AMERICA WILL STAY OUT OF TURKISH OIL

NO REASON FOR U. S. TAKING HAND IN DISPUTE.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE.

(Copyright, 1933, by The Escanaba Press) Washington, April 13.—The United States government will not get its fingers into Turkish oil.

All the fears of Great Britain and France, as reflected in cable dispatches in the last twenty-four hours, that the American government was about to be plunged into a diplomatic battle over the merits of the oil concession controversy in the Near East were swept aside today as premature apprehensions.

The American government, it was officially announced, is by no means a party to the conflict which has arisen between certain American citizens who have just obtained from the Turkish nationalist government a valuable concession and the governments of Great Britain and France which through their national claims they had prior rights.

Ought To Be Valid.

The department of state feels that whether the concessions granted rear Admiral Chester U. S. N. retired, and his American associates, are valid ought to be resolved by an impartial tribunal. This was the suggestion made at the Lausanne conference by American Ambassador Richard Washburn Child at the instance of Secretary Hughes and it holds good today.

There is nothing on the horizon either so far as government officials here can see which need justify the fear of American political entanglements in the Near East. Whenever American citizens acquire rights in any part of the globe, the American government feels a natural gratification. If those rights are contested, the department of state merely intervenes to see that an equitable adjustment is made and that justice is done. It is not until private parties to any controversy abroad exhaust their opportunity to get a settlement and claim that justice has been done that the full diplomatic support of the department of state can be enlisted. This is not a new policy—it is the traditional course of the department of state and will be followed in the future.

U. S. Still Has Voice.

In other words, the American capitalists who have just obtained the valuable concessions in Turkey will be expected to iron out their difficulties directly with the other parties, the American government merely assisting in the setting up of some competent arbitral tribunal. If that tribunal should decide against the Americans, that would be the last the United States government would do about the case.

But there are certain aspects of the Chester concession which bear directly on recent disputes which the American government has had with its allies concerning the administration of so-called mandated territory. It was officially explained, for instance, today that since the Chester concession provides for a railroad to penetrate territory supposed to be under British mandate, the meaning of these mandates or trusteeships may come into the discussion. The United States doesn't understand that the class of mandates or charters involved in this case have been ratified by the league of nations which bestows them nor have they been approved by the American government which claims an equal right to a voice in these mandates even though America isn't a member of the league. The right is claimed on the theory that the United States was a member of the partnership of victorious nations which conquered German territory and that all mandates issued should at least guarantee Americans an equal opportunity in their commercial ventures as compared with the citizens of the other interested powers.

Tied Up At Lausanne.

The department of state reiterates also that a mandate should never embrace appropriation or exploitation of the resources of the mandated country but simply should be confined to political administration and government of the region and peoples affected. The Turks, therefore, under this view, would have the right to grant a concession since they have wrested the territory from the peoples who were previously to have been governed by a mandate.

The entire question is tied up with other matters which are to be settled at the Lausanne conference on near eastern affairs but it is considered quite likely the Turks favored the American

HOUSE TO VOTE ON "ESCANABA" BILL TUESDAY

THE state house of representatives, a committee of the whole, on Friday night recommended the "Escanaba equal school opportunity bill" for passage on third reading Tuesday.

"No difficulties were encountered and the bill is receiving the support of new converts daily," according to a message received by the Press last night from O. I. Bantzen, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, who is now in the state capital looking after the interests of the measure.

Other reports from Lansing yesterday indicated that the bill's chances in the house were steadily growing more favorable.

DETAILS FOR SHOW COMPLETE

Doors to Open for First Afternoon of Tuesday.

Only minor details now remain to be fixed in plans for Escanaba's first annual Auto-Radio show to be conducted at the Coliseum on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week.

President W. H. Nædham, of the Escanaba Auto-Radio Show Association yesterday announced that only the arrangement of favorable weather conditions remains to assure one of the most successful exhibitions in the history of the northwest.

All Are Cooperating.

"All of our members have entered into the spirit of the undertaking in a manner that leaves nothing to be desired. The displays of automobiles, accessories and radio equipment will prove one of the most complete ever assembled in any city of the northwest. In fact, the show will be decidedly something worth seeing and I am certain that the people of Escanaba, Gladstone and a wide surrounding district will demonstrate their appreciation by recording large attendance records each afternoon and evening.

Plan Special Attractions.

"In addition to the displays we have arranged special attractions for each afternoon and evening. Two orchestras have been engaged and special musical numbers and stunts will be arranged. In addition, each night we will award a door prize of $100 that may be won by purchasing or applying on the purchase of any part of the stock carried by the exhibitor in the building. I am sure that this feature will be the means of attracting patronage from a particularly wide district, as the plan is most unique and will be bound to appeal to a host of people."

The auto-radio show will be thrown open to the public for the first time on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and will be open to the public each afternoon and evening from that time to the close of the big show.

PACKERS RAISE WORKERS' PAY

Chicago, April 13.—(By the Associated Press)—The wages of approximately 200,000 workers in the packing industry throughout the United States were increased an average of 10 percent today through the action of employee representatives sitting in plant assemblies.

In addition to the increase in wages, vacations at full pay were given to the hourly paid employees with the option of extra pay at the usual rates if they remained at work during the vacation period.

The decision on the pay increase was reached by representatives of the management and of the workers functioning through employee representation plans in vogue at the Armour, Swift and Wilson plants and known as "industrial democracy."

Adds $2,500,000.

The system of employee representation as an alternative for trade unionism received its first trial in November 1921, when the plant assemblies voted a wage reduction of 10 percent. The representation plan was assailed at that time as a device for reducing wages.

More than $2,500,000 yearly will be added to the payroll of Armour & Co. alone by the increases, it was said.

The greatest speed ever achieved in reading was that of a famous man of learning who could read and remember more than fifty words a second. He is said to have read six novels a day.

EXTENSION OF FORCE IN RUHR ZONE OUTLINED

FRANCE AND BELGIUM TO CONTINUE EFFORTS.

Paris, April 13. (By the Associated Press).—The French and Belgian government ministers at their meeting here this afternoon decided upon new measures of pressure to be applied to Germany if she remains unyielding on the reparations question. The nature of the measures was not disclosed, but the ministers announced in an official communique that they are determined to continue pressure until the Berlin government makes direct overtures for a settlement.

Premiers and Experts.

