VIOLATOR CAPTURED

After being sought by game wardens for two years for alleged persistent violations of the state game laws, Felix Gore, of Turin, bumped into Deputy State Game Warden Herman Leisner on a dark road, near McFarland's hill, early last night, carrying a half a fawn that had been freshly killed. Gore was promptly placed under arrest and the venison was seized by the officer and brought to Escanaba to be turned over to the city poor department. Gore will be arraigned in court at Negaunee, Warden Leisner had been to Helena to investigate reported violations of the game laws and was walking back to Lathrop. The road was narrow and dark and he heard no sound until suddenly a man riding a bicycle appeared at his side. The warden quickly grasped his flashlight and turned it on the rider, who proved to be Gore. The surprise of the game law violator was as complete as that of the warden. Gore had a rifle strapped to his shoulder and a large sack of venison strapped to the front of his machine while on his back he carried another piece of the meat. He offered no excuses and readily agreed to appear in court on the date named by the officer.

Miss Anna Thibault of LaBranche has returned to her home after visiting with the Misses Bernadette, Bernice and Agnes Richer.

Supt. F. E. King, of the Escanaba public schools was signally honored at the annual convention of the Upper Peninsula Educational Association at Houghton yesterday, when he was elected as vice president of the teachers organization. As it has been the policy of the organization in the past to promote the vice president of each year to the presidency the Escanaba school head undoubtedly will be named as president of the upper peninsula teachers association in 1915. Mr. King was also named on the association's legislative committee. Supt. King returned to Escanaba last night proclaiming the convention at Houghton as one of the best ever held by the organization. Teachers from every section of the peninsula were present and the programs arranged for each session were uniformly excellent.

RANGE IS TRACED

STATE GEOLOGIST WRITES ARTICLE ON PROBABLE TREND OF MENOMINEE RANGE IN THIS DIRECTION

That there are excellent grounds for the theory here that the Menominee iron range extends to this city, is shown in an article published in the current issue of the Mining & Engineering World and written by R. C. Allen, geologist for the state of Michigan.

The article follows: The Menominee iron range of Michigan, so far as known, includes a folded series of Huronian rocks trending a little south of each from the Menominee river in T. 40, R. 31 to the longitude of the villages of Waucedah, Dickinson county, a distance of about 19 miles. The Lower Huronian is represented by a series of thick formations of quartzite (Sturgeon) and dolomite (Randville), the Middle Huronian by cherty quartzite not exceeding 70 ft. in thickness, and the Upper Huronite by a vast thickness of slate (Hambury) overlain by volcanic green schistes (Quinnesec) in basal horizons. The Huronian series lies unconformably on the Archean Complex.

It is reported that drilling a short distance west of the Menominee river in Florence county, Wisconsin, failed to locate the iron formation of the southernmost belt in the territory where it may have been expected to occur judging from its structure and strike between the city of Iron Mountain and the river. In the opposite direction the iron formation are overlapped by Cambrian sandstone in the vicinity of Waucedah. East of Waucedah the thickness of the Paleozoic rocks increases, presumably rather regularly, to about 800 ft. in the vicinity of Escanaba.

It has been observed for many years that the Menominee range Huronian series, including the iron formations extends an unknown distance east of Waucedah beneath the flat lying Paleozoic formations. The magnetism of certain of the Huronian rocks, particularly (but not exclusively) the iron formation, furnishes the only means short of actual drilling or underground exploration by which they may be traced into the Paleozoic territory. Magnetic surveys of a part of the area east of Waucedah have been made by certain mining companies, and the results of some of their work were placed at the disposal of the writer. The economic importance and scientific interest of the problem furnished the incentive to complete the magnetic survey of the range eastward to Lake Michigan.

The survey was executed in the field by L. P. Barrett, assisted for a portion of the time by H. J. Allen. Where information was available efforts were extended only to check the accuracy of former surveys.

