CLOSE FINISH HELPS FINANCES

The National league has had the most successful September campaign in its history of the present major league. If it hadn't been for the added interest in baseball in this organization due to the closeness of the pennant fight many of the cities would have suffered heavy financial losses.

In the American league there has been a big falling off in attendance over last year. There are two reasons for this. First, the invasion of the Federal league in the field in two of its cities, and secondly, the one-sided fight for the pennant.

The Athletics were considered sure winners when the season opened and the predictions came true. Philadelphia fans didn't turn out in such large numbers as in previous years because they believed, as did everyone else, that Connie Mack's team was invincible.

White Sox Suffered.

In St. Louis the sudden improvement in the form of the Cardinals caused the fans to flock to the National league. Tinker's desertion to the Federal league in Chicago counted against both the White Sox and Cubs early in the season. Still, the grand finish of the Cubs helped out the National in Chicago, but the White Sox continued to suffer as a result of the opposing of the Federals.

The Boston Nationals had a banner season. The sensational finish put up by the Braves helped every city in the circuit. In Boston three weeks ago a double-header attracted more than 75,000 fans. Ever since the Braves returned from the west the attendance have never fallen below 10,000 and in a majority of the games 20,000 or more fans were on hand. All the other clubs profited by this increase in business, not only Boston, but in New York and St. Louis during the closing days.

American Shows Decrease.

Brooklyn's spurt that landed them in fifth place was a savior for the owner across the bridge.

The American league will show a decrease over last year, particularly in Chicago and St. Louis. Washington did not come up to last year's attendance figures and will probably show a deficit because of the increase in salaries the club had to pay.

PUT FISH GILLS IN SUBMARINES

New York, Oct. 12.—Thomas A. Edison says that anyone skilled in chemistry can, with a day's work, put fish gills into a submarine, meaning that it is chemically possible for the submarine, like the fish, to get its air directly from the water in which it swims. To his mind it would be a simple task to extract oxygen from salt water. He suggests, potach batteries.

Mr. Edison is not going to tackle the problem, however. After seeing a battleship and a submarine Saturday for the first time in his life, the inventor said "that he couldn't get enthusiastic about perfecting the weapons of war."

Secretary of the Navy Daniels was Mr. Edison's host in the afternoon at the Brooklyn navy yard. With Mrs. Daniels, Mrs. Edison and Mr. Robertson, Edison's chief engineer, they motored here from Orange and looked over the dreadnaught New York, just back from Mexico and the submarine G-4.

Hard by the commandant's office at the navy yard, they led the inventor to a room where two huge liquid batteries rocked to and fro, as though on ship board. Edison had no trouble to recognize his own new batteries undergoing a test leakage.

"Yes, sir; we've docked your batteries back and forth at all speeds and angles for the major part of two months and they haven't leaked yet," explained the commandant.

This battery was designed by the inventor for purely commercial use. It is self-starting and self-sustaining, speaking loosely. It won't freeze. Although it may not under adverse conditions be able to move its load, it has the inspiring faculty of working up its power when it will. It is great value for submarines lies in this: Hitherto submarine batteries made of lead and rubber, formed chlorine gas, deadly stuff when salt water leaked in on them. The Edison battery will absorb this chlorine and cut out one more underwater peril.

Mrs. George Elliot has returned from Rapid River, where she visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Bennett.

BUCKLEYS LOSS IS HARD BLOW

Chicago, Oct. 13.—Before attempting to analyze the results of Saturday's football games, most of which resulted as predicted, every follower of the gridiron game cannot help but feel sorry for Charles Buckley, captain of this year's Harvard's team.

This player, one of the greatest exponents of field-goal kicking in the history of football, was operated upon last Saturday for appendicitis. The affliction will keep him out of the all-important inter-sectional struggle between Michigan and Harvard at Cambridge on October 31, although he may be able to play in the Yale-Harvard game on November 21 in New Haven.

As the Crimson eleven was the undisputed champion of the east last year, and as Michigan bids fair to be represented by a strong eleven this season, this game has attracted unusual interest. Without the services of Buckley, Harvard will be greatly weakened and its chances of defeating the Wolverines lessened accordingly.