The meeting was participated in by Premiers Poincare and Thelouis, various members of their cabinets interested in reparations problems and a number of experts. As in the case of the recent conference at Brussels, the session was largely devoted to technical questions in connection with the occupation of the Ruhr and the efforts to make the guarantees seized there productive. The ministers had before them two complete reports on the occupation to date, with details of all the costs and of the movement of fuel. These reports were reviewed at some length, but it was impossible to complete their consideration today and the work will be continued tomorrow with sessions probably both in the morning and afternoon.

Wait for Proposition.

The allied representatives confined themselves to discussion of the details of the occupation and the principle that it will be continued and extended until Germany yields, and it is authorized to state that "nothing else will be considered at the conference. France and Belgium have no intention of elaborating a plan of settlement, it is said, because when the time comes to consider any proposition Germany may make, it will be necessary that the British take part in the conversations.

There are many among the well informed French politicians who believe the time will come when it will be necessary to let the French people know they cannot expect all from Germany that France thinks she ought to pay, but that time, they say, will be when Germany has shown some disposition to do what she can.

INDICT TWO IN CHAPMAN PROBE

Athens, Ga., April 13.—(By the Associated Press).—Federal authorities announced late today that they plan to bring Dominick Didato and Abe Silverstein from New York immediately and place them on trial in United States court here Monday, April 23, on the charge of having aided Gerald Chapman, million dollar mail robber to escape from the Athens hospital April 4.

Authorities said these two were the only ones indicted by the federal grand jury here in connection with the escape. They were registered at an Athens hotel the day of Chapman's escape as J. Karuse of Boston and Abe Chon of New York.

The indictments were returned yesterday and the two men were arrested in New York late today. They were traced from Athens to New York the night Chapman disappeared from the hospital. Chapman is still believed by authorities to be in or near Athens.

Wheeler Asks for "Specific Charges"

Washington, April 13.—Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the anti-saloon league, said tonight he had received a telegram from H. C. Harris of Spokane, Wash., asking what he was going to do with charges, made in newspaper articles, by Mrs. Miles Polinder, wife of the new ambassador to Peru, concerning gambling and drinking in society circles of the capital. Mr. Harris, in his message, said that "no coat of whitewash can hide the fact" that Mrs. Polinder had "indicted Washington official society."

Mr. Wheeler did reply urged Harris to send "specific charges and data concerning violations of law by society leaders in Washington." Original prosecution, he added, can be initiated only on specific charges.

PRIEST WANTS TO SERVE TERM FOR SHOOTING

Sanity Hearing Asked by Counsel for Kalamazoo Clergyman.

Kalamazoo, Mich., April 13.—Arraignment of Fr. Charles Dillon, charged with the murder last night of his superior, Rev. Fr. Henry O'Neill, pastor of St. Augustine's parish, was postponed late today at the direction of Judge Weimer in circuit court until Monday.

Postponement was granted at the request of counsel for Fr. Dillon, although the request had made known his willingness to enter a plea of guilty to a charge of first degree murder. It was indicated that alienists might inquire into the sanity of the accused man.

Wants To Go To Jail.

Fr. Dillon, a member of the Carthusian order and formerly a missionary of the church in many countries, declared today that he wants to go to once to Marquette or Jackson, and insists he is perfectly sane, and remains calm and manifestly no sign of remorse because of his deed.

Fr. McCullough, the only eye witness of the shooting, made a statement to officers today. He said the quarrel between the two priests originated as follows: "When we were seated at the dinner table last night, Fr. Dillon appeared morose. Finally, he burst out addressing Fr. O'Neill, 'you'd like to get me out of here, wouldn't you?'"

Fr. O'Neill replied: "You are under no compulsion to remain." Fr. McCullough said that Fr. Dillon then left the room, returning with the revolver with which he killed Fr. O'Neill.

IRISH FRAME FIRST BUDGET

Dublin, April 13.—(By the Associated Press).—The introduction in the Dail Eireann today of the first budget of the Free State government, which forecasts a deficit of 20,000,000 pounds has awakened little public interest. The receipts for this year are estimated at 26,500,000 pounds and the expenditures at 46,500,000 pounds. The upkeep of the army and compensation for damage done by the irregulars accounts for more than half of the expenditure estimate.

William Cosgrave, the president, expressed confidence that an Irish loan could be raised in Ireland. He also evinced satisfaction over what he termed the failure of the republicans in their attacks on the state. The members of the Dail received the budget favorably. Nobody had expected any remissions in taxation, and there was relief over the statement that the deficit would not compel any increase.

Farm Population of Country Falls Off

Washington, April 13.—A decrease during 1932 of approximately 460,000 persons in the agricultural population of the United States was reported today by the department of agriculture which said its figures were based on a survey of 10,000 representative farms and groups of farms. The estimate, which included not only workers, but men, women and children living on farms, showed a decrease of about one and five tenths percent from the 1920 census, which placed the agricultural population in rural districts at 31,359,000 persons. The population movement away from the farm, the department stated, was strongest in the Pacific states.

Women Voters Divide Along Strict Party Lines as Vote on World Court Draws Near

Des Moines, Iowa, April 13.—(By the Associated Press)—Polling lines were clearly drawn in debate this afternoon before the annual convention of the National League of Women Voters on the proposed resolutions that the league go on record as favoring participation by the United States in the permanent court of international justice as recommended by President Harding. Debate on the subject continued for more than an hour over proposed amendments and substitute resolutions but at the hour of adjournment no vote had been taken to indicate how the delegates will line up tomorrow in voting on rejection or adoption of the resolution.

LOUISIANA TO PUSH CHARGES INFORMATION FILED IN MOREHOUSE BY COCO.

New Orleans, La., April 13.—Thirty-one bills of information charging more than a dozen citizens of Morehouse Parish with various crimes as a result of the activities of masked bands in the parish last year were drawn today by Attorney General A. V. Coco and delivered to District Attorney David Garrett to be filed at Bastrop, according to the New Orleans Times-Picayune. Persons named in the bills, the newspaper declares, include Captain J. K. Skipwith, exalted cyclops of the Morehouse parish Ku Klux Klan, his son Oliver, Dr. R. M. McKoin, former mayor of Mer Rouge, "New" Gray, and T. J. Burnett, former Morehouse deputy sheriff.

Arises from Fillings. Burnett, Oliver Skipwith and Gray were named by witnesses at the open hearing in Bastrop in January as having been recognized as members of the hooded band which on August 24 kidnapped Watt Dahlo and T. F. Richard who were not heard of again until Dec. 22, when two bodies which rose to the surface of Lake LaPouche were identified as theirs.

SENATE PASSES ATWOOD'S BILL

Lansing, April 13.—The Atwood bill, placing commercial trucks and buses engaged in the business of carrying passengers and freight for hire in the class of common carriers and putting them under the jurisdiction of the state public utilities commission passed the senate today.

