POTATOES EXHIBITED

Few men who are not potato growers have any conception of the value of Cloverland as a potato country. Up to a few years ago, very little interest was taken in potato culture, for the sole reason that there was no established market for the surplus product, but within the past three years potato store houses have been built at almost every R. R. station and a good shipping demand has been created, and the humble potato has been advanced step by step until at the present time it is conceded to be one of the safest, surest and most profitable crops raised.

Among the farmers who have had faith in Cloverland as a potato country, is Nicholas Britz, of Lathrop. Mr. Britz has experimented with different varieties of potatoes for many years and has had remarkable results from his labor and research with all varieties planted. This season Mr. Britz planted five varieties and at the time of digging was unable to decide upon any one as being superior to all the rest and to further demonstrate the splendid yield of each variety, a liberal sample of each variety was packed separately in boxes, each potato being carefully wrapped in paper and packed. The potatoes are now on exhibition in the Press office and has attracted scores of people who marveled at the size and perfect form of the different varieties.

The following are the varieties named: Early Rose, 24 potatoes weigh 32 pounds. Snow Flake, Jr., 22 potatoes weigh 30 pounds. Rural New Yorker, 20 potatoes weigh 24 pounds. Carman No. 2, 22 potatoes weigh 30 pounds. Early Ohio, 18 potatoes weigh 25 pounds. These potatoes, although abnormally large, are of perfect shape and are perfectly sound. We believe Mr. Britz is entitled to the distinction of having produced the largest potatoes in variety exhibited any where not excepting county or state fairs.

COMPANY ORGANIZED

The C. C. Collins Lumber Company, is the name of a new corporation that has been organized at Madison, Wis., to conduct lumbering operations on a large scale at or near Ironwood, Mich. C. C. Collins, president and general manager of the Van's Harbor Land & Lumber Company of Van's Harbor and now closing up its affairs, is the active head of the new corporation.

The mill at Van's Harbor is to be shipped to the new location, where the company has timber available for operation for at least 20 years. The company already owns a tract of 15,000 acres of timber lands, on which estimates show a total of 130,000,000 feet of logs of different kinds. In addition, large acreages of timber are adjacent to insure the operations of the company for a long term of years.

Mr. Collins is now engaged in winding up the affairs of the Van's Harbor company and as soon as a small amount of lumber on the docks is sold the history of the concern that has operated in the Gig Bay de Noc district for many years will be closed.

The company last winter sold its remaining timber lands in the Big Bay district to the Connors & McCafferty Lumber Company of this city and since that time the officers have been engaged in closing up the affairs of the concern.

The mill has been razed and is now ready for shipment to the new location.

TO AID THE XMAS SHIP

The members of the Girl's League, composed of all girls in the high school, held their first meeting of the year in the high school auditorium last night, at which time several matters of importance were discussed.

Miss Olga Nelson, first vice-president, presided at the meeting last night in the absence of the President, Miss Lillian Stromberg, who graduated last June. The meeting at which the election of officers will take place, will not be held until the first week in December.

At the meeting last night, tentative plans were laid for the aid of "Christmas Ship" movement which will allow local people to assist the desolate and fatherless children of the stricken European countries.

It was at first thought that the Woman's Club would have charge of the work here, but upon consideration that the gifts would go to the children, it was decided to place the matter with the students.

The first active step will be taken when the Girl's League gives a supper on the night of a football game, to be played here in two weeks, the receipts to go toward purchasing dolls for the children abroad. Shortly after the purchase of the dolls a half holiday will be taken by the girls of the school to dress the dolls and to prepare them for shipment.

All gifts must be in Chicago by the first week in November and local people, who intend to aid in the movement should turn their selection over to the league as early as possible. No headquarters have as yet been adopted but in all probabilities such will be at some room at the high school building.

At the meeting last night talks were given on the Christmas Ship idea by Miss Elsa Atkins, Miss Blanche Fenton and Miss Kathleen Welch.

SOX RALLY; DOWN CUBS CONVENTION IS CLOSED

WHITE HOSE TREAT FANS TO RALLY IN FINAL INNING THAT WINS GAME

(Special to the Press.)
Chicago, Ill., Oct. 8.--After the Cubs had practically won here this afternoon, the local fans were treated to a great ninth inning rally by the Sox, when they made three runs, winning from the Cubs by a score of 5 to 2. Cheney was entirely to blame for the loss of the game.

In the ninth the Cub pitcher had fanned Berger and Scott, when Weaver drove out a single. Cheney tried to catch Weaver napping on first. He seemed to want to throw to first then drew back, but threw anyway and the ball fell ten feet inside the bag and rolled away. Weaver went to second. This seemed to rattle the spiltball artist. Blackburne singled, scoring Weaver. Zimmerman fumbled Collin's hit. Fournier doubled and two more runs were made. This ended the agony.

The Cubs made two in the second inning and had easy sailing until Cheney blew up in the ninth. Scott pitched a good game, allowing only four hits, three of which made in the second inning.

THE HATREDS THAT REMAIN.

Much has been said since the beginning of the war concerning the large part which France's desire for vengeance has played in the shaping of European politics. The nation which was crushed in 1870, which paid a staggering war indemnity, which was deprived of two of its provinces, has been inspired for forty-four years by a yearning for revenge. The wounds of 1870 never healed. They could not be healed except by a full measure of reparation.

The war of 1870 was insignificant in comparison with the immensity of the present conflict. If the hatreds then engendered have ranked for forty-four years, how many generations must elapse before the bitterness of 1914 shall be forgotten, before the brotherhood of man is once more recognized by the struggling peoples?

It all depends on the severity of the terms of settlement. Whichever side a victorious may build for its posterity an edifice of undying detestation, or it may pave the way for a speedy reconciling of the forces of civilization.

Great Britain imposed no hardships on the vanquished Boers, and today Boer soldiers are fighting British battles. The terrible Russo-Japanese war was followed by no exacting of hard penalties and today Russians and Japanese are fighting in a common cause. No two nations are today more friendly than the United States and Spain, for sixteen years ago the republic, in her hour of triumph, accorded to Spain a measure of justice and consideration which has not been forgotten. The war of 1841-1845 between the states was fought with the bitter animosity which marks all civil wars, but the generosity of the victor has completely won back the vanquished, and a sense of southern birth is now present in the united nation. Prussia and Austria fought in 1866 for the German hegemony, and today Prussia and Austria are fighting shoulder to shoulder against the rest of Europe.

How different are all these results of the war of 1870. How clear is the lesson to rife victors in the present (Maurice Strakle).

Moderation, generosity and calmness will make the victory greater and far more lasting; passion, hysteria and oppression will detract from the value of the triumph and pave the way for the misery of some future generation.

The city council of Superior, Wis., has voted to establish a municipal school for the teaching of the tango. One doesn't know much about Superior's other attractions, but, offhand, one might opine that a city which devotes a share of its official energy to the dissemination of tango-dancing skill must have very little else to worry about.

If the allies are having so much trouble with the German right wing, what will they do when they tackle the drumstick?

Many can remember when the rulers of Europe used to greet each other with kisses on each whiskered cheek.

Judging from the war dispatches the geography of France seems to be composed mostly of rivers.

WAR

London, Oct. 8.—An official list published in Berlin, says a Rome dispatch, gives the German losses in killed and missing up to Sept. 1, as 117,000. The authorities admit, the dispatch adds, that the total losses to date are at least three hundred thousand.

Peking, China, Oct. 8.—The government has been informed that a party of thirty Japanese occupied on Wednesday the station of the Shantung railway at Tainan, the western terminus of the German-owned road. The foreign office at once delivered another protest to the Japanese legation, demanding the withdrawal of these Japanese troops and asking for a reply.

However, despite the ultimatum-like character of the Chinese note, it is admitted that China does not intend to fight. Also at the solicitation of the government, which feared that otherwise the situation with Japan would be further complicated, the Germans have not fulfilled their threat to dynamite the bridges. They had announced that this would be done unless China compelled the Japanese to withdraw from the railway. Meanwhile, the Japanese are preparing to reopen traffic on the road.

