

UNIVERSITY BUILDING PROGRAM CUT

BIG ISSUES OF 1924 CAMPAIGN BEING FORMED

VETERAN LEADERS OF TWO PARTIES DIFFER.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE.

St. Augustine, Fla., March 27.—Assuming that President Harding is re-nominated in accordance with Attorney General Daugherty's prediction, what will be the issues? This question has been propounded in the presidential party again and again since the political discussion of a week ago began.

Mr. Daugherty says taxation will be paramount. Former Gov. James M. Cox, democrat, says it will be the European economic conference and the Harding administration's failure to help American farmers and producers by supplying an export market.

President Harding himself is of the opinion that the campaign will turn entirely on economic issues. He believes the electorate will be swayed in 1924 as it has been in the past on the question of whether there is universal employment and a living wage.

Old Fashioned Campaign. It will be promptly suggested that the defeat of the democrats in 1920 after an untempered period of prosperity, would seem to be an exception to the political rule, but Mr. Harding does not think so.

What the president means, therefore, is that ordinarily when there are no extraneous issues, the dominant thought of the country is more likely to be economic than anything else.

Are We Back to "Normalcy"? Mr. Harding is all the more impressed by this line of reasoning because of the universal enthusiasm with which the people generally seemed to greet the promised program of a return to "normalcy" which at the outset, he gave as the object of his administration.

The democrats would take up the challenge naturally by pointing to the higher level of wages in the years of the Wilson administration as compared to the incomes of the workers in the last three years.

It looks truly as if the high cost of living which played such a prominent part in sweeping the democrats into power in the house of representatives in the middle of the Taft administration and which helped considerably in putting the democratic party in power in the white house as well as both branches of congress in 1912 will be in the foreground once more in 1924.

YOUNG GIRLS TO TESTIFY FOR HANSELL AGAINST "KING BEN"

Cult Chief Missing from Benton Harbor, Jury Is Informed.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 27.—Young girls alleged by plaintiff witnesses in the suit of John W. Hansell against the Israelite House of David to have been mistreated by Benjamin Purnell, head of the cult, are to be subpoenaed by Walter H. Nelson, Hansell's attorney, it was announced late today.

Permission to subpoena the girls was granted by Federal Judge Sater, presiding. They probably will be called as plaintiff rebuttal witnesses.

"King" Has Fled. The question of summoning the girls arose during the examination of Mrs. Edith Rosetta, a defense witness, who identified a number of names on a list offered by Attorney Nelson as girls now residing at the House of Shiloh, Purnell's residence, where the alleged immoral practices are said to have taken place.

NO ARMISTICE IN PIGGLY WAR

Saunders Reiterates His Determination to Sue Stock Exchange.

Memphis, Tenn., March 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Charles Saunders, head of the Piggly-Wiggly Stores, Inc., questioned tonight regarding telegrams sent today to the New York Stock Exchange, taking issue with Stock Exchange statements as to the extent of the "short interests" in Piggly-Wiggly's recent sensational day in the street, declared flatly he wanted no compromise and reiterated his intention to fight out the issue in the courts.

My next statement will be in the courts," Saunders told newspaper men tonight. Figures Vary. In one telegram today, Mr. Saunders, who engineered the operations which resulted in suspension of trading in Piggly-Wiggly on the New York exchange Tuesday, fixed the amount of stock due him when he called for delivery at 23,875 shares and named a list of brokers who have made delivery of 18,875 shares. In addition he cited 8,000 shares which he declared were wrongly deducted from the deliveries and asserted that 800 shares still were short on delivery.

This was sent in answer to a statement in which the exchange was quoted as saying the total amount of stock handled through the exchange clearing corporation was 11,200 shares. Will Not Compromise. In his second telegram, Mr. Saunders gave notice to the exchange, that "no one has any authority to bind me in any sense regarding the action I expect to take in the courts," and referred to what he termed "informal communications" he had received with regard to a possible "compromise settlement."

"This is to notify you that I will not at any time consider such an informal proposition," he said in his message. Lord Robert Cecil Arrives, New York. New York, March 27.—The cause of the League of Nations is the cause of peace, declared Lord Robert Cecil, former British exponent of the league, who arrived here on the Majestic for a month's visit to the United States and Canada.

TWO MILLIONS SLASHED FROM AMOUNT ASKED

MORE REDUCTIONS ARE EXPECTED LATER.

Lansing, March 27.—More than $2,100,000 has been cut from the University of Michigan building request by the house committee of the university it was learned today.

Many members declare that the ways and means committee will make further slashes, reducing the $7,200,000 requested for the biennial period to from $3,000,000 to $1,500,000.

In addition to this reduction, it was announced by Gov. Grover Beck that the state will not release to the university the $1,200,000 still due from the 1921 appropriations. Disposition of the unexpended fund has been referred to the legislature.

The items already stricken from the appropriation bill include $600,000 for a nurses' home, $300,000 for the school of journalism; $400,000 for an architectural and surveying building; and $900,000 for a University museum building.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 27.—One person in every 73 in the United States today is a confirmed drug addict, according to reports of narcotic inspectors made to the treasury department, Garland W. Powell, national director of the American legion, declared in an address at the annual fathers' and sons' association banquet here tonight.

BERNHARDT TO BE BURIED IN FAMOUS PLOT

Lack of Funds Caused Her to Sell Stone Tomb She Had Built.

Paris, March 27.—(By the Associated Press)—The body of Madame Sarah Bernhardt will be removed at noon Thursday from her home on Boulevard Perre to the church of St. Francis De Sales in a nearby street, and thence conveyed to the cemetery of Pere-Lachaise, the last resting place of hundreds of France's famous people.

