GREAT BATTLE IN BELGIUM

On the Two Hundred Mile Battle Front the Germans Hurl Death Dealing Attacks Into Allies and Win Many Victories

BULLETIN
Berlin via Wireless to Sayville, Oct. 17.—According to an announcement made at Berlin today, the Germans in the vicinity of Ostend have reached the North sea where fighting is going on.

BULLETIN
London, Oct. 17.—A Reuter dispatch from Rome says it is reported from Ancona that an Austrian torpedo boat has been sunk by the French.

BULLETIN
Paris, Oct. 17.—A gigantic battle of startling magnitude and great importance is waged with desperate energy across the border of Belgium. The Germans have hurled an enormous force against the allies who are massed on the front from Armentiers to Ypres and then to the sea. Both armies are driven forward toward their advanced columns until at several points they interlap.

BULLETIN
Paris, Oct. 17.—Following is an official statement given out tonight: "Action at the front is confined to artillery. Our progress on the west wing continues. The British have taken possession of Fromelles, south west of Lille. On the canal from Ypres to the sea our marine riflemen repulsed the German attack."

BULLETIN
London, Oct. 17.—An Amsterdam dispatch to the Lloyd's says the American-Holland liner Nirdam struck a mine between Dover and the Dutch coast and seven aboard were injured by the explosion.

BULLETIN
Berlin, via Hague and London, Oct. 17.—Preparations are under way for a gigantic battle on the eastern arena of the war where the Austrian German armies have taken positions along the Vistula and San Rivers, ready for eventualities. Desperate fighting is going on along the center on the banks of the Vistula.

BULLETIN
Petrograd, Oct. 17.—The following official statement was issued tonight by the chief of the general staff: "Small engagements have taken place on the front in East Prussia. Austro-German troops on Oct. 15 assumed the offensive all along the front, between the Vistula river and Galicia. "South of Przemyśl we captured three Austrian companies and six officers."

BULLETIN
Vienna, Oct. 17.—The following statement is issued by the Austrian war office: "Fighting continued yesterday and Thursday, along the entire battle front, from Stry and Sambor, both to the southeast of Przemyśl and the mouth of the River San. "In Marmos-Sziget, Hungary, the enemy has been pursued by the Austrian detachments which have occupied Palls. "In the valley of Black Bistrica, the Russians are retreating. Our troops followed them to Zielona. The River Bistrica and the town Zielona are in Galicia, close to the Hungarian frontier and to the northeast of Marmos-Sziget."

BULLETIN
London, Oct. 17.—The German general headquarters at Berlin issued the following official announcement, according to a Reuter dispatch: "In the French theater of war there

IRON RIVER MAN IS RETURNED TO HIS HOME

H. F. Gibbs, the Iron River lumberman, who has been seriously ill at the Delta Hotel, was sufficiently recovered yesterday to be removed to his home at Iron River. Mr. Gibbs was accompanied to his home by Dr. A. F. Snyder, the attending physician.

AMENDMENT IS GRILLED

Paul Tice, of Chicago, representing the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, delivered an address last evening at the Odd Fellows hall before an appreciative audience against the proposed fraternal insurance amendment to the constitution of Michigan.

The state of Michigan declared by law in 1893 that Fraternal Beneficiary Societies should have state supervision and that the policies of members of these societies should be protected by the state. Every honest society doing business in the state welcomes this supervision. In 1913 the state legislature revised the Fraternal laws to further advance state supervision. Every society except the new Era association welcomed the revision. The new Era association, however, spent the biggest part of the session at an enormous cost to their members, in lobbying against the measure that would further protect policy holders. In 1911 the new Era association was successful in having the same bill killed and now that it is on the statute books, the desire to annul this protection has caused the new Era to petition the voters of the state to place in the constitution of the state and noxious section, which will not only take away state supervision, but ultimately drive every fraternal society and those union organizations which pay other than death benefits beyond the borders of the state. The new Era association, with 20,000 members, pre-

WAR TAX IS PASSED

Washington, Oct. 17.—The senate at nine tonight passed the war tax bill by a vote of 34 to 22. The purpose of the bill is to raise $107,000,000 to make up for a loss in revenue caused by the European war. Lane of Oregon was the only democrat voting against the bill. The bill goes to conference on Monday. After a day or two in conference the bill will be finally passed by the house and senate. Congress will then adjourn about the middle of the week.

H. Broad left yesterday for a short visit at Chicago. W. M. Loomis has returned to Green Bay, after a several days sojourn in the city. P. T. Estavicks has returned to his home at Carney after a short visit in the city.

CRITICISM ANSWERED

GLADSTONE DELTA GIVES FUNDAMENTAL FACTS THAT GUIDED SUPERVISORS IN DECIDING AGAINST OPPOSITION SUBMISSION

The Gladstone Delta says: "The special committee gave liquor interests the benefit of the same counsel as this week, the possible technicality." — Escanaba Journal.

It is to be feared that the editor, but not consult with counsel before making this assertion. Owing to the formal nature of the hearing, the board, certain matters were ready cussed by the counsel for all which would not have been heard at a court of justice, because they are unnecessary at that stage of the proceedings.

The law as interpreted by it with preme court, was followed by the main committee. Under a decision in Rut vs. Marquette county board, in the anti-saloon men were added to same counsel as this week, the worth is deprived of any discretion to fast bind the face of the affidavits after at petitions. Whether it knows a un-named to be fraudulently receiving those of non-voters or men who fled the country, it must count lent- under this sensational ruling, a for maintained by counsel for the tioners, Mr. Ryall, that no ext. that or outward evidence can be con- veyed to attack the petitions. It beho- fore follows that no evidence is received to strengthen them.

In the township of Wells and large wards of Escanaba there a multiplicity of petitions. The law re- pressly requires for the avowed rear pose of preventing fraud, that as signatures of all the petitioners, in siding, in any ward or township be attached to one petition or list, that an exact copy of said peti- tion and of all the signatures thereto be posted in three of the most con- sistent places in the said township, ward." This is to enable a man to determine if his name appears on the list, and this he is denied if it is possible to separate the list in differ- ent parts of the township.

The affidavit of F. L. Baldwin, for instance, shows that he posted copies of two petitions in his ward at the northeast corner of two streets, and the other petition at the southeast corner. It is certain that the able and conscientious editor of the Journal would not swear falsely, and it is well known that he has never made a mistake in writing. The question, therefore, arises, "Why did Mr. Baldwin cross the road?"

Setting this aside, it appears that some petitions in Wells were posted at one side of the township, and some at the other. Counsel for petitioners stated that his advice had not been taken before the posting of the lists, and that he has had no supervision of the matter. Mr. Ryall made a sugges- tion that the board eliminate one petition, where the others had been posted, together throughout the precinct. His own calculation showed him, however, that the minimum number thus removed would be sufficient to defeat his petitions.

The law upon which petitioners rely has been interpreted to mean that if petitions comply with the law only as to affidavits those affidavits must be received by the board at their face value. They certainly can in justice claim no more, and if they do not at- tend to the few requirements of state-

PETERSON THE PROMINENT MEN TO COME

Members of the Republican county committee have been especially fortunate in being able to secure for campaign addresses in this county, two men of national reputation. Congressman Joseph W. Fordney, of Saginaw and Ex-Congressman Gerrit J. Diekema, for chairman of the Republican State Central Committee of Michigan, are the speakers secured to appear in this county. Ex-Congressman Diekema will deliver an address in the city of Gladstone on the evening of Oct. 28, while Congressman Fordney will bring the Republican campaign in this county to a whirlwind finish with an address here on Saturday evening, Oct. 31. Congressman Fordney is recognized as one of the Republican leaders in the national house of representatives. He is an orator of great ability and coming direct from the seat of the government will have a message of particular interest to the voters of this county. Mr. Diekema has been one of the leading Republicans of Michigan for years. He is a forceful speaker and his address at Gladstone will attract an audience from a wide range of territory.

PRAIRIE CHICKEN ARE FOUND IN CITY

According to Deputy State Game Warden Herman Leisner, a flock of at least 100 prairie chickens are feeding within the limits of the city of Escanaba. The birds have but recently appeared in the vicinity of this city although they have been found in Iron and Dickinson counties for the past several years. Prairie chickens are protected under a stringent law in Michigan and Mr. Leisner is keeping a close watch over the flock near the city to be certain that they are not molested.

MICHIGAN IS HELD CLOSE

WOLVERINES WIN OVER M. A. BY SCORE OF 3 TO 0, HUGHITT SLIGHTLY HURT, BUT RETURNS TO GAME

(Special to the Press.)
Lansing, Mich., Oct. 17.—In the most bitterly fought battle ever staged between the rival schools, Michigan University today defeated the M. A. C. by the score of 3 to 0.