The feeling here against the Japanese is becoming intense. The papers publish accounts of their purported misbehavior, with characteristic exaggeration.
Tokio, Oct. 7.—(Telegram from the East and West News Bureau, New York.) The war office announces that on Oct. 6 a Japanese regiment made a midnight advance along the Shantung railway as far as Chinan. There, about thirty locomotives, in addition to some several hundred passenger and freight cars, fell into the hands of the Japanese soldiers.

Washington, Oct. 8.—Secretary Bryan has been officially informed that the occupation by the Japanese naval force of the German Pacific Islands is only temporary and solely for military purposes. The assurances came today from the Japanese foreign office.

Pekin, Oct. 7.—According to a German news agency dispatch, Japanese forces have occupied the island of Yap, the most important island in the Caroline group, or New Philippines, in the Pacific ocean.

Berlin, via The Hague and London, Oct. 8.—The German troops on the frontier of East Prussia have assumed a strategic defensive movement. They have abandoned the bombardment of Ossewitz fortress, in Russian Poland. After setting the city of Ossewitz on fire with shells, they were able to retire with their siege guns and a pontoon train. They destroyed the railroads to the frontier and are now holding in check superior Russian forces from heavily entrenched positions near Drost-ken.

The fighting at Augustowo and Su-waiki was most sanguinary. The German machine guns finally turned the scale of battle in favor of the Germans, but the slaughter of the German artillerymen was terrific. One German battery lost all its men, and cavalrymen had to be drafted to serve the guns. These cavalrymen held out until they had only three rounds of ammunition left. They then retired, with the Russian infantry on a furling away.

Bad weather hampered the movements of the German troops and interfered seriously with their aerial reconnaissances. The fact that the Russians were protected by a line of forts made the German offensive doubly hard.

London, Oct. 8.—Dispatches from Lemberg, according to the Reuter correspondent at Petrograd, say that the Russian heavy artillery is continuing to bombard Przemysl and gradually destroying the fortress and the town, where the shells have set fire to many houses.

"According to a dispatch received here from Vienna," says the Exchange Telegraph company's Rome correspondent, "following the occupation of Opatow and Klimintow, Russian Poland, the Austrians today were engaged along the entire Russian front, extending from Opatow and Tarnow to Neu Sandoo, in an effort to check the two Russian armies which for the last week have been advancing from Przemysl on Carow and which apparently have reached Tarnow and Neu Sandoo.

"By checking this advance, the Austrians will relieve Cracow from the danger of a siege, as the German army invading Poland from wendzin (a short distance northeast of Koeningshutte) already has overcome all danger from the northwest."

London, Oct. 8.—Submarine "E-9" of the British navy, under command of Lieutenant Commander Max K. Horton, yesterday made another raid into German waters, off the mouth of the river Ems, and succeeded in sinking a German torpedo boat destroyer. This same submarine, under the same commander, made a similar dash and sank the German cruiser Hela off Helgoland Sept. 13. As on the former occasion, the "E-9" has safely returned to her home port.

The action of yesterday was witnessed by the Dutch coast guards on the Dutch island of Schiermonnikoog, in the North Sea. The weather was clear and the sea calm and the destroyer could plainly be seen. Suddenly the observers saw a high column of water rise near the bow of the destroyer. The vessel turned over and sank in three minutes. A German cruiser and torpedo boats went quickly to the rescue of the crew of the ill-fated destroyer.

As Schiermonnikoog is close to the island of Borkum, where the Germans have a naval base, and within sixty miles off Helgoland and the naval arsenal at Wilhelmshaven, the dash of the sub-marine is considered a particularly daring one.
A dispatch to the Central News from Harwich, Eng., says that a rumor is in circulation there of the sinking of a German cruiser, in addition to the German torpedo boat destroyer.

London, Oct. 8.—The trawler Lily has been blown up in the North sea, according to a dispatch received here by the Central News. Seven members of the crew are reported to be missing.

Paris, Oct. 8.—The Mesagero publishes a dispatch from Ancona, in Italy, on the Adriatic, telegraphs the Rome correspondent of the Havas agency, which declared that four Austrian torpedo boats and two Austrian torpedo boat destroyers have been lost off the coast of Dalmantia as a result of coming into contact with mines. The Ancona dispatch adds that a majority of the members of the crew of these six vessels lost their lives.

New York, Oct. 8.—The East and West News Bureau tonight announces that it had received a cable message from Tokio, as follows:
"The war department issues the following official announcement:
"After examining the reports received from various sources, it is inferred that among the enemy's warships in the bay of Kiao-Chau, in addition to the Kormoran, two other gunboats have been sunk, as nothing has been seen of them since Oct. 3."
"A German gunboat, probably the Itlis, was seriously damaged by the shots from the Japanese field guns on Oct. 4. She fled, towed by two other boats, into the bay of Kiao-Chau, but sank shortly afterward. At present there are three gunboats within the bay, including the Kaiserin Elizabeth."

Spezia, Italy, via Rome.—The authorities here received a letter from the engineer who disappeared with the Italian-built submarine while the vessel supposedly was having her trials in the gulf of Spezia and later landed her at Bastia, France. The letter was written before the submarine left her moorings here.

The writer says he considers Italy's neutrality a mistake, and that it is the duty of every Italian citizen to act individually, in an effort to ignite the spark which will render Italian intervention in the war inevitable.

It is supposed that the engineer has placed himself in the hands of the French military authorities.

Mrs. Leighton knew nothing of plans that were made for the event and she was taken completely by surprise. The afternoon was pleasantly passed with a program of Five Hundred. At the conclusion of the program a luncheon was served.

Hemlock-Metowan
Of the marriage of Marinette on Wednesday of Miss May Hemlock to Mr. Henry McGowan, at Marinette on Wednesday, the Marinette Eagle Star says:

Miss Stasia Hemlock, sister of the bride, was her attendant. She wore a handsome gown of blue flowered crepe, with a picture hat and carried pink roses. Walter Lynels was best man.

The music upon this occasion was more beautiful than ordinarily in compliment to the bridegroom, who has been one of the leading members of the choir for many years, his beautiful tenor voice being a great acquisition and he has given freely of his time and talents.

Directly after the ceremony at the church, the bridal party returned to the parental home of the bride, where the wedding breakfast was served in three courses, Madam Schones catering. The table was a picture with its handsome appointments of linen and silver. Carnations, chrysanthemums and dahlias, intertwined with smilax being effectively used for decorative purposes. Streamers of were strung from the chandelier on the table where streamers of white tulle connecting the three tall bouquets.

The bride and groom departed upon the early afternoon southbound passenger, amid a shower of rice, for a bridal trip to Chicago. A number of friends accompanied them as far as Onento.

For going away the bride wore a natty tailored suit of blue broad cloth, a traveling hat and a corsage bouquet of mixed flowers.

The gift's received by the bride upon her wedding day were beautiful in extreme, being of wide variety, including checks, furniture, silver, cut glass and many articles for use in and adornment of the home over which the bride will henceforth preside. At several pre-nuptial functions she received other gifts.

The bride of today was graduated from Saint Mary's Academy in this city and later from the Oshkosh Normal. She taught in the city schools for several years, having been principal of the Garfield school. She was an active member of the Lourdes Sodality and of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. The groom holds a position as salesman for the Globe House Furnishing Co.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. McGowan will go to house-keeping in the Hemlock cottage on upper Hill avenue.

Guests from away present at the wedding were: John Hemlock, brother of the bride, of Milwaukee; J. S. Doherty and daughters, the Misses Julia and Katherine of Escanaba; Mrs. John Bell and children of Peshigo.

The bridal bouquet was caught by Miss Julia Doherty of Escanaba, as it was thrown by the bride before leaving the house.

William Hemlock, a brother of the bride was unable to come from Oakland, California, for the wedding, but sent a telegram of congratulations and a substantial check.