The only other bill to pass the upper house was the forest fire fighting bill introduced by Senator Glaspie of Pontiac. Fourteen measures were advanced to third reading to the committee of the whole, while the Johnson bill providing for a reduction in automobile license fees on the basis of the gasoline tax estimated revenue, was discussed by the committee but passed for the day.

Sacco's Defense to Continue Battle

Boston, April 13.—The long struggle to bring about a new trial for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, convicted in 1921 of the murder of a paymaster and guard at South Braintree, will be continued in spite of Sacco's new legal status, Fred H. Moore, of counsel for the defense, announced tonight. A report of alienists made public last night declared Sacco insane and recommended that he be committed to a hospital for mental diseases.

Weeks Hears Plaint of Anti-War Group

Washington, April 13.—A group of men and women affiliated with the National Council for Prevention of War had a conference today with Secretary Weeks, during which they explained the aims of their organization and reiterated charges that Brig. Gen. Fries, chief of the chemical warfare department, had made unwarranted attacks on the council in the course of public addresses. After the conference, Secretary Weeks issued a statement in which he said he had told members of the delegation that while he did not "accuse them of being loyal citizens" he was "afraid they were engaged in endeavors which were giving succor and aid to those who were disloyal."

ITALY OFFERS TO SEND FARM HELP TO U. S.

Hope for Slackening of Restrictions to Aid During Shortage.

Washington, April 13.—Prince Cacioli, the Italian ambassador, is expected soon to formally notify the state department and the department of labor that Italy stands ready to supply on short notice the 19 percent deficit in farm labor reported recently by the department of agriculture. The best brand of hand-picked farmers would be offered. The ambassador already has indicated the desire of his country to send its surplus population to America under conditions as to the character of the immigrant that will meet the requirements of sections of this country where laborers are needed.

Existing law prevents the acceptance of any considerable number of Italian immigrants, but Secretary Davis already has indicated he might recommend new legislation.

Whether Secretary Davis will look with favor on the Italian proposal, which has the strong backing of Premier Mussolini is problematical. The Italian position is based on a belief that the principle objection to unrestricted immigration is the unit character of the newcomers, and the ambassador is willing that the department of labor specify exactly the kind of immigration it wishes.

Girls Kiss "Vets" in Closing Parade

New Orleans, April 13.—(By the Associated Press).—Confederate veterans came into their own today with their parade, the concluding feature of the 33rd annual reunion.

Thousands upon thousands of Southerners acclaimed them as they traversed the streets of New Orleans in an automobile procession that required two hours and ten minutes to pass a given point. The crowds could not be held back by the police, but surged in to the street, and whenever opportunity offered, shook hands with the veterans.

Here and there matrons and girls who could not suppress their emotion, would approach cars stalled because of the traffic jam, put their arms about the necks of the old fellows and kiss them.

Producers Finance Classroom Movies

New York, April 13.—(By the Associated Press) Classroom movies, the dream of educators since Thomas A. Edison exhibited his first animated picture, was started toward actuality today when Will H. Hays, in behalf of the motion picture producers' association, gave the National Education Association $5,000 with which to make its first film.

The offer was made at a conference of leading motion picture makers with a committee of the education association, appointed at Boston last July, to discuss plans for the production and use of pictures suited to the work of the schools and to the wholesome entertainment of young people of school age.

Report Muriel Has Married Max; Her Parents Silent

Chicago, April 13.—Both Harold F. McCormick and Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick tonight refused to discuss printed reports that their daughter, Mathilde McCormick, 18 year old granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller, and Max Oser, 46 year old Swiss riding master, had been married secretly in London.

"Mrs. McCormick does not care to discuss the matter," said Mrs. McCormick's secretary. Mrs. McCormick obtained a decree of divorce a year and a half ago on the grounds of desertion and shortly afterwards announced her opposition to the engagement of her daughter to Oser. "Mr. McCormick does not like to refuse but he has adopted the policy of saying nothing whatever for publication. He has no statement to make concerning the present report," Mrs. McCormick's secretary said.

CULT BEGINS COURT BATTLE FOR EXISTENCE

WANT HANSELL CASE REOPENED; STATE CASE DROPPED.

Lansing, April 13.—The Israeli House of David today launched three attacks in as many cities of the state against the forces seeking to drive it out of Michigan.

The religious organization struck blows in federal and state courts and through its legal representative at Benton Harbor excommunicated those who have been leading the fight against it.

In circuit court here the colony asked that the state's quo warranto proceedings, filed recently to compel the cult to show cause why it should not be forced to discontinue operations in Michigan be dismissed.

Ask Reopening of Suit.

At Grand Rapids the colony filed a motion in United States district court asking that the suit brought against the colony by John Hansell and heard recently, be reopened, the colony claimed that additional sensational testimony favorable to the defendant had been uncovered.

At Benton Harbor, H. T. Dewhurst, member of the colony and the cult's chief counsel, in a formal statement asked if the public "believes we are rubes, born yesterday?" The statement was prompted by efforts of certain state legislators to bring about the appointment of a receivership for the House of David.

The colony asked that the state's proceedings be quashed on the following grounds: that the Ingham county circuit court is without jurisdiction; that such an action does not embrace the subject of individual morality of members or stockholders of a corporation and that no overt acts of immorality are set forth in the state's bill.

Claim Robbery Plot.

April 21 was set as the date for hearing arguments on the motion. In Grand Rapids the colony filed an affidavit signed by Cecil Loehr, of Benton Harbor, alleging Hansell, plaintiff in the federal court suit, had attempted to interest him in a plot to bomb the safe at the House of David headquarters and obtain the $300,000 to $400,000 believed to have been contained therein.

ANSWER FILED TO GOMPERS

New York, April 13.—Officials for the American Fund for Public Service tonight issued a statement asserting that the attack made up on it by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, was "clearly the result of his disappointment at not receiving money for an enterprise in which he is interested."

The reply, issued by Norman M. Thomas and Roger N. Baldwin, president and secretary of the fund, referred to the allegations of Mr. Gompers that the fund, administering the $800,000 inheritance turned over to it by Charles Garland of Boston, was being utilized by "reds."

The personnel and activities of this fund were given wide publicity in the public press about eight months ago," said the reply. "If Mr. Gompers thought we were a revolutionary organization with which it was improper for the labor movement to deal, he should have then warned his adherents. It comes with poor grace from him now to object to the character of the fund's trustees, after one of his enterprises has failed to receive the $100,000 it asked for.

