AMERICAN SHIP SENT TO BOTTOM BY GERMAN SUBMARINE IN NORTH SEA

MAY HAVE ACTED WITHIN RIGHTS

Official Washington Receives Notice of Sinking of Ship With Concern---Boat Was Flax Laden, Which Has Been Declared Contraband of War---Receive Note From Germany.

(Special to The Press.)
Washington, July 26.—The state department was officially advised of the torpedoing of the American Steamship Leelanaw by a German submarine off Scotland's coast in a dispatch from Consul Dennison at Dundee. He said all the crew was safely landed. The Leelanaw was flax laden. Meagre information indicates that the German submarine probably proceeded against the American vessel according to the international law. Germany declared that flax was absolutely a contraband on April 18. The feature of the Leelanaw case, however, is that submarine went beyond the seizure of the contraband flax by sinking the vessel itself.

(Special to The Press.)
London, July 26.—In addition to sinking the American steamer Leelanaw, two British vessels were sunk by the German submarines in the North sea today. While the British submarine did great damage in the sea of Marmora and the French destroyer demolished an Austrian submarine and an aeroplane base in Adriatic.

(Special to The Press.)
Washington, July 26.—The torpedoing of the American steamer Leelanaw came as a shock to American officials here, who see in the act a further aggravation of the situation between Germany and the United States. Although they hesitate to press an opinion in the absence of details regarding the sinking, they are inclined to construe the act as within the warning of the last American note which pointed out that further violation of international law would be regarded as "deliberately unfriendly."

The view taken of the new affairs that Germany had ignored and disregarded an earlier note in connection with the sinking of the American clipper, William P. Frye, by the German auxiliary cruiser Prinzess Eitel Friedrich. All the members of the crew of the American vessel were saved. They were brought to Kirkwall in their own boats. Germany declared flax contraband of war on April 15.

(Special to The Press.)
Washington, July 26.—The formal reply of Great Britain to the American note of March 30, which declared against the British blockade and the principle of retaliation has been received at the state department. It creates as much of an Anglo-American impasse as has been created between Germany and the United States on the same subject. Great Britain takes practically the same attitude as that maintained by Germany.

The reply declares that new principles, differing from those announced by the United States, must be applied to the character of warfare being waged by Germany against England. A concise and explicit difference between the United States and Great Britain holds that a new kind of warfare justifies new war methods, just as Germany did, while the United States takes an other view. Wilson in his note to England stated it was plainly the intention of the United States to stand squarely on the international law as the sole arbiter.

(Special to The Press.)
London, July 26.—The Germans have forced another passage of Narva in north Ostrolenka and now are pressing forward on the 40 mile front toward the Russian second line of defense on Bug river, 25 miles from Warsaw. With von Mackensen stopped in south Brunt, the fighting has been thrown on von Hindenburg who is now hammering the Russian defense. Although Petrograd makes no admission of the Teuton success military experts there have practically given up hope for Warsaw.

MENOMINEE GETS TRIMMED

INDEPENDENTS TENDER SEVERE TROUNCING IN SECOND GAME OF SERIES HERE

The Escanaba Independent baseball team on Sunday delivered their second straight defeat to the Menominee team by the score of 11 to 2. From the beginning of the game until its closing Menominee was in the hands and at the mercy of the locals and at no juncture did they have one opportunity to head the fast Escanaba aggregation.

Krause was working in shipshape on the mound for the locals Sunday and for the entire distance pitched ball that does him honor. DeLoughary was working in the pitcher's position for Menominee, but was ineffective, the locals hitting him to every corner of the lot. Cully Lantz patted .1000 Sunday when he secured three blows out of three trips to the plate. Cully was on the job constantly Sunday and did his duty at every turn. Steiny Aronson came in for second honors with the big stick when he secured three hits out of four trips to the plate. "Steiny" has hit his real pace and is playing ball like a house afire.

But when all is said and done, Menominee is no match for Escanaba. That fact has been well demonstrated in the week-end series just closed. That team has shown that it is made up of men inferior to the locals and as a consequence an interesting game cannot be staged between the two aggregations. The box score for the game of Sunday is:

FRANCHISE IS GRANTED

At a special election held at Rapid River yesterday, H. E. Pfeiffer was granted a franchise to place poles at the sides of the streets and alleys of the village to carry lines for electric lights and power. The vote recorded at the election on the franchise proposition was 68 yeas and 5 no. Mr. Pfeiffer recently purchased a large gasoline engine and dynamo at Rapid River and will furnish lights to a number of business places and residences in the upper bay town.

FOREST FIRES ARE RAGING

Forest fires raged in the vicinity of Masonville yesterday afternoon. Great columns of smoke arose from that district and yesterday a large number of people gathered at the docks and watched the progress of the fire across the bay. Last night, however, the blaze had partially abated.

WOMAN AGAIN IN TROUBLE

Officers of the Police Department last night conducted another raid on a Market street resort when the much arrested Mrs. George Depew again came in the pathway of the law. Her husband was also arrested and the two, together with another couple, are spending the night at the police station. This morning the quartet will be arraigned in police court. But a few weeks ago Mrs. Depew was given three days in which to leave the city with a warning never to return. Her last escapade of last night has made her the most arrested woman in Escanaba.

MAKE PLANS FOR LABOR DAY

Members of the Trades and Labor Council met last evening at the Mayor's office at which time plans were furthered for the annual celebration on Labor Day. The feature of the big day this year will be the tug of war between the police and fire departments. The fray will take place at Ludington and Mary street. The fire department issued the challenge to the police.

GARDEN PEOPLE ON EXCURSION

A special excursion has been arranged for next Sunday from Big Bay points to Escanaba and Gladstone aboard the steamer Saugatuck. The Garden baseball team is to play the Gladstone at Gladstone next Sunday and a number of the fans will accompany the visiting team. In addition many Big Bay people will take advantage of the opportunity offered to spend the day with friends and relatives in this city.

WELLS BEATEN IN FAST GAME

In 13 fast and furious innings the West End baseball team on Sunday afternoon defeated the Wells team by the score of 10 to 9. It was a pitcher's battle from start to finish. The batters were: West End: Peterson and Mason; Wells: Johnson and Jackson.

SAW BOAT AS SHE TURNED

MISS CATHERINE MCLAUGHLIN WATCHED "DEATHSHIP" DISASTER FROM ELEVATED TRAIN

After watching the excursion steamer Eastland, turn turtle in the Chicago river Saturday morning from an elevated train, Miss Catherine McLaughlin, private secretary to W. B. Linsley, during the years that he served as superintendent of the peninsula division of the Chicago and NorthWestern railroad, arrived in the city on Sunday morning describing the terrifying scenes as "unforgettable."