THE FIRST OFFENSE

By EDNA MAY BOOTH.

Old David Strang moved slowly back and forth behind the letter boxes, now and again appearing at the little window he had just opened. He handed out the mail with a smile that sometimes lightened a heavy burden and sometimes set a light heart all at once. For David Strang took a personal interest in each letter, post card and paper. Suddenly his brow contracted. A shadow of some deep feeling fluttered across his face as Carlos Judd shuffled up to the window.
"Got anything 'sides the paper?" the man asked hopefully.

Silently David went to Judd's box and took out a paper. A letter slipped from the folds of the paper into a crevice made by a jutting drawer. David left it where it fell.

"Nothing but the paper," he said, handing it out.

"Nothing from John?"

"That is all," said David, and there was no smile lighting his face.

"Might 'a knowed it," growled Judd. "I need a little money. I want Jenson ter make me some iron spokes. I can make some wheels as good as new, if I have some new spokes ter put in." David's eyes narrowed.

"Oh, give it up, Carlos." "Well, I—guess—not! I'd have the neatest machine around here if John'd send me some money. He promised to send me some and he could do it as well as not—yer know he could. But that's all you get outen children nowadays." He turned with an interrogative glance toward a man standing near.

Half an hour later David put out the lights and closed the post office. He shook the door to try the lock. Then his hand sought the inside pocket of his coat. Judd's letter was there.

"It's an offense against the government and a sin," he muttered. "The Lord help me!"

When he reached home he smuggled the letter into a drawer of the big dresser and locked the drawer. All night, in his fitful sleep, he dreamed of it, and his waking thought was of it. In the morning he smuggled it out of the drawer to take it to the office, and he meant to give it to Judd.

Again, toward closing time, Judd came in.

"Any mail?"

"None tonight," said David.

"Humph," grunted Judd. "There's that auto-mo-beel, there ain't any better in town, if only I had some good, strong iron spokes ter put in the wheels. But, laws, yer can't get anything in this town less yer plank down the cash furst thing."

"Well, I'll tell you," plunged David, his face white and tense, "I'll tell you what it is, Carlos, automobiles, especially old ones, are too much of a luxury for poor folks. You'd better sell the iron in it and get yourself some clothes."

Carlos Judd turned a wrathful glance upon the postmaster.

"You're the same pesky sort of a human being that Lucy Judd is. She don't care no more about that auto-mo-beel—not so much as she does for some little frothy get-up to eat."

Old David spoke up bravely.

"Lucy's never been strong; she ought to have something to nurture her."

"I guess I'm capable of taking care of my own wife," snapped Carlos Judd.

"I hope so," answered David, and he knew then that when he went home Judd's letter would be in his pocket.

In the morning he brought it back again, and for a week David carried the letter to the post office in the morning and at night he took it home. And every day Judd came to ask for the mail. And every day David became more harassed and oppressed.

Then just at noon one day, when the post office was deserted save for David, a little woman, poorly clothed and frail, came through the doorway.

"I guess there ain't anything, is there, David?" she despaired, squinting along the line of boxes.

"Yes," emitted David, with dry lips, "there is. I've been waiting a week for you. It's an offense against the government. He could put me in prison, if you let him see the date of this letter."

"He never will," vowed Lucy Judd softly. Her eager eyes were intent upon David as he drew from his pocket the letter.

"I knew that the letter was from John, and I knew that there was money in it. John ought to send his money to you, Lucy." David looked out tenderly upon the little woman.

"I wasn't going to give it to Carlos to waste and you suffering for things. I thought you'd never come down and I was afraid to take it to you. So I've lied—lied every day about it to Carlos. I never was wicked like this before, but I couldn't do any other way, Lucy, and you must write to John and tell him."

Lucy Judd reached up a thin, worn hand and laid it upon David's fingers gripping the shelf.

"Ye're only good and noble to me, David. It won't be a real sin. It was just the goodness of your heart, outdoing the thoughts of your head, David. If it hadn't been for you, I'd never seen a cent of that money, and I—I want things so, David—so many things that I need just to live."

BUTTE OFFICIALS OUSTED BY COURT

Butte, Mont., Oct. 8.—Sheriff Timothy Driscoll and Mayor Louis J. Dun can were found guilty today of neglect of duty in connection with the recent miners' riots and were removed from office by Judge Roy E. Ayers, of the district court, after a trial which lasted more than two weeks. The court refused to grant a stay of execution for ten days while an appeal to the supreme court was perfected. Both offices are vacated, pending an appeal.

Mayor Duncan was removed, because of his failure to provide the city with proper protection last June when Miners' Union Hall was dynamited by an opposing faction of miners and other lawless acts were committed virtually without interference by sheriff or police. The charge against Sheriff Driscoll was similar. Driscoll admitted that his deputies failed to make forcible resistance to the rioters.

The city council will elect a successor to Mayor Duncan, who is a Socialist. Until the new mayor is named, Clarence A. Smith, Socialist, president of the council, will be acting mayor.

GOVERNOR'S DAUGHTER, 12 YEARS OLD, WALKS FOR THE FIRST TIME.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—Jeanette Dunne, 12-year-old daughter of Gov. and Mrs. Edward F. Dunne of Illinois, walked for the first time in her life today.

The child, suffering from curvature of the spine since birth, underwent an unusual operation in which surgeons transplanted a piece of her shinbone to her spine, replacing a defective vertebra.

The operation, performed in a hospital here six weeks ago, was pronounced successful.

THE IRON TRADE REVIEW

Cleveland, Oct. 8, 1914.—The Iron Trade Review says:

The extreme dullness in the pig iron market is reflected in the decreased production by the blast furnaces for September, when the output was 1,882,718 tons, a loss of 113,735 tons compared with the preceding month. There was a loss of seven in the number of active stacks. Likewise in finishing mills, operations are being curtailed, except in wire plants which are being operated at about 80 per cent of capacity. Unquestionably some plants which are large consumers of steel products are busy, but a large majority are working at greatly reduced capacity. In many cases wages have been cut and it seems certain that there will be further reductions. At some works, reduced compensation was brought about by working shorter hours, or fewer days per week.

There was some increase in shipments to foreign countries but manufacturers are not disposed to give details as to these transactions. Operations of the United States Steel Corporation are about 60 per cent of capacity. The shipments exceed bookings and it is expected that the statement as to unfilled tonnage to be made this week will show a loss of at least 200,000 tons.

Railroad buying is still at low ebb. The Lackawanna has distributed 13,000 tons of steel rails and the Southern Pacific has ordered 15,000 from the Tennessee company, and some other lots are under negotiations. Car buying is at a standstill.

Carlson Judd turned a wrathful glance upon the postmaster.

"You're the same pesky sort of a human being that Lucy Judd is. She don't care no more about that auto-mo-beel—not so much as she does for some little frothy get-up to eat."

SAD EXPERIENCES OF A FARMER BOY

LOOKING FOR EASY MONEY

Ran Away From His Good Farm Home, but Was Mighty Glad to Get Back to Mother and Janie.

"It ain't what I expected it would be," he said rather sorrowfully, sitting in his invalid's chair in a Kansas City hospital. "I thought it'd be fun and freedom and money and lots of things. But it ain't—and I'm goin' home as soon as the doctor'll let me. I been up here a year now and I ain't sorry. I'm just hankerin' to get home. That's all. I had a dozen jobs, I guess, maybe more, but shucks, they was harder'n what I done at home. And I didn't get mor'n a dollar fifty a day. That'd be a lot down home in S—, but up here where they've forgot the bees are buzzin' and the flowers bloomin' it ain't much.

"You see, I didn't know it'd be this way in the city. Down on the farm us young fellows all thought we were havin' a hard time of it. We didn't like the farm and we thought everybody in town made good money and didn't have to work hard to make it. So I decided to quit the hard work down home and come to the big city.