Absence Noted in Last Game.

Buckley's absence from Saturday's games with Washington and Jefferson which Harvard won by the narrow margin of one point, shows he will be missed. Although Mahan, the Crimson half back, was not in the game, Buckley's illness had a lot to do with the result, and unless Coach Houghton selects a good man to take the captain's place Harvard will have a hard time to retain the laurels it won last year.

It must be admitted that Michigan is showing improvement with the playing of every game. Although at least four Harvard scouts watch every game the Wolverines will be hard to beat on the last Saturday of this month. Coach Yost is leaving nothing undone to test the ability of his candidates and the worth of his plays. Never before has the Wolverine mentor opened up in such style as he has this season and by the time Harvard is met Michigan will be represented by its strongest eleven, which will be versed in the most strategic lost formations.

May Rebuild His Team.

That Coach Houghton will have to rebuild his team for this contest is certain. Plays were built around Buckley. Defense for his attempts at field goals had been perfected. Special interference for off tackle drives and end runs had been perfected, while forward s had been taught how to open holes for his line plunges. His capabilities as an interferer also had been reckoned, and in numerous other ways the sterling qualities of this player have been figured upon.

Although he may be partially replaced, the other Harvard players will not enter into the important struggles with the same confidence as they would if Buckley was in his old position. Psychology is an important factor in football, and unless the players have confidence in their teammates the result may be disastrous.

Crimson Lucky to Win.

The result of Harvard's game with Washington and Jefferson plainly showed that a lot must be accomplished before the Michigan game. That the Crimson eleven was lucky to escape defeat must be admitted, although the Cambridge team was severely handicapped.

ILLINOIS SECRETARY OF STATE KILLS SELF

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 13.—Secretary of State Harry Woods, one of the Democratic senatorial candidates at the September primary and former operator on the Chicago board of trade, killed himself early Sunday morning.

His body with a bullet wound in the forehead and a pistol in the right hand, was found at 7:15 o'clock this morning in a garage at the rear of his residence.

The body was found by Mrs. Wood who had become alarmed at his absence from home since 6 o'clock Sunday morning, without any word of explanation as to where he had gone.

There is evidence that the secretary carefully planned suicide.

Mrs. Woods could assign no motive for her husband's act. She said she knew nothing of his business affairs.

News of the suicide caused much excitement here. Most of the state officers were out of town, owing to this being registration day in Chicago. The vacancy in the secretaryship will be filled by appointment by the governor.

Besides a widow, Mr. Woods is survived by three daughters, Jessie, 8 year old, Annabel, 5, and a daughter by a former marriage who lives in Chicago.

ALEXANDER SHARES IN BASEBALL HONORS

New York, Oct. 13.—With the amazing record-breaking rush of the Boston Braves at the top of the National league after being a poor last year, the first of July taking up all spotlights in this world of sport, some other mighty interesting features in connection with the annual baseball marathons have been overlooked.

One of these features, and one that deserves far more than ordinary mention, is the work of Grover Cleveland Alexander, that pitching phenom who wiggles for the greatest hard luck club in the world—the Phillies. This year Alexander has been breezing along at the fastest clip of any pitcher in the National league loop, literally standing the batters in that organization on their heads.

Alexander, with a patched-up, very ordinary club behind him, has piled up the best pitching percentage in the league. His work has been marvelous, considering the support accorded him. He has been the one and only consistent winner for the Phillies. He has worked, too, like a Trojan all year long, determined to keep his warriors out of the cellar, called on Alexander often and the big twirler responded with a victory almost every time.

JACK JOHNSON IN GOOD SHAPE

New York, Oct. 13.—It has been the impression among fight fans that Jack Johnson, the heavy weight champion, has been such a victim of dissipation that he must soon wear out and become an easy victim for some strong young fellow.

"There is nothing physically the matter with Johnson," said McKelrick, "Stories that he was a dissipated without sop are all wrong. I was with him nearly every day for about a year and in all that time I never saw him take a drink. And I don't believe he smoked over two cigars in that length of time. Johnson is taking the best care of himself. He, of course, is not the fast boxer he used to be, but he still retains enough cleverness to stall off the attacks of the present set of 'white hopes'."

