

MAN STABBED IN A FRACAS AT GLADSTONE

OWEN WITHEY HAS ABDOMEN RIPPED OPEN BY KNIFE, IT IS ALLEGED, IN HANDS OF JAMES BOYLE—LITTLE HOPES FOR RECOVERY ENTERTAINED.

MEN FIGHT ON STREET

As the result of an altercation on the street at Gladstone late last night Owen Withey, a resident of Gladstone for a number of years, was seriously stabbed and early this morning little hope was entertained for his recovery.

James Boyle, a switchman, employed by the Soo Line, is under arrest charged with the stabbing.

Witnesses to the altercation last night gave confusing versions of the affair and the cause that led up to the stabbing.

Withey was rushed to the office of Dr. David N. Kee. It was found that the blade of the knife had ripped open the abdominal cavity and the intestines of the victim were protruding.

Boyle was arrested immediately after the stabbing and was locked up at the Gladstone police station. Early this morning he was brought to the city by Sheriff Iverson and was locked up at the county jail.

Police officers at Gladstone notified Sheriff Iverson immediately after the stabbing and Richer's ambulance was hurriedly sent to Gladstone to bring the injured man to the hospital in this city.

Physicians who were attending Withey early this morning refused to predict the outcome of his injuries.

Bothy Whitney and Boyle are well known residents of Gladstone, having resided in that city for a number of years.

The two men met on the street in front of McCarthy's livery stable, at Gladstone, where Withey is employed. Heated words were exchanged and the fight followed that resulted in the stabbing.

WILSON LOSES LABOR VOTE - FAILS TO GET NEW YORK.

New York, Nov. 10.—President Wilson did not receive the united support of organized labor, which its leaders promised him, and that feature of the election was much discussed by politicians of both parties, as well as by officials of trade unions.

The labor vote failed the President in New York, where the Democrats expected its aid to give him a majority of 75,000 or 100,000 in New York city and a majority in Buffalo. It failed the President in Illinois, which the Democrats have claimed, in the hope that the great industrial center of Chicago, normally Democratic, would give the President a big majority. Instead Hughes carried Chicago and Illinois.

DOGS STARVE IN MAN'S ABSENCE

Marinette, Wis., Nov. 10.—Warrants for the arrest of George Harrison, brother of the Menominee alderman, will be sworn out, probably Saturday, as a result of the finding of four fox terriers, one of which was dead, and three starving in a barn on Ludington street, Menominee, by Police Captain Van Doser and C. Oscar Lyon, president of the Menominee Humane Society, early today.

According to officers of the humane society, the four dogs were left by Harrison, in charge of a Menominee youth who was given neither funds nor food with which to feed the dogs, it is alleged. Harrison is now absent from the city and is traveling with an animal show of which he is the owner. The dogs have been in the barn for several weeks and when found this morning one was dead and another had to be shot, so weak was it from starvation. The other two may have to be shot.

Announcement was made by C. Oscar Lyon, president of the humane society, that as soon as F. J. Trudell, attorney for the society returns to Menominee, the warrant for Harrison's arrest will be sworn.

FORMER ESCANABA MEN ISSUE PAPER

The Milwaukee Scout, is the title of a new publication, the first issue of which has just been issued in Milwaukee. The publication is devoted to the interests of Boy Scouts of Milwaukee and will be issued every two weeks. George B. Norton, formerly editor of the Morning Press, is manager of the new publication and W. L. Davidson, former instructor in the Escanaba High school and now Scout executive for the city of Milwaukee is editor.

REFUSE TO LET GIRL CONVICT SELF

Houghton, Nov. 10.—At the opening of the November term of circuit court for Houghton county, Judge P. H. O'Brien refused to allow Eunice Korpi, the Dollar Bay girl charged with infanticide, and concealment of death of her child, to enter a plea of guilty, although she expressed a desire to take this action. The court appointed Attorney L. N. Legris of Houghton to defend her, and the case probably will go to trial next week. The circumstances of the case are well known. The girl is accused of strangling the infant child born to her in St. Joseph's hospital, out of wedlock, either on her way from the hospital to her home at Dollar Bay or at her home in Dollar Bay.

CHIHUAHUA HAS FALLEN

San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 10.—Dispatches from General G. Bell, Jr., to General Frederick Funston tonight indicate that Chihuahua City has either fallen into Francisco Villa's hands or has been voluntarily evacuated by General Jacinto Trevino.

WARN AGAINST FAKE CONCERN

The following order has been received by Postmaster John O'Meara from the headquarters of the department concerning the operations of a Minneapolis concern, proven to be a fraud by whose scheme many Escanaba women were bitten:

Your attention is invited to the following order issued on October 28, to all postmasters:

Order No. 10969. It having been made to appear by evidence satisfactory to me that the National Mail Order Brokerage Exchange, at 529 Globe Building, Minneapolis, Minnesota, is conducting a scheme for obtaining money through the mails by means of false and fraudulent pretenses, representations, and promises, in violation of sections 3929 and 4041 of the Revised Statutes, as amended, and that communications addressed to this concern are unmailable within the meaning of section 4 of the act of March 2, 1889 (sec. 484, P. L. & R., 1913), all postmasters are hereby directed to withdraw from the mails all matter of any kind addressed to this concern and return the same to the sender where known, and where not known to send such matter to the Division of Dead Letters for proper disposition. Wherever possible, postmasters should decline to receive such matter for mailing.

(Signed) J. C. Koons, Acting Postmaster General.

The caution of the Department in this connection should also be given as much local publicity as possible.

The scheme conducted under this name consists in the sending out of circulars letters in which a silk petticoat worth $4.75 is promised to the addressee provided she will remit 10c to the concern and send fixed exact copies of the letter received by her to five of her acquaintances. The promoters of the scheme have left Minneapolis and can not be located, and many thousands of letters are now being received at the post office at Minneapolis for this concern which can not be delivered and are being treated in accordance with the provisions of a fraud order issued against the National Mail Order Brokerage Exchange on the 28th instant.

LOWER HOUSE TO BE CLOSED

ON FACE OF ELECTION RETURNS NATIONAL HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES WILL BE GREAT FIGHTING GROUND.

(Special to the Press)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—The house of representatives tonight, on the face of returns, official and unofficial, is so close to a tie that sensational scenes are promised when organization takes place.

The Democrats claim to have elected 215 members.

Based upon the figures of the press associations and those received late this afternoon at Republican congressional committee headquarters in this city the result seems to show the election of 215 Republicans, 212 Democrats, 2 Socialists, one Independent Republican and one Progressive Republican.

WILL BATTLE MENOMINEE

ESCANABA HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL TEAM TO BATTLE ANCIENT GRIDIRON ENEMY THIS AFTERNOON.

Members of the Escanaba High school football team at Menominee today, will battle with the Menominee Highs in a game that will determine Escanaba's right to participate in an upper peninsula championship struggle. Although some of the players and rooters left for Menominee last night, the bulk of the members of the first and second teams and a big body of rooters will go to Menominee this morning. Some of the band of rooters will return to this city tonight, while others, with members of the team will come to Escanaba tomorrow morning.

Escanaba's second team will meet the Menominee second team in a curtain raising event this afternoon and at 2:30 o'clock the big battle of the day will be started.