It will be one of the most impressive funerals of a great public figure since that of Victor Hugo in 1885. Hugo's funeral was under the auspices of the government; Bernhardt's will be at the expense of the city of Paris.

Poverty is given as the reason that Bernhardt will not be buried in Belle Isle, where many years ago she had a tomb dug in the solid rock. It is explained that she was obliged to sell the house with the land at Belle Isle and it is suggested that at some future time permission might be obtained from the new owner and the body transferred there.

A rented villa, in a Paris suburb, which was to have been her summer home, replacing Belle Isle, is bright with fresh paint. On the gate is inscribed as the Villa's name Bernhardt's motto "Quam Memem" which is likely to remain as a memorial of the tenant who never lived there.

ESCANABA PLAN WINS FAVOR AT HOUSE HEARING

The "Escanaba plan" for a revision of the method of apportioning state primary school money, moved a step nearer its goal by enactment into a law by the legislature—at Lansing, last night when the house educational committee held an open hearing at the state capitol.

"There was a large attendance at the hearing," said O. I. Bandeen, secretary of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, on the long distance phone early this morning. "I think the plan won a lot of friends. There was no opposition except that shown by a Detroit delegation. The Grand Rapids and Lansing speakers present urged the passage of the bill.

Morehouse Parish Murder Suspects Must Face Trial

SUGAR PRICES TO BE PROBED

New Orleans, March 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Persons who are believed to have participated in the hooded band activities last year in Morehouse Parish, which Gov. Parker and Attorney General Coo attribute to the Ku Klux Klan, will go on trial in spite of the failure of the grand jury to return indictments at its session early this month at Bastrop.

The attorney general announced late today that during the week of April 9-he would file bills of information against seven or eight men on charges of felonies and misdemeanors. Their identity was not disclosed.

In view of the failure of two Morehouse Parish grand juries to find any evidence that would warrant indictments, it is regarded as a foregone conclusion that the attorney general will seek to have the trial removed to another parish.

St. Augustine, Fla., March 27.—Investigation by the United States tariff commission into the relation of the tariff rates on sugar to the recent increased sugar prices was ordered today by President Harding.

The inquiry was requested by the president in the following telegram addressed to Thomas O. Marvin, chairman of the tariff commission: "Make an immediate inquiry into the relation of the sugar tariff to the current prices of that commodity. It is difficult to believe that the duty on sugar can have any part in making the abnormal prices which prevail, but if the commission finds there is any ground for believing the duty to be even partially responsible, I shall be ready to proclaim a reduction in sugar as provided by law."

RESERVE BANKS DENY RUMORS

Washington, March 27.—The federal reserve board in conjunction with the governors of the 12 reserve banks, meeting in semi-annual conference here, moved today to curb the flood of rumors concerning possible changes in the board's policies, and reports of contemplated increases in the rediscount rates by the banks.

In answer to more than 100 telegraphic inquiries, the board categorically denied "any rumors with respect to its intentions or actions," and informed one and all that it would make its own statements when such were warranted. The message invited inquirers to supply the board with information regarding the source of the rumors, adding in substance that it would not waste time "denying all idle rumors."

E. Stutesbury. The district attorney declined to reveal where he addressed the letter to Daugherty, saying he had been given to understand the young man wished to keep his whereabouts secret.

HOPE GERMANY WILL GIVE UP

Poincare Admits His Policy in Ruhr Is Not Getting Results.

Paris, March 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Premier Poincare, appearing before the finance committee of the chamber of deputies today to give an account of the situation in the Ruhr said he had great hope that Germany would yield "by the end of May."

The premier had with him figures giving the amount of coal and coke shipped from the occupied districts, but demanded from the deputies a formal agreement not to divulge such figures as he would announce. The Socialist Deputy Berthoin, whom Poincare recently termed "an abominable scoundrel" during debate in the chamber, refused to pledge himself to secrecy, so the premier withheld the figures.

Only Minor Results. An official account of the premier's appearance before the finance committee says that Monsieur Poincare did not conceal that to date the economic results from the viewpoint of realization of guarantees had been of slight importance; only prolonged and stable occupation would permit, owing to the ill will of the German government, the realization of the program for the operation of the occupied districts so as to regulate the problem of reparations.

SPACE FOR AUTO RADIO SHOW IS AT A PREMIUM

Biggest Show of Kind Ever Offered North of Milwaukee Certain.

All automobile space for the first annual Escanaba Automobile and Radio Show, to be held at the Coliseum on April 17, 18, 19 and 20, has been sold and announcement was made yesterday that radio and automobile accessory dealers who desire to make displays at the big show will be forced to hurry as space allotted to those departments is nearly exhausted.

Every automobile dealer in Escanaba will be represented in the auto section of the show and up to this time three Escanaba radio dealers have signed up for space in addition to a number of dealers in auto accessories.

To Bar Outsiders. A number of applications have been received by the show management from outside accessory and radio firms desiring space at the show but it has been decided upon as a definite policy to make the show a strictly Escanaba affair, if local dealers display a proper interest.

With all of the auto space sold and a large part of the space set aside for radio and accessories already contracted for, assurance is now given that the coming Automobile and Radio Show will prove the biggest event of its kind ever arranged in the peninsula.

Plan For Features. Special entertainment features are being arranged for each night of the show, consisting of radio and orchestra programs, vaudeville stunts and special attractions. Plans are also being made to give away a valuable door prize each night of the show and definite announcement as to that feature will be made within a few days. To aid in bearing the expense of the big undertaking a nominal admission fee of 25 cents is to be charged at the door, that policy being adopted largely to keep large droves of children from packing the building to the exclusion of adults.

