

SUPERVISORS IN SESSION

COUNTY BOARD WILL COMPLETE WORK OF ANNUAL JULY SESSION HERE THIS FORENOON

Members of the Delta county board of supervisors yesterday opened their annual July session here and will complete their work at the courthouse this forenoon.

Members of the board yesterday gave their attention to a number of important matters and late in the afternoon visited the new fair grounds site to view the work that is being accomplished by the Delta County Agricultural Society in constructing a race track there. The supervisors were amazed at the great amount of work that has been accomplished in a short space of time. A large part of the foundation grading work for the track has been finished, representing the accomplishment of a tremendous amount of work. The work has been in progress since the April meeting of the board with the society hiring three teams and drivers and using prisoners from the county jail for the remainder of the work. The agricultural society members have solicited donations to pay the necessary expenses for the work that has been done up to this time but they have now reached the end of their resources. Today application will be made to the supervisors for financial aid to make possible the completion of the track for the county fair of this fall. The work that has been undertaken is in the interests of a complete county fair and as the fair ground site was secured at a far less cost than was at first expected, it is believed that the supervisors will come to the aid of the society in the present contingency.

The supervisors yesterday, by a vote of 24 to 2, insisted on adhering to the rule established six years ago, by which each city and township of the county pays the expense incurred in caring for all contagious disease. Mackilligan presented for payment to cases. The matter was brought to a focus yesterday when Mayor R. J. the board of Escanaba's contagious case bills from September 1913 to October 1914. Mayor Mackilligan made a valiant battle to have the money expended by the city returned to the municipality and he was ably assisted in the worthy battle on the floor by City Atty. H. R. Dotsch. The two officials were unable to stem the tide and the final vote showed a heavy majority against the city's request.

Thomas McGee yesterday took his seat as supervisor from the Third ward of Gladstone, succeeding August Lillquist, who resigned. Mr. McGee will take Mr. Lillquist's committee assignments on the board.

The bond of County School Commissioner C. U. Wolpert, for $1,000, was referred to the board's finance committee.

An error made by the board in a resolution relating to the county road tax to that township was corrected yesterday and the township will now receive funds that were paid into the treasury for county road purposes.

ANNUAL SALE OPENS TODAY

The great annual Fair store July Clearance sale opens this morning and will continue for the remainder of the month. Price slashings have been indulged in for this sale as never before by the management which undoubtedly draw forth a monster first day crowd today.

The special red price cards will point the way to times not listed in the fair "ads" on pages 5 and 6.

LOCAL YOUNG MAN IS NOT MARRIED

Announcement has been made that a recent notice issued of the marriage of Merritt Graham of this city was without foundation. A near groom bearing a similar name gave rise to the report of the local young man's marriage.

ENTERTAIN FOR ELLA FRECHETTE

The Misses Ada and Leola Frechette entertained at a party at Bark River Monday evening for Miss Ella Frechette, prior to the latter's departure for Lansing, Michigan. Games were played, after which a three course luncheon was served. Table decorations were pink peonies. The favors were extended to each individual with pink and white ribbons.

Outside guests were Miss Alida Jacobson of Minneapolis, Mr. C. Hutto, Columbus, Wis., Professor Moen and Mr. H. Reith of Resewille, Wis., Rose Walsh, Fred Hodson and Walter Nelson from Escanaba.

EVENT TO ATTRACT

Music lovers of this city and the surrounding district will pack the Delft theater on Friday evening when Miss Susan Christoph and Mr. Fred L. Erickson will appear in a recital at that place. Miss Christoph is proving one of the most talented vocalists that this city has yet produced while Mr. Erickson has already won recognition in eastern musical circles as an organist. The appearance of the two talented young people on the program will make for music lovers of this city the most delightful attraction ever arranged here. To make the event the most successful of its kind ever planned here should be the aim of a host of people who will draw great pleasure from hearing the two young artists.

EXCURSION ARRANGED

A delightful opportunity for Escanaba people to visit Manistique and Beaver Island will be offered on Saturday by an excursion arranged to those points aboard the steamer Saugatuck. The vessel will leave the Stephenson dock at 9 o'clock on Saturday morning and will arrive at Manistique at 7 p. m. But a short stop will be made at that port and the Saugatuck will reach Beaver Island at 10 p. m. The vessel will remain at the island throughout the day on Sunday, leaving St. James on Sunday evening, delivering the passengers at their homes here on Monday morning.

ESCANABA GIRL TO BE MARRIED

Miss Ona Ecke of this city will be married on Thursday to Mr. William Geiger of Port Arthur, Ont. Plans for the wedding have been made secretly and an effort was being made to surprise the host of friends of the young couple in the city. The arrival here of relatives from outside points to be present at the ceremony aroused the suspicions of many and yesterday formal announcement was made of the coming wedding. The bride to be has been engaged as a teacher in the public schools of the city and has a host of friends. The groom is a former Escanaba young man who has been employed by the Canadian Pacific railroad for several years and now holds a responsible position with that company.

THE GRAND

Jean Abbott and her Yankee Doodle Girls again last night scored a decided hit at this house. The patrons of the Grand theater were entirely delighted with the company and as a result that house will probably be packed to the doors at both the matinee and night shows today. The matinee will be shown today at 2:30 o'clock.

AIR ATTACK ON DEPOT

TOTAL OF 35 AEROPLANES BOMBARDED STATION CONTAINING VALUABLE STORES

(Special to The Press.)

London, July 13.—The greatest single air attack yet made against the Germans was organized today when 35 aeroplanes of the allies bombarded the railway station at Vignuelles-Les Hattonchattel. According to Paris, 171 bombs, being 198 pounds each, were dropped upon the station, a big storehouse for ammunition supplies of all kinds. The French official report states that the bombs started a number of fires and an explosion with much damage. Coincident with the attack was the announcement of a event by which the allies hope to overwhelm the German communication lines. The plan calls for 10,000 aeroplanes to raid the field bases, bridges and depots.

(Special to The Press.)

London, July 13.—The Germans, following up their advance south of Souche, which resulted in their capture by assault of the cemetery dominating the French line, today swept forward across the graveyard extending their advanced line over a width of 600 yards. The momentum of the German rush carried the neighboring sections of the invaders line across the road to Arras. The German offensive has made itself evident also on other sectors.

(Special to The Press.)