Military Training Course Attacked

Madison, Wis., April 13.—Charges that the military department of the University of Wisconsin spread militaristic propaganda and that through a system of coercion student cadets were induced to sign a petition in favor of compulsory military training at the university, were made at a joint meeting of the education committee of the legislature this afternoon.

STATUE SLATED FOR WOMAN'S HALL OF FAME

Pronounced One of Best Ever Made By An American.

Washington—One of the first contributions to perpetuate the fame and achievements of modern woman now stands in the art gallery at the headquarters of the National Woman's Party here.

It is a statue typifying the "Thinking Woman," and symbolizing modern womanhood, a product of Miss Edith Ogden Heidel's chisel. Miss Heidel is a pupil of St. Gaudens, the famous sculptor, and in her presentation of the "Thinking Woman" had the famous "Le Penneur" of Rodin in mind.

The idea of an art gallery dedicated to modern woman and her achievements is the conception of the leaders of the National Woman's Party. Miss Alice Paul, at the head of this organization, is now turning her efforts toward the contribution of paintings and other works of art for the gallery.

Hall of Fame. "Thus it is planned, the greatest era of woman in the world's history, will be willed to the future in marble, bronze and canvas, as well as literature. Portraits of the great women prominent in the women's suffrage movement will decorate the walls of the gallery. Busts and full-length statues of women, as well as symbolic representations of the various activities of women, will be placed between these portraits along the walls.

As a new woman of a new woman's movement enters upon the scene of progress, Miss Heidel or some other noted woman sculptor or painter, will contribute another memorial to this hall of fame.

Miss Paul and her associates intend to make the age known to future generations as the greatest era of advancement to womanhood.

We have little or no word of woman's activities and her progress in the past," they say. "The future will be well supplied with records, paintings and other memorials so that history will not be without a chapter or more on woman's contribution to civilization."

HOME, SWEET HOME.

Melba, the famous prima donna, tells that when Lord Kitchener arrived in Australia he was so meted, and so many parties were given for him that she felt it would only be worrying him to write. However, she received a note from him. He said: "Don't you think it is making of you not to send me even a little line of welcome in your own country?" The result was that she dined with him and the governor-general and the governor of Victoria. After dinner the three men knelt before her. "I know what you want," she said, "but I won't." Kitchener drew her apart. "Madam," he said, "I have been an exile for eight years. Will you not sing just one verse of 'Home, Sweet Home'?"

Melba sat down at the piano, and when she had finished singing there was silence. Kitchener then came up and kissed her hand. And down his face two great tears were rolling. "And," says the prima donna, "if anybody tells me that Kitchener had no heart I have my answer ready."

Melba is an Australian. Indeed, her professional name Melba is taken from the town of Melbourne.

BAIRDFOOT KING.

The rank of a native ruler in the Dutch East Indies is blazoned to his admiring world by the number of gold bands he wears on his umbrella. The color of the umbrella also has its significance. He may be seen walking down a village street, barefooted, and preceded by an obsequious servant, carefully shading him with the parasol.

INJUNCTION KEEPS YOUTH IN UNIVERSITY

Athens, Ga.—Many and varied are the uses of the injunction. But it took J. R. Roberts, second-year law student at the University of Georgia, to use it to keep himself from getting "canned" from the university as the result of charges against him he says are false.

Roberts recently was summoned before the students' council of the university to answer two charges of "conduct unbecoming a student of Georgia."

The young student believed the council was going to recommend to the dean that he be suspended. So Roberts employed counsel and prayed Judge Blanton Fortson of the Superior Court for an injunction restraining the council and the dean from suspending him.

Roberts secured a temporary injunction. And now Judge Fortson has summoned Dean Charles N. Spelling and members of the students' council to appear before him and show cause why a permanent restraining order should not be issued.

"I'm not a law student for nothing," says Roberts.

OLD JEWISH TOWN.

The Jewish community of Worms claims to be the oldest in Germany. The earliest authentic mention of such a colony is in 585. In the Middle Ages the Jews of Worms had three grand rabbis—one at Prague, one at Frankfurt, and one at Worms—and by the privilege of the Emperor Ferdinand the last had precedence over the others. But according to tradition a colony of Jews had existed at Worms continuously since the Christian Era. They believed that Worms was a part of the Promised Land, and it was said that the Jewish cemetery there was made of soil brought from Jerusalem.

There is a curious legend that Jews of Worms were strongly against the Crucifixion, but that their message did not reach Jerusalem in time. Their synagogue, built in the Eleventh, and restored in the Thirteenth Century, is now completely modernized.

CASTE NO BAR.

There are four main castes in India—the Brahmins, Kshatriyas, Vaisyas and Sudras corresponding traditionally to the occupations of priest, warrior, trader and artisan. But though this would suggest that caste was at one time a class distinction, yet at the present day a caste may include all classes; save that of priests, which is reserved to the Brahmins. Caste is no bar to any occupation. A Vajrah may be a Sudra. His cook may be a Brahmin. The rajah is of a higher class than his cook, though of a very much lower caste. And though the Brahmin will cook the rajah's dinner, he will not eat it with him, or permit his daughter to marry the rajah.

NAHMA OFFICER PROMOTED TO LIEUT. COLONEL

Gen. Mosley Will Be Escanaba Visitor in May

News of the appointment of Charles E. Good of Nahma, from major to lieutenant colonel of Engineers, Officers Reserve Corps, was received in Escanaba yesterday. He took the examination for the new rank in Chicago a week ago before an examining board of four regular army officers and the speed with which the lieutenant colonel's commission was "put through" indicates that his military knowledge made a deep impression with the army men.

Col. Good will now be relieved of his duties as commanding officer of the second battalion, 357 Engineers, it was said. The battalion command will be given to Major Fred R. Harris, Escanaba city manager.

Capt. T. F. Kessler of this city will be assigned to the command of headquarters and service company.

Col. Good has been advised that General Mosely, commanding the sixth army corps, will be an Escanaba visitor early in May. Gen. Mosely will visit Detroit, Grand Rapids and Escanaba, en route on his Michigan inspection tour.

Four Rum Running Vessels Captured

New York, April 13.—Four rum running vessels carrying liquor cargoes estimated to be worth more than $1,000,000 were captured today by the "Gay Navy." The prize victim was the ocean going tug Peerless caught in the Narrows with a cargo of 800 cases of whiskey valued at $80,000.

MOTHER OF DIETS.