"He hasn't got much money, either, and he has to keep getting it to continue living as well as he does. He doesn't carouse around at all, either, for his wife is with him all the time, and when he is away from her for any length of time he must account for every minute he has spent."

PASTOR ADMITS FAKING HOLD-UP

London, Ont.—The Rev. Isaac Wilson, pastor of Marble Memorial Methodist Episcopal church, Milan, Mich., who Thursday night staggered out of an alley at the rear of the Grand Trunk depot with his throat cut and bumps on his head which he claimed he had received at the hands of foot-pads who stole $4,500 cash from him, today confessed to detectives that he had concocted the yarn to save himself from difficulties from home.

Signs the Confession.

His story was that he received $4,500 in a real estate transaction from George Comstock, but Comstock could not be found either in London or Windsor, where he was supposed to have had offices. Detectives Enxclton and Down had the Rev. Dr. Wilson's signed confession that he was in debt at home and that he came here to pull the turn that was to have explained a way how he lost the money he had promised his creditors.

He came to this city and obtained four blank Dominion bank checks. He made these out to himself and signed them George Comstock. These, he showed the folks at home and declared he was coming to London to cash them. To finish the transaction he jabbed himself in the throat with a pen-knife and bumped his head against the alley wall and half swallowed his handkerchief.

Milan, Mich.—The Rev. Isaac Wilson, who claimed to be the police of London, Ont., that he had been robbed of $4,500 in bills and later, according to the Canadian police, repudiated his story, has been in Milan about two years. He has a wife and family here and is regarded as a good citizen. He went to London where he has relatives to transact some business. The reports from Ontario cannot be fathomed here.

THE HOUSE OF KUPPENHEIMEN

We Now Present The Overcoat of the Season THE KLAIVICLE!

With the approach of the skirmish line of winter, in self defense men's thoughts are turning overcoatward.

For those who prefer a loose, draping garment—a garment that is a distinction as well as a necessity—there can be but one answer this season to this overcoat question—THE KLAIVICLE.

In all the years of our clothing experience it has never been our privilege to see anything that even approached it as a fashion achievement. In fact, we doubt whether there is another overcoat that can seriously dispute this Kuppenheimer production's title to absolute superiority—in point of style, comfort, and service.

Cut with all the drape and swing of a soldier's cape. Full military back and sleeves, all from one piece of cloth but without a seam, Padless shoulders. Wide velvet collar. Full soft roll lapel. Genuine natural buffalo horn buttons.

Within the impregnable defense of this sturdy-fabricked, brilliantly styled garment the wearer may face a long Winter's siege with an even and a tranquil mind.

To-day and all next week we will make a special showing of the KLAIVICLE in Belgian Chinchillas as well as in the most faored American weaves at

ANTWERP WILL NOT BE HARMED

London, Oct. 13.—The Amsterdam correspondent of the Reuter Telegram company says that a message from Berlin says that a message from Berlin brings official announcement of the German army headquarters that Antwerp was evacuated by the British and Belgian troops before the Germans entered. Negotiations for the surrender were conducted with the burgomaster. The announcement adds: "The number of prisoners cannot be estimated. We took an enormous amount of supplies of all kinds."

Warning to the People.

General von Bessler, commander of the German troops that captured Antwerp, has issued the following proclamation: "The German army has entered your city as conquerors. No citizen shall be harmed and your property shall be spared, if you refrain from hostile acts. All refractoriness will be punished according to the law of war and may lead to the demolition of your people's city."

Historic buildings were spared by the German guns during the bombardment.

SLAYS EMPLOYER, THEN KILLS SELF

Ashland, Wis., Oct. 13.—Continuous quarreling over the European war led to the death of two men near the city on Sunday.

George Gasper, Hungarian farm hand, lured his employer, Bert Wlsak, into the woods Sunday afternoon and shot him dead. Gasper then returned to the house and informed the victim's wife of the murder.