Miss McLaughlin was enroute to her work at the Chicago and Northwestern offices and as the car in which she was riding, passed over the Chicago river, she, with other passengers, were terrified when they beheld the awful spectacle of the boat toppling over into the murky waters of the river.

The elevated stopped momentarily over the river and as it did so the conductor called out that "some terrible accident had occurred." The passengers aboard the train were terrorstricken when the first realization of what had really happened, burst upon them.

"I shall never forget that terrible reverse scene to my dying day," said Miss McLaughlin as she told of the half muffled, dying screams of the women and children as they were dragged down to the muddy depths of the river. "Dockmen immediately leaped into the river and made brave attempts at rescue work. They worked heroically in attempting to save the women and children and entirely disregarded the men who were aboard (Continued on Page Six.)"

NEW ADMISSION LEADS TO BELIEF THAT 900 ARE STILL AT BOTTOM OF RIVER

NORTH ESCANABA TEAM WINNER

In one of the fastest games of the season played at the Rapid River diamond, North Escanaba defeated the Rapid River team on Sunday by a score of 6 to 5. Both teams played errorless ball and gave to the fans a sterling baseball program. Larson started the game for North Escanaba but suffered an injury to his arm in the third inning and was replaced by Derouin who pitched great ball for the remainder of the distance. Thomas did the back stopping for North Escanaba and the battery for Rapid River was Thorston and Kniskern.

SONG SERVICE THIS EVENING

This evening Prof. J. A. Hultman of Worcester, Mass., will give a sacred song service at the Swedish Mission church, Wells avenue and Sarah street. Prof. Hultman has given several thousand song services in this country and in some of the European countries. He will sing both Swedish and English.

Admission for Adults 25c, children 10c.

MAN INJURED IN ACCIDENT

George Duchaine was perhaps seriously injured yesterday afternoon when he was hit by an auto driven by E. J. French, local agent for the Overland auto. The unconscious man was immediately picked up by Mr. French and taken to the St. Francis hospital where he was last night reported to be resting easily. Whether any internal injuries will develop still remains to be seen.

BOYS BRIGADE RETURN HERE

Members of St. Patrick's Boys Brigade early last evening returned to their homes in the city after having enjoyed immensely their annual outing at Fayette, with Father F. X. Barth. Every boy, upon returning home, declared that he had never had a more enjoyable time in his entire life time. Something in the way of amusement was provided for the boys on every day and when the regular program had been carried out, each member of the camp was entirely satisfied. The encampment that came to an end yesterday may rightfully be called the most successful yet attempted

(Special to The Press.)
Chicago, July 26.—It begins to look as if someone might go to prison for the excursion steamer Eastland disaster. Sensations came fast tonight when the startling evidence was announced by States Attorney Hoynes and Coroner Peter Hoffman that nearly 3,000 persons were aboard the steamer when she turned over. This is 1,000 more than the ship's papers on file with the police department permitted her to carry. It also means that there are probably 900 bodies still in the hull or in the mud under the ship, bringing the death list up to 1,700. Federal District Attorney Clyne served a subpoena on Police Chief Healey and took all the papers seized in the cabin of Captain Harry Pederson of the Eastland and will turn all over to the Federal Grand Jury summoned by Federal Judge Landis to meet Thursday. Commerce Secretary Redfield is speeding to Chicago to personally head the Federal quiz at the suggestion of President Wilson. The number of victims of the disaster is still a matter of estimate. 819 bodies have been recovered. It is not known how many still remain in the water. The work of raising the hull of the ship begins tomorrow.

(Special to The Press.)
Hundreds of unemployed assembled in front of the Western Electric Co.'s plant this morning seeking positions left open by the deaths. Between 300 and 250, mostly men, but including some women, had gathered at 7:00 this morning. They were denied admission to the employment office and were told the company had no positions for them. In all probability there will be no state grand jury action on the affair until the coroner's inquest is completed, according to State's Attorney Hoynes. He said he would obtain a court order to have the July session of the grand jury continued for the purpose of investigation.

START WORK IN ESCANABA

Chester H. Lang, who served as student manager for the University of Michigan baseball team has been in the city in the interest of the organization which is attempting to finance the construction of the new million dollar Michigan Union Building at Ann Arbor. Local committees have been appointed in every city of consequence in the United States and in Escanaba Atty. Riley, Strom, Ryall and Loell and Dr. G. A. Cotton have been named. The entire amount must be raised by October last of this year. On the last Saturday night in the month of October, the date on which Michigan plays Syracuse, banquets of Michigan alumni will be held simultaneously throughout the United States, at which time a full report of the amount yet needed will be given. The deficit amount will then be made up. The erection of a building of this sort at Ann Arbor will give Ann Arbor the largest structure of its kind in the United States and will add dignity to the University. It will bring fraternity men under one roof and on a common ground which will tend to make the school more democratic. The plans for the building have already been prepared and have been approved by the architect of the Woolworth building at New York. Mrs. Anna Plant and Miss Helen Olmsted of Nahma, visited in the city on Sunday and took part in the excursion to Fayette.

Roosevelt is ou for Gov. Johnson of California for the next president. Now a lot of people will sit down and ponder whether that's a knock or a boost for Johnson.

Embarrassing moments will be saved the forehanded vacationist who commits his fish stories to memory, without danger of mixing figures, before returning from camp.

In Europe they kill them by the thousands with intent; in the United States we permit them to be killed by the thousands through negligence.

Testimony comes from any number of sources now that for years it has been known the Eastland was top heavy and unsafe, but the same unsafe Eastland kept on bidding for passengers. Why?

stead of letting him tell his story and enjoy it, we tell him it is old and we heard it long ago. He comes to us bright with enthusiasm about some new fact, or theory, and we greet him with a "Fudge" or "Nonsense," or deliberate indifference, letting him feel that we are bored. Why not hear him with ready sympathy and interest in his pleasure in something, if not, in what he tells us? Laugh with his mirth, if you cannot at his joke. If one comes full of enjoyment of a play he has seen or a concert he has heard, why dampen his ardor by superior airs and assumption of greater discernment? Why let him feel that he has taken pleasure in something inferior to what you have seen or heard? Why be always "sitting down" on people?

WAR

London, July 26.—Only the northern point of the pincers, which the Austro-Germans, for more than a week, have been trying to close around Warsaw and the Russian armies in the Polish salient, has made any progress during the last few days. This point has forced its way across the Narew river, between the fortresses of Pultusk and Rozan, and is advancing toward the Bug river, which stands for the greater part of the way between it and the Warsaw-Vilna railway, its objective.