CLOCK STOPS

Science Defeats Farm Hours Decried By Wallace.

TWO OF THE SCIENTISTS WHO BALKED AT THE "TIME CLOCK" ORDER DR. MARION DORSET, HOG CHOLERA SERUM DISCOVERER, AND DR. J. F. ROCK, WHO BROUGHT OUT CHALLMOOGRA OIL.

Washington, March 27.—Dirt farmer methods may be effective in some parts of the Department of Agriculture.

But Science has triumphed over the Time Clock. Secretary Wallace has modified his order to make all employees of the department punch the time clock.

Announcement of the clock method didn't get an enthusiastic shout from the internationally prominent men whose scientific work has saved millions to farmers every year and reduced life loss all over the world. They declared a regimen of getting to work at 9, taking half an hour off for lunch and working again until 4:30 impaired their work.

The scientists argued that they had become accustomed to their own methods of research and study. They cited that much of their most valuable work was done late at night. And furthermore, they let it be known that the scientific mind depends upon the mood, not the number of working hours, for its effectiveness.

Wallace Strict. Wallace declined to give in at first. He insisted all bureau chiefs should be at their desks promptly at 9, as he always is. But he is not mitigating the severity of the ruling for the scientific men.

Which means that the following experts are happily working according to their own schedules: Dr. Leland O. Howard, entomologist, honorary member of many foreign scientific societies, president, Association of Economic Entomologists, etc. He has saved farmers millions, by discoveries of crop-raiding insects, and has contributed to health conditions by fighting house flies and mosquitoes.

INDIANS FIRE ON WARD POSSE

Blanding, Utah, March 27.—United States Marshal Ray Ward and his posse were fired upon for a second time shortly after they had established camp in Adams ranch in Comb Wash, near the Utah-Arizona line last night, according to a messenger who reached Blanding today. The posse returned the fire, but was unable because of darkness to follow the Indians.

Posey's Big Boy, Mike, spent the night unarmored in the hills in an attempt to communicate with Old Posey by signal fires and inform him of the futility of continuing the evasion, but without apparent avail.

Indications are that the fugitives have gathered recruits but from what source is a mystery, as practically every member of the Ute, Plute, and Navajo tribes has been accounted for.

SCHOOL CENSUS TO FORM BASIS FOR PLANNING

Will Give School Heads Accurate Idea of Future Needs.

The school census, to be taken by members of Principal R. E. Cheney's high school sociology class, not only will form the basis for the local distribution of the state primary school fund, but it will provide public and parochial school officials of Escanaba with accurate figures on the probable school enrollment in the lower grades next year.

The census will include the enumeration of all persons in the city between the ages of five and twenty, on which the state's primary money is based, as well as much other material which will be found useful.

The Rev. Fr. Raymond G. Jacques of St. Anne's church and the Rev. Fr. Bertrand of St. Joseph's, who will cooperate with Mr. Cheney in the preparation of the canvass, will be supplied with the information procured by the census enumerators. Using all the material as a forecast of future school attendance, all of the school may then proceed to plan for accommodating the increasing population of their building.

There are about 35 members of the class who will be assigned to the task of covering a portion of the city's 250 blocks. It is planned to take about three weeks for the work. The census taking will begin as soon as weather conditions will make work practical.

ALLIES WILL HEAR TURKS

London, March 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Turkey will be informed within the next 48 hours that the allies are ready to resume the Lausanne peace negotiations. The allied delegates, who for the past week have been examining the Turkish counter proposals to the allied peace terms, finished their deliberations this evening, after having drawn up a reply to Ismet Pash's letter of March 8.

It is understood that the allies agreed to make no fundamental changes in their original peace proposal to the Turks. Whatever modifications have been made are of form, rather than substance. One of the delegates told the Associated Press correspondent that when the conference was resumed the Turks would find the allies in complete unity on all questions.

The French delegates will leave for Paris tomorrow, the Italians will leave Thursday.

TWAIN NOT GUILTY

The author of some famous and beautiful lines, which have been attributed to Mark Twain, was Robert Richardson, the Australian poet. When the report that these lines were attributed to him reached Mark Twain he ordered that the name of the author be cut beneath them on the stone over the grave of his daughter, Susy Clemens. The lines are as follows: "Warm summer sun, shine kindly here; Warm southern wind, blow softly here; Green sod above, lie light, lie light; Good night, dear heart, good night, good night!" In the original the word "southern" read "northern," as in Australia the warm wind is from the north.

FRANCE'S SCHEME IN RUHR IS REVEALED BY LAUSANNE

BY MILTON BRONNER Special Cable to NEA Service, Inc. and the Daily Press. Copyright, 1923, by NEA Service, Inc.

Paris, March 27.—What is France's game in the Ruhr? Her only game is to get the money Germany owes her. Nothing more; nothing less.

It was Stephane Lauzanne who told me so, and he ought to know. Not only is he editor-in-chief of Le Matin, one of the most influential papers in France, but he is or was most intimate terms with Premier Poincare and all the men who now compose the government.

"Mon cher Raymond" (Poincare) unbecomingly himself to his "cher Stephane," so that he may know just what's what when he writes his powerful editorials.

I came to Paris to find out just what Poincare meant to do in his critical and crucial Ruhr enterprise. French officials advised me to see Lauzanne; he would speak with full knowledge.

"Fire away," said Lauzanne, "and make your questions just as hard as you like."

