"ESCANABA DAY" DREW FORTH MONSTER CROWDS

Bland's Band and Ex-Senator Mason Give Local People Excellent Entertainment---2100 Is Estimate On Attendance.

MORNING—Junior Chautauqua. AFTERNOON—Entertainment, The Beverlys. Lecture, Harold Morton Kramer. (Admission 15 and 25 cents. Children's Hour at the Playground.

NIGHT—Musical Prelude, The Beverlys. Modern Scientific Marvels, Reno B. Welbourn. (Admission 15 and 25 cents.)

"Escanaba Day" at the Lincoln Chautauqua yesterday proved to be one of the biggest days of attractions ever to be arranged in this city on any similar occasion. It was estimated last night that at least 2100 people attended the Chautauqua yesterday afternoon and last night, making for the biggest attendance of any day thus far this year and for any day of the Chautauqua last year.

Ex-Senator William E. Mason, Bland's band and Jean McDonald, yesterday appeared to make the attractions for the day.

Ex-Senator Mason yesterday carried a distinct message to local people in his address of the afternoon. He displayed, in his speech, that he is a person of wide experiences, secured through hard knocks and hard work, but that he has at last achieved his rightful place in the minds of the people. He declared yesterday that he had not talked to a more attentive audience in some time.

Jean McDonald by her clever readings, won instant favor here and she will receive any recommendation that she may desire from those who heard her.

Escanaba people yesterday had one of the biggest musical treats of years when Bland's Band, composed of clean cut college men, appeared at the afternoon program and when they appeared in orchestra numbers at the evening program. Every man of the organization is a musician, trained and expert, this being exemplified in their appearances yesterday.

Leader Bland won admiration here yesterday by his expert leadership ability. Every man of the band responds instantly to his desires, all of which has gone to make the band just what it is—the best to appear in this district since John Phillip Sousa, three years ago.

In the program last night the orchestra rendered a highly difficult program and in such a manner as to bring a thunder of applause from the audience following every number. A number that stands out above the others and one that will long remain firmly imprinted upon the minds of the hearers was that given by Mr. Phillip Gades on his French horn. He played that beautiful "Somewhere a Voice is Calling," in a superb, impressive and extraordinary fashion, being called back afterward to render another solo. While Mr. Gades played the audience leaned forward in their seats displaying their keen pleasure.

The appearance of Mr. Earl Hippie in two numbers on the xylophone brought unstinted applause from the big audience. He proved himself decidedly expert with the instrument and gave numbers of a highly difficult nature.

The final number of the program was "Custer's Last Fight." The stage had been previously set for this number and as the orchestra played on the stage into the battle, it suddenly stopped, when the reveille was sounded from far down the bay shore. As the sound floated softly across the night, the audience grew romantically inspired. Again the orchestra played and again came the sound of the reveille from another direction. At this juncture the battle started furiously, guns were fired from both out and inside the tent in rapid succession. While the guns roared and the horns blared the reveille was sounded inside the tent. As this took place the band suddenly switched into "The Star Spangled Banner" and as a huge American flag was unfurled from the top of the stage, the monster audience arose and remained standing until the selection had been completed.

It was superb.

Ex-Senator William E. Mason of Illinois, electrified the largest audience of Chautauqua week yesterday, by his ringing appeal for a united people in supporting President Wilson in this, the most critical period in the history of the United States. He exalted William Jennings Bryan for his cowardly desertion of the nation's head at a moment when the eyes of the world were fixed on this government. He said that Mr. Bryan had called upon the nation to support the

WAR ORDER RECEIVED

THE MARBLE ARMS COMPANY OF GLADSTONE TO MAKE 400,000 SIGHTS FOR RUSSIAN RIFLES

The Marble Arms & Manufacturing Company of Gladstone, has been awarded a contract for 400,000 rifle sights to be placed on guns being made in the United States for the Russian army. The first installment of 10,000 sights must go forward by Aug. 1. Additional machinery is to be installed at once at the Gladstone plant and between 50 and 60 additional men will be given employment. To turn out the tremendous order nearly a year will be required and it is expected that proper execution of the present contract will result in similar contracts coming to the Gladstone factory.

Of the big war order received by the Gladstone firm the Delta County Reporter of Gladstone says:

James T. Jones, manager of the Marble Arms & Manufacturing company has just returned from Springfield, Mass., where he was the successful bidder on a large contract for rifle sights awarded by the New England-Westinghouse company.

Mr. Jones has secured for his company 400,000 rifle sights, 300,000 of which are to be front sights and the remaining 100,000 rear sights. The Westinghouse company will equip Russian military rifles with the sights.

The order is a large one and means increased prosperity for the Marble factory as well as Gladstone. It will be about one month before the tools for the manufacturing the sights are completed and the material received after which the work will commence in earnest. It is said that 10,000 of

PLAN FOR GREAT FAIR

Officers of the Delta County Agricultural Society are now busily engaged in distributing the premium books for the big county fair of this fall. The list of premiums offered for the fair of this fall exceeds all former schedules and unusual inducements are offered for exhibits at the coming fair. Books have been mailed to farmers throughout the county and the surrounding district and a personal distribution is now being made both in this city and Gladstone. The premium books were issued from the presses of the Morning Press office, and any who have not received a copy of the premium list and who desire them will find extra copies at either the office of Secretary J. L. Joell or at the Morning Press office.

MOTOR PROGRESS IS CONSTANT

Experience in motor car manufacturing teaches that eternal caution is the price of success. Expediency walks constantly at the elbow of every maker of motor cars, whispering "Do this" or "Do that" and he is wise and fortunate who turns a deaf ear to all save performance that is proven in service.

That motor car that exists on the draughtsman's drawing board or in the designer's fancy may prove a fragile delusion in the rough hands of Mr. Average User. Blueprints are beautiful and alluring and inventors are often persuasive. Looking at the one or listening to the other, the motor car manufacturer must forever keep in mind the great fact that ruts and hills and rough roads are relentless, and that inexperience back of the steering wheel constitutes a factor that must be met with the closest of reckoning.