London, July 13.—The Russians, having successfully waged a counter offensive against the Austro-Germans around Krasnik have taken up a new defensive position on the heights to the north and are strengthening themselves for the next offensive of Mackensen, are now established on the heights along the right bank of the Urzedowka river.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us during our recent bereavement after the death of our beloved husband and father. Particularly we wish to thank the members of the R. of T. and O. R. C. We are also grateful for the beautiful floral offerings.

(Signed) Mrs. Thomas LaBranch and Family of Defiance.

THAW SOON WILL KNOW HIS FATE

(Special to The Press.)
New York, July 13.—The Thaw case will go to the jury early tomorrow afternoon. By nightfall the verdict is expected. There after the fate will rest in the hands of Justice Hendrick, who, under the law, has the final say. The case of the state against Thaw was closed this afternoon. The arguments for the state will be first tomorrow and Stanchfield will close for Thaw. Thaw is in fine spirits tonight.

MISS FRENCH IS HOSTESS

Perhaps the prettiest and most delightful mid-summer party to be given in the city in a number of years was that of last evening when Miss Alice French of 600 South Charlotte street, entertained seventy of her friends at a picnic supper and dancing at the South Park pavilion, honorary to Miss Margaret Beney of Ne-gaunee a cousin of the hostess.

The guests, gathered at the pavilion at 6:30 o'clock when a picnic supper was served. The menu arranged by Miss French was most dainty one, being especially adaptable for the occasion. Following the picnic supper the tables were cleared from the pavilion and dancing was started with Olmsted's orchestra furnishing the musical program.

The side windows of the pavilion were thrown open and with the delightful summer night that prevailed, the dancing program was made one of the real delight. Situated as the pavilion is, on the beach of the bay, the scene was indeed a most imposing one.

The honorary party of last night far outclasses any similar event arranged in the city in a number of years.

A number of guests from out of the city were present for the affair.

I can qualify and assist men to fill traffic positions paying $125 and up, per mo., under Interstate Commerce Laws. Absolutely biggest field today for ambitious men. Call immediately Mr. Luce, Delta Hotel, evenings, 7 to 9. 190-31.

Miss Katherine Fleming visited in Gladstone Sunday.

DELTA COUNTY IS TOLD HOW

CHAIRMAN OF MEMONIEE COUNTY BOARD SPEAKS BEFORE LOCAL SUPERVISORS

E. P. Radford, of Hermansville, for 26 years a member of the Menominee county board of supervisors and for 16 years of that time, chairman of that body, yesterday told members of the Delta county board how to conduct her affairs on approximately $45,000 a year while Delta county's annual expenditures amount to nearly twice that sum.

Mr. Radford told the board of supervisors yesterday that by paying the sheriff of Menominee county a stipulated salary and a lump sum for the boarding of prisoners a great deal of money had been saved for the county. He told the Delta supervisors yesterday that by the adoption of the county system for handling the accounts of the poor department bills for that purpose were reduced from $23,000 a year to approximately $14,000 a year.

The supervisors of Menominee county meet every two months. At the intervals of every four or five years members of the county board's equalization committee make a tour of every section of the county for the purpose of gaining first hand information as to property values and improvements that are made.

In some regards Menominee county board conducts its affairs along lines similar to those adopted here but it was revealed yesterday that in a number of important matters Menominee is securing similar results to those achieved here with a smaller expenditure of money.

The visit of Chairman Radford and the insight given by him to the local supervisors as to methods employed in Menominee county, were thoroughly appreciated by members of the local board.

LITTLE FRIENDS ENTERTAINED

A NEW ALTAR WAS RECEIVED

A beautiful altar was received yesterday by the Catholic ladies of Maple Ridge for the new Sacred Heart church. The altar, which was manufactured by Benziger Brothers, Chicago, is Roman in design and is finished in white and gold. A consignment of goods were also received from Diederick-Schaefer Co., consisting of a white silk suit of vestments, ostensarium, candle sticks, etc. The ladies have been working hard the last three months in order to get every thing that is necessary to have the new church dedicated just as soon as possible.

QUICK ACTION SAYS WILSON

(Special to The Press.)
Washington, July 13.—The view which the state department holds as to mean for the ultimate settlement of the controversy between the United States and Germany if diplomatic relations fall, is reference of the issue to the International Commission. Officials of the state department indicated today that the attitude of the United States is contained in the following principles:

1. A state of war can not abridge or destroy the rights of neutrals, in so-called zones established by one or more belligerents in open or free seas.
2. The creation of a war zone and blockade by Germany is not legally based either on written or unwritten international law and the same argument applies to any limitation of free and open seas by Great Britain.
3. Suspicion of unarmed merchantmen cannot be pleaded as justification for such an attack.
4. The United States does not regard as final any grave and seemingly insoluble disagreement between the United States and Germany because the United States is committed to the principles of the International Inquiry.

(Special to The Press.)

Washington, July 13.—Secretary Tully gave out the following official reply: "We received the following telegram from President Wilson: 'Please say that from the moment of the arrival of the official text of the German note I have given the matter my closest attention, keeping constantly in touch with the Secretary of state and with every course that would throw any light on the situation. That so soon as the secretary of state and I have maturely considered the situation, I shall go to Washington to get into a personal conference with him and the cabinet and that there will be a prompt announcement if possible, of the purposes of the government.'"

WELLS TO ATTEND PHELPS FUNERAL

A large number of local people will this morning go to Wells to attend the funeral ceremonies over the body of Mrs. H. H. Phelps who passed away on Monday evening at her home. The funeral will be conducted at 9 o'clock at the Wells home before the body is removed to the Northwestern station from where it will be taken to Menominee, where the final services will be conducted.

The death of Mrs. Phelps has brought a general sorrow over Wells as her sterling character and qualities were there so well known. In her passing, a great loss has come to her family, Wells and the vicinity.

JOSEPH BAYLISS GETS STATE JOB

Joseph E. Bayliss, of Sault Ste. Marie, candidate for the Republican nomination for congress against Frank D. Scott, of Alpena, in the last primary election, has been appointed as traveling auditor for the public domain commission of Michigan. The position is a new one that has been created by the commission. It will be his duty to visit all sections of the state collect lines in cases started by the game wardens go to the department.