The other point, which Field Marshal von Mackensen is directing at the Cholm-Labien railway, has hardly gained a yard of ground since it reached the village of Relovets, just south of the railway.

In offering stubborn resistance to the German advance the Russians are making a continual thrust at von Mackensen's flank along the Bug river, from the east of Cholm to east of Lemberg. Between Krylow and Sokol, their attacks have been particularly severe, compelling the Germans to send reinforcements, probably intended to support von Mackensen, to meet them.

Along the Vistula, to the south and west of Warsaw, there has been little change except for the occupation by the Germans of some positions evacuated by the Russians when they drew in their lines.

While Warsaw is under heavy pressure, the Austro-Germans have a lot of stiff work before them if they are to bring their operations to a successful ending by its capture. After crossing the Narew, they still have the broader Bug, lined with fortresses, to face; while in the south they have good positions north of the Labien-Cholm railway, which might prove the undoing of the army which attacks them.

Many are of the opinion that the most dangerous attacks at the moment are those which are being made in the provinces of communications between Warsaw and the northern interior of Russia. These attacks are being delivered for the most part by cavalry and will doubtless be met in due time by the concentration of Cossacks in this region.

The French report another big success in the Vosges at Ban-desapt, where they claim to have taken more than eight hundred unarmored prisoners. The German admit the loss of a portion of their trenches there.

There is no diminution in the Italian offensive along the Isonzo river, which the Italians say is proceeding favorably for them, but which the Austrians declare is meeting with no success.

CONDITIONS BETTER THAN SUPPOSED

Iron River, Mich., July 26.—Two thousand men are now at work in and about the mines of the Iron River district.

This means that an average of about $6,000 daily is being disbursed by the mining companies of the Iron River district.

Table showing census of the district and these are the actual figures taken from the time books at the various mining offices: Casplan 325, Tully 200, Dober 185, Zimmermann 150, Chatham 150, Davidson 135, Homer 125, Forbes 115, Chicagoan 109, James 197, Rogers 84, Hiawatha 82, Bates 37, Wauseeka 34, Bengal 25, McGillis 25.

Total 1,878. It is said by all the mining men that there must necessarily be more than 150 men employed in and about mines not operating, new properties and explorations, bringing the total up to 2,000.

The Verona Mining company this week opened up the Bengal with a crew of 25 men. The mine is being overhauled and preparations are being made for considerable activity in that property in the near future. In the Casplan mine this company has more men employed than at any time in the history of the mine.

The Verona company has also opened up the Warner mine at Amasa with a crew of 25 men. The shaft will be sunk 200 feet and other development work will follow.

The Tully is working at full capacity under present conditions. A new electric pump was recently installed and there is intense activity about this property. The Corrigan-McKinney company, also shaping up the Baker for operations and in all probability ore will be hoisted from that shaft before the summer is over.

The Munro Iron Mining company has a total of 275 men on the payroll. Men are being taken on at the Hiawatha almost daily and work at the Rogers and Chicagoan is assuming new proportions right along.

The Dober is hammering away with a force of 185 men, and in addition to the output of this property the United States Steel corporation is opening up the McGillis mine. A new shaft house and engine house have just been finished and a cable was dropped in the shaft this week.

The Homer is being laid into the Homer this week and it will not be long until that mine will be numbered among the shippers of this district. The Homer has its stock yard filled and to continue operations it is necessary to ship. The Wickwire Mining Company, which operates the Homer, also has a diamond drill at work near the old Wickwire mine.

The Mineral Mining company has 97 men at work in the James and 34 in the Wauseeka. The Zimmermann has a force of 150 employed and is maintaining its status in the district as a property that has kept on the active list through the mining operations.

and that better prices may be quoted this year and a good market established for 1916.

All of the local mining officials are just as highly elated over the bright outlook for the future as the men who have seen want of employment and eagerly look forward to the day when full capacity in every operation will be the rule.

The local improvement in the Iron River district has not been a sudden burst like other districts are experiencing. Men have been taken on gradually at all of the mines operating until the present number is on the payrolls. The only actual new work is in the Bengal and McGillis, giving employment to only 50 men. This shows that more men have been employed than many supposed and that conditions have not been as bad as some believed.

SAYS BALLASTING CAUSED CAPSIZING

Chicago, July 26.—"Improper ballast adjustment," caused the Eastland disaster, according to a prominent Chicago engineer who made a thorough investigation.

"There was probably not sufficient ballast to compensate for the surging of the passengers and the shifting of ballast which resulted," he said at the conclusion of his investigation.

"According to evidence furnished by a member of the crew the ballast had been reduced in anticipation of an extra large number of passengers. When the boat started to leave the passengers surger to the other side. This sudden surge caused a change in the center of gravity for which there was not enough ballast to compensate."

Victor Olander, secretary of the Great Lakes Seamen's union, blamed the federal steamboat inspection service in Washington. With President Fitzpatrick and Secretary Nockalis of the Chicago Federation of Labor, Olander was granted an interview with State Attorney Hoyne. Olander told Hoyne that he had known of many cases in which local boat inspectors have ordered steamship owners to comply with laws, only to have the order reversed by a federal officer who insisted he was acting under instructions from Washington. Hoyne promised to look into the charge, but admitted that he was in doubt as to what course to pursue, even if he unearthed apparent corroboration of Olander's declaration.

Surely a Prize Turkey. An old Scotchwoman had a reputation far and near for her fine fowls, and had often been awarded prizes at the neighboring shows. During the Christmas season a gentleman staying in the neighborhood, hearing her poultry so highly praised, resolved to give her a trial, so sent an order for the finest turkey she had, and after a little delay was delighted to receive as fine a specimen as could be wished for. This delight, however, was short lived, for on trying to carve the bird he found it so tough as to resist all his efforts. Enraged, he sallied forth to find the woman, who he believed had swindled him. After listening to her outburst of wrath she exclaimed: "Fools, man, why ye cannot tell a goid fowl when ye see ae. That bubbly-jock's ta'en th' first prize at th' show for th' last seven years!"

GEE WHIZ! BOSTON'S FANS ARE IN A HURRY.

Boston fans haven't much doubt about which club will win the American League pennant. Thirty of them have sent in applications for world's series seats.

One rooster sent in his application before the season started, others trailed along and six more have been sent in just since the Red Sox took first place from the Chicago White Sox.

A movie man is being carried over the American league circuit as a part of the Boston Red Sox outfit.

Movies of the Red Sox are being taken as a part of a scheme of Joseph Lannin president of the club. Lannin will use the pictures in movie theaters in and around Boston during the winter. They will illustrate baseball talks. The pictures will show the Sox on every American League playing field.