Progress in motor car building is not progress unless it is of proven worth. The next step is unsafe until the last step is of established wisdom. Past performance is vastly more important than future promise.

Two years ago the first Sixes of the Buick Motor Company were placed upon the motor market. At that time they knew the Six was right in theory, and exhaustive tests convinced them it was right in fact. Now they know it is right not only in theory, and in actual service. They had faith in Buick designers and engineers; but had an even greater faith in Buick users. Service is the real test of a motor car and since the verdict of their users was overwhelming they now offer Sixes exclusively.

BIG INTEREST IS AROUSED

A marked interest has been aroused in the excursion to be given to Fayette on Sunday by the men of St. Patrick's church aboard the steamer Saugatuck. The popular price fixed for the trip has offered to many a long awaited opportunity to visit one of the beauty spots of the northern lakes and that the capacity of the boat will be taxed now seems to be assured.

WOMEN WILL TAKE A BIG PART

(By Isabel Worrell Ball) Past National Senior Vice President Woman's Relief Corps.

Washington, D. C., July 21.—Women will take a prominent part in the 49th annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, which will be held in Washington, September 27th to October 2d.

Four organizations of women allied with the Grand Army of the Republic will participate in the encampment. These are the Woman's Relief Corps, the Auxiliary to the Sons of Veterans, the Ladies of the G. A. R., and the Daughters of Veterans. Many thousands of members of the four organizations will be in Washington during the encampment and the Grand Review, which is to reproduce, as far as possible, the review of union troops in Washington by President Johnson and General Grant fifty years ago at the close of the civil war.

Of the organizations of women connected with the Grand Army of the Republic and most important is the Woman's Relief Corps.

The Woman's Relief Corps is auxiliary to the Grand Army of the Republic, and its only auxiliary. The Ladies of the G. A. R. and the Daughters of Veterans are independent bodies, auxiliary to no organization.

The Woman's Relief Corps is the largest organization of women in the world under one eligibility clause, and one motto. In now numbers 167,000, with department organizations in 41 States, divided among 2,601 Corps, as the local organizations are known. Besides these there are 37 detached corps, which thrive in 10 Southern States.

President Wilson and Secretary Lansing Complete Preparation of Final Note to Germany---Warning Is Given.

WILL "BUCK" MENOMINEE

(Special to The Press.) Washington, July 21.—President Wilson and Secretary Lansing conferring at the White House tonight, complete the new note to Germany, warning her that a repetition of the disaster such as the Lusitania, or any violation of American rights on the high seas resulting in the loss of American lives will be regarded as "unfriendly." It will be dispatched tomorrow. The note is in the nature of a final statement by the United States of the interpretation that will be placed by this government on the future transgressions of the American rights. The note is about 1500 words long. While there is not a direct intimation of the course which the United States will pursue in the event of another Lusitania tragedy there are emphatic statements through out the communication pointing out that the discussion of the principles involved has been virtually concluded. The use of term "unfriendly," is taken in diplomatic usage to presage a break of friendly relations, unless reparation and disavowal is forthcoming.

(Special to The Press.) London, July 21.—Germany's heavy guns are bombarding the outer fortifications of Warsaw. The male population of Riga is in flight. Everyman in Lublin is following on the heels of the retreating Russian army. The Lublin-Cholm railway is being demolished by shells. A number of prisoners were taken by the German allies, has increased to over 80,000 in the last three days. Huge stores of war materials and large numbers of guns have been added to the booty. The morale of the Russian army is broken, Berlin reports. The German circle on three sides of Warsaw has been tightened. On the fourth side, east, the Germans are pressing forward in an effort to cut off the last retreat of the Czar's millions.

(Special to The Press.) Washington, July 21.—It is rumored that Warsaw has been evacuated by the Russians. The rumor is unconfirmed in authoritative circles.

(Special to The Press.) Washington, July 21.—Should Great Britain notify the United States formally that she will hold cotton an absolute contraband of war, a new and grave commercial issue will be created. The United States will reply that the shipments of cotton cargoes to neutral ports are to be regarded as intended for those ports and it cannot be assumed that they are intended for Germany. The opinion of the officials is that, as the cotton trade is one of such vast importance, the moment England puts it on the contraband list, a definite understanding must be had on the subject.

NEW PEACE IN MEXICO

(Special to The Press.) Galveston, Texas, July 21. Only a miracle can save Pablo Gonzales' army from complete annihilation and the city of Mexico from falling into the hands of General Villa, according to both Vera Cruz and border dispatches received here late today. Dispatches declare that the Gonzales army is completely surrounded by Villa and Zapata troops which are in possession of all arms and ammunition needed for the big battle.

(Special to The Press.) Washington, July 21.—Official reports given out at the war department, indicating the widespread starvation in Mexico and the apparent failure of the Carranza government to pacify or hold Mexico City and the reoccupation of the city by the Zapatistas gave rise to the view in official circles that president Wilson will soon make public his plans for establishing peace in Mexico.

By special request the bird sale at the Fair store will be continued until Saturday by the bird expert in charge. A special shipment will be received this morning of genuine Gorman St. Augustburg rollers and warblers. All

You can always tell a first year bride by the amount of sugar she does not put on those currants she is canning.

Escanaba closed up shop yesterday to aid in making the chautauqua a success. Just another evidence of the sterling spirit that dominates every movement in this city.

The much heralded walkout of employees at the Remington Arms plant in Connecticut, which was expected to seriously effect industrial affairs throughout the east, dwindled to mighty small proportions when the real test came.

Mayor Mackilloan and members of the Escanaba city council have launched the long awaited movement to give to this city a municipally owned water system. Under the provisions of the present charter the city would be unable to issue bonds for the purchase of the present privately owned plant here or to construct an entirely new plant and an amendment to the charter will be submitted to the people at a special election.

MRS. TAFT ON MARKETING We do not recall that Mrs. William Howard Taft ever drew attention to herself during the time that her husband held public office by stating her opinions on fashions, morals or any of the numerous things which women who are much before the public are asked to comment on.

