CITY ELECTRIC ORDINANCE IN EFFECT JAN. 18

Examining Board Will Hold First Meeting Tonight.

All electrical work done in Escanaba from now on must comply with the terms of the new electrical ordinance, which goes into effect Jan. 18, it was announced at the city hall yesterday.

Placing in force of the ordinance makes Escanaba the first city in the peninsula to adopt a complete electrical code.

Among the more important details of the Escanaba regulations are the provisions that all basement wiring must be in metal conduit; that rigid metal conduit must be used from entrance of wires to meter and entrance switch.

Business connections of more than fifteen amperes, signs over 1,500 watts and residences with over fifty lights, must be connected three-wire.

Stereophon, motion picture and other arcs drawing more than fifteen amperes must be wired for 220 volts.

Special railroad rates are offered and rooms and board are available at low prices.

Permit Required. Before any building can be wired, a permit must be obtained and the job inspected and passed before current can be turned on.

Violation of the ordinance is punishable by a fine of not less than $20 or more than $100, if the violator does work in defiance of its provisions.

Other conventions which will be held at the same time include the Michigan State Farm Bureau, the various livestock associations, the Potato Growers' association, the Beekeepers' association, and others.

Mr. Turner will attend the county agents' meeting, and it is expected that several other Delta county people will take in the various other sessions.

Sinclair Oil Fight Investigation Open

Washington, Jan. 16.—The surface of the controversy which has raged for nine months about the action of the Harding administration in leasing the Peapod dome naval oil reserve to the Sinclair interests was scratched by the senate oil investigating committee today in its initial examination of Harry F. Sinclair, chairman of the board of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation.

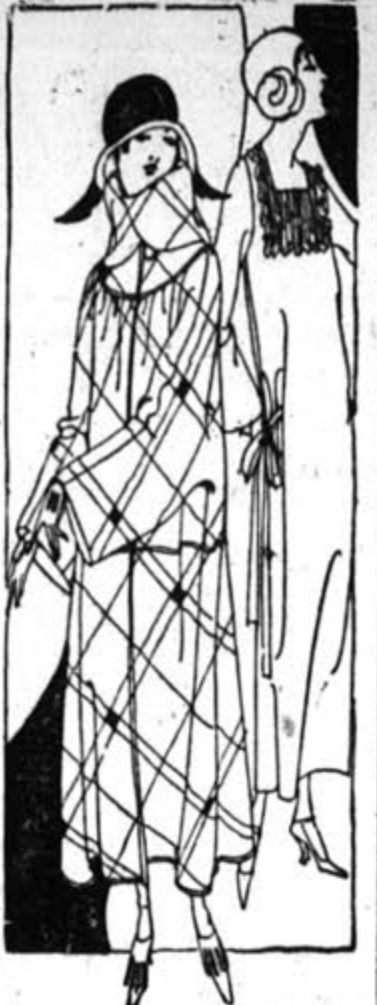

Mr. Sinclair spent three hours on the witness stand but it was only a few minutes before adjournment for the day that questions by the committee attorney took him within range of the controversy in which he is one of the central figures.

COLLEGE GIRLS DESCRIBE THINGS THEY LIKE BEST

A recent canvass of four of the large eastern girls' colleges shows these as the garments the students prefer:

Topcoats—that swing-unbelted, in camel's hair, tweed or plaided polo cloth. With them, homespun scarfs.

Sweaters and skirts—that make up from half to three-quarters of the costumes seen on the campus. The sweaters are of the coat type rather than slip-on models.

Dresses—that are wool jersey or knitted, in one or two-piece models.

Shoes—that are oxfords, plain walking strap-pumps or two-toned saddle oxfords, worn with light-weight woolen stockings.

ALLEGED "CON MAN" BROUGHT BACK TO CITY

Fred Longfield, alleged confidence man with half a dozen aliases, is being held in the county jail awaiting preliminary examination on charges of larceny and embezzlement preferred by Carl Jackson, Escanaba tailor, who claims that Longfield defrauded him out of $1,600 on a promise to open a branch establishment in Iron Mountain.

Longfield is also "wanted" in Sturgeon Bay, Wis., for an alleged swindle involving $2,500. On the county jail record his age is given as 30 and his birthplace as Iowa.