"The folks at home didn't want me to leave home, but I got up and run away. Well, when I got here and found out what a mistake I'd made I was ashamed to tell 'em know about it and I was afraid to write home for money, or to ask 'em about my goin' back, because I didn't know how they'd take it.

When He Got Sick. "But when I got sick and was win' the landlady, and had to be carted out here to the hospital, I asked the nurse to write to ma and tell her all about me. Say, let me read you the letter that I got today from ma, and then you know how I am feelin'!"

He read the scrawled lines slowly: "Dear Jim: We're looking for you home real soon. Pa says to tell you he'll meet you at the station with the buggy and for you not to worry about things. Let us know just when it will be. We're all so anxious to see you. Janie Brown was over yesterday and, honey, she's as curious to see you as we are. She's a pretty girl, Jim, and I wanted to send you a cake. But I told her to make it when you get home, and she said she would. The wheat looks fine. Pa says the 40 be behind the barn ought to make 20 bushels or more. O, Jim, get well quick and hurry home. With lots of love, "Mother."

Jim smiled. "The doctor says I can leave in three or four days," he said.

He paused a moment. Then, "Did you ever work on the street? Have you ever been hungry and broke and afraid to go to your room because the landlady wanted her money and you didn't have none to give her? That's why I'm goin' home. I had enough of that."

The boy told his story slowly, fingering the blanket a nurse had hung around him. It was neither new nor unusual. His like has been enacted by hundreds of country boys since the present day civilization began the building of huge cities. The psychology of his case was the psychology of dreams and longing—beyond the horizon of his farm life he felt the allurements of distant things, the enchanting spell of the far-away city. But he did not know that city life is composed of the same amount of labor and longing and restraint that is the farmer's. That was for Jim to learn—and suffer.

Nobody Smiled. "I ran away," he went on. "My, it was lonesome! I remember wonderin' if somebody up here wasn't my friend. The sun was shinin', but I couldn't see it in the street. The buildings were too high on either side and everybody kept rushin' around and crowdin' and none of 'em was smilin'. I reckon they felt lonesome, too.

"Then I got breakfast—two eggs and a glass of milk that ma wouldn't have fed the pigs. It cost me a quarter, and, mister, I ain't had a good meal such as the folks down home have since I came up here. I found a room after I'd been lookin' nigh all day. It wasn't very clean and the house smelled like burnt cabbage. But I couldn't afford no better.

"I had $10 and I figured it ought to last me two weeks, or till I got a job. But there wasn't much I could do. I found that out mighty quick. Everywhere I went there was a dozen city fellows ahead of me. One place they wanted me to give 'em references but I didn't have none.

"The money didn't last like I expected it would and pretty soon I was broke. But I got a job workin' for the street car company, layin' rails and handlin' a pick. It paid $1.50 a day. Mister, it was hard work, harder'n plowin' or milkin' or anything I ever done at home and it only lasted three days.

"I tried out an employment agency then. Golly, it was a dirty place, but I was hungry and so I couldn't mind that. They gave me a railroad job workin' in a construction gang, but

GLADSTONE HIGHS BEATEN

Of the defeat of the Gladstone high school by the Soo squad on Saturday the Soo Evening News says:

All around superior playing won Central high school its first gridiron victory of the season in the game with Gladstone high at Fort Brady field this afternoon. The final score was 38 to 0 in the Soo's favor. Gladstone put up a stiff contest but was completely outclassed by Barber's men. Both eleven's used the forward pass considerably and the Soo team made many gains on fake plays. Every man on the local squad put up a splendid game and the work of some of the new recruits was surprising. Those fans who witnessed the work of Central's bunch this afternoon predict another winning season for the locals.

Central began hostilities after three minutes of play, sending F. Goetz over the line on a fake play for the first touchdown. Laundry kicked goal. Alex Campbell added another six points when he carried the pigskin over Gladstone's goal on a short run. Laundry failed to kick goal and the first quarter ended with 13 to 0 score.

In the second quarter steady gains brought the Soo to within 1-1-1; yards of their opponents' goal and F. Goetz made his second touchdown through center. Laundry kicked goal. Angus Goetz made a spectacular 45 yard run, eluding all of Gladstone's backfield men, and placed the ball behind the goal line for the last score in this quarter. Laundry failed to kick goal and the half ended by a 26 to 0 score in Central's favor. McPike replaced Laundry at quarter in the last of this quarter. Laundry's sore heel was a handicap to him.

Repeating its same tactics, Central came back in the third period and toward the middle of the quarter Angus Goetz scored the fifth touchdown. F. Goetz failed to kick goal. Score, 32 to 0.

In the final quarter the local scored their last points on a perfectly executed forward pass. Tate to Haerle. Soo fails to kick goal. Final score, 38 to 0.

The last half was featured by the many shifts made in the Soo's lineup.

Central High Gladstone
Haerle r. e. Quinn
Rogers r. g. Fox
C. Campbell c. Legg
Wheeler l. g. Brown
F. Goetz l. t. J. Withy

Excellent progress is being made on the construction of the new Diocesan Orphanage at Marquette and in which members of Catholic congregations throughout the peninsula are interested. Of the progress of work on the new structure the Mining Journal of Marquette, says:

Material for the fourth story walls having been received, the new diocesan orphanage is being rushed to completion, and it is expected that the structure will be enclosed in a month's time. The Hegner Construction company, of Appleton, Wis., who have the contract, are employing a large force, and during the last six weeks the work has been carried forward at a rapid rate.

The original plans called for a three story building, but a few weeks ago it was decided to add another story, to assure room enough to meet future demands on the building through a period of years. The structure is now sufficiently advanced so that a fair idea of its appearance when completed can be gained. The rock-faced brick, of almost-maroon color, is set off by the large sandstone columns of the entrance. The building is particularly attractive, and it has been the subject of favorable comment the last week or ten days.

The orphanage is the second building in the city in which all of the floors are constructed of reinforced concrete. The first and second floors are now finished, and workmen are now finishing up the third. This type of flooring was also laid in the new St. Luke's hospital.

All interior partitions at the orphanage are of the tile construction, and they are said to be almost soundproof. The tile work, with the exception of that on the fourth floor, has now been finished. Provision is made for a large chapel at the north end of the building, on the first and second floors. The building faces the east, towards St. Mary's hospital. The basement will make provision for a number of rooms. As the structure is built somewhat in a hollow little excavation was necessary, and the front of the basement is high.

CARTON'S SALARY RAISED TO $3,500

Lansing, Oct. 8.—At a meeting of the public domain commission this afternoon the salary of A. C. Carton, who is secretary of the commission and also immigration commissioner of Michigan, was increased from $2,500 to $3,500 per year, the raise to become effective the first of the year.

Carton received an offer of $4,000 per year to act as immigration commissioner for a railroad company and would doubtless have accepted the proposition the first of the year.

For some time the member of the commission have realized that Carton was worth more than he has been paid by the state and rather than lose his services we have persuaded him to accept the increase and stay with Michigan," said A. J. Doherty. "We are constantly losing good men from our colleges and universities because the state does not pay its efficient men decent salaries. Carton's work has been recognized by the federal government and in conservation work Michigan ranks among the first states in the union. Carton should be given the credit, and I am glad we are going to keep him."

ZEPPELIN PLANNING ATTACK ON ENGLAND

London, Oct. 8.—In a dispatch from The Hague the correspondent of the Daily Express says that German newspapers reaching there indicate that Count Zeppelin is now at Wilhelmshaven on the North sea, with his staff. Wilhelmshaven is the point from which the great air raid on the British Isles is expected to start.

One of these papers publishes an interview with the count, in which he is quoted as saying that he had not forgotten England and would prove it very soon.

It is also reported the correspondent of the Express continues, that Count Zeppelin was summoned recently by Emperor William to Mainz. His majesty said to the count that he relied on him for a great work, and offered to make him commander-in-chief of the German air fleet. The count smilingly refused, but said he would accept the title when he returned from England.

