

SEA BATTLE IS RUMORED

ITALIAN TORPEDO BOATS SAID TO HAVE SUNK TWO AUSTRIAN CRUISERS

BUILDING

London, May 26.—The British battleship Triumph was torpedoed and sunk in the Dardanelles. The majority of the crew was saved according to the admiralty announcement. The Triumph was the fifth battleship of the allied fleet sunk in the Dardanelles fighting. Several others have been seriously damaged and at least a dozen trawlers and mine sweepers sunk. The Triumph was built in 1904, weighed 11,800 tons and had a crew of 700. Berlin reports the sinking of the Triumph by a single torpedo in seven minutes.

(Special to The Press.)

Berlin, May 26.—The great Austrian fortress of Przemyel is practically surrounded. The German troops crossed the San north of the fortress and are in the district east of Laszky. Southeastward towards Przemyel the Austrian force are proceeding in great strength.

(Special to The Press.)

Petrograd, May 26.—It is believed here that General Von Mackensen plans to take Przemyel at any price. The war office admits that fresh attacks are under way. Little optimism is expressed. It is believed the lull in the German offensive which was believed to be an end of their drive was merely occasioned by an ammunition lack.

(Special to The Press.)

Washington, May 26.—Officials are gravely concerned over the attack on the American steamship, Nebraska, so soon after Wilson's note to Germany demanding a cessation of submarine warfare. Pending the receipt of definite information whether the ship was torpedoed or struck by a mine, officials refuse to comment. Whether warning was given the Nebraska will be an important factor in the action.

A late cablegram from Consul Skinner at London said the Nebraska was proceeding under her own steam at a rate of about eight and one half knots, that the crew had returned to the ship and that apparently no lives were lost.

(Special to The Press.)

Paris, May 26.—An official statement says: "The British troops are in a new advance toward LaBasse. North of Arras the Germans continued by desperate efforts to retake the positions lost yesterday around Angres. The combat was extremely violent. At Les Cornailles the German counter attack forced us back but in less than an hour we recaptured the entire positions which we now hold. Nearby, after a fierce attack the Germans recaptured part of Northern Salient. We held the Western Salient and took part of the Southern Salient. We gained various points in this vicinity. Violent attacks featured the day on the northern edge without decisive results.

(Special to The Press.)

London, May 26.—An official statement says: "The first army continues to progress east of Festubert. Since the sixteenth the first army pierced the enemy's line on a total front of over three miles. The entire system of trenches has been captured and 3,200 yards and we hold the remaining portion of the first and second line of trenches. Ten machine guns, 777 men, eight officers, much material are in our possession."

(Special to The Press.)

Rome, May 26.—Persistent rumors prevail that a naval engagement was fought in the Adriatic. An Italian cruiser is said to have torpedoed and sunk two Austrian Cruisers.

The Italian torpedos are rapidly advancing into Austria and the Austrian forces are retreating before them. The Italians have crossed the border, running north to the gulf of Trieste and are hurrying towards Isonzo river at three points. In the absence of King Victor Emmanuel from Rome Prince Thomas of Savoy was appointed Lieutenant General to act for the King. Military critics attribute the great importance to the advance in Trentino. Great indignation is felt here over the treatment accorded civil population of Trentino.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leighton of Wolcott street are the parents of a son born yesterday morning. Frederick is his name.

HIBERNIAN DANCE THIS EVENING

This evening Clark's Hall will be the scene of one of the prettiest dancing parties for some time. The affair is the undertaking of the L. A. to the A. O. H. and with these ladies in charge, it is practically a foregone conclusion that their efforts will be crowned with success.

The different committees appointed have reported favorable progress in all the arrangements.

The Escanaba Military Band Orchestra will furnish the music for the occasion and a good program of dances have been assured.

With favorable weather a capacity attendance is expected.

SALOONS NOT TO BE CLOSED

(Special to The Press.) Lansing, Mich., May 26.—Under a ruling given by the attorney-general's department when Franz C. Kuhn was head of the state's legal department in 1911, saloons are not required to close on the Monday following a legal holiday.

This year Memorial day and Independence day will be observed on Monday, as May 30 and July 4 fall on Sunday. Prior to 1911 there was a state statute requiring saloons to close on certain holidays when the observance took place on Monday, but that section of the law was repealed.

SCHOOL EXAMINERS TO FINISH WORK

Members of the Delta county board of school examiners will meet on Saturday and formally complete the work of marking the papers of the pupils of the county who took the eight grade examinations recently. Reports will be mailed to those who took the examination on Monday.

POLICE SEE WHIRL MURDER, REVENGE

New York, May 26.—Giosue Gallucci whom at least ten and perhaps twenty murders have been committed in the last eight years, died last night in Bellevue Hospital of wounds inflicted by three paid assassins a few nights ago. This fact, according to the police, presages a war of vengeance among the foreign residents of Harlem.

Luca Gallucci, his young son who was shot at the same time and who died Wednesday, was buried yesterday and his funeral was the largest ever seen in Harlem. There were 800 carriages, and the last carriage had not left the church when the hearse was nearing the cemetery.

When the death of Giosue Gallucci worth $1,000 or more, was announced in the section last night, his agents sent out for every carriage in the Bronx, for the funeral. It was said that between 1,200 and 1,500 carriages would be employed.

Of the 5,000 persons who passed through the Gallucci home it was reported by the mother of the young man last night that fully 300 had stretched themselves across the coffin and had taken a solemn oath to avenge his murder.

The district has been filled with detective since the assassination, expecting other murders. Last night they said that they had learned that the murderers of Gallucci and his son had been paid $200 to commit the crime.

Outside of the ten bodyguards of Gallucci, who had been murdered while protecting him in the last eight years, the police mentioned a few other murders. Nicolo Del Gaudio other murders. Nicolo Del Gaudio shot Gallucci six times five years ago because he could not get permission to operate a lottery. It was reported that no one could operate a lottery, a pool room or a saloon with Gallucci's permission, although he had denied that. Del Gaudio fled, but last October he returned to First avenue and 106th street and was killed. Two weeks later a woman shot Gallucci three times and missed him. Two months later her husband was killed as he walked through Second avenue.

TO LEAVE FOR HARRIS

Edward Reynolds, who for the past three years has held the position of traffic manager for the National Pole Company in this city, has resigned his position and with his family will leave today for Harris, where Mr. Reynolds has purchased the general store of M. B. Harris. Mr. Reynolds is succeeded at the offices of the National Pole Company by Guy H. Ramsey, former chief clerk and rate manager at the commercial office of the Santa Fe railway in Milwaukee. Mr. Ramsey has already arrived here to assume the duties of his new position.

In leaving Escanaba Mr. Reynolds will leave behind a great number of friends. After serving for several years as cashier for the North Western road at Crystall Falls, Mr. Reynolds came to this city seven years ago and took a position at the general offices of the company here. He entered the offices of the National Pole Company three years ago and has resigned that position that he may engage in business for himself.

