DUKE CAPTURES GERMAN SQUAD

With Notification That His Castle Is About to be Attacked, the Lieutenant Organizes Servants and After Brief Conflict Takes Entire Number.

BULLETIN
Paris, Sept. 19.—Duke De Mouchy, a reserve lieutenant today killed and captured an entire squad of German Uhlans concealed in the park of his castle near Beauvais.

The Duke was at luncheon when his gamekeeper rushed in with the announcement that the Uhlans had arrived. The Duke assembled the servants, armed them and led the attack. Several Germans were killed and the balance were captured and disarmed.

Berlin, Sept. 19.—The Imperial general staff tonight gave out a statement in which it says the German Eastern army is continuing operations in the region of Suwalki, in Poland, and that the army is now advancing on Osovoce, a fortified position thirty miles southwest of Lyck. This fortification guards the only crossing possible over the river Bober. The swamps on either side form a natural barrier to any advancing army aiming to cross at any other point.

Paris, Sept. 19.—The secret of the strategy of the German army in the battle of the Aisne, which is now in the seventh day, was revealed today in the continued forced bombardment of Rheims. An official statement from the French war office declares the Germans had shelled Rheims during the whole day. The great intensity of this attack in an effort to retake this very strong defensive position discloses, what was thought to be the plan of the Kaiser's invading army to re-establish here a railway base which is eminently essential in view of the opening of a new line into Belgium made possible by the fall of Mauberge.

The bombardment was conducted with unabating energy from the semi-circle of the strongly entrenched positions on heights to the north and east of Rheims. The French guns replied effectively. The gunnery of the invaders has improved remarkably. On the allies left, the death toll, has reached 150,000, one third of whom are allies and according to official estimates, is still rolling up.

The two armies, strongly entrenched, were engaged all day in localized attacks and counter attacks in an effort to feel out the weak spots of the opposing lines where a gigantic wedge might be hurled through at a supreme moment.

Official reports tonight were that the French had captured many Germans, including a number of Prussian guards fighting at the western end of the line.

London, Sept. 19.—The Austrians supported by German reinforcements have established a new line of defense against which the Russian left wing, commanded by Generals Brusilov and Ruzsky are expected to be hurled in their assault on Przemyel. Dispatches from Petrograd report that several corps of Germans have joined the Austrian army which was routed from Tomaszow and driven across the Vistula and that the combined forces have now rallied and are entrenched along the Lonka and Wistoka, tributaries of the Vistula, across which the Russian troops must advance.

The new Austrian fortified position presents a defensive front which reaches as far as Cracow. It is thought to be a final effort of the Austrians to save the remnants of their army.

According to a remarkable brief of social bulletin from the Petrograd war office, the Russian "Military operations continue successfully."

UHLANS RIDE TO CERTAIN DEATH

Rotterdam, Sept. 19.—Of the German Uhlans of whom so much has been heard in the European war, Luigi Barzini, a widely known Italian war correspondent, says in the Corriere della Sera:

"As we neared a small station and the train lessened its speed, we saw a small troop of cavalry guarding the railroad crossing—a patrol of Uhlans. Their demeanor was calm. Though they were in the enemy's country their carefree attitude gave the impression that they were merely in a maneuver camp.

"The swarms of cavalry which the Germans send out ahead of their advance are to be found everywhere—on any highway, on any path. It is their business to see as much as possible. They show themselves everywhere and they ride until they are fired upon, keeping this up until they have located the enemy. Their is the task of riding into death. The entire front of the enemy is established by them and many of them are killed—that is a certainty they face.

"The fire with which the Uhlans are received permits of a fair estimate of the strength of the enemy, for they know that usually all the soldiers shoot as soon as the cavalry of the enemy shows itself.

"At ever bush, every heap of earth, the Uhlans must say to himself: 'Here I will meet an enemy in hiding.' He cannot defend himself against a fire that may open on him from all sides. Everywhere there is danger for the Uhlans—hidden danger. 'Nevertheless he keeps on riding, calmly and undisturbed, in keeping with German discipline.'"

The German Uhlans are employed entirely for reconnaissance purposes and what is known as "screen" and contact work. In the first of these capacities he endeavors to locate the enemy without running into his fire, doing this usually in groups of from twenty to thirty, which move with vanguard, flankers and rear guard.

"In 'screen work' the Uhlans is used to cover infantry or artillery advances, taking a position on the flank as soon as this has been accomplished. In contact work, as the task is described by Barzini, the Uhlans ride in small bodies until he has drawn the fire of the enemy. Instead of retreating, as he may do in ordinary reconnaissance work, he endeavors to trace the front of the enemy, riding parallel to it—usually until the last man is shot down. The contact action has, meanwhile, been closely observed from the German front and the advance and attack of the infantry is governed by the information gained at the expense of the Uhlans, for whom there is no hope as soon as he is detailed for this duty, but who, from all accounts, does not seem to mind this part of the work.

But two of those aboard are known to have been saved. Thirty perished when the first lifeboat was launched and eight were lost in the second. Both capsized. A majority of the passengers were below decks when the vessel went down. The seas had torn away her hatch coverings and filled her holds with water.

TO LOOK AT BOTH SIDES

The following statement was issued yesterday by the Delta County Hotel and Liquor Dealers' Association: "We still hear, on the streets, some criticism of the literature that was handed out at the fair grounds by the Delta County Hotel and Liquor Dealers' Association, and the reason given for criticizing, is that they do not believe there is any authority for the statements made."

"The trouble with the people in this and other communities, where the Local Option question is agitating the minds of the people, is that they do not take the time to look into this question from both sides, and decide honestly and individually for themselves, reaching their honest conclusions."

There isn't any question at all about the outcome of this proposition in this county; absolutely none. We venture to say that if the question goes to a vote in the spring, that the Prohibition side will not receive twenty-five percent of the votes. We know of a great many people that have signed the local option petition that did so for fear of losing their position, and a great many others who have expressed themselves, as wanting the matter submitted to the people, vote on it, beat it, and get through with it.

All we ask of the citizens is to give our side of the question a reasonable amount of thought before you decide against us.

Signed: Delta County Hotel and Liquor Dealers' Association.

PRIZE WINNERS ARE ANNOUNCED

Announcement was made yesterday of the winners of two contests that were conducted during the county fair, which closed on Friday. At the booth of B. J. MacKilligan two prizes were offered for correct guesses. James W. Booth, of South Norris street, is the winner of a $7.50 Mackinaw or sweater at that store while George Anderson, of 516 Hale street, is the winner of a $5 pair of shoes.