The Zeppelin staffs are working day and night at Wilhelmshaven and another station is being established at emden for other types of airships.

SISTER FLEES TO THE UNITED STATES

London, Oct. 8.—Sister Mary McLaughlin of Skaneateles, N. Y., was among several hundred refugees from the vicinity of Antwerp to reach London today. She is on her way to the United States.

Together with fifty other Augustinian sisters, she was driven from the Filie de Marie convent at Willebroeck fifty miles south of Antwerp, by the bombing of the fort at this place on September 29. Speaking of her experiences, Sister Mary said:

"We stayed at the convent as long as possible to protect the property, but the school, being near the fort, shells struck our chapel and other buildings, shattering windows and wrecking the roofs.

"Driven out, we made our way north to Boom, two miles away, where we were told we would be safe from German attack. Refugees soon followed us, however, from Willebroeck and told us that the town had been destroyed. Thursday we had to leave Boom on account of the bombardment. Finally we reached Antwerp, but were ordered to leave there immediately. We were unable to get a boat until Monday night.

"Some weeks ago we sent all our pupils home from the convent, but in Antwerp I met many of my girls among the penniless refugees fleeing from danger. Like many of our sisters, they had no place to go. One of our sisters is blind and another is paralytic; they are without relatives to whom they can turn. Our poor superior, staying with these invalids, tried to find a safe place for them in Antwerp.

SHOW IS PLANNED

The Ladies of St. Stephen's Guild have completed arrangements with the Randolph-Madden Lyceum of Chicago, to produce the Musical Comedy success "Society Vaudville" for the purpose of raising funds for Guild Work.

Many Escanabans prominent in social and business circles have consented to take part in the various numbers, which will be mostly composed of local talent and there has been no little conjecture as to the selection of End Men for the minstrel First Part which is composed entirely of women.

The Randolph-Madden Lyceum have produced many successes in many of the large Eastern and Southern Cities and a finished production is anticipated by the ladies of the Guild.

The production will be given in the Peterson Opera house on the nights of October 23 and 24.

AT THE PETERSON

"When Dreams Come True," is the next attraction booked at the Peterson Opera House on Sunday evening, Oct. 25.

The music for "When Dreams Come True," was composed by Silvio Hein, who has many musical comedy successes to his credit. The principal numbers are: "When Dreams Come True," "Come Along to The Movies," "You Dear You," "America," and "Love is Such a Funny Little Thing."

DEMOCRATS END INTERNAL FEUDS

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 8.—Judging from what has been said and done since the convention in Detroit, I do not know of, nor have I heard of, a single Democrat who is not for Ferris. Others may know of them, but I do not.

Such is the statement of Sattie Chairman E. C. Shields as to the unity of the party since the convention in Detroit. Rumors have been in circulation to the effect that many of the so-called "progressives" were intended to knife the ticket for Osborn and had already started out to do so.

"On the contrary," continued Mr. Shields, "I find everybody is working tooth and nail and we are going to have a solid front for Mr. Osborn to penetrate."

"No, sir; there is harmony in our ranks for the election of our ticket. If there ever was or ever will be many men, whom I have been led to believe were opposed to me personally, already have taken up the cudgels for the tickets and seem to be imbued with a desire to work as they never worked before."

BIG APPLE CROP WILL BE WASTED

East Lansing, Mich., Oct. 8.—Orchardists in western Michigan have found themselves hard hit by the European war, which has practically closed what had been a big market for Michigan apples. The bumper apple crop grown along the west shore is commanding only low prices and in many instances orchardists were leaving the apples on the trees, according to Prof. W. O. Hedrick, of M. A. C., who recently made a trip thru the fruit growing districts.

"Incidentally the sale of farm crops abroad has also not been as great as was expected. I believe, for the present at least, that the profits which it was thought would fall to the farmer have been appreciably overrated."

The Daughters and Granddaughters of Veterans of the Civil War are requested to send their name and address to Mrs. Jynne B. Quever, 209 N. Charlotte St. or call either Friday or Saturday of the present week.

LEASE OF MACHINE AIDS SMALL FIRM

Washington, Oct. 8.—Prohibition in the Clayton anti-trust bill of the so-called "tying clause" by which shoe machinery firms insist on the lease of their machines would be a severe blow to the shoe industry according to Senator Weeks of Massachusetts. Senator Townsend, in the course of the debate on this section, admitted that Senator Weeks had made a strong case in favor of the system of leasing machinery which is claimed to be monopolistic in tendency.

"If we prohibit the shoe machinery firms from making exclusive leases," said Senator Weeks, "instead of having 1,300 shoe manufacturers in the country, some of them the little fellows will be eliminated. Then we will have a real monopoly in the shoe manufacturing business, something that would be a thousand times worse than that complained of in the shoe machinery business. Attempts are being made now by those who manufacture on a large scale to break down this system so that they may get their machines of different terms from those made to smaller firms. The fact that these machines are leased on a fair basis enables the smallest man to start a shoe manufacturing business."

BOTTLE MESSAGE FROM LEAFIELD

Fort William, Ont., Oct. 8.—"November 9, 1913, steamer Leafield. No hope. Farewell to all. In God we trust."

The above message signed "officer" was found today in a bottle, on the shore of Lake Superior, near here, half buried in the sand.

The steamer Leafield of the Algoma Central Steamship line, was lost during the great storm of November 9 last. She was carrying a full cargo of steel rails from Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., to Fort William. None of her crew ever reached land.

The Leafield first went aground on Angus Island, while up-bound from the Soo to Port Arthur. It was believed that at the time that she slid off the rocks and sank and that it happened so quickly that officers and crew had no time to get off the vessel.

A SAFE SPOT FOR AMERICANS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8.—American citizens of foreign birth, who have obtained their citizenship by means of naturalization, must be on their guard if they leave America and go back home while the war is in progress.

There is only one nation of the seven now at war with which the United States has a naturalization treaty and that one is England. A naturalized Englishman may return to Great Britain without danger of being seized for military service.

As to the naturalized German-American, he is very likely to be forced into military service should he return to his home country during the war.

As to an Austrian or Hungarian returning to his home: if he was accepted and enrolled as a recruit in the army before the date of emigration; if he was a soldier when he emigrated after war declared, he must serve. Aside from these exceptions, a naturalized native of these countries is treated upon his return to the fatherland as a citizen of the United States.

The French laws on the subject of military service are almost as strict as those of Germany.

The Russian government does not recognize any right in its citizens to throw off their allegiance to Russia by emigrating and becoming naturalized in another country.

Servians returning to their home may be compelled to do military service, even if naturalized as Americans if such action was without the consent of the Servian government.

The Belgian law is more liberal than any except Great Britain. A former Belgian who becomes a naturalized American is not liable to military service.

Of course, naturalized American citizens are perfectly safe so long as they remain within the jurisdiction of the United States.

FEWER LAWS IS FELLOWS PLEA

"Good Citizens" was the subject of an address by Attorney-General Fellows at the closing session of the woman's congress at Hillsdale recently.

"Don't be in a hurry to adopt all new things," he said. "The last few years if a man had the stomach ache we have thought that we could make it unlawful, and that would cure it. In my judgment, the people of Michigan would be better off in the next 10 years if the legislatures would meet and pass the necessary appropriation bills and adjourn without making any more unnecessary laws."

"In Michigan the line of progress has been on safe and sane grounds. In some of the other states everything named progressive has been written into laws. Wisconsin has adopted every new thought and the appropriations of the legislatures were $35,000,000 as against $14,500,000 in Michigan. In California 63 new commissions were created to enforce the new thought and appropriations were $21,000,000. You can't have all of these new-fangled notions of government without paying for them."

"A primary election law was passed and we have been tinkering with it ever since."

"Under the initiative and referendum a proposed amendment to the constitution will be voted upon this fall, which would take away from the legislature the power to legislate for those people who have membership in fraternal insurance societies, and this will pass unless the people get interested. In my judgment the initiative and referendum for constitutional amendments permits ill-considered, ill-advised and unwise legislation."