LAST ONE ABOARD DESCRIBES SCENE Chicago, July 26.—One of the most dramatic, complete and coherent of the Eastland survivors' stories was that told by E. W. Sladkey—of the Western Electric company's printing department. Sladkey was the last to board the Eastland and the first to escape. He walked over the upper side of the vessel and jumped onto the deck of the Kenosha without so much as wetting his feet. Many of those who were saved, he said, followed his example.

Sladkey, who probably will be an important witness before the investigating bodies, praised the captain of the Kenosha for his presence of mind in backing the tug against the upset Eastland. But he said the excursion boat officers and crew gave no warning of the impending disaster until the vessel had heeled beyond an angle of 45 degrees.

"It was about 7:30 o'clock when I ran along the dock to get aboard the Eastland," said Sladkey. "They had just hauled in the gangplank and were casting off the stern line. I noticed the boat was listing to port, and the thought flashed into my mind there might be trouble before we got far."

"However, a crowd of about thirty of the boys and girls employed in my department were waving at me and calling to me from the upper deck, and I jumped aboard. As I made my way to the upper deck the list was even more perceptible. My people were up in the bow and I went to them keeping on the starboard side, which was uppermost and closest to the o."

"I know a bit about boats and I wondered the Eastland's officers were not taking some steps to right the boat which kept heeling farther and farther very slowly. From what I could see it did not appear that a majority of the crowd was on the lowering port side and I could not account for the list."

"The Eastland was leaning over at an angle of about 45 degrees when crew and passengers became alarmed. After that it went over quickly, and the about of warning from sailors and officers came too late. In an instant passengers who were not like myself gripping the starboard rail or leaning against the starboard side of the deck houses, were slipping down the deck. In another instant it was all over with the Eastland."

"I waited until the port rail was in the water and then climbed out onto the upturned starboard side, calling to others to follow me. A few did, I noticed, but my cry was drowned in the chorus of screams that went up as the Eastland flopped over."

SAVED AFTER DRIFTING TWO DAYS WITHOUT FOOD

Manistique, Mich., July 24.—Adrift thirty-six hours with nothing to eat and no means of propelling their small gasoline boat whose engine refused to work, Henry Orschel and George Byron, fishermen of Manistique, were rescued in midlake by the crew of the Harvey G. of Sault Ste. Marie. They left Manistique three days ago. The engine balked and a rapidly rising wind made the lake dangerous.

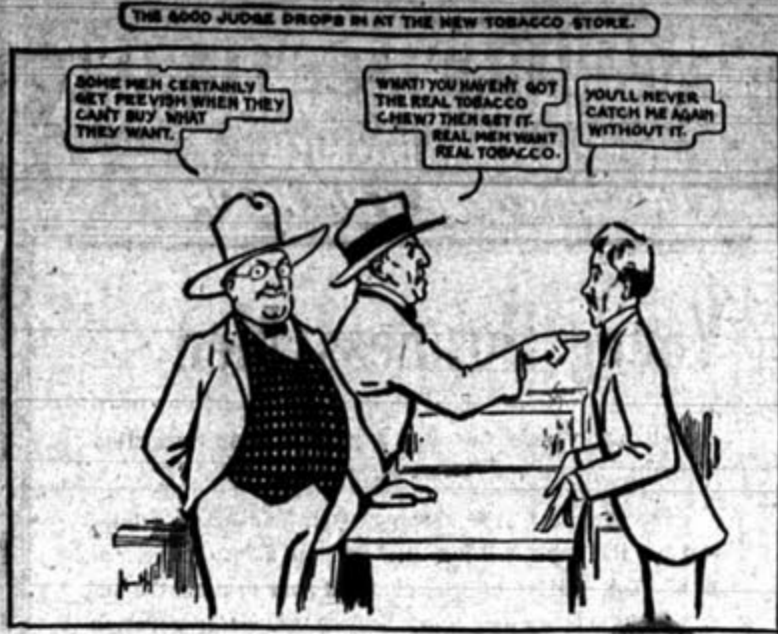

They were in the path of big lake steamers and barely missed being struck by a large freighter. They managed to light a gasoline torch by the use of a spark plug of the engine and were picked up the second afternoon.

"You should have seen us trying to cook fish, the only edible thing on board, using a gasoline torch," said Orschel. "We discovered it couldn't be done."

Y. Obtainable everywhere. The Belle C. Will make a regular trip every Sunday leaving the Merchant's dock at 10 a. m. and running to both docks at Stoughton. Returning the boat will leave Stoughton at 2 p. m.

DEALERS all along the line say their best trade is using the Real Tobacco Chew.

It's a cleaner chew, a better chew and once a man discovers it, the old ordinary tobacco doesn't suit him any more.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take less than one-quarter the old chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied.

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind. (Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste.)

BERLIN PAPERS BITTER TO NOTE

Berlin, July 26.—The latest American note to Germany concerning submarine warfare was received most unfavorably by the German newspapers in which it was printed Sunday morning.

The Vossische Zeitung, in a lengthy editorial, says: "The refusal to accept Germany's practical proposal to protect American passengers shows an absolute lack of readiness to understand the German standpoint. The principle that belligerent states must protect neutrals is untenable, if applied in the fullest sense, as it would mean abdication to neutral states. It is true that belligerents must respect neutral rights, but only provided neutrals do everything to prevent citizens getting into situations where protection is impossible."

"Those who demand that Germany should conduct the war according to rules laid down by some academic professor expect Germany either to endanger her submarines or to give up this warfare, which means the weakening of Germany to the interest of her enemies. This is not neutrality, but partisanship against Germany."

"We know today that the passengers on the Lusitania could have been saved, but that they were neglected, Germany regrets their death, but she has a clear conscience and has no reason to disapprove of the conduct of her submarine commanders."

"President Wilson considers the further torpedoing of British warships carrying American passengers a deliberately unfriendly act. While Germany also is glad to respect American friendship, she has conceded everything that can be conceded. One bit more would be considered humiliating by the German nation, whose armies have been victorious upon all the battlefields in the east and in the west."

The Tagliche Rundschau and the Kreuz Zeitung similarly declare that the American note calls for the most decided opposition and that it requires Great Britain to show at least an equal respect for the spirit of international law as the president demands from Germany.

The Tages-Zeitung says: "The note shows clearly that the American government cares more for the toppling of our submarine warfare than for the safeguarding of American lives. The United States must realize that to change our submarine warfare is out of the question. The note proves that pro-British influence has gained an upper hand in President Wilson's circle. We hope the common sense of the American people will prevent citizens from serving as protection for English munition ships."