Although some of the wearers of the orange and black are still slightly crippled from the grueling battle in which they participated against Marinette a week ago, Escanaba's coaches, players and rooters are marching on Menominee today, determined to gain revenge for repeated defeats of recent years. The players have been primed to the limit for today's battle and the stay-at-home fans will await with deep interest the result of this afternoon's game.

DOUBT STORY OF A SAILOR

Calumet, Mich., Nov. 10.—Maintaining that his story was true, even when confronted with telegraphic reports that the steamer Castalia is safe in port at Toledo, Edward Landri a sailor today told a harrowing tale of hardships and suffering after the sinking of the Castalia off Manitowish Island, Lake Superior last night. The coast guards are unable to visit the scene of the wreck because of the high seas along the island.

He says he was picked up by fishermen off Keweenaw Point, while floating on a life raft and that fishermen supplied him with dry clothing.

FIVE INJURED IN AUTO WRECK

Marshfield, Wis., Nov. 10.—William Anderson of Marshfield is in a critical condition in a hospital here and Peter Hanson, Nic Ruder, Charles Bulgren, and Mr. Martin are suffering from wounds as a result of an automobile accident. The men were returning to Marshfield from Neilsville when a cow crossed the road and upset the machine. Anderson was pinned beneath it and badly crushed.

Miss Genevieve Kellin who has been the guest of Escanaba friends for the past three days, returned Friday morning to her home in Negaunee.

GAME VIOLATOR WAS ARRANGED

Martin Hager of Brampton, arrested by Deputy State Game Warden Herman Lelner on a charge of hunting deer with dogs, was taken before Judge C. D. McEwen yesterday. He demanded a trial on the charge and the examination was set for Nov. 17. The defendant was released on bonds in the amount of $200.

MEETS DEATH ACCIDENTALLY

W. G. WILLIAMS, SOUTH FORD RIVER, ACCIDENTALLY SHOT THROUGH LEG AND BODY WHILE HUNTING DEER—BODY FOUND YESTERDAY MORNING.

Shot through the leg and body with a charge of buckshot accidentally fired from his own gun, William G. Williams a prominent farmer of South Ford River, was found lying dead in the woods near his home early yesterday morning. Mr. Williams was watching for deer from a platform that he had constructed in a tree in the woods. The exact manner in which he met a tragic death will never be known.

Two plausible theories are advanced however. One is that he fell asleep while seated on the platform and the gun, charged with buckshot and fully cocked, dropped from his hands and falling downward the trigger struck one of the rounds of a ladder that led to the platform, and was discharged. Another theory is that the unfortunate man was descending the ladder from the platform and accidentally struck the trigger against the ladder, firing the charge.

FIX SALARIES OF OFFICERS

RAISES GRANTED COUNTY OFFICIALS AND DEPUTIES BUT MAJORITY OF FEES WILL NOW GO TO THE COUNTY TREASURY.

Members of the Delta county board of supervisors yesterday fixed the salaries for officers of the county for the coming two year period. Each officer of the county and each deputy was granted a substantial increase in salary but practically all fees that formerly have gone to the officers, will now be paid into the county treasury.

The salary budget was fixed for the coming two years at the meeting of the county board yesterday afternoon when the matter was carefully considered and the salary for each officer and each deputy was named after a complete discussion.

The salaries fixed for the coming two years follow: Judge of probate, $2,400 a year and fees; register of probate $900 a year; county clerk, $2,600 a year and fees that are not connected with county business; deputy county clerk, $1,000 a year; sheriff, $3,000 a year, no fees; turnkey, $900 a year and no fees; undersheriff, $100 a month and as long as the offices of the undersheriff and truant officer are combined, the official shall not receive fees from the latter office that would increase his salary above $135 a month; county treasurer $2,400 a year and no fees; deputy county treasurer, $1,000; register of deeds, $1,000 a year and fees; prosecuting attorney $2,000 a year and $400 a year for clerk hire; judge of circuit court, $1,500 a year; drain commissioner, $35 a year; poor commissioners $150 a year each; game warden $200 a year; secretary of the county board of poor commissioners $1,350 a year; members of the county board of road commissioners, $500 a year, and members of the board of election canvassers $5 for each general election and $3 for each special election.

In consideration for increases in salaries for the county officers and their deputies it was provided that no bills for extra clerk hire will be allowed unless previously sanctioned by the members of the board's finance committee.

BEATING BACK TEUTON FORCE

RUSSIANS AND ROUMANIANS ADVANCE AGAINST VON MACKENSEN'S ARMY AND TAKE BIG STRIDE—TERRIFIC FIGHTING IS REPORTED.

(Special to the Press,

London, Nov. 10.—The spectacular offensive of the Russians and Rumanians in the Dobrudja has brought them to a point two miles east of Cernavoda. Desperate fighting is now in progress there for the great bridge across the Danube.

Petrograd announces officially that the cavalry and infantry have occupied the station at Donareav, three miles east of Cernavoda. The Russians have taken a number of prisoners and machine guns, and on one plot of captured ground, two hundred slain soldiers of General Von Mackensen's army have been counted.

COMMISSION WAS GRILLED

SUPERVISORS DISCUSS WORK OF STATE TAX COMMISSION IN DELTA COUNTY BUT FINALLY ACCEPT VALUATION FIGURES THAT WERE FIXED BY BODY.

Members of the Delta county board of supervisors yesterday after tumultuous discussion and after the work of the state tax commission in this county had been branded as a "farce" by one of the supervisors, formally accepted the figures of the commission in fixing the assessed valuation of all property in the county. After a double assessment and the valuations of two descriptions of government land in Garden township, amounting to $925 had been taken from the roll of that township the figures of the commission were adopted. The total value of all property in the county, according to the commission and the supervisors is $20,470,962, of which $15,201,475 is real estate and $5,170,412 is personal property.

Although the matter was not generally understood by all of the supervisors it is believed that by the word of a motion to adopt the report of the committee on equalization the board yesterday also adopted the recommendations of that committee, requesting that the board of state tax commissioners return to Delta county and reassess five townships of the county in which the tax rolls were

TO WIND UP BUSINESS

Miss Eleanor Howell of Marinette, who has been visiting with friends in this city the past week or two, left last evening for her home.

Members of the Delta county board of supervisors will this morning wind up the business of the adjourned October session of the county's governing body. It was confidently expected that all of the work would be given action yesterday but much time was consumed in considering the tax equalization report, making an adjournment until this morning necessary. The board will today act on the report of the finance committee in which the tax that will be levied for the Delta County Agricultural society, will be specified and in which matter there is a strong public interest. Whether the society will be able to clear up its indebtedness and be placed in a position to start plans soon for a bigger and more successful fair next fall than ever before held in this county will depend on the action of the county board today.

The supervisors yesterday voted to engage from Miss Anna Genesee for $15 a month a detention place for juvenile delinquents and women prisoners.

Mrs. J. L. Lamere entertained a large company of friends at a stag party at her home at North Escanaba on Thursday night, complimentary to Miss Stella O'Neil. The evening was delightfully spent at the home with must card games following which refreshments were served.

DR. VAUGHN TO GIVE ADDRESS HERE

Dr. Victor C. Vaughn, dean of the medical department at the University of Michigan, will deliver an address at the High school auditorium in this city on Thursday evening, Nov. 23. The address by Dr. Vaughn will be the first in the winter series of university extension lectures.