ONE KILLED! ONE IS HURT

NORTHWESTERN SECTION FOREMAN MEETS INSTANT DEATH; WIFE HAS MIRACULOUS ESCAPE

Archie Nantelle, section foreman for the Northwestern road at Beaver, met instant death; Fred Broese, of Beaver, sustained a broken arm and severe bruises about the body and Mrs. Nantelle escaped without injury, when a railroad velocipede, on which the trio was riding, was struck by a NorthWestern train near Beaver. Mr. and Mrs. Nantelle and Broese had been to Perkins to visit a sick relative and were returning to their homes at Beaver shortly after 10:30 o'clock on Monday night. They were within 200 feet of the Beaver section house when their frail machine was struck, head-on, by a heavy locomotive, pulling a freight train. It is believed that Nantelle was attempting to make the handcar landing at the section house, on which to run the velocipede from the track and misjudged the distance of the oncoming train. Broese and Mrs. Nantelle claim that they did not see the train until the engine was almost upon them and that they had no time to escape. Nantelle was running the velocipede looking forward and members of the train crew insist that he must have seen the train as they watched him on the track as the train bore down upon the velocipede and repeatedly sounded the whistle. It is believed by the crew that Nantelle thought he could reach the landing before the train and would there have an easy place on which to run the velocipede from the rails.

Nantelle's body was horribly mangled under the wheels of the engine, while Mrs. Nantelle and Broese were thrown to the side of the track. The train was stopped as soon as possible and after the coroner had been notified, Broese was brought to St. Francis hospital here on the train. Dr. George Bartley, coroner, went to the scene and after making an investigation, the mangled body of the unfortunate section foreman was brought to the city by J. A. Allo.

Nantelle was 38 years of age and is survived by his wife and three small children.

COUPLE GIVEN FINE SURPRISE

Supervisor and Mrs. Andrew Englund, of Ford River, were surprised at their home on Saturday evening, the event being arranged in celebration of the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of the couple. Mr. and Mrs. Englund knew nothing of arrangements that had been made for the event and were taken completely by surprise when the great crowd of people from the district about Ford River, Escanaba, Gladstone and Perronville, arrived at the home. The evening was delightfully spent with games and music and at a late hour elaborate refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Englund received a number of handsome gifts as souvenirs of the occasion. Yesterday announcement was made by Mr. and Mrs. Englund that they desire to sincerely thank those who had the arrangements for the party in charge and for the delightful gifts that were received by them.

ATTEND FUNERAL OF DROWNED BOY

A large number of Gladstone people yesterday afternoon attended the funeral of Earl Daniels, of Chicago, who was drowned in the bay at Gladstone, while bathing with several companions on Saturday. The service was conducted at All Saints church and was attended by a tremendous crowd of people. The lad was bathing with several other boys near the Central avenue dock at Gladstone when he was seized with cramps. He was unable to make his companions understand that he was in danger and before help could be summoned was drowned.

THE VOICE OF THE SOLITUDES

Sometimes worn and harassed by the noises of a crowded city, you sigh for silence. Where shall silence be found? The country, the forest, come to your mind. You hasten to the depths of the woods alone—lie on a mossy bank or a carpet of leaves and listen for the silence. It is not there. The winds sigh through the branches of the trees and the leaves rustle; there is the hum of the bee or other insect; a bird, fluting no threatening look or motion, comes and perches near you, twittering his little notes or raising his voice in a loud, glad song; now and then the chatter of a squirrel comes to your ear. The world is full of voices. But these voices speak to your soul. They tell of the beneficence of the Creator, of love, of trust. They bid you hope. They remind you of the optimism and manliness of vain pride, shallow ambitions, false pretensions, and small egotisms. Gentle, safe and slow, nature yet speaks in no uncertain tone. Though you have not found silence, you have found refreshment. With increased strength of mind and body, you go forth again into the busy world, ready again to bear and to do.

FARMERS AND AUTOS

The average man, asked why farmers are buying automobiles, answers glibly enough, "Because they can." But Farm Life contributes some interesting facts bearing on the report that 75 per cent of the machines being sold this year go to farmers. It finds that almost every farmer whom it interviewed is planning, if his crops will permit, to buy an automobile. The same paper attributes this largely to the decrease in price of machines and the need of the farmer for a time-saving and pleasure-giving vehicle. It adds that in no case has it found the farmer neglecting his work to go joy-riding.

If these things are so, and there is no reason for doubting them, the purchase of autos by farmers is likely to prove as salutary for the nation as it was once believed their purchase by almost everyone else would prove disastrous. Everything that makes farm life more attractive and brings the convenience and pleasures of cities to rural communities benefits not only the country but the city, which depends on the country and the nation, which always goes back for its support to the soil. A good many factors are working to give the country the advantages of the city, and when it has them, its own peculiar advantages which the city cannot have will outweigh the balance, and the rural life problem will disappear. It looks as though everyone—and not merely the farmer's family and the dealer—ought to rejoice when a farmer buys an automobile.

Officers of the Delta County Agricultural Society are doing a great but unrewarded service for the people of Delta county. Without pay or hope of reward the officers and directors are working constantly and conscientiously to make the Northern State

Fairs of the future in this city, real county fairs. They are now bending their efforts toward the construction of a race track on the land purchased by the county last fall. Up to this time the entire expense of the work of building the foundation for the track has been borne by the society through individual subscriptions secured from citizens of this city and Delta county. The officials have now reached the limit of their endurance and that of the subscribing public and unless financial help from some source is offered the work must stop. If the county fair of the future are to be a success the officers of the association must build permanently and provide the accommodations that are usually found in fair ground plants. A race course is one of the first and main requisites of such a plant, and Delta county should not hesitate in offering aid to complete the work that is begun. The people of the county voted $12,000 in bonds to purchase fair grounds site and of that amount less than $3,000 was issued as the site was purchased for a sum far less than was at first expected would be necessary. Thus Delta county's fair ground plant has cost the county up to this time far less than was expected. Particularly with this fact in view, entirely ignoring the direct benefits that will accrue to the county through the establishment of a modern county fair, the county board should come to the rescue of the officers of the society and give to that organization some financial aid at this session of the board.

WAR

The Hague, July 13.—British Quakers, or members of the Society of Friends, are working together with the representatives of the American Rockefeller Foundation in behalf of the 5,200 Belgian refugees, who have been provided with temporary homes by the Dutch government in the camp at Uden. The wooden barracks are occupied almost entirely by women and children, as most of the men who were first there have gone to fight in what is left of Belgium for the recovery of their national soil.