Electricity on the Farm. The use of electricity on the American farm is growing. The time will come, say electrical experts, when the farmer will consider it a necessity. The introduction of tungsten lamps is doing much to advance the use of this power on the farm. It is possible for the farmer with a small plant, driven either by a gasoline engine or by damming a small stream, to obtain sufficient current to light his house and barn with this economical type of incandescent lamp.

DAIRY

FEEDING SILAGE IN SUMMER

Practice Found to Be Cheaper Than Turning Cows Into Pasture—Make-Up of Dairy Cow.

Dean Mumford of the Missouri College of Agriculture makes the statement that cows can be maintained more cheaply on silage than they can be carried through the summer on blue-grass pasture, where the land costs about one hundred dollars per acre and is suitable for growing corn.

Three-Year-Old Guernsey.

be pastured on less than one and one-half acres, but it is entirely possible to get twelve and one-half to twenty tons of silage from one acre. A cow and her calf can be carried through the summer on two pounds of clover hay and thirty-five pounds of silage per day as well or better than on blue-grass pasture. Thus he declares that you can carry a cow and her calf six months on less than a half acre of silage.

The good dairy cow has a broad forehead, indicating intelligence and a kindly disposition. She has a short, thin neck, not at all beefy, in which veins are plainly manifest. She is narrow through the front shoulders and thick-chested, indicating good lung capacity. She has a large, well-rounded stomach, showing capacity for storage of food and water, from which milk is to be manufactured. She has broad hips and a good width through the flanks, giving plenty of room for lacteal organs. There is also a gentle incline from her shoulders to her rump. The udder is large and soft, hanging down well between her hind legs and extending forward and backward in a well-balanced proportion. Her legs are short and her hair is a glossy color.

DIFFERENT COW-FEED RULES

No Two Cows With Big Records Ever Received Same Rations—Proper Balance is Most Desired.

To a great extent each cow is a law unto herself so far as the most desirable grain for her to receive is concerned, and it is as difficult to give instructions for feeding a cow for high production as it is to give exact instructions for driving a two-minute race horse.

So far as we know no two cows that have made large records and have been developed by different men ever received the same ration, and we doubt if any two developed by the same man have ever received exactly the same feed. The success of a feeder depends upon his ability to maintain a proper balance between the feeds that are rich in carbohydrates and those that are rich in protein. Other conditions also have to be given very careful attention, so it is absolutely impossible to lay down any fixed rules for feeding.

The secret of success is to a large extent the ability to see trouble before you are into it, and thus be able to avoid bad results. Good horse sense and love for the work count for more than anything else.

METHOD FOR COOLING CREAM

Task Should Be Performed at Once After Separation—Good Plan to Place Can in Cold Water.

Cool the cream at once after separation. This can be done by placing the cream can in a tank of fresh, cold water. A good plan is to have the water used for stock run through this milk cooler before it reaches the general stock water tank. This method cools the cream during all seasons, and in addition it prevents freezing during the winter. Do not put the can cover on tightly. A loose cover allows the animal odor to pass off, and at the same time prevents the dust from getting into the cream. Never allow freshly skimmed warm cream to be mixed with the previously skimmed cold cream until the former has been well cooled. The warm cream causes the germs to develop, and they sour and spoil the cream.

Keep Milk in Proper Place. Do not leave the open pails standing around the cow stable while you milk the next cow. Take the milk where it will be free from contamination.

THE GIRL OPPOSITE

By BEVERLY SLAUSON.

Travers was looking backward over his life, as he sat, revolver in hand, before the mirror in the upper room of his closed house, and it was strange how all the interests of the mature man's life narrowed to those of the boy of long ago.

Pictures flashed across his mental vision, and he saw himself again, a little boy, standing before that same window and holding his father's hand. "Why mustn't I play with the little girl across the street?" he asked his father.

But it was long before he learned that the man across the street was a famous athlete lecturer, and shunned in horror by the narrow society of the little place, whose ostracism extended to the loyal wife and the little girl.

Later the little boy had gone to school, a boarding school in a distant city. There the interests of school days drove the thought of the little girl out of his mind.

So completely, in fact, that when he returned, he did not at first recognize the young girl of fourteen whose face he saw at the window opposite.

"Who are those people across the street?" he asked his mother, with an interest whose cause he was careful to conceal.

"The same," she answered. "That is Danvers, the abominable athlete lecturer, John. I hope that you will have nothing to do with any of them at any time."

Time passed. John Travers went to college. Now the whirl of life had caught him up, and only the most elusive memories remained of the girl at the window. Yet, when he came home with his degree, he found himself looking across the narrow street at a young woman who watched him from her window. And this time there was a look of recognition upon her face, though she made no sign of greeting, and neither spoke.

Then John Travers went into the world of business. Eight years had passed, and he had fought hard during those years. He had made a name for himself in the financial world; at thirty he was a rising power in the street. It was no wonder that his enemies grew numerous as his power grew stronger.

And as the years went by Travers began to realize that he was obtaining singularly little out of life. At thirty he seemed already an old man in experience. Life brought him no happiness. He did not understand the cause of this, but he realized that he had somehow missed something which all his wealth could not supply.

Then came the panic, and the fight for survival. Everybody was leagued against Travers to pull him down. For a whole week, during which time he hardly slept, John fought. Then the pack had him down, and his fortune, swollen to millions, crumbled to nothing in a single day.

So he had gone home to the little village, to the house which he had inherited after his parents' death, but never occupied.

At last he had resolved to end it, to plunge out of the life that had brought him nothing into one which could at least offer nothing worse to him. And, after long thought, he had drawn from his pocket the revolver which he had always carried since the beginning of his debacle.

A knock at the door startled him, and he thrust the weapon away and opened the door. He gasped to see, before him, the girl at the window opposite.

She came into the room impulsively. "Mr. Travers," she began, "I know you will resent this intrusion, but we are old neighbors. My name is Marjorie Danvers, and I often used to go when we were children. I live opposite—I have lived there alone since my parents died two years ago. And I heard you were back and in trouble."

"You know how people gossip in this little place. We heard you were alone here and had left the house. We were all afraid some harm had come to you. So I went to the door and knocked, and when you did not answer I came up. Is there anything I can do for you?"

Her eyes fell upon the revolver muzzle, protruding from the bookcase in which he had hidden it. She looked at it and at him wildly.

"You were not—thinking of that?" she cried.

"Yes," he answered. "I was. But you have cured me now. Miss Danvers, I have lived a selfish life, solely for myself and I have had little pleasure out of it. But now I have come home, and—and I want life to begin to mean something to me. Do you know how often I have thought of you?"

"How strange!" she said. "I have thought so often of the little boy I used to see and might never know. And to think that after these years... but then you must let me help you in any way I can. And you must come out of this old house into the sunshine."

