

G. & N. W. GETS TWO NEW "J" LOCOMOTIVES

Heavy Engines Will Be Put Into Service on Log Trains.

Two brand-new Mikado locomotives of the J class were scheduled to arrive here last evening, pulling trains from the south. They will be placed in service immediately between Escanaba, Green Bay and Iron River hauling logs, and when the ore season opens will be placed on ore trains.

The new engines are coming here direct from the plant of the American Locomotive Co., by whom they were built. Beyond a few minor changes they are practically the same as the J engines now in use. They have steel cabs, steam coal-puller, power reverse and other improvements, and are the heaviest locomotives in the upper peninsula. They will be known as Nos. 2575 and 2576.

Requests are in for more engines of this type, but it is not yet known when they will be received. The Peninsula division in this year doing a heavier business in pulpwood and other forest products than it has done in years, and the demands on motive power and equipment are correspondingly heavy.

Electrification of the roundhouse is proceeding rapidly. The new lights already have been placed in service in one section, and the other section will be completed in a few days. All work is in conduit, and light is furnished by nitrogen lamps under whiteenameled steel reflectors. There are two lights between each pair of stalls, and frequent plug-ins to permit the use of extension lights instead of oil torches, as at present. Before the electrification oil lamps furnished the only light for the roundhouse.

W. H. Pennewell has arrived from Manitowoc, where he was inspecting the repair of Northwestern locomotives in the shipyards, and has assumed his duties as foreman of the machine shop.

NO LONGER ANY SEX IN WORLD OF BUSINESS

New York.—There's no longer any sex in business. The important official behind the mahogany desk doesn't give a rap whether the person on the other side of the desk is a petite blond with a rose in her hair or a dinky individual with a shrub on his lip and a stogie.

Pretty Constance Woodward, successful insurance agent who recently sold a record policy for $500,000, has made the discovery. "When I started selling insurance eight years ago," she says, things were different. The women were rare in the field and when I started out in the morning with a policy and a pencil I was reasonably sure to encounter two attitudes; the man I approached was either interested in the novelty of being sold something by a woman and was unusually deferential or else he was actively hostile because "women don't know anything about business."

Now—the business woman has lost her novelty. Prove to a man that your proposition is a good one and he doesn't give a thought to age, sex or color. No longer can a woman, just because she is a woman, expect to wheedle her way past the office boy and take up a busy man's time. "But a woman, calling on a prospect not as a woman but as a salesman, need never fear discourteous treatment.

The bigger the man is the more considerate he is in listening. It is the junior bank clerk who puts on airs.

THE BEGINNING OF BETTER THINGS.

Escanaba's White Way, long dreamed of and hoped for, became an actuality on Thursday night. In the twinkling of an eye, as the power was turned on, the new system, one of the widest and longest, but poorest lighted, business streets in any city of the northwest, was converted into one of the most attractive and best lighted business thoroughfares to be found in any city of Michigan.

MANISTIQUE ENDORSES PLAN.

Members of the Civic Club, of Manistique, have adopted resolutions unqualifiedly endorsing the so-called "Escanaba Plan" for distributing the state primary school fund and have forwarded copies of the resolution to the representatives of that county in the state legislature.

FEW, BUT FRENZIED.

Notwithstanding the almost daily exposure of their perfidy, the Europeanians continue to manufacture wholly unfounded reports that the United States is about to interfere in European affairs. No sooner is one report denied than the press agency which serves as a distributor, for the internationalists sends out another story that has all the earmarks of authenticity, only to be denied just as firmly by the highest American officials.

40 OLD FRENCH GROGS.

The French navy has 12 cruisers, 40 full admirals and other officers of approximately the same grade, totalling practically 75 admirals, or 6 1/2 for each large ship. It is said that there are so many generals in the offices of the French war department that they average about 1 to 400 men.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

By Stanley

THIS GOOP GOT WIRES CROSSED; HAD WRONG GIRL 'Mule' Romance Hits Rocks With Denver Jag.

Denver—Moonshine is the miracle worker of the age. It will make you think you're a cake eater when you're only eating pie. It makes alleys look like streets.

It makes you think you're tussing your own girl when you're really queening it with somebody's hired girl.

At least this much was learned. Police court here when Earl Brown, a resident of Longmont, he said, was brought before Magistrate Henry Bray on a charge of drunkenness and was asked to explain how he got that way.

Met Her at Dance
Brown was arrested at Colfax avenue and Cook street.

"He was so drunk he couldn't stand up," the arresting officer testified in court. "He kept saying something about his best girl feeding him."

Whereupon the judge called upon Brown to explain.

According to the young man's testimony, he met a Capitol Hill girl at a dance, became interested at sight, and succeeded in obtaining her address. She asked him to call some evening, he said.

But he met up with some of his male acquaintances before setting out for Cook street. A bottle of moonshine was part of the party and the result was disastrous for Brown.