TO COOPERATE WITH CITY IN WATER TROUBLE

Plant Officials Promise Aid in Removing Taste.

Co-operation with the city officials in their efforts to rid the city water of its present unpleasant flavor was promised by officials of the various chemical plants along the shores of Bay de Noc, when they were visited yesterday by E. F. Badger, engineer for the state board of health.

They would have taken steps before, some of them declared, had they been certain that their plants were responsible.

Manager Harris ridiculed the statements recently made that waste from the gas plant was responsible for the taste in the water.

The city officials are much pleased with the attitude shown by the plant authorities, and are confident that the trouble will be remedied without recourse to legal action.

WILSON MANSLAUGHTER CASE UNDER WAY IN CIRCUIT COURT

Jury Completed in Two Hours; 10 Witnesses Examined.

Testimony purporting to show that Wellington Wilson was intoxicated and driving recklessly on the afternoon last August when the taxicab in which he and Henry Moras were riding, crashed into a bicycle on Hartnett avenue, inflicting fatal injuries on George Curran and Kenneth Sloan, was introduced by the prosecution yesterday at the trial of Wilson for manslaughter.

The state contends, in the present case, that Wilson was responsible for the death of Sloan.

To Jury by Friday?
When court adjourned for the night, the prosecution had examined ten witnesses. Nearly a score are expected to follow before the defense will open its side of the case. Prosecutor George Carr said last night he hoped to complete the presentation of the people's case by Wednesday night. Allowing one day for the defense testimony and an additional day for summing up arguments by counsel and Judge R. C. Flannigan's instruction to the jury, the case probably will be in the hands of the jurors late Friday or early Saturday.

The defense case is in charge of Attorney N. C. Spencer. The defendant's father, J. A. Wilson, spent the day in the courtroom with his son.

Selection of a jury was disposed of more quickly than many had believed would be possible. Court opened at 9 o'clock and at 11, the twelve men to hear the case had been picked.

About thirty men were called to the jury box during the selection process. Most of the excuses came because the jurors had opinions regarding the case which they admitted would require testimony to remove.

In addition to the usual questions concerning fixed opinions, the prosecution asked the men whether they were drivers of automobiles, whether they had sons and the ages of the latter.

The Jurors
The twelve men finally picked were:

Henry Anderson, Wells lumber scaler; Walter Darrow, Escanaba, automobile salesman; Joseph J. Deloria, Garden, barber; Joseph Devot, Fairbanks, farmer; Ralph H. Ganz, Escanaba, railroad man; Ted Jones, Gladstone, railroad man; John Logan, Baldwin, farmer; John Mathy, Gladstone, barber; C. P. Payne, Nahma, foreman; Henry Raymond, Ensign, farmer; Alex Young, Bark River, farmer; George Young, Gladstone, millman.

Judge Flannigan's instructions to the jurors, concerning their conduct while the trial is in progress, and Mr. Carr's opening statement, were brief, and the state's second witness was on the stand before the noon recess.

Harry Nead, proprietor of a garage in the 300 block, Stephenson avenue, who took the stand late in the afternoon testified that he had seen the taxicab, with Wilson at the wheel, go past his place a few minutes before the accident. Wilson was drinking from a bottle and steering with one hand, he said. Later he was called to the scene of the accident and examined the steering apparatus of the machine which was still in good condition. He was positive in his statement that Wilson was driving. On cross examination, he admitted that he did not know what was in the bottle.

Wilson Greatly Agitated
Mrs. James Reidy, 1225 Harnett avenue, who followed Mr. Nead on the stand, said that Wilson came to her home, in front of which the accident occurred, and asked for a drink and water with which to wash the blood from his hands. She said that Wilson was greatly excited. She did not know whether he was intoxicated attributing his action at the time to his excitement, she explained. She quoted Wilson as saying that he would be "up against it," and that while he was to blame, the crash was accidental. She was unable to quote her conversation with him exactly, she said. On cross examination, Mrs. Reidy declared that Wilson did not ask for a doctor, and she recalled something about his having said he would probably get 99 years, a remark attributed to him by a previous witness.