EVERY INCH OF LAND PLOUGHED BY SHELLS

Amiens, July 26.—"There is not a lump of earth the size of a shovel between Ecurie and Notre Dame de Lorette that hasn't been ploughed by shells," said an artillery officer who took part in the recent French offensive north of Arras. "The intense fire of our batteries is not, as is supposed by the uninitiated who read of artillery duels in the communities, aimed at the enemy's batteries; in the region of the Artois the Germans choose their ground so well that it cannot be hoped, except in rare instances, to reach their heavy guns until the lines are pushed back."

The real object of attack is the enemy's infantry and the field works that protect it. There are artillery duels but they are between the light field pieces; the heavy guns are well concealed in the numerous quarries, gorges and ravines of the region.

Toward the northern limit of the recent battlefield the ruins of mining properties of Angres, Lieveu and Lens add to the natural shelters. German artillery-men knew this region quite as well as the French officers. They appreciated the strength of the Artois hills so well that they sent engineers the French officers say, to study it between 1906 and 1910, with the ostensible object of investigating whether it would be possible to exploit further to the southwest the coal vein of the basin of Lens. The German engineers, it is said, took soundings over every square mile of the country around Vimy, Givency and Carency. Some of them settled at Lens with their families and for four years the work went on. Then according to the story, the Germans declared that the exploitation of the vein could not be made to pay and retired. French engineers who made similar investigations, however, found that the vein could be worked profitably; a company was formed and shafts were being sunk when the war interrupted the work.

In the meantime, it is said that every rise and every depression of ground, every quarry, ridge and gorge had been plotted on the German staff made in the triangle of the Mont de Vimy, Mont de Givency and spur of Notre Dame de Lorette, where the Germans have now established their strongest fortifications to protect the plain leading eastward toward Lens and northward toward Lille. The desire of the allies to command that flat country is what gives the greatest importance to the battle of Arras or the battle of Artois, as it may eventually.

Tom Cowler said to be 'find' New York, July 26.—Tom Cowler sponsored by Jim Corbett, has aroused the curiosity of fist followers to a greater extent than is usual when a total stranger comes this way. Just at present the heavyweight class is badly in need of new material and Cowler will receive a royal welcome if he can make good.

Corbett is long overdue to pick a winner and perhaps this time he will be successful. Cowler has the necessary size and build and a protruding chin that seems to indicate aggressiveness. However, fighters of championship calibre are not made overnight and Cowler has had very little experience. For this reason it will be unfair to the newcomers to expect a great deal from him in his first outing.

If Cowler can hold his own with the various second raters he will do well enough. Such men as Coffey and Weinert may not be past masters of the game, but they have had a long start and unless Cowler happens to be a fast genius he will do well to curb his ambition to annihilate this pair until he has disposed of a few of the lesser lights.

Cowler's past is more or less of a mystery, as he was totally unknown until Corbett picked him up. Since no stress is laid on what he accomplished before he migrated to Australia, it can be taken for granted that he did nothing very startling. While in that country, however, he stopped the three men he encountered without wasting much time. Some idea of how he impressed Australians can be had from the fact that Promoter Snowy Baker wanted him to remain to meet Eddie McGoorty, who was on the way there at the time. That the Oshkosh middleweight was considered a match for the big fellow does not appear highly complimentary to the latter. But it must be remembered that in Australia McGoorty is regarded as a marvelous fighting machine and more than a match for the best of their heavyweights.

DESIGNS NEW TORPEDO BOAT

Washington, July 26.—An serial torpedo boat for attack on ships in protected harbors is projected in patents just issued, it was learned today, to Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske, now attached to the navy war college, formerly aide for operations to Secretary Daniels.

The plan contemplates equipping a monster aeroplane with a whitehead torpedo of regulation navy type. Swooping down at a distance of five miles from the object of attack, the aircraft would drop its dead passenger into the water just as it would have been launched from a destroyer. The impact sets the torpedo's machinery in motion and it is off at a speed of more than forty knots an hour toward the enemy ship. Admiral Fiske believes that the flying torpedo boat would make it possible to attack a fleet even within a land-locked harbor. The range of the newest navy torpedoes is ten thousand yards.

Carried on a huge aeroplane the 2,000-pound weapon would be taken over harbor defenses at an altitude safe from gunfire. Once over the bay the machine would glide down to within ten or twenty feet of the water, the torpedo rudders would be set and it would be dropped to do its work while the aeroplane rose and sped away.

JANE ADAMS TALKS AT CHICAGO

Chicago, July 26.—June Adams was welcomed home by three thousand friends and acquaintances. To them she delivered from the stage of the Auditorium the message that the spirit of hate still rules the warring nations of Europe, but that there are evidences of the effect of a softening influence. She detailed the efforts made by women who attended the peace gathering at The Hague to pave the way for ending the great war.

"In all my travels," Miss Adams said, "we were unable to find who it was that started the war. Men in councils of the respective nations deplored the conflict, deprecated the sacrifices of human life, regretted the sorrow and suffering, but all were sure it could not be helped and that the result would be for the betterment of Europe."

There is No Question but that indigestion and the distressed feeling which always goes with it can be promptly relieved by taking a Small Dyspepsia Tablet before and after each meal. See a Dr.

GREAT ACTIVITY IN SHIP YARDS

Washington, July 26.—Shipbuilding activity, due to the heavy demand for vessels since the war began is greater in the United States than for several years. More steel vessels were being built or were under contract July 1, than at any time since 1901, and there was a greater tonnage of wooden vessels building, than since 1907. Department of commerce statistics show 125 vessels building July 1. Sixty-five were steel ships, aggregating 298,426 tons, and sixty were wooden vessels, totaling 288,701 tons.

CARNIVAL TO BE BIG FEATURE

Manistique, July 26.—One of the features of Manistique Home Coming week and one of the big attractions that the city will have to offer the visiting firemen is the Heinz Beckmann street carnival. This collection of shows has been enthusiastically received in the several cities in the Upper Peninsula, where it has visited and has been proclaimed best attraction of its kind that has ever raised its tents in this part of the state.

Several residents of this city have visited the carnival as Heinz & Beckmann present it. In their opinion there is not one objectionable feature to any of the concessions, and the most fastidious and exacting person will have a hard time to criticize it.

When the carnival comes here it will be with the same attractions as it showed while touring the Copper Country.

$6,000 RANSOM TO BE PAID TO KIDNAPING BANDIT. Idaho Falls, Idaho, July 29.—The father and relatives of E. A. Empey, cattle and sheep man, kidnapped from his ranch east of here Saturday, decided today to pay the $6,000 ransom demanded by his abductor. Mr. Empey's father has asked the sheriff to recall his posse. Relatives fear that efforts to capture the abductor will result in Empey being killed.