FACULTY TRIMS SOPHOMORE TEAM

The faculty of the local high school annexed another victory to their string yesterday afternoon when they handed a severe drubbing to the Sophomore team, defeating that aggregation by a score of 16 to 7.

H. Guy Moats appeared in a faculty uniform and played a whirlwind game. The Faculty battery was Hutto and Willerton, while the Sophomores had Brotherton, Hodgskins and McKittrick on their firing line.

CHICAGO PAPER TELLS OF DEATH

The North Shore News, of Chicago, on May 21, had the following concerning the death of Mrs. S. J. Murphy of this city:

Mr. John M. Hartnett, 1222 Pratt boulevard, was called to Waukesha, Wis., Friday, on account of the serious illness of his sister, Mrs. Murphy, whose death occurred at Still Rock Spa on Saturday, May 15. Interment was at Escanaba, Mich., home of deceased, which was also the former home of Mr. Hartnett and family. The deceased was a woman of many excellent qualities, most highly respected by all who knew her and her death will be a shock to the community in which she resided. Mr. Hartnett returned to Chicago on Thursday.

TRIED TO AVERT WAR

Rome, May 27.—The official Vienna statement charging that Italy did not adhere to the principles of the triple alliance treaty is declared by The Giornale d'Italia to be entirely incorrect as summarized by the newspaper, follows:

"The situation of Italy became intolerable when Austrian and German aggression against Serbia caused the European conflagration without giving previous notification to Rome. Italy legitimately undertook to protect her own interests, according to right granted her by the triple alliance treaty."

"Austria, despite German good offices, blindly and obstinately resisted Italy's just demands, rendering inevitable acute antagonism. Therefore Austria alone is responsible for the new war, although Germany is not entirely blameless, but Italy did everything humanly possible to prevent it."

"It is exceedingly strange that Austria now asserts article 7 of the triple alliance treaty referred to Turkey and not to the Balkans, although it contains the phrase 'status quo in the Balkan region'. The meaning of this phrase has been discussed since August, 1914, between the Rome and Vienna governments. The latter, with the complete agreement of Berlin, ended by adhering without condition to the Italian interpretation that it means not only Turkey, but also states in the Balkan peninsula."

PLANS ARE GOING FORTH

Arrangements are rapidly being completed for the annual Field Day program at South Park on June 11, by the officials in charge. H. Guy Moats, former star quarter on the Benton Harbor football team and later with the University of California, has been selected as field judge for the day.

The children of the different schools of the city are entering into the events with a fervor that denotes keen enthusiasm. As days go by each child seems to take a greater interest and is apparently determined to do its best in whatever event it appears. The cooperative spirit that exists among the different grade teachers and the physical instruction allows a combination that cannot help but make for a success.

Programs and score cards are being prepared and in fact when the day arrives nothing will have been left undone.

The Grand Review, at this time, promises to far outclass that of last year. It will be superior in several of its departments and when given on the morning of June 11 should draw hundreds to the South Park grounds.

COONEY WINS IN MILE CUP RACE

Emmet Cooney won the mile cup race yesterday afternoon at the high school, making the distance on dirt track in 4:56. John Perrin pushed Cooney for the greater share of the distance but was forced a considerable distance to the rear for second position. Redstrom was a close third and Bergman crossed the line in fourth position.

The final of the cup races will be held on Friday of this week when the half mile will be pulled off by Coach Hutto.

A WRONG DATE FOR BIG FILM

Through an error a wrong date was yesterday morning given for the presentation of the great feature film, "The Christian" at the Delft theatre. The big feature will be the attraction at the Delft Friday of this week, making up what will likely prove one of the greatest motion picture features of the year at that place.

The session will be held in honor of A. J. Young, of Escanaba, the illustrious potentate of the temple, who last week was elected the grand high priest at the state convention at Kalamazoo. The Escanaba Shriners have prepared an interesting program, which will start with the reception of the visitors at the Chicago & Northwestern depot. The Marquette men will be taken by automobile to the Ludington Hotel, where lunch will be served at noon.

In the afternoon the nobles will enjoy an auto trip to points of interest in Escanaba and in the evening there will be a drill by the Arab patrol, composed of Ishpeming, Negaunee and Marquette men. Cotton as a candidate for the board of education at the school election to be held in July. The terms of office of Ex-Mayor O. P. Chatfield and H. M. Abernethy will expire at that time.

MACCABEE'S HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

Every World's Maccabee in the United States and Canada is interested in the great convention which is being held in New York City at the Waldorf-Astoria on May 26. This convention is held in the interests of the first Woman's Association of the country, with local branches throughout the United States and Canada. The State of Michigan is represented by the state commander, Mrs. Alberta Droelle, of Detroit.

At this convention the election of Supreme Officers will take place and many important measures will be presented. Such a fine record has been made for the past term, extending from 1911-1914 inclusive, that every State convention has endorsed the plans and administration. Miss Bina M. West, the founder of the Association, has an excellent report to present. The net gain from May 1, 1909 to May 1, 1915, has amounted to over 40,000 benefit members, which indicates the prosperous condition of the Association, and the net gain for 1915 to date is 5,000 benefit members.

During the last four years, the interest earnings on bond investments amounted to $1,058,275.75, and the assets on hand to protect contracts reached nearly eight and a half million dollars. Over twelve million dollars was paid out in death and disability benefits, every draft for which was personally signed by Miss West. This order is not connected in any way with The Ladies of the Modern Maccabees.

Local officers and members are elated over the progress of their work, and when their representatives return, a full report will be given by them of the features of this progressive meeting. The success which this Society has attained is attributed to the harmony and co-operation existing in the individual organizations of which there are nearly 3,000. Educational campaigns are being constantly carried on whereby each worker may become efficient and through this efficiency each department will be enabled to work to the best advantage for the Association. This promises to be the most important convention ever recorded in the creditable history of this Association, and is the beginning of a still greater benefit order for women in the United States and Canada.

WON'T GO TO RUSSIA

BOAT ABOARD WHICH CONNIE O'DONNELL OF THIS CITY MAKES MYSTERY AT BROOKLYN

LYN

Connie O'Donnell, of this city, is not to see Sevastopol Russia. The steamer Atlantic, aboard which the Escanaba lad was to ship for the land of the Czar has suddenly changed plans and according to a Brooklyn newspaper has become the marine puzzle of the waterfront in that city. The Brooklyn Eagle says:

South Brooklyn's waterfront has another mysterious steamer, and so thick is the pall of secrecy thrown about her that all sorts of stories have been inspired by her peculiar behavior.

She is a big tramp steamer, evidently, and the only things positively known about her are that her name is the Atlantic, and that she loaded a 9,000-ton cargo at Pier 12 a week ago, dropped down off Staten Island for the interim, and today put into Pier 7 to unload her cargo.