Conclusion.—It will be seen that the magnetic belts which are coincident with the two separate belts of outcrop for about 6 miles. The assumption that these belts have the same relation to iron formation beneath the Paleozoic rocks that they have to known occurrences at Waucedah and westward seems warranted. It is, however, unsafe to conclude that the magnetic belts further east to Little Bay de Noc are all or even partially underlain by iron formations of the ore-bearing type of the Menominee range. From their general and linear-symmetrical characters it may be inferred that the magnetic rocks are folded sedimentaries and that they contain iron, at least partly in the form of magnetite. But the magnetic beds may or may not be the stratigraphic equivalents of the iron formations of the Menominee range. In this connection the reported extension without break of a magnetic belt from the known iron formation at the opposite end of the range westward into magnetic slates, as shown by drilling, is instructive.

A recent drill hole in the general projection of the northernmost magnetic belt on Stonington peninsula in the SW. 1-4 of the NW 1-4 of Sec. 8, T. 39 N., R. 21 to the Sturgeon (Lower Huronian) quartzite of the Menominee range after penetrating 780 ft. of Paleozoic beds. It is reported that iron formation was penetrated at a depth of 732 ft. at the Escanaba brewery, granite at 810 ft. at the Richter brewery, and granite at 931 ft. at the Escanaba Mfg. Co., all in the city of Escanaba. There is little doubt that the above figures represent in each instance the approximate thickness of the Paleozoic rocks, but inasmuch as no records of the drillings were kept and no samples of the cuttings or cores preserved of the holes in Escanaba little credence should attach to the hearsay reports of the character of the underlying pre-Cambrian rocks.

From the evidence available it may be fairly assumed (1) that the magnetic belts mark the course of pre-Cambrian sedimentary rocks from Waucedah to Escanaba, (2) that these rocks contain magnetic, (3) that the magnetic beds are probably associated with other sedimentary formations which have little or no magnetism, (4) that it is not improbable that the succession and in a general way the structure of the pre-Cambrian beds may be closely related to those of the Menominee range west of Waucedah, and finally (5) that the occurrence of productive iron formation may be related in some degree and in some place or places between Waucedah and Escanaba to the magnetic belts. In advance of actual drilling operations no further assumptions are warranted.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 9.—The Braves met the Athletics here this afternoon before about 21,000 fans in the first battle for the world's championship and beat them to a pulp, winning 7 to 1. They outclassed the Athletics in practically all departments of the game and the result was never being in doubt after the second inning. The Braves played the Athletics off their feet, making Mack's men look like bush leaguers. The wonderful hitting of Boston drove Bender from the mound in the fifth inning. They slammed the Indian at will. Two of the hits were doubles and two were triples.

The Braves got eight hits and six runs off Bender. Rudolph twirled one of the greatest games of his career. He was never in danger throughout the battle and kept his hits scattered. He fanned eight and allowed but five hits. Moran's error in the second robbed Rudolph of a shutout. McInnis was on first, being passed. Strunk singled to right. Moran came in after the ball and let it go through him. McInnis went all the way home. The Braves made their first two runs in the second when whittled walked and Gowdy doubled, scoring Whitted. Maranville then singled scoring Gowdy. The Braves made three in the sixth on a single, a walk, a triple and a single off Wyckoff, who followed Bender. The Braves are favorites to tonight for tomorrow's game. The Athletics seemed stunned tonight at the way they were beaten.

THE WAR REVENUE BILL.
 The war tax measure is going thru the experience common to revenue bills in recent years. The house whipped it quickly into tentative form and the senate majority is now engaged in rewriting it. It was the same with the tariff act. The average appropriation bill is submitted to the identical process.
 Ordinarily, it is to be said, the senate improves such measures. It improved the tariff measure. It saved the honor of congress on the rivers and harbors bill, under the prod of minority member. There is every indication that the senate will play the familiar role of betterment in the present war tax measure.
 The action of the senate caucus in voting out of the house bill the proposal to tax automobiles is considered something of a personal victory for Chairman Doremus of the national congressional committee. It is, of course, more than that, and will in all probability meet general approval. Similarly, the defeat of the house provision for taxing gasoline will be accepted as an act of wisdom.
 It is certainly no pleasant task which the congressional majority has taken up, on suggestion of the president, in framing legislation to make up the revenue lost to the government as a result of the European war. The levying of new taxes is always troublesome, and the framing of a measure for that purpose which shall neither place undue burdens anywhere nor arouse violent antagonisms is fraught with difficulties.
 So far, apparently, the task has proceeded satisfactorily. The bill as it went from the house was rather frankly a tentative proposal. There will be ample discussion in the senate and in conference. The minority promises a fight that will open the question wide. Out of it all should come a measure which will appeal to the people of the United States as sound and fair.