DYNAMITE PLOT IS NIPPED IN BUD

New Britain, Conn., July 21.—Mayor George E. Quigley today requested government officials at Washington to send secret service men here to investigate what is believed to be a plot to wreck factories, which are working on war orders for the allies.

Two men, who officials say are of German origin, were arrested today and a search of their rooms revealed a quantity of dynamite. Their names are withheld.

The nearness of the Colts Fire Arms company at Hartford, which is working on a mammoth order for automatic revolvers for the allies, heightened the officials apprehension.

COMPANY HAS EXTENSIVE PLANS

Of the extensive woods operations that are to be undertaken by the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Company about Forest Lake, formerly Dixon, where former Escanabans have interests, the Mining Journals correspondent says: "The impetus given to the operations of the lumbering department of the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Company by the operation of the North Marquette furnace will greatly relieve labor conditions along the line of the Southeastern railway, which have been bad for over a year past, the period of the practical suspension of cord wood cutting."

George W. Ackerman, the general superintendent of the lumbering department, yesterday said that some 350 men will shortly be put at work in the district of which Rumely is the headquarters, and that they will be assured of employment through the fall and winter. Some 200 men will be employed in the camps cutting cord wood, and an additional 250, or thereabouts, in handling and hauling it. This force, supplementary to the 200 or more men employed at the furnace means a force of about 600 men dependent on the operation of the Marquette plant. The company has been giving the men in the Rumely district such employment as could be found for them. Some have been working on the seven mile spur of the Southeastern near Stillman, which has been under construction the past several weeks and which will be used in lumbering operations for the company's Munising plants, but there has been much unemployment in the district, and for several months the company has been besought for work by men it could not take care of. Now it is proposed to take on all former employees, and the operations will take care of the idle men in the district. The company is not advertising for men, but now has employment for a considerable force which will be taken on gradually as the operations are organized.

The woods operations the coming winter will be the last that will center at Rumely. The company's lumber in that district has been pretty well cleaned up and large acreages of cutover land are now being offered for sale. Much of the land is excellent and will make, when properly cleared, excellent farms. That the persons who have looked over the soil appreciate this is shown by the fact that much of it has already been taken up and Rumely bids fair to be the center of an active and prosperous farming community.

Forest Lake, at the Au Train river, a station heretofore known at Dixon, will after the first of the year, be the headquarters for the company's woods operations for an indefinite time to come. Extensive building operations will soon be in progress there. William Johnson, of Munising, has the contract for the erection of a club house for the men, five bungalows, a barn building and structures for repair shop and warehouse purposes. All the structures will be of substantial construction. They will be erected west of the Au Train river, on a stretch of rising ground, and will have a most attractive environment. The company is now clearing the site. The present company buildings at the Au Train are located east of the river, about half a mile distant.

The lumbering department has come to be one of the most important of the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company's activities. When it is operating full handed, it gives employment to about 1,000 men.

AMONG THE THEATRES

THE STRAND

One laugh follows another in rapid, sparkling sequence in the latest Klein five-part comedy "The Commuters" which plays a limited engagement at the Strand theater on Friday. "The Commuters" is founded on that successful stage farce, by James Forbes, which enjoyed an unusually prosperous run under the management of Henry B. Harris, a few years ago.

George Klein has slightly changed the stage script to meet the exigencies of the motion picture—improving, as always, the original story as the result of the many possibilities of the camera—that do not come within the scope of the three or four settings of the stage. That mirth-provoking character "Sammy," who in the original is a man about town, is decidedly improved as the longhaired, excitable Italian leader of a Broadway cabaret orchestra, whom the commuters meet on the occasion of their one night out. The film fairly bristles with splendid-acting, unique situations, and amusing titles.

The cast features Irene Fenwick, present sensation of Broadway, who has signed a contract to work exclusively in pictures for George Klein. Miss Fenwick is making the hit of her career as the Lily Cardos of Al. H. Wood's "The Song of Songs," now playing at the Eltinge Theater, and probably is the only artiste of international reputation who works regularly for one producer in pictures and appears nightly on the stage.

Miss Fenwick is seen at her best in "The Commuters." She is ably supported by that well known comedian Charles Judels, who handles the role of "Sammy."

THE STRAND

For this evening Manager Hines presents a most pleasing and interesting program in "The Pursuit Eternal." The show of tonight discloses the clever plot of a society girl who, being tired of being sought for her money, prepares a clever tale by which she secures a true love husband.

Other pictures are also shown here. For Friday, matinee and night shows and also for Saturday afternoon, Manager Hines is offering Irene Fenwick in "The Commuters." This is a picture that should appeal to the great share of local people and is one that will strike home to many.

POLICE OFFICER HAS BIG "JAG"; ARRESTS; PAYS A FINE.

Lebanon, Ill., July 21.—City Marshal John W. Wolf visited St. Louis yesterday and met a friend there who invited him to "come in and have something." Later the marshal came home on an interurban car.

When he arrived here a friend helped him off the car and sent him home in an automobile. This morning Wolf asked the conductor to make a charge against him for being drunk on the street.

The conductor refused, whereupon the marshal arrested himself, went before Magistrate Orking, charged himself with being drunk on the street, pleaded guilty, was fined $5 and costs, and paid them.

TO RESTORE OLD WAGES

CLEVELAND CLIFFS IRON COMPANY SEEN PROSPERITY AND RESTORES FORMER WAGE SCALE TO 2,225 MEN

(Special to The Press.) Marquette, Mich., July 21.—Owing to the increased volume of orders for finished iron and steel although there has been no increase in the prices of iron ore, the management of the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company anticipating a further revival of the demand for iron later in the season has announced that it will restore the salaries and wages according to the schedule which was in effect previous to the reduction, October 1, 1914.

A further result of the iron revival will be the re-opening of the Maas mine Negaunee which was closed down last October. This will give employment to about 200 men. That restoration of the old wages will be much appreciated by the men, especially those who receive the lower salaries. Approximately 2,225 men will be effected by the wage increase.