STYLE IN UNDERDRESS PETTICOAT IS AGAIN TO BE GIVEN CONSIDERATION.

Popularity of the Dance Responsible for Return of Garment Once Considered Indispensable—Chiffon Favored as Material.

By MARY DEAN.

Though petticoats have in recent seasons shrunk almost, and sometimes quite, to the vanishing point, they are again in favor and are one of the most important items in the wardrobe of the modish woman.

The popularity of the new dances has brought about the change. The slit skirt which is necessary to give freedom of movement when dancing calls for a petticoat which must be equally as attractive as the gown with which it is worn, and sometimes, indeed, it is even more so.

The petticoat that is to be worn with dance frocks is likely to have a foundation of some soft silken material. This foundation fits like a glove but widens toward the bottom to admit of freedom of movement when dancing, unless the silken material gives way altogether to a second flounce of net over chiffon, or chiffon or lace.

When the foundation is continued to the skirt bottom a diaphanous flounce is often set on over this soft narrow foundation, but the flounce without the plain under section affords more freedom.

When there is no flounce at all, not even of the scantiest and most subdued sort, the skirt is slit at the sides or back, and inset with accordion-pleated chiffon or shadow lace, and shows flatly applied trimming, panels outlined by inset lace or piping and adorned by inset motifs and tiny flounces.

A smart little model of this last class was cut up the sides for comfort's sake and trimmed about the edges with a narrow net frill following the curved corners and around the skirt bottom. About twelve inches above a line of the platted net ran straight around the skirt. At the sides there were inset accordion plating of the net. These were inset with motifs of lace outlined by tiny flounces, and the narrowest of net frill.

There are many variations upon flounce trimming, and some very charming evening petticoats have narrow flounces, set at intervals with insertion and shirrings. For instance, one petticoat had a foundation of white crepe de chine; attached to this foundation were three flounces of shadow lace, flared at intervals, headed by two-inch panel insertions of shadow lace.

There were two band shirrings of chiffon and the frills of lace were also headed by a line of small roses.

Another charming petticoat had a flounce made up of serpentine insertion. Lace motifs and inset shirrings of chiffon, ribbon and flowers were also included in the trimming. The ribbon ran through eyelets in the chiffon and ended in a flat bow at one side.

One skirt of pink chiffon had a deep flounce of shadow lace trimmed with lines of tiny flowers running around the skirt flounce in a zigzag shape. A narrow lace frill trimmed the bottom of the skirt.

Early in the season many of the shops which made a specialty of fine lingerie, showed petticoats of chiffon which had a little more fullness than usual at the top and were shirred on to a rubber waist band. The skirts opened down the front with small steel clasps close to the bottom. The fullness of the skirt was held in by a rubber band which encircled the skirt about six inches from the bottom.

These shops also showed the dancing garters made of deep flounces, of platted chiffon or fine shadow lace, shirred on to an elastic band. The elastic band was placed just below the knee.

The Velvet Suit.

Before putting away your velvet suit it should be cleaned with a soft brush to remove all the dust. Then put it on a coat hanger and suspend it from the bathroom ceiling, taking care to keep it clear of other objects. Turn the hot water in the bathtub and close the room up tight for about a half hour. This process, says the Washington Herald, raises the nap as efficiently as a professional cleaner.

The Transformed Lingerie Frock.

Two years ago the lingerie frock was of mousseline de commun; last year it was of white chiffon; but this year it is to be of white taffeta, or of white or black taffeta or satin, veiled with white or black lace. Never by any chance is the lingerie frock of the Parisienne a tub frock. It is only in warmer climates that a tub frock is a necessity.—Vogue.

THIN FOLKS MADE FAT.

Good, healthy flesh can only be gained by the use of the proper food together with natural action of the organs of assimilation. Nice people out of ten in order to weigh as much as they ought and be perfectly healthy, should use Samose, the great flesh-forming food and health restorer. Weigh yourself before commencing to use these little tablets, and see how your weight increases from week to week.

Samose does not contain a particle of starch or pepsin, nor is it a nauseating preparation, such as is usually recommended to make people fat, and which does not build up healthy tissues. Samose has valuable flesh forming properties, tones up and strengthens the whole system, helps the food that is eaten to be assimilated in a natural manner, and absolutely restores health to all the organs.

If you are not perfectly satisfied with the results from Samose, West End Drug Store will return your money without any quibbling.

ADD NEW FUEL TO BASEBALL WAR

More and more as the years roll along the owners, league officers and ball players grow more arrogant in their belief that the public of America cannot exist without them. Many of them firmly believe that journalism as an institution, would pass out of existence unless there was baseball to write.

Much of the popularity of baseball, as a matter of fact, has been due to the publicity given the game by newspapers which felt that the game was clean and honest and should be given healthy support. Baseball managers have grown so anxious, in fact, for publicity that many clubs have taken to hiring regular press agents, in the hope of getting still more room in the papers.

Now comes the winning of a pennant with the public interested in but one team. And Connie Mack demands a rakeoff. The newspapers of America will get along quite well without the benign countenance of Connie Mack or any of his athletes. A turning point has about been reached in baseball. It is a safe bet that "Connie won't get a cent for any photographs he wishes to sell. If baseball has reached a stage of the sidshow, where the freaks sell autographed pictures of themselves for a nickel—a half a dime—it is time the men in baseball admitted it and put their business in line with the movies. It has ceased to be sport and is merely a money-grabbing dime museum proposition.

TRIES TO KILL FAMILY THEN HANGS HIMSELF

Sheboygan, Wis., Oct. 8.—George Dickman, aged 47, a prominent and prosperous farmer residing near Howard's Grove, committed suicide early this morning by hanging himself to a bed post in the Sheboygan county insane asylum, using a sheet for a rope. He had been drinking heavily of late and last week became crazed.

Thursday night he secured a revolver and threatened to kill his entire family. Mrs. Dickman and the children ran from the house. He fired three shots, but missed them.

He searched about for them, but they made their escape into a swamp where they spent the night. Saturday night Dickman again attempted to annihilate his family, but Mrs. Dickman knocked the revolver from his hand and with her children ran to the home of a neighbor and called the sheriff.

Dickman was arrested and in court on Monday he was charged with assault with intent to kill. His case was adjourned pending an examination by a sanity commission. Physicians found him insane and he was to have been taken to the Northern Hospital for the Insane at Oshkosh today.

About 9 o'clock Tuesday night Dickman became a raving maniac in the county jail and imagined he had killed his family and that a posse was trying to kill him.

He was removed to the county insane asylum for better care. At five o'clock this morning a guard noticed him lying on his bed although not asleep, and at 6 o'clock found him hanging to a bed post.

GAMES TO BE PLAYED IN THE A. L. PARKS

New York, Oct. 8.—When the Philadelphia Athletics and the Boston Braves go into action in the twenty-third series for the world's championship baseball honors, the diamond campaign will be fought out by teams which represent the old and new in the national sport. Although the average age of the leading players of the two combinations is not widely separated the Athletics' machine is so famous and its success so striking that it appears old by comparison with the squad that George Stallings whipped in shape in midsummer and thus won a pennant for Boston. Taking twenty odd players of the two teams as a basis it will be found that the average age of the Athletics is 26 1-2 years and the Braves 24 3-4 years.

While less than two years in average separates the teams, the extremes are more marked in the Athletics than the Braves. Plank, Bender, Coombs, Oldring, Lapp and Thomas are all past 30, but the majority of those who will figure in the daily line up are several years under this age. The three youngest players in the squad are the pitchers, Bush, Pennock and Wycoff. The American league representatives have the advantage in years of baseball experience, for the Philadelphia club players average fully a year more in time spent upon the professional than the Boston players. The Braves average is approximately five years, with John J. Evers heading the list with twelve years of play. The point of professional service Plank leads the Athletics with thirteen years of baseball play and experience at his back. Bender is but one year behind and several others just fall short of double figures in their diamond career. As a result the Athletics average is six years, notwithstanding the fact that a number of comparative youngsters are marshaled under the Philadelphia flag.

