menominee county, was probably fatally injured Friday forenoon about 9:30 o'clock when he was accidentally shot by Clarence Allard, aged 14 years, a schoolmate.

The accident occurred on the grounds of the school at Ingalls. Charles Weingreen had loaned a 12 gauge shotgun to R. Nichol, Clarence, the son of Weingreen, obtained the weapon from Nichol, and took it to school.

While playing with the gun Allard accidentally discharged it, shooting Goulder through the hip. The boy was taken to his home. He probably cannot recover.

HOW BASEBALL GOT ITS START

In 1842 and '43 a number of gentlemen used to get together afterwards to play baseball, the progeny of English rounders and American genius, on a plot of ground in Twenty-seventh street, New York, later occupied by the old Harlem railroad depot.

The Knickerbocker rules adopted Sept. 23, 1845, are probably the first official playing code the national game ever had. Omitting clauses of club government, the actual laws of play were:

The bases shall be from "home" to second base, forty-five paces; from first to third base, forty-two paces, equidistant.

The game to consist of twenty-one counts, or aces (runs); but at the conclusion an equal number of hands (innings for each side) must be played.

The ball must be pitched, and not thrown, for the bat.

A ball knocked out of the field, or outside the range of first or third base is foul.

Three balls being struck at and missed, and the last one caught, is a hand out; if not caught is considered fair, and the striker bound to run.

If a ball be struck or tipped, and caught either flying or on the first bound, is a hand out.

A player running the bases shall be out if the ball is in the hands of an adversary on the base or if the runner is touched with it before he makes his base; it being understood, however, that in no instance is a ball to be thrown at him.

A player running who shall prevent an adversary from catching or getting the ball before making his base is a hand out.

Three hands out, all out. Players must take their strikes in regular turn. (Here is the primeval expression for the modern "batting order.")

All disputes and differences relative to the game to be decided by the umpire, from which there is no appeal.

No ace (score) or base can be made on a foul strike.

A runner cannot be put out in making one base when a balk (undefined) is made by the pitcher.

But one base allowed when a ball bounds out of the field when struck.