This weeks Iron Trade Review announces encouraging prospects for the remainder of the season, the most decided feature being that the increasing demand is for domestic consumption is very heavy. The Lake Superior iron ore market is showing indications of improvement as orders are being received from some important consumers to ship on long time contracts in larger quantities than planned at the beginning of the season. It is believed that the New Jersey and New York ore companies have about reached the limit of capacity and with finished steel greatly curtailed it may be necessary for eastern consumers to buy more largely from Lake Superior holders.

START WORK ON GREAT MUSEUM

Chicago, July 21.—Construction work on the new $5,000,000 Field Museum of Natural History began today after 12 years of planning and negotiation. The contract to erect the building was awarded to the Thompson-Starrett company, general contractor. Stanley Field, president of the museum, directed the contractors and architects to start work immediately and speed it up as fast as possible.

Within six weeks 500 men will be at work on the structure, and this number will be increased to 3,000 in the course of a year. Three years is given as an outside estimate for the completion of the new museum, but the contractors say it can be finished in two.

When completed it will be the largest marble building in the world, and one of the largest museums. It will consist of three stories and basement and will cover an area of 700,350 feet, or approximately four downtown city blocks. It is to be of the best fire-proof construction. The building will cost about $5,100,000.

The floor area of the museum will be 670,000 square feet, of which 400,000 square feet will be devoted to exhibition purposes. The remainder will be used for scientific laboratories, lecture halls, offices and a restaurant.

Russian Villages. Russian villages generally consist of one long, straggling and unpaved street. In North Russia the houses are composed of logs placed horizontally, one above the other, the interstices being filled with tow and moss. The interior consists of a single room. The brick stove is used for heating, cooking and baking, and also as a couch and bed. Every house in town and country has its ikon, with a perpetually burning lamp, before which every Russian crosses himself on entering the room.

How Ugly Faces Can Be Cured. The discovery that changes in the adult's face depend chiefly on alterations in the amount of fat below the skin has led to a new way of correcting ugly facial defects. Fat, transplanted from other parts of the body, is used to fill in unsightly depressions due to the removal of tumors or the reactions of scars. In the same way deformities, such as receding chin and irregular jaw bones, can be corrected.

CHILD MARRIAGE IS SOURCE

San Francisco, July 21.—Contrary to popular beliefs that early marriages are particularly conducive to morality, C. L. Redfield, of Chicago, addressing the International Purity Congress here today, declared that they were more conducive to immorality. "I say to you, positively," he said, "that these child marriages are laying the foundations for new sources of vice and crime. A campaign of education on the question of early marriages is urgently needed. "Perhaps some of you think that to thus delay marriages would be to largely increase the immorality among the unmarried. Heretofore you have based your judgment in such matters on common sense, but I am telling you now that there is a sound scientific reason, heretofore overlooked why such marriages are an injury to the race. The injury is not to those who marry, but to those who come after them. The product of those early marriages is the first step in the production of those forms of vice which we have upon our shoulders to eradicate. "I am not asking that all marriages be delayed to the age of 25 or 35 years. That may or may not come in the future when we know more than we do now, but at present I am asking that we put a stop to the marriage of children—a stop to that kind of reproduction which breeds the mentally and morally unfit."

T. J. Martin made a business trip to Powers yesterday.

"Tell Me the Secret"

"How do you make such delicious muffins? Mine are always so dry. And if I make the batter thin they fall. How do you do it?"

"I make them about as you do, only I use K.C. Baking Powder. Mine always turn out well, so it must be the baking powder."

It is the baking powder. To make muffins, cakes and pastry rich and moist, yet light and leathery, a modern double acting baking powder must be used—one that will give off leavening gas in the oven as well as in the mixing bowl.

K.C. BAKING POWDER

is really a blend of two baking powders, one of which starts to raise as soon as moisture is added. The other is inactive until heat is applied. This sustains the raise until your muffins, biscuits or cake is done. K.C. Baking Powder costs less than the old fashioned quick acting kinds, yet you need use no more and it is superior to them in every way. Try a can at our risk and be convinced.

What Would You Do If You Were A Husband and your wife should seem to disregard the social law which holds the woman to a stricter account than the man? Would you feel you had more privileges than she—that there are two standards of morals, one for the man who provides the home and another for the woman who maintains its honor? JUDGE, THIS SAILOR IS OUR CHAMPION GUNNER.

CAPTAIN, A GOOD EYE, AND A STEADY NERVE DOES IT, AND THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW KEEPS ME CONTENTED

HITS the spot every time because it is the Real Tobacco Chew.

For real tobacco satisfaction nothing can equal the Real Tobacco Chew.

Many men who have discovered that they are better satisfied on less tobacco, naturally are telling others about it.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW IS NOW CUT TWO WAYS! W-B CUT IS LONG SHRED, RIGHT-CUT IS SHORT SHRED!

Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is the Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of licorice and sweetening makes you spit too much.

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

(Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste.)

BEGIN SECOND HALF OF RACE

New York, July 21.—With the major league baseball teams swinging into the second half of the pennant races, the records made by the various clubs during the first three months of the 1916 campaign furnish an interesting insight of the strength and weakness of the various combinations. These tabulations show that in the play up to and including the first week of July, the western clubs had played a greater number of games than the eastern clubs and that the National league teams figured in fifteen of the games to the American league's eight. Taking the clubs in the order of their percentage standing, the figures show that in the National league, the Chicago club was second in total number of runs, third in hits, second in errors made and fifth in the number of runners left on base. Philadelphia was sixth in runs; eighth in hits; third in errors and had fewer players straggled than any other club in the league. St. Louis led in runs and hits; was fourth in errors and second in men left on bases. Pittsburgh had made the least number of errors and held third place in the left-on-bases column, but was low in the total of runs and hits.