Italian futurists have suggested that the canals of Venice be filled up and that the beautiful old palaces be transformed into factories. They resent the admiration which the world of culture feels for the Italy of the past. They desire more admiration for the Italy of the present and the future. To direct the world's attention in what they consider the right direction they seriously urge acts of abhorrent vandalism.
 Venice, which has only recently completed the restoration of her wonderful campanile, will not heed the noise. Italy, and all other nations, must rely on more convincing proofs of present and future greatness than the output of a cult which advocates vandalism as an item of propaganda.
 Appreciation of past greatness is not incompatible with understanding of present excellence. Italy's past directs attention to her present, and observation of her present leads to high hopes of her future.
 A somewhat similar spirit, evoked by totally different causes, has been evidenced by some of the apologists for the destruction at Rheims. These hopeful advocates declare that in place of the destroyed relics of medievalism there will be erected great temples of modernism, which shall surpass the departed glories that all which is gone will be forgotten.
 To those who really grieve for war's havoc wrought upon the monuments of remote centuries such apologies are highly irritating. They indicate a complete failure to comprehend the viewpoint of those whom the apologies are intended to soothe. They are no less reprehensible and no less futile than the pleas of those who would destroy Italy's past to benefit her future.

If those kings and that president get in the way at the battle front they are quite likely to be consigned to a still hotter place by some infuriated gun toter.
 A terrible slaughter followed Germany's resumption of the offensive Monday. Perhaps they didn't get the news that we had prayed for peace the day before.
 The English papers are now constantly referring to Armageddon, but they don't mean at all what the colonel meant. Not a bit like it, old dear.
 Montreal has renamed some streets Antwerp, Liege, Namur, French, Joffre, Pau and Poincare. It's a good thing we aren't interested in this war. Imagine changing Ludington and Wells to Przemyl and Von Whiffenpoof.

The people of Brussels are having to get along without a mayor. Well, why don't they use Brand Whitlock? He's had experience in that line.
 It appears that while Editor Waterson is sorry for dry old Virginia he is still sorrier for near-dry Kentucky.
 France has a phenomenal grain crop, but she must be careful lest the Uhlans reap it.
 Antwerp is putting up a strenuous cry for help—as well as a stout defense.

WAR
 New York, Oct. 9.—A vivid description of the battle before Mons was given here today by Dr. Neville Hopkins, of Washington, D. C., upon his arrival from Liverpool.
 Dr. Hopkins was in Moscow, Russia, when the war broke out. He at once offered his services to the Red Cross division of the French army, and they were accepted. He went to the front Aug. 24. From that time until two weeks ago, he said, he was constantly under fire.
 "I was first under fire while I had the head of a wounded French soldier on my lap, dressing a gaping wound in his jaw," said Dr. Hopkins. "Shrapnel burst overhead, but nothing of the missiles hit either of us. For an hour after that I was under fire and the noise and the sights of the battlefield almost resulted in my complete physical collapse."
 "I saw hundreds of men torn to pieces in a few seconds. Horses were wiped from sight by the terrific artillery fire of the Germans, and wagons containing ammunition and provisions were blown into fragments. It was like the work of an unseen hand. I could see the ranks filled one moment and in the next a gaping hole had been torn out and fifty men had disappeared."
 "In the retreat from Marne the French made a stand at one point. They set up a masked field battery, and awaited the onslaught of the Germans. The place taken was a large