Perry Waltham of the Soo, is visiting at the McCauley home on Jennie street a few days.

SALESMAN KNOWN HERE IS INJURED

Howard Hanrahan, traveling salesman for the Carpenter Cook company of Menominee and well known in this city, narrowly escaped death at Ishpeming on Thursday evening. In attempting to board a moving passenger train as it was leaving the station Hanrahan slipped and fell. A companion, who had gained a foothold on the steps of the cars grasped Hanrahan by the coat and tried to pull him aboard. The salesman, clinging to his grips, was dragged for a considerable distance and then fell to the side of the track, sustaining severe bruises about the head. He was taken to an Ishpeming hospital, where his injuries will cause his confinement for at least a few days.

MENS CLASS REORGANIZED

Members of the Men's Class of the First Presbyterian church, met last night at the church parlors and perfected a complete reorganization for the work of the coming year. Officers were elected as follows: M. L. Lawrence, president; J. J. Mallmann, vice president and H. F. Kirstin, secretary and treasurer. The work of the year was planned and steps taken to provide a most interesting year's work. Following the meeting a luncheon was served.

LOST BOND ISSUE BY ONE VOTE

Gladstone, Mich., Nov. 10.—The proposition to bond the city of Gladstone for $14,000 for the purpose of constructing an additional trunk line sewer in the First ward was defeated in Tuesday's election by the narrow margin of but two-thirds of a single vote.

At first it was reported about the city that the issue had carried by six votes, but on Wednesday morning it was discovered that an error had been made in making public the number of votes cast in favor of the issue in the Third ward. The number of votes cast in favor of the issue in the Third ward, was given out as 158.

The margin between victory and defeat is so close that it is possible that the votes will be recounted. The issue was evidently defeated by the activities of the opposition in the Third ward. The issue carried in this ward by the narrow margin of twenty-seven votes. In the Fourth ward, where it was believed that the greatest opposition would be found the issue carried by eighty-four votes. Both the First and Second wards returned good majorities in favor of the sewers. A two-thirds majority was necessary to carry the question.

Following is the vote by wards:

WARD	YES	NO.
First ward	102	40
Second ward	111	40
Third ward	138	111
Fourth ward	138	54
Total	489	245

Necessary to carry, 490.

The defeat of this issue again emphasizes what has been said many times before, that there is a lack of progressiveness when it comes to dealing with matters that affect the public welfare. This issue should have carried and by a large majority and the reason that it did not can be traced directly to one or two reasons, selfishness or a misunderstanding on the part of the voters. We can hardly believe it to be the latter reason and

PRES. WILSON SAYS FOUGHT FOR A RIGHT

NATION'S NEWLY ELECTED CHIEF EXECUTIVE BREAKS SILENCE SINCE ELECTION WITH SHORT STATEMENT—HUGHES AWITS OFFICIAL COUNT TO CONGRATULATE WINNER.

Williamstown, Mass., Nov. 10.—President Wilson tonight broke the silence he has maintained since the election. He said:

"Politics is the only means we have of expressing opinions we believe to be of advantage to the country. I entered this fight but, after all, a man who is not willing to fight for the things he believes in, is without the red-blooded qualities necessary to accomplish results."

New York, Nov. 10.—The Hughes campaign managers today abandoned their plans to contest the election of President Wilson. They announced that no steps will be taken to secure a recount in close state unless the official canvass of the vote discloses frauds. "We have no evidence of any such frauds," added Chairman Wilcox in making this announcement.

The work of dismantling the extensive Fifth avenue headquarters of the Republican National committee was begun and the campaign headquarters will be closed tomorrow.

The only thing lacking to make the election of 1916 a closed incident of American history is the customary congratulatory telegrams from the loser to the winner. It is the present intention of Mr. Hughes to send no such message until the result of the official canvass is known.

With California safely in the Wilson column there are 19 electoral votes that must be classed as being still in doubt. They are the votes from Minnesota, New Hampshire and New Mexico. Unless there is a decided overturn in the missing district in New Mexico, Wilson will carry this state, where he is now reported as being ahead by 1,400 votes.

In Minnesota Hughes has a lead of more than 1,000 but the exact result may not be known until next Tuesday when the state canvassing board will count the returns from the soldiers on the Mexican border. Latest reports indicated that Hughes was favored by the Minnesota troops, so that little fear that Hughes will lose is held in the Gopher state.

The result in New Hampshire awaits the result of the official count.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—The total popular votes received in each of the state by President Wilson and Charles E. Hughes, based on incomplete reports and estimates, indicate that the president received 403,312 votes more than Mr. Hughes.

CONGRESS DECIDES IN CASE OF CONTEST

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—In case the defeated candidate for President wants to make a contest for the office, based on the closeness of the returns in the crucial states the matter will go to congress for adjustment.

This would give President Wilson a great advantage, whether contestant or defendant, inasmuch as the Democratic party has complete control of the machinery of both the house and the senate, and would provide the means for hearing and adjusting the contest.

The constitution formally provides a method for electing a President, where no candidate gets a majority in the electoral college. It does not provide a method, however, for the conduct of a contest in which a defeated candidate demands a recounting of the ballots in particular states.

Where there is not a majority in the electoral college, the house of representatives chooses a President. The house does not vote by members, but by state delegations. Inasmuch as either Mr. Wilson or Mr. Hughes will have a majority on the face of final returns from the election on Tuesday, the house will not elect by this method.

In 1876 there was a dispute over the result between Hayes and Wheeler, Republican candidates for President and vice president, and Tilden and Hendricks, the Democratic candidates. Tilden and Hendricks on the face of the returns came within one vote of a majority. The votes in three states were

ANGER LURKS ON ALL SIDES

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 10.—You dig a silver spoon into a tempting dish of ice cream and lick it lingeringly! It's good, yum-yum, but—

The same spoon was licked by some one else ten minutes ago and the dish holding your ice cream held perhaps a chocolate sundae for another thirty member of the commonwealth. And that may have tuberculosis or some other communicable disease. And between his licking the spoon and your licking that same spoon stands the soda clerk, often tired and overworked and thinking more of getting the orders killed with the least possible expense of energy than of sanitation.

This is not another attempt to take joy out of life. The soda fountain is here to stay, and men, women and children will patronize it in defiance of all the germs in christendom. And if the fountain is well equipped with hot water, sanitary paper cups, and so on, there is not the slightest danger. The trouble is that there are comparatively few fountains so equipped.

The dairy and food inspector in a certain city in Michigan of some 40,000 population made a systematic inspection of the glassware and other utensils used in the confectionery stores in the city. His report shows that in but seven of the twenty-five stores inspected was hot water used in cleaning the dishes. In only three stores were sanitary paper cups used. One boy employed at a soda fountain to clean glassware told the inspector that he polished the glass by blowing his breath on it!

The city in which this inspection was made is not behind other places in Michigan in regard to sanitation, but rather in advance of many. There is no reason to believe that conditions are better in most places.