The getsha has been reported to be a devotee.

CONFERENCE DATES SET

The sixteenth annual conference of the Michigan chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will be held in Marquette on August 10, 11 and 12. It was originally planned to hold the conference in October but the dates were set forward that the meeting might be held in the new normal school building at Marquette.

The Lewis Cass Chapter, of this city, will be represented at the conference, which gives promise of proving the most successful in the history of the organization in Michigan.

Of plans for the coming meeting the Mining Journal of Marquette says:

The general committee from the Marquette chapter, D. A. R. in charge of the sixteenth annual conference of Michigan chapters to be held here has persuaded the state board to change the time of the conference this year from October to August in order to make possible the acceptance of President J. H. Kaye's generous offer of the Northern State Normal school for conference headquarters. August 10th, 11th and 12th are the dates fixed for the conference and the public is invited to the sessions to be held at the Normal school.

The use of the Normal school will enable the visitors to see Marquette at its best. Now that the local committees have completed the program and made such excellent arrangements for the entertainment of the delegates, the success of the conference seems assured. Forty-two cities of Michigan will be represented and many of the most prominent women in the state will be guests in Marquette homes.

The list of chairmen of the conference committees include the following:

General Chairman—Mrs. Phillip B. Spear.
 Entertainment—Mrs. Charles W. Grief.
 Invitation—Mrs. Edward O. Stafford.
 Hospitality—Mrs. William S. Hill.
 Transportation—Mrs. Charles C. Van Iderstine.
 Printing—Mrs. Ramsom A. Manhard.
 Music—Miss Minnie Brown.
 Souvenirs—Miss Edith Wright.
 Decoration—Mrs. George N. Conklin.
 Flower—Mrs. Alton T. Roberts.

 The chairmen of the state committee appointed from the Marquette chapter are:

Credentialed—Mrs. Franklin B. Spear Jr.
 Program—Mrs. William G. King.
 Mrs. William Wait of Ann Arbor, state regent, will be the presiding officer of the conference and the program also includes addresses by Mayor Fred H. Begole, President James H. Kaye of the M. S. N., Rev. Ames

A. Maywood, and Charles Moore of Detroit.

Delegates are expected to arrive on Tuesday, Aug. 10. Many will be guests in Marquette homes, friends of the chapter graciously assisting in the entertainment of the visitors.

The social functions of the conference include two luncheons, one at the Normal school and one at Presque Isle and an evening reception. These are necessarily limited to the members of the society and guests of the Marquette chapter.

BIG CROWD SAW RACES

The largest crowd of horse race fans gathered in Delta county in a number of years witnessed a sterling matinee program at the Flat Rock track Sunday afternoon. A great number of people from Escanaba were present together with a monster crowd from Flat Rock and the surrounding territory. The big crowd was an eminently well behaved one and the management having the race in charge deserve praise for the manner in which the event was staged. In each of the two big matches of the afternoon the entire were closely matched and the spectators were treated to some exciting finishes.

After five close heats, Ethel Mayme, owned by Joseph Hirn of this city, took the first race, with Peter, owned by Ambrose Theoret, Flat Rock, second and Lillian B., owned by Joseph Beauchamp, Escanaba, third. Reo, owned by Aldese Perra, Spalding, took the second race in straight heats from Aspin Leaf, owned by J. D. Shackelford, of Schafer.

Following were the results in the two matched races:

Ethel Mayme, Firkus driver...1-1-2-2-1
 Peter, Peplin, driver...2-2-1-1-2
 Lillian B., Beauchamp driver 3-3-3-3-3

Second race

Reo, Rangette, drive...1-1-1
 Aspin Leaf, Duke, driven...2-2-2

RED CROSS MUST QUIT ITS WAR RELIEF WORK; DUE TO LACK OF FUNDS

Washington, July 26.—American Red Cross doctors and nurses will be withdrawn from European battlefields Oct. 1, because of lack of funds to maintain them longer at their stations.

It is possible that the two units in Belgium, where the greatest need exists, will be continued, but the other fourteen detachments will return to the United States. The Serbian Sanitary commission, and other work supported by special contributions, will go on as long as those contributions are available, but the general fund contained in the United States, amounting to $1,560,000 will be exhausted by Oct. 1.

The Red Cross, a report made public today shows, sent to the warring countries 367 persons engaged in humanitarian enterprises.

Mrs. C. W. Bissell and son M. K. Bissell will leave this morning for Big Rapids, Mich., where they will visit at the home of the former's parents.

FARMER MAY CHANGE PLANS

Marquette, Wis., July 26.—Frank Farmer who meets Gus Christie at the Armory in Marquette on August 4, will leave for New York on August 5. His manager, Sam Howard has signed for three bouts in New York City. His first opponent will be Soldier Bartfield, then he takes on Al McCoy and is also matched with the winner of the Gungoat Smith and Tom Cowler fight. He will take part in all three matches before Labor Day. He certainly will have his hands full for the three men he meets in that short time are the three most prominent in New York today. Farmer certainly has a very good opportunity to become one of the most prominent boxers in the game.

Gus Christie is apt to upset all of Mr. Farmer's plans. If he is expecting an easy win from Christie he is apt to be a very much surprised young man. Christie has been the stumbling block for many a youngster who has had visions of some day becoming a champion. He always shows best against a man that will stand up and mix with him. As Farmer will make just such an opponent for him he may upset all his plans. Farmer, however, says that he realizes just who he is meeting in Christie and is getting into the best possible shape that any athlete can get into.

Joe Dory who meets Ed. Sharp of Appleton for ten rounds on the same card is also rounding into perfect shape very fast. Although Sharp has knocked out his last five opponents in quick order, Dory is sure that Mr. Sharp is apt to get a taste of his own medicine. Sharp has a big following in Appleton and when he comes to Marquette he will be accompanied by a party of friends who are willing to wager that he can defeat the Marquette boy.

The Jimmie Bellisle and Touhey Bero bout should also be a corker. In Menominee Bero's friends are certain that he can beat Bellisle and are willing to put their money on the home boy. This fight is creating unusual interest and the outcome is being awaited with much interest and enthusiasm. They will also meet for ten rounds.

BECKER EXECUTION IS POSTPONED

(Special to The Press.)

New York, July 26.—The execution of Charles Becker was postponed by Warden Osborne of Sing Sing, until Friday morning at the request of Supreme Court Justice Ford who today heard an argument of Becker's plea for a third trial. Ford decided that he could not review the evidence before Wednesday morning for when Becker's execution was scheduled.