MAN IN THE MARKET FOR HUMAN SKELETONS
 St. Louis, Oct. 9.—St. Louis is to be it on the map as a world's center for skeletons and brains if the Business Men's league can be interested in the proposition of Aug. de Castellane Seymore of Tours, France, who at the Planters' hotel.
 Mr. Seymore is vice president of the Mississippi Valley Skeleton company, incorporated in New Rochelle, N. Y., e says, with $75,000 capital stock. It is proposed, Mr. Seymore says, to build a $750,000 plant here if proper inducements are offered. The skeletons will be sold to medical colleges and the brains will be sent to Europe to be examined by brain specialists.
 "You have had your corners in cotton and grain and possibly other commodities, and now we are going to have a skeleton corner," said Mr. Seymore.
 "I intend immediately to seek mortgages on the skeletons of your prominent St. Louisians and liens on the brains of the geniuses and wizards. When the mortgages are signed we will pay 10 per cent of the value of the skeleton to the owner, while we will want a diversified collection of their whereabouts during the remainder of their lives. When they die we will present our mortgage to the relatives."
 "The factory for the preparation and polishing of the skeleton ought to be built and in operation within a year. Material at the beginning will be obtained from unidentified and unclaimed bodies which we hope to gather up.
 "From statistics we have discovered that the skeletons of men between 18 and 30 years are worth $32 a piece; between 30 and 40, $17.60; between 40 and 45 years, $9.98, and more than 45 years, $3.42. So you see the advantage of offering an early mortgage. There will be four classes of skeletons—domestic, imported, miscellaneous and 'lost and found.'
 "On my way to St. Louis I stopped in St. Paul, and while there signed up for the brain of James J. Hill. We are to pay $2,500 for it. It was great work to get it so cheap.

MAN IN THE MARKET FOR HUMAN SKELETONS
 St. Louis, Oct. 9.—St. Louis is to be it on the map as a world's center for skeletons and brains if the Business Men's league can be interested in the proposition of Aug. de Castellane Seymore of Tours, France, who at the Planters' hotel.
 Mr. Seymore is vice president of the Mississippi Valley Skeleton company, incorporated in New Rochelle, N. Y., e says, with $75,000 capital stock. It is proposed, Mr. Seymore says, to build a $750,000 plant here if proper inducements are offered. The skeletons will be sold to medical colleges and the brains will be sent to Europe to be examined by brain specialists.
 "You have had your corners in cotton and grain and possibly other commodities, and now we are going to have a skeleton corner," said Mr. Seymore.
 "I intend immediately to seek mortgages on the skeletons of your prominent St. Louisians and liens on the brains of the geniuses and wizards. When the mortgages are signed we will pay 10 per cent of the value of the skeleton to the owner, while we will want a diversified collection of their whereabouts during the remainder of their lives. When they die we will present our mortgage to the relatives."
 "The factory for the preparation and polishing of the skeleton ought to be built and in operation within a year. Material at the beginning will be obtained from unidentified and unclaimed bodies which we hope to gather up.
 "From statistics we have discovered that the skeletons of men between 18 and 30 years are worth $32 a piece; between 30 and 40, $17.60; between 40 and 45 years, $9.98, and more than 45 years, $3.42. So you see the advantage of offering an early mortgage. There will be four classes of skeletons—domestic, imported, miscellaneous and 'lost and found.'
 "On my way to St. Louis I stopped in St. Paul, and while there signed up for the brain of James J. Hill. We are to pay $2,500 for it. It was great work to get it so cheap.

WILL SEEK NEW "BLUE SKY" LAW

Lansing, Mich.—No matter what the state or federal courts do with the "blue sky" laws now in existence in nearly every state the legislature which will meet this coming winter is to be asked to pass what might be termed a general law.

Committees representing associations of state officers are now at work trying to draft a law that is to stand all tests. At the annual meeting of the state banking commissioners and their assistants at Atlantic City last summer a committee was appointed to confer with committees from other organizations. The attorneys general of many states will meet in Washington, the middle of this month and Attorney-General Grant Fellows, of Michigan, is to be one of the leading spirits there. He has many ideas on "blue sky" laws and is one of the committee of the organization that is to draft a law.

Court Rules Law.

In addition to these committees, investment bankers of the country have a like committee.

In Michigan the present "blue sky" law is in the hands of the supreme court.

One of the greatest stickers for a "blue sky" law of some kind is E. H. Doyle, state banking commissioner. He insists that some law is an absolute necessity.

"Why, not wanting to blow our own horn," says Mr. Doyle, "but just for a matter of information, let me tell you that the Michigan securities commission has saved the people of Michigan whole hogheads, not barrels, of money, since it has been in existence."

Doyle Favors Law.