At the booth of the Hewitt Grain & Provision Company guesses were registered as to the number of sacks of flour sold from Sept. 18, 1913 to Sept. 18, 1914. The number of sacks of flour sold by the company was 11,100 and the prize of one barrel of Seal of Minnesota flour was awarded to Wilfred Cheverette of 621 South Sarah street.

TURKEY IS CAUTIOUS

(Special to the Press.)
Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—Turkey has informed the United States that quarantine has been established at Smyrna and that the Relief Ship North Carolina will not be permitted to visit that port. The North Carolina will instead call at Beirut and several other ports of Asia Minor. The action of the Turkish government is regarded as a subterfuge to keep the North Carolina at arm's length.

GIVES VIEWS OF PROMINENT MEN

The following statement was issued yesterday by the Delta County Hotel and Liquor Dealers' Association: Read what a few of our eminent men have to say on the subject of "Prohibition," and if need be we could fill the columns of our daily papers from now until Spring with just such statements coming from the minds of our most representative clergy and laymen.

Reverend Doctor Harry Corsby, of the Presbyterian church, goes so far as to say that "Prohibition is the greatest enemy to a much needed reform."

Doctor Carl Eissfeldt, of the Lutheran Orphan Home, Milwaukee, formulated the following declaration of the German Lutheran clergy at the United Lutheran conference of Wisconsin:

"We cannot join hands with the Prohibitionists because their principle is wrong, in so far as they make good use and misuse of things, that in themselves are gifts of God. We regard this as a wrong principle to Prohibition, on account of the misuse or use, the manufacture and sale of anything is in itself not bad. For the same reason they condemn the Anti-Saloon League."

MAN INJURED IN ACCIDENT

Louis Laforest of Flat Rock suffered a severe compound fracture of his right leg on Friday night near the Holy Family church at Flat Rock when the motorcycle which he was riding collided with a horse and buggy.

Laforest was bound for his home at Flat Rock near midnight and was riding at a high rate of speed. The head light of his machine was burning poorly and without warning the rider crashed into the horse and buggy. Thrown to the ground the motorcycle rider was picked up and brought to the office of Dr. Gross in this city from where he was taken to the St. Francis hospital, where the fracture was reduced.

BAG SNATCHER GETS A PRIZE

Snatching a silver mesh bag from the arm of Miss Maude Johnson of Ogontz at the Fair Friday afternoon, the thief mingled with the crowd and escaped.

Miss Johnson was walking in a particularly big and tightly packed crowd when the bag was torn from her arm but before she could turn around in the crowd to see the robber he had escaped. The police station was at once notified but until last night had secured no trace of the man.

The bag contained $10 in cash and a check made out to Miss Johnson on a New York bank.

STRENGTH IS WIDESPREAD

As evidence of the popularity of Auditor General O. B. Fuller throughout the state of Michigan and exclusive of his home district north of the Straits is the following from the Pontiac Press-Gazette:

Michigan in times past has experienced much indifferent service on the part of the important functions performed by the auditor general.

There have been periods when this highly important administration of state account was imbued with the usual spirit likely to come from choosing auditors through direct vote.

The holders were auditors in name only, their principal function being to look wise, allow some one else to perform the service and give small consideration to the many requirements for conserving the state's cash.

When Oramel B. Fuller assumed the position there was a distinct change in the atmosphere around the auditor's office and the republicans of this state never performed a better service than when they continued him in office.

There is no question too small for his consideration and his eagle eye has been trained to detect the smallest imposition intended to deprive the taxpayers of their funds.

There is abundant opportunity for sly deception in this particular department, but through all the years of Auditor Fuller's administration the padder of bills has learned to give him a wide berth.

If he wishes to be auditor general another term no better service could be performed for Michigan than to renominate him.

It is also announced by the mayor that the statute governing the conduct of pool rooms will be strictly enforced. All pool rooms must be closed each week day night at 11 o'clock and on Sunday must remain closed until noon.

BACK AND FOURTH.

Observers at a long and safe distance from the seat of hostilities derive considerable pleasure from advancing and upholding theories to account for happenings on the firing line. Theories of this kind are most of them inherently probable. If correctly designated as mere speculation and not as established fact, they are interesting and quite inoffensive.

To explain the German defeat at the Marne it has been held that the Kaiser's forces had been depleted to send reinforcements to the army in East Prussia. When the Germans made a stand at the Aisne it was advanced with equal assurance that these troops had been brought back again.

On the basis of these suppositions, a pretty scheme of Russian strategy was built. The Russian advance in East Prussia was, according to these distant experts, merely a "bluff." Russia's only serious aim was the invasion of Austria. The army sent to East Prussia was for the sole purpose of drawing troops from France. Russian strategy was, therefore, responsible for the Franco-British victory at the Marne.

The mental picture one acquires from these explanations is confusing. It sees some 300,000 German soldiers shooting back and forth across the mouth of Germany, rebounding like a shuttle from border to border, wherever they stop for a moment the Germans gain the advantage. They must be about the most mobile troops ever known. Their speed surpasses any former achievement of military science.

The idea is, of course, preposterous. That there is some kind of direct co-operation between the allies in the west and the Russians in the east is unquestioned. But that there is a closely defined scheme of fighting is improbable. That Germany has detached troops from neither army for temporary reinforcement of the other is more than likely, but the sending back and forth of 350,000 is beyond credulity.

The strategy of the present war is new, and vast beyond the comprehension of the off-hand critic.

"The German flying corps has been decimated," says a French dispatch which announces paradoxically, a little later, that more German corps are flying than ever before.

The first stage of the war is over, announce the military experts. And the laity experience guilty disappointment in the thought that Armageddon hasn't happened yet.

One of the minor horrors of war is the guessing contests that might be organized over the mystery of A. Rustem Bey's first (one couldn't call it a Christian) name.

As if they had not been punished enough already, the Albanians are now attacked by smallpox and threatened with famine. But Wied, at least, is safe.

Perhaps a few war correspondents could be sent over who do not resemble spies. This might obviate a lot of dramatic escapes and a good deal of romancing.

Gen. Christian DeWet has offered his services for the campaign and, in spite of his name, he does not mean the Ohio constitutional amendment campaign, either.