No one knows the exact nature of her large cargo. She has cotton, copper, rosin and oil aboard in any event, but a large part of her load is "canned goods" put up in mysteriously large and cumbersome cases and giving no hint of consignee or shipper. It is that portion of the cargo which is supposed to be at the base of the difficulties she has evidently felt in getting under way on her voyage, wherever it is to take her.

Her first mate does not know where she was going and the crew, shipped only a day or two before she left Pier 12, a week ago, are absolutely in the dark as to the destination, although they claim they were led to believe the Atlantic was sailing for Archangel, Russia. The wireless operator, however, asserted that she would never see Russia, but that her trip was intended to the North of Scotland and thence south in a rush into the Baltic Sea.

When she docked today, her captain went ashore and immediately lost himself in the maze of packing boxes and buildings along the waterfront. He completely disappeared and successfully threw off all hope for anyone who wanted to find him. Where he went and what he went for is a question and he did not even enlighten the mate or officers of the steamer.

Yesterday, without explanation, her captain ordered "up anchor" off Staten Island, and they thought that at last the word to go to sea had come. But she stuck her nose up river, and early today the Atlantic dropped comfortably into Pier 12 slip, her captain hurried ashore, arranged with a stevedore to unload her, and the work of taking 9,000 tons of merchandise from her holds and decks was begun.

Her wireless operator stated today that he felt sure that exorbitant prices had been paid for her freight. He also said that she was headed originally for Archangel, but that he didn't believe any cotton and oil was needed in Russia.

The mate was appealed to, and beyond saying that he knew the crew was a new one, he insisted he knew nothing about the sailing of his ship. He didn't know why the captain had gone ashore so hurriedly or why the clearance papers had been denied. All he could say was that the Atlantic had started for sea but had put back.

The stevedore, who was unpacking the cargo, asserted that the "Fish Trading Company" was owner of it—although he, like everyone else could give no information on the ship's owners. But the Fish Trading Company is not known along the waterfront and there is no record of such a company in the Maritime Exchange or in the telephone books or directory. That was all the stevedore knew about the whole matter, he insisted.

At the Custom House it was said after many men had been asked about the Atlantic, that Collector Malone was the only one who could speak about it. He was away from his office and will not be back until late this afternoon. And the Maritime Exchange knows absolutely nothing about the Atlantic and said that there had been many queries about her, all of which they had had to answer in the negative.

No matter what can be said in favor of April's weather it's got to be admitted that in May the weather can jump from late fall to midsummer almost without an effort.

It isn't likely that Europe will have to observe Memorial Day this year but there are years and years to come and she will have plenty to remember.

It develops that there are claims amounting to something like ninety millions against the Pere Marquette railroad. Didn't that road ever pay anybody anything?

After being given a heated reception in the war game on the first day by submarines, air craft and the German navy. Italy went out on the second day and took a number of Austrian towns. Just proving that Italy's war like all others, will be just a matter of tit for tat with a lot of innocent people paying the price with their lives.

Uncle Joe Cannon, returning from Honolulu and not having read the president's note to Germany on the Lusitania matter, let go the criticism that there were too many notes and too little action. Sounds as if Uncle Joe had been reading Roosevelt's explosion in preference to the presidential manifesto.

JUDGE LINDSEY'S TRIUMPH

The complete vindication of Judge Lindsey ought not to pass without record, for it is not alone a vindication of Judge Lindsey, but a victory for decency and the public's rights.

Judge Lindsey's real offense has been attacking corruption. Because he spoke out, those whom he reached tried again and again to defeat him at the polls, but Denver persisted in believing in him and re-electing him as judge of its juvenile court. Then to his boldness Judge Lindsey added sympathy with the striking miners. The result was a dastardly attempt to ruin his character. Persons were procured to testify to crimes unmentionable. Not content with that, his enemies attacked the character of his wife. And while the grand jury was investigating his enemies had introduced in the legislature—and to the same of the legislature passed—measures abolishing Judge Lindsey's court. The answer has come in no uncertain terms. The grand jury not only completely exonerated Judge Lindsey out added: "We are, therefore, of the opinion that the attacks made upon Judge Lindsey are unjust and unfair and deserve the severest censure and condemnation." Add Gov. Carlson, whose own record for independence and courage is none too clear, vetoed the measures abolishing Judge Lindsey's court, adding these words: "Ever since the juvenile court was created Judge Ben. B. Lindsey has been the judge presiding over it. He has been elected and re-elected several times by the people of Denver. If the people of Denver want him to be the judge of the court they should have him! If they do not want him they should elect some other person to office."

The vindication of Judge Lindsey is a vindication of Colorado, which already has too great a cloud resting on its justice to have added this other crime of "getting" a just judge.

WAR

London, May 26.—The German claims for the day embrace both east and west notably around Ypres and north of Przemysl. In the latter region it is announced that General Mackensen is again surging forward and has taken twenty-one thousand prisoners.

The British war office admits that the British have been unable entirely to reform their line denied by the Germans east of Ypres, and this dovetails with the German claims of advances in this region of Flanders.

The most interesting statement in the British announcement is that, "with due precautions," gas attacks can be "met and defeated." This is particularly pertinent, in that gas bids fair to be used more and more possibly by all the contenders.

Attending to the extremely sanguinary character of the recent and fighting at the Dardanelles, where the British and French are seeking to dislodge the strongly entrenched Turks, there came tonight a list of 919 casualties among the Australians engaged in this enterprise. The Turkish losses apparently have been greater, as it was necessary for the men Sunday last to secure an armistice to bury their dead, three thousand of whom lay piled before the British trenches.

London, May 26.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Copenhagen says: "The Berlin newspapers assert that Bulgaria and Greece have declared that their policy of neutrality will not be changed as a result of Italy joining into the war."

"The German newspapers are speculating on what Italy will do. Some of them expect that she will send forty thousand men to the Dardanelles and reserve her fleet for action against Austria. Others think that Italian troops may be sent to Montenegro to strengthen the Dalmatian front and assist in the capture of Cattaro."

London, May 26.—Bombardier Wells the English heavyweight pugilist, has enlisted as a private in a Welsh regiment, according to the Daily Telegraph.