"Some of the propositions which were put up to use which would have gone through if the law had not compelled the approval of the commission—were ludicrous. The public at large has no idea of the inner schemes of some of these promoters, which in many cases were fully revealed when they appeared before the commission and were compelled to answer a few questions. Invariably the profits all went to the self-same promoters, while the suckers were to get the debts.

"Of course, do not misunderstand me. There are plenty of promotion schemes which are absolutely all right but you can spot the bad ones in five minutes when they lay all the cards in front of you.

C. S. Prescott of Menominee is the week-end guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Stephenson.

Miss Evelyn Chambers of Hardwood is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Londerville.

G. T. Stephenson was in Marinette yesterday attending to business matters.

ASSESSMENT ON WINES IS $7,000,000

Washington, D. C., Oct. 8.—Senate Democrats in caucus today on the war revenue bill, retraced none of their steps in revision of the measure taken on Tuesday.

Much of the morning session was devoted to a discussion of the proposed wine tax, but no further action was taken. The caucus thus far has approved the rates recommended by the committee, 20 cents a gallon on sweet wines and 8 cents on dry wines. This will yield approximately $7,000,000 which, with the tax of $1.75 a barrel on beer and 5 cents a gallon rectified spirits, will net from liquors alone an annual revenue estimated at $57,000,000.

Senator O'Gorman succeeded in getting approval of an amendment to the proposed flat tax of $24 on cigarette manufacturers.

Emil Bergdahl of LaBranche died in the city yesterday.

SPORTING DEPARTMENT

CHIEF BENDER'S POWER UNCANNY

Chicago, Oct. 9.—It will not be a question in the world's series of beating "Chief" Bender of the Athletics, in the box. All that the Braves have to do is to put him out of business on the coaching lines. That is the consensus of opinion among the American league teams.

Bender is an Indian, and full-blooded at that. The Chippe has claim him as their own and although he has associated with the pale faces from his birth, that cunning and instinct of the forest cling to him still.

This leads up to the wonderful skill or intuition, whichever it might be, of Bender on the sidelines, at first base for left-handed pitchers and at third for right-handers.

To the fans the Indian is simply a coacher, the same as hundreds of others. To the players he is the Nemesis with a big N. To his own mates he is supposed to tip off what kind of ball the opposing pitcher is ready to serve. The American league players are a unit in declaring that he does. The Athletics keep mum.

How does he do it?

Some pitchers would be willing to give half of their stipend to find out. Others simply shut their eyes and let go of the ball. Whatever it is, it is on record that Bender never failed to call the turn on most pitchers, and that is the uncanny power the Braves must combat.

Bender has his aides. Davies, Coombs and McInnis are the three others. Of these Davies comes nearest to the achievement of the red man, but the fact remains that Bender alone is the one and only who is the master of the "Indian sign."

T. ATKINS WON'T WEAR PAJAMAS

London—Tommy Atkins wear pajamas? Well, not if he can help it. And he will help it unless he is sick or wounded and in that case he does not care. Out on the firing line and in camp, though, when he sleeps Tommy Atkins is going to use his shirt as a night garment. That's fine, he avers.

Which is all in answer to a rumour that has been kicked because the British Red Cross society and Queen Mary's Needlework Guild have included such things as "pajamas" and "men's dressing gowns" in their requirements for the war. Tommy Atkins smiled disdainfully when told that he was going to get pajamas. More than that he laughed scornfully. Wear pajamas. Not he, if he knew it. What did he want the bloody things for. Might be all right for the officers, he thought, but not for him.

Aroused by the criticism offered, officials of the Red Cross Society and Woman's Guild stated that the pajamas as were offered for hospital service and not for the soldiers in the field. The pajamas they said could be worn by the wounded while they were confined in the hospital.

One soldier, who has seen service through several campaigns, smiled grimly when pajamas were mentioned to him.

"They may be all right," he said, "but give me a good warm shirt. Its shirts that the men want, and socks. They want good socks, too, seamless ones so that they can turn them inside out without chafing their feet. It was three weeks in South Africa without a change of shirts. We left Bloemfontein one day and didn't get a change for three months. Officers and men were in the same boat and we did the best we could, turning them inside out from time to time.

"I'll tell you one thing the Red Cross could do very handily. That is to provide some boacic powder in the soldiers' supplies. The men could use in their socks on the march and it would heal a lot of sore feet."