America singers are now in a position to show the American people what poor judgment the manager had who heretofore sent abroad for grand opera stars.

Federal public authority now declares that New Orleans is "perfectly safe and healthful," but that cannot console her for losing the Panama exposition.

Perhaps the lonesome man who persists in retaining his straw hat is influenced by the war news that there will not be enough derbies to go around.

Now that whale steak is to be put on the market, there is some hope that the attention of congressmen may be diverted from pork.

The trouble with the "enveloping" form of strategy is that the enveloped fail to find it out.

Republicans take alarm at the president's agility in hopping aboard a moving train.

Frosts may blight imperial hopes as well as plebeian pumpkins.

Blessed are the peacemakers, even though they inherit a war tax.

WAR

London, Sept. 19.—The Daily Telegraph's Rome correspondent says he learns that eight German army corps have left France and Belgium for the Russian frontier.

Rome, Sept. 19.—Reports from Russia emphasize the magnitude of the Austrian defeat. The number of cannon captured by the Russians is now placed at one thousand.

London, Sept. 19.—Reports received from Petrograd today say that the Russian pursuit of the Austrians continues, and that the Russians have gained important successes over the Austrian rear guard. Convoys of two army corps, with thirty guns and ammunition, and five thousand prisoners are said to have been captured. The whole of the Austro-Russian border between Yusevoff and Annapol is reported to be overrun by Cossacks, who are leading the Russian advance.

The Russian army now in Galicia will be left there to complete its work, for, according to a Rome dispatch, an army of nine hundred thousand Russians is marching into central Poland, followed by another army of two million, while a third army, also aggregating two million, is proceeding from more distant regions and will reach the front in October. There already are said to be a half million Russians in Galicia, and a million in East Prussia.

While these numbers are enormous, they are considered probably a fair estimate of what Russia soon will have available for her war. It is said she will soon have seven million men on the move.

While continuing the offensive in Galicia, Russia is standing on the defensive on the East Prussia frontier, her home having been driven back by the Germans. This army, however, is said to be intact.

Petrograd, Sept. 19.—The following communication was issued today by the chief of the general staff:

"On the front in Eastern Prussia the armies of General Rennenkampf definitely stopped on Sept. 17 the offensive movement of the Germans. At several points the Germans are falling back and shifting to new positions."

"On the Austrian front, the pursuit of the enemy continues. The Russians are approaching the defensive positions of Siensawa Jaroslau and Przemysl (Galicia.)"

New York, Sept. 19.—The Austrian ambassador tonight issued a statement characterizing the reports of tremendous Russian victories in Russia Poland and Galicia as ridiculous and declaring that if the reports of Austrian defeats were true there could be no Austrians left. While he admits there have been reverses, he declares the Austrians have seriously checked the armies of the czar.

"The only tangible result of the Russian victories announced to the world with the eloquence of mountebanks is the occupation of eastern Galicia, a flat, open country without any strategic position, which had to be given up to the enemy, as everybody in Austria knew," the ambassador declared. He added that the stories of famine and panic in Vienna are pure fiction, as are the reports of the disaffection of the Slav leaders.

Bordeaux, Sept. 19.—The reported project of mediation by the United States among the warring nations has elicited much public and newspaper comment in France. Referring to a dispatch emanating from Berlin, according to which a conference to fix the basis of peace already has been summoned in Washington, the Temps says:

"Germans, who are numerous in America, perhaps ought to render a service to their empire by stirring up opinion, but American opinion, like that of the English, or the opinion of any other impartial country, sees through this game and has already given its verdict."

"There is a disaster greater than war. A hasty, deceptive peace would give only a breathing space which would enable German militarism to prepare its revenge and a war worse than the present."

Washington, Sept. 19.—Great Britain has received no proposal for peace, either direct or indirect, from Germany or Austria and, therefore, has nothing to say on the subject. This was the substance of a message received late tonight by the British ambassador from Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary. The ambassador had inquired early today whether any proposal of peace was before his government, in view of the persistent rumors from Berlin that peace proposals were being exchanged.

Rome, Sept. 19.—Germany continues to try to influence public opinion with all kinds of publications, the latest being a pamphlet in Italian and bearing the title, "The Truth About the War." The preface of the pamphlet ends thus:

"With Germany energy, we have determined to win, and we invite the Italians to win with us."

London, Sept. 19.—There was a remarkable scene today in the house of commons, after the signing of the home rule bill by King George. For the first time, as far as can be recalled, the members of the house sang "God Save the King," and the Nationalists, who previously had refrained from singing the national anthem, joined in.

Another precedent will be broken when Premier Asquith and John Redmond, the Irish leader, address recruiting meetings in Ireland.

London, Sept. 19.—Reuter's Antwerp correspondent, telegraphing Friday, says: "The Germans today completed the destruction of the town of Termonde, sixteen miles southeast of Ghent. The communal offices were bombarded and are in ruins. The church still stands, though its tower is damaged. The hospital was more or less spared, but all other public buildings and houses were destroyed."

London, Sept. 19.—The Paris correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company says: "All accounts received in Paris agree that the famous Prussian guards, the elite of the empire and the special pride of the German emperor, have been practically blotted out in the battles which have been waged along the Meuse, Marne and Aisne rivers."

Paris, Sept. 19.—The French and German governments are arranging through Washington for the exchange of prisoners of war. It is understood that James W. Gerard, American ambassador to Germany, has cabled Germany's adhesion to the plan.

Paris, Sept. 19.—The following official statement was issued here this evening: "There is no change in the general situation, except that we have continued our progress on the left wing and that a lull in the battle is noted."

London, Sept. 19.—An announcement issued by the official press bureau this evening says: "According to a report received this afternoon, there is no particular change in the situation. There has been some activity on the part of the allied cavalry, but, at the present time, without any definite result."

London, Sept. 19.—The Copenhagen correspondent of the Central News Agency has forwarded the following dispatch, received from Berlin: "The situation of the German troops in the great battle on the western frontier is good, especially in the center, where the Germans have received substantial reinforcements. The end of the battle is expected soon."

Berlin, Sept. 19.—The French army, according to the night bulletin, is showing signs of having shot its bolt and has found itself to a standstill, being unable to fill depleted ranks, like the Germans. Lieutenant Von Raelieu, one of the best known German aviators, has been killed. The well known sculptor, Friedrich Pfannschmidt, was killed in battle near Chalons.