QUESTION NO. 1: It is charged by the enemies of France that, taking advantage of clauses in the Versailles treaty, she has made demands upon Germany so high she can't fulfill them and that France does not expect she will fulfill them. Is this true or false?

Said Lauzanne: "The demands made upon Germany for reparations ($33,000,000,000) were not made by France alone. The figure was fixed in London in May, 1922, and the schedule of payment, which was then adopted by common agreement, was signed by Great Britain, Italy, Japan and Belgium, as well as by France."

"Nobody said then that the schedule of payment was exaggerated and Lloyd George declared in the House of Commons that it was reasonable."

"If today the schedule of payment is found exaggerated, how can we be certain that a new schedule, reducing the original figures, will not be thought too high in 1925? And what is the schedule of payments Germany will not deem too high?"

QUESTION NO. 2: Taking advantage of Germany's failure to pay it is charged France has marched into the Ruhr intending to stay there, either annexing the Ruhr and the Rhineland, or setting up a buffer state. Does France ever expect to leave the Ruhr?

Lauzanne replied: "France will never annex the Rhineland or the Ruhr; but France will remain in the Rhineland and the Ruhr as long as Germany will not pay what she owes to France."

"In other words, the Rhineland and Ruhr are considered by the French as a mortgage guaranteeing payment. When the payments are made, the mortgage will have to be released and the balliffs will leave the premises."

"Germany did exactly the same thing to us in 1871 and the whole world including America, approved what Germany did. The last German soldier left French soil in September, 1873, eleven days after the last French million had been paid."

QUESTION NO. 3: The charge has been publicly printed in England that the French march into the Ruhr was at first inspired by a French syndicate of steel masters which desired a union with German coal and steel masters, in which the French would control 60 per cent of the stock. Is it true that French big business got Poincare to go into the Ruhr?

Lauzanne replied: "Not only has the 'Comite des Forges' not inspired the march into the Ruhr, but it was more or less against it. Precisely because the comite is in favor of a union with German steel masters, they could not be enthusiastic about a march into the Ruhr which is especially directed against the German coal and steel masters."

QUESTION NO. 4: Isn't this entire Ruhr campaign really an attempt to destroy Germany economically and break her up into little states?

Lauzanne replied: "No more than Germany, occupying 19 French departments in 1871, desired to break up France into little states. Germany wanted only to collect the money. France today wants only to get her money."

QUESTION NO. 5: The charge has also been printed in English papers that of the billions of francs voted by your parliament for reconstructing a northern France, huge sums were diverted and sent to little nations for military purposes and that only recently 400 million francs were advanced to Poland for the army. Is this true?

Lauzanne replied: "The charge is untrue and ridiculous. Every cent voted by parliament for reconstructing northern France has gone to that work. The 400 million francs recently advanced to Poland—mainly for economical reconstruction and only partially for army purposes—was voted especially by the French parliament, as was the 300,000,000 francs advanced to Austria as the French part of the international loan to that distressed country. The expense in the two cases will be recorded in the budget and the money will have to be paid by French taxpayers."

QUESTION NO. 6: What about the old charge that France is militaristic, that she has the biggest and best-equipped army in the world, is planning a big submarine fleet, and so far she hasn't ratified the Washington naval agreement?

Lauzanne replied: "There is no country less militaristic than France. Her biggest and best-equipped army in the world" has no other purpose than to oblige Germany to pay and that army costs France less than the small army of non-militaristic America. The expenditures for the army in 1922 were $194,498,850, whereas in America for the fiscal year 1921-1922 the cost of the army exceeded $325,000,000.

"France is not planning a big submarine fleet, but she wants to have an adequate one to protect her European coasts and the coasts of her empire in Africa. This submarine fleet is not directed against England, but against X (the unknown quantity). The submarine is not an offensive weapon but a purely defensive one."

"The fact that France does not want any capital ships, but only submarines, proves better than anything in the world that she has no aggressive designs, but only defensive intentions."

"If the Washington naval agreement—which will certainly be ratified by the French parliament, it is because there are some French deputies playing politics with the same skill as American senators."

"These deputies have delayed the ratification to embarrass the Poincare cabinet, just as some American senators prevented the ratification of the Versailles treaty to embarrass the Wilson administration."

"The deputies all belong to the Clemenceau party. It's a pity that while Clemenceau was in America, men didn't ask him why his followers were putting spokes in the wheel of the Washington treaty."

FREIGHT TRAIN STUCK IN SNOW BLOCKS TRACKS

A freight train was stuck in the snow at Little Lake Tuesday morning which caused a delay in the trains running north and south of this city. Train 101 was back of the freight train and could not proceed on its way north while train 216 which is due here at 10:45 a. m. was held up until afternoon, reaching this city at 1:30 o'clock.

The snow which had drifted along the track was twenty feet deep in some places and although a crew of more than twenty men were kept busy clearing the tracks it was impossible to keep up with the drifts which kept piling up.

Train 217 was one hour late and was running about the same on winter schedule. This train is a very heavy one and carries much mail, express and parcel post, making long waits at each station which delays traffic to a certain extent but one hour late is not considered a great delay when one sees the great amount of mail and express which is transferred at each station. It is surprising that the delay is not several hours more.

THEN AND NOW.

A year ago there were nearly 500,000 idle freight cars in the country. Now there is a shortage of nearly 100,000 cars, and a still larger number could be used if they were available.

Then the iron and steel interests were running at about 80 per cent capacity. Now they are running at from 80 per cent to 85 per cent capacity, and limited only by the lack of transportation.

Then business was stagnant and pessimism ruled. Now business is active, and growing more and more active day by day, and optimism rules the land.