Avoid Sedative Cough Medicines.

If you want to contribute directly to the occurrence of capillary bronchitis and pneumonia use cough medicines that contain codine, morphine, heroin and other sedatives when you have a cough of cold. An expectorate like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is what is needed. That cleans out the culture beds or breeding places for the germs of pneumonia and other germ diseases. That is why pneumonia never results from a cold when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. It has a world wide reputation to rite cures. It contains no morphine or other sedative. FED HEAD SAYS THERE IS ROOM

Chicago, Oct. 9.—"Ban Johnson need not tear his hair and rave over talk of peace between the Federal league is not asking for peace, will not ask for it, and the chances are would not accept any proposition coming from Johnson. Any time one of his agents in various parts of the country spring a story of probable peace Ban bubbles all over and says nothing. No one is asking for a settlement. The Federal league is perfectly satisfied with its year just about to end. We have played out our schedule despite Mr. Johnson's predictions the league would blow up July 1, August 1, August 15 and September 15. He was just about as close to the facts on those occasions as he is now."

Room for Third League.

Thus spoke James A. Gilmore, president of the Federal league, yesterday morning after he read Mr. Johnson's statement in the morning papers. President Gilmore wants it understood he has never made the statement credited to him to the effect there was no room for a third league in major league baseball. He insists there is room and that it has been proved and that the Federal league will be bigger and stronger next year and will continue to grow and give the public the best sport obtainable.

"When Mr. Johnson learns how many of his stars he will lose when the season for 1915 opens he will probably deliver himself of some more thunder," continued the leader of the Feds. "I would advise him to have a strong cup of tea close at hand so he will be able to stand the shock. If he could see the contracts now locked in my vault which players have signed with Federal teams for 1915 he might not recover from the shock. These names will be made public whenever we see fit to do so, but only a few at a time out of regard for Mr. Johnson's health. All players have been given the word of the Federal league that their names will not be made public until the season in the National and American leagues has ended. Now that it is about over except intercity contests it will not be long before some interesting information will reach Mr. Johnson's ears."

Silent on Walter Johnson.

"Has Walter Johnson joined the Brooklyn Feds?" was a question asked the president.

"I will give the same answer to all questions and that is that we are mentioning no names until the proper time comes," said the Fed president.

DEMANDS PROBE OF ACT BY BURLERSON

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9.—Senator Townsend of Michigan is of the opinion that there was rang discrimination in the action of the Postmaster General in awarding a contract for many thousand dollars' worth of automobile trucks for use of the department. The contract for furnishing the trucks was let to a Cleveland concern, which is said to have been a higher bidder than 20 other firms.

Senator Townsend wants a thorough investigation by the Senate of the whole transaction. His resolution asks the Postmaster General for all information, in any manner bearing upon the deal. This information, he says, should include the department's invitation to bidders; copies of originals of bids received; action of the department in forming a committee to pass upon bids; how, by whom appointed, and under what instructions the committee acted; names of committee; full report and reasons for its award of contract or contracts to other than lowest responsible bidder; all correspondence on the deal.

"KAISER" AN ENGLISHMAN, CHANGES NAME TO "KING."

London, Oct. 9.—A German or German sounding name tends to make its possessor so unpopular both in a business and a social way in London that there has been a rush of British-born and naturalized German citizens in England to the courts for new names. Some of the changes on the court records are: Schloss to Castle; Schwartz to Black; Klusman to MacLaren; Rosenthal to Rodeny; Howitz to Howard; Koenig to Kingsley; Dunkelbuh to Duncan; Scharlieb to Shirley; Weischenek to Wynne; Kuss to Cuss; Bruggamey to Bridges, and Stohwasser to Stowe. But the most tactful shift was by the man who traded Kaiser for King.

HARVARD PROTECTS HER PLAYERS FROM GERMS

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 9.—These are germless days for Harvard football players out practicing in the stadium, or if there are any germs about they keep out of sight. They were shunted off from the players' clothing by sterilizers long ago. And now, when the tin dipper drinking cups have kissed themselves goodby, microbes are sad indeed.