Showers of aerial arrows, released by French aviators over a mile high is the most modern terror of war, according to the German wounded. The arrows seem to have caused more surprise than damage."

The German army continues operations in the district about Suwalki, Russian Poland, according to the general staff.

Washington, Sept. 19.—An official dispatch from Bordeaux to the French embassy says:

"The battle continues on the whole front from the river Aisne to the river Woivre during the eighteenth without any important change on any point."

London, Sept. 19.—The battle of the Aisne is now in its sixth day and beginning a sea rear guard action, it has developed into the supreme conflict of the French campaign. The latest official news sets forth that there is a brief lull in the titanic artillery duel. This is taken to indicate that today's struggle may be marked by a tremendous advance of infantry, such as made the battlefield of the Marne a scene of indescribable horror and desolation.

News from Berlin concerning the position of the German forces has a more confident ring. The admission is made that the German army was short of ammunition but it is declared this has been rectified and supplies and reinforcements are being sent forward without trouble.

A French officer just returned from the battle front is authority for the statement that the strain on both sides of the line promises soon to get beyond human endurance. He likens the antagonists to two exhausted pugilists, unable to inflict further punishment upon each other.

If this situation develops, the only possible way for the allies to prevent a weary winter campaign, it is argued, would be a successful assault upon the German communications. Such an assault, it is admitted, would not be an easy matter.

Petrograd reports that General Rennenkampf has definitely arrested the German advance. The Austrians in persistent effort to save the remnants of their army and re-establish it as fighting force, have, according to reports from Vienna, fortified their extended new defensive front from Prohobay, southwest of Lmburg, to Cracow, with its center on Przemysl.

The attack on the Przemysl fortress is expected at once from the Russians.

From many points of the dual monarchy come disquieting reports. Pola, the naval base on the Adriatic, is said to be in revolt, while the people of Vienna are demanding news of the situation from Galicia, from which district herds of refugee Poles and wounded Austrian soldiers are pouring into the capital daily.

Violent scenes outside the ministry of the ministry of war building in Vienna are reported.

Paris, Sept. 19.—Official reports thus far have neglected the question of losses, which in a fight such as the battle of the Marne, covering a front of 150 miles are almost impossible to estimate.

Some unofficial reports placed the allies' losses at 50,000 and those of the Germans at 100,000, in the series of engagements comprised in the last great clash of arms.

The losses certainly are great on record and perhaps the proportion for the Germans is greater than two to one, for the number of dead at least.

For the great proportion of French officers killed and wounded, two explanations are given:

"The zeal of the officers and the orders to German riflemen to pick them out."

An officer of a Prussian guard regiment, who is a prisoner, said:

"My regiment left for the front with 60 officers. It could today muster only five. We underwent terrific trials."

London, Sept. 19.—Telegraphing from Sezanne, The Times' correspondent says:

"The territory over which the second day's battle of the Marne was fought is now a picture of devastation, abomination and death, almost too awful to describe."

London, Sept. 19.—The most serious aspect, from British standpoint, of the terrible battle now raging in the western arena of the war is the dreadful apprehension with which the British public awaits the publication of casualty lists of this week's fighting. Many of Great Britain's most famous regiments are reported to have been mowed down in terrific assaults on the heights held by Germans above the river Aisne.

Social Happenings of the Day

Smith-Craddock

Coming as a complete surprise to her scores of friends in the city, announcements were yesterday received of the marriage of Miss Edith Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Walker of the Chemical Plant location, to Dr. French Hood Craddock at Goodwater, Alabama.

The marriage of the Escanaba girl was a real surprise to her friends here who had not known that such plans were anticipated. Miss Smith left Escanaba last June to act as a bridesmaid at the marriage of a cousin but failed to tell her friends here of the approaching marriage. The bride and groom have been life long friends, Goodwater being the home of the bride before removing to this city. The marriage took place on Wednesday evening, Sept. 16.

During the brief time that Miss Smith made her residence here she became immensely popular in local social circles and was the proud possessor of scores of intimate friends, all of whom have received the marriage announcement with a sense of real delight and surprise.

Other than the announcements no information has been received here in regard to the marriage or the future home of the couple but in all probability they will make their future home at Goodwater, the home of the groom.

The Beta Tau Sigma Society held a theater party at the Royal theatre last evening in honor to Leroy Mallman and Harold Foster, who will leave the first part of the week for the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

After witnessing the entire program the party adjourned to the Fritz and Fritz Soda Grill, where refreshments were served.

Later on in the evening a stag party and supper was held at the Beath residence at 511 South Walcott St.

OPERATIONS SUSPENDED

The Oliver Iron Mining Company's ore crushing plant here has been closed for the season. Although operations were suspended at the plant this season earlier than usual, the tonnage of ore crushed this season has been approximately the same as in former years. Record tonnages were handled last month and in July. The average output for the thirty days prior to the suspension was about sixty-five large carloads daily, or nearly double the number of loads usually crushed. All of the ore treated at the plant this year came from the Duober mine, on the Menominee range. This property, which is located in Spring Valley, near Iron River and was one of the first mines there, produces a hard hematite. When the Escanaba plant was first installed a considerable tonnage of hard ore from the Oliver company's Moore mine, on the Cascade range was crushed, but the Moore has been idle for several years past, and the plant has since been working exclusively on Duober mine ore. The Escanaba plant is one of the largest owned by the company in the Lake Superior district.

IDLE MINERS AT WORK ON ROADS

Houghton, Sept. 19.—The Houghton county road commission had 40 men at work on the Hancock-canal road improvement job Wednesday and yesterday morning put on another crew of 25. The first batch of men have been employed near Swedetown creek. The new gang was put to work about miles north of that point. Engineer Randolph Martin says that additional forces will be employed as soon as work can be arranged for them. He says that with this one road job it is impossible to care for all who are applying, but that the commission will take on men just as fast as work can be found for them. The Keweenaw county road improvement, which was commenced on Monday of this week under the general supervision of Highway Engineer Carl G. Smith, is proving a boon to many of the formerly unemployed men of the district, close to 100 being given work this week.