Then there was uncertainty in the minds of free traders and of many honest minded people who believed that a protective tariff would depress our export and import trade. Now our export and import trade are growing with remarkable rapidity, and the shipments of farm products and of manufactured goods, as well as imports from other lands, are setting at naught all the predictions of disaster of the free traders a year ago.

Then there was some uncertainty as to the extent of construction activity which would prevail throughout the land. Now construction is proceeding at an almost unprecedented rate in the building of dwellings, apartment houses, magnificent hotels, office buildings, banks, churches and schools; and practically in every other line of construction work, activity is vigorously under way.

Then the railroads had ordered very few locomotives and cars. Now the car and locomotive shops are crowded with orders from railroads which will tax many of them to their capacity for months to come.

Then the railroad officials were in despair, not knowing how they would be able to meet their obligations and expand their facilities to take care of the traffic. Now the railroads are working on safe ground, with a margin of profit which will enable them to finance for great improvements and an increase in rolling stock beyond anything which they had been doing for six or seven years.

Then the iron and steel and kindred interests were at a very low depth. Dullness, depression and almost despair ruled in many an office of companies big and little. Now the demand for iron and steel products exceeds the output, and everybody is busy and happy.

Then cotton was low and every bale sold increased the poverty of the growers. Now cotton is higher and every bale sold yields a fair margin of profit to most producers.

Then the farmers of the West, like those of the South, were suffering in dire poverty. Now increased prices for wheat and corn and cattle and hogs have lifted many millions of dollars of indebtedness and encouraged the Western farmers, as well as Southern farmers, to go ahead with their work.

These are but a few of the striking things which indicate the wonderful change that has taken place in nearly every line of business and in every section of the country.

But more than this is the realization of the fact that the tide has completely turned, that the wrecks strewn on the shores of the business ocean of this land are being cleared away by the rising flood of improvement in business conditions.

If the legislature would concern itself more with the problem of how to levy less taxes, instead of devising means for more taxes, the poor taxpayers would be better satisfied. In the eyes of the average citizen the biennial session of the legislature is merely night-mare that could be eliminated without waste.

The Anti Saloon League head says that buyers of illicit liquor are equally guilty with sellers. Granted, but the law enforcing bodies seem to more than have their hands full in dealing with the sellers, without taking on the buyers.

"A PURITAN WIFE"

BY JANE PHELPS

Just the kind of a girl to have on a ranch. Ann had no reply but sighed a bit as she thought of her frailness. She was practically well, but she tired easily and long walks were beyond her. The care of her little home and helping Dick with his accounts, took all her strength.

The next morning, Dick, his sunny loving self, Ann took herself to task for her unkind thoughts of Grace.

"I ought to be ashamed of myself," she said aloud as she went about her tasks. "The idea of letting a pretty girl upset me. Dick was only trying to be polite to Bessie's guest."

A day or two passed, then Ned, Bessie and Grace drove up to the ranch house. Ned was on his way to town to get the victrola. Dick was just starting for the grove, and Grace insisted upon going along, declaring she could walk miles without tiring. Dick looked sheepishly pleased and Ned called:

"Don't make love to 'er, Dick!"

"Don't you be silly, Ned!" Bessie said rather sharply for her. "Dick isn't so foolish."

"I don't know about that!" Ned laughed. "Anyway it was my duty to warn him." Then he drove off, leaving Bessie and Ann standing in the doorway. Dick and Grace Edmunds rapidly disappeared beneath the orange trees. As they went into the house Bessie said in a tense voice:

"Oh, I wish she hadn't come!"

"Why, Bessie! Hasn't don't you like her?" Ann asked.

"No, I hate her! She visited us once before, two years ago, when we were first married. She tried to keep Ned with her every minute she stayed. I might as well have been a dummy for all the difference I made to her. I never said a word, pretended I didn't notice. But it hurt me dreadfully. She only stayed two weeks then. Now she is to stay for months perhaps. Her people have gone to South America—her father has business there that may keep him. He wrote Ned asking us to take her, and without saying anything to me until after he had answered the letter, he told me we would keep her gladly until they returned. She has brought a trunkful of the loveliest clothes and a riding habit. She told Ned at breakfast this morning he must get her a horse to ride, and he promised. I love to ride but he has always said he couldn't afford a saddle horse for me. Grace is the type of girl that gets everything she wants. I believe Ned would sell the ranch if she asked him to."

"She's probably been spoiled," Ann said. "She is so pretty, and irresponsible. But Ned is true blue, Bessie. Try not to think she will make trouble. I am sure she won't."

Yet even as Ann spoke her gaze wandered through the window in the direction Grace and Dick had taken.

"She's dangerous, Ann! I don't trust her. She flirts with every man she meets. And a woman means nothing to her. Ned and I were so happy, and she's only been here three days and already he scarcely knows I'm alive. She monopolizes the conversation, his time, him. There I've got it out of my system. Ann, we won't talk about her any more."

"I've had a coking good time, Dick. I'll keep you company often."

life Ann felt a little stab of jealousy, for the first time was envious of another's beauty.

But when they left she cordially seconded Dick's invitation to visit them, although she had not left quite pleased when he said: "You must call us Dick and Ann, and consider our ranch a second home while you are here."

"All right, Dick! I shall take you at your word," the girl replied with a coquettish glance.

Chapter 6.

"She's a beauty isn't she?" Dick said as Ann settled herself beside him in the flivver. "She'll make things lively for us all."

"Yes, she is very beautiful," Ann replied. "The prettiest girl I have ever seen, I think."