The team which will act as the standard bearers of the National league is an interesting combination of youth and the age of the diamond. In some cases extremes have been blended by Manager Stallings in artful manner to make of the Braves a winning team. This fact, is illustrated in two notable cases. Principal figures in the scheme of attack and defense which enabled the Braves to win to the front of the stirring to in the National league, Johnny Evers, veteran of nearly 2,000 games, a figure prominent in the recent history of the sport, has worked in effective collaboration about second base with Rabbit Maranville, barely more than a body, playing his second season with a major league club. The same combination of old and young is found in the records of the men of the outfield, and of the pitching staff. These figures show the oldest member of the team to be Otto Hess, with thirty three years behind him. Almost a boy Paul Strand, at 19 years is the baby of the team.

TARIFF REAL CAUSE OF WAR TAX CLAIM

Washington, Oct. 8.—That the breaking down of the Underwood tariff law and not the war in Europe is the real cause for the levying of an emergency tax was the contention of Congressman J. M. C. Smith in a speech in the house. Mr. Smith showed that while the revenue from imports had shown a great decrease, the value of imports was $93,000,000 more under the first year of operation of the Underwood law than the year previous.

"Our revenues fell off $11,000,000 in August of this year, and the president took that as an excuse for asking a special tax," said Mr. Smith. "Revenues fell off $9,000,000 last February. Why did you not bring in a bill to increase our revenue in February—or at least bring this falling off to the attention of the country? Last February there was no war in Europe. Why is it that no other non-belligerent country has proposed to levy a war tax? The truth is that this tax is being levied because of the break down, pure and simple of the Underwood tariff law."

ADD NEW FUEL TO BASEBALL WAR

More and more as the years roll along the owners, league officers and ball players grow more arrogant in their belief that the public of America cannot exist without them. Many of them firmly believe that journalism as an institution, would pass out of existence unless there was baseball to write.

Much of the popularity of baseball, as a matter of fact, has been due to the publicity given the game by newspapers which felt that the game was clean and honest and should be given healthy support. Baseball managers have grown so anxious, in fact, for publicity that many clubs have taken to hiring regular press agents, in the hope of getting still more room in the papers.

Now comes the winning of a pennant with the public interested in but one team. And Connie Mack demands a rakeoff. The newspapers of America will get along quite well without the benign countenance of Connie Mack or any of his athletes. A turning point has about been reached in baseball. It is a safe bet that "Connie won't get a cent for any photographs he wishes to sell. If baseball has reached a stage of the sidshow, where the freaks sell autographed pictures of themselves for a nickel—a half a dime—it is time the men in baseball admitted it and put their business in line with the movies. It has ceased to be sport and is merely a money-grabbing dime museum proposition.

BRAVES PRACTICE AT PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 8.—The Boston Braves, who meet the Athletics for the baseball championship of the world, arrived last night to prepare for the opening game of the series, scheduled for Friday. Despite the injury to Third Baseman, the Boston players continued to express confidence in their ability to defeat the present world's champions.

Fred Mitchell, the former American league player, who is now coaching the Boston pitchers, saw yesterday's game between the Athletics and New York Highlanders. He declared that the loss of Smith might weaken the batting strength of the Braves, but that Deal is an equally good fielder.

Interest in the approaching series appears even greater than in former years here. Nearly a thousand boys and men were in line last night waiting a chance to purchase tickets for the series of the opening of the public sale this morning.

BRAVES BOSSES TO GET YANKEES

New York, Oct. 8.—Negotiations have been practically completed here whereby James E. Gaffney of this city president of the Boston National league club next season with George Stallings as manager, according to a story printed here today. Gaffney's majority holdings in the Boston National league club will be disposed of or reduced to a minority interest.

Formal announcement of the deal was to have been made shortly after the world's series and denial of it may be expected until that time on account of the possible effect publicity may have on the game.

The new ownership of the Yankee club will mean the elimination of both Frank Farrell and "Big Bill" Devery from the control of that team, which has been in their hands since the American league invaded Gotham in 1903.

It has long been known that the Johnson organization was not well satisfied with conditions in this city, but the dissatisfaction did not come to a head until the public row occurred between Frank Chance and Devery last month, resulting in the resignation from the management by Chance. Since then things have been going on quietly for a complete change of ownership.

Gaffney's association with George Stallings, in whose ability he has great confidence, will be affected by the deal, as Stallings will be placed in the position left vacant by Frank Chance. While the disposition of Gaffney's holdings in the Boston club already has been arranged for, it has not been decided who will be the official head of the National league's champion team next year nor who will succeed Stallings as manager.

The transfer of ownership of the New York club involved only the sum of $300,000, it is reported on the best of authority. That figure would be considered low for a major league club under normal conditions. The lease under which the American league team has been occupying the Polo grounds jointly with the Giants is part of the consideration.

ASK SPOKANE MAYOR TO LOOK UP HUBBIES

Spokane, Wash.—Gertrude Campbell and Mary Young, both Boston blondes, have espoused the "back to the farm" movement. Not having funds with which to purchase farms, they have decided on the alternative of marrying farmers.

Mayor William J. Hindley of Spokane, who used to be a preacher and who has won the sobriquet, "the marrying mayor," is co-operating with the Boston maids in their quest for land and husbands. The following letter received by Mayor Hindley, signed by Miss Campbell and Miss Young, aroused his interest and enlisted his aid:

"Boston, Mass., Sept. 29.—To the Mayor of Spokane. A writing to see if you know of two nice young men between the age of 52 and 35 with matrimonial intentions, who would like to correspond with two young ladies.

"We have worked together for almost two years and during that time have become interested in young men out west. As it is we have good work but we feel that we would like to make a change for ourselves. The fellows here are good, but they are not the kind that we are looking for and we have heard that girls have made good matches this way, so we thought that we would like to try our luck with two sensible young men.

Are Both Fair Looking.
"In regard to what we look like, we are both blonde and are considered fair looking. Any assistance you may be able to give us will be greatly appreciated.
"Hoping to hear from an ambitious young man, we remain yours sincerely,
"Miss Gertrude Campbell.
"Miss Mary Young.
"P. S.—Miss Campbell is the older.
"P. S. Farmers preferred."

STYLE THAT IS INDIVIDUAL

Distinctive Taste in Dress Marks Those Who Are Undeniably "of the Elect."

There are many women who slavishly follow the dictates of fashion, but even among them individuality will creep out. Three sisters may dress alike, as far as the make and materials of their clothes are concerned, but there will be ere long a decided difference in the aspect of the three. Very certainly each nation of Europe can be detected by the manner in which the women put on their garments and select them. Parisians own that present fashions are an expression of the feminist movement of today. A prevailing style seen on most of the mannequins is a draped overskirt and a very narrow underskirt, indeed, a short coatee, and a sash about the hips. Dark blue is more in favor than almost any other color, but it is relieved by trimmings of colored stripes or checks. Tulle is the prevailing fabric for dancing frocks, and nothing is more appropriate or prettier for young people. Sometimes it is garlanded with an embroidery of naturally colored tiny roses and leaves. A useful addition to the wardrobe is the new shaped jacket, which is far more like a sack, following the lines of the figure without confining it in any way, and is mostly made to slip on with almost any dress, and not part and parcel of one. It requires to be carefully worn, and, like most of the modes of the day, is suited to slender figures. Hip sashes get lower and lower, and are an important feature in the modes. Though we have not got back to the long waist, these sashes are helping to prevent us missing them. Sometimes the hip sashes are replaced by rows of narrow ribbon or cord brought down over the hips, the cord holding any fullness down.