PARISIANS LAUGH AS BOMBS ARE DROPPED

Paris, Sept. 19.—Paris is the city without nerves. Paris refuses absolutely to be frightened. Drinking grenadine syrups, diluted with water, and watching quite nonchalantly, the dropping of German bombs upon the city is now the favorite pastime. This afternoon I was sitting in front of a restaurant. I was quite warm, brilliant sunshine having poured down upon the city all day. Scores of men and women—mostly women with a scattering of youths and old men—were sitting about me imbibing favorite syrups and waters. Waiters bustled to and fro—if the ankle of the aged and crippled waiters, the only sort available at present, can be termed a bustle—and everything was quite peaceful and serene. Presently a passerby stopped and, shading his eyes, gazed into the sky. German Aeroplanes Common. "Another German aeroplane," he said, quite as if accustomed to watch them fly over his head many times a day. The people on the terrace looked up, too. Sure enough, there, high over head was a "taube" maning "pigeon," a German monoplane. A pretty young French woman near me, sipping her mixture remarked: "What gall!" She did not move. Her face did not pale. Her voice was as steady as if she were asking the waiter for a glass of fresh water. Suddenly there was a boom. A bomb exploded just around the corner. The German aviator had let it fall from his "taube." Two English troopers in khaki, seeing all eyes gazing upward, stopped in front of my table, fired seven times at the passing aeroplane and then passed on. The people on the restaurant terrace kept their seats. They went right on drinking and gazing upward alternately. The little French beauty said: "Such a poor bomb. Not nearly so loud as a cannon." Then another bomb exploded and a third. The aeroplane turned deliberately over the Eiffel tower and from the top of this tall structure a machine gun rattled away. Then a cannon roared from somewhere near the Champs de Mars, again and again. The German pilot turned now and began to back track. Near the Sacher-Coeur, the church on the top of the Montmartre Hill, the aeroplane veered again and presently the patter of a machine gun, working from the dome of this house of God, reached our ears. Fifteen of Geppreyer's Taize-Wanted to See Whose. "Funny they can't get him," said the pretty little French woman, dabbling her straw in the grenadine. "Armored," said her companion in a bored sort of a way. "He's flying an armored aeroplane." "Why doesn't a French pilot go after him?" asked the woman. "Search me," replied the man. The aeroplane disappeared and the crowd on the terrace went right on with its drinks. While writing the above the sound of gun firing reached me through the open window. Looking out I saw everyone below me gazing up. About 4,000 feet over the Rue Montmartre, directly over my head, a "taube" was blithely making its daring way toward Eiffel tower. From the roofs men were firing by the dozens. Soldiers in the street blazed at the speck in the sky, but through glasses I could see that the machine was an armored one and that the bullets were doing no harm. The people were not excited. They were only curious. Those who have watched a crowd at an ordinary aviation meet can picture the Paris throngs mentally and perfectly, as they watch a bomb-throwing aviator from the army's lines over their heads. Didn't Want to Get Him. After circling the great steel tower, receiving a baptism of fire from the top of it, the "taube" returned, passing over the Bourse. A number of people collected under the terrace roof there are a matter of precaution. One man expressed the sentiments of all the others: "German bombs don't always explode," he said, "but I'll bet one would hurt a man's head if it fell on it." Everybody laughed, for an aeroplane over the city didn't work them a bit. They were not in the least panic stricken. They took it as a new sort of an exhibition, providing a new thrill. They watched the German pilot disappear, in a hail of bullets, quite as if accustomed to such a thing all their lives. Paris is still smiling. She is almost deserted, but she is gay.

NEVER SAFE AS LONG AS KAISER IS ON SEA

London, Sept. 19.—Fresh reports from America of peace talk, coming from Oscar Straus and Count von Bernstorff, do nothing more here than serve to accentuate the fact that the allies are not willing to make peace at this time. They might entertain a formal proposition of peace, but only on terms which Germany could not possibly accept. It is obvious, judging by talks with high officials, that Germany must be crushed; that there must be made an end for all time to the so-called menace of Germany. While England is in high feather over the recent victory, no official will venture to discuss the exact terms which might be imposed upon Germany. Would subordinate Germany. It is said generally, however, that these terms would be harsh. They would be such as to subordinate Germany as a world power. Nothing else would satisfy England. Britain, it is learned on high authority, wants this war to bring to an end the race for armored superiority. She also wants to eliminate the German competition for mastery of the seas, so that England may cut down her own fleet and end the mad rush for naval supremacy. If the war ends in favor of the allies, it will be England's demand that Germany's fleet be dismantled, whether it has come out to fight in the meantime or not. It is England's belief, as expressed by numerous officials, that there is no hope of lasting European peace unless Germany is thoroughly whipped. Militarism, it is said, must be eliminated in Europe, and, in this respect Germany, to the English mind represents militarism. It is becoming obvious that if Germany is whipped the allies will see to it that her influence is crushed. Territory for Belgium. Belgium, it is said, will make a demand for territory, in addition to an indemnity tax. This is not official, but a high authority states that the growing feeling among the Belgian populace probably will force a not unwilling government to make demands for slices of German's Rhine provinces. Then France will want Alsace-Lorraine, and possibly more. Russia will demand Poland. Italy and Serbia will want certain provinces of Austria, while Denmark will ask for Schleswig-Holstein. These peace terms now are of course, academic, but in view of the allies' successes recently, there are many who seriously are considering what the demands on Germany should be.

INCREASE PAY; LIABILITY LAWS

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 19.—Hearing reports from the various locals throughout the state which it was said that business was fairly good, the Michigan Federation of Labor passed up action on resolutions today. It had been expected that the resolutions committee would report and that the floor of the convention would be the scene of a warm debate. The compensation committee will report today sometime. It will suggest amendments to the workmen's compensation law, making it cover occupational diseases; lengthening the time of hospital service to the injured; reducing the waiting period in which the insurance companies have to settle, and fixing the liability for total disability in accidents in which a person lose both members while working for two different employers. This latter question raises a new point. If a man is injured while working for two different employers, an eye, then goes to another employer and loses the other eye, the federation wants it settled which employer shall pay for the total disability. The indications are the convention will suggest that the second employer is liable.

MRS. W. J. BRYAN IS FOR SUFFRAGE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—In a signed statement made public here today, through the congressional committee of the National American Woman Suffrage association, Mrs. W. J. Bryan, wife of the secretary of state, declares herself in favor of woman suffrage. The statement was made public to set at rest rumors that Mrs. Bryan was opposed to the movement. It is as follows: "I have never been an anti-suffragist, nor attended any anti-meetings. I have been a firm believer in suffrage without a sex qualification for twenty-five years and wish access to the equal suffrage movement. Our older daughter has been an interested voter in Colorado; our younger a member of the College league at the Nebraska university."