In the well-lighted and spacious workshops scattered about the camp, the Rockefeller Foundation has supplied a number of sewing machines and all the necessary material—wool, cotton, and flannel—and the women and girls work steadily day after day, making garments of all kinds, apparently pleased to have something to do. The Quakers, who, by their principles, are not permitted to go to war, are doing remarkable work in northwestern France and Belgium in preparing future homes for the stricken civilians. They have provided them with lumber, tools and workshops, and even here are building small portable bungalows, which the refugees can take with them when they find it possible to return to their country. They succeeded in completing one bungalow a day at a cost of about $200, each building including a comfortable living room and kitchen combined, and two bedrooms.

An occasional visit is paid to the refugees camp by representatives of the Rockefeller Foundation, while the Dutch Ministers and high officials and their wives also take great interest in the welfare of the Belgian guests of the Dutch nation. On the day of the visit of the Associated Press correspondent Mrs. Cort van der Linden, wife of the Premier, also went through the camp and in her honor a great Dutch flag, made by the refugees themselves, floated from the flagstaff of the camp.

London, July 13.—From what appeared to be a lull on the western front has sprung suddenly some of the most severe fighting in months, with the Germans the aggressors and victors.

The Souchez cemetery, seven miles north of Arras and hardly half that distance southwest of Lens, has been wrested from the French after a German gas attack, followed by hand-to-hand fighting with bomb and bayonet. The French admit this loss and are fighting to regain the ground which they had won at such heavy cost. Slowly the French had been tightening their grip on the village of Souchez until the Germans, aware that the capture of the entire position would be an important step in the French offensive toward Lens and Lille, launched a terrific counter stroke which left them masters of the shattered burial ground with more than a hundred and fifty prisoners in their hands. Fighting among the houses which fringe the western edge of the town still rages.

There has also been a renewal of activity in other areas of France and Belgium, but nothing comparable with the strategic importance of the Souchez struggle. The Germans lay claim to the destruction of the British position on Hill No. 60, near Ypres, but this finds no confirmation from either French or British sources.

The situation in Poland and Galicia has not yet reached a crisis, but the public is rather weary of following the complexities of the Russian retirement and so long as Warsaw appears to be in no immediate danger, is turning to the west, hazarding guesses as to whether the British and French or the Germans will be the first to take the general offensive.

With the arrival of mid-summer this is a big question, for it is felt that one side or the other will strike before long; otherwise another winter of tedious trench warfare is inevitable.

The Italian attacks against Austria seem to be gaining in intensity, but the Vienna official statement admits no loss of ground.

SCIENTISTS ARE NOT WORTHLESS

Well, well, well. Scientists are of some use to us after all.

For years and years we have read of them looking through telescopes, microscopes and other things only spelled and pronounced by one of their own number and heard them proclaim the discovery of a new solar organ or some other thing which was so far away that we could not disprove their statement.

Now in these days of progress and depression (and democracy) comes the practical demonstration that scientists aren't such bad fellows after all and that they really and truly do announce things which mean something to ordinary folk.

Today comes the report from the department of Agriculture at Washington to the effect despite the usual number of complaints, ants, those little humble chaps, are not such dangerous animals after all.

The scientists declare that they do little harm and that most damage charged up against them is purely on circumstantial evidence and not enough to condemn them. These government students also say that only the unsightliness of these conical sand-like nests is reason enough to destroy them.

Then they continue: Where there is only a small area to be covered the simplest method is to drench the nests with boiling water. Another simple remedy is to spray the lawn with kerosene emulsion or with a very strong soap wash prepared by dissolving any common laundry soap in water at the rate of 1 pound or 1-2 pound to a gallon of water. Such methods are particularly well adapted to small lawn and for the ordinary little ant.

For large ant colonies of other species bisulphide of carbon, a chemical which can be purchased at any drug store, will be found effective. This substance can be placed in the nest by means of an oil can or small syringe, the quantity required varying from 1-2 ounces for a small nest to 2 or 3 ounces or more for a large one. An oil can with a long spout is a convenient instrument as it can be inserted into the nests and the liquid injected without its being brought close to the operator's nose, for the fumes of bisulphide of carbon although not poisonous are nauseating.

Except for the unsightly appearance of their nests, however, the lawn ants do no appreciable harm. They are frequently noted on roses and other ornamental and garden plants, and it is naturally supposed that they are doing harm to these.

As a matter of fact it is not the plants that attract the ants, but plant lice. These tiny creatures excrete a sweet liquid of which ants are very fond and which they collect without injuring the plant lice. For this reason plant lice are frequently termed "ant cows."

The analogy is emphasized by the fact that ants have been known to take plant lice into their nests, shelter them through the winter, and return them to suitable plants in the spring very much as men are accustomed to feed and shelter cows throughout the winter, putting them on pasture with the coming of the spring.

This is the only way in which ants can be said to injure plants. They enter houses very rarely and on the whole, may be said to do no harm of any kind except in so far as they lessen the attractive appearance of the lawn. On the other hand, it is quite possible that by bringing up from the lower depths sand and earth they may distinctly increase fertility by forming a top dressing or soil mulch and at the same time permit better aeration of the earth.

How Mrs. Harrod Got Rid of Her Stomach Trouble.

"I suffered with stomach trouble for years and tried everything I heard of, but the only relief I got was temporary until last spring I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and procured a bottle of them at our drug store. I got immediate relief from that dreadful heaviness after eating and from pain in the stomach," writes Mrs. Linda Harrod, Fort Wayne, Ind. Obtainable everywhere.

"DRY" LEADER IS DETERMINED

Detroit, July 13.—The split brought by Grant M. Hudson, against Charles H. Culver for accusing him, a Baptist minister and superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, of having drunk liquor of different kinds of being an immoral character, was given to the jury by Judge Lamb Saturday.

The defendant brought witnesses to show that 23 years ago four of the boys at the Kalamazoo college, including Hudson, took four of the girls out to supper at the principal hotel there; that one glass of wine was served at each plate and that some of them took it, while others did not. This is admitted by Hudson, who says he himself tasted the wine, but did not drink it.