The score occurred during the three last minutes of play, Splawn getting the field goal from the 20 yard line. Michigan was outplayed in the second quarter in all departments as was forced to send in eleven substitutes while M. A. C. stood pat on its lineup.

Julian won the toss and chose the south goal. Splawn kicked to Julian, who returned ten yards. An exchange of punts was negotiated four times with neither team gaining perceptibly. Benton was sent in for Staats, who was injured by a fierce tackle. Both teams were fighting fiercely and the quarter ended with the ball on the Michigan 40 yard line. There was no score.

The Aggies outplayed the Wolverines in the second quarter, keeping the ball on the defensive for most of the quarter. Hughitt had to leave the game in this period because of an injury. Julian made a pretty twenty yard run around end to the Wolverines thirty yard line. Twice M. A. C. tried to place kicks from the forty and thirty five yard lines but failed at both. The quarter was replete with penalties for both teams. Maulbetsch recovered on a M. A. C. fumble but Splawn was forced to kick. Julian tore off another thirty yard run and played the ball on the Wolverine 5 yard line as the half ended.

Hughitt again entered the fray in the second half. Blacklock returned Splawn's kick off twenty yards to the center of the field but was forced to kick. An exchange of punts netted the Wolverines five yards. Maulbetsch made first down at the center of the field. Lyons intercepted a forward pass and it was Michigan's ball on the Aggies twenty yard line. Maulbetsch's plunges placed the ball on the 5 yard line but Michigan here lost the ball on downs. Michigan lost ten yards on an exchange of punts. The quarter ended with the ball in the center of the field and still no score.

Michigan picked up in the last quarter when Cattlett replaced Boehm at right half. The M. A. C. forward wall fought like demons and held up wonderfully. A forward pass, Splawn to Lyons, to thirty yards placed the ball on the M. A. C. 15 yard line. Maulbetsch made two yards through center. Hughitt placed the ball on the ten yard line. Splawn dug kicked the ball over from the twenty yard line for the first score of the game.

M. A. C. came back with vengeance but was forced to punt. Julian made first down on the forty yard line and was forced to punt again. The whistle ended the game with the ball in Michigan's possession on its forty yard line. Score Michigan 3; M. A. C. 0.

SERVICES TO OPEN

Forty Hours Devotion Services will open at St. Patrick's church at 8 o'clock on Tuesday morning. The special services will be made unusually impressive and a number of outside priests will come to Escanaba to assist Rev. Father Barth during the period.

GOOD ROADS VALUABLE

Farmers of the district surrounding Escanaba are now reaping the benefits of the good roads movement that has been pushed in this county for the past several years. With high grade roads provided farmers are now hauling into the city loads totaling from three to six tons. Recently W. A. Good, of Harris, hauled a six ton load to this city and last week brought in a load of mixed produce totaling three tons. Before the good roads were provided a load of 1800 pounds was close to the maximum and twice that amount is now moved far more easily than the lighter load of a few years ago and at less expense.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Secretary of State Bryan will start tomorrow on a speech making tour in behalf of the Democratic candidates of the November election in Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, North Dakota, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Iowa and Nebraska.

MEMONINEE WINS BY A BIG SCORE

While Marquette was trimming Ish- peming by a score of 13 to 6 and while Escanaba was beating Negaunee by a score of 6 to 0 yesterday afternoon, the Memoninee high school team rolled up a score of 100 to 0 against the Gladstone team.

The Memoninee team held the small Gladstone team in the palm of their hand for the entire contest and toward the end of the game refused to carry the ball for touchdowns. Last year Gladstone was defeated by Escanaba by a score of 133 to 0 but the score of Memoninee yesterday should give the local team somewhat of an idea of what they are going to meet in Memoninee.

"The Man On The Job"

Voters of Delta county, irrespective of party, will on Tuesday, Nov. 3, reward a sterling record by uniting in support of the candidacy of Hon. O. B. Fuller, Republican candidate for auditor general.

By his record, that has attracted favorable notice throughout the state of Michigan, Mr. Fuller has honored his home county of Delta. In return the voters of this county will demonstrate to the people of the state their pride in this record by giving to Mr. Fuller united, nonpartisan support at the polls on election day.

In discharging the duties of one of Michigan's most important officers Mr. Fuller has won distinction by carefully safeguarding the interests of the taxpayers of the state. It is an axiom at Lansing that the man no matter how close may be his relations with the Delta countyman, is yet to appear who has been able to "slip over" an unfair account on the state for Michigan.

By giving his personal attention to the supervision of affairs in his office, Mr. Fuller, in spite of the fact that the work of his office has increased with each year, has been able to conduct that office at less expense to the taxpayers than any other auditor general in years.

The people of the state of Michigan recognize merit and they have safeguarded their own interests by keeping the right man on a big job. The people of Mr. Fuller's home county have watched with deep pride the building up of a record that has demanded and deserved statewide notice.

The people of Mr. Fuller's home county will on Nov. 3, join with the people of the state of Michigan in maintaining at his post, the man who has rightfully won the title with all Wolverines "The Man On The Job."

Members of the members of Escanaba council Knights of Columbus will go to Iron Mountain this morning to participate in the ceremonies that will mark the reception of a large class of candidates into the council of that city. The local members will go to Iron Mountain by auto, leaving the city at 6:30 o'clock this morning. The event of today at Iron Mountain will be attended by members of the order from all sections of the state.

GRAIN MEN WILL PROTEST ON TAX. Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 17. A nation-wide fight on the proposed war tax of 1 cent on every $100 grain transaction was started at the eighteenth annual convention of the Grain Dealers' National association here when A. E. Reynolds of Crawfordsville, Ind., presented the report of the legislative committee and it was adopted unanimously.

GRAIN MEN WILL PROTEST ON TAX. Repeated Taxation. Mr. Reynolds pointed out that the proposed tax of 1 cent would subject the same grain to repeated taxation, and that under the plan there is no limit to the amount the government might tax a single shipment.

GRAIN MEN WILL PROTEST ON TAX. Urged to Buy Cotton. Urging every farmer and dealer in the grain producing states to join the "buy a bale of cotton" movement, Charles D. Jones of Nashville, Tenn., president of the grain association addressed the convention.

GRAIN MEN WILL PROTEST ON TAX. Then the stage was set by fate. The detectives had struck the trail, but a blank wall blocked the way when they sought the name of the man and woman who gave the love and protection denied by father and mother.

FRANCE ORDERS MILLION SHIRTS

New York, Oct. 17.—Demand for American products is increasing daily as a result of the war.

From the textile mills comes news that France has just placed orders for 90,000 dozen 60 per cent. wool shirts for army use. They are to be of the buttonless variety and must be finished within 60 days. Factories at Cohoes, Bennington and Amsterdam, N. Y., captured the orders.

England is in the market for hostelry, not only for the army, but for civilian consumption. One firm of agents is inquiring for plain cotton hose, plain hosiery, cotton and hosiery, and hosiery and cotton, lace, embroidered hosiery and cotton hose. There are many inquiries for duck.

Shoe manufacturers received inquiries last week on shoe prices. Samples of the shoes in use by practically all of the European armies are at hand in this country as specifications. Specifications of Shoes.

The French infantry shoe weighs 3 3/4 pounds; the cavalry 3 pounds 3 ounces. The English cavalry boot weighs 4 pounds and 8 ounces, and the infantry boot 3 pounds 9 ounces; the Wellington mounted infantry boot, 3 pounds. The Austrian cavalry boot weighs 5 pounds, the Austrian garrison shoe with cloth top, 2 pounds 7 ounces. Germany wants a garrison shoe weighing 2 pounds 4 ounces; an infantry boot for active service weighing 4 pounds 2 ounces. The Serbian cavalry boot is 3 pounds 8 ounces.

London by cable reports that Chas. M. Schwab has made contracts amounting to over $5,000,000 with the French and Russian governments for armored, gun-mounted motor trucks.

Pittsburg reports that Capt. C. W. Brown of the Pittsburg Plate Glass company has recently received large orders for window and plate glass. A big European firm has asked him to take over huge contracts made by them before the war. These, however, could not be taken because they were closed at prices 3 to 5 cents per square foot lower than the American firm could manufacture them for.

With the cessation of the supply of beet sugar from Germany, Austria and Belgium, there is a wonderful demand from American sugar.

Great Britain has purchased 900,000 tons of raw sugar at $100 a ton, by far the largest purchase in the history of the world.