The latest wrinkle to protect the football players from the invasion of the "bugs" is that of the individual drinking cup. There are no split drinks out on Soldiers' field any more, for every fellow on the squad has his own little water cup—no one, in fact, but as many as he likes.

Dr. F. H. Nicholas, '86, professor at the medical school, athletic committee member, erstwhile baseball coach and for many years medical and surgical adviser of the football men, inaugurated the new precaution, and if the microbes are sore on any one it should be on him. But the reform has come to stay.

No more will the football crowds see the players rush to the water bucket between the halves to quench their thirst first hand from the flowing bowl itself, from the rusty dippers or even from the rubbers' dripping sponges. Hereafter the drinks on and off the field are going to be pure, or there will be no drinks at all. It will be the high life on the side lines, and the rough stuff is thing of the past.

ANGER MOTIVE FOR BUNGALOW KILLING

Dodgeville, Wis., Oct. 9.—Admitting that he had killed Emil Brodelle, Milwaukee, because he was angry with him, Julian Carlton, slayer of seven persons at the Frank Lloyd Wright bungalow at Hillside on Aug. 15, died of starvation Wednesday afternoon in the Iowa county jail.

Carlton, according to the sheriff, several times during the last two weeks, said he killed the Milwaukee draftsman, but did not seem to remember of the killing of the other six persons.

The negro had been dying for the last three days. The sheriff told him so, and asked him to make an ante-mortem statement, but Carlton paid no attention. Persisting in the attempt to get some information, Sheriff Williams asked Carlton whether he killed Brodelle because he was angry with him, whereupon the negro was reported as having said: "I guess you solved the question."

Negro Was Not Married.

Carlton also informed the sheriff that he was not married to Gertrude Carlton. He said he had been living with her for two years in Chicago. Mrs. Carlton has been notified of the death and unless she applies for the body it will be turned over to the medical authorities.

After Carlton had been taken into custody, following the tragedy, he feigned insanity and he was not arraigned until last week, when he was brought before Judge Clementson in the Iowa County Circuit court.

He was carried into court by two deputies and laid on a stretcher. He pretended he was unconscious and could not be made to answer questions put to him by the court. An attorney was appointed by the court to defend Carlton and a plea of not guilty was entered.

The case was then adjourned until such time as Carlton might be able to stand trial. His condition was such at that time that Judge Clementson urged Carlton to begin eating in order to get sufficient strength to go through the ordeal of a trial.

Story of Tragedy.

Carlton attacked and killed Mamah Borthwick, the soul mate of Mr. Wright, as she was at dinner with the other employees of the Chicago architect and her children at the same table. Running from the room, Carlton poured a can of kerosene under the which he locked and set first to the oil.

With all escape cut off, the others in the room tried to escape from the shambles which the negro had created by jumping from a window. Carlton was waiting for them under the window and as they dropped to the ground struck at each with an ax.

Counting those who died later of their wounds, there were seven victims of the negro's fury. Two of the others recovered from their wounds and burns and were preparing to be witnesses against the colored man.

GOV. FERRIS IS A BETTING FAVORITE

"Betting odds on the governorship favor the election of Gov. Woodbridge N. Ferris, Democratic candidate for a second term," said a Detroit traveling man here this morning. "The odds now stand at 5 to 4 on Ferris, with a good chance of becoming even more one-sided because of a lack of willingness of bettors to place their money on Osborn."

"For two weeks $1,000, offered on Ferris at even money, remained without anyone taking a single dollar of it, at Cottingham's political betting headquarters in Detroit. There was much more money ready to place on Ferris if the first $1,000 was taken, and impatience of the holders caused the dropping of the odds asked on Osborn. The $1,000 now awaits $800 of Osborn money to cover it."

"Bettors believe that Ferris may be a 2 to 1 favorite by election day, four weeks hence."

Discussing the political situation throughout the state further, the man above quoted stated there is a growing sentiment in favor of Emmet Beach, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, over Dickinson, the Republican candidate. Beach is a Saginaw man and is said to have many warm supporters throughout the state.

SAYS GERMANY IS A BEATEN POWER

New York, October 9.—Timothy Healy, M. P., who arrived by the Cunarder Campania via Liverpool, with several other notable Britons, expressed confidence in the ultimate defeat of the kaiser's armies in the campaign in France.