It was asserted that Hudson had bought a glass of wine from a saloon-keeper that he had taken a bottle home and that something that looked like a beer case had been seen in his cellar by a man working in the house. Hudson admits that he bought a glass of blackberry wine when he was sick and his business partner advised him to take it. He took a bottle of wine home to his wife, shortly after her baby was born, but he denies the beer case. His wife admitted that a neighbor gave her a bottle of dandelion wine, but she did not like it so threw it out.

A man who drove Hudson from Schoolcraft to Vicksburg says that he stood treat at the hotel at the end of the trip. He took beer and Hudson took wine. Hudson denies this.

Laverne Rice, clerk of the Brismarck Kalamazoo, says he served eight rounds of beer and one clam to Hudson, when he was there with a crowd. Mrs. Rice says she and her husband went to the dining room together for dinner and where there she saw Hudson in the grill-room with a crowd of politicians drinking cocktails.

The defense claims these were different incidents, but the husband apparently didn't see what his wife did, as she sat at dinner with him. Hudson says he was there only once with a crowd and that he drank gingerale. Further, that Mrs. Rice could not possibly have seen from the dining room into the grill-room where he was.

But the star witness was Albert Cornell, an old soldier, who says that when he was tending bar there was a knock at the door; he slipped down a panel and a hand with an empty bottle and a quarter in it were pushed. He took the quarter, filled the flask with whiskey and returned it. He looked through another door to see who the purchaser was and just then Hudson came along. There was nobody else in sight. This Hudson denies.

An attempt was made to show that Hudson had been unkindly friendly with two women who are now dead and with a girl who worked in his store, in Schoolcraft, but only testimony was that of Cornell, who said he had peeped under the shade in the house of one of the women and seen her with Hudson. This was just across the way from Hudson's own house. Hudson denies this also.

Words of Great Fighters.

Great fighters have been able, at critical moments, to address their men in words that inspired them with fresh spirit for the fray, and encouraged them to face frightful odds with a confidence born of their enthusiasm that carries all before it and almost wins the fight before it is begun. Our own history, as well as that of the old world, is filled with striking instances. Who can recall without a thrill Farragut's command to "Go ahead!" when warned of the presence of torpedoes in the bay? Or Grant's calm response, "We propose to fight it out along these lines if it takes all summer?"

STATE DEPARTMENT HAS THREE CODES

Washington—The state department has three codes which are used alternately. They are known as the red, the white and the blue codes and are considered of great value. The blue code is regarded as absolutely safe and it is this code that real important messages are sent.

The blue code is based on the cipher system in which all words are translated into figures. By a comprehensive key system the messages cannot be read without the aid of code books.

The meaning of every number is based upon the key number. If the department used the same key word twice in succession it would be relatively easy to translate messages by simply comparing printed text of messages with the original text.

As an extreme precautionary method the department changes the entire code, key words, figures and every character at given periods.

Conductor's Joke.

A middle-aged prim-looking woman with a ponderous volume under her arm, entered a cross-town car today, rotes the New York Times. She must have come from Boston, or, at the least presumption, been born there, for she immediately opened the book and began devouring it. The conductor came up and said: "Fare, please." She, absently looking up from her book, exclaimed, a bit embarrassed: "Oh, I'm so unthoughtful," and handed him a visiting card. The conductor looked at the piece of cardboard, first one side and then the other. Finally the puzzled expression on his face relaxed into a grin, and he said: "See here, madam, this ain't no tea party."

Saving for the Boy.

As my friend Jones dropped a letter in the mail box he remarked: "There goes $5,000 for my boy the day he casts his first vote." I inquired where this precious letter was going. "My resignation to the board of governors of the club," said he, naming one of the four or five of which he is a member. Then he proceeded to explain. "It costs me $100 a year to walk into that club about ten times. I'm going to deposit that $100 each year for my son, investing whenever the sum is considerable enough. In the twenty years from now until that election day when the baby's first ballot is put in the slot, the aggregate of these club dues and interest will amount to $3,000. Am I wise?" I'll just pass his question along to you.—Girard, in Philadelphia Ledger.

REVOLT PLOT CASES HELD TO GRAND JURY.

El Paso, Tex., July 13.—The neutrality cases based on charge filed by United States officials in El Paso and growing out of the arrest of Gen. Victoriano Huerta and five others were deferred today to the federal grand jury for action Oct. 4. Gen. Pascual Orozco is a fugitive from justice under a United States information charging conspiracy to launch a new revolutionary movement in Mexico. His bond of $7,500 was declared forfeited today when he failed to appear before G. B. Oliver, United States commissioner for preliminary hearing. Gen. Marcelo Caraveo, Jose Zozaya, Frank and Ike Alderete, defendants, waived preliminary examination and were held to the federal grand jury under reduced bonds. Gen. Caraveo was placed under $2,500 bonds and the three other defendants under $4,000 bonds each.

WAR VESSELS OF NEW BOMBS

Washington, July 13.—Warning to look out for bombs concealed in their holds were flashed tonight from the naval wireless station at Arlington to two ships at sea which sailed from New Orleans, July 9. Both vessels, the British steamship Howth Head and Baron Napier, cleared with cargoes of mules for the British army July 8 and sailed the next day, the former for Dublin and Belfast, via Norfolk, and the latter direct for Avonmouth.

Sending of the warnings was ordered by Secretary Daniels upon receiving a telegram from a New York Orleans newspaper saying a letter to that paper signed "Pearce" indicated that explosives had been placed on board those vessels. The radio message was sent broadcast over the sea.

MORE MEN LOST THAN LIVE IN WEST

If you wish to translate this war into terms of the United States, here is one terrific fact.

Ten months of the war have passed and already the total of killed, wounded and missing exceeds the entire number of men of military age in (18 to 44 years) in the United States west of the Mississippi.

Exact figures, of course will not be available until the end of the war. Statisticians with access to official information, have figured up that the losses of Germany's enemies to date have exceeded 5,000,000. German's exact losses are, of course, a military secret, but it seems conservative to say that the combined losses of Germany, Austria and Turkey, have at least approached half that of their foes.

According to the United States census the number of men of military age in the 23 states west of the Mississippi is 6,443,042. You could almost add the 1,330,556 men of military age in Illinois—certainly all in Chicago. The Russian losses alone exceed the entire quota of Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana and Ohio.

Yet, if present indications are worth anything, there is no end in sight.