More than 25,000 tons of steel wire products, exclusive of wire rods, are under negotiation for European countries engaged in the war.

Inquiries are for huge quantities of barbed wire and nails, and there are tentative large orders for horseshoe nails. Foreigners are not paying less than $1.60 per keg for wire nails. Wire mills are now running at 80 per cent. of rate output, with larger orders ahead for the fourth quarter.

Baltimore reports state that the 500,000 pounds of cotton duck from the Mount Vernon Woodbury mills will be taken by the purchasing agents of the English and French armies. The purchases were made through New York agents.

An agent of the French government is also inquiring for 250,000 pairs of ledings.

Peru will buy approximately $1,000,000 worth of coal from the United States in the next year, says Consul General Eduardo Higginson. Australia and England have hitherto supplied the fuel needs of Peru.

Mr. Higgins says the quantity of American coal is favorable for larger shipments even after the war on account of the shipping advantages afforded by the Panama canal. He urges the United States to buy cotton, sugar, copper, petroleum and hides from Peru.

SLIDE IN CULEBRA CUT HALTS CANAL TRAFFIC.

Panama, Oct. 16.—A serious landslide in the Culebra cut at a late hour Wednesday night interrupted completely all traffic through the Panama canal. Several ships in the canal have been unable to complete their passage.

The reports indicate that there were earth movements on both sides into the channel from the slopes of Gold and Contractors' hills which are virtually opposite each other.

Col. Goethals and other officials are this morning making an examination of the extent of the damage.

It is said that traffic through the canal probably will be interrupted for some time.

Trade in Foreign Countries.

In foreign countries you come into competition with the best goods from every land. An article must have merit of the highest order to win esteem. In many of these countries Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the most popular medicine in use for coughs and colds because it is the best. For sale by all dealers.

ENGLISH RECRUITS DIGGING TRENCHES

Falmouth, Eng., Oct. 17.—Those who have known Falmouth, ordinarily a peaceful Cornish watering place, would not know it now. It has suddenly been transformed into a military and naval center, with some suggestion of a shipping port of great importance. The recruits who have made it their rendezvous may be seen daily busily engaged in digging trenches in the high cliffs which overhang the beaches so as to be ready for any enemy which might land there. In the evening those beaches are alive with hundreds of soldiers having, a dip in the surf, after a hard day's work at digging or marching along the roads which lead from the sea into the town.

The commercial aspect is heightened daily by some new arrival of prize ships, which may be seen coming in under escort of a British war vessel. Even at night it is impossible for an unfriendly ship to escape detection off Falmouth, for the flash lights in the ancient Pendennis and St. Mawes castles, which command the Falmouth promontory and harbor, reach many miles to sea. The work of the patrol boats has been so effective, in fact, that the landlocked harbor and the peaceful river which connects Falmouth with Truro and other famous villages of Cornwall are almost filled with ship prizes or vessels under examination. Most of the German tramp steamers and sailing craft in the North Atlantic have been disposed of now, but the activities of the warships continue in the examination of neutral ships carrying possible contraband to Dutch ports. Cargoes of petrol, wheat, coffee and other foodstuffs are frequently held at Falmouth until it is made clear that their ultimate destination is not Germany.

Great Britain is gradually making it plain that she will not have Scandinavian and Dutch ports supply Germany with food supplies under a neutral flag. Neither is she willing to have German airships and war motors supplied with fuel slipped past English ships through the cleverness of neutral merchants who have taken large contracts to sell supplies to German firms.

The quiet life of the farmers whose tiny fields dot the hills overlooking the bay has been rudely disturbed by the soldiery here. Sheep and cattle have been replaced largely by signalman constantly practicing with flags and other devices. Many of the stonewalls and clumps of trees on high points which command roads have been utilized as breastworks and reinforced by bags of sand.

The recruits now here number about ten thousand. Many of the youngsters are without uniforms. Some drill in white duck overalls, but many more in the inevitable green and gray suits of the English civilian. The woolen stocking cap is a favorite headgear.

While many of the improvised fortifications have doubtless been constructed mainly with a view to giving the recruits a taste of defensive tactics, the earthworks and wire entanglements are invariably placed where they would do most good if an enemy were to attempt an invasion here. Lord Kitchener is far-sighted and his thorough campaign of preparation is evidently made with a view to meeting emergencies which might arise were the English fleet to meet unexpected reverses.

Leases of buildings taken for army use have been made for a period of three years in Falmouth.

GIVES PLOUGHSHARES MADE FROM SWORDS

Washington, Oct. 16.—Swinging the handles of swords, whose blades had been turned into miniature plowshares by order of the secretary of state, Senator William Alden Smith and McCumber made an orientational entry into the senate chamber today, after a meeting of the foreign relations committee, in which their attitude toward the pending Nicaraguan treaty had been anything but peaceful.

In the committee meeting each member had been presented with the handle of a discarded army sword. With the gifts from Secretary Bryan was a note stating that the blades had been made into plowshare paper weights for ambassadors and ministers of foreign nations who had signed peace commission treaties with the United States.

The republican members refused to make peace with the secretary in the war over the treaty with Nicaragua, whereby the United States would obtain the Nicaraguan canal route and naval station rights in the Bay of Fonseca, for a consideration of $3,000,000. The committee lacked one of a quorum and the democrats vainly sought unanimous consent to poll absent members in a vote on the treaty.

A SEASIDE INCIDENT

By EDWARD MINTURN.

(Copyright.)

"Once a sailor, always a sailor!" This was what Harry Veskit said, when, with an accession of fortune left him by a wealthy uncle, he purchased a beautiful cottage and little homestead on the lower part of Staten Island, where he could look out on old ocean at all times, and take a sail in a pretty little yacht that he kept in a creek just below the house—a boat quite seaworthy, yet so small that he could manage it alone when he chose, though he generally had his man of all work, Toby Ditson, with him when he went out.

But in very pleasant weather Harry generally went out with his mate, pretty Flora Veskit, who wore a wedding ring on the proper finger, which he had placed there three years before, and which looked brighter and brighter to him every day of his wedded life.

One day last fall, when the coast was lined with ducks, Harry made up his mind to have a short ducking cruise, and broached the subject to Flora at the breakfast table.

"Oh, yes," said Flo. "And I'll go to be boatkeeper. You can take Toby along; to row the skiff when you want to go into the creeks and marshes—he isn't good for much else."

"Don't run Toby down!" said Harry, with a laugh. "Remember that he came from the Hub. But get ready, dear one—I'm in a hurry to be off. The wind is light this morning, but will freshen this afternoon. The sky is 'mackerel' and full of 'mares' tails.'"

"There you are with your horrid sea signs again, Harry. I'll be ready as soon as you are."

"All right!" cried Harry, and he started to rouse Toby Ditson from his usual lethargy to put guns and provisions aboard the little sloop.

An hour later and the yacht, with Harry at the helm, Flora tending mainsheet, and Toby forward to look out for the jib, was standing down the bay.

The breeze freshened from the northwest as they stood on, making the fast sloop skim over the smooth water at a lively rate, for running up close under the land there was no sea on worth noticing.

Inshore the ducks were very plentiful, and Harry soon began to look for a landing place.

Running up near a small creek, that made far inland on its winding way Harry told Toby to let go the anchor and haul down the jib.

There was no need to lower the mainsail, he said, for he would soon be back.

As Flora had a book to read, she sat down on the nicely cushioned rear seat, and made herself comfortable as soon as Harry and Toby shoved off in the skiff.

Once or twice she looked shoreward when she heard the report of Harry's gun, knowing that he was doing havoc among the ducks.

At last she got drowsy, and lying back on the soft cushions, with the breeze fanning her white forehead, she fell asleep.

How long she slept, poor Flora did not know, but her waking was very rude, for it came by immersion.

A huge surge of salt water, dashing over the quarter of the boat, drenched her from head to foot, and as she sprang to her feet, she found that the boat, already out of sight of land, was driving stern first to sea, heading with the mainsail set, to a furious north-west gale.

Oh, where was Harry now to set the other sail and head for a harbor? This was Flora's thought, and then came the prayer from her lips: "Heaven help me, or I am lost!"

The day was far advanced, and soon night would be upon her—night, in a gale, drifting out upon the rough Atlantic.

Flora dared not lower the sail. Well, indeed, was it for her that she did not do it. This kept head to wind and sea, the boat rode easy, and though taking in a little water now and then at, whence it ran off by the scuppers, was yet very safe.