"The state board of health tuberculosis survey shows that there are a great many more persons suffering from tuberculosis than was popularly supposed," said Dr. William De Kleine, commenting on the soda fountain inspection. "Ten times more efforts are being put forward to curb the disease than was once the case, but the universal patronage of the soda fountain illustrates how new ways of spreading the disease are constantly being gadded. A generation ago the spread of disease via the soda fountain was practically nil, because there was no such thing as a general practice of people eating ice cream in public places."

"People often laugh at these suggestions of safeguarding the food and the ice cream and so forth in public places. They look upon it as the fad of cranks. But even those people who laugh can never explain satisfactorily why there are some 25,000 cases of tuberculosis in Michigan alone. In spite of fridicule, it is high time that the soda fountains throughout the state should be made safe."

THE CARBON PAPER

By CARRINGTON PHILLIPS.

Sherwood Williams was in love with his stenographer. He had never given her a hint of it; he had hardly dared admit it even to himself. For he was only a struggling young lawyer. Moreover, he believed her to be engaged to Elmer Savage, who had risen high in the legal profession and who came to his office every morning in a glittering limousine. So he applied himself industriously to his fluctuating law practice, and tried to brush from his mind the picture of Edythe Maitland's eyes.

His gaze wandered to where she was sitting at her desk across the room. "I suppose Savage will call for her in a few minutes," he thought rather bitterly.

The girl, seeming unconscious of his gaze, finished her task, and crossing the room, placed the papers on his desk. She returned to her machine and tapped the keys idly. Finally the door opened and a middle-aged man, dressed in the very latest fashion, entered the room. He nodded briefly to Sherwood.

"All right, Edythe," he called. "The machine is 'writting'." There was a creak in his tone, and the girl blushed deeply. With a smiling nod at the other man, she left the room. After she had gone, Sherwood crossed to her desk and looked curiously at the crumpled sheet she had tossed into the waste basket. Smoothing it out, he read the words she had typed. Then he started. For on the blank paper, written over and over again, were the words, "Mrs. Sherwood Williams."

His heart beat a trifle more quickly. Could it mean that she had been thinking of him? For a brief moment he stared, half hoping, yet not daring to hope.

"It doesn't mean anything," he said softly. "She's in love with him." The next day was a long and busy one. Early in the morning he received a visit from the head of a well-known manufacturing company, and when the visitor had gone he called excitedly to his stenographer.

"Miss Maitland," he said, "John Brett of the firm of Brett & Harding, has just been here. He has engaged me to handle his legal business in conjunction with Hart & Donahue."

"The girl's face lighted up with interest. "That's fine!" she cried. "You will probably have to work overtime this evening," he continued. "Mr. Brett has left me a big piece of work."

She hesitated for an instant. "I had a rather important engagement," she said, "but I can break it."

The time passed quickly for them both until four-thirty; but at that time the girl found her self idle. "Any more dictation?" she asked. "Not now, Miss Maitland."

"Do you mind if I type a letter of my own?" She blushed slightly as she spoke. "Why of course not. I'll be ready for you in about ten minutes."

Very carefully the girl extracted a new sheet of carbon paper, placed it between two of Sherwood's letterheads, and typed for a brief two minutes. She folded the completed letter, placed it in an envelope and addressed it to Mr. Elmer Savage. She was ready for Sherwood when he turned to her. He dictated for a half hour, and just when he had finished the door opened and Savage breezed into the room.

"Are you ready, little girl?" He spoke with a proprietary air. "I can't go with you tonight," she answered steadily. "Mr. Williams is very busy. Here is the note I promised to give you."

She handed him the unsealed envelope, and he took it rather ungraciously. With a brief nod at Sherwood and a whispered word with Edythe, he left the office.

The lawyer turned to the girl. "You might go downstairs," he suggested, "and get a bite to eat before you type these letters."

"If you don't mind, I think I will," When she had gone, he walked over to the typewriter. Without thinking, he took the carbon paper she had used in writing her letter and held it toward the light. He read the first line unconsciously, and then his heart almost stopped beating, for the typewritten words told him something he had not dared to hope.

"My dear Mr. Savage," they said, "I am sorry, but I cannot accept your proposal of last night. I greatly appreciate the honor you have conferred upon me, but I cannot marry you because I love someone else."

"With beating heart, Sherwood inserted the same carbon between two sheets of paper, and laboriously typed a letter of his own.

"Dearest," it said, "I love you. Will you marry me?" When Edythe returned to the office, he addressed her directly.

"I've just done something I ought to be ashamed of. I read your letter to Mr. Savage."

"Oh!" She looked at him with wide-open eyes. "And I've written a letter of my own to you," he continued. "You can see it on the carbon paper."

After she had read his message, she inserted the paper in the typewriter again and wrote one word. It was "Yes."

Ishpeming, Mich., Nov. 10.—The coppers were boiling today. Small lots of the metal were reported to have sold at 32 1/4 cents. Price advanced from 1 to 5 points. The market was active and strong all day with closing prices at or near the top. This was most significant when it is realized that the New York list was inclined to be reactionary. The features today were Copper Range, Calumet & Arizona, Utah Copper, Mohawk, Old Dominion and Ahmeek, Anaconda sold to $101 and Chino and Utah Copper both made new highs. There were also gains made in most of the low priced coppers and today's market was the biggest seen for some time past. The Steel corporations unfilled orders showed an increase of 492,876 tons, this is very bullish though Steel Common closed with a slight decline on the day in New York and this together with a big grain market and a big copper share market caused great excitement.—J. GINGLES' JINGLES M'KABE. Yes, McKabe is strictly Irish, but he's a good scout at that, he's the head guy in a plant condenses milk, and he's there with all the stuff on how to do the thing up right, people say his produce is as fine as silk. He is always strictly neutral, not a favorite does he play, do your work and do it right, from taunts you're free, your religion cuts no figure, neither does he give a rap, to what nation you connect your family tree. He expects you know your business, and expects you'll do your share, if you don't, you pull the tinware mighty quick, you must always hustle on the job, or you don't last—that's all, 'tis a cinch you cannot loaf on him and stick. But the boys all like him as a boss, he stands high with the bunch, and they fall for his determined Irish way, that each man must wear green ribbons, who expects to hold his job, and must smoke clay pipes upon St. Patrick's Day. REFORMS. When a wave of reform hits a burg it's good night, it douses the gim—simply turns out the light; leaves the city in darkness, in dismal dismay, takes the song out of the streets, puts the pep into 'em. The old guy who's used to his toddy is sad, the fellow who falls for the card game feels bad, the rounder who's beating it hither and yon is lonesome because the net worth while is gone. We know that it hurts, it's a surgical job to wean the gank to deliberately rob the piker of old of his pleasures galore, we know that it makes the old geezer quite sore; but they can reform, if they can't—let 'em blow, and give to the kids, to the will-be's a show. Why block up the course with a lot of old junk? Why cling to the things that are useless and punk? Reforms we must have—we should clean up way so those who shall follow will not go astray. Lem H. Poor old "Aunt" has gone and mislaid her specs again. It sort of begins to look as though Theodore will not be required to refuse any presidential appointments. It has not yet developed whether or not Menominee has any married men on its alleged high school football team.

Apparently a president is elected and all of us will continue to get our regular meals a day; the necessary amount of sleep and the recreation we are accustomed to.

That story of dissension in the Menominee football team, after all, may be but a bear story purposely sent out from the Menominee camp for the particular benefit of Escanaba.