"I got off the car at Cook street all right, Judge," he said, "but somehow I started down one of the alleys, thinking it was a street. There was a number on a back door that I thought was the one I wanted. You know some of those swell houses are all fixed up in back, so if it looks as if they had two fronts, and some of those alleys are wonderful.

"I knocked on the door and a girl answered. I thought she was the one I had met at the dance. I was hungry, Judge, so the first thing I did was to ask her for something to eat. She got out a cake."

"Did you cut yourself a piece of cake?" the court questioned. "She cut the cake, Judge."

"Just a minute, now, Judge," the arresting officer broke in, smiling.

"The hired girl told me it was pie she gave him."

"What was this stuff you had been drinking?" asked the court. "Just moonshine, Judge," Brown answered.

"And you weren't drunk?" "I just had a couple of drinks. 'Tweny and costs."

JABOT DRAPERIES.
Jabot draperies are featured on many of the frocks of printed silk. This drapery is quite as apt to run from neckline to hem in the back as it is to seek a place at the front or side. Frequently it is of chiffon or georgette the tone of the frock.

MRS. LINDQUIST TELLS WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did for Her

Kansas City, Mo.—"I was left in a very serious condition after childbirth and no one thought I could ever be any better. Then came the 'Change of Life' and I was not prepared for what I had to suffer. I had to go to bed at times to be perfectly quiet as I could not even stoop down to pick anything from the floor. I did not suffer any pain, but I was decidedly nervous and could not sleep. For nearly two years I was this way, and the doctor was frank enough to tell me that he could do no more for me. Shortly after this I happened to see in a newspaper an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. In a few days the medicine was in the house and I had begun its use. And I took it regularly until I was well. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to others when I have the opportunity."—Mrs. MAY LINDQUIST, 2814 Independence Ave., Kansas City, Mo.

Garden Bay News

Jos. Lambert had a somewhat humiliating, though humorous, accident when passing the Henry La Vigne farm recently. A stubborn old sow contested the right of way. The track was only wide enough to permit the passage of one at a time and Mrs. Pig had the impression that she had the prior right. In her indignation at the efforts of Mr. Lambert to monopolize the track, she placed herself under the cutter and turned it and the driver completely over. Mr. Lambert was not hurt and after he got on his feet again, turned back the cutter and shook the snow from his garments, he was in a frame of mind to see the humor of the incident, and laugh, like lots of us in Garden have done, at his expense.

Captain Hansen stopped off in Garden a few minutes today on his way to Fairport. He was returning from his home in Escanaba where he had made a ten-day visit. He would have gone to Fairport earlier only on account of the difficulty of travelling. He states that he has completely finished his ice harvest, sure evidence of his faith that this weather is not going to last forever.

WEATHER HITS LUMBER OUTPUT

A general reduction in production, as a result of severe weather, featured the lumber industry last week, says the American Lumberman, Chicago. The industry throughout the Pacific Northwest and the Inland Empire was paralyzed as a result of heavy snowfalls, freezing weather and blizzards. As that whole section was blanketed by two to ten feet of snow, logging camps were closed down everywhere. It may require a long time before this snow is cleared away, and the woods are dried out enough to become passable, so a log shortage is again threatening. Transportation also was utterly demoralized, stopping shipments. Reports from the west Coast intimate that it probably will be some weeks before the lumber industry there can again attain normal in all departments.

Production has also been reduced in the southern hardwood and pine producing territories as a result of snow, heavy rains, and floods, while North Carolina pine and other southwestern mills are similarly handicapped.

Demand for all the principal woods meanwhile remains strong, exceeding normal by a good margin and being greatly in excess of output. On account of the heavy overbooked condition of the mills, which has caused many of them to withdraw wholly from the market and most of the others to accept only such business as they have definite prospects of being able to ship, it is becoming increasingly difficult to place orders. Unfilled orders Feb. 9 at mills subscribing to the Southern Pine Association totaled 3,649,225 feet per mill, or the equivalent of five and one-half weeks' production at the rate then current. Unfilled orders at 132 mills associated with the West Coast Lumbermen's Association exceeded 700,000,000 feet, equal to eight weeks' of normal output.

Prices are generally steady at the levels recently established, but several scarce and popular items, especially in softwoods, have shown further advances as a result of the interference with production by bad weather, so that the upward tendency is still strongly in evidence. Unless a prompt resumption of normal operations becomes possible, higher prices all around appear likely, as demand, besides rapidly cleaning up surplus stocks, is accumulating.

the market and most of the others to accept only such business as they have definite prospects of being able to ship, it is becoming increasingly difficult to place orders. Unfilled orders Feb. 9 at mills subscribing to the Southern Pine Association totaled 3,649,225 feet per mill, or the equivalent of five and one-half weeks' production at the rate then current. Unfilled orders at 132 mills associated with the West Coast Lumbermen's Association exceeded 700,000,000 feet, equal to eight weeks' of normal output.

Prices are generally steady at the levels recently established, but several scarce and popular items, especially in softwoods, have shown further advances as a result of the interference with production by bad weather, so that the upward tendency is still strongly in evidence. Unless a prompt resumption of normal operations becomes possible, higher prices all around appear likely, as demand, besides rapidly cleaning up surplus stocks, is accumulating.