After he had delivered his message and a letter he went into the house and placed the gun to his stomach. The shot tore a large hole in his side, but did not kill him. The woman got the gun away from the man before he could reload it.

Gasper crawled out of the house to a woodpile where he seized an axe, with which he cut several big gashes in his head. For two hours he lay on the ground, threatening the woman.

When assistance arrived from Ashland the man was trying to explode a cartridge near his body. He died an hour after help arrived.

Searching Criticism.

Five-year-old Herbert, son of a bookish family, had learned to read so early and so readily that his first glimpses of storyland were growing lazy in his memory. One day he confided to his mother, "Ruthie showed me her new book today, and it's the queerest thing you ever saw! Why, it just says, 'Is it a dog? It is a dog. Can the dog run?' and a lot of things like that! 'Course I was too polite to say so, but it didn't seem to me the style was a bit juicy!—Lippincott's."

PLANNING AID FOR CHRISTMAS SHIP

The Escanaba High school is about to launch its share of one of the most benevolent humanitarian movements to which the nation has ever lent its hand, namely, the "Christmas Ship Movement." The idea of the Christmas ship was originated by the Chicago Herald. Its purpose is twofold: First, to provide the necessities of life for the destitute of Europe; and second, to make possible a happy Christmas for Europe's widows and fatherless children.

For the purpose of carrying to the bereaved of the various belligerent nations the gifts which the benevolent of America wish to send, the U. S. Government has, through Secretary Daniels, set aside a battleship. The governments of Europe have most gratefully acquiesced in the proposed plan.

The initial steps of the move in the High school have been taken by the Girls' League, which organization is working enthusiastically for the furtherance of the plan. The first part of their program will be carried into effect next Saturday, when they will dress 150 dolls. Meanwhile, both boys and girls will call for their discarded wardrobes and toys articles which may be renovated to such a degree as to be made acceptable.

Many have been under the impression that the collection of money, clothing, toys, etc., has been suggested by the mere desire of personal exploitation. The Herald recognizing the dire need of the refugees, and otherwise destitute people, purposed a plan suggested solely by kindness and good-will, which has come to be known as the "Christmas Ship." The response of the nation was immediate and enthusiastic. It needed but to be reminded that not less than a million are homeless, penniless, fatherless, and husbandless, and with a single movement arose to meet their needs.

It has been proposed that fraternal organizations and individuals who so desire should contribute food, articles of clothing, or toys to alleviate the sufferings of the war-swept nations. In order to contribute its mite, the High school has installed in conjunction with other activities for this purpose a sealed penny bank, into which the penny for which a stick of gum or a piece of candy has been sacrificed may be contributed for the alleviation of the more unfortunate.

Following the afternoon's work next Saturday, the girls will serve a supper to High school students, not only those here at present, but also the Alumni. During the evening songs will be sung by the entire body; Miss Ryan will present a program from the musical department.

Through the kindness of Mr. Colman of the Detroit Film Co., slides illustrating the week's war happenings will be shown. The purpose of this function and of those to be given in the next two or three weeks is to procure funds with which to purchase toys and more serious things for the bereaved of Europe who have been left destitute through the devastation of war.

Members of the Charity Committee of the Escanaba Woman's Club will conduct a rummage sale at 711 Ludington street, on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Oct. 21, 22 and 23. Announcement was made by the members of the committee yesterday that any one wishing to donate clothing, bedding, furniture, pictures or other articles for the sale, are requested to notify one of the members of the committee which is made up as follows: Mrs. G. M. Mashek, Mrs. B. D. Winegar, Mrs. Q. R. Hessel, Mrs. E. C. Voght, Mrs. H. W. Coburn and Mrs. George Haberle.

Thibault-Herbert
Miss Amelia Thibault and J. H. Herbert were married at 6 o'clock yesterday morning at St. Anne's church, Rev. Father Marceau officiating. Miss Georgianna Hebert attended the bride as bridesmaid, while Marcus Thibault served as groomsmen. Following the ceremony members of the wedding party went to 1012 Ludington street, where an elaborate wedding breakfast was served.