RECOUNT OF PRIMARY VOTE IS NOT PROBABLE

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 19.—David E. Heineman of Detroit who was defeated for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor by Luren D. Dick Inson of Charlotte, would like a recount, but apparently the joker slipped into the law at the last session of the legislature prevents a recount. When the election law was amended machinery for a recount was provided but the closing section of act No. 230 says: "The provisions of this act shall not be construed to include a recount of any primary election." As yet, the State Department has not received the vote by precincts from Wayne county although the law requires returns shall be filed with the secretary of state within 24 hours after the election. TELLS OF PRISON LIFE IN GERMANY

Alten Grabow, Germany, Sept.—I visited the prison camp here today. There are about 3,000 French soldiers, 2,000 Belgians and a few English civil captives. Alten Grabow is one of the permanent practice maneuvers grounds for different corps scattered all over Germany.

I first visited the Belgian captives. They were men of the fourth division who had been taken at Namur. The German officer with me, Lieut. Von Leroner of the King of Prussia's hussars, who only just returned from Washington in time for the war, made no objection to my questioning the prisoners.

"How long had the fight at Namur lasted?" asked a corporal of the Thirtieth line regiment. "No much more than two hours," he replied. "Why did you put up such a feeble resistance?"

"We were too few. Outnumbered three or four to one we were alone and the Germans overran us from three sides. "Were there no French troops in Namur?"

"No, monsieur, not one." "And the forts, why did they fall so quickly?"

"They were old. The Germans were too great. This last sentence summarized all explanations of the feeble defense of Namur from the Belgians. I crossed to the French quarters. The first stables I entered held the wounded. Seven hundred of these, no one showing a severe wound, lay on straw stacks. They all showed marks of privations and were gaunt and yellow.

COUNTY PIONEER DIED YESTERDAY

Charles H. Scott, a pioneer resident of Delta county passed away yesterday morning at his home at Gladstone, death being due, principally, to the infirmities of old age. Mr. Scott was born in Cambridge, Mass., and received his early education at Boston. From Boston Mr. Scott removed to Toledo, where he resided until he came to Escanaba. Here he resided for 16 years and with the laying out of the city of Gladstone, made that city his residence where he has since resided.

DEFENDED MOTHER; CLEAR FROM MURDER

Ironwood, Mich., Sept. 19.—Andrew Mraz, who has been in custody since July 13, charged with the murder of his brother Steve, was released by Judge Shea for lack of evidence to connect him with the crime. Testimony introduced showed that Mraz defended his mother from the attack of Steve after the latter struck her when she refused to give him money that he had invested in their grocery business. Being considerably smaller than Steve, Andrews was unable to defend himself and the first between them was terminated by Alex Westcott, who it is alleged, was attracted by the sound of the struggle and felled Steve to the pavement. He struck his head on the curb, and never regained consciousness. Westcott has not been located.

UPPER PENINSULA IS SOUND FINANCIALLY

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 19.—At times when there is general business depression merchants who fear their ability to weather the storm are wont to run to the snug harbor of the bankruptcy court. Because of conditions growing out of the European war there is a general suspicion that things are not as well as might be with copper country and upper peninsula businessmen. For this reason a reporter put a question to R. T. Looney yesterday: "How are things in the bankruptcy line, Mr. Looney?" "We haven't had a case of bankruptcy in the upper peninsula in more than five months," was the answer. Mr. Looney is the referee in bankruptcy for the United States court in the upper peninsula. He is the father confessor for the businessman who finds the burden too hard to bear. He has had no petitions from any timorous business man for nearly half a year. This surely is a good commentary on the stability of business in the upper peninsula.

AUTO SPEEDERS WERE NOT IN EVIDENCE HERE

Not a single arrest for motor speeding nor a single accident traceable in any way to the county fair crowds on the street, marked the Northern State Fair, which closed yesterday. In spite of the fact that every possible car in the city and many from outside cities were pressed into service in carrying passengers between the downtown district and the fair grounds, the drivers rigidly observed the order of Motor Cop Carney against speeding and the annual show has ended with a clear record.

MAYOR GLEASON HAS BEEN RECALLED

Mayor John J. Gleason, of Eveleth, Minn., recalled at a special election on Wednesday as chief executive of that city, has announced that he will be a candidate for reelection at the special election that will be called. By a majority of only 34 votes Mayor Gleason was recalled at the election of this week and he asserts that it was the influence of the mining company officials of Eveleth, who were opposed to him, that his defeat was accomplished. Mr. Gleason formerly resided at Gladstone and has many friends in this city.

INDIAN SALOON CASE IS A PICULIAR ONE

A local attorney who has been engaged to represent a salesman for a local wholesale liquor house, recently arrested at Baraga, for selling liquor to an Indian saloonist, has just received word from a prominent brief filing house, that in the history of the concern, no case of similar nature has ever appeared for filing. Under the Federal laws it is illegal to sell liquor in any form to an Indian, yet the Indian of Keweenaw Bay has been engaged in the saloon business for several years and the validity of his occupation was never questioned until a jealous saloon-keeper in the same village made the complaint, resulting in the arrest of the representative of the local wholesale liquor house. The brief house stated in their communication that after going through their entire files they had been unable to find a similar case. With this to contend with the case in Baraga county will probably go on record as one of the most unusual ever tried.

WAR MAY BREAK UP NORTHERN LEAGUE

Grand Forks, Sept. 18.—The European war is likely to break up the Northern League, if long continue, as neither Winnipeg nor Fort William can be counted on as members of the circuit next year in the event that England still is at war. That, at least is the consensus of opinion around the circuit, and it is not likely that definite steps will be taken for next year until the war situation has developed more thoroughly, and its effect upon the Canadian members of the circuit is better known.

Neither Winnipeg, which was the financial backbone of the league in the season just ended, nor Fort William could be counted on as strong in attendance next year if the war continues. The effect on the attendance at Winnipeg during the last stages of this year's race was evident, even with the team battling for the pennant.

With Winnipeg out, both Grand Forks and Fargo would likely abandon the league as the two North Dakota cities would be out on a branch by themselves, with mileage features too great for satisfactory solution.

As to Winona, it is not to be supposed that it would take on baseball again in the event that Winnipeg abandoned the circuit. Winona drew only 20,000 paid admissions at home this season, while nearly half the people the club played to on the road were Winnepiggers.