GAS WARFARE IS DEFENDED

New York.—In a long statement seeking to justify the use of asphyxiating gases in warfare, the semi-official Wolff Telegraph Bureau asserted in German newspapers of June 25 that the allies first used such gases against the Germans, and it cites French documents as proof that France in February, months before the German advance at Ypres, made extensive preparations for the application of gases and for counteracting their effects on the attacking troops.

stead of that, make the air our ally and use it to waft suffocating gases to our enemies. Anyone who has once seen a lifting picture of the hell provided by a rain of shells, hand grenades, subterranean mines and aerial bombs upon a bit of trench will certainly not regard slowly approaching clouds of smoke as a more inhumane method of warfare.

"It is merely, under favorable conditions, a more surely effective method of driving the enemy out of his positions—and that alone is the reason why our enemies are raising such an outcry of woe. German science and technique have simply once more driven all competitors from the field."

YOUNG DUCHESS OF LUXEMBURG IS STILL DEFIANT TO KAISER.

Paris, July 21.—The young beautiful and self-willed Grand Duchess of Luxembourg is a thorn in the side of the Kaiser, and it is said he wants to remove it—or rather her—by marrying her Highness to a German prince. A long list of names has been forwarded to her, but "I shall never marry a German" is her invariable reply. The Duchess has still a small bodyguard of soldiers at her palace, and she has given them orders not to salute a German officer, nor even the Kaiser. At rare intervals the Duchess drives through her capital, but takes no notice of the salutes of the German officers and men who fill the town.

The History of Other Countries.

It is not at all the history of our own country which is all-important, overshadowing all the rest, not the history of the times nearest to our own, says Frederic Harrison. . . . If history be the continuous biography of the human race, it may well be that the history of remoter times, which have the least resemblance to our own, may often be the more valuable to us, as correcting national prejudices and the narrow ideas bred in us by daily custom. . . . The history of other races, and of different customs, may be of all things the best to correct our . . . vanities, and our conventional prejudices. We have indeed to know the history of our own country, of the latter ages. But the danger is, that we may know little other history.

BLIND'S IDEAS OF WORLD ALL WRONG

Los Angeles, Cal., July 21.—Can you picture sight after 25 years of total blindness—blindness since birth?

Can you gauge the unbounded joy of suddenly slipping out of perpetual darkness into a glorious July day, for the first time?

Can you think in terms of the ecstasy of a grown daughter who sees her mother for the first time?

If not, there is no possibility of getting the remotest idea of the supreme happiness of Tomasyna Carlyle "Tom," as she is affectionately known by her dearest friends, sees, after a lifetime of blackness!

By a marvelous operation for inner cataract, the girl has opened her eyes, literally, for the first time in her life.

"I am in a new universe," she cried as she approached the mother she had always known but never looked upon. "I look at painting, jewels, human being or animals. I don't know what they are. We who are blind say we form ideas of what's look like. I know how wrong we are."

Tomasyna Carlyle is a student at Berkley. Just before she left for her summer vacation, she had the operation performed.

"I wanted to keep it a secret till I reached my home and mother in Pasadena," she said. "But somehow the story reached them."

A knife was held up to her, shortly after the operation. She looked at it carefully, but had to shut her eyes and touch it before she could tell what it was.

A fluffy little thing on four legs came toward her in the park a day or two later. She admired it, talked to it, and wondered what it was. Shutting her eyes and stroking it gently, she discovered a small white dog.

Cross a crowded street, she was almost panic-stricken until she shut her eyes, and then walked across quite safely. "Just go when the crowd goes," she explained to friends, "and there is no harm to the blind."

Her great aim is to preach the gospel of usefulness and hope to the blind.

"All my life I have lived in color," she said, discussing her former condition. "For instance, I was taught that pink and gray made a pretty combination. And I was told not to wear red. Of course, you can see, readily know the reason. My hair is red."

"But what did colors mean to you?" was asked. "Nothing except that they were termed pleasing."

"But now that you can see?" "Oh, now," she cried, her whole face beaming. "Now, colors are the first thing that impress me; the first thing I see of people."

"Now I love blue and green and violet even more than when I only pictured them."

Miss Carlyle was born in La Crosse, Wis., the youngest of nine children. Blind from birth, she received her kindergarten to high school training in the Wisconsin State School for the Blind. She covered the LaCrosse State Normal School course in two years. Then by tutoring a blind child, she made enough money to enter the University of California.

To dream of her new-found life is to dispel despair from the minds of the blind; to tell them the story of her discovery of sight, and the road to happiness.

She has already learned that the keenness of touch and hearing, peculiar to the blind, is waning. But sight, even in one eye, is a thousand times more to be desired.

MACHINERY MEN HIT HARD BY WAR

Washington, July 21.—War practically has stopped the sale of American agricultural implements in several of the European nations.

Figures made public today by the department of commerce show that exports of such products during the fiscal years 1915 dropped to about $10,000,000 from a 10-year average of $29,000,000.

Information reaching the department, however, is said to show that the marked shortage of human and animal labor of human and animal labor resulting from the war's devastations ultimately will bring about a greater demand for all kind of labor saving machinery on the farms of Europe.

Military Funerals. It is not universally known what is meant by a funeral "with full military honors." In such a funeral the coffin is borne on a gun carriage. If the dead soldier was a cavalryman his sword and helmet are fastened to the saddle of his horse; which is led immediately behind the gun-carriage, and his top-boots, with spurs attached, are fastened in stirrups, with the toes pointing backwards. A firing party, if possible, from the deceased's army, is present, and the soldiers march in front of the coffin.

"My greatest desire?" repeated Miss Amabel Walton. "I'm afraid all of my wishes have been gratified."

Miss Walton looked dreamily at the gray old college buildings wearing their ivy green mantles with dignified submission to the passing years, and a tender smile touched her soft lips.

"There is one unfulfilled wish that haunts my hours," she admitted at last.

"I knew it," triumphed Stella. "Do you mind telling us about it?" asked Marion.

"It is such a simple wish that you will wonder why I have not gratified it—I am dying to wear pink—a soft rosy pink gown—there, am I not perfectly idiotic?"