Just as soon as we safely get a president elected we will again take up the threads of that European war. In the meantime thousands are being slaughtered without our aid or interest.

In the light of the three days and nights of turmoil that have marked the present national election, if the matter should be left to the newspaper workers of the United States, practically a unanimous vote would be given for a perpetual monarchy.

The drys gleefully point to the fact that practically half of the United States has voted dry. But the rub is that the other half is wet and the wet half is going to keep on supplying intoxicants to the dry half, to their inestimable benefit and our inestimable loss.

Muckraker Baldwin went to Lansing to participate in a dry banquet, but it's hardly likely he will tell his fellow "drys" that his efforts were repudiated in his home county by a majority that left no question of doubt as to their attitude toward him or any movement that he should ever father in Delta county. Delta county on Tuesday demonstrated its sanity on a question that was decided in the state through playing on the emotions of the people and not through the study of the matter illuminated by the light of cold reason.

SOUND DEATH KNELL OF THE GLASS MILK BOTTLE

Harrisburg Pa., Nov. 8.—The death knell of the glass milk bottle in Pennsylvania has been sounded.

Dr. Samuel G. Dixon the state commissioner of health, says that "it will have to give way in the near future to the destructible bottle that will never be used a second time."

This is taken to mean that within a few weeks the health department advisory board will rule that the glass milk bottle must go. Such rulings have all the effect of statute law.

Commissioner Dixon doesn't like the danger of infection through the promiscuous distribution and gathering of bottles, no matter how cleanly the dairy or creamery may be.

THE BACK HOME NEWS. Not until you have beat it from Homeburg for good, not until among strangers you roam, do you fully appreciate, well understand what it means to receive from back home the old weekly newspaper welcome indeed, is the back home news fresh from the sod, where we know all the folks, and the lay of the land—every inch of that country we've trod. Some old guy has shuffled, another hooked up, we get the stuff all in the news, some widow has copped a young coot with the coin—another is listed to lose; some geezer's old ramshackled rig has collapsed, some heir pulled a silver and rocks, the gas route got SI in the city today—he's speeding back home in a box. And thus we keep posted on all that transpired, we're wise to all happens at home, each line of the news, all the locals and ads are listed for keeps in our dome. We know Hezekiah slipped one over Ned, when he swapped him that paecer for Nell; that widow McGinnus has bought a new suit, and the Joneses have drilled a new well. The back home news editor grabs all the dope, there's nothing that he does not spear, we reel off the columns on home stuff each week, and all for one-fifty a year we hear—just a bone and a half for a Lem H. AUTO HITS TRAIN, 2 KILLED, 2 INJURED

Houghton, Mich., Nov. 9.—Two persons were killed, another was probably fatally injured and a fourth was slightly injured when the Chicago & Northwestern train, northbound, collided with an automobile at the Mineral Range crossing a Boston location about 11:30 o'clock this morning.

The dead:
August Luukkonen, Ahmeek, schoolist.
Charles Peterson, Allouez.
Seriously injured:
Erki Maki.
Slightly injured:
Mrs. Erki Maki.

The car, owned by Luukkonen, was being driven toward Hancock from Calumet, the auto party leaving Ahmeek about 9 o'clock. They spent some time in Calumet and it is believed left for Portage Lake about 11 o'clock.

According to W. D. McIntosh, route agent for the Western Express, who was in an automobile that was overtaken by the Luukkonen car, the latter was traveling at a rate of between 40 and 50 miles per hour. At any rate, it was believed that Luukkonen was unable to see the approaching train until it was too late to stop the car and the auto struck the engine almost amidships. The car literally was smashed to bits and piled up in a heap about thirty feet north of the crossing, the impact turning the car directly around.

Luukkonen's body was literally smashed to a pulp and it is barely recognizable. Peterson's face also was badly mutilated. Both were killed instantly. Maki was removed to St. Joseph's hospital, where he will be operated on this afternoon. A hasty diagnosis at the Franklin Junior dispensary shortly after the accident by Drs. Maki and Hawkins revealed a fractured skull. Mrs. Maki was removed to St. Joseph's hospital by County Physician LaBine. While she is suffering from shock, it is not believed her injuries will be serious.

The left side of the engine, near the steam chest, was badly dented and its side was covered with bits of flesh and brain.

The train was in charge of Conductor George LaBranch and Engineer R. Foulkes with Charles Kell, the fireman. The engine was struck so hard that it was put out of commission and it was necessary to send another to Boston to bring the train to Calumet.

Coroner Charles Little of Houghton and Undersheriff MacDonald went to the scene of the accident shortly after it occurred and an inquest likely will be held.

Luukkonen was about 40 years of age. He leaves a widow and a child. Peterson also was about 40 years of age. He was employed as a bartender at Allouez. Maki and his wife are former Ahmeek residents, having returned some time ago, and were the guests of the Luukkonen family.

MAJOR LEAGUE IN THE EAST

New York, Nov. 10.—While the results of the presidential election held the attention of the general public today, somewhat of a ripple was made in sporting circles by a rumor to the effect that organized baseball would take steps shortly toward the formation of a third major league. The rumor is given some credence and assurances of the plans being carried out may form the basis for the withdrawal of the big suit field some time ago against organized baseball by the Baltimore club of the late Federal league.

The organizations affected in the proposed new association are the International and New York State leagues and the American association. Baltimore is mentioned most prominently as a major league possibility in the International circuit, while Indianapolis and Kansas City, the two cities that stood the brunt of the Federal league attack in the American association, are considered as likely candidates for berths from the west.

Edward G. Barrow, president of the International league, is mentioned as the head of the proposed new major organization.

The Married Life of Helen and Warren

Warren Orders an Expensive Dinner and Helen Can Think Only of the Check

(Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Nora, when did you clean this stove?"

Nora shut the toe box with a bang before she answered sullenly:

"Wipe it off after every meal."

"Well, just look at this!" With the tip of her finger Helen touched a blackened, grease-crusted burner.

"And this drip pan," drawing it out, "is filthy!"

"Guess I know how it was when I came. Guess I keep my stove and my kitchen cleaner than the girl you had fore me."

"That will do, Nora. Now, this pan must be scoured! You'll have to use ammonia to cut that grease, and take a stiff brush to those burners. I want this cleaned this morning—before you begin the silver."

Helen left the kitchen with an angry flush. Nora was getting more sullen and insolent every day. She had made a mistake in taking her back. She should have known that once having clashed, things could never be the same. Now, she was slighting her work. There was no excuse for that stove.

"Thompson's here to fix that hot water spigot," announced Nora, appearing at the door a moment later.

"You said you wanted to see him."

Helen turned sharply.

"What did you say, Nora? What did you call Mr. Thompson?"

"I said Thompson's here to fix that hot water spigot," defiantly.

"Nora, I want this to be the last time you ever call Mr. Thompson—Thompson. I've spoken to you about that before. He's the superintendent here, and for you to presume to call him Thompson—"

"Well, that's his name, ain't it?" her face reddening with sulky temper.

"And he calls me Nora, doesn't he? I've got no use for that man. He made my uncle come up on that servants' elevator—and my uncle's just as much a gentleman as anybody that comes to this house."