Joseph Lang and his wife, Hannah Lang, told of sitting on the front porch of their home, 1207 North Sixteenth street, on the afternoon of August 11, and seeing the taxicab speeding in a "zig-zag" course up Hartnett a block away; of hearing the crash of the car as it struck the bicycle and wrecked itself against a pole which was broken off. Mrs. Lang estimated the speed of the car at from "40 to 50 miles an hour" and her husband at "20 to 40 miles." They described in detail, the wreckage and the position in which they say the bodies lay.

Other Witnesses
Mrs. Geraldine Sloan, sister-in-law of the dead boy, told of standing on the nearby corner waiting for a street car as the boys rode past on a bicycle, of hearing the crash of the collision and of rushing to the scene. Later in the home of Mrs. Reidy, she testified that Wilson's actions and conversation led her to believe that he was intoxicated. The accident occurred in front of the Reidy home.

Dr. A. S. Kitchen told how he had heard the crash, rushed to the scene, gave first aid to Sloan, summoned other physicians, and arranged for having Curran taken to the hospital.

Miss Alide Gauthier, who was talking on another family in the vicinity of the accident, related to the jury that she had been attracted by the crash, and later had heard Wilson say that "he didn't want to sit down" and that he'd have "plenty of time to sit down after they gave him 99 years."

Bicycle Introduced

Fritz Anderson and Walter Larson told of passing the boys a short distance from the scene. The bicycle was moving slowly near the curb, they agreed. As they heard the crash they turned in time to see the car, its occupants, the two victims and much wreckage flying through the air. They returned to give whatever assistance they could. Neither threw much light on Wilson's condition.

The remnants of the bicycle, a four-foot length of the pole which was broken off, a number of maps and several photographs were introduced as evidence.

VOCAL MACHINE TESTS VOICES OF BEGINNERS

Iowa Teacher Gives All Young Singers His New Tryout.

Iowa City, Ia.—Long terms of instruction under highly paid tutors, long stays in European centers of musical learning, tedious hours in studio practice—then dismal failure as a musician or singer, all because the student didn't have the necessary talent in the first place.

That's the life history of hundreds who aspire to succeed Paderewski, Hieftze or Galli-Curiel. But now science comes forward with the assertion it can nip such blasted careers at the outset.

Dr. Carl E. Seashore, dean of the graduate college and professor of psychology in the University of Iowa, says he's devised tests which will tell fond parents right off the reel whether their young hopefuls have musical talent.

Machine Does It.

Seashore has invented a musical talent testing machine—he calls it a musical touch audiometer. The machine is actually in use today in the university psychological laboratories.

Many parents have brought their young hopefuls to be tested, for Seashore applies the test free. It takes from two hours to two or three days, depending on the importance of the case and seriousness of the one who takes it.

"The theory of these tests is that musical ability is inborn," Seashore says, "and that no amount of training can make a musician of one who does not have this innate talent."

"The tests are valuable not only in that they can save thousands of dollars spent in educating students who never can be musicians but also in that they can bring to light hidden musical talent in those who never suspected they possessed it."

"HORSE SENSE" IN CALIFORNIA BLUE CAMPAIGN

Commercializing Sunday Objective of Drive in L. Angeles

Los Angeles—California, reputed most liberal of states, is the new objective for "blue law" crusaders.

A play-tight Sabbath is the aim, but the appeal will be based rather on the "efficiency of a rest day" ecclesiastic morals, with a dash of race prejudice. The contest promises to be the most bitter in recent American "blue law" annals.

Dr. Gustav A. Briegleb, Presbyterian pastor and political power of national prominence is to be expert advisor of the Lord's Day Alliance, behind which the Sunday closing cohorts will rally.

Shrewd Crusader.
He is probably the most shrewd and effective crusader in the west. In Los Angeles he has met a great social political and church following. He is a sort of civic grindstone on which all classes sharpen their axes of protest. Dr. Briegleb is a law graduate of Yale, pastor of a fashionable business men's congregation, master of publicity and exemplar of the "Babbitt" psychology.

"Horse sense," he says, "will be the keynote of this campaign. Our attack will be against commercializing the Sabbath. First, we'll try to stop unnecessary work, which will be a blessing to thousands—even the good brethren who like to sleep on a Sunday morning instead of going to church. And we'll try to stop Japanese working their gardens on Sunday.