"Oh, what will Harry do when he finds I am adrift!" sobbed Flora. "I know he will follow me to sea in that tiny skiff, and he will be lost!"

Flora was right. Harry did follow her to sea in that tiny skiff. Toby Ditson was too cowardly to risk the voyage, and he was left ashore when Harry started to follow the sloop when he saw her adrift.

It was a terrible task for Harry to row out over the rough water after the fast-drifting yacht. With blistered hands he struggled on, and just before dark he got within hail, so nearly exhausted that Flora barely heard his cry to lower the mainsail, or he could not reach her.

Fortunately she had seen him do it, and she sprang to the balyards as she heard his cry.

The sail soon came tumbling down by the run, and in a minute afterward Harry was aboard, with Flora's arms around him.

Quickly he had two reefs up the mainsail, the bonnet off the jib, and the vessel heading in west by north, as close to the wind as he could hold her.

All night at the helm Harry sat patiently, while Flora made hot coffee in the little cabin for both.

GOV. FERRIS MAKING TOUR

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 17.—Yesterday's trip of Governor Ferris was a continuation of that of Thursday and the days before. The reception accorded him was similar to that given a popular governor when not running for office. All citizens, regardless of politics, joined in the large gatherings.

At Albion today, he came unheralded and spoke from an automobile to a crowd of men, women and children which packed the streets. The governor reiterated all that he had said in previous addresses and declared that he had no apologies to offer for the alleged extravagancies charged to him by his opponent.

The trip through Calhoun county was in deep contrast to that of the Republican candidate, who preceded him. In Marshall, Osborn spoke to about 50 people, when Ferris spoke the town took a holiday, stores and schools closing.

At Battle Creek, the reception accorded Ferris was in broad contrast to that given Osborn. First Ferris was invited to meet a group of business men and to talk to the workers of a plant owned by a Republican manufacturer, the Presbyterian syndicate gave a welcome to Ferris, the man. In the evening 1,000 people gathered at the Masonic temple, where Osborn addressed 200.

Social Happenings of the Day

"Society Vaudeville"

Much interest is being taken in the coming production of "Society Vaudeville" at the Peterson Opera House, Wednesday and Thursday of next week, Oct. 21 and 22. As the name implies it will be a cleverly arranged program of songs and dances and specialties. The opening number is the children's part with one hundred little tots in the chorus led by Jean and Ethel Mary MacLean, the Dutch Kidders, in a song and dance, little Miss Marie Turner, soloist and eighty dainty Japanese girls in a quaint drill, with Beulah Thompson, soloist. A rousing base ball chorus by a dozen boys will no doubt make a big hit. The second number "Up to the Minute Minstrelsy" is just that, a stunning chorus, and the "ends" ably held by Mesdames Alfa Barras, Wm. Kennedy, Tracy Todd, P. J. Flanagan, M. B. Turner and Miss Mulvaney. Mrs. David Dewey is intercoactor. The personnel of the chorus is as follows: Mesdames I. G. English, Dona Durand, Beau, Frank Shumacher, Chas. Moine, J. R. Andrews, E. C. Royce, N. C. Spencer, A. J. Connelly, C. W. Mallock, Ed. Erickson, Lewis, A. H. Groesbeck, Nolden, Noreus, Torval Strom, C. M. Cuthbert, A. Hoffman, M. Thomas, L. French, Geo. Beath, A. E. Herron, E. C. Norton, Wm. J. Clark, Misses Maude McCall, Myrtle Lambert, Morrill, Marjorie Wells, Bell Blake, Jaegers, Greene, Ryan, Gertrude Lindsay, Snyder, Alice Stevart, Cleary, Clare Hall, Mrs. P. A. Lint will sing "Way Down on Tampa Bay", Mrs. Ramspeck "In the Valley of the Moon", Mrs. Thompson "When its Night Time Down in Burgandy", Mrs. Barras "Back to Carolina" and Miss Mulvaney "At The Million Dollar Tango Ball".

The Imperial Russian Dancers, in the elaborate costumes, will introduce a most difficult dance, and already the young ladies who take part in this number, have mastered the steps and this number cannot fail to make the biggest kind of a hit. Misses Kathleen Turner, Leta Shaw, Hazel Shaw, Cleo Dewey, Naomi Syverson and Doris Hines are the participants in this number.

"How the Vote Was Won," a clever suffragette sketch, abounding in humorous situations, has the following talented cast: Misses Marie Snyder, Elizabeth Girard, Clare Hall, Belle Blake, Marjorie Wells, Myrtle Lambert, Harold Thompson and Mr. Davidson.

"A Little Bit of Musical Comedy," the scene in a Parisian garden, represents a typical cabaret. Mr. Jas. Frost opens this number, singing "I Want to Go Back to Michigan" assisted by the following chorus, who appear in the various numbers introduced: Misses Marie Snyder, Ruth Mallock, Helen Winegar, Anna Mulvaney, Marjorie Wells, Irene Barras, Lillian Hoyler, Eunice Shaw, Gertrude Lindsay, Hazel Fenton, Ruth Syverson, Kathleen Turner, Nona Robertson, Ethel Dewey, and Messrs Philip Beath, Francis Atkins, Chas. Ellsworth, Harold Thompson, Eskel Ness, Wesley Mallock, Sam Stephenson, Geo. Perrin, Carter Turner, L. E. Hutto, W. L. Davidson, Myrtle Mead and Lec Shaw. "The world's All Wrong Again," by Mr. Price, "Peggy From Panama," Nona Robertson, "I'm Falling in Love," Gertrude Lindsay, "Automobiling," Miss Robertson and Mr. Frost, and "Wedding Glide," Miss Lindsay and Mr. Shaw, are the musical numbers introduced. The following young ladies act as attendants: Miss Marion and Katharine Norton, Georgiana King, Kathryn Cuthbert, Beulah Thompson, Doris Green, Margaret Hanson, Vida Crozier, Mary Nee. A dancing specialty will be introduced by the Mertz children. All the numbers will be appropriately staged as the committee from St. Stephen's Guild are endeavoring to make "Society Vaudeville" a big success in every way and a long remembered event in Escanaba.

LOST STEAMER ARRIVES IN N. Y.

New York, Oct. 17.—The steamer Metapan, coming in from Colon, founded in the lower harbor late Friday night, after a collision with a collision with the freighter Iowan, leaving port for San Francisco. All her seventy-seven passengers and her crew rescued.

The Iowan, less seriously damaged, stood by and the boats took aboard two of the Metapan's passengers. The remainder were transferred to rescuing craft and landed in New York tonight. The freighter remained at a late hour at anchor near the scene of the collision. The extent of the damage to her could not be learned definitely, but passengers on the Metapan said her bow was badly twisted.

The Metapan was a United States Fruit company steamer. The crash with the Iowan as she was nearing port occurred in a dense fog, according to her officers and passengers. The freighter was first seen when she was only a short distance away. In an effort to avert the crash, the Iowan is said to have let go her anchor, but the headway was greater than she could overcome. She hit the Metapan about thirty feet from the bow of the ship on the port quarter, plowing through the steel and iron and inflicting a wound that caused the Metapan to fill quickly. The wireless operator on the Metapan at once sent "S. O. S." calls for assistance, which were answered quickly by six or eight vessels which were near.

As soon as it was seen that the steamer was sinking, Captain H. Spencer of the Metapan asked the pilot, who had just come aboard, the way to the nearest shoal water and the vessel was headed in that direction. He also ordered out the boats and all hands were taken off the steamer without panic or confusion.

SUGGEST TWO MORE AS HEAD OF M. A. C.

Washington, Oct. 17.—Two men being seriously considered for the presidency of Michigan Agricultural college to succeed President J. L. Snyder are William A. Taylor of the United States department of agriculture and Andrew J. McLaughlin, a brother of Congressman James C. McLaughlin of Muskegon.

Mr. Taylor has been connected for years with the agricultural department. Mr. Taylor has been connected for years with the agricultural department and is now pathologist and chief of the bureau of plant industry. He was prominently mentioned for the position of assistant secretary of agriculture a few months ago. His home is at Saugatuck, where he owns a large fruit farm. Andrews, McLaughlin is known to University of Michigan students at Andy Mac. He left Michigan to go to Chicago university and was for some time connected with the Carnegie Institute in Washington. He is a son-in-law of President Emeritus Angell of the state university.

FIND DEAD MAN'S BODY IN SWAMP

Ishpeming, Oct. 17.—The dead body of Alex Redman, who disappeared from his home in West Ishpeming last week, was found in a swamp in Hegman field, near West Ishpeming, early this afternoon.