Worms has been called the "Mother of Diets." An important monument to Luther was erected in 1859, with figures of Peter Waldo, Wycliffe, Huss and Savonarola, and all the other heroes of the reforming spirit. The famous Diet was held in 1531. Dec. 10, 1520, Luther had burned the bull of excommunication that had been issued against him at Wittenberg. A few months later he was summoned by the newly elected German Emperor, Charles V, before the Diet of Worms. His friends did all they could to persuade him not to go. A league from Worms he was met by a company of 2,000 persons on foot and horseback, and when a messenger warned him of the danger he was encountered he said, "If there were as many devils in Worms as there are flies upon the roofs of its houses, I would go on." April 17, Luther appeared in the Imperial Diet and acknowledged all his writings, and on the following day made his defense.

America Will Send Observer to Confab

Washington, April 13.—American representation at Lausanne in the same form as was during the first sessions of the near east conference probably will be authorized by the Washington government when the congress reconvenes. This announcement was made today at the white house and it was interpreted in some quarters as indicating that Ambassador Child at Rome would return to Switzerland to act in the capacity of observer.

Georgetown Picks Up Earth Tremors

Washington, April 13.—Earth tremors of moderate intensity were recorded today by the Georgetown University seismograph. The disturbance began at 10:42 a. m. reached a maximum at 11:20 and died away at noon. Fr. Tondorf, in charge of the observatory, estimated that it was centered about 5,100 miles from Washington.

British Police Raid Three Towns

London, April 14.—Another secret raid upon persons suspected of plotting in behalf of the Irish Republican cause was made in London early this morning, according to the Daily Express. The paper mentions Grentham, Woolwich and Barmsey as the districts where five police operated.

AMERICA WILL STAY OUT OF TURKISH OIL

Business men on the theory that the United States would be allied with the Turks at the Lausanne treaty. This is based on the custom that prevails in Europe whenever nationals of a country get heavily interested in business ventures abroad.

Turks Need Money. The Harding administration which has tried to steer clear of foreign political entanglements will adopt a legal rather than political attitude toward the Chester concession and will not make of it the "big diplomatic incident" which Paris and London seem to think should be made of it in order to protect British and French oil interests in the Near East.

The Turks are in need of money. They have not been successful in getting it from Britain as the latter has insisted through its nationals on favorable oil concessions. This, however, involved a conflict with the interests of the French who have been friendly to the Turk. The United States on the other hand never declared war on Turkey and didn't in the recent unpleasantness antagonize the Turk.

Also America has money. The natural gaze of the poverty-stricken Turk is toward America and the concession to the Chester interests may have been viewed by the Turkish authorities as a tactical move especially on the eve of the Lausanne conference where America will again be represented by an influential though unofficial observer.

EGG COLORING.

The women who waited at home for the knights of the Round Table in the days when Merlin was the chief spellbinder, colored Easter eggs by the peck for those same knights, carefully painting designs on the shells and dyeing them brilliant colors. They used the wax-resisting process, similar to the system by which the most artistic designs are applied to modern blouses.

They colored a few hundred eggs, covering some with gold leaf, the others with etched designs. Besides using the batik method they etched out patterns, using the point of a penknife or a needle.

Getting the Easter eggs ornamented was no light job in Arthur's own England. Four hundred and fifty is set down in a social item of the day as being a smart number to decorate.

SUMMER FLOWERS.

Exaggerated types of flowers are very much in evidence this season in very flamboyant colors. Particularly on summer hats and for corsages are they appropriate.

Fire Hits General Motors Factory

Muskegon, Mich., April 13.—Fire late today destroyed the Heat Treating building of the Continental Motor corporation at an estimated loss of $30,000. The fire spread rapidly and the 50 men in the building did not have time to save their clothes. A strong east wind endangered the main plants of the corporation and resulted in a general alarm that brought out 11 fire fighting apparatus.

Bishop Tuttle Is Partly Conscious

St. Louis, Mo., April 13.—The Rt. Rev. Daniel S. Tuttle faintly regained consciousness of his household at times and then lapses into sinking spells when he does not recognize those at the bedside. The announcement added that the strong vitality of the aged prelate is declining steadily.

Spending a Million a Day For Live Stock

If you put a million dollars cash into your pocket every morning, and it was all spent by noon, you'd feel that you had been doing something people would be interested in hearing about, wouldn't you?

We spend on an average of a million dollars every morning of the year—Sundays and holidays excepted.

This money comes from the retail dealer and the consumer in exchange for products. With it we buy live stock. In our hands this live stock becomes meat and by-products, which through our widespread service of refrigerator cars and branch houses, becomes available to every consumer.

Our 1923 Year Book, just published, gives you our financial standing; it tells you that our profit from all sources for 1922 averaged only a fraction of a cent per pound and only 2 cents on each dollar of sales, and a great deal of other information about our business and the service which we render.

We shall be glad to mail you a copy if you will send us your address.

EX-TROOPER GUS NABBED IN TRAP, IRON MOUNTAIN

"Shakedown" Scheme Leads To His Arrest.

After spending Monday and Tuesday in Escanaba and failing in his purpose to "shake-down" liquor dealers of the city by impersonating an officer, Albert W. Gust, former member of the Michigan State Constabulary, went to Iron Mountain when he was taken in custody by officers of that city after he had collected $100 from one liquor dealer and was attempting to collect $125 from another.

During his stay in Escanaba, the former member of the constabulary approached soft drink parlor keepers in the west end of the city and attempted to collect various sums of money from them. Both the police and sheriff's departments were notified and a trap had been laid for Gust here, when he evidently learned that he was under surveillance and suddenly left the city.

WATCH HIM!

Kenneth Gibson is climbing rapidly toward film stardom. He served in every major offensive with the A. E. F. and now is headed "over the top" in movieland. His latest role is an important part in the Robertson-Cole production, "Daytime Wives." He is the son of Idaho McGil-Gibson, the famous newspaper woman.

Goes to Iron Mountain.
Gust's operations in Iron Mountain are believed to have been much larger than the two specific cases of which the authorities are aware, according to Prosecuting Attorney J. C. Knight, and a thorough investigation is underway.

The jailed man is believed to have gone there Tuesday night. He had a companion and they both declared they started to drive with an automobile from St. Paul to the peninsula but because of road conditions were forced to abandon the machine at Stevens Point, Wis. They came direct from Stevens Point to Escanaba.