"Our next move will be against commercialized Sunday amusements—movies and professional baseball games. We're not going to interfere with the boys who play baseball for amusement on the lot on Sunday."

Cleverly Designed.
Dr. Briegleb was reminded that these were precisely the strategic openings of the Anti-Saloon League in founding prohibition—the man who took a drink from his own cellar was not to be interfered with. His eyes twinkled shrewdly under their heavy thatch.

The California blue law campaign is cleverly designed not to touch the rawest prejudices of the opposition. It will not start out with violent intemperance. The method is to be that of the highly trained business executive and sales manager, taking into account the peculiarities of prospect and territory. Evangelical zeal will be kept in the background.

PAPERS OF '92 WILL EXPIRE NEXT JANUARY

Naturalization Examiner Calls Attention to the Law.

U. S. Naturalization Examiner Geo. N. Danielson states that there are many residents in Michigan who are voting on first papers taken out before 1892, same being good for voting purposes until next January when they cease to be of any value. Under the naturalization law, no first paper is good for naturalization purposes, when it is over 7 years old. He states that several men who have these old law first papers, now wish to apply for second papers without a new first paper, claiming that they always thought they were citizens. This cannot be done under the law, as a first paper was notice to them that they were not citizens, and the law expressly states that one who is misinformed, must not have previously had a first paper. If any one files a petition for second paper, claiming he was misinformed as to his citizenship, he must not have had out an old law first paper. If he had, the examiner will have to move for a dismissal of his petition for second paper. These men who have old law first papers, will have to take out a new first paper and when same is two years old, apply for their second papers. If they desire to vote after Jan. 1924. WE'D LIKE to speak, confidentially for a moment, with the man who originally sung the praises of "he who whistles at his task."

THIS OUGHT TO GO BIG IN DOC EVANS' COL.

Sir—This appeared in my hometown paper. "Born to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Daly, 615 Camp st., a ten pound boy. This brings the number of children in the Daly family up to an even dozen."

The reason a flapper refuses to wear silk stockings is because if you pour a gallon of gasoline on a fire, it will put the fire out.

It is related in Kentucky newspapers that folks down there are not doing as much drinking as had been reported and probably they never did.

Huh, Yourself, and Please Don't Let This Little Controversy Become Personal.

Sir—So Orchid wants me barred from the Hook? I'm not surprised that Orchid hates me since I jilted her. She never did send my ring back either.

The other ameba on the opposite side of the table says he never knew a brown-eyed girl who didn't have knobs on her knees, but of course we wouldn't print a remark like that in this column.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELT

Never before, it is said, has the colorful Rodolph Valentino been given as great an opportunity to demonstrate his versatility and peculiar acting genius as in his latest Paramount vehicle, "The Young Rajah," which closes its stay at the Delt tonight.

In this picture, adapted from the play and novel, "Amos Judd," by June Mathis, Valentino is first seen as a college hero at Harvard. At the crew race, in which "Amos Judd," Valentino's name in the story, pulls a winning stroke oar for Harvard against Yale, he meets "Molly Cabot" and falls in love with her.

AT THE STRAND

Whenever the youngsters of this town hear that Tom Mix is to appear in a new screen production, there seems to be the same str in the air that is felt around Christmas and near circus time. This, on the face of it, proves the popularity of the Fox star. So when sonny is unusually polite and exceptionally obliging, if it isn't Christmas or circus time, it must be a new Tom Mix picture.

This star of the screen will develop the youngster's best manners. For that reason, when he asks you for the money to go to the Strand Theater Wednesday or Thursday, you may know he wants to see Mix do the daring stunts that end his acting to the adventurous mind.

"Chapters From a Woman's Life" BY JANE PHELPS

A BAD BEGINNING AND A GOOD ENDING.

Chapter 32. After Claire and Mrs. Page left I sat for half an hour without moving. My nerves were all on edge. She had been unusually exasperating and I could still hear Jennie slamming about noisily in the kitchen, a way she had of showing her anger.

"Amos" has the mysterious faculty of being able to read the future. He foresees that happiness with "Molly" will be beset with difficulties. Sure enough, their romance goes on the rocks, despite his ardent love-making, and "Amos" is kidnapped and taken back to India. There his life is his original people asserts itself. He feels called upon to oust a usurper from the throne—and does so. In the end, "Molly" comes back to him and, unlike its predecessor, "Blood and Sand," the picture ends happily.