PENNY HAS STAR A SAD EXPERIENCE

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 19.—Billy Patterson, the Red and Blue sprinter, returned to Franklin field yesterday from abroad, where, he said, he had been in jail in Austria and lost his clothing and prizes.

"I won the 100-yard dash in Budapest, Hungary," said Patterson. "Just at the instant war was declared. I started next morning to get out of the country. I finally reached Pontarlier, on the border of France. I was thrust into jail with a Frenchman, a German and a Swede, and not one of us could talk to the other. My trophies, those I won in Berlin, England and Switzerland, were all lost.

"Eliminating the war, I had a great time. I came to my real running form at Budapest. I won the 100 meters in 10 4-5 and the 20 meters in :22. I was just going along at my best clip and along came that war and ended all.

BULL MOOSERS FIRST ON TICKET

The National Progressive ticket will enjoy the first position on the ballots at the election this fall, according to section 225, New Howells' statutes, which provides:

"The tickets of the party having the greatest number of votes within the state at the last preceding presidential election, as shown by the votes within the state at the last preceding presidential election, as shown by the votes cast thereat for election of president and vice president, shall be placed first on the ballot, the position of other tickets to be governed relatively by the same rule."

The following tabulations show how the vote was cast in Michigan at the last presidential election in 1912: Theodore Roosevelt, Prog. 213,243; William H. Taft, Rep. 151,434; Woodrow Wilson, Dem. 150,201.

This gives the National Progressive ticket the coveted first place on the ballot, which has always been considered an advantage to the party holding it, because of the number of careless voters.

WANTS SPUDS FOR NATIONAL EXHIBIT

Menominee, Sept. 19.—Lists of prizes and other data relative to the first annual potato congress to be held in Menominee on October 21, 22 and 23 are being distributed by George P. Chambers, secretary of the Menominee Commercial club.

The potato congress will be held primarily for the purpose of bringing the producer and buyer together. The Commercial club has invited all potato buyers and users to be present at this show. These men will be in the market for potatoes.

It is also the desire of the Commercial club to gather together for Cloverland, a representative exhibit that can be sent to the National Potato show to be held in December. The prize winning potatoes at this show will be turned over to the Upper Peninsula Development bureau for Cloverland's exhibit.

"We want Cloverland to win the first prize of America for potato growing," said Secretary Chambers this morning in talking to several potato growers in this country, "and your sample may win if you send it to Menominee."

Entry blanks and shipping tags can be had upon application to George P. Chambers, secretary of the Menominee Commercial club and all transportation and cartage charges will be paid by the local commercial club.

U. P. MINERS ASK FOR TWO REFORMS

Washington, Sept. 19.—Two reforms are asked for by the miners who went on strike in the Michigan copper country in a brief which has been filed with investigating committee. These are legislation to prevent discrimination against members of labor organizations by corporations, and to prevent corporations from owning the homes of their employees.

On the first of these reforms, the brief says: "That Congress should speak in no uncertain terms against the claimed right of these corporations to discriminate against a member of organized labor, and should by positive legislation assert the right of every working man in America to belong to a labor organization, as it has asserted his right to belong to any church he pleases."

Congress will also be asked to prohibit corporations from owning land around their mines, and from owning the houses which shelter their employees thereby placing them in a position to be driven back to work when on strike.

CHICAGO SCHOOL CENSUS INCREASES

Chicago, Sept. 19.—The official population of Chicago is 2,437,526. This is the figure presented to the board of education yesterday by W. L. Bodine, superintendent of compulsory education, who has just finished a complete census of the city. The Chicago Directory company made a population estimate a few days ago of $2,500,000, basing its figures on the new city directory.

Since the federal census of 1910 the increase in population has been 252,243, although Mr. Bodine reported a heavy trend of population to the suburbs and a slump in immigration. The increase in population from 1900 to 1910, according to the federal census was 486,708. Mr. Bodine calls the increase in the last four years a "normal, progressive and reasonable ration."

The Twenty-seventh ward is the most populous with 94,360 inhabitants.

AMERICANS IN EUROPE WEAR U. S. FLAG SOCKS.

London, Sept. 19.—Socks patterned after the design of the American flag are on sale here. One purveyor asserted that these Uncle Sam socks were meant to establish the identity of Americans going on continent missions. Stripes run from top to bottom of the socks, with the exception of three rows of stars on a blue field just above the ankle. It was argued by a merchant that no passport would be worn to get the proper effect. To the postcards which are now in demand, has been added the picture of President Wilson. It has been one of the most popular pictures, so stationers assert.

"I am the mother of eighteen children and have the pride of doing more work than any young woman in my town," writes Mrs. C. J. Martin, Boone Mill, Vt. "I suffered for five years with stomach trouble and could not eat as much as a biscuit without suffering. I have taken three bottles of Chamberlain's Tablets and am now a well woman and weigh 168 pounds. I can eat anything I want to, and as much as I want and feel better than I have at any time in ten years. I refer to any one in Boone Mill or vicinity and they will vouch for what I say." Chamberlain's Tablets are for sale by all dealers.

Friends Expected Her to Die.

"I sincerely believe my life was saved in the Fall of 1910 by using Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes Mrs. Agnes Booth, Tonawanda, N. Y. "I was taken with diarrhoea followed by an attack of acute indigestion. Power of the pen fails to portray the agonies I endured. My friends expected me to die as I had been unable to get relief for so long a time. This remedy went directly to the seat of the trouble cured me in a few hours' time." For sale by all dealers.

THE liquor license revenues which go to the school funds in the county, for the first six months of this year amounted to $63,000. County Auditor Patten yesterday signed warrants for the amounts the various townships will receive. The Indianapolis schools get $55,929.36, and the remainder of the sum is distributed among the out townships, all of which are "dry" territory.

The school funds derived from taxes levied by the state for that purpose in Marion County amount to $143,897.52 for the first six months of this year. Of that amount the Indianapolis schools will get $126,551.17.—Indianapolis Star.

WAR SHOWS U.S. A 'CHUMP' NATION

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 19.—That the war in Europe is doing something for the American people. If nothing more than to teach them their own provincialism, is the contention of Dean M. E. Cooley, of the engineering department of the University of Michigan, who contends that if it opens the eyes of the American people to their own inefficiency it will not be entirely without its benefit to future generations.