Got $100, Claim.
Wednesday Gust is alleged to have visited Tony Loverich, proprietor of the American house, at Iron Mountain. Because of official investigations he took part in while a member of the constabulary, he is well known in that city. A soft drink establishment is run in connection with the hotel and Gust is declared to have threatened Loverich with arrest on a liquor violating charge unless the proprietor gave him $100. Loverich protested, claiming that for the last six months the soft drink parlor had been leased to another man who gave up the business about a week ago. Notwithstanding, it is said, Gust said he would arrest Loverich; that the charge whether carried to conviction or not would hurt his reputation. The proprietor, according to the prosecuting attorney, then gave up the $100.

Gust also went to the Central hotel, where he made the same threat to the proprietor, J. C. Recla. It is claimed. This time he demanded $125 and is said to have told Recla payment of the sum would mean he was "safe for a year." Believing that the man was an impostor, Recla went to the police and they consulted with the prosecuting attorney. Gust had been told to return to the hotel at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and a trap was laid for him. When he again brought up the subject, two policemen, hidden in the rear of the hotel heard his conversation with Recla.

Put Under Arrest.
When the conversation had proceeded far enough, the officers placed Gust under arrest and he was taken to the city jail. Following the arrest the prosecuting attorney communicated with the Nezaunee constabulary detachment and a representative of the department went to Iron Mountain Thursday. He identified Gust as a former member of the detachment and declared that he had "resigned just before he was to be discharged" because of unsuitability for the service.

In his talk with Recla, Gust is alleged to have flashed a star. When taken to the prosecuting attorney's office he dropped a badge on the floor just outside the door. It was picked up, however, by an officer, and proved to be a special policeman's star on the Soo line railroad.

Gust's companion is not thought to have taken part in the alleged deception and will not be held by the authorities.

Olmsted & Finn Have Opening At New Place Today

The United Cigar Store which will have its formal opening today is all set and ready for business. The proprietors Olmsted and Finn have just completed putting up some of the finest fixtures ever installed in this city. The entire interior is painted pearl grey and with the fixtures of mahogany the contrast is very attractive.

Two billiard and three pool tables which are made of solid steel with gully pockets which work automatically have been installed. All show cases and soda fountain are in mahogany and the stock is complete.

They will carry every brand of cigars and tobacco which is in demand by the most fastidious smokers and if any customer does not find what he wants, the management will try to fill his order by ordering his favorite brand at once.

Their motto will be "Service" and the two men who formed this partnership will live up to their motto.

They will also carry a fine line of box candies also bars of all kinds, chewing gum, pipes and smokers' supplies.

The building is neat and well lighted and the entire place carries about it a metropolitan appearance such as is hard to find any where.

INDIAN EMPEROR.

The Indian name of the sagamore or ruler who figured in the disputed story about John Smith being saved from death by Pocahontas, one of Powhatan's daughters, was "Wah-un-so-na-cook." In 1608 Capt. Newport came to Virginia with a gilded crown and orders from the king of England that Powhatan be crowned and declared "Emperor of the Indies." Capt. Smith was then president of the Virginia colony and as special ambassador of the British Sovereign, summoned Powhatan to Jamestown to undergo the ceremony of coronation. According to the story Powhatan with dignity refused, saying: "I also am a king; and if the King of England has sent me gifts they should be brought to me; I shall not go to receive them."

Newport, it is said, carried the crown and gifts to Powhatan, but no persuasions could induce the Indian monarch to kneel to receive the crown. Only by two Englishmen hearing down heavily on his shoulders could he be brought to something like a kneeling position to receive the crown. The act finished, a pistol was fired, and was followed by a salute from the boats in York River. Powhatan ruled over 30 Indian tribes numbering about 8,000.

BRITISH LABOR LEADERS LOSE OLD FRIENDS

Dine with King and Form New Acquaintance; Drop Old Ties.

BY MILTON BRONNER.

London.—Jack Clynnes was a small hand in Oldham. Mary Elizabeth Harper also worked there. He was 18 and she was 16. They fell in love. After six years Clynnes left the mill for a better job. He became organizer of the Gas Workers' Union at £7.50 a week. Then he married.

Jim Thomas started work on the Great Western Railway when he was nine years old. When he was making £5 a week he married Agnes Hill. The young couple kept house in two rooms. At 11:30 every night as the young engineer ran the mail train past his home he used to blow a long, loud blast on the whistle, just to let his little bride know he was thinking of her.

Phil Snowden had been unfortunate. He had a regular job in the government service. But he gave that up to take a chance as a free lance in the newspaper world. It was then that he met Ethel Tnankin, a pretty English school teacher. Soon afterwards they were married.

Known Hard Times. All of these three couples have known hard times. All have known what it is to count their pennies down to the last penny. All have known what it is to run a humble home on humble resources.

And the other day they put their feet under the mahogany in the magnificent town house of Viscount and Viscountess Astor where they dined with the king and queen!

Jack and Jim and Phil and their wives are still poor. But they are "somebody."

The three husbands are leaders of the Labor Party of Great Britain, the second party in the Parliament and, therefore, the official opposition to the present government.

The present Tory government has had three recent smashing defeats in by-elections. Three members of its cabinet were defeated by Labor candidates. And many comfortable Tories had sold shivers.

But the king and queen didn't. The king is above parties and doesn't play politics. But he does play the role of the constitutional monarch who likes to meet the leaders of all the parties in his kingdom. That's why he told Lady Nancy Astor he would be glad to meet the Labor leaders at dinner.

When they came they made a couple of new friends, but lost a host of old ones.

British laborites don't seem to like the idea of their leaders hobnobbing with royalty. Perhaps it was jealousy; perhaps fear; but they made the three who attended the dinner do a lot of explaining. For they felt that they didn't belong. And Jack, Jim and Phil weren't sure until they got to Viscount Astor's home.

People who dine with the king and queen don't talk about what was said and done, but I am informed that when the gentlemen lingered in the dining room over their port and cigars, Mary Clynnes, Agnes Thomas and Ethel Snowden had a great time with Queen Mary Windsor talking about George Henry Hubert, his weight, his progress, his brightness.

Who is George Henry Hubert? He is the queen's first grandchild, the son of Princess Mary.

MARKET REPORTS

NEW YORK STOCKS.

New York, April 13.—Stock prices pursued an uneven course in today's market with net gains exceeding net losses at the close. Further reductions in rediscounts and note circulation shown in the weekly federal reserve statement, easier money rates and the substantial increase in March exports, caused a revival of bullish enthusiasm in the early dealings with gains of one to three points being recorded by a large number of widely diversified issues.

Operators for the decline succeeded in picking out a few weak spots, but they failed to make much headway except in the last hour when they forced some material recessions in some of the shipping shares. Sales, $61,000 shares.