Death was evidently due to exposure and starvation, as the man was not drowned.

Earlier today Redman's hat and coat were found in Hegman field near the Carp river and it was supposed he had committed suicide.

Redman was injured last December about the head by a fall of rock in the North Lake mine and he became mentally affected. He returned a few days ago from Newberry, where he had been five weeks for treatment. He suffered from melancholia.

Church, State and Poor.

A book on "The Church, the State and the Poor" has been written by an English vicar. The book is comprehensive, tracing the subject of preferment days. The author regrets that during the growth of collectivism, under which he classifies what is called "Christian socialism," the church has trusted too much to the state to better the conditions among the poor. Now there is a revival of interest in the welfare of the poor on the part of the church. The writer's contention is that a firm belief in the Christian creed is the only inspiration and guide to any effort to solve "the social problem."

Good Luck or Hard Work?

The question of failure or success is such a wide one that the majority of people merely touch on it and attribute their condition to luck. Do you know what successful men say about luck? They scoff at it, declaring that good luck is another name for hard work, which rarely fails to bring rewards. Evading one's responsibilities or passing over opportunities means a bad mess of life, no matter what name you tack to it. Want of forethought is something for which each person is responsible, and it keeps many a man providing property for his family and deprives good men of helpmates they expect to have in the women they marry.

MARY GARDEN GOING TO FRONT AS NURSE

Mary Garden has abandoned the stage for the time being and is going to the front as a Red Cross worker, says a London dispatch.

Miss Garden, who passed the summer in Paris to take up her new duties.

"I may never sing again," said the fair opera singer. "I am intensely interested in my new work and impatient for real action."

"Having had no experience in nursing, I shall help to remove the wounded from the battlefields. It is dangerous, yes, but what does it matter? I am not afraid. I am a fatalist, and I might as well die through a bullet as in any other way."

"At least, I will be doing something useful. I expect to be at the front with the French troops next week. If I come through it with a whole skin perhaps I will be able to sing better than ever before. The experience will, at least, be broadening."

WOULD RESTRICT TRAFFIC IN OPIUM

Washington, Oct. 17.—Senator William Alden Smith has introduced a bill which seeks to control the sale of opium in the consular districts of the United States in China. The bill, according to its title, is one to regulate the practice of pharmacy and the sale of poison in these consular districts. It is aimed particularly at the opium trade, however, requiring that opium and other poisons may not be sold by any one except regularly licensed pharmacists. The bill was introduced in the sixty-second congress and received a favorable report from the sub-committee of the foreign relations committee of which Senator Smith was chairman. It was not reached on the calendar for passage at that session.

RECEIVES LETTER FROM MOTHER IN WAR ZONE

Fond du Lac, Wis., Oct. 17.—William Alvers, employed on the farm of Charles Twobig, in the town of Oscoda is in receipt of a letter from his mother, who resides within seven miles of Hamburg, and which sets forth in forcible language the horrors of the war in that country.

"All of your schoolmates and young friends have either been killed or wounded," the letter states. "Most of the young fellows you knew here are dead, and their names have already been published in the casualty lists. Your brother is badly wounded and your brother-in-law is dying in a field hospital."

Alvers has been in this country about a year, having served his time in the German army, but still being subject to the call to colors.

"The man that took your place in the regiment is dead," the letter says. "He was killed several days ago."

HOUGHTON COUNTY MAN FOUND DEAD

Houghton, Mich., Oct. 16.—John Byrne, aged fifty, was found dead at his home in Otter Lake this morning with his body in a badly bruised and battered condition. He was known to have had a fist fight with his brother Edward, aged fifty-eight, last night, while both were intoxicated. The fight was witnessed by a companion of the two, who said that neither of them was seriously injured by it. A girl who visited the home of the two, found the body of John this morning. Edward was not in the house. He denies knowledge of how his brother met his death. The coroner and sheriff are investigating. No arrests have yet been made.

PRINCESS MARY PLANS SOLDIERS' CHRISTMAS

London, Oct. 17.—Princess Mary has issued an appeal in which she says:

"I want you all to help me send a Christmas present from the whole nation to every sailor afloat and every soldier at the front. On Christmas eve when like the shepherds of old, they keep their watch, doubtless their thoughts will turn to home and loved ones left behind. Perhaps, too, they will recall the days when as children themselves they were wont to hang up their stockings wondering what the morrow had in store."

"I am sure we will be happier on Christmas morning to feel that we have helped by sending our little token of love and sympathy—something useful or of permanent value, the making of which may be the means of providing employment in the trades adversely affected by the war."

It is hoped that the appeal will result in the raising of $500,000 for the provision of gifts taking the form of an embossed brass tobacco or cigarette box, pipe, and tinder lighter, and candles for the Indian troops.

PROPOSED PENSION FOR TEACHERS

Washington, Oct. 16.—A plan for retiring and pensioning public school teachers of the District of Columbia which may serve as a model for the whole country has been proposed by Pomeroy of Ohio. The plan proposes the establishment of a pension fund by the assessment of one and one-half per cent of every installment of teachers' salaries, the appropriation by congress of an equal amount, and the tuition of non-resident pupils.

Teachers serving thirty-five years may be retired by the board of education and those serving forty years are retired automatically on length of service. The pension allowed is 720 per year. Provision is also made for retirement for physical or mental disabilities.

TO CONTRIBUTE: FOR XMAS SHIP

(Communicated)

Many inquiries have been made regarding the kind of contributions for the Christmas Ship. Therefore we deem it advisable to make these suggestions:

This movement is two-fold in its purpose. Its object is not only to give pleasure, but also to provide the necessities of life, which are so essential to these poor people. Children can take part in this movement by donating toys which they have grown tired of, but which are still good. Children would certainly be willing to sacrifice a few toys if they could be made to realize how happy these other children would be, who at present have none of those things which bring joy to the heart of a child.

But perhaps first homeless, suffering people would appreciate the essential things of life. Hence, mittens, caps, stockings and sweaters and shawls are most opportune. Old outfits of clothing, properly cleaned, and well repaired, partially worn shoes and rubbers are most opportune. If you have spare yarn and needles these would be greatly appreciated as some women could make their living with these tools.

Some idea of the great suffering undergone by those whom you are endeavoring to help may be gleaned from the following article from the New York Times:

"While great crowds of refugees cross and recross the Dutch frontier in a frantic endeavor to get out of the danger zone, steamers coming to England from Ostend again are crowded with refugees of all classes. The rich and the poor are huddled together. Some remain at the ports of their debarkation, but many are proceeding to London, where relief committees provide lodgings and food. Several pathetic reunions among those who already have arrived here have occurred in the rooms of the committees. One woman who had become separated from her husband in the fights from Antwerp found him as he was making inquiries for her. Another fashionably dressed woman opened her purse to show that 5 francs was all she had left in the world. A middle-aged couple from the fashionable quarter of Antwerp were without means of any kind. The woman remarked: "Last week we were rich people. Now we are dependent on charity." A great many of the poorer refugees are being brought to England on Government transports."

In what degree can you as an individual or as a member of a group, assuage this suffering?

NO GOVERNMENT CASH FOR COTTON

Washington, Oct. 16.—A final quietus has been placed by the house banking committee on the plan of Shepherd of Texas, to make $500,000,000 of treasury currency available for cotton growers. President Wilson announced disapproval of the Shepherd-Henry bill sustained the majority of the committee who have opposed the cotton finance plan.

Cotton states congressmen have turned their forces in support of the Lever cotton warehouse bill, demanding in its passage before adjournment. Floating of a $150,000,000 cotton pool among bankers was also considered by the federal reserve board. Early approval of this plan was expected.

SILOS ESPECIALLY ADAPTED TO DAIRIES

Wooden Form for Concrete Silo.

Silo construction has undergone a great change since the first ones were built, all the early ones being built in the ground, while the modern silos are constructed almost entirely above ground. Besides, the first silos were comparatively shallow structures, which resulted in a large amount of spoiled silage on account of the lack of sufficient pressure, says Farmers' Bulletin 589 of the United States department of agriculture.

Silos have increased rapidly in number, until now they are extensively used, especially in those regions devoted to the dairy industry. So useful have they become that many farmers consider them indispensable. The silo is adapted to all parts of the United States where corn or the sorghums can be successfully grown. Its use at present is confined principally to farms where cattle are kept, although silage is a good and cheap feed for both sheep and horses. Some danger, however, attends its use for horses, as it is essential that silage fed to horses be made from fairly mature corn, properly stored in the silo and that it be not moldered or frozen. Dairy farmers, especially, have appreciated the value of silage as a milk producer. To make the silo a profitable investment, however, the farmer should have at least ten cows, or the equivalent in other stock.