"The United States is reaping one great advantage from the war in Europe—it is learning in no uncertain terms that this country is made up of, and ruled by cuumps that being a mild term in which to express it," said Dean Cooley. "Here we have been for years boasting of our freedom from foreign entanglement, and in our own conceit greatly admiring ourselves, saying to all who cared to listen that in case of a foreign war this country could not help but profit greatly because of its space policy.

"No this foreign war is upon us, and here we are with the biggest crops in our history, and the wherewith to supply the entire world with foodstuffs, and manufactured materials, and scarcely a ship available to get them away from our shores. Not only that, but we don't even know how to do business with our nearest neighbor, South America. Not only have we no banking facilities for the exchange of money with South America, but we do not even know what they want in the way of goods. We have been so self-centered that our prosperity has been dependent upon local conditions. We are like an engine with a little fly wheel, running away one minute and standing still the next, even like the Mississippi river boats, which, when they toot their whistles, have to stop for want of steam.

Arnold Daly, one of the foremost stars of the modern stage, famed as an exponent of the "intellectual" drama, makes his first appearance in motion pictures in "The Port of Missing Men," that popular story of foreign intrigue and romantic adventure by the famous novelist, Meredith Nicholson. Mr. Daly's subtle delineation of character and his delicate artistry have earned him a host of admirers throughout the world. Those who remember his polished and precise portrayal of Napoleon in Bernard Shaw's "Man of Destiny" will quickly recognize his special fitness for the role of John Armitage, the clever and daring subject of a mythical kingdom, who comes to the United States and becomes imbued with the spirit of American democracy, and who later outwits the spies of his country's enemies, does great service for the Empire, and yet remains loyal to his adopted country, America, also showing himself no unskilled adept at the art of love-making.

At no time does this tense drama of love and conspiracy lose its firm grasp on the interest of the beholder. From the moment John Armitage, who is no other than Frederick Augustus Von Stroebel, son of the Prime Minister of his native Empire, comes to America with Frederick, the heir to the throne, he is kept busy falling in love and felling the schemes and machinations of the spurious claimant of the crown. John Armitage diverts toward himself the murderous aims of the conspirators directed against Frederick, while meantime he secretes the rightful heir until the time when he can present his claims to the throne. During the course of the action, John Armitage risks love, fair name, liberty and life itself. But his labors are not in vain, and in the end he sets Frederick upon the throne, becoming once more an American gentleman of private life, and triumphantly claiming his American sweetheart, whom he prefers to the foreign titles which are offered him.

The Bed is Important, But— How about the COMFORTS?

The selection of the proper comfort is just as important as the selection of any part of the bed. It has been found that pure cotton comforts are the most sanitary and healthful bed covers. A cotton comfort will keep its shape if it's made right. It doesn't sew to bunch and lump after it's been in use awhile, if it's made properly.

Maish Cotton Down Comfort

is not only famous for its extra-lightness, extra-purity, extra-thickness, and extra-beauty, but it keeps its shape 'till it's worn out.

When you take one up you notice that it is thick and yet much lighter than the ordinary cotton comfort. That is because the Maish Comfort is made of the finest cotton, curled by the special Maish process which insures extra lightness and fluffiness.

When you sleep under a Maish Comfort you discover that this super-pure, super-sanitary comfort gives double the warmth of any comfort of equal weight. Why not furnish your beds with Maish Comforts since they cost so little more than ordinary comforts?

We also wish to call your attention to the beautiful covers of Maish Comforts in many pretty patterns and shades. Just the thing you need for your own room and for the guest room, but so inexpensive that you can furnish every bed in the house with a pure, sanitary Maish Comfort.

"If we had a foreign trade policy or the means of carrying it out, we would be largely independent of our home troubles, and our mills could keep running even without home demand.

"But, with our provincialism we have not discovered that we are a world nation, and that our success in the future depends upon our playing our part in the game. In our schools and universities we have been teaching German and French, emphasizing their importance because of the valuable literature available in these languages. We might better have been teaching Spanish, so that we could do business with our Spanish-speaking neighbors. The Germans and English in their dealing with these people have studied them and their language and have recognized the fact that to do business with Spanish speaking people a knowledge of Spanish is far more available than a knowledge of French and German or English."

Dean Cooley advocated foreign trade relations, and bitterly criticized American manufacturers that they did not seek them.

MAILS MISUSED AIDING SISTER

Detroit, Mich.—Because an alleged threatening letter written to an English professor whom he charges with eloping with his sister, did not reach its destination, but was returned and opened at the United States dead letter office, Cyril F. Kleyn, student in the engineering department at the University of Michigan, was arrested today and brought to Detroit. He is charged with sending a threatening missive through the mails.

Arranged before United States commissioner Hurd, Kleyn demanded an examination which was set for Friday.

Kleyn's unusual predicament has come about through the alleged attentions of a London professor who has a wife and children, and Kleyn's sister a girl scarcely out of her teens. When the attachment between the two were noticed the girl was sent to Calcutta, India, to be under the care of a brother, a wireless engineer in the British government service. When the war broke out the wireless man had to leave Calcutta for service and according to Kleyn the Englishman took advantage of the brother's absence to elope with the sister and is now said to be in India.

Kleyn was born and raised in Calcutta, India. He is of English parentage. He has been at Ann Arbor nearly four years now and is in his last year.

WILSON REFUSES TO SEE GERMANS

Washington, Sept. 19.—President Wilson today declined to receive Horace Brand, of Chicago, who came to present messages from several of the German-American organizations, protesting against the charges of atrocities made by the Belgium commission against the German army.

The president took the position that he has already refused to permit natives from other belligerent countries living in the United States to discuss the war with him.

He planned to write a letter to Brand explaining his recent statement on neutrality addressed to the American people.

KING DECLARES BRITAIN STICKS

London, Sept. 19.—Great enthusiasm was displayed today when both houses of parliament were prorogued until October 27. King George was absent inspecting troops and his speech was ready in his house of lords by Viscount Haldane and in the commons by Deputy Speaker Whitely.

The announcement in the house of Lords that royal assent had been given to Irish home rule and the Welsh disestablishment suspensory bill was cheered.

The announcement in the house of commons of the passing of the home rule bill was loudly cheered by the liberals and nationalists.

In his speech proroguing parliament the king said: "We are fighting for a worthy purpose and shall not lay down our arms until that purpose in full is achieved."