NEW INSURANCE COMPANY AT 500

Sault Ste. Marie, Oct. 8.—This city will soon be the upper peninsula headquarters for one of the biggest insurance companies in Michigan. The company, which is to be known as the Grange Life Assurance association, is now being organized and will take over the business of the Grange Fraternal Life Insurance company which will be dissolved. The outstanding feature of the new organization will be the fact that it will be controlled entirely by Michigan Grangers, but insurance will be sold to all persons whether Grangers or not. Policies in the Grange Fraternal can be taken out only by members of the Grange.

Samuel E. Walling of Wayne county, has charge of the sale of stock for the new company in the upper peninsula. Mr. Walling has two assistants, Herbert Cole and A. L. P. Smith. The latter two men are now working in the western portion of the upper peninsula. Mr. Walling is attending to the sale of stock in Chippewa county.

When the executive committee of the State Grange decide to take this step the amounts of stock which could be purchased in each county was decided upon in proportion to the number of Grange members. Under this allotment Chippewa county's share of the stock amounts to 38,000. Mr. Walling informed. The News today that all of this stock had been sold with the exception of about $1,800 worth which he expects to dispose of in short order. No person can hold more than eight shares of stock, this being done in order that a few men could not obtain enough stock to get the controlling interest in the company.

"The new plans are meeting with general approval and we have no difficulty in disposing of the stock," declared Mr. Walling. "The new company will be capitalized at $250,000 and $100,000 will be deposited with the state as a reserve fund. This leaves a surplus of $150,000 which will be loaned to Michigan farmers at a low rate of interest. There are 60,000 members of the Michigan Grange back of the proposition which is a practical assurance of its success."

Some of the most prominent men in the state, who are members of the Grange, are acting as directors of the new company.

Mr. Walling stated that a general agency controlling the company's business in the upper peninsula will be established in this city in the near future. Dr. Ferguson of Rudyard, has been officially appointed as medical examiner in that vicinity. The appointment of a local examining physician will be announced in a few days.

INITIALS TO BE COLORED

Dainty Way of Making Linen is the Most Recent of the Decrees of Fashion.

Do you mark your own handkerchiefs? If you have the time, it is a wise and dainty thing to do. But why not vary the monotony of white initialing? Indeed, if you wish to be really smart, you will do so, for the handkerchiefs used by the ultrafashionables, at least in the mornings and afternoons, are embroidered or initialed in color. Usually the initials matches a color in the frock or the hat or some other accessory, if the principal part of the costume is white. It is well to have several handkerchiefs embroidered in green. It being a neutral color, so that they can be carried with those frocks for which you have no matching color. Frequently white handkerchiefs have border hems in color and an initial or monogram of the hem color. It is a pretty custom to embroider about the monogram or initial a little wreath or medallion frame.

Dictates of Fashion.

Nainsook and muslin collars are worn by many chic women—attached to the tulle or chiffon underblouse. Sheer, unfitted blouses with sleeves of the set on kimono or raglan type are promised for spring dresses. Supple picot straps are being shown in new Paris millinery. Moire ribbon and flowers form the garniture. Champagne and silver are a favorite combination for a casino toilette. Another is reseda green and silver.

Positively Masters' Group

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound cuts the thick choking mucus, and clears away the phlegm. Opens up the air passages and stops the hoarse cough. The gasping, strangling fight for breath gives way to quiet breathing and peaceful sleep. Harold Berg, Mass. Mich., writes: "We give Foley's Honey and Tar to our children for croup and it always act quickly."

LEAVE DETROIT FOR WAR ZONE

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 8.—A half-million dollar deal has just been closed by a Detroit industry with one of the nations of Europe. War created the market.

The Packard Moto Car Co., makes the sale. Russia, to all appearances, is the purchaser. The order is for 180 motor trucks.

Naturally, it was not announced that Russian or any other European government was looking for Detroit motor trucks. Motor trucks are listed as condition contraband of war. Nevertheless, a consignment of 50 of the big machines departed yesterday over the Michigan Central railroad on their way to New York. If close tabs is kept on all vessels sailing from there this week, the same 50 trucks will be found aboard one of the vessels with the ultimate destination as Russia.

Conditional contraband of war is subject to seizure unless it is proved beyond question to be for purposes other than use in war.

Has Been Kept Secret.
"While we have been paid a substantial deposit on the entire lot of 180 trucks, and are sure of our deal," said Alvan Macauley, vice president and manager of the Packard company "we would not like to see the shipment lost. I had hoped nothing would be known of this until the trucks were across the ocean, and the same hope was expressed by the agent who did the purchasing, but I suppose now he will have to take his chances."

Mr. Macauley was inclined to be somewhat cautious in the extent of his remarks about the sale. He admitted he knew that "the New York gentleman was an agent for a foreign nation" and admitted he had a fair idea of what nation it was, but did not feel at liberty to state his "guess." It had been reported England and France were joint purchasers of the trucks.

"It is neither of these," Mr. Macauley volunteered, "nor is it Germany." From other sources it was learned almost beyond doubt that the New York man was acting for the Russian government.

Expect More Orders.
No risk is involved for the Packard company, since the contract calls for delivery in New York. If a German cruiser should seize the ship and its cargo the loss would fall on the purchasers.

The trucks will be shipped as rapidly as they can be manufactured, and cars obtained from the railroads. Fifty more will go today.

"A little forethought paid us in this instance," Mr. Macauley said last night. "When the war began we quite naturally anticipated a demand for heavy motor trucks, since the artillery always is in need of supply wagons and since the truck is adaptable to many other uses on the scene of action. We busied ourselves on an advance supply. As a result, when the agent came we were not only ready to talk, but ready to begin selling. Most of the 180 either are ready now or will be in a very short time. The contract calls for delivery in a very limited time."

The trucks are of the standard type, both two and three tons. It is probable more orders will be received before the war is over.

Chronic Dyspepsia.

The following unsolicited testimonial should certainly be sufficient to give hope and courage to persons afflicted with chronic dyspepsia: "I have been a chronic dyspeptic for years, and of all the medicine I have taken, Chamberlain's Tablets have done me more good than anything else," says W. G. Mattison, No. 7 Sherman St., Hornesville, N. Y. For sale by all dealers.

Varied Use of Feathers.

Feathers are worn in a vast variety of ways. Sometimes short ostrich feathers surround the crown; sometimes feathers are twisted round small fashion, the long feathers having the end twisted to resemble a snail. Tall feathers on hats that are tilted over one temple and have an avalanche of feathers falling over the back are smart and original. Sometimes uncurled feathers are mingled round the crowns with daisies.

Linen Collar Coming Back.

The old-fashioned stock collar of linen is coming. They may have embroidered or plain-edged turnovers. With these stocks are worn most effectively arranged folds and bat-winged bows of black and colored silks.

Learn to Write Well.

First legibility; second, sightliness, should be the endeavor in handwriting and let the "character" and the "individuality" take care of themselves. If you wish to devise a signature hard to forge, that is another thing; but one's every-day handwriting should be plain and as good-looking as one can make it. The art of writing a neat, legible, well-punctuated, correctly expressed and spelled letter should belong to every high-school graduate, much more to every college graduate; and the thanks of the community are due to those who are testing and trying to improve our methods of education; but they must remember that the letter-style is properly more loose and conversational than any other, and therefore should not be criticised in just the same way.

MAN GETS HOUSE FOR FOUR DOLLARS

John Darrow of Rapid River is the recipient of the section house belonging to the "Soo Line" at Rapid River, by a decision of the Supreme Court handed down last Friday. Several years ago Mr. Darrow together with Cleve Lobdell purchased for the small sum of $4.00 two lots from the State on which the section house was located. The Soo Line had not paid taxes because they thought the land was part of right of way and the land was deeded to the State for non-payment of taxes. The land was sold to Mr. Darrow, the state selling it as abandoned land under the provision of the State Tax Homestead law, although the report of the examiner showed the land was occupied by the section man of Soo Line. Judge R. C. Flannigan handed down a decision in favor of the railroad company on the ground that the deed from the state was void because the land was not abandoned, but this decision was reversed by the Supreme Court.