True to their promise, to make "Friday the thirteenth unlucky for gloom," seniors of Escanaba high school last night delighted a capacity audience in the school auditorium with their annual play.

"It Pays to Advertise," the Rol Cooper Magrus-Walter Hackett "farical fact," was the vehicle. The cast, which had been carefully selected from a large field of candidates, was excellent and the staging, under the direction of Miss Gladys Morrell and Rosamond Rogers, of the faculty, was faultless.

The cast follows: Mary Simpson—Eleanor Carlson Johnson—Theodore Soder Comtesse de Beaurien

Catherine Lemire Rodney Martin—Perry Bergman Cyrus Martin—John Haring Mrs. Smith—Signe Nelson Donald McChesney—Nick Wolfe Miss Burke—Hazel Hemes Ellery Clark—Hubert Bray Miss Bronson—Linnea Lund

AUSTRALIAN SPEECH.

In physical type the Australian tends to be long, lanky, alert, vigorous and athletic. The speech is neither American nor English, though there is a touch of Yankee nasality and of the flat Middle Western accent, says Charles F. Thwing, in his book, "The Human Australasia."

As for standards of physical comfort and personal happiness, they are among the highest in the world. The typical home in Australia and New Zealand is a five-room or seven-room, bungalow, on a spacious plot, with flower and vegetable gardens. The climate has a Mediterranean softness, inviting to outdoor sport the year round.

New York State led in the total production of apples last year. Washington was first in commercial output. Each of these states produces more apples than any other two combined.

This will discourage driving by drunken motorists. Thousands of children down to the age of eight or nine are employed in the cotton mills of Shanghai, China. What to Eat and Why

"Proteins" in Your Food Important for Tissue-Building. The Proteins in our foods are in charge of an important work for us. They are a necessary factor in building and maintaining the body-tissues. We need a certain, definite quantity of Proteins daily from our food—and the quality as well as the quantity of the Proteins is important. Grape-Nuts includes the excellent Proteins of the wheat, and the supply of Proteins is supplemented by the cream or milk with which Grape-Nuts is eaten. The Proteins in Grape-Nuts are combined with a very desirable form of carbohydrates (the grain starches) which are partially pre-digested through the long, slow baking by which Grape-Nuts is made. In its easy and quick digestion and assimilation Grape-Nuts helps prevent the unfavorable intestinal conditions which often occur from other sources of Protein supply and which greatly interfere with nutrition. Grape-Nuts, with cream or milk, is a complete food, containing phosphorus, iron, calcium and vitamins—elements vitally necessary for the body's needs but often lacking in modern, "refined" foods. You will find Grape-Nuts wonderfully crisp, flavorful and appetizing—a delightful part of any meal and an important aid to health and fitness. Ready to serve from the package—order from your grocer today. Many servings to a package of this genuinely economical food. Grape-Nuts—the Body Builder "There's a Reason." EDITORIAL

WATCHING WORK PERMITS.

The working permit for children of school age will be more effectively controlled in the future as a result of careful studies now being made in one American community. Among the questions for which answers are sought are:

"At what age do children attain their complete physical growth?"

"What is the effect of physical condition on intelligence?"

"If a child's weight can be increased by diet, what can be done to increase his stature?"

A total of 3,500 children are to be examined mentally and physically by experts in those lines. The attempted correction of physical defects will come next.

It is high time something of this sort were done. The issuance of working permits has been based usually on the chronological age of the applicants, with the result that many children securing permits are wholly unfitted for the work they take up. The physiological age of the child should be noted, as well as its standing in school and its general condition.

To any one who believes that no minor child is ready for following a gainful occupation, this sifting out of young workers may seem waste of time. Yet on the other hand, until it is both unnecessary and impossible for minors to leave school and go to work, there should certainly be careful supervision of their health and ability in order to safeguard as far as possible their future strength and happiness.

ICE ON LAKES MUCH HEAVIER THAN NORMAL

Weekly Summary Shows Little Change in Ice Conditions.

The weekly summary of ice conditions on the Great Lakes, issued by the Weather Bureau and the Meteorological Service of Canada, shows heavier ice on all of the northern lakes than reported at this season for many years.

Following is the summary issued covering ice conditions on the various lakes: Lake Superior. The thickness of the harbor ice at Duluth ranges from 20 to 22 inches and the snow covering is being melted during the day; the field in the lake extends eastward to Grand Marais, Minn. The fields appear to be solid. There have been no important changes over the central and eastern portions of the lake; the channel is kept open from Fort Arthur to Ojibwa Point in the lake beyond Thunder Cape. Whitefish Bay ice remains solid. St. Marys River ice, solid and ranges from 27 inches at Sault Ste. Marie to 24 inches in Mud Lake; a heavy blanket of snow covers the ice.

Lake Michigan. At Escanaba the ice averages 27.5 inches with 20 inches of snow covering; Green Bay ice solid. In Lake Michigan a few scattering fields noted along west shore and from Holland to Point St Ignace; off Glen Haven; Charlevoix reports conditions unchanged with ice fields extending beyond vision; open water reported west of Hign Island; ice apparently solid and extends east to the Straits where the ice ranges from 22 to 30 inches in thickness and is solid; the snow covering is melting.

Lake Huron. Reports from Mackinac Island indicate ice 24 to 30 inches in thickness with snow covering melting; at Letour the fields extend beyond vision and the fields from Presque Isle south to Thunder Bay are extensive and moving in and out with the winds, scattering fields off Tawas Point; no movement of ice in Saginaw Bay; large moving fields off Harbor Beach; the fields in the south portions have moved out of sight and the river is open.

Lake St. Clair and Detroit River. The ice has been running out of the lake during the week and the lake is practically free of ice.

Lake Erie. No ice fields reported over the western and central portions; from Erie east to Buffalo the fields are extensive and the western gales have packed the ice in the extreme east end; many lanes of open water are visible from off Erie.

Lake Ontario. No ice of consequence reported over the western and central portions; over the extreme eastern portion the fields are extensive and not moving much; the ice conditions solid at Kingston. No ice observed at Oswego since the 3rd.

AN APPEAL SUGGESTED. The eminent lawyer came back from court in something of a huff. There had been some words with the judge.

Upon entering his office the attorney took up his brief, rushed to the big dictionary and began a search. Finally he turned to his partner.

The latter awaited developments. "The dictionary," stated the eminent lawyer solemnly, "disagrees with my spelling of this word."

"In that case," suggested the equally eminent colleague, "take an appeal to the encyclopedia."

FOR DISH TOWELS. Cotton crepe makes excellent dish towels. It requires no ironing and gives off no lint.