A well-constructed concrete silo will last indefinitely, and there is no danger of its blowing over or burning, rotting out, or being attacked by vermin. Its first cost is, as a rule, greater than plumb, so that the silage will not adhere to them in settling and thus cause air spaces between the silage and the walls. Furthermore, the walls should be capable of standing considerable lateral strain without cracking or bulging. This is one reason why rectangular silos are so frequently unsuccessful.

3. The silo must be deep enough so that the pressure from above will thoroughly pack the silage and force out the air. The greater the pressure the less air is left in the silo and the less will be the loss of silage by fermentation.

4. The only form of silo to be recommended is one which is round. This form is generally the cheapest, capacity considered, and the walls are more rigid than those of the rectangular or octagonal forms. The round form results in more perfect preservation of the silage.

Location of the Silo.

The silo should be placed outside rather than inside the barn. As a silo ordinarily does not need the protection of a barn, it is not economical to use barn space for this purpose. An exception to this rule may be made in the case of the round barn. A silo in the middle of a round barn serves to support the superstructure as well as to place the silage in position for convenient feeding. A silo so placed, however, is liable to be very inconvenient to fill. The most popular location is a few feet from the barn and opening into a separate feeding room. The door of the barn can then be closed and the silage odors kept out of the stable at milking time.

The diameter of the silo will depend upon the amount of silage to be fed daily. The silage should be removed from the top at the rate of one and one-half inches per day, depending upon climatic conditions. The warmer the weather the more silage must be removed from the surface daily in order to prevent spoiling. For the winter feeding season it is safer to figure upon removing two inches daily than upon a smaller amount. A common error in building is to make the diameter too large for the size of the herd.

The practice of using silage to supplement pastures during the summer droughts and in the early fall, instead of sowing crops, is becoming more general, and it should be encouraged. For such feeding the daily ration per cow may be as low as ten pounds, depending upon the amount and quality of pasture or other succulent feeds available. For the same herd the silo for summer feeding should be of smaller diameter than the one used for winter feeding, since three inches instead of two are to be removed daily. In order to provide for this summer feeding an additional silo of smaller diameter should be constructed.

The foundation of the silo should receive special consideration, since a large proportion of the silage as well as the weight of the walls must be supported by the foundation. It has always been assumed that the foundation supports only the walls of the silo, but recent investigations have shown this idea to be erroneous. The foundation should have its base on firm soil, and it should extend below frost line.

If the earth in the bottom of the silo is firm and comparatively dry, no provision need be made for drainage, and a floor is unnecessary. Still, a concrete floor will make the silo easier to clean and make it impossible for rats to burrow underneath the foundation wall and gain access to the silage. If, however, the earth in the bottom of the silo is inclined to be seepy, a tile drain should be laid in it and a concrete floor laid above the tile. The tiling should open into the floor in the center, and the floor should be made to drain to it. The tiling should extend beyond the silo wall and have its outlet lower than the floor. The entrance of the tile drain should be stopped with a loose wooden plug when the silo is about to be filled and should be opened when the silo is empty. The drain will carry off the water which tends to seep in as well as any rain water that may collect on the floor. In case the silo has no roof.

The doorways should be of such a size as to permit the ready entrance of a man, and they should be close enough together so that the silage will not have to be lifted any considerable height when it is being removed. The usual size is about twenty inches wide and 30 inches high, and the space between the doors two and one-half to three feet. The lowest door should not be more than five feet above the bottom of the silo; less than this is desirable.

WET-DRY FIGHT IS GREAT ISSUE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 16.—Wet or dry—Which?

Voters of five states will decide at the polls in November the biggest battle the two factions have ever experienced. Money is to be spent. The amount is estimated at $5,000,000.

Victory for either side will be decisive.

Whoever wins will dominate congress when it considers the Hobson resolution, which proposes an amendment to the constitution to end the liquor traffic in the United States.

Ten states—Maine, West Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, Georgia, Oklahoma, Mississippi, North Dakota, and just recently, Virginia—have already joined the dry column. In five more—Ohio, California, Oregon, and Washington and Colorado—prohibition is an issue. In the four western states women have the franchise.

Overshadows Party Contests.

The hardest fight in Ohio and it is being waged on a titanic scale. A campaign fund six times as large as that of republicans, democrats and progressives combined is to be spent. Five times the number of workers in all other parties are in the field, and it is estimated that the wets and dries will give out ten times the campaign literature issued by all of the other parties.

Ohio wets made a desperate fight against local option, but they have given ground slowly. In the western states the fight was largely in the legislatures and on the size of the unity. In all of these states, however, only the larger towns and cities remain wet.

The fight against liquor centers in five states, but the saloon is a live issue in practically all of the others. Alabama dries are making the election of legislators their cause, for it is proposed to put the state back in the parched column. In Illinois the battle is being waged in localities which are still wet. Though interest is scattered, it is keen and the campaign is to conclude with 602 meetings of the dries in one week.

The prohibitionists, which have had, up to 1914, to make their fight alone, now have the support of some of the state political machines. Idaho will go dry as the meeting of the 1915 legislature, as the platforms of the republican, democratic and progressive parties have all declared for state-wide prohibition. The progressives have entered the fight in other states as well. In Ohio, Indiana,

Maine, Kansas and Missouri they have taken a stand against the liquor traffic.

Bigger Fight on in Congress. But the fight in the states is only preliminary to the big combat which is to be staged this winter congress. The obson resolution, but mutual consent, was tabled last summer until after the election, but before the end of this year a trial of strength will be called for. And senators and representatives are expected to accept the November vote as expressing the will of the nation.

The amendment, if passed by congress, must be submitted to the states and ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of them before it becomes a law. In the meantime the dries are working on congress to declare the District of Columbia a prohibition district.

URGES STUDY OF LATIN IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Washington, Oct. 16.—Special study in schools of the United States of the geography, history, literature and life of the Latin-American countries is urged by Dr. P. P. Claxton, commissioner of education, in a letter sent to high school principals. Instruct in the Spanish and Portuguese languages, Dr. Claxton believes, should be offered to a much larger extent than is now done.

The school principals are reminded that the Latin-American countries comprise an area three times as great as that of the United States, that they are rich in minerals, forests and water power, that their foreign commerce is rapidly increasing and that their larger cities rank among the most beautiful in the world.

Most Dangerous of Minor Ailments.

Of the minor ailments a cold is by far the most dangerous, not in itself but the serious diseases it so often leads to. Pneumonia and consumption always start with a cold. When you have a cold you are much more likely to contract the infectious diseases such as diphtheria, scarlet fever and whooping cough. Colds are easily cured, in fact, Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cure of this most common ailment, and is pleasant and safe to take. Why take such desperate chances when so reliable and trustworthy a medicine may be obtained for a quarter. For sale by all dealers.

WHY WILSON KEEPS QUIET ABOUT WAR

Washington, Oct. 17.—The crowned heads and the chancelleries themselves watch the developments of the war in Europe with no keener interest, no deeper concern, than that of the President of the United States.

Woodrow Wilson needs no urging from zealous advocates of peace or others distressed by the holocaust of civilization abroad, to seize the opportunity for such speech or action as the circumstances justify.

What speech or action may seem suitable at any moment—or more likely weeks or months hence—he has no more idea than a man up a tree in the heart of Dismal Swamp.

This is not to say that he and those in his confidence, in and out of the cabinet, are sitting with folded hands waiting helplessly for something to turn up. Not a day passes but they seek very actively for some sign that the moment has come; for some crevice in the seemingly impenetrable surface of the situation where the thin edge of some sort of a wedge may be inserted.

Time Has Not Yet Come. With the ambassador of every one of the warring nations there have been conferences almost innumerable, not to say incessant; every aspect of the interlacing questions involved has been canvassed again and again—thus far absolutely without result.

Moreover, the president and his advisers feel that a false, ill-considered step or utterance on the part of this government, or such a step of utterance even plausibly attributed to it, would be damaging, it not fatal to that very great service to the peace of the world which it now stands in a position to render when the right time comes.

Why the President is Dumb. For that reason, if not other, the president has sealed his lips upon every phase of the war and of the relations to it of the people and government of the United States. Not the most commonplace comment, however, neutral in spirit can be tortured out of him.

That is why, when the Belgian commissioners brought to him their indictment of the German invaders of Belgium, accusing them of unspeakable outrages upon the civil population of that harried country; when the German Emperor sent his message accusing his enemies of violations of the accepted usages of war, he permitted himself not even the most aseptic platitudes in reply to either. To save his life he could not have been induced to repeat the Shorter Catechism or the multiplication table.