ONLY LIMITED NEWS CAN COME

New York, May 26.—Wireless communications between the United States and Germany has been severely handicapped and probably will continue so until July 1 by the static conditions prevailing in the north Atlantic at this time of the year.
The wireless station at Sayville, L. I. the receiving station of the Atlantic Communication company, the German Wireless concern, has within the past week or two, been frequently isolated from the sending plant of Nauen, Germany, it was learned today, and the same situation exists at Tucker, N. J., the sending station for messages to Germany. Such message as are received at Sayville are for the most part fragmentary or often impossible to decipher.
The electrical activities of the Aurora borealis, accompanied by electrical storms over the wireless routes, are the cause of the difficulty, it is explained and may be expected to continue several weeks. This means that until normal conditions again prevail uncensored communication between Germany and the outside world will be limited.
With the cutting of the German-owned Atlantic cable at the beginning of the war Germany had to fall back upon her wireless plants to transmit news and official or diplomatic messages through a channel not controlled by her enemies. For this the Sayville station became the distributing center, the wireless messages being thence transmitted by neutral cable or telegraph to all parts of the world. In this way Germany has kept in touch with diplomatic representatives in neutral countries and the German war office statements have been distributed uncensored.
The intensity of the static disturbances now occurring frequently in the wireless distance between Sayville and Nauen to the equivalent of 2,000 miles, it is said, a handicap which the Nauen station, powerful as it is, cannot overcome. Messages which are made intelligible are the joint work of four receiving operators, listening simultaneously, each getting what he can and placing the fragments together.
The news agencies meantime have been obliged to depend upon London for regular transmission of the daily German war office statement.

SOLONS REPASS NANK BILL

Lansin, May 26.—In the final session of the Michigan legislature the house and senate passed the Nank primary bill over the veto of Governor Ferris, and the measure is now a law. The house vote was 76 to 0, and the senate vote was 25 to 2.
The Nink law provided, among other things, for separate ballots for the various parties at the elections. This is in some ways a return to the original primary law which provided for separate ballots. The original law also called for a primary enrollment. The law which has been in force more recently did away with the primary enrollment and called for a single ballot, containing the names of nominees of all parties that participated.
In vetoing the Nank bill Governor Ferris explained that he considered the measure as being reactionary and unjust and said it was taking a step backward. He took the stand that it was purely a partisan measure, and as such it was his duty to refuse to give it his signature.
Senator Corliss of Tuscola county, read into the record of today's session, a statement showing that the legislature this year had passed 336 bills, of which 321 had been signed by Governor Ferris.
"The legislature has sustained the governor in eight of his vetoes," the record says "leaving a difference existing of only seven bills, or a trifle over two per cent of the whole number passed."
The house today adopted by a unanimous vote a resolution asking the governor of Georgia to commute the sentence of Leo Frank to life imprisonment.
The legislature took final adjournment at noon.
Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Good of Nahma were in the city yesterday.

ANYBODY who doubts that folks appreciate a favor ought to listen to men thanking the friends who started them using the Real Tobacco Chew.

Another thing, your new users of the Real Tobacco Chew go ahead and do the same favor to their friends and neighbors. A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW IS NOW CUT TWO WAYS!!
W-B CUT IS LONG SHRED. RIGHT-CUT IS SHORT SHRED.

Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is the Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end. The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of licorice and sweetening makes you spit too much.

Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste.

WAR TO LAST TILL DECEMBER

Ann Arbor, May 26.—Prof. J. J. Cox of the highway engineering department of the university is in receipt of a letter from F. W. Zinn of Galesburg, a graduate from the engineering department last June and now a soldier in the French army, describing conditions and fighting at the front in France and predicting the war will last at least until Christmas.

With reference to the duration of the war he says:

"I see by the home papers that they are contending on the war ending in three or four months, and in Paris they seem to be almost equally hopeful but I tell you frankly that such optimism isn't shared by the men on the line. None of us here has the faintest hope of being through before next Christmas and maybe not even then.

"Out of the thirty odd that made up the original American outfit many were engineers, but they are pretty well thinned out now. One of them, a fine fellow from Chicago, was killed a short time ago."

Mrs. Geo. Rogers and two sons will leave today for the Soo where they will visit with friends and relatives.

NOTICE

All the Barber Shops of the city will be close all day Monday, May 31st. 1970-147-3t.

AMONG THE THEATRES

THE BIJOU

The World Film Corporation released Julius Steger, in a five-part photo-play "The Fifth Commandment," a morality play, if ever there was one. Instantly, when two prominent exhibitors in New York city, saw it, they booked it. Facts non verba; actions speak louder than words; they, like money, talk the language that counts.

"Honor thy father" is the teaching of the play and there is not a girl or boy who goes to the movies who will not profit by the advice. The girl in the play disregards this commandment. She weds a poor musician who has to go abroad to make good. The girl dies in childbirth and years afterwards the prematurely aged musician returns in poverty meets his daughter and is made happy with and by her.

The principal part of the action takes place in New York City; some of the scenes are laid in Rio De Janeiro. Carl Winters is the poor musician and Kathryn Brown Decker plays the part of the girl who marries him in disregard of her father's advice. This will be shown at the Bijou Friday.

THE DELFT

Miss Edith Storey, the Vitagraph motion picture star, who is portraying Viola Allen's part of Glory Quayle in "The Christian," the famous story by Hall Caine, the picturized version of which will be presented at the Delft theater, on Friday afternoon and night and Saturday afternoon only, has much to say relative to the values of acting in the drama and in pictures. Miss Storey is well qualified to speak since she has been called "The Bernhardt of the Screen," and prior to her entrance into pictures she was an actress on the stage.

According to Miss Storey, playing such a part as Glory Quayle in "The Christian" in pictures is infinitely harder than doing the same thing in the drama. Miss Storey's contention is that the photo-play actress is deprived of her power of speech, and anyone who stops for a moment to consider, will realize what difficulty they would have if they were asked to convey all of their meanings without using a word.

In the photo-play Miss Storey is seen at her best, even though she has a splendid elocutionary delivery. But on the screen where this ability is useless, she shows every motion and runs the gamut of feeling merely by facial expression and gestures. She has it reduced to such a science that it is impossible for her to carry on a conversation with another, convey all of her meanings, and not make a sound.

She has taught herself all of the rudiments of theatrical acting under David Belasco and others and then to become a screen actress she has deliberately thrown away her elocutionary powers and studied mute expression from a purely scientific standpoint.

THE BIJOU

The five reel program at this house today will include the feature, "The Girl of the Night" which alone should attract much attention to this house today.

The comedy here today is "His Smashing Career" while the Animated Weekly will attract its usual amount of attention.

THE DELFT

This is Thursday and a big day at this house. Dustin Farnum is appearing in the leading role in "Cameo Kirby." This picture is shown in five complete parts and local people will undoubtedly flock to this house to see this great American player.

Baking Helps

Valuable Suggestions
By Mrs. Nevada Briggs, Expert of the Art of Baking, as taught by Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill
Helpful Cake Making Hints

Always sift flour and K C Baking Powder at least three times. The more sifting, the lighter the cake. Remember that! To cream butter and sugar quickly, warm the sugar slightly. Beat yolks of eggs with rotary beater. Whip whites of eggs with flat spoon whip. Water makes lighter cakes; milk makes richer cakes.

To mix a cake, first cream butter and sugar thoroughly, then add yolks, if used. Then alternately add moisture and flour that has been sifted with baking powder and stir until smooth and glossy, adding egg whites after thoroughly mixing.