The little teacher of music at Fen-ton college looked appealingly at the sympathetic girlish faces of her favorite pupils.

"Why don't you wear it, then?" marveled Stella Mayne.

Miss Amabel Watson touched her beautiful snowy hair. "Because it would be so absurd—at my age. But how I longed to wear it when I was a child! I lived with a maiden aunt who looked upon pink as a frivolous color and so it was banned from my wardrobe. I've worn black and white and blue and brown and lavender, but never a bit of pink—and there is my ungratified wish!"

Miss Walton's soft blue eyes were very bright when she finished and there were two pink spots in her unwrinkled cheeks. With her snow white hair she was beautiful and the hair which might have added weight to her years, also lent a freshness and bloom of a youth which was not very distant.

"But that is no reason why you should not wear pink now, dear Miss Walton," insisted Marion Reeves. "Do, please!"

"And you look very, very young indeed. Won't you wear a pink frock to the October reception?"

"Miss Walton hesitated. "I must have a new frock," she admitted.

"Do let us go to town with you and select it," urged the girls, and at last Amabel Walton consented.

The night of the October reception Amabel regarded her reflection in the mirror with mingled distrust and delight.

In this delicate pink creation she looked a slender, girlish figure—like one of those Dresden china bits on her mantelpiece.

There was a murmur of surprise in the room when Amabel entered with Stella and Marion. Mademoiselle Drouet, the French teacher, elevated her sandy eyebrows and whispered ironically to Professor Hanford.

Professor Hanford frowned, and his eyes followed Amabel's pink-clad form with such a mixture of admiration and wistfulness in their depths that mademoiselle turned quite yellow with jealousy. She swept away, and Professor Hanford, glad of his release, wandered aimlessly around until he came upon Amabel sitting alone in the deep bay window, a roll of music in her hand and her brown eyes shining with unshed tears.

The professor looked down at her with infinite tenderness in his eyes. "You—you are distressed?" he asked, shyly.

The tears fell. "I am foolish," quivered Amabel. "I have worn this ridiculous frock—"

"Ridiculous!" interrupted the professor. "It is charming. I am wondering why you do not wear it always."

"I am too old to wear pink!" sighed Miss Walton, without coquetry.

"A woman is never too old to wear what is so infinitely becoming," protested the Greek instructor eagerly. "It is a pity that more women do not understand the art of dressing becomingly. Now, pink—pink is my favorite color."

Something in his tone made Amabel blush.

"It is mine, too," she said hurriedly, and then she went on and told him the pathetic little story of her drab-colored childhood.

When she had finished he nodded his head sagely. "You are quite right to wear it, and I predict that it will always be charming upon you—it is the color of hope and youth, Miss Walton, and even to a dry old bachelor like myself it seems to brighten a rather dull future; it emboldens me to tell you a secret—about myself—and my love—for you!"

When Marion Reeves came to find her companion, there was no mistaking the situation. The quiet-eyed girl read it in the faces of Amabel and the professor, and a charming smile broke the sweet gravity of her face.

"Can you spare her to play for me, Professor Hanford?" she asked. "For only a little while," admitted the happy man, as he relinquished Amabel's trembling little hand. "You shall be the first to hear the good news of our engagement—and I would never have found courage to ask her if it had not been for the pretty rose-colored frock!"

"Blessed be pink!" laughed Marion, and as she went away with her arm around Amabel Walton she smiled over her shoulder at the man.

"I am dying to sing 'Sweet Home'—"

ODD FELLOWS CIRCULATE PETITION

The Odd Fellows of the United States want peace.

Resolutions are now being circulated among all the lodges in this country to "impress on members of congress, the president and his cabinet, and all others in authority, the necessity of not allowing questionable points of honor to influence them in their relations with warring nations."

Myles F. Gray, of Lansing, grand-master of the order in Michigan, already has received 300 of these resolutions, which have been acted upon by as many lodges in Michigan. Michigan has 65,000 Odd Fellows and 500 lodges. No adverse action, so far, has been taken on the resolution in this state. There are 2,500,000 members of the order in the United States. The resolutions will be gathered by August 1 and forwarded to the order's central committee. This committee will then present them to the president. There will be half a carload of the petitions, it is expected.

The resolution in full follows:

"Whereas, A large part of the so-called civilized world is now engaged in the most gigantic struggle ever known to mankind, a conflict that is directly or indirectly affecting the lives and interests of every man, woman and child in the whole world and

"Whereas, Complications are daily arising which are seriously endangering the peaceful relations of our own country, and threaten to bring to our own doors the horrors of modern warfare, and

"Whereas, Believing that the united efforts of our great fraternity would have a far reaching influence the promoting peace and preventing the spread of human strife; therefore be it

"Resolved, By _____ Lodge No. _____, I. O. O. F., of the State of Michigan, composed of _____ representative men, that we sincerely regret these deplorable conditions, and hereby pledge ourselves to use every means in our power to support, uphold and encourage every honorable effort that is, or may be made, not only to preserve our own neutrality, but to end this bloody carnage. Be it further

"Resolved, That we impress upon the members of congress, the president and his cabinet, and all others in authority, the necessity of not allowing questionable points of honor to influence them in their relations with warring nations, and be it further.

"Resolved, That we publish our position to the world, so that all may know that friendship, love and truth are not mere unmeaning words upon our lips, but the sincere desire of our hearts."

OWNERS CANNOT CONTROL FISHING

Lansing, Mich., July 21.—Owners abutting property on lakes which have no inlet or outlet have a common mon right to fish and boat in any portion of the lake, according to an opinion rendered today by Attorney-General Fellows.

They can go where they will on the lake to fish, provided of course they are not guilty of trespassing on the shore lands of another.

They can also pass their rights to fish to their friends and no one owner of land around the lake can stop them or their properly admitted friends.

The importance of the decision is apparent when it is realized that had the attorney general held otherwise it might have been possible for a few men to close scores of Michigan lakes to the public by merely buying up a few feet of frontage on each one and tacking up the proper signs.