One close to him said: "The president is keenly alive to the intensity of feeling on this subject. He knows, too, that many people think he ought to speak out in general terms in favor of peace, against inhumanities by whomsoever committed, in opposition for instance, to the sale of munitions of war by our people to any of the belligerents."

CHAPPELL READY TO QUIT THE WHITE SOX

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Fifteen months ago Charles A. Comiskey of the White Sox paid $18,500 in players and money for a minor league sensation—Larry Chappell by name. He came from Milwaukee.

Yesterday this same player, disheartened because of what he termed an unjust suspension by Manager Callahan, and disgusted because of the pranks and misfortune performed at his expense since he came into the majors said that he hoped he never would have to don a White Sox uniform again.

Thinks He Got Raw Deal. The above was part of a statement in which the 19,500 outfielder also said that he did not plan the management, an alleged offense for which he was suspended the day the city series opened; that Callahan gave him no chance to defend himself; that he was abused shamefully before the entire team, and that unless traded to another club he would consider jumping to the Feds.

Chappell admitted that three clubs in the third league had made offers for his services during the past week. They took action as soon as the story leaked out that he was barred from the city series games by suspension. He told each emissary to wait. He will think over the proposition during the winter months, which he will spend at his home in Jerseyville, Ill. He left for home last night.

The ill-fated outfielder did not denounce Callahan. He was very cool about everything he said. His idea was to correct the impression that he had gone out of his way to "knock" Callahan. What he is supposed to have said is this: "I hope that I lose the city series so that Callahan will be deposed as manager."

Stripped of His Uniform. The above was told to officials of the ball club by a person unknown to Chappell. It was reported to Chappell after he had been notified to turn in his uniform and remove his belongings from his locker in the clubhouse. The suspended athlete said yesterday that he could vindicate himself if brought face to face with the person who carried the tale to the club management.

MAGNATES MAY REDUCE SALARY

When the Wisconsin-Illinois league magnates assemble at the Hotel Athearn in Oshkosh in annual meeting next week one of the most important subjects broached in Minor League circles in years will be one that was suggested by President Frank R. Weeks of the organization. The subject broached in Minor League circles in years will be one that was suggested by President Frank R. Weeks of the organization.

At the present time ball players are able to get better money than managers of minor league teams are able to give them. This is done in many instances by threatening to go to some other organization where they can get the price asked for of the first team.

President Weeks' point is that with all clubs paying a stipulated sum these threats will not be taken seriously and the managers will find it much easier to keep within the salary limit.

In addition it is suggested that some steps be taken toward organizing a commission to care for the minors alone. Secretary Farrell of the National committee has no doubt handled his work in a most capable manner but in many instances, his decisions have been such that anyone knowing the conditions realizes that it was given before he had had the necessary time to investigate both sides of the controversy.

What is wanted is a National commission to govern the affairs of the minor leagues in the United States, draw up by-laws and a constitution of their own and provide some penalty for the teams that annually step over the limit placed on salaries for each club. The commission named for the minor league clubs would have nothing to do with the higher organizations such as Class A and Class AA ball, the National commission and committee now existing having complete control over that part of organized baseball.

The large amount of dissent in minor league circles in past years has been due in a large extent to the league moguls' failure to pay any heed to the salary limit. If a team is in a good position to win a pennant the moguls hire more high salaried men than the attendance will permit and as a final result at the end of the season is that the men behind the baseball club find themselves heavily in debt. It is then up to business interests of the city to provide the necessary aid much more liberally than would be the case had the salary limit been observed.

BRYAN MAY BEAT SMITH ON TREATY

Washington, Oct. 17.—It is probable that Secretary of State Bryan will be able to get consideration of the Nicaraguan treaty at this session, despite the strenuous opposition of Senator William Alden Smith. Senator Smith has recently prevented the foreign relations committee from taking up this treaty when Secretary Bryan was present to urge a report on it.

It is now believed that democratic members favoring the treaty will be urged to be present at a meeting this week so that a quorum may be had. Senator Smith states that he will carry the fight against where he will have the aid of Senator Borah, Clark and others. Secretary Bryan has told the committee that Brown Bros., of New York were willing to sell their interest in the Nicaraguan railway. Senator Smith replied that of course they were willing to sell now that the Platt amendment had been stricken from the treaty.

FLINT IS DENIED O.E.S. CONVENTION

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 17.—The 2,500 members in the Order of the Eastern Star in convention here, spent considerable time Wednesday discussing the recommendation of founding a home for orphans in connection with the Masonic home at Alma. Action will be taken Thursday in this matter and also in regard to the establishment of a surgical fund at the University hospital at Ann Arbor.

Flint, Kalamazoo and Battle Creek contested for the convention in 1915, Battle Creek winning out after a hot fight. Mrs. Melina Maxson, of Leslie, worthy grand matron, recommended that delegates of all chapters under dispensation be paid per diem. For the first time in the history of the Michigan grand chapter the plan was adopted.

WON'T INSIST ON HELME'S REMOVAL. Detroit, Oct. 17.—C. A. Day, secretary of the Detroit Retail Grocers' association, telegraphed to Governor Ferris in Lansing to cancel a hearing at which the governor was to be asked to remove James W. Helme, state dairy and food commissioner. Mr. Day says that Mr. Helme will be asked to come to Detroit to explain his views on matters now in dispute.

CURE FOR LEPROSY VICTIMS IS FOUND

Washington, D. C., Oct. 17.—An oil, a tropical product, apparently will cure leprosy, the public health service reports. The service does not claim it has found an absolute cure, but it announces its surgeons have been "uniformly successful" in treatment of cases by the hypodermic use of a Chaulmoogra oil mixture in St. Lazare hospital in the Philippines.

Surgeon Victor G. Heiser, director of health for the islands, reports that four cases apparently have been cured for two years and in other cases where the mixture was used marked improvement has been shown, the disease being almost immediately arrested in every instance.

STATE PROPOSES SANITARY SURVEY

If present plans go through, the entire state will, within the next year, be the object of a sanitary survey made under direction of the state board of health and with particular reference to tuberculosis and cancer. At its last meeting the board took the matter up tentatively, chiefly at the suggestion of Dr. J. H. Kellogg, of Battle Creek, and arrangements are being made to start the work.

It will entail the expenditure of considerable money and the active co-operation of every health officer, district officer and physician in the state, but it is the hope of the board that it can be completed within a year. In fact the resolution introduced by Dr. Kellogg sets a time limit of a year.

A sanitary survey such as is proposed means that a house to house canvass of the entire state will have to be made though of course physicians can help a lot by reporting all the cases of tuberculosis and cancer that have come under their observation. The various tuberculosis societies will be asked to co-operate and in this way much of the more minute detail work in certain sections of the state may be avoided.

First Presbyterian Church. The pastor will preach on "The Test of Experience" at the morning service at 10:30, and at the evening service at 7:30 theme will be: "Lessons from the European War." This is the third of a series of studies that are being presented at these evening services. We are endeavoring to make these services full of interest and helpfulness. The quartette choir will sing. Mrs. A. C. Barras and Mr. C. R. Price, presenting a duet at the morning service. "One Sweet Solomn Thought." Mr. Price will give another solo at the evening service. The music at this church has added greatly to the attractiveness and helpfulness of fellowship. You are cordially invited to attend.

The Bible school increases in attendance each sabbath. This department meets at 9:30. The Kings Son's will postpone their meeting for one week. The Woman's Mission Circle will hold their regular monthly meeting Oct. 30 instead of this week. Rev. P. B. Ferris, Pastor.

First Baptist Church. Sunday school at 10:30 a. m. Morning public worship 10:45 a. m. Pastor's theme will be "Exultation of Christ." Special music will also be provided at this service. Evening service 7:30 p. h. subject of the evening sermon, "A Problem of the Ages." The coming Sunday will be devoted to special services for the children of the church and congregation, and the pastor will deliver a sermon for their especial benefit.

What Liquor Trade Stands For. The liquor trade of the United States, paying a quarter of a billion annual taxes to the Federal Government and great sums in local taxes to the State and municipal governments, stands for license, regulation and control of the business, so gauged as to meet the matter of fact, not the matter of theory, demands of the American people.