ARREST COUPLE ON MORNING OF THEIR WEDDING

Objections of Father Send Boy in Denver Romance to Jail.

They—On what was to have been their wedding morning, at the Sylvania hotel, Fourteenth and Champa streets, Detectives Knave and Burns arrested the couple at the behest of the boy's father, who objects to his son's marriage until he completes a proposed course at the University of Wisconsin.

Webb was taken into custody in the girl's room, where the officers had awaited several hours for his return from Golden, where he was stopping at the Kappa Sigma fraternity house. It was at a proposed early morning conference with Miss Lord, her fiancée and several of his friends that the final arrangements for the wedding were to be completed.

After a whirlwind courtship which began three months ago, and ended by a proposal from Webb a month ago, the couple parted from Fort Collins on Sunday. They came to Denver, planning to marry Sunday night. Knowing the objection of Webb's father to a hasty marriage, Miss Lord persuaded him to postpone the wedding until Monday.

Monday she put it off until Tuesday. And on Tuesday the interference of the police put it off indefinitely. In the city jail, the girl's father, according to the police, believes he will have time to reflect and realize that a college education and eventually a career are far better than a hasty marriage which may be repentance at leisure.

Hunted by Police Since Sunday the police had been searching Denver for the couple. They finally found Miss Lord at the Sylvania hotel late Monday night. Webb, however, was at Golden, and not knowing she was addressing the minions of the law, Miss Lord told her late callers in the person of Detectives Knave and Burns that Webb would

LOVE NEST? THEY SAY NO

Is Major Robert Connor, lumber king and thrice mayor of Marshfield, Wis., also Robert Brown, salesman of Milwaukee? Interest is added to the question by the fact that Connor is married and the father of two children; while Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brown have three children. Connor and Mrs. Brown, formerly Miss Bertha Gertler, a stenographer of Marshfield, have been arrested charged with illicitly living together. They, as well as Mrs. Connor, deny the charges. Hearing is set for March 5. Pictures show Major Connor, Mrs. Brown and the Browns' home.

Three Identify Mutilated Body

Chicago, Feb. 22.—Three more persons today identified the body of the nude and mutilated man found ten days ago near Geneva, Ill., as that of Samuel Floyd Hawkins, of Chicago. They were the second trio to so identify the man. Robert Hawkins, of Kalamazoo, Mich., father of young Hawkins, arrived here tonight and will go to Geneva in an effort to determine whether the body is that of his son.

HIS BUSY SEASON.

A man with all the earmarks of a laborer was smoking thoughtfully and watching a large building in process of construction. Being shorthanded, a foreman approached and asked: "Hey, you, want a job?" "Yes," was the reply, "but I can only work in the mornings." "Aw shucks! Why can't you work all day?" "Well," the man explained, "every afternoon I got to carry a banner in the unemployment parade."—American Legion Weekly.

PRINCE'S WIFE BORN IN FAMED GHOST CASTLE

Betrothal of Duke of York Recalls Legend of "Haunts."

BY MILTON BRONNER. London.—If Lady Elizabeth B. was-Lyon, who will soon be the bride of the Duke of York and may some day become Queen of England, moves to Buckingham Palace she will carry with her the spell of Glamis Castle, ancient Scottish home of her ancestors.

It will add another chapter to the ever-growing fairy tale which has become legend. Should Lady Elizabeth become dreamy and go into a reverie or have strange fits of absorption, her friends will blame it on the castle.

For it's a haunted place peopled by ghosts of dead kings. It has secrets that go back to the fourteenth century. It was there that the Macbeth of Shakespeare killed Banquo and King Duncan. Mighty Card Player.

But the secret that is most often imparted, although it is supposed to be known to only three persons at a time—the holder of the title of Earl of Strathmore, his heir and the factor who takes care of the place—concerns one Duke of Brushface.

He was a mighty card player. One Sunday night he insisted upon his game. None of his followers would play. So he retired to his card chamber, vowing he would play with someone, even if it were the devil.

Soon came a loud knocking at the castle gates and a stranger wrapped in a red cloak demanded admission. He was conducted to the master's card room. Together they played all night. Shortly afterwards the earl died. Then nightly the servants heard sounds in the card room. The earl's ghost was doomed to play forever with the devil. The door to the room was bolted, barred and closed forever.

But there is another yarn about the secret room which goes back still further in time.

Always at War. In ancient Scotland rival noble families and their retainers were always at war with each other. One dark night the leader of one of these clans, with all his men, came pounding at Glamis Castle for shelter. They were seeking to escape from their enemies. The earl admitted them and led them into a deep dungeon chamber where he said: they would be safe from harm as long as they were with me. They were fastened; bars put up. The little band of fleeing warriors were penned up forever. The earl had likewise been their enemy.

The room where they met their slow death by hunger and thirst also became their inviolate tomb. It was one of several dungeons always kept locked.

But which one it was—that is the secret of Glamis.