Until they drove into the rude shack where Dick kept the car, he never ceased talking of Grace, praising her beauty, her cleverness. Over and over he spoke of the addition she would be to their little quartette.

"Ned will have to invite some of the young men so we'll be an even number," Ann suggested.

"I don't see why! I guess Ned and I can take care of the three of you," Dick quickly replied.

Ann said no more, but again that little jealous feeling—a feeling of which she was ashamed—assailed her. She would not admit it even to herself, so answered more warmly than she otherwise would have done:

"Of course you two big fellows can take care of us, I only thought it would make things more lively for her."

"She'll make things lively enough! She is fairly overdoing with health and good spirits."

BASEBALL FANS AWAIT SUMMER

Manager DeHut Is Sign- ing Up Old Stars and Some New Ones.

Bring on your summer weather.
Manistique's 1923 baseball team is practically complete. The announcement was made yesterday by William DeHut, manager of the Manistique American Legion baseball club, who has recently communicated with nearly every man who played on last year's U. P. championship team, and most of these men have pledged their intention to play ball here again this summer. There are also some new men to be taken on this year.

Four Pitchers

The pitching staff now includes four men. Grutendun of Marquette; Vasson of Manistique; Doe Schattsman, the local chiropractor, and Spitzer, employed at the Charcoal Iron company here.

Harry Potter of this city now at school, will be the regular catcher, though one of the other men will start the early part of the season until Potter's return from school. "Burr" Eshbault, who has just returned from first base, will be placed at that position again this year by his own request.

Charlie Burns, who finished the season at second base last year, will be shifted to third, where he is a wonder, and George Bruckmayer, the trombone artist, will cover the second base territory. Bruckmayer played with a traveling nine last season.

This leaves one infield position, shortstop, which is slated for "Red" Page, who showed what he could do at short in one game the latter part of the 1922 season. Charles Meyers, right fielder, is not in the city at the present time, but is expected to arrive here for the opening of the lake fishing season and wants to take his old place in the right garden. Left field will probably go to Bill Norton of this city. No name has yet been mentioned in connection with the center field position though it is known that the club is considering a man who is a wizard with the stick.

Yellow Stationery

An order of specially printed stationery has just been delivered to the club. This is of a bright circus yellow, attractively printed. In the words of the manager, "our stationery is the only thing about the club that is yellow."

On the letter head appears the following names of officers and directors of the club: R. W. Goodwillie, president; W. J. Shinar, treasurer; Sylvan Rubin, secretary; William Dehut, manager; John Hayden, Charles Jansson, Benjamin Gore and Theodore Montgomery.

PARTY FOR MUSICAL

Mrs. Joseph Bruckmayer entertained Sunday evening at her home on Adams Avenue in honor of George Bruckmayer, who arrived here recently from Sioux City, Iowa, where he finished a season as a musician with Clark's Uncle Tom's Cabin show. The guests played and enjoyed a delicious lunch served by Mrs. Bruckmayer. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. James Call, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Watson, Mr. and Mrs. William Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian Weber, Mr. Joseph Bruckmayer, Charles Honeb, George Bruckmayer and Claude and George Westlund.

Coffey-Busch Team Wins Bowling Meet

First round in the Braunt "Avery-Rooney" doubles bowling contest was awarded to the Coffey-Busch duo, following the closing session of the ten day tournament on Saturday night. The three awards were made for the following scores: Coffey-Busch, 1111; Bonell-Olesak, 1129; Malloy Grapions 1109.

John Malloy won the high individual score prize with his 592 for three games, a 197 average, and a break second with 584.

VALENTINO WILL BE STAR IN NEW GERO PROGRAM

Handsomeness Has Had a Varied Career

The Manistique picture fans will get another glimpse of Rudolf Valentino at the Gero theater tonight when the dark hero appears in the "Conquering Power."

This star has had a wide and varied career in other fields than moving pictures. Mr. Valentino was born in Italy 27 years ago and received his early education in the public schools of Italy later attending the Royal Military College of Agriculture at Genoa.

Turas to Dancing

At the age of 18, he came to the United States, intending to go into practice, some of the knowledge of farming acquired at the agricultural college of his native land. Instead he turned his attention to dancing, and soon gained an enviable reputation as a professional entertainer. He was the partner of Bonnie Glass, famous dancer, with whom he appeared at DeWitt's. Later they appeared at the Winter Gardens, where their success was so marked that they were signed for a vaudeville tour of the Orpheum circuit.

In Many Hits

Mr. Valentino's first appearance was with Max Murray in "The Big Little Person" and "The Delicious Little Devil." He appeared in numerous other pictures, including "Eyes of Youth" with Clara Kimball Young and "Man-Woman Marriage" with Dorothy Phillips. When Rex Ingram began casting for a suitable player to enact the difficult role of Juba the hero of the Four Horsemen, he immediately sought Mr. Valentino.

WELSH SINGERS PROMISE GREAT ENTERTAINMENT

A rare entertainment is promised those who attend the concert at the High school auditorium tonight, given by the Dinevor Welsh Concert company.

The company pleased immensely at the Soo last night, and will render the same program here. They are expected to arrive this afternoon, and will go from here to Gladstone for a third concert.

To Manistique people to have heard Welsh concert singing, the company needs no further recommendation than the fact that they are Welsh singers.

Local Knights of Pythias have taken charge of the ticket sales, and the proceeds of the concert are to go for the Great Lakes Mission at the Soo, an institution which is now giving a home to seven school-age county dependent children. Indications are that the company will be greeted by a splendid home.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Natural Color and Lustre At Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients a large bottle, at little cost, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, tak-

TRAIN SERVICE "SHOT" AGAIN BY SNOWDRIFTS

Passengers Have A Long Wait for "Rattlers"

Train service was held up at Manistique again Tuesday on account of the March snow storm and heavy winds, causing drifts east and west of here that blocked traffic on the Soo line.