"But, Nora, that's the rule here—anybody calling on the maids must use that elevator. They can't make an exception of your uncle."

And Helen hurried out to Mr. Thompson, irritably conscious that Nora was getting more and more on her nerves.

It was after luncheon before Helen went into the kitchen again. In a glance she saw the stove had been only half cleaned, but she ignored it, not feeling equal to another combat just then. Yet she knew Nora had seen her look at it, and was furious at her own lack of courage.

"Where did these come from, Nora?" taking up a monkey wrench and a large screw driver from the kitchen table.

"He left 'em when he was fixin' the sink."

"Who do you mean by 'he'?" demanded Helen, pointedly.

Nora hesitated. She dared not say "Thompson," and her stubborn pride would not let her say "Mr. Thompson." Then came an inspiration.

"The superintendent, ma'am."

"And what did I tell you to call the superintendent, Nora?"

"Mister Thompson," with sneering emphasis. Then, under her breath,

"But I'll call him what I please when you ain't around."

Pretending not to hear this last mumbled comment, Helen left the kitchen. She went straight to her desk and took up the calendar.

Nora's month would be up the fifteenth—just nine more days. She would tell her tomorrow that she must look for another place. She would not keep her after the fifteenth!

That evening at dinner Nora waited on the table with lowered, reddened eyes and an air of gloomy sullenness.

"She's getting difficult again," admitted Helen, with a sigh. "She had one of her sullen spells today."

"What'd I tell you when you took her back?"

"Well, when her month's up I'm going to let her go. I shall tell her tomorrow that she'll have to look for another place."

"Huh! I'd have fired her long ago."

"You've put up with—"

"Hush, dear!" Through the partly opened pantry door Helen caught the gleam of Nora's white apron. "Oh, I believe she heard!"

When Nora brought in the salad her eyes were lowered, but Helen saw her hand tremble as she put down the dish. How much had she heard?

For the rest of the evening Helen felt vaguely uncomfortable. She thought of Nora out there brooding alone, thinking, no doubt, they were still "talking her over." She could never bear to feel that they were two against one—and Nora was so alone!

Finally, yielding to her uneasiness, she went out to the kitchen. The door of Nora's room was open, but she was not there.

"Nora!" she called, uncertainly.

On a warm night she sometimes went up to the roof, but never without permission, and never so late as this.

Only yesterday Helen had read about a servant hurling herself from the window because she was homesick and lonely. The next moment she was out in the hall. Not waiting for the elevator she darted up the stairs.

As she stepped out on the roof a rain drop splashed in her face. It was a heat shower. The drops came faster, rattling heavily on the tin roofing. The rumble of a cab came up faintly from the street below.

Nora was not there. The roof was deserted. Helen turned to go down, then paused. What was that over by the chimney? Something moved.

It was Nora, huddled against the chimney, her head on her arms.

"Why, Nora, what are you doing up here in the rain?"

No answer except a choking sob.

"You'll be sick," Helen shook her lightly; her thin waist was damp.

"I don't care," sobbingly.

"Well, I do. I can't afford to have you sick on my hands."

The heartlessness of this remark struck Helen, but it had its effect. It checked Nora's emotionalism. Without a word she rose and started down. Determinedly Helen followed her to her room.

"Nora, you're not happy here. You say your mother wants you to come back to Ireland—now, why don't you go?"

Helen was not prepared for the storm of tears that followed.

"Hush, Nora, hush!" sternly. "They'll hear you outside. If you won't go back home, then why don't you get another place where you'll have only chamber work? You'd like that better, I'm sure."

Gradually Nora sobbed out that she didn't want another place, that she had heard what they said about the fifteenth, but that she wanted to stay.

Helen, helpless before this hysterical outburst, finally promised to give her another month's trial, another chance to conquer her sullenness.

Reassured by this, Nora quieted down, but Helen left her with vague misgivings. Already she half regretted her promise.

"Where in the deuce have you been?" demanded Warren.

"With Nora. I told you she overheard us at dinner." Then, resignedly,

"I've promised to give her another month's trial."

"For the love of Mike! That makes how many times you've discharged and taken her back?"

"Only once before, dear. And this time, if she doesn't improve—she'll have to go. I told her that distinctly."

"Well, by Jingo," stooping for his paper with a disdainful shrug, "that girl's got your number. She can work you to the limit!"

Absently, Helen tidied her workbasket, wound up the spools, and thrust pins and needles into the strawberry cushion. Warren was right, Nora did impose on her. No one else would put up with her sullen obstinacy. Why had she promised to keep her? For the moment her resentment against Nora hardened into a positive dislike.

Mechanically she opened a tightly-folded envelope and poured into her hand some bullet-like pearl buttons. Where had they come from? They had been on that old silk waist she had given Nora for a dust cloth, and Nora had carefully cut them off and put them here.

They were a mute testimony of Nora's loyalty and economy. She was always doing just such things. No other girl ever worked so wholeheartedly for their interest.

And it was only lately that she had begun to slight her work. She had said she was not well; perhaps she was tired, overworked. She had been with them over a year without a day's rest or change.

Slowly, thoughtfully, Helen put back the buttons, refolded the envelope, then turned to Warren with an abrupt:

"Dear, how long has Miss Middleton been with you?"

"'Bout a year. Why?"

"You're going to give her a vacation this summer?"

"Sure. Two weeks this month. Why?"

"Nothing. I was just wondering."

The stenographer would get her vacation, that was taken for granted. Why not the servant? Her hours were longer and her work more monotonous. No wonder Nora was growing sullen and irritable. She was never away from that kitchen or her little room adjoining it.

"Warren, about how much does it cost to go to some nearby seashore for a week? I mean for someone who has to go cheaply. Not to a big hotel, but just to a cheap boarding house?"

"What're you driving at, anyway? Miss Middleton can engineer her own vacation."

"I wasn't thinking of Miss Middleton," musingly. Then, with sudden briskness, "Dear, do you know it's after twelve—and we were up so late last night. Shall I turn on your bath?"

During the rush hours in Buffalo the street car company operates two-car trains.

MICH. GUARDS DEFEAT WILSON

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 9.—As a protest against being deprived of their votes, and to satisfy a desire to express their choice for national, state and city offices, 646 men of all those eligible to vote in the Thirty-first regiment, cast ballots today. It is estimated this number represents one-fourth of the Michigan voters here.

Hughes won, the vote standing 292 to 266. Benson, Socialist, received 54 votes. In the state contest Steeper got 247 to Sweet's 140.

The most emphatic vote cast was on the wet and dry question. 415 for and 151 against. The vote on home rule stood 306 for and 215 against.

The officers of the regiment supervised the election and counted the ballots.

Michigan is about the only state represented on the frontier which has deprived its soldiers of the franchise. Other states sent commissioners here to vote the man.

A fusillade of shots coming in the direction of the island at 8 o'clock Sunday night "threw a scare into" members of three Michigan regiments. An investigation by brigade officials developed the fact that 60 rounds to ammunition in the Georgia camp had been left too near a stove and exploded.

The Thirty-first regiment starts on its detail of island duty Tuesday. Because it is the largest regiment on the border 12 days will be consumed in the work.

An epidemic of hay fever has attacked the Michigan guards. General Kirk is just recovering from an attack.