According to the figures of the German statisticians the Russian millions have melted away like snow in the sun. Itemized official figures were given out a few days ago by the German general staff showing the total of Russian prisoners as exceeding 1,000,000.

Up to January, Russia's losses were conceded in London to be 1,500,000. Then came the destruction of the Russian 10th army, then the great losses in the Carpathians where the losses aggregated 500,000 in killed, wounded and missing. The crushing offensive in May that drove the Russians across the banks of the Danube and the San and from Przemysl added another 150,000, while von Hindenburg's work in the Baltic provinces increases the grand total to 3,000,000.

British figures for the French losses put them at 1,600,000 dead, injured and missing. Then comes the British, Belgian, Serbian, Montenegrin and Japanese, the recent losses at Ypres and in the Dardanelles bringing the total killed, wounded and prisoners from the five nations up to 5,000,000.

SCORE UNCONSCIOUS AT LIGHTNING STRIKES GRAND STAND.

Marinette, Wis., July 13.—At least a score of persons were rendered unconscious and four men were seriously hurt when lightning struck the grandstand at the Peshtigo ball park Sunday afternoon. The injured are: Elmer Couzillon, back and shoulders badly burned.

Willard Labomascus and Art Kauss, bruised by falling pieces of board.
Lightning struck the south end of the structure, shattering every board and post in the stand.

PRAISES WORK OF U. S. DOCTORS

Washington, July 13.—Sir Thomas Lipton, writing from his yacht Erin, which he had converted to a British hospital ship to Miss Babel Boardman, of the American Red Cross society, pays a tribute to the effectiveness of the work of American surgeons and nurses in Serbia, Montenegro and elsewhere.

"The first time I was at Ghevgheli," Sir Thomas wrote in picturing the transformation in Serbia, "there were 1,400 patients there, mostly the other day there were only three typhus cases."

He described as "miraculous" the work of Dr. Richard B. Strong, the Harvard professor of tropical diseases in charge of the American Sanitary commission in Serbia and Montenegro, and his staff.

"Their work," he wrote, "is miraculous. Many hospitals where they have been working which I visited the last time I was in Serbia were fully of typhus cases but when I called this time they had no typhus cases. At Uskub, Dr. Strong's headquarters, some of the hospitals are closing up. I could hardly believe that the staff you sent out here could have made such a change. The terrible sights that I witnessed in connection with typhus when I was in Serbia the last time now are finished. What is now badly needed is for the country to be put in a proper sanitary condition to prevent these epidemics in the future."

DUTCH PAPER VIEW REPLY

The Hague, July 13.—The Dutch papers comment unfavorably on the German note, which is declared to be merely a rehearsal of the previous German arguments.

The Nieuwe Courant, painstakingly neutral, which has close relations with the foreign office, says:

"The note gives an impression that Germany is trying to convince itself, rather than others of the justice of its position. The pathetic allusions to the German mothers and children is in bad taste in a diplomatic document. There are also the American mothers and children among the drowned passengers to be taken into consideration."

"What is wanted is a guarantee that such horrors will not occur again, whether the victims be Americans, Germans, Dutch or Chinese."

The paper adds that German's effort to establish a parallel between regulations of warfare on land and sea is unreasonable, as the fundamental conditions of the two kinds of warfare are inevitably different.

CRITICAL POINT IS REACHED

Washington, D. C., July 13.—Formal study of the official text of Germany's reply to the American note on submarine warfare as it affects neutral right strengthens the convictions of high officials that a most critical point in the relations between the two countries has been reached.

Not only do they feel the United States must refuse to accept the German proposals for the future conduct of American citizens on the high seas, but the failure of Germany to disavow the sinking of the Lusitania, with the loss of more than one hundred Americans, in their view has brought on a crisis the outcome of which it is difficult at present clearly to foresee.

That there will be no action by the United States for at least another week was indicated on Sunday. Several days will be required to measure fully the consequences and responsibilities which will be incurred by the American government in framing a policy to meet the situation.

Secretary Lansing will go to Cornish, N. H., within a day or two to confer with President Wilson.

Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, intends to call on Secretary Lansing during the week to learn informally whether he can be of any service in the situation. No engagement will be made for a conference, but it has probably taken place on Tuesday.

On Sunday the official text of the German note arrived and was made public. It differed in only a few unimportant words from the telegraphic reports, which came from Berlin Friday night.

In all quarters here the reply was the single topic of concern. What the action of the American government will be is doubtful largely in the sense that the means of expressing the ideas and purposes of the United States have not been decided.

It was authoritatively indicated that obviously there would be no surrender of rights and no acceptance of the German proposal to guarantee immunity to American ships under arrangements to be agreed upon by the naval authorities of the two countries concerning the marking of neutral ships.

There is no intention, from indications in official quarters, to force a situation, but in whatever policy is followed the American endeavor will be to place full responsibility on Germany for any subsequent rupture in friendly relations.

In the view of many officials, should German submarine commanders therefore continue in practice to respect American rights, discussion could continue.

There were intentions, however, that in the next communication the United States most likely would impress upon the German government the serious consequences which will ensue from any further violation of American rights as proclaimed in the notes already sent.

The chief obstacle, it appears, however, to permitting virtually a status quo to continue while further notes are exchanged, is the treatment which Germany has given to the Lusitania case. The United States had asked for disavowal of intent to kill Americans and reparation, although the latter has been subordinated to the greater consideration of whether Germany legally justified the action of the submarine commander or would admit liability.

No direct answer on the question of law involved were given the last note, and the quick sinking of the vessel was attributed to "peculiar circumstances," such as the presence of high explosives. High officials regard this as an evasion, pointing out that even if there were explosives on the ship, which is not admitted, they never would have been ignited but for the German torpedo.

Opinion in German quarters here is much the same as that which has been reflected in press comment from Berlin. Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, is satisfied with the German reply and thinks it offers a basis for negotiations. He does not believe a break between Germany and the United States is now probable, and is satisfied that the suggestions carried by Meyer-Gerhard to urge the German foreign office to adopt a friendly tone in its reply were followed.

With the United States an active champion for the cause of neutral rights, German officials here say they foresee an amicable understanding eventually on the question of the freedom of the seas.