Always use K C Baking Powder. Biscuit Helps

Always sift flour and K C Baking Powder at least three times. Have shortening cold and firm. Mix dough as soft as it can be handled. The softer dough goes into the oven, the lighter the biscuit when it comes out. It is easier for K C Baking Powder to do its work in soft than in stiff dough. Mix biscuits very little. Do not knead. Stir up with spoon or knife and press in shape to roll on floured board.

With K C Baking Powder results are sure and certain. Ask your grocer for K C.

SHOWS DECREES RING FAKING

The New York boxing commission took the easy way out of an awkward dilemma when it suspended Jimmy Clabby and George Chip for a month and yet ordered the St. Nicholas A. C. to pay them for their services.

From this it would seem that the commission has established degree of faking such as prevail in criminal offenses like murder and burglar. First degree faking would certainly merit a longer suspension than a month, and the commission certain wouldn't decide that down-right fakirs should be paid. It's an odd decision viewed from any angle, but it upholds Referee Roach.

In ordering the club to pay Clabby and Chip the price for which they had contracted to box, the commission showed almost Solomonesque judicial qualities. If the boxers had been deprived of their money the club would have been expected to pay it back to the patrons, and this would have meant a financial mixup.

The patrons who bought admission tickets had no coupons attached to their pasteboards and therefore could not have been paid, and of all of those who bought coupon tickets retained their stubs.

All saw eight rounds of boxing, at least three of which looked to be on the "square." The patrons might have been charged for these three rounds if it came down to spitting hairs and perhaps the boxers might have charged for eight rounds of work in the eye of the law.

WORLD FILM CORPORATION PRESENTS

JULIUS STEGER

IN A PICTURIZATION OF HIS FAMOUS PLAY

THE FIFTH COMMANDMENT

A HEART GRIPPING STORY IN 5 ACTS.

EDITORIALS AND CRITICISMS FROM THE LEADING NEWSPAPERS OF THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA

Nothing like "The Fifth Commandment" has been presented to high class vaudeville audiences before. Some of the theater-going ministers of New York are praising the splendid lesson to be gained through this presentation. They say it is a heart-grIPPING sermon and if all theaters could show something as uplifting as Julius Steger's wonderful playlet, the tendency of the church to depreciate the influence of the theater, would very largely vanish in time.—N. Y. American.

"The Fifth Commandment" as presented by Julius Steger and Company, makes safe the assertion that few greater attractions could have been procured for the delectation of the community. Upon several occasions, last evening, Mr. Steger was unable to proceed in his work, through the rapturous endorsement of the audience. This beautiful play, founded upon one of the most important invocations of the decalogue, created awe-bound interest blended with tears. It is an offering that speaks the language of life and the moral emotion of the soul. It is a soothing influence.—Detroit, Mich., Tribune.

What David Warfield and "The Music Master" is to the legitimate, Julius Steger and "The Fifth Commandment" is to vaudeville. Both plays, have been produced at about the same time. It is without doubt one of the best, if not the best, dramatic act in vaudeville. The offering held the audience spellbound until the final climax, when the entire house from orchestra to gallery broke into storm of applause. It has uplifted vaudeville.—N. Y. Herald.

The attention of the audience was held from the beginning until the startling climax at the end when the house broke out in roars of applause and Mr. Steger and his clever company were called before the curtain more than a dozen times. "The Fifth Commandment" is positively the greatest triumph of many seasons.—N. Y. Evening Journal.

"The Fifth Commandment" is what Longfellow calls "The Language of Mankind" and Mr. Steger presented it with the artful felicity and sentiment which carries the audience by storm.—Toledo Blade.

"Honor thy Father and thy Mother" is the text of a drama entitled "The Fifth Commandment" and presented by the greatest master of the vaudeville stage. It is a lesson carried home to everyone in the theater. You wonder at Julius Steger's success and ask the question, why? The answer is given in two words, magnetism—detail. The silence during the progress of the play is only broken by tumultuous applause.—Buffalo, N. Y., Courier.

UNION WON'T PAY $285,000 AWARDED

New York, May 26.—The United Hatters of North America, in convention here voted today not to raise a fund to meet the $285,000 judgment in favor of D. E. Lowe & Co., hat manufacturers of Danbury, Conn., which was affirmed by the United States supreme court. The hatters voted, however, to raise a fund for members of the union whose homes and bank accounts had been attached to satisfy the judgment.

The action was in answer to an open letter signed by D. E. Lowe & Co., published April 22. This letter stated foreclosure action against property of the defendants had been delayed to give the United Hatters opportunity to avoid proceedings against individual homes. It was added that unless the organization at its convention should make provision to fulfill the judgment, foreclosure would follow.

HANDLE MANY CENTURIES OLD

Inhabitants of Arras Have Great Faith in Sacred Relic Most Carefully Guarded.

Devastated Arras possesses an ancient church, Notre Dame des Ardents, which remained uninjured despite the recent terrific bombardment, and which contains a unique relic that is nearly 1,000 years old. The relic is known as the holy sandle. It is guarded in a richly enamelled silver casket, made to the order of Jean de Sasquepee, lord of Baudimont and owner of Arras, and a curious history is attached to it. It appears that in May, 1165, the Holy Virgin appeared during the night to two minstrels.

A terrible plague depopulated Arras at that time, and the Virgin—so goes the legend—gave the two minstrels a candle, which they in turn gave to Bishop Lambert of Arras and told them that the hot wax of this candle mixed with pure water would cure the inhabitants of Arras of the dreadful malady. The remedy proved efficacious, and a grateful populace erected the monastery of Ardents. The candle has been carefully guarded, and it is the firm belief of the inhabitants of Arras that it frequently saved them from utter destruction.

IS WORK OF MANY MONTHS

Construction of the Marvelous Zeppelin Aircraft Not a Matter Which Can Be Hurried.

The building of a Zeppelin is not the work of a day. The mere work on the vessels takes an entire year, and when that work is done another three months must be spent in testing. Stretched in a framework of girders, there are from seventeen to twenty-five balloons from end to end. Over these and over the girders is an outer skin of proofed canvas. Slung under the great length is a series of cabins. Right in front is the station of the lookout man, who is in charge of the starting and the landing; he has anchors slung beneath him. In the first boat, which is entirely covered in, are two petrol engines. Behind this boat is the gangway, fitted up with sleeping berths for the crew. In the center is the observation station. It is from here that the bombs are dropped, and it is here that the marvelous steering and sighting apparatus is installed, as well as the wireless plant.

Training for the Housewives. The failure of former shop and factory girls as wives and housekeepers is often commented upon by American social workers. In this connection it is interesting to note the establishment in Leipzig of a compulsory continuation school for unmarried women employed in industry.