"The Kaiser," the Irish leader says, "has lost all the admiration which the world had bestowed upon him and Germany, by the manner in which his country attacked Belgium to make a shortcut to Paris."

"The success of her strategy depended on that move. She has lost. She intended to hold Paris for a ransom of a thousand million dollars, with the alternative of burning the city."

"I regard Germany as a beaten power. Judging the situation from a political and diplomatic viewpoint, it is apparent that the Kaiser is no statesman. He blundered in abandoning the policy of Mismarck. He has shown the folly of an individual who, because he happens to be a monarch claims as his birthright the ability to direct every military and diplomatic move of the empire."

Mr. Healy had this to say about home rule:

"To some extent we owe the passage of the bill to the outbreak of war. The future of the bill depends in some measure on the cost of the war. If it lasts a year, there must be a general election in 1915, and the Liberals certainly would be returned and therefore have the situation to handle."

"If however, the war is short, the Tories will have the upper hand and they doubtless will stir up trouble in Ulster, which the Liberals have promised not to inject into home rule. On the other hand, as the Catholic and Protestant regiments are fighting together for victory there may come such a wave of united feeling as will dissolve all party strife."

Lieutenant-Colonel I. N. Lewis formerly of the coast artillery, a passenger by the Campania, and inventor of the air-cooled rapid-fire gun which has been used by British aeroplanes in the fighting in France, said he did not care to talk about the gun otherwise than to say that he had received assurance from the British authorities that it had proved a great success. The gun weighs only 25 pounds, is smokeless and flameless and can be fired from the shoulder.

COMPENSATION

If government should wipe out your investments or your means of gaining a livelihood, you should be recompensed, shouldn't you?

WOMAN FAINTS IN FAIR STORE

As far as the general public was concerned yesterday afternoon, a murder was committed on the main floor of the Fair store when a woman patron of the store, fell to the floor, apparently shot. Scores rushed into the store and stood aghast while efforts were made to revive the woman. This is how it all happened.

An agent came to town with a newly patented burglar alarm. The alarm is one of the kind that shoots a blank cartridge and scares everyone to death within a radius of a mile, more or less. Anyway the agent was proceeding to demonstrate his contraption and when it exploded, the deafening sound so startled a passing woman that she fainted and remained in the unconscious condition for several minutes. The agent was about as badly scared, however, as the woman.

LOGAN COMPANY IS NOT CONCERNED

On item appearing in Milwaukee newspapers telling of the appointment of a receiver for the Wisconsin Hotel Operating Company has been confused by some local people with the Wisconsin Hotel Company, which holds the lease on the Delta hotel in this city. The Wisconsin Hotel Operating Company was organized to operate the Wisconsin hotel in Milwaukee and the Wisconsin Hotel Company has no connection whatever with that concern.

LOOKS SHOES OVER BEFORE PURCHASING

When Hank Gingrass of Danforth buys shoes, he looks them over. Hank claims that a merchant never slipped anything over on him and as a consequence when he saw the hundreds of shoes in the Fair store window marked "any pair in window 50 cents," he just couldn't believe his eyes.

The big Fair store window has shoes dangling in every direction preparatory to the big sale today. Yesterday Hank walked into the store and as the window door was open walked in and stood in the center of the "bower" of shoes, "lookin' 'em over." At this juncture window trimmer Olmsted spied the man and shaking with fear lest he would knock the whole bunch down cautiously inquired "could I ask, kind sir, what brings you into the center of my window display." "Well seein' that you ask me, I am lookin' 'em over, thinkin' maybe I might buy." "But my good man," said Olmsted, "you are in my window which I have worked a week to put up and besides the sale doesn't open until tomorrow." "Well in that case I will get out and come back tomorrow, but I thought you had 'em hung here so as people could take a good look at 'em."

Removing himself from the window without knocking down a shoe, the man left the store, declaring that he would come back today and make his purchase as he declared some of the shoes to be "down right bargains."

Dr. Riddon has declared that he can completely cure the son of the local people.

Hugh Sharkey, employed by Gene Sullivan, was yesterday morning seized with a stroke of apoplexy and upon the advice of Dr. W. A. LeMire was rushed to the St. Francis hospital where his condition is reported to be serious.
