

PARISIAN PRESS AGAIN HOSTILE

Complains at Slow Progress in Winding Up Affairs For Peace.

Paris, March 22.—The Paris press is uneasy and worried, not to say latently hostile, to what it considers the slow progress being made by the peace conference.

Several of the papers have touched upon the "apparent impotency of Democratic diplomacy." The capital press is "peevish." It has been complaining for many weeks and even set up a howl last week when President Wilson couldn't approve the proposed military terms because he hadn't then had time to read them.

It will be recalled that a month or so ago American representatives threatened to seek a new home for the peace conference unless the Paris papers ceased their harping criticisms.

After the threat made by the Americans the French press became reconciled to the "Democratic" way of doing things and until recently seemed in accord with the American commission. Lately, however, there has been a "stirring of the pot" that has considerably hampered the peace preparations, it is asserted.

LONDON HOLDS FIRST REVIEW OF TROOPERS

London, March 22.—London's popular welcome home to returned heroes was held today when the Guards, "the very soul of the British army," paraded through the streets and were reviewed by King George and Queen Mary.

It was the first review of war heroes. Many bands blared the strains of "Over There" and other popular war songs as crowds lining the curb gave vent to vociferous cheers. It was the greatest tribute in the memory of a generation.

The parade took two hours to pass. The Prince of Wales, bearing the rank of captain, riding behind the Earl of Eavan and at the head of the Grenadiers, who carried bayonets, was constantly cheered and was obliged to salute every few minutes.

J. J. Boudreau returned Saturday from a business trip to Marquette.

The Story

The story is a thrilling one of Oriental love and hate—depicting the two strongest motives in these fiery and passionate people of the East—where a human life means nothing in comparison with a traditional inheritance.

Hassouna, the beautiful Arabian girl, born and bred in the desert, falls in love with a French Naval officer whom she helps to escape from her tribe, who intend to kill him. This brings the wrath of her people directly on the head of the girl and she is left to die in the blazing desert. The story is one of passionate hate and passionate love, and is more entrancing than any tale ever told. Be sure and see this wonderful actress in this tremendous production.

A Queer Old Bird is The Pelican

Its bill holds more than its bellican.

But at that, its heart is bigger than its bill. It is the only bird which shares its food with other and weaker fowl.

So the queer old pelican looms up handsome in Goodrich's eyes—eyes which see beauty that is more than skin deep.

Goodrich, it is true, makes Silvertown Cords the handsomest tires—the very Beau Brummel tires of smart cars.

Yet if clumsiness and ugliness would add one mile to their service, Goodrich would make them clumsy and ugly as the queer old pelican.

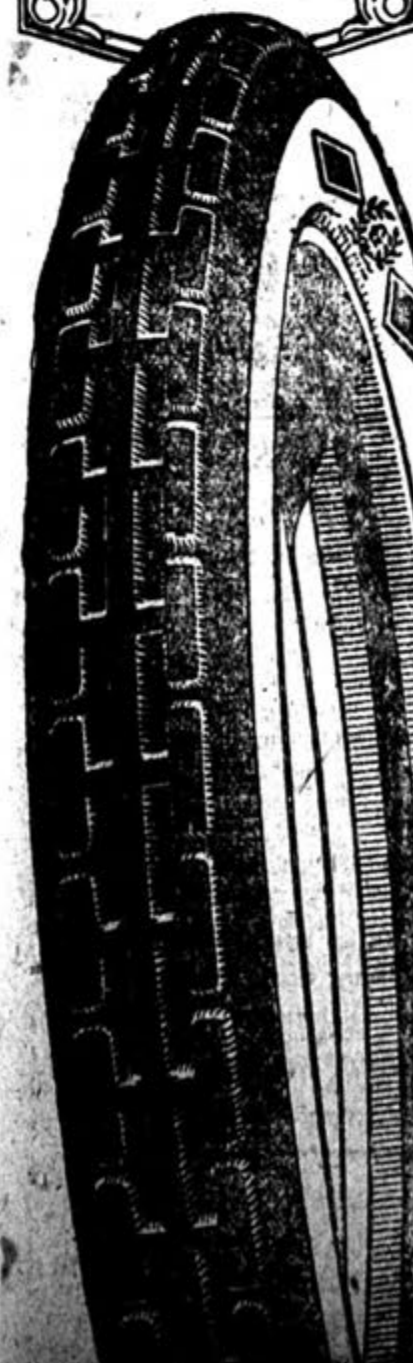

"Quality First," rules in the manufacture of Silvertowns; and they render quality service first and last.

Give your automobile the obvious grace and elegance of the Tires with the Twin Red Diamonds on the sidewall. Their mileage is sure.

AERIAL CAMERA SAVED SCORES OF DISASTERS

By Capt. Lance Rushbrooke. London, March 22.—One of the wonderful instruments invented, or rather perfected, during the war which will be of great value in peace time is the aerial camera.