Whenever the youngsters of this town hear that Tom Mix is to appear in a new screen production, there seems to be the same str in the air that is felt around Christmas and near circus time. This, on the face of it, proves the popularity of the Fox star. So when sonny is unusually polite and exceptionally obliging, if it isn't Christmas or circus time, it must be a new Tom Mix picture.

Page left us. "And he is very fond of his mother. It hurts him when you are impudent." "It's the Irish in me," she said with a grin. "I can't keep from gettin' mad."

"Keep that Irish in place if you can," I returned. Once more things would be serene in the kitchen—for a little while. About 2 o'clock I was surprised to hear Walter's voice. "Get your duds on and we'll take a spin," he said coming into my room, where with a dust cap on I was still working.

A THOUGHT

LABOR FAVORS COMMISSION GOVERNMENT Leader Expresses Views on Charter Revision Meeting.

DR. M. C. WEIR WILL APPEAR HERE TONIGHT Gladstone people are planning an evening of real entertainment tonight at the Gladstone high school assembly room when Dr. M. C. Weir will appear in a cello lecture.

Land clearing, admitted to be one of the big problems of Schoolcraft county, will be thoroughly "cussed" and discussed at meetings to be held in this county next week.

Those who attended the cello lecture given at the Manistique high school auditorium Monday night were much pleased with the type of entertainment given under the auspices of the Extension Bureau of the University of Michigan by Dr. Weir of that institution.

Both teams received all the exercise they wanted at the Manistique high school gymnasium last night, when the local Legion team clashed with the high school regulars. This was the second of the Legion-High school series.

Following the amputation of one of his feet, which was recently badly frozen, Joseph Bartis, of Garden is reported to be doing well at the Rutledge Hospital here.

That the total cost of the entire system of school buildings and equipment in the city of Gladstone amounts to $325,851.10, a figure lower than the budget of other cities of the same size and larger, was brought forth Tuesday from the records of the school board.

Three prominent leaders of the Girl Scout movement in Gladstone will be speakers on the program announced for the Delta county convention of scout leaders and executives which will be held in Escanaba Friday afternoon and evening.

Members of the charter revision commission will meet tonight at the First National Bank and will likely decide at that time as to what form of revision they will work on.

The cello lecture will be given at the high school assembly which should not be confused with the symposium of the Junior high school. Because the university is financing its extension course there will be no admission charge tonight and a general invitation has been issued.

The following notice has been sent to stump farmers: "A series of Land Clearing Meetings have been scheduled for this month, from Jan. 23 to 26 as listed in the schedule below. The County Agent has secured the cooperation of the M. A. C. Land Clearing Department in holding these meetings. Mr. George Amundson will show the new Land Clearing moving pictures and we hope to have "Larry" Livingston with us for some of the meetings.

A variety of selections were read by the musician, who was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. P. Baldwin, of this city. In addition to the musical numbers, the short explanatory talks given by the doctor were instructive and entertaining. He told of the history of various selections played in the recital, and also something of the construction and value of a cello, such as he used at the high school. He owned a number of the instruments, he said, which his wife used as ornaments in their home. The lecture was free of charge.

After submitting to the La Motte Cure, it was found that the cancer had been completely drawn out, and the lady was able to leave yesterday morning for her home in Detroit.

Ice skating races are being planned for next Sunday afternoon by Albert Gagnon, in charge of Gladstone's municipal ice rink. Three local skaters, "Ab" Peterson, "Kirk" Swan and Walter Vandervege have signified their willingness to enter such a contest and it will likely be an easy matter to line up some other entrants before the time set for the race.

Jan. 23—1:30 P. M. Cooks, Townhall; 7:30 P. M. Thomson. Jan. 24—1:30 P. M. Buell, Orange; 7:30 P. M. Maple Grove school.

C. D. Wygal left Tuesday morning for Detroit, where he will consult an eye specialist concerning his hearing which has given him considerable trouble of late.

Reports received here indicate that the La Motte hospital at Garden is continuing to effect successful cures in many cancer cases.