According to the regulations provided for this purpose by the municipal council all unmarried women who have finished the public schools and who live, or are employed in industrial, mercantile or other establishments in Leipzig are compelled to attend this continuation school for three years. Even unemployment is not accepted as an excuse for failure to attend the school. Housekeeping is the central subject taught, although instruction is also to be given in industrial and general subjects. The number of hours of instruction ranges from four to six each week. In addition to the compulsory features of the school, provision is also made for voluntary attendance on the part of girls living at home or in service.

COVER FOR SHIRT WAISTS

Dainty Fabrics Protected by the Use of This Contrivance Quite Simple to Make.

Every woman needs several cases for protecting dainty chiffon blouses or separate lace waists. Where such waists are made of soft and very pliable materials they may be laid away in cases or boxes, but with many fabrics their fresh, uncrumpled look is best preserved by hanging the waist on a wire hanger and protecting it from the dust by a thin slip cover of swiss or lawn. A yard and a half of figured material is enough to make a protector. Fold together, make a slit at the center of the fold about an inch long through which the wire hook may be slipped. Seam up the sides and hem the two ends. Attach ribbons at both ends of the two hems so that the inverted bag can be tied together. Twenty-seven inch material is wide enough to make the slip from. The one pictured was made of dotted swiss.

TO ACQUIRE SHAPELY ANKLES

In These Days of the Short Skirt Its Possession is Something Greatly to Be Desired.

There used to be a time when our dresses, or at least the dresses of our mothers, reached to the floor, or so nearly so that brush braid or coarse binding on the bottom hem was necessary to preserve the fabric. In those days, if the thinnest bit of a feminine ankle showed above the shoe top it was a cue for a woman to blush. Praise be, these conditions do not hold today. What with our hobble skirts, slit skirts, tight skirts, short skirts and now short circular skirts, we have become accustomed to displaying our ankles. Woman's right to the possession of ankles has finally been recognized, consequently pretty ankles are greatly to be desired, as they add to one's general appearance—and beauty is indeed a duty.

To improve the shapeliness of ankles, exercise and massage will do wonders. It will be found that most ankles which are unattractive, or not quite so shapely as the possessor might wish, either lack sufficient flesh or else are too fleshy.

If your ankles are a little stout you can reduce them in a month, or two months at the most, by means of a little exercise ten minutes morning and night. Remove the shoes and stockings and cross the knees so that the support is removed from one ankle. Thrust out the foot and move it around from the ankle in a twisting motion, then bend it up and down, making sure that all this is done with the ankle bone. When one foot becomes tired shift position and exercise the other ankle.—C. Eleanor Mather in New York Press.

FASHION'S FANCY FOR SILK

Material is Employed to a Greater Extent Than It Has Been for Many Seasons.

While one's attention is centered upon cotton, one must not lose sight of silks. They occupy a very prominent place in the wardrobe of the up-to-date woman. All dresses intended for afternoon functions are made of silk. Delicate voiles or ottomans, soft taffetas, silk velvets and wool velours are all used in developing these dressy frocks. Distinctive effects may be obtained by combining these materials with gold-embroidered chiffon, jet, pearls, or adding to them bands of fur, such as skunk, sable, ermine and the popular ape skin.

The evening dresses of this season are not so rich and daring as those of last winter, but in many ways they are more pleasing. The textures are exquisite, reminiscent of the lovely fabrics of the days of the Italian renaissance. There are soft gold and silver brocades, delicate taffetas, thin lace drawn through with metal threads and crystal and jet embroidered chiffons and tulle.

To go back to the less costly materials, such as silk and fine cottons, in which the majority of women are interested in these hard times, a dance frock of bordered organdie, taffeta silk, striped voile or cotton crepe is now considered the correct thing.—Indianapolis News.

Embroidered Pockets.

The little embroidered pockets which have long ribbons attached, so that they can be suspended from the bedpost or fastened to the rod of a brass or iron bed are most convenient. Some of these little pockets are made of covered cardboard, circular in shape. Two covered circles are overlapped half way around with an owl on a branch of a tree embroidered on one side.

GERMAN LOYAL TO THE U.S.

Brooklyn.—"Let the press cease that abuse and those insults against class of citizens who are becoming greatly irritated thereby, and innocently smart under the injustice," writes Peter P. Huberty, to The Eagle.

"After the Staats-Zeitung and Herold have repudiated the vile and slanderous insinuation of probable disloyalty by our citizens of German birth and extraction, in the event of an armed conflict between this country and Germany, the question should be accepted as settled, because said papers are representative of the citizenship in question and do more fully understand its character than any other publication in New York city.

"It is true, that in this unfortunate European conflict, we are pro-German. Our sympathies are with the men of our native land, and we fervently hope for success in their bloody strife for political existence among the nations of Europe. We so anxiously hope and pray that there may be no occasion to cause a conflict of our sympathies with our sworn duties, but should the day come, we would suppress the former in obedience to the latter. Guaranty for this should be our past and the historical faithfulness to duty of the German race."

333 LAWS ARE SENT TO GOV.

LEGISLATIVE SESSION OF 1913 WINDS UP ITS WORK AND MEMBERS GO HOME.

AWAY BELOW 1913

Only Half as Many Laws Passed This Year as Two Years Ago and Less Than Half as Many Important Measures Among Them.

Lansing, Mich.—(Special.)—Three hundred and thirty-three bills were passed by the state legislature in the session of 1913.

This is just about one-half as many as were passed by the session of 1913, and there is less than one-half as much important legislation this year than two years ago.

The bills signed by the governor to date from both house and senate follow:

Senate Bills.

By Senator Corliss—A bill which authorizes the board of control of the epileptic farm colony the right to classify the patients at the institution.

U. S. SURVIVOR SAVED 2 WOMAN

New York, May 25.—A vivid description of the sinking of the Lusitania, torpedoed by Dr. E. C. Foss, Harlem, Mont., survivor, who reached New York on the steamer New York.

"From the deck of the Lusitania I saw the submarine about a mile away at 1:30 p. m.," Dr. Foss said. "I borrowed a pair of glasses and saw them plainly, although I could not make out its nationality or number. It was traveling at the same speed as the steamer—we were going very slowly—and left a white wake of foam.

"The Lusitania's officers must have seen the submarine at the same time, for the course of the steamer was changed. The submarine was submerged after staying on the surface about five minutes. Forty minutes later the torpedo struck.

"There was some excitement on deck, but no panic. The steamer tipped to one side. I was about to jump overboard when I saw stewards taking life belts from a box on the deck. I went back and passed out the life belts to passengers as long as they lasted taking one myself. Then I dropped off the rail into the water.

"Soon I saw a life boat break from the davits and fall into the sea almost under the propeller blades. The blades ripped through the little boat and battered it to bits. One of the men was cut to pieces before my eyes; the water was red where the boat went down.

"The boilers exploded and shot up a cloud that rained debris all around. I swam away as fast as I could and met a woman struggling for breath. She had a child in her arms. I found an oar and gave it to her to rest on.