A snow plow preceded Train 8, and the Flier was held here until the road was reported clear by the plow. Consequently passengers from Manistique who planned to leave on the east-bound train at 7 in the morning were given a long wait, and the second morning train had not yet arrived when the first left for the Soo.

Bad drifts were reported west at Ishabella, which almost stopped the first train, even though it had been preceded by the snow plow.

REPRESENTED AT EXHIBIT

Gladstone will be among the 12 cities of the upper peninsula to be represented at the Travel and Outdoor Life Exposition to be held from May 7 to May 12 at the Coliseum in Chicago, which will also be attended in various sections of the country interested in encouraging tourist traffic.

A 40-foot frontage at the Coliseum has been secured by the Upper Peninsula Development bureau for the display from the communities from the upper peninsula, which in addition to this city, will include Escanaba, Manistique, Hancock, Houghton, Marquette. The purpose is to introduce Cloverland to the United States as an inviting spot to all tourists.

The exposition will have displays covering travel by rail, water, air and automobile. Commercial clubs and booster organizations of the upper peninsula cities were represented at the bureau meeting at which the subject was taken up. The plans discussed at this meeting cover the biggest advertising effort ever put forth for Cloverland.

All details for the Cloverland representation have not been completed but all arrangements will have been made before the opening on May 7. It has been determined to have a large map of this section displayed in the space for Cloverland, for the information of the tourists from all parts of the United States who will attend the exposition. IMPRESSIVE SERVICE IS HELD TUESDAY

One of the most solemn and impressive funeral services held in Gladstone in some time was that of Tuesday morning when double services were held for Mrs. Alonzo Miller, who died Saturday, and her aged mother, Mrs. Eleanor Archambeau, who passed away Sunday night, only a few hours later. The funeral service was held at 9 o'clock at All Saints' church, the Rev. Father O. J. Bennett offering the requiem high mass.

The church was crowded with relatives and friends of the family whose most sincere sympathy went out to the members of the bereaved family who had suffered two losses within so short a time. Members of the Foresters and children of the Miller children's school classes attended in a body. Beautiful floral offerings which were received in abundance also gave evidence of the esteem in which the mother and daughter were held.

During the solemn services, special music was sung by the choir.

J. C. McClair sang "Face to Face" and Mrs. George Casey sang "On This Day, Oh Beautiful Mother," the beauty of the voices and the depth of emotion expressed, bringing tears to the eyes of everyone present.

The funeral sermon delivered by the Rev. Fr. Bennett was an eloquent tribute to the lives and characters of the mother who had left her grief stricken husband and five children and of the aged mother, who had been a patient invalid for so long.

Following the church ceremony the funeral procession went to Fernwood cemetery for the interment of the bodies, the trip to the foot of the hill being made in automobiles and from there on sleighs, because of the snow drifts.

Pal bearers who carried the body of Mrs. Miller were: George Pease, Jr., George Pease, Sr., Edward Miller, Forest J. Miller, Harold Miller, Norman Kee. SCHOOL CENSUS TO BE MADE BY E. H. S. STUDENTS

Sociology Class to Begin the Work Soon

Principal R. E. Cheney's sociology class at Escanaba high school will take the school census in Escanaba this year, it was announced yesterday. Mr. Cheney recently offered the services of the class, which is made up of 37 members of the Senior class, to the school board for the purpose of census enumeration. The board's acceptance was made known last night.

In addition to listing the number of children in Escanaba between the ages of 5 and 20 years, the class will make a survey of housing conditions, the number of families in each house, and collect other data that will prove valuable.

The census taking will begin as soon as weather conditions will permit.

COUNTY TO PAY FOR DEAD SHEEP

Three interesting bills to be presented to the county board of supervisors today will be those offered to Bay de Noc township farmers for a total of $123, as damages for sheep killed by dogs in that township. The claimants are John Norman, who lost three ewes and a lamb, Mrs. Hans Simonsen who lost four ewes and two lambs and George Lorenson who lost two ewes. The bills were before presented for payment to the supervisors and were refused because it could not be shown that the tax had been paid on the dogs that killed the sheep, as under the old law damages for sheep killed were paid out of the dog tax fund. Under the new law after prescribed steps have been complied with, damages are paid out of the general fund of the county.

SAWDY WILL RETURN TODAY

L. G. Sawdy, superintendent of the Escanaba plant of the Steele-Wallace corporation, formerly the Escanaba Manufacturing Company, is expected to return to Escanaba today after an inspection trip to another of the corporation's plants at Rickwood, W. Va. Mr. Sawdy left Escanaba last week and spent several days going over the work being accomplished in the various departments of the Rickwood mill. The West Virginia plant approaches the capacity of the Escanaba plant in the production of clothes pins, but in all other departments the local mill has a much greater capacity.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT. More times than could be counted Priscilla Dean has been referred to as "the vital emotionalist of the screen."

Critics, regardless of their differences of opinion regarding minor details of technique, have been almost unanimous in proclaiming the Universal Jewel star "The Dean of emotionalists."

Direct, masculine, forceful in her emotional punch, Priscilla Dean has gained a unique rating among the actresses of the world "who really count." Because of her peculiar freedom from mannerisms and inane gesturing tendencies, the common fault of screen beauties, she stands alone in her style of art, exemplified perfectly in "Under Two Flags" at the Delft Theater again today.