FIND EXPLOSIVE PACKAGE ADDRESSED TO WHITE HOUSE

Baltimore, July 12.—A small paper-wrapped and cotton-padded package was found by a policeman under the Pennsylvania railroad bridge at Patterson Park and Eager St. here today. On the wrapper was written "White House, Washington, D. C., explosive." It proved to be a cartridge about six inches long, apparently of the kind used in machine guns. About the cartridges were wrapped a fine filament of copper wire. The police believe it to be the work of a crank here it to be the work of a crank or joker.

DAILY LETTER

Higher prices were the rule today with increased activity all through the list. Calumet and Hecla was the feature selling at 570 or an advance of 30 points from yesterday's low. One of the big copper men is being credited with the prediction of 20 cent metal market for three years. There was some slight profit taking near the closing. Iron Blossom is reported cut its dividend to 5 cents. Butte Alex Scott also declared a 15 cent dividend. The strength in Butte and London is attributed to the report that the Rainbow Dev. Co. has been successful in disposing of their bonds, for, as we understand it, the option of the Butte and London is held by the Rainbow Company.

BOSTON MARKETS

Coppers were all stronger on the bids with offerings scarce. The improved tone failed to generate new business to any great extent but the close was very firm. Zinc stocks were the feature and there was also a noticeable improvement in Pond Creek and Bland Creek stock which are labelled for higher prices. It is said that St. Marys land will declare a $2.00 dividend which may stimulate prices somewhat further.

ZEPPELIN DRILL TAKING PLACE

London, July 10.—"Zeppelin drill" has now taken its place alongside the familiar fire drill in some London factories and business places. In a few cases respirators have been provided by employers and weekly or fortnightly respirator parades accompany the Zeppelin drill.

For households, advertisers are furnishing neat placards with "directions" for conduct in case of air raid. One such card bears the following brief instructions:

"Don't go into the street.

"Close all windows and doors on lower floors.

"Keep buckets of water and sand upstairs.

"Have respirators handy in a bed room."

A housewife writes to a newspaper to describe the steps she has taken to protect her household: "Every night the bathtub upstairs is left half full of water. On every landing I have buckets of water and sand. In every bedroom there is a bowl of water ready for moistening the respirators, and all my family have been advised to keep their respirators under the pillow so as to be within easy reach."

A school mistress writes advising parents to accustom their small children to the use of the respirator: "It would startle a child considerably," she notes, "to be awakened in the middle of the night and have a respirator clapped over its mouth."

There is no unanimity of opinion even among the police authorities as to the proper mode of procedure for house holders in case of Zeppelin attack. In most places the police have advised people to go into their cellars, but the chief of police at Windsor is sure this is inadvisable. His code of directions which reads with a matter of facts common sense almost Yankee in its directness, is as follows:

"Do not congregate in one room or in the basement, as has been freely recommended. Some of the bombs recently crashed through roof and floors to basement and then exploded. Again if gas bombs are used, the cellar, with doors and windows closed, is not a haven of safety.

"In a few words: In the event of an air raid, put your trust in Providence; have something efficacious on the premises for coping with a fire in its earlier stages; clench your teeth and do your best."

SUFFRAGE LEADER'S AUTO IS LEVIED ON

Philadelphia, July 12.—Dr. Anna Howard Shaw's little roadster, the gift of New York suffragists, has been levied on by the tax collectors of Delaware county, Pa. for payment of a state tax of $126, which the national leader of the suffrage movement has refused for two years to pay. Dr. Shaw has been notified that if payment is not made within five days, the car will be advertised and sold at public sale. Dr. Shaw left her country home at Moylan for Massachusetts, where she will make a tour of the state in the interest of the suffrage amendment. No sooner had she and her secretary, Miss Lucy Anthony, left the house, than Tax Collector Little and Deputy Constable Matthews called and left a formidable looking document. This was a levy on the machine. Miss Anthony emphasized the fact that Dr. Shaw faithfully pays her real estate tax at Moylan, because she feels that she should, but she will not pay the state tax, saying she is a resident of New York state.

HOLT'S PAL WARNS OF DEATH

New Orleans, July 13.—A letter received by a newspaper here signed "Peace" declared the writer intended to kill J. P. Morgan and Sir Cecil Spring Rice, the British ambassador, and finish the work of Enrich Muentzer, who committed suicide several days ago after wounding Mr. Morgan. The letter warned persons who had relatives on board the British steamers Howth Head and Baron Napier, which sailed from New Orleans July 9 with mules for the British army, to watch for reports from those vessels. The writer declared that it was Muentzer who warned passengers on board the Lusitania, before that vessel sailed from New York, that it would be dangerous to make the voyage on her. He also declared that Muentzer personally called on Charles Frohman and urged him not to take passage on the ship. After announcing his intention to kill Mr. Morgan to avenge the death of Holt, the letter writer says: "Holt was my partner and I glory in the fact of his comradeship. We worked together ever since this cursed war began. Holt is gone, but I am still here and I am going to carry on the work the two of us began. I am going to carry this work with redoubled fury. The statement that Holt intended to wreck libraries and other such public building is a lie. The capitol is the only building he planned to wreck and we partly succeeded in our plan. But what we did plan and what I am going to carry out is the just idea to stop this country from contributing to the damnable, hellish, barbaric slaughter across the ocean. "British ships are daily leaving New Orleans laden with livestock for the enemies of Germany, just as ships laden with guns and ammunition almost daily are leaving New York. Therefore this city furnishes a promising field for the work that lies before me. I may succeed in destroying none. But I am going to carry out this work and whatever I achieve will be satisfactory to me. And then I will be ready for Morgan. "And I get through with Morgan I will ready to share may pale fate, which I consider glorious fate. And Sir Cecil Spring-Rice. Do you want to know Muentzer was after when he went to Glen Cove? Morgan partly. The real reason for going to Glen Cove was Sir Cecil Spring-Rice. We have trained Spring-Rice for week after week and we are going to get him yet. "This country considers Holt barbaric, a crank, I knew him in Germany and I knew him in America. He took lives when he thought good would follow. "Holt taught me his principles and ideals and as I said before I glory in his leadership of the past. He stood ready to risk his own life to save other lives that he considered worthy. Why at the time the Lusitania sailed on her fateful voyage do you know who it was warned Vanderbilt and the rest not to sail on her? I was Enrich Muentzer. He knew what was going to befall this British liner. He not only sent messages to a large number of people that he knew were going to sail on the ship, but he personally appealed to Charles Frohman not to make the voyage. Just as Muentzer appealed to Frohman, Vanderbilt and the others not to sail on the Lusitania, so now I appeal to worthy Americans in this country not to sail on the British mule ships leaving this port. Remember Muentzer's methods are my methods. I am working with enough explosives to wreck this whole town. I have a program to follow: British ships, Morgan, Sir Cecil Spring-Rice and then oblivion. "Halle failed completely. Muentzer succeeded partly. I am going to succeed completely. I am but one among millions, but I have dynamite. If there be anyone who doubts these words let him wait and watch. The early part will witness the completion of Muentzer's plans. If you will look up the records you will discover the names of two of his majesty's ships which have just left port, probably never to return. One of them is called Howth Head and the other Baron. Have you relatives on either of the ships? If you have I feel sorry for you. If you are an American, but if you are a subject of his majesty I congratulate myself. Watch the career of some of these muleships. "Signed) PHARCE."