The following names have been submitted to form a general courtmartial for the Eleventh division: Major Guy M. Wilson, Thirty-third regiment; Captain John H. Shoutven, Thirty-second; Captain John H. Steck, Thirty-third; Lieutenant Arthur Voland and Eugene Sharp, Thirty-first.

CURLEY ULRICH TO REFEREE BIG SCRAP.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 10.—Curley Ulrich will referee the Gibbons-Dillon match at the Auditorium. Billy Hoke and George Barton of Minneapolis were receptive candidates for the job, but Mike Gibbons said today that he would hold out for Ulrich, and inasmuch as he had yielded to Dillon on every other point connected with the big match he was allowed to have his way in this. Dillon has no objection to the St. Paul official.

Undependable.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.
WHEREAS, William D. Summerfield and Mary Summerfield, his wife, of the Township of Brampton, Delta County, Michigan, made and executed a certain mortgage, bearing date the 25th day of January, A. D., 1911, to John Klingenberg of the city of Gladstone, Delta County, Michigan, which was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of the County of Delta, on the 23rd day of March, A. D., 1911, at 9:30 o'clock in the forenoon, in Liber 7 of Mortgages, on pages 46 and 47; and
WHEREAS, The said mortgage was duly assigned by the said John Klingenberg to Ole Peterson of Gladstone, Michigan, by assignment bearing date the 8th day of April, 1911, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds on the 10th day of April, 1911, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, in Liber W of Mortgages, on page 226; and
WHEREAS, The said mortgage was further assigned by the said Ole Peterson to William H. H. Wellstead of Brampton, Michigan, by assignment bearing the date of the 10th day of June, 1912 and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds on the 12th day of June, 1912, at 11:45 o'clock in the forenoon, in Liber W of Mortgages on page 265, whereby the said mortgage is now owned by the said William H. H. Wellstead; and
WHEREAS, The amount claimed to be due upon said mortgage is the sum of Twelve Hundred and One 50-100 ($1201.50) Dollars, and no suit or proceeding has been instituted at law to recover the debt now remaining secured thereby, or any part thereof; and
WHEREAS, Default has been made in the payment of the moneys secured by the said mortgage, whereby the power of sale contained therein has become operative;

NOW, THEREFORE, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That by virtue of said power of sale and in pursuance thereof, and of the statute in such case, made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises at public vendue, to the highest bidder, at the front door of the court house at Escanaba, in said county, that being the place of holding the circuit court within said county, on the 20th day of January, A. D., 1917, at two o'clock in the afternoon;
The description of which said premises contained in said mortgage is as follows: The west one-half of the northeast quarter (w 1-2 of ne 1-4) of section twenty-one (21), Township forty-one (41) North, of range twenty-two (22) west, containing in all eighty (80) acres, more or less, according to the United States Government Survey thereof.

FATHER AND SONS DAY CELEBRATED YESTERDAY.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 9.—Father, who the poets have overlooked and who writers of popular ballads have shamefully neglected except perhaps to refer to in terms of ridicule, is at last coming into his own.

And son is responsible for it. It is known that today was father's day, and it was observed in many cities throughout the land as "Father and Son" day, recognized as such by no less authorities than the mayors of several cities who have issued proclamations to that effect. Sons gave fathers banquets, a sort of get-together affair. At each of these banquets there are to be prominent speakers who will express a few well chosen remarks in behalf of dear old father. Father is going to find out, perhaps for the first time in his life, just what he stands for in the eyes of the speaker, expected to say nice things about him. He was dined and praised and complimented and his true worth, in a scheme of affairs is at last to be the subject of general discussion. Banquets marked the close of "Father and Son" day. Celebrate the promoters of which include Y. M. C. A., the Boy Scouts and various social organizations of national scope.

FIVE REASONS WHY

Morning Press

Stands Pre-eminent among The Newspapers of Delta County And The Section of Cloverland Served by It

1. It offers to its readers the news when it is news.
2. It offers more local and district news than any other newspaper in this section.
3. It offers the world's news in concise, interesting essentials.
4. Its news columns are guarded against matter unfit to be read in the home.
5. And finally and primarily because its publishers believe implicitly in the future of Escanaba and Cloverland and accept as a bounden duty the service of giving publicity, in season and out of season to Escanaba and Cloverland's multitudinous advantages.

DEMOCRATS MAY RETAIN RULE

New York, Nov. 10.—The Democrats, assured of control of the next Senate, may retain control of the house by holding ten seats in twenty-one congressional districts yet to be heard from. Early today the members already elected was as follows: Democrats, 210; Republicans, 200; Progressives 2; Independent, 1; Socialist, 1.

In the twenty-one districts not yet reported are the following, which are Democratic in the present congress: Two each in Missouri and Indiana, three in West Virginia and one each in Washington, Michigan and Pennsylvania. Eleven of the missing districts are Republican, as follows:

Two in Nebraska, three in West Virginia, three in Washington and one each in New Mexico, Ohio and Wyoming. If these districts should hold to their present political status in the returns yet to come, the Democratic would have the slender majority of five over all in the next house, the total being 221 to 211 Republicans and four of other minority parties.

In the senate four present Democratic members, according to the latest indications have been defeated. They are Senators Kern and Taggart of Indiana, Martine of New Jersey and Chilton of West Virginia. Three Republican senators, Lippit of Rhode Island, Clark of Wyoming and Sutherland of Utah also have lost their seat on the basis of the returns.

The defeat of Senator Kern of Indiana by Harry S. New, former chairman of the Republican national committee, takes from the Democratic organization its floor leader. Among the Democratic senators mentioned for the succession are Saulsbury of Delaware, Martin of Virginia, Walsh of Montana and Underwood of Alabama.

If they do it is certain to be by a greatly reduced margin and one that will scarcely give a good working majority. In fact unless Democratic gains are made in the districts yet undecided independent minority members might seriously interfere with the re-election of Speaker Clark and the organization of important committees.

Republican leaders are still hopeful of controlling the house. If they succeed, Minority Leader Mann will be their candidate for speaker of the house of representatives and Representative Fordney of Michigan will become the majority leader and chairman of the ways and means committee succeeding Representative Claude Kitchin of North Carolina.

Republicans have made important gains in Illinois and Wisconsin. Of the Democrat defeated in Illinois are Buchanan, who is under indictment for alleged conspiracy in connection with labor's peace council, involved in charges of attempts to restrain trade in munitions. Other Illinois Democrats defeated are Tavenor and Stone. In Indiana Cullop, Cline and Gray lost their seats. Konop and Burke, of Wisconsin, Taggart of Kansas, Rioran and Driscoll of New York and Casey of Pennsylvania were other Democrats, who lost their seats. Among well known Republicans defeated are Bennett, New York, Hopwood and Matthews, Ohio and Roberts of Massachusetts.

Mocha and Java.

Once famous for its coffee, Mocha has little left today but its olden name. At that period the Arabian province of Yemen, of which Mocha was the chief seaport, supplied practically all the berries used. At the end of the seventeenth century the coffee plant was introduced into Java and in a short time "Mocha and Java" became a trade name of great popularity.

Hastening the Time for Peace.

"Hold off your peace talk, lady. One more punch on the nose and I'll have this kid ready to listen to you."

THEATRES

AT THE DELFT.