Miss Dean is an intellectual, but a democratic one. Her taste in all the arts is as broad as the subject themselves. Concerned only with ultimate beauty, she does not denounce as "unworthy" or "trifling" a creation which fails to suit her particular fancy. She is an outdoor woman, of course; how could she not be and still show such remarkable vivacity and vigor in her pictures? In all her career, no story has touched her heart so closely as the immortal tragedy of Cigarette, the girl Ouida fate-marked in "Under Two Flags," and who was created in the living image on the stage by Blanche Bates and other celebrated actresses. "Under Two Flags" was filmed as a Universal-Jewel special, directed by Tod Browning and with James Kirkwood, John Davidson, Stuart Holmes, Ethel Grey Terry and other prominent artists supporting Miss Dean.

THRIFT TAUGHT THRU SAVINGS NOW OFFERED

Government Savings Certificates Offer Safe Investments.

Washington, March 27.—"If I could send a message into every home in the country," said Lew Wallace, Jr., Director of the United States Government Savings System, "it would embody the essence of all the wise advice of the world's sages on the subject of saving, including that most necessary advice to avoid the plausible, sleek, insinuating person with something to sell which will make cents grow into dollars as if by magic. I would say to the people that any financial proposition that must be rushed through on the spur of the moment, that cannot stand inquiry and investigation, can be set down as questionable and unsafe."

Story Oft Repeated. "It would seem that anybody from the cradle to the grave, has been told over and over again the benefits of saving, but the advice cannot be repeated too often. The United States Government Savings System hopes to bring to every home the advantages of thrift, and to this end it has provided a means of saving in Treasury Savings Certificates. They are securities backed by the credit of the nation, put out in denominations within the reach of all, and yielding a good interest return. The Government does not ask you to invest without investigating, and in a booklet recently issued it tells all about these saving securities, and just what the purchaser of savings certificates will get for his money."

"The Government entered the savings field with Postal Savings to accommodate a large class of people; it enlarged that field during the war by selling War Savings Stamps; it now continues in the savings field to meet a demand of the people which cannot go unheeded. The widespread success of the Government Savings System thus far is the best reason for its existence, and for the Treasury Department's further efforts to make the United States a saving nation."

SUPERVISORS WILL PUT IN A BUSY DAY Many Important Matters Will Get Action Here Today

Although it is believed when the session was called that the annual March meeting of the Delta county board of supervisors, opening here today, would be devoted largely to the transaction of routine business, it is now certain that a number of special matters will come before the county's governing body.

Among the important matters to be considered will be the stand to be taken by Delta county on legislation proposed in the state legislature looking to the solution of the Michigan bank law. It is expected that E. C. Voght, president of the Michigan Congress of Game Clubs and of the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's Association, will appear before the supervisors here today to make an appeal against interference with the present bank law.

Supervisors of the county will also be expected today to express the sentiment of this county on the bill now before the state legislature for the adoption of Eastern time as the official time for the state of Michigan.

Having completed the plowing out of the snow on the highway the entire distance to Whitetale, the Schoolcraft County monster snowplow began yesterday on the west road, where it is planned to plow as far as Cooks.

Sleigh traffic to and from Cooks has been hampered by the deeply drifted snow, which prevented farmers from hauling loads of any kind to this city.

The highway is opened to a width of about 16 feet on the first trip of the ten-ton Holt, which climbs over the drifts with some difficulty in certain sections of the road. On the return trip, the wings are widened, and an additional slice in depth is also made.

It is now possible to travel with autos as far as the W. Lee Woods farm. Beyond that, the depth of the snow in the hill cuts will prevent auto traffic for some time. These places will be opened later, when other parts of the road are fit for auto traffic.

The sub-district oratorical and declamatory contest, in which Escanaba high school speakers will participate, will be held April 6. It was announced at the high school yesterday. trict high school oratorical organization, whom will have the final decision.

GOOD FRIDAY.

In England a particular virtue dwells in Good Friday as a seed-sowing day, especially for mig-nonette and parsley, which (so the legend runs) if sown on any other day goes nine times to the devil before making its belated appearance above the ground. In Southern Europe the magic has for centuries attached to Feb. 6, Petrarch, in the year when he lent his lovely villa near Avignon—with its groves sacred, the one to Apollo and the other to Bacchus—to his friend Guido Sottimo, archdeacon of Genoa, he wrote specially to remind him to go on with his work in tree-planting and seed-sowing. "I have been told," he says, "by the oldest inhabitants of the place, more especially by my own servant, who is most experienced in agricultural matters, that whatever is planted on the 6th, February always flourishes and is never affected by any evil influences. So when the day comes round, especially if it falls under a good moon, be sure to plant some new tree in the garden, in order that, if we are allowed to spend our old age in this spot, your tree may be fairer and its foliage thicker than that of any other."

HUDSON STUCK.

On the north bank of the Yukon River, four miles inside the Arctic Circle, stands a giant cross of granite. At the foot of the giant cross almost any day one may see some pilgrim kneeling in prayer, for this cross is in memory of Hudson Stuck, explorer, and archdeacon of the Yukon. Hudson Stuck was made deacon of the Yukon in 1904, and from that time until his death two years ago, he worked far from civilized trails. It was by his wish that he was buried in the native graveyard at Fort Yukon. The tribes from Stephen's Vi-

lage, 150 miles down the Yukon from Tanana, and 365 miles south of Fort Yukon, from Birch, from Eagle, 240 miles in the other direction, and from the villages of Indians and Eskimos on the Chandalar, 300 miles to the northwest—from all these come men to offer their prayers.