There are several different models in use by the Royal Air Force at the present time by which photographs revealing the minutest details can be taken from any height between 2,000 feet right up to 25,000 feet. Nothing escapes this artificial eye of the air. Objects quite invisible to the majority of human eyes are recorded distinctly on these aerial photographs. The least sign of a new trench, a hedge or barbed wire, a carefully camouflaged gun position—all these can be detected.

Yet to the untrained eye an aerial photograph is but a Chinese puzzle. The interpretation of it is a specialized job and is intrusted to specially trained officers. The photograph must first be orientated, that is the true north must be plotted on it. That having been done, given the time the photograph was taken and the position of the sun being thus known, one has the key to the interpretation of shadows. Thus one can distinguish mounds from trenches, and gun pits from rubbish heaps.

These cameras are very different from those used by the pioneer pilot and observer in the R. F. C. in 1914.

Then ordinary box cameras were used and were held over the side of the machine to make the exposure. Sights were unknown, levelling was a matter of chance. But now the cameras are fitted to the body of the machine. Accurate sights, to insure that the required area is covered and levels which tell when the aeroplane is on an even level, aid the work of the observer. The camera itself is cone-shaped, tapering toward the lens, and is made of steel; wood it was found was liable to warp in the varying temperatures. The aerial camera is always in focus above 2,000 feet and, of course, the greater the height from which the exposure is made the larger is the area covered.

Many Lives Saved. Probably even now the public does not realize the number of lives saved by this agency. Over and over again unsuspected machine gun posts and hostile batteries were detected on the photographs, and were destroyed by our artillery, thus preventing them from surprising the advancing infantry.

Commercial Value. The use of the aerial camera for recording the geographical features of the yet uncharted and more inaccessible portions of the earth—in Central Africa, Central Australia, etc.—will probably greatly expedite the actual opening up of these areas and their successful development.

Income Tax Man to Be in City Monday. "There will be very little delinquency among the income tax payers of Delta county," said Daniel Riordan of the Internal Revenue forces, who spent Saturday at the courthouse answering questions and aiding delinquent tax payers.

"The people of this county understood pretty thoroughly what was expected of them and were very prompt about taking care of their income tax," he explained. Mr. Riordan discussed the law with a large number of persons yesterday, but he stated that by far the larger number of his visitors were exempt from taxation under the revenue act this year. They wanted to make sure on this point however and went to the courthouse for advice.

In order to close up the business with the willing taxpayers, Mr. Riordan will remain in the city until Tuesday and anyone who desires to see him may find him on the second floor at the courthouse. Golfing Season Gets Early Start in Esky

The golfing season is on. Because of the snow and ice that didn't show up the off season this year in Escanaba extended from February 1 to March 22. A number of followers of the sport were pursuing the pill about the links yesterday and a larger crowd is expected to be on the job today.

The numerous additions to the club's membership list, the complete program now being formulated by the house committee and the fact that one of the most famous professionals in America is to take charge of things within a few weeks, makes the most successful season recorded here, a certainty.

The greens committee expects to have the course in perfect condition and things in full swing by the time the average golfer in this section begins to wonder where he stored his clubs.

Expect Early Start for Lakes Traffic

Observer H. H. Splindler, in a brief trip on the bay yesterday, found that the ice is 12 to 16 inches thick—the test last Monday showed 47 inches—and in very bad condition. Indications are that navigation will open at an unusually early date, he stated.

Deputy Customs Collector Frank H. Atkins is expecting a long and busy season in his office. Last year set a record for the Escanaba and Gladstone ports, especially in iron ore. For the first time in several years the Gladstone elevator handled several cargoes of grain and this trade will be resumed this summer, probably at an earlier date than last year.

LUDINGTON—Henry Ford will visit Ludington during the summer to investigate the city's advantages as a manufacturing center, according to the report of a committee who called Mr. Ford to town.

METHODISTS TO POSTPONE WORK FOR SIX WEEKS

The $120,000,000 financial drive of the Methodist Missionary centenary, which has been postponed from the first week in April to the week of May 18 and the entire organization for the centenary has been offered to the United States government to aid in the fifth Liberty Loan drive, to be launched in April.

Charles S. Ward, campaign director, and other national leaders of the centenary conferred with federal authorities on the advisability of postponing the centenary drive so that it could in no way interfere with the Liberty Loan. It was decided that it would be better to hold the church drive later and the week of May 18 was fixed upon as the time.

This action on the part of the national church brings to the aid of the government for the Liberty Loan a nation-wide organization which has just been completed and which embraces hundreds of thousands of persons trained for the drive. As soon as the Liberty Loan is finished the centenary organization will turn immediately to its $120,000,000 drive with only a brief period for preparation before it is started.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly lark and beautiful. This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

FREE MEDICAL AID OFFERED BY THE K. OF C.