The Chicago News, in speaking of "A Pair of Queens," the farce by Otto Hauerbach, Seymour Brown and Harry Lewis, which is announced for a first appearance at the Delft Theatre on Wednesday November 15, said that it was the most laughable amusing and riotous farce seen in that city in twenty years. Miss Amy Leslie, who has no peer as a dramatic critic in America, is sponsor for this statement and local playgoers will have an opportunity to prove the truth of her assertion when the piece is given a local presentation. "A Pair of Queens" is the third farce with a title suggesting a game of poker to have won success for H. H. Frazee, the famous New York theatrical producer. The first was "A Pair of Sixes," then came "A Full House," and now "A Pair of Queens" has broken all the laughter and attendance records established by the two former successes.

Striking Scenes in "Mister 44"

"Mister 44" a Metro picture produced by the York Film Corporation, with Harold Lockwood and May Allison in the stellar roles is the big feature attraction at the Delft theatre today. This is one of the finest production sin which these popular stars have ever appeared, and it is one of the most entertaining features ever released on the Metro program. There is a wealth of beautiful and wonderfully picturesque mountain scenes, where much of the action took place. There are glimpses of city life in the factory district and among the slums, while in striking contrast are scenes enacted at an exclusive country club in which scores of prominent society folk actually participated.

"Mister 44" is a story of distinctive American romans, with a wholesome and refreshing appeal. Mr. Lockwood and Miss Allison have a distinguished supporting cast. Vaudeville will also be offered.

HEARST NEWSPAPERS BARRED FROM CANADA

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 9.—The Hearst newspapers have been placed under the ban in Canada, and will be prohibited from circulation beginning Saturday next. The heavy penalties of the war measures act will apply to any one having them in possession after that date.

Facilities also are denied the International News Service. An explanatory memorandum issued Wednesday afternoon says:

The postmaster general of Canada has issued a warrant, under the provisions of the war measures act, where by the Hearst papers have been refused the privilege of the mails in Canada, and are prohibited from circulation in Canada in any way.

"No person in Canada is to be permitted, after Saturday next, to be in possession of the newspapers, or of any issues of them shall be liable to a fine not exceeding $5,000 or imprisonment for any term not exceeding five years or both such fine and imprisonment."

Commission Is Grilled

accepted by the commission. It was claimed in the recommendations of the committee that "gross inequalities" existed in the assessments in some of the townships that were not reassessed and the recommendations were vigorously opposed by some of the supervisors. The townships of Masonville, Baldwin, Cornell, Bark River and Ford River were not re assessed by the commission and Supervisor F. W. Good of Nahma, a member of the equalization committee, in addressing the board said that palpable inequalities existed particularly in the Masonville township roll.

Supervisor Daniels of Ford River township, countered the proposal to ask the commission to return and reassess his and other townships, with a demand that the tax commission also be asked to reassess the personal property in the cities of Escanaba and Gladstone. Supervisor Daniels claimed that bank deposits in this city and Gladstone were not assessed by the commission and that personal belongings in the homes of Escanaba and Gladstone had escaped proper assessment.

The proposal of Supervisor Daniels was finally voted down after a prolonged and vigorous discussion of the matter.

In discussing the work of the tax commission in this county and in urging that the commission be asked to reassess the five townships that had escaped the close attention of the commissioners, Supervisor F. H. Atkins asserted that the work of the commission in this county had been made a farce.

The greater portion of the afternoon session was devoted to the discussion of the work of the tax commission and as to whether the body should be invited to again come to the county.

Meets Death Accidentally

The full force of the charge struck him in the thigh of the left leg, crushing the bone to fine bits and proceeding upward into the body, reached the vital organs, causing almost instant death. He was found stretched out on the ground, face downward, immediately below the platform where he had been sitting.

Dr. George C. Bartley, county coroner, was summoned and after an investigation, a verdict of accidental death was returned.

Mr. Williams left his home on Thursday night to build the platform in the woods, near a salt lick that deer were known to frequent. He returned to his home at about 11 o'clock and after preparing and eating a lunch, left again for the platform to take up his position and watch for the coming of a deer.

When he left his home, shortly after 12 o'clock on Thursday night was the last time he was ever seen alive. When he did not return yesterday morning, Mrs. Williams became alarmed and notified the neighbors. A nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Williams knew the location of the platform that he had built in the woods and went at once to the place, finding the body of his uncle lying on the ground and nearly covered with snow that had fallen during the early morning hours.

Other neighbors were summoned and after Coroner Bartley had reached the scene the body was taken to the home of the nephew, where it was prepared for burial by J. A. Allen, and late in the afternoon was taken to the family home.

Mr. Williams was 54 years of age and is survived by his wife and two children. He was one of the best known farmers in the South Ford River district and held the esteem of all who knew him. He was well known in this city and to all who knew him the tragic death has proven a tremendous shock.

In addition to his wife and two children and other relatives, the deceased is survived by one brother, Rev. Williams, a Baptist missionary formerly of this city and now in New York preparing to sail for Africa on Nov. 15 with a party of missionaries. Whether Rev. Williams will abandon his trip and come here to attend the funeral of his brother had not been determined last night.

Funeral services will be conducted over the body at the family home at 2:30 o'clock on Sunday afternoon. Rev. W. J. Datson, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal church of this city, will officiate at the service. Interment will be at the South Ford River cemetery.

Congress To Decide

At the time the house of representatives was controlled by the Democrats and the senate by the Republicans. The constitution provides that the electoral ballots shall be opened at a joint session of congress and counted by the president of the senate and the house would hear the test between Tilden and Hayes, inasmuch as the Democrats claimed it put the matter of selection entirely in the hands of a Republican vice president.

Finally an agreement was reached to select a commission composed of fifteen members, five from the house, five from the senate and five from the supreme court. The verdict of this commission was to stand unless rejected by one house or the other.

The Republicans gained control of the commission and by a strict party vote of 8 to 7 it decided the contests in each of the three states in favor of Hayes and Wheeler. The house rejected the finding, but the senate, controlled by the Republicans, approved it and thus gave the presidency to Hayes.

This year there could be no jockeying for position on the commission, if one were chosen, inasmuch as the Democrats control both houses of congress and could appoint one of their own making.

To contest the election the defeated candidate will have to carry his fight through the state courts in the various disputed states and then to congress on the findings of the courts, if they are adverse. If they are in his favor it is assumed that the other candidate will go to congress, in which event the election committee of the senate and the house would hear the case and decide whether or not to propose legislation providing for an adjudication beyond that of the courts.

Last By One Vote

we dislike to think that it was the former. Several of the live, progressive people of Gladstone worked hard in explaining this issue to the people and the newspapers devoted column after column of valuable space to explanations of the issue.

It is very evident that there are hundreds of people in Gladstone who are willing to put up with the same conveniences that were considered crude at the time of their advent into the world and yet these same people are the ones who are all the time wondering why Gladstone never grows; why no new manufacturing industries locate here and why lots of other things that should happen here never do. It is because of the lack of progressiveness and the failure of the people to support such a worthy proposition as this sewer bonding issue.

We hope that a recount of the votes will find one more vote in favor of the bonding issue.

"I am keenly disappointed that such a necessary improvement should be delayed and regret that in this case a minority of the voters rule. I feel