"A short distance away I came across another woman. I steadied her as much as I could and guided her to the oar. With the two women clinging to the oar, one of them with her baby in her arms, I towed them, using the oar as a tow line, to a boat. When we got there we found it was full and waterlogged. It capsized a few minutes afterward. What happened to those who happened to be in it, I can only imagine.

"Some time afterward I saw another woman in the water. Her strength was nearly spent. I managed to save her by assisting her to a raft on which there were eight other survivors. We were picked up and taken into Queenstown by a tug."

ALLIANCE BROKEN SAYS DECLARATION

Amsterdam, May 25.—A dispatch from Vienna says the Italian ambassador to Austria, the duke of Avarna, Sunday afternoon presented to Baron Von Burian, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, the following declaration of war:

"Vienna, May 23, 1915: Comfortably with the orders of his majesty, the king, his august sovereign, the undersigned ambassador of Italy has the honor to deliver to his excellency, the foreign minister of Austro-Hungary, the following communication:

"Declaration has been made, as from the fourth of this month, to the imperial and royal government of grave motives for which Italy, confident in her good right, proclaimed annulled and henceforth without effect, her treaty of alliance with Austria-Hungary, which was violated by the imperial and royal government and resumed her liberty of action in this respect.

"The government of the king, firmly resolved to provide by all means at its disposal for safeguarding Italian rights and interests, can not fall in its duty to take against every existing and future menace measures which events impose upon it for the fulfillment of national aspirations.

"His majesty, the king, declares that he considers himself from tomorrow in a state of war with Austro-Hungary.

"The undersigned has the honor to make known at the same time to his excellency, the foreign minister, that passports will be placed this very day at the disposal of the imperial and royal ambassador at Rome, and he will be obliged to his excellency if he will kindly have his passports handed to him."

FINDS DIAMONDS FROM LUSITANIA

New York, May 25.—William H. McGee & Co., underwriters, learned to their amazement today that a package containing diamonds which they had insured, and which was shipped on the Lusitania, sunk off the Irish coast, had been recovered. The diamonds, which were valued at $13,500 were packed in a small box and presumably were stored away in the liner's safe. When the news of the sinking of the Lusitania was received the underwriters were prepared to pay the total loss. Today they received a cablegram from the London office of the American Express which announced that the package had been picked up in the ocean by Norwegian fishermen.

RELATIVE OF WILSON IS ANGRY

Bay City, Mich.—When Rev. Thomas S. Anderson, pastor of the fashionable First Presbyterian church, stood up in his pulpit last Sunday and denounced the peace policy of President Wilson toward Germany, he started some thing.

Mrs. Susan Wilson Snyder, of Bay City, first cousin of the president, indignantly left the church with her daughter, Miss Flora Snyder, while Rev. Anderson was in the midst of a plea for immediate war with Germany, and the upshot of the sermon has been that the congregation is split wide open.

Several strong members of his parish have ceased active identification with the church, and there is a possibility that the belligerent pastor may have a little war of his own to settle before the echoes of that sermon die out.

Rev. Dr. Anderson, who was an intimate friend of Elbert Hubbard, was lost on the Lusitania, charged that the president was "sacrificing honor for peace" and called the administration a failure. In his sermon the pastor declared that President Wilson should have sent at least 30 battalions to deliver this note to the Kaiser.

"The sinking of the Lusitania was not warfare," he said. "It was deliberate premeditated murder. Warfare is a contest between nations to establish justice and is carried on according to established rules. There is killing in battle, but it is not murder. The attack on the Lusitania was entirely outside of these rules and was deliberate murder. It was an attack upon humanity and civilization."

"When that act was committed President Wilson should have convened congress in special session, secured the sentiment of the people and put the country in a state of mobilization."

"He should have sent his ultimatum to Germany with at least 30 of our best battalions to enforce the demands of this country. We have had a policy of patience until this country has become the laughing stock of the nations. There are worse things than war on that occasion."

VILLA MICH. AERO SCOUT KILLED

Grand Rapids, May 26.—Newell "Mickey" McGuire, who during the past three years has gained a nationwide reputation for his boldness and daring as an aviator, and who for some time has been attached to the Villa aviation corps in Mexico, was killed last Tuesday when, while scouting the enemies' position south of Leon, Guanajuato. His Wright biplane was caught in the teeth of a 50-mile gale and dashed to the earth.

News of his death was brought to the border on Sunday by Farnum, Fish, of Los Angeles, another Villa aviator in whose company McGuire was flying at the time of his death.

Just before he met death McGuire and Fish had flown over the Carranza trenches. Five thousand shots were fired at them, many piercing each machine. McGuire escaped only to meet death a few minutes later, while Fish was wounded, one shot passing through his right leg, and another through his left shoulder.

According to Fish, McGuire's body will be brought to the border this week and sent to Grand Rapids.

His desire for real excitement to take the place of the thrills of exhibition flying too, McGuire into Mexico a month ago. Offered $500 a week by General Villa, he quickly signed a contract to do scouting work for the famous rebel general. Ten days ago his father, Alexander McGuire, 140 Sweet street, N. E., received a letter from his son, telling of his new work.

"At last I have got the job I have wanted," he wrote. "Now I have a chance to make some real money, and have plenty excitement at the same time."

"Mickey" McGuire craved notoriety and he got it for his daring. For two years he was under contracts to the Wrights, and he had flown in nearly every other make of air craft. "Mickey" McGuire, "The Wild Irish Rose of the Clouds," was known in all aviation circles.

McGuire and Edgar McGurrian of this city were fast friends. They learned the aviation game together, and to gether they traveled all over the United States making exhibition flights. One day in Chicago, just about eight months ago, the two youths received an offer from a motion picture company. McGurrian was to drop from a biplane in a parachute, and McGuire was to carry a motion picture operator into the clouds in another machine to photograph the drop.

killed. He is now at the home of his father, Gen. William T. McGurrian, still recovering from his injuries.

"McGuire was the most daring aviator I have known," said McGurrian last night. "I have made many fights with him, and I believe he knew how to handle a machine as well as any man who ever went up into the air."

U. S. NOT TO BE WORLD'S BANKER

Washington, May 26.—Need for greater reliance on their own resources is one lesson which the war has brought home to the nations not involved, in the opinion of P. M. Warburg, member of the federal reserve board who speaks at the Pan American financial conference.

Mr. Warburg pointed out that when the war began, England, then acting as banker for the world, felt forced to ask for some of the vast sums which and that this request was reflected in varying degrees in countries that were in her debt. He spoke of the acute situation which resulted in the United States and elsewhere on the this hemisphere and added:

"The lesson which all American nations will have to learn from last year's experience is that it is unwise for the world to place its financial dependence upon any single nation; and that those who can afford to do so, as for instance the United States, should adopt a policy of greater reliance upon their own resources. Those

"There is no difference of conservative opinion that the United States does not aspire now to take the place of Europe's leading financial powers. Our own field of operation is still too vast to enable us, or to render it even desirable for us to become the world's banker at this stage of our own development. But the safety of all countries—and we include England among their number—demands that if again the latter should find herself forced to call upon her debtors for instant payment, there should be at least one country strong and independent enough to shoulder a substantial portion of the burden."