CONNIE MACK IS DESERTED

Philadelphia, Pa.—Thousands of fans were astounded at the wall of Connie Mack, erstwhile idol of fandom, in which he set forth the reason why he scattered throughout the country his famous pitching staff and shot to pieces his famous $100,000 infield, given full credit to the Federal league's 42 centimeter guns. "Why?" said one old patron, "there's nothing to it; more than that, Mack is getting back to the old days when we faithful ones supported him for years while he built up a team from a bunch of kids. These same kids made it possible to build the magnificent baseball team known as Shibe park. Yet, when salaries began to soar, Connie commenced to wobble Federal league nothing." Another dyed in the wool fan, one of the most prominent men in the city, commented as follows: "Now who-ever could possibly accuse Connie Mack of being caught napping when the team began to slip in 1915? There were no signs of slipping till the Braves mauled the confidence out of them. "Whoever could imagine a man of Eddie Plank's caliber proving disloyal to Mack? Why, when the announcement was made that he had turned Plank, Bender and Coombs loose, it happened since has simply driven thousands of fans away from Shibe park. This is shown by the attendance, and it will be years before they will be won back. Every fan loves a winner, but a true sports man becomes disgusted when a simon pure derby winner is deliberately put out of commission. The story astounded every baseball fan in Philadelphia—Connie Mack a quitter—the man who has been the very personification of nerve and rugged stick-to-it-iveness. The idol has fallen, or rather has let himself drop. Sporting writers support the opinion generally held by the public of the disintegration of the Athletic machine—that it was deliberate on the part of Connie Mack to allow it to crumble.

WAR EXTREMISTS SCORED BY BRYAN

Los Angeles, Cal., July 13.—William J. Bryan, former secretary of state, declared in a statement issued on Sunday night that editorial comment on Germany's reply to the American Lusitania note represented the extremes of sentiment, but that he believed the majority of the people were interested solely in protecting American rights and that they would "heartily approve of any steps the president may see fit to take Americans out of the danger zone, or separate passengers from contraband, especially ammunition. "It is not a sacrifice of rights to avoid unnecessary risks," he declared. Mr. Bryan arrived with Mrs. Bryan from San Francisco for a brief stay with their son, William J. Bryan, Jr., and his family at Hermosa Beach. In his statement Mr. Bryan says: "We have in this country a number of newspapers which strongly sympathize with the allies, and also a number of papers which strongly sympathize with the allies, and also a number of papers which are neutral in feeling, as well as in expression, and do not take the extreme views represented by either of the groups above mentioned. "To illustrate what I mean, if you read the papers which strongly sympathize with the allies you will find that, either intentionally or unintentionally, they urge our government to pursue a course which would be helpful to the allies and injurious to Germany. The papers that strongly sympathize with Germany, on the other hand, urge a course which would be helpful to Germany and hurtful to the allies. Each side, influenced quite naturally by its sympathies, so defines national honor as to carry out its views. "The mass of the American people, however, if I know their sentiments, are interested solely in protecting

TRAIN ROBBERS LOOT REPORTED

Washington, July 12.—Nearly $500,000 fell into the hands of the bandits who held up the New York, New Orleans limited on the Louisville & Nashville railroad at Greenville, Ala., Friday, treasury officials say. Officials here believed the haul was the biggest of any train robbery in history. In the car was supposed to have been $40,000, which the treasury department was sending to New Orleans. No definite word on the remainder of the money taken could be obtained. The treasury officials did not pretend that their figures were exact, but they declared that from information they had received from the postoffice inspector at New Orleans, they were certain the booty amounted to about $500,000. The bandits cut the locomotive from the train after holding it up, and started it running wild. They escaped in an automobile. Conductor McRae died of heart failure, due to excitement, while the robbery was in progress. At latest accounts three suspects had been arrested and were held at Montgomery, Ala., but how strong the case against them was uncertain. Secret service agents were understood to be co-operating with post-office and local officers, in attempts to run down the robbers and recover the money. The case was being kept as quiet as possible by investigators. WANTED NOW. Right now, when may fever is attacking its victims and when asthma is causing so much distress, there is a demand for Foley's Honey and Tar Compound—the remedy that brought relief to thousands in previous years. Don't continue to suffer. It will help you. Contains no opiates. Sold everywhere.

REFUSES $1000 FOR HIS HORSE

Racine, Wis., July 12.—Three hours after he had turned down an offer of $1,000 for a pedigreed trotting horse, Ernest Klinkert, superintendent of the farm, that the horse had been found dead in the pasture with a bullet thru the heart. The sheriff and police are making an investigation. In the morning two horses had been turned into the pasture which adjoins the Klinkert driving park. During the afternoon Mr. Klinkert drove to the farm with a man from St. Paul, who desired to purchase a horse. An offer of $1,000 was made for a brown gelding, but Mr. Klinkert refused the offer, holding the animals at a higher price. At 6 o'clock Mr. Klinkert was informed that one of the barnmen had found the horse dead. During the afternoon persons at the Klinkert farm heard considerable shooting in the fields, but paid no attention. They saw persons with shot guns or rifles passing, but did not know any of them.

You Feel Clean and Refreshed! after a bath with KIRK'S JAX-ROSE Soap because its "bubbly" lather has opened and thoroughly cleansed the pores, leaving only a "tinkle" of perfect cleanliness. A daily morning bath with this pure soap is a joy and makes the day's work easier. YOUR DEALER SELLS IT