The first of a series of recreation hours which will be held at the Veneer lunch room for the force of the Cooperage plant was held Tuesday noon with Dan Russel in charge.

No joint meeting of the August Mattson post and Woman's Legion auxiliary was held Monday night, a postponement having been decided upon late in the day, because of the inability of many members of each organization to be present.

Charles Newman paid a fine of $10.00 and costs of $5.50 after pleading guilty before a local justice of the peace on a charge of being drunk. He was arrested Sunday afternoon by Chief Lindahl and was arraigned Monday night, a night session being held because the police officer was away from the city during the day.

Horns, Balls, Clappers, Racket Makers, Hats Confetti, and lots of it; Feather Dusters—and other novelties too numerous to mention.

Thursday, Jan. 18 Wasa Hall Given By Yeoman Don't Forget the Date and Fun. Music by Le Duc's Orchestra.

The program will also include the discussion of land clearing problems and the special consideration of the car lot system of purchasing explosives. The Farm Bureau Secretary is cooperating with the County Agent in securing orders for a car load of explosives for spring delivery.

The Ladies' Aid of the Baptist church will meet this afternoon in the church parlors. Mesdames Sellers, Goodwin and Jennings will be hostesses for the afternoon.

Details of the peculiar medicinal qualities of the plaster applied by Dr. La Motte are known only to members of his family, it is understood, and to them has been handed down the formula that is said to draw out the cancerous growths.

Another entertainer who will go a long way toward making the recreation hours enjoyable is Frank Bodl, violinist, who according to his well pleased audiences, knows more about old-time music than anyone in the community.

In the case of the Junior High school building, only in the matter of cost can it be separated from the old Central building. Facilities in the new building serve all students in the old building, several hundred in number. The building cost, $178,142.61 and equipment expense, $6,500 mean that the policy of the board in wishing to erect a building that would be permanent and capable of serving the needs of a growing school populace for years to come, was carried out.

It's certainly time to do something and I'm hoping it will mean a commission-manager form of government."

Maurice Jibout was a business caller in Gladstone Tuesday.

J. H. Bennett, of Marquette, was a business caller here yesterday.

BEG YOUR PARDON Through a typographical error, the name of Mrs. Gertrude Furey was omitted as one of the hostesses who gave the dinner party at the V. I. Hixon home Saturday evening.

Miss Hattie Rubin returned yesterday morning from New York. Joseph Hobolik, until recently employed in the furnishing room of the paper mill here, left Tuesday morning for Detroit, where he will be employed as a mechanic.

Instead of Tuesday morning, as stated in yesterday's Press the funeral of Henry Gardner, Chipewa avenue, will be held at the St. Francis church this morning.

These recreation sessions will be held hereafter every Tuesday noon following lunch and indications are that they will form a popular feature of the cooperage activities.

Each room like nearly all others in the city, contains more scholars than is recommended for efficient work. Kindergarten and grades one to five inclusive are taught, but as but four teachers are furnished each teacher cares for a grade and a half.

Announcement of the change in date will be sent to all members through the mail.

MARYLAND SAYS IT'S WETTEST; PROUD OF IT

Governor Believes That Dry Legislation Can't Be Enforced.