C. W. Turner motored to Gladstone yesterday morning.

ENTERTAINS AT A BUS RIDE PARTY

Miss Florence McDonough entertained a company of friends at a bus ride party in honor of her guest, Miss Irene Bolley. Members of the party drove to Gladstone and all thoroughly enjoyed the afternoon's outing.

DELTA GETS BIG SLICE

School districts of Delta county will receive a total of $75,350.25 from the state primary school fund, according to the apportionment made by the state superintendent of public instruction and announcement of which was received by County Clerk A. J. Peplin yesterday. The city of Escanaba will receive as its share a total of $30,481.55 while the city of Gladstone's share will be $11,751.45. The apportionment is made on the basis $7.85 for each child of school age. While the announcement of the apportionment has been received by the county clerk, funds for distribution among the city and township school districts of the county will not be forwarded to County Treasurer Frank J. Hess, for distribution for a week or ten days.

BALL GAME WAS FEATURE

The excursion to Fayette Sunday, given by the men of St. Patrick's church proved to be a grand success in every way. A capacity load on the steamer Saugatuck left the Stephenson dock at 9 o'clock, arriving at 11:45. After the exchange of greetings with the members of the boys brigade, the happy pleasure seekers scattered in groups around through the extensive beautiful natural park where luncheon was partaken of and all enjoyed the picturesque scenery and drank in the ozone of the forest. The event of the day in field sports was a spectacular game of ball, played by the Company B crack team and a picked up team of "comebackers" from Escanaba, Wells and Gladstone. The game was started promptly at 2:30 o'clock, the choice to bat fell to the "comebackers," and the contest was on. A fiercely contested game it proved to be. The Company B team flushed with pride at the many victories they had won, believed they had an easy aggregation to contend with, but they were soon undeceived and they found they were opposed to a team worthy of their metal. At the conclusion of the game the score was 6 to 0 in favor of the "Comebackers." Although the "comebackers" were not at any time members of any of the National league teams, still many of them were members of strong league teams in New York, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan. The first man to bat was Timothy Magher, who showed a clear perception in connecting with the curves and slants of Company B's wily pitcher. A two bagger was easily made, after which William Germaine was put to the test, after a few balls with curve, slant and drop characteristics, a safe hit was made, scoring one for Magher, but to enumerate all the work of this team would take too much space for an article of this kind. The features of the game were right field hit by German which earned him two bases, an "over the tree" hit by Joseph McGee of Gladstone, which earned him a home run, two two-bagger hits by Magher and a scorcher from the bat of Postmaster Emil Byers of Wells, which earned him a safe run to first base and admitted two scores by men on first and second base. At the termination of the game the "Comebackers" were given an ovation by the immense audience. The return trip was made on schedule time. Thus ending a most enjoyable day for all who participated.

MORE MEN EMPLOYED

Of greatly improved conditions in the iron ore industry, particularly on the Marquette range, the Negaunee correspondent says:

W. B. Pattison, superintendent of the Breitung mines, was notified Saturday that the company had made large sales of ore for immediate delivery, and he was instructed to increase the working forces at the Mary Charlotte mine to capacity, as soon as men could be secured.

The news was received with much pleasure, as there are still a number of men who have not secured steady employment, after having been out of work all winter. With the forces at the Mary Charlotte and Maas mines largely increased, it is thought that there will be few, if any, idle men in Negaunee. Twenty men were hired Saturday at the Mary Charlotte and as many as are needed will be taken on today.

Superintendent Pattison expects to take on, in all, from fifty to seventy-five men. There are now about 225 men employed at the mine and the property is working two shifts. Over 100 men were taken on a few weeks ago. The Breitung company expects to ship all of the ore that the company has in stock at the Breitung and Mary Charlotte mines, and as much more as can be brought to the surface before the close of the shipping season. Steam shovels have been working for the past two weeks at the company's stockpiles, loading cars for shipment, and several large cargoes have already been sent down the lakes.

Besides the 300 or more men who will be employed at the Mary Charlotte mine, there are in the neighborhood of 150 men working at the Breitung mine. Both properties will be worked to capacity until the close of shipping season.

Many men are being added daily at the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company's Maas mine, which is one of the largest properties in the county. It is expected that the mine will be working with a full crew by August 1. The company will not, it is thought, have any difficulty getting competent miners, as many of the old hands, who have been employed at other mines since the Maas was closed down last October, will again look for their former places.

SAW BOAT TURN

"Immediately the river became a surging, struggling mass of humanity, all in their own way, fighting for life. Some came to the surface but momentarily and then sank, perhaps to drift on down the river.

"Hats and caps of every describable nature floated on the surface as mockery to those who were using their final desperate efforts to keep above the dirty waters of the river. Amid all of the terrible and unforgettable excitement and while, it appeared, thousands were making a final effort to save themselves from death, there floated calmly down the river, unoccupied, a life boat. What anguish must have been in the hearts of those people as they saw that life boat floating so calmly from their reach."

When Miss McLaughlin reached the Northwestern offices she carried the first news of the terrible disaster. Employed at the office was one young man whose sister had been employed by the Western Electric Company and who, he knew, was to go on the excursion. He immediately rushed to the scene where death had but a few moments before visited, to find that his sister had been rescued from the bottom of the river after six attempts. Her face and head had been completely submerged in the mud at the bottom of the river, filling her mouth and throat. She was among the first to be taken to the hospital, where she later recovered.

Saturday afternoon Miss McLaughlin returned to her apartments to pack her trunks preparatory to her visit at Escanaba. "My efforts in this regard," said Miss McLaughlin, "were practically futile as I could see nothing else but those struggling souls in that river. I simply could not banish the thought from my mind."

Saturday evening as Miss McLaughlin passed the scene of the morning tragedy she describes the surroundings as the most ghastly she had ever witnessed. "Scores upon scores of arc lights had been strung across the river to assist the rescuers. Workmen with blowpipes were working on the hull of the vessel, cutting holes through the ships' side to allow them to enter and recover bodies. The grewome, grotesque shadows cast by those lights and the workmen, on the waters were horrible. Even then bodies were being carried to the ambulances on the docks. My last impression of the scene where the "death ship" lay gave me the shivers."

Benjamin Coplan, of Escanaba was at the scene of the catastrophe about 15 minutes after it had occurred. Thousands, on their way to their work had gathered at the dock watching the work of rescue. Mr. Coplan declares that the efforts of the police and officials in charge were most heroic.

Jessie Owens of this city was among those who saw the rescue work.

Horace, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Atkins, who arrived here on Sunday morning watched the work throughout the day Saturday. He describes the occasion in one word—"Unthinkable."

J. J. Jackson of Marquette is in the city on business.