"Though in normal times closely connected with Europe, the American continent ought to be so organized as to form a distinct unit in times of emergency—a union whose transportation and credit systems will remain unbroken, even though all Europe should go to war."

One of the most important matters up for committee consideration was the establishment of steamship lines independent of Europe to play between the principal ports of the two Americas. Recommendations for such lines were made by cabinet members Secretary McAdoo had announced his intention of appointing a committee to take up the question.

An Editor's Commission

Says the Litchfield (Ill.) News Herald: Not long ago a man came into this office and dropped his paper because he said, it was always printing a lot of things about the same people and he said he was sick of it.

Now, when something goes wrong with the country, the government appoints a commission to investigate and find out what is the matter and the first thing a commission investigates is the man who made the holler, to see if the holler was a reasonable holler.

So we appointed a commission consisting of ourselves to investigate this man. We just followed the man's rear ever since we knew him. The first thing that happened to that man was that he was born, but he had nothing to do with it. However we mentioned him, although his parents were entitled to the credit. When he was in his early twenties he was married. We mentioned that, including the name of the bride, the preacher, etc. In fact we mentioned everything but the preacher's fee, which was not worth mentioning. We never mentioned his name in the list of donors because he never donated as much as a doughnut. We certainly have been treating this man shamefully, but we will agree to run a nice obituary when the time comes.

Cause of Water Bubbling.
There is an erroneous impression that water bubbling violently is hotter than water at the boiling point. As a matter of fact, the ebullition is caused by the escaping steam, which means lost heat. All water (except in a high elevation) reaches the boiling point at 212 degrees Fahrenheit and however fast or slow the water may be boiling it remains at that temperature.

TY COBB GOOD

DRAWING CARD

In the June American Magazine Ring W. Lardner writes another amusing baseball story. This month he talks about Ty Cobb, of the Detroit Tigers, whom he calls the greatest ball player in the business. Of Cobb's ability to draw a crowd Lardner writes in part as follows:

"There's somethin' fascinat' in just looking at the baby. 'I ain't alone in thinkin' that, neither. I don't know how many people he draws to the ball park in a year, but it's enough to star a big manufacturing town and a few suburbs. You heard about the crowd that was out to the Sox park the Sunday there was two rival attractions in town. I was in the spring, before you come. Well, was soce crowd that was out to the Sox park. Now, of course, the Sox draw good at home on any decent Sunday, but I'm tellin' you there was a few thousand out there that'd been somewhere else if Cobb had of stayed in Gergia."

"I was in Boston two or three years ago this summer and the Tigers come along there for a serious of five games, includin' a double-header. The Detroit club wasn't in the race and neither was the Red Sox. Well, sir, I seen every game and I bet there was seventy thousand others that seen 'em or better than fifteen thousand a day for four days. There was some that were there because they liked baseball. Others that were stuck on the Red Sox. There was still others that was strong for the Detroit club. And there was about twenty-five or thirty thousand that didn't have any reason for coming except this guy I'm telling you about. You can't blame him for holdin' out once in awhile for a little more money. You can't blame the club for slipping in to him, neither."

"There's a fussy thing I've noticed about him and the crowds. The fans in the different towns hates him because he's beat their own team out of so many games. They hiss him when he pulls off something that looks like dirty ball to them. Sometimes they get so mad at him that you think they are going to tear him to pieces. They holler like a bunch of Indians when some pitcher's god enough or lucky enough to strike him out. And at the same time, right down in their hearts, they're disappointed because he did strike out."

"How do I know that? Well, kid I've felt it myself, even when I was pulling against Detroit. I've talked to other people and they've told me they felt the same way. When they come out to see him, they expect to see him do something. They're glad if he does and glad if he don't. They're sore at him if he don't beat their team and they're sore if he does. It's a funny thing and I ain't going to sit here all night trying to explain it."

WEEKS ADVOCATE FREE BASEBALL

Baseball should be free. This in a nutshell conveys the ideal for which Frank R. Weeks, president of last year's Wisconsin-Illinois league and the probable president of this year's Wisconsin-Michigan league is striving.

The happy era when the baseball fan may have his daily feat of sport without worrying about the box-office man has not yet arrived. But if the new league goes through, and there is every reason to expect it will, it is Mr. Weeks' plan to provide the best substitute possible under the circumstances, namely baseball at the lowest possible cost for women and children.

Tickets entitling the holder to witness every game on the local diamond would be sold to boys for about one dollar, at a rate of about two cents per game. And season tickets for ladies would be sold at a rate of about ten cents per game, entitling the holder to a grandstand seat.

This arrangement, Mr. Weeks believes would bring the highest possible grade of professional baseball within the reach of the most humble fan.

However, the goal has not been lost sight of. Free baseball, such as was enjoyed here during the first year of the mine league is possible. Mr. Weeks believes. In an instance like the present, where the entire cost of baseball for the season, without a single admission, would not exceed $6,500, it might be possible to raise the entire amount by public subscription at the beginning of the season and then throw away the keys to the baseball park.

Mr. Weeks has a convincing manner of establishing his point. He contends that under ordinary conditions, baseball is seldom a financial success in the smaller towns. Some certain portion of its total cost must be met by subscription. Then why should not the total cost be met in this way, Mr. Week's argues.

Such an experiment is being tried this year at Decatur, Ill., which Mr. Weeks is watching with interest. The experience gained, he believes, will point the way for other towns to

BRYAN PUTS GAG ON NEWSPAPERS

Cincinnati, O., May 26.—The Enquirer in a special dispatch from Washington says today: "The problem of censoring foreign newspaper publication concerning foreign relations of the United States has become an acute one in the state department."

"At a conference with newspaper men this week, which terminated in a remarkable display of temper, Secretary Bryan in a frank and cordial manner told his callers that hereafter there are two classes of questions which he will regard as 'improper' and which he does not wish to have asked."

"One type of question to which he objected was that inquiring into his conferences with President Wilson. The other class of inquiry which has been placed under the ban is that which deals with the confidential relations of other countries with the United States."

"Secretary Bryan's objection to the other type of question was based, he said, upon the fact that his answers were always made the source of inferences.

"As a result, Secretary Bryan, in an effort to eliminate these questions, declared them to be 'improper' and said that he did not wish to have them repeated.

"In this connection it is recalled that the late John Hay, former secretary of state, said on a number of occasions that no questions was improper, but that the 'impropriety' might be the answer.

"Secretary Bryan has not fully developed a faculty for meeting ques-