Baltimore, Jan. 16.—Maryland, wettest state in the Union, and proud of it begins the new year determined to fight any effort to force the Volstead law down its throat. Governor Albert C. Ritchie, who kicked over the traces at President Harding's recent conference on prohibition enforcement and told the country how little he thought of the Volstead law, believes that legislation is an invasion of state rights and cannot be enforced. Can it be enforced—in Maryland? Not likely, with the people feeling the way they do. Personal Investigation. The NEA Service correspondent took a walk through downtown Baltimore. He has been living in this city two months. He visited four saloons and three restaurants, and found it is not necessary to be "known." In all of them liquor was being sold as openly as in 1914. The same pilgrimage could be continued successfully days on end without visiting the same place twice. Beer—4 per cent, creamy beer with a collar and a kick—is on draught and on sale to all comers at 20 cents a large glass. Whisky, too, is sold over the bar. Many places dispense good whisky—the Maryland rye for which this distilling state once was famous—in highballs or in the pony glass for 50 cents. Whisky is sold over the bar in half-pint flasks. Beer can be ordered from the corner saloon by the case and will be delivered. Bootlegger's Stock. Bootleggers? The correspondent found one without difficulty in a pool room near the city hall. He said he could supply any grade of whisky from pure bonded whisky at $10 a quart to "green whisky" at $2.50. Purchase of a bottle disclosed it to be raw alcohol, rye extract, caramel coloring, glycerin and odds and ends. Attempts at enforcement are practically futile. Maryland has no state enforcement law as provided in the Volstead law. Police do not make liquor raids. Under a ruling of the state attorney general, the only part police can't do in a raid is prevent raiding federal agents when their lives are in danger. The ruling also bars constables, magistrates and other state and county officials from enforcement activities. Another Dry Handicap. Another difficulty hampering dry agents is the ruling of the United States commissioner for this district that raids, even on trucks on highways, are not legal unless made under a search warrant. Liquor seized without a warrant is returned to the owner. The commissioner will not issue a warrant without actual proof that the place to be raided has liquor contrary to law. An agent's sworn statement that he drank liquor there is not enough. He must show the liquor. The federal dry force here trying to stem the flood consists of eight men, aided by a "flying squad" of six sent periodically from Washington. Public demonstrations, sometimes reaching riot proportions, often mark raids. Agents have been mobbed a dozen times. Crime has increased. Police figures for 1922, now being compiled show approximately 60,000 arrests. With the exception of 1918 this is the highest in Baltimore's history. Totals for preceding years are: 1921, 54,602; 1920, 41,988; 1919, 50,027. Figures just compiled by the Prudential Insurance Company on 28 American cities show murder is increasing in Baltimore faster than any city. The yearly rate is 11.3 per 100,000 of population. The state's sentiment is best expressed in the attitude of the Maryland Society Opposed to the Prohibition Amendment. The members took the stand that Governor Ritchie's anti-Volstead statement following the president's conference was too mild! MAKING THE TWINS COUNT. Twins having arrived during the night, the father told Bobby that he needn't go to school that day. "But," said Bobby, "wouldn't it be just as good to tell teacher tomorrow I've got one new little brother, and next week stay home again and tell her I've got one more?"—Boston Transcript.

MARKET REPORTS

NEW YORK STOCKS. New York, Jan. 16.—Speculators for the decline, taking advantage of the more threatening complications in the German reparations situation and the liquidation on the part of certain investors, forced another material recession in prices, in today's stock market. The decline ran from small fractions to two and three points in standard shares, but the strength of the resistance and the lower levels indicated substantial support by insiders. While the reactions spread over most of the list and was particularly effective in the motors, equipments, oils and a few of the rails there were a number of stocks that managed to move against the prevailing current. New Press Put In at High School. A new printing press was installed in the printing department of the high school yesterday. It is an eight by twelve inch Golding press, and will help greatly in the work of the department, according to Mr. Cook, teacher of printing, whose work has been greatly handicapped by the lack of press facilities. It is hoped that next year, the press will enable the department to print a school paper. CHICHESTER'S PILLS THE DIAMOND BRAND. St. Paul 21.25 Union Pacific 136.62 Tex. & Pacific 19.75 Van. TO-DAY Is Franklin's Birthday. It is also Bank Day, which opens National Thrift Week all over the country. In what better way, then, could this bank observe the birthday of the Teacher of Thrift than by helping his countrymen to gain a greater share of the national prosperity? We urge you, therefore, to make Franklin's birthday one of the bright spots of your life by opening a savings account at this bank today. Then, if you will bank what you save by spending wisely, you will soon learn what Franklin sought to teach—that thrift is not sacrifice but accumulative pleasure, and that a bank account is your best friend. Start YOUR account today. State Savings Bank Escanaba Michigan

A 1,000 to 1 Shot. Once in a long while a fellow who doesn't practice thrift becomes wealthy. Now and then the Gods of Chance pour a stream of gold into undeserving hands. But its only once in an age that fortune comes to those who do not woo her by painstaking economy. THRIFT is the SURE WAY to success. "Waiting for something to turn up" is a 1,000 to 1 chance. WHY TAKE CHANCES WHEN YOU CAN BE SURE? FOLLOW THE CERTAIN ROAD TO SUCCESS BY OPENING A SAVINGS ACCOUNT TODAY.