KEEP YOUR EYES PEELED YOU PEOPLE OF ESCANABA AND VICINITY

A clever scheme has been set on foot to kill the Central Cash market out of business. Would you knowingly put your own throat to the sword? By concerted action most business men have agreed to sell to cash customers at the same price as the Central Cash Market is now asking. Book customers are being treated as in the past that the Merchants may down the Central Cash Market, which is your only bulwark against exorbitant prices. Every cash sale thus diverted from the Central Cash Market will fall to leave its bad effect and in time put you back in the same predicament you were in before the Central Cash Market was started for business. Know ye the Pharisees from the merchants? Do ye not see how they do give you rock bottom prices on goods they sell you. What ever penny you have to spend, leave it at the Central Cash Market—as the Central Cash Market is really the only market but your own—a market where you can buy for less than if you were to run this same market yourselves.

The Central Cash Market is run on sound business principles—it is run economically. It is run for the benefit of the public and it will be run for the benefit of the public as long as you see fit to support it. In order that the Central Cash Market may live and in order that you may always get your money's worth, you should do your trading at the Central Cash Market and thus nip in the bud as fine a plot as has been hatched for many a day in your very midst to down you and your

HOLD FUNERAL TUESDAY MORNING

Funeral services over the body of James Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hughes of this city, who passed away suddenly at his home at Denver, Colo., on Thursday night, will be held at St. Patrick's church at 8 o'clock on Tuesday morning. The body will arrive in Escanaba at either 8:15 o'clock on Monday morning or at 2 o'clock on Monday afternoon. The body will reach Chicago over the Burlington road, accompanied by the bereaved wife, and C. C. Anderson of the Burlington road's passenger department, at 9 o'clock tonight. An effort will be made to connect with the NorthWestern train leaving Chicago at 10 o'clock, but if that is found impossible, the funeral party will leave Chicago on the early morning train. George Hughes, father, and John Hughes, brother of the deceased, left yesterday morning for Chicago to meet the body.

Owing to the fact that Forty Hours Devotional Services will open at St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock on Tuesday morning, it will be necessary to hold the funeral at that church at 8 o'clock, Rev. Father Barth officiating. Interment will be at St. Joseph's cemetery. Those who will serve as pallbearers at the funeral are: James Mogan, Henry Olmsted, John Riley, Dr. R. E. Hodson, Dr. George C. Bartley and Howard Carroll.

H. S. SECOND TEAM WINS FROM ST. JOE

The crack little second team of the local high school broke into local football limelight when they defeated the St. Joseph high school team by a score of 30 to 0.

At no stage of yesterday's contest did the St. Joe aggregation come within striking distance of the Second's goal, due probably to the line plunging of Green, McArthur, Buckley and Moran. Long gains were made each time. Berrigan and Lemmer did the bulk of St. Joseph's defensive playing. Hinz and Corcoran officiated.

W. L. Davidson has been coaching the second team this year and the result of the hard practice work which he has sent them through, is easily shown.

GIRLS LEAGUE DRESSING DOLLS

The members of the Girl's League of the high school yesterday dressed scores of dolls which will serve as a part of Escanaba's contribution to the Christmas Ship. The members of the league worked throughout the afternoon at the high school gymnasium at doll dressing and at the end of the afternoon the result was indeed satisfying. A program was also rendered during the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Harvey will today go to Iron Mountain to attend the Knights of Columbus initiation.

JOHN CORCORAN VISITING IN CITY

John Corcoran, of Colorado Springs, Colo., formerly of this city, arrived in Escanaba yesterday to spend a few days here with friends. Mr. Corcoran arrived from the west a week ago, visiting in Chicago, Crystal Falls and Norway before coming here. In the past year Mr. Corcoran has won considerable note in baseball circles by articles contributed by him to the Baseball Magazine. As the result of an article written by him last winter based on the rules of the game, seven changes in the rules were made by the National Baseball commission.

NOMINEES STAGE RALLY AT R. RIVER

Democratic nominees for county offices last night staged a political rally at the opera house at Rapid River. A large crowd of both women and men were attracted to the hall to listen to the discussion of the issues of the campaign. Atty. Joseph Cuddy, candidate for prosecuting attorney acted as the principal speaker of the evening and several times was interrupted with applause from the listeners.

GAME VIOLATOR PAYS STIFF FINE

Felix Gore, arrested by Deputy State Game Warden Herman Liesner near Beaver a week ago, paid a fine of $25 and costs for killing deer out of season, when he appeared in justice court at Negaunee on Friday. Gore was accidentally captured by the game warden, being met on the road while carrying a portion of a deer carcass to his home.

REPUBLICANS HAVE RETURNED TO CITY

Returning from a campaign trip through the Big Bay district, the candidates on the Republican ticket for county offices, together with Frank D. Scott, of Alpena, Republican candidate for congress from the Eleventh district report a most gratifying trip. On their three days trip through that section of Delta county, the candidates were received most enthusiastically by the voters, eager to listen to the discussion on the issues of the campaign. Night meetings were attended by residents for miles around the place of the meeting.

ute, the board cannot supply the deficiency. It is a question whether the second ward of Gladstone might not also have been rejected for the same reason, even though the affidavits allege posting at the same places in those precincts.

The reasoning of the committee was endorsed in its entirety by Prosecutor Strom, himself a petitioner, and to whom the counsel for the liquor dealers objected on the ground of prejudice. Mr. Ryall, attorney for petitioners, was only prepared to argue that the supreme court might alter the apparent meaning of the law by a future decision. It was supposed that the petitioners would proceed to sign new lists and proceed again from the beginning; but the Journal states they will seek a new ruling from the supreme court by mandamus proceedings. It is desirable to have a decision upon this, as well as other points, suggested by counsel, but not recognized by any official action.

The supreme court was quoted by all the attorneys present to the effect that it is impossible to construe the present statute without violence to some of its language. This point now raised shows the legislature did not contemplate the possibility of circulation of such petitions by more than one person in each precinct. If this ruling of the board is not upheld, it means that there is absolutely no check on the manner in which names may be attached to petitions, as this is the last safeguard left by the court. If, on the other hand, it is upheld, it means that the petition in any precinct may be nullified by enemies getting up a similar one, which might be posted independently and destroy the original. In this case, all petitions were presented simultaneously by Mr. Ryall, with a letter showing that several precincts, so there is no order of time to give one preference over another.

The question of fraud or deceit in procuring names is expressly removed by the supreme court from the board of supervisors. A man whose name is unwarrantedly attached to such a list may sue its circulator for libel the court intimates; prosecuting attorneys, grand juries and courts exist for the purpose of punishing perjury and forgery; but this does not concern the canvassing board.

The above apology, it may be explained to interested exchanges, is written by the chairman of the committee in question.

Miss Ruth Brubaker who has been in the city visiting with her sister, Librarian Miss Lura Brubaker, has returned to her home at the Soo.

sumes to dictate in this proposed amendment to the 300,000 odd members of fraternal societies how the business of their societies should be conducted. It is a case of the tail trying to nag the dog. The adoption of this proposed amendment would open the doors of the state to every kind of skinkflint bunco game insurance organization in the country and the insurance department of the state could be powerless to interfere. The adoption of this proposed amendment will excuse the New Era Association from raising their rates to an adequate basis. C. A. Palmer, former insurance commissioner of the state, says: "The New Era Association was found by special act of the legislature, which permitted it to operate without the lodge system. Their rates were altogether too low to enable them to effect future obligations and to ward off an increase they put a band of lobbyists to work in the late capital and through their vigorous fight, waged single handed and done, they were able to hold up the lobby law for six months. They lost their fight in the legislature and although standing alone in their attitude, they are now trying to bunco the people of Michigan."

In the opinion of Atty. Gen. Fellows, all societies domiciled in other states particularly those states in which the "Mobile" or "New York conference" bill is in effect (and such is the case in 33 states), could not continue to operate in Michigan, and conversely Michigan societies would either have to withdraw from those states and re-incorporate in some other state and withdraw from Michigan. Hon. John T. Winship, Insurance commissioner of Michigan, says: "I am of the opinion that it limits the Fraternal societies to the payment of death benefits only."

Rufus M. Potts, Supt. of Insurance for Illinois, I. S. Lewis, Supt. of Insurance for Kansas, Frank Hasbrank, Supt. of Insurance, New York, and Emory H. English are all agreed that the amendment is a most vicious and will work great harm to Fraternal societies.

The adoption of this proposed amendment would place the Fraternal societies back on the step rate plan, this, together with the fact that Michigan members would be compelled to pay Michigan death losses would put all Fraternal societies in the same position that the first great fraternal organization, the A. O. U. W. was in when it found it could no longer continue in business.

We cannot afford to down our organizations now that they are safe and solvent and adopt the plan which wrecked the A. O. U. W.