Detroit, Mich., March 22.—Returning soldiers and sailors and the members of their families, who may need medical attention, are to be given this service free, according to plans now under way by the National Catholic War Council, Knights of Columbus.

While the government provides for the medical attention of all soldiers who have become ill or incapacitated while in the service, members of his family must seek outside medical attention should they become ill.

Michigan Knights of Columbus officials are arranging with the hospitals of the state to establish free clinics for the benefit of the soldiers or sailors' families. The first of these clinics has just been opened at St. Mary's hospital in this city.

The management of other Detroit hospitals have requested the establishment of clinics, and one of these will soon be selected. In the smaller cities of the state one clinic will be established in each city in which there is one or more hospitals.

Blue Bloods Served as Dish Washers

London, March 22.—The "Archie" Corps, which defended London against Zeppelins and Gothas, was recruited from the most swagger clubs in the West End. It had a baronet floor scrubber, a millionaire gun swabber and many blue blooded sentries and dish washers.

One "Tommy" rode to work daily in a Rolls Royce. "I was quite surprised," said an officer, "to discover that the orderly who cleaned my boots and looked after me in such a menial way was a Scotch baronet whose family has owned a large slice of one of the northern counties for over 800 years."

Plan to Bolster Up Country Churches

East Lansing, Mich., March 22.—Clergymen in the country pulpits of Michigan plan to get their heads together during the coming summer on a program for bolstering up the rural churches of the state. The country ministers. It has been announced by Prof. E. H. Ryder of M. A. C., will meet in East Lansing July 7 to 13 for a week's conference, during which a consultation on the case of the rural church will be held, and if possible a remedy prescribed for its improvement.

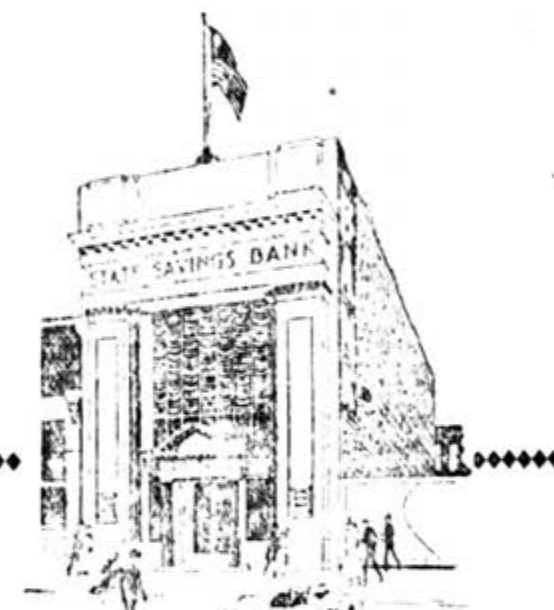

The meeting, which will be a continuation of those started under the auspices of M. A. C., three years ago, will be interdenominational in character.

Leaders in agricultural and church thought will be invited to participate in the week's program. Liberty Hyde Bailey, formerly dean and director of the agricultural college of Cornell and recognized as the country's foremost leader in the development of a rural life program will give a series of lectures during the course of the meetings.

An appeal is being made to pastors to get into touch with Professor Ryder personally or by mail as early as possible.

Stock Market Has Reactionary Trend

Miss Clio Dewey, who is a student at Lawrence college, arrived Saturday morning from Appleton to visit at her home on South Campbell street.

HERE'S MORE OF STAND ON ROADS

A great many of the voters in both the city and county favor the road bonding issue, a straw vote taken by a Morning Press representative indicates. More than 75 per cent of the voters are openly in favor of the bonding issue and do not hesitate to say so.

Two more men of the county were interviewed yesterday, the selection being made at random. Here's what they say: W. J. Micks of Gladstone: "If we want a real county we want real roads. We can't get in or out of the county without good roads."

Q. E. Anderson of Escanaba: "Naturally, from the standpoint of a dealer in automobiles for both pleasure and business purposes; I would endorse the movement. But aside from that, I honestly believe the road bonding issue would have my whole-hearted support, even were I less interested in automobiles, or not interested in them at all."

In a series of interviews conducted for the past several weeks, the Morning Press representative has found but one man who declares himself unqualifiedly against bonding in any form, much less for good roads. Several farmers were found to be against the measure but they would not make any statement to that effect.

ENGLAND PLANS AGAINST HUNGER IF MEN STRIKE

London, March 22.—Following the conference with railway men today there were indications that the position of the cabinet had not been influenced. President Thomas, of the Railway Men's Union, said: "There is danger of a strike but every avenue to secure peace is being explored."

The food ministry has made elaborate arrangements to supply the country with food in the event of a railway strike.

ADRIAN—Women were nominated for nearly every office at the town ship caucuses held Monday and Tuesday night. The new voters will seek every office from supervisor to justice of the peace, and one woman was nominated for constable.