In many respects the opinion is the most important interpretation of the fish law promulgated for years. For a long time the question as to the rights of one riparian owner in a lake without an inlet or an outlet has been an issue all over the state. It is conceded that where the lake has an inlet and an outlet the abutting property owners cannot control it at all. But where the lake is without inlet and outlet, the abutting owners have the right to control, although as Mr. Fellows now rules one cannot stop the other from coming right into his cottage backyard.

The attorney-general sums up his opinion as follows: "Riparian proprietors all may use that portion of the bed of the lake which they own in fee for any purpose which they see fit, but the rights of boating and fishing upon the surface of such lake are common to all."

DOUBT IF PLANES ARE OF VALUE RAPID RIVER AND VICINITY

London, July 21.—Although it has been announced in the House of Commons that the British government has giant aeroplanes under construction, this type of aircraft does not command the entire confidence of experts.

The idea of the giant flying machine came from Russia where the Russian constructor, Sikorsky is also credited with having taken two dozen at once on a short flight. A modified type of 250 horses-power is now used for war purposes by the Russians.

One serious drawback to the giant aeroplane pointed out by C. G. Grey a well known writer and expert on aeronautical subjects is the difficulty of finding a field large enough for starting and landing. A machine of such a size needs a long start. But even more important is the objection of putting too many eggs in one basket. A giant plane carries an enormous amount of explosive, which is ordinarily distributed among a flock of small machines. On the Ostend raid, nearly forty machines took part with the loss of only three. More than a score were sent by the French against Karlsruhe, of which but two were brought down.

Where the giant plane promises to be most useful is in defensive operations. With several machine guns and a larger gun of the pom pom class, it can patrol its own patrol lines for hours at a stretch, repelling the enemy scout planes. Its separate engines add to its value, as its rudder is powerful enough to direct its course even when only one engine is working.

One of Marshall Wilder's Stories.

When I was in Japan and China I went through the prisons and the courts. Funny about the Chinese. Every ten miles you strike a new dialect. When they arrest a Chinaman it takes three or four interpreters to find out what his offense is. I saw one fellow dragged in by the queue. The judge asked what the charge was. The first interpreter told the second, the second told the third, the third told the fourth, and the fourth told the judge that the fellow had stolen a yellow dog. "Well," said the judge, "I am glad it was not a black-and-tan."

HYNA DEFENDS HIS ORGANIZATION

The following communication was received by the Press yesterday from Otto J. Hyna, director of Hyna's Concert Band:

Escanaba, Mich., July 20, 1915. Editor Morning Press,

Dear Sir:

Being a constant reader of your valuable paper, I chance to notice a letter published on the front page of said paper this morning telling the good people of Escanaba that the band which furnished the music throughout the day for the Moose picnic Sunday, the 18th inst. was not the Escanaba Military Band as was advertised. This information was furnished through courtesy of Mr. J. C. Tolan and I herewith desire to express my thanks to that gentleman for being so kind and considering for making clear that fact. True it was not the Escanaba Military Band, but Hyna's Concert Band, composed of the majority of real musicians and some that are the makings of real musicians right here in your town. I have every reason to believe that my band has been and is giving satisfaction when the number of engagements we are filling all to be considered, and I was always a firm believer in that old saying: "Let the goods speak for themselves." Now, in conclusion, I will say any music loving person in Escanaba who wishes to know the difference between Hyna's Concert Band, which provided all day at the Moose picnic, and the Escanaba Military Band (J. Tolan, manager) have only to go to South Park Thursdays and then they may judge for themselves.

Thanking you in advance for space allotted me, will close.

Begging to remain respectfully,
OTTO J. R. HYNA,
Leader Hyna's Concert Band.

WOLVERINES BEATEN; TOLANS WILL PLAY

After what proved to be a one sided affair, the Garden team took the game from the Wolverines Sunday, by a score of 9 to 1.

Mainville, who did the mound work for Garden, was in great form and allowed but two hits and scored fifteen strike-outs.

Garden is giving an excursion to Manistique Sunday, July 25, where they will play the strong Manistique aggregation.

C. W. Dunson of Manistique is in the city visiting with friends.

NEGLIGENT TO BE PUNISHED

Atty. Gen. Grant Fellows has rendered an opinion to John T. Winship, state fire marshal holding that under the common law a property owner on whose premises a fire starts, due to negligence, is liable for damages to his neighbor if the fire spreads to or damages adjoining adjoining property.

The attorney general says in his opinion: "At common law one employs fire as his agency or upon whose property a fire has been accidentally or without his fault started, who fails to exercise ordinary care under the circumstances to prevent its spread to neighboring property, or one who negligently or carelessly starts a fire is liable for damages to another for injury to person or property of which injury such fire or its spread is the approximate cause."

This opinion from the attorney general, Mr. Winship believes, will be of great assistance in the enforcement of the state fire marshal law and regulations as well as the local fire prevention ordinances throughout Michigan.

WOMEN WILL TAKE D. A. R. WILL SELL POST CARDS HERE and two Western States where there are no department organizations.

The Woman's Relief Corps is the greatest philanthropic, charitable, and patriotic organization of women in the world.

It was organized at Denver, Col., in 1883, in response to the call of the veterans for the organization of women that would be auxiliary to them and which would meet with them at national encampments, and assist them in the tremendous work which was becoming burdensome to the Grand Army, that of helping to care for the aged veterans and their dependent widows and children. Pensions were very small at that time, and the hardships of war were beginning to tell on the veterans who suffered from wounds and other disabilities incurred in the service of the country. At the encampment in Denver, the Woman's Relief Corps, comprised of "loyal women who never gave aid or comfort to the enemies of the Union," was organized and accepted by the Grand Army, which had called it into existence, and gave it the motto of the veteran body, "Fraternity, Charity, and Loyalty," with the right to wear a badge with the medallion center of the G. A. R. badge.

Since its organization the Woman's Relief Corps has expended in charitable and relief work for veterans nearly $4,000,000. It built and equipped army nurses home in Ohio, where army nurses of the Civil war could be cared for. It has been instrumental in founding State homes in all the northern States where veterans and their wives may go together and spend their declining years in comfort. It instituted a patriotic teaching in the public schools of the country, a work which has been taken up by many other patriotic organizations since then. There are now more than 3,000 women whose work as "Patriotic Instructors" in corps and departments of the Woman's Relief Corps is commanding attention.

Beside the great sums spent in relief work the organization has given the Grand Army of the Republic about $45,000 in cash for its permanent fund. It gives the Grand Army of the Republic $1,000 annually.

In 1896 the Woman's Relief Corps accepted as a gift from the Department of Georgia G. A. R., the old Andersonville prison stockade grounds, near Americus, Ga., and expended thousands-of dollars in turning this into a park. Old Providence Spring has been canopied with stone, and its sweet waters are as refreshing to-day to travelers on the great Dixie highway as they were to the starving prisoners when it broke forth in August, 1864. The park with its neat cottages for war-worn wayfarers, its rose garden, pecan orchard and other improvements, is now one of the garden spots of that section of Georgia. In its grounds seven great States have erected splendid monuments to their dead of prison days, and the Woman's Relief Corps has just honored Clara Barton by erecting there a handsome monument to the founder of the American National Red Cross, who marked all graves in Andersonville, under Government supervision.

The Woman's Relief Corps gave Andersonville to the United States, and it is now a Government Park.

These are but a few of the achievements of the Woman's Relief Corps, which will, next to the G. A. R., be the important factor at the coming National Encampment.

The Ladies of the G. A. R., work along the same lines as the W. R. C. to some extent. Their membership is about 50,000, the eligibility clause depending upon lineal descent from veterans of the Civil War. It is estimated that all National Encampments that the attendance of the members of these organizations of women bring to the Encampment as many women as men.

CAPTAIN AND WIFE LEAVE ESCANABA

Capt. and Mrs. Knudson, who have served at the lead of the local Salvation army for some time, left last night for Devils Lake, N. D., where they will stop with relatives for a time before taking up active work again in a larger field. Capt. Knudson has been on the verge of a complete nervous breakdown for some time and found it necessary to give up his post here.

Miss Beula Peterson, who has given on her life to the work, left with the Captain and his wife.

During their residence here the couple has won scores of friends and their good in a spiritual way has been without measure. They never will receive full credit, on earth, for the great moral good which they proved themselves in Escanaba.

DIVES 80 FEET INTO WATER

Leaping from the top of the Chicago and Northwestern ore docks, a distance of over 80 feet, into the bay below, Rodney Hill, narrowly escaped serious injury and possibly death by drowning early on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Hill was swimming at the docks with other young men. They had been amusing themselves by leaping from the shutles into the water, a distance of about 20 feet when they decided to try a dive from the top of the docks. They climbed up and all were to leap at a given time. When the word was given no one leaped but Hill. His dive had been perfect until 10 feet from the water when he turned on his back and striking the water, he was rendered helpless and only by the quick action of sailors aboard an ore boat which was docked, did he escape death. Two leaped into the water and pulled the drowning man from the water.

Mr. Hill suffered an injury to his hip but it was last night greatly improved and was about the city nearly as well as ever.

the order goes forth on August 1.

Manager Jones stated that within the next 30 days that from 50 to 60 more men will be given employment at the factory. It will take about one year to complete the order. In all probability more orders for a similar nature will be forthcoming before the present contract is completed.

Manager Jones says that he does not anticipate any difficulty in securing enough help to turn out the large order. Applications for employment are frequent at the office of the factory.

The securing of this huge order, means much to Gladstone. It means that the idle men of this city will be able to find employment at fair wages. It means return of property to the Marble company who for some months have been running with reduced funds. Every one in Gladstone

TENOR NOW SINGS TO WAR PRISONERS

Goettingen, Germany, July 21.—A Pars opera tenor, clad in wooden shoes, dirty mud-streaked trousers and a thread-bare brown sweater vest, singing arias from La Tosca, Mignon and the Barber of Seville on a rude wooden stage whose "scenery" consisted of one rudely painted drop and a few strips of colored paper, to an audience of five hundred French and Belgian soldiers, all of them as dirty as he, was one of the entertaining incidents which The Associated Press correspondent encountered on his visit to the great war prisoners camp at Goettingen.

Jean Mainy, until last August tenor of the "Opera de la Galle Lyrique" in Paris, was the singer. It is doubtful if in his best role he ever sang better than he is singing now, seven or more times a week, that prison life may be more endurable for the thousands of his fellow prisoners.

The opera at Goettingen has its own orchestra which consists of a pianist on the stage in his shirt sleeves, and down among the audience, English soldiers in khaki as violinists and cornetists, Belgians as futilists, French men as cellists and a French lawyer as leader.

It is noteworthy that the Russians, who are present in the camp in large numbers, neither are represented among the musicians nor attend the concerts to any extent. As in every other camp, they prove to be willing, automatic, husky workers who have little interest in anything but eating all they can get when they come back to camp at night, and in loafing in dull satisfaction afterward.

KETCHAM SEES A BIG DECADE

Lansing, Mich., July 21.—Declaring the next decade would see the greatest rebuilding processes in agriculture country life that the world had ever seen, John C. Ketcham, master of the state grange, Saturday outlined at M. A. C. some of the more important issues, which the grange and agricultural men will be called on to solve in the next few years. The address was given before members of Pomona grange at their annual picnic on the college campus.

"I wish I could bring to the people of this country a vision of rural life do this no more perfect contentment would be found anywhere than in the ranks of those who by choice are now residing away from the cities."

The speaker declared that the government would have to acquire a changed prospectus in its relation to the farmer.

Other speakers of the afternoon were: J. L. Snyder, president of M. A. C.; President Thomas L. Blaisdell of Alma college, and Professor J. H. Ryder, director of the M. A. C. summer school.

Because of the fact that many of the grangers were in the midst of the haying season the attendance at the grange conference and picnic was not as large as had been expected.