WHAT WINDSTORM DID TO CHURCH

Had the Rev. J. L. James not dismissed the congregation of the Pinson (Tenn.) Methodist Church early, scores would have been in the church when a windstorm struck it and reduced it to the ruins shown above. The pastor remained after services and was seriously injured.

OBITUARY

Roland Olson's Funeral.

Funeral services were held at two o'clock Friday afternoon for Roland Olson, former Escanaba boy whose death occurred at Baltimore, Md. Monday evening. The body was shipped to this city accompanied by his sister Mrs. W. J. Dalton of New York and was taken to the residence of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Peter Olson, 1193 Lud. st. where the services were held.

Many beautiful floral tributes surrounded the casket while the body lay in state. Rev. C. A. Lund of the Swedish Lutheran church officiated at the services. Also present and sang two solos, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" by Edward Campion, and "O Eyes That Are Weary" by Frank Brackett.

Those who carried the casket to and from the funeral car were school mates of Mr. Olson, Henry Peterson, Frank Anderson, Gordon Hart, Sylvester, Edwin Anderson, Elmer LaPlante and Edgar Anderson.

Among the out of town relatives who came here for the obsequies were Mrs. W. J. Dalton, New York, Dr. Clarence Olson, Ironwood, Mich. and Roy Olson, Havenport, Iowa.

MRS. T. C. HARRIS.

Mrs. T. C. Harris, aged 35, passed away at 7:30 Friday morning at a local hospital after an illness of three weeks. Mrs. Harris underwent an operation for appendicitis and was on the road to recovery when septicemia set in which caused her death. She leaves to mourn her, besides her husband, two children, Clarence and Annie, of this city, her parents, and one sister at New Orleans, La. and another sister, Mrs. C. H. Brown of this city.

Mrs. Harris had gained the friendship of a large circle of friends, although the family has lived in this city only a short time, all of whom will be grieved to hear of her death. The body was taken to the Anderson Funeral Parlor and prepared for burial and later in the afternoon was removed to the family home, 329 Ludington st. The body will be shipped to-day to the former home of the family at New Orleans, La. where funeral services and burial will take place. Mr. Harris and members of the family will accompany the body to New Orleans.

WOMAN'S GUESS IS PAYING HER $10,000, WEEK

Not Yet 30 But She Makes Fortune Answering Big Question.

New York—How does it seem to be one of "The Only-in-the-World?" Here's a story about a young woman who is so many "onlys" it takes your breath away.

Anne Nicholas, not yet 30, is the only woman in the world—Who has an income of approximately $10,000 a week from her own individual work—Who is theatrical producer, director, and playwright—Who staked her last cent that critics were wrong when they said her show was terrible—Who now sees her show approaching a year's run on Broadway.

Who has six other companies touring America and another preparing in London—Who has made a fortune answering the riddle, "What does the public want?"—Who is far too good looking, according to tradition, for a clever woman.

And besides all this she is the devoted mother of a four-year-old boy.

All of which is a pretty remarkable record of "Whos." Now as to the Why and How. Anne Nicholas says: "The first thing a woman MUST learn is to have the courage of her convictions."

"Accept advice but don't use it if it's contrary to your inherent belief in yourself. Never fear to be afraid. Advice is the cheapest thing in the world and many a great success has been wrecked on the rocks of failure through the indecision that comes from too much advice."

"Remember there is no sex in brains or business. 'Don't be afraid of criticism. I started out to be a leading lady but had to begin in the chorus. When the girls poked fun at me for taking my future seriously I used to meditate: 'Poor things, they'll still be here when I've gone on.'"

"When you've got something you feel the public wants whether it's a drama or a lactated food, don't give up till you've given it to the public to judge. 'A play that makes people laugh is a successful play. A diaphragm laugh is good for the digestion and we all know the human stomach plays an important part in the destinies of nations as well as individuals. 'Motherhood and a career? Of course they go together. A mother can do more for her son than just keeping his face clean. My son shall have every chance to be the thing he wants but I can give him better opportunities toward attaining the best, than I could when I was poor."

Anne Nicholas whose success with Abbie's Irish Rose is the sensation of Broadway—calls it her Ford, because it runs itself.

WASHINGTON'S MOTHER. George Washington always preserved the utmost tenderness toward his mother, and she was the first woman he thought of after he had been officially notified at Mount Vernon of his election to the Presidency. Forthwith he journeyed to Frederickburg to share his honors with her. It was their last meeting, for she died a few months later. Her parting words were: "My heaven and your mother's blessing be with you always."

Virtually the only woman who came closely into Washington's life was his brother Samuel's daughter, Harriot. She lived with the Washingtons for over 10 years, until her marriage. Her failings seem to have been carelessness and extravagance. She had no disposition to be careful of her clothes, which were "dabbled about in every hole and corner and her best things always in use," so that "she costs me enough," said Washington.

BROTHER WAS SAFE

In spite of his repeated warnings from his father, little Bobby persisted in driving nails into blocks and boards. He had arrived at the play-at-carpenter stage. One morning dad heard the familiar pounding, and looking out he saw Bobby busily banging away—his little sister Mary down beside him, apparently looking on. "Haven't I told you, Bobby, that you will nail your fingers if you drive nails?" the father asked. "Yes, I know, dad, but Mary's holding the nail."—Savannah News.

LEGION WILL BACK BASEBALL

Member of Post Probably Will Manage Local Team.

The American Legion will handle baseball in Escanaba this season.

This decision, reached at a meeting Thursday night...

The team, it is expected, will start the season with a number of players who have made baseball history in Escanaba during the last five years...

REFUSED TO TAKE "DARE" IS SPRINTER

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 13.—Fate plays many queer pranks. Even is this so in the realm of sport...

Reinke, who performs in the half-mile run, and who has struck the exciting "880" mark in every meet he participated in...

The result was that he left the rest of the field so far in the rear that the coach decided he had sadly misdirected Reinke's talent.

Today, Charles Reinke is being picked by many experts as a likely successor to Ted Meredith, former University of Pennsylvania star.

IS SISLER, BROWNS' STAR, THROUGH?—CONDITION OF FAMOUS PLAYER IS MUCH MOOTED QUESTION

SISLER HAS REPLACED OUR 'HOW DID YOU MAKE IT' DISCUSSIONS

GEORGE SISLER CARRYING INJURED ARM IN SLING.

St. Louis, April 13.—The biggest mystery in baseball today surrounds the case of George Sisler, the best first sacker in the universe.

Whether Sisler will start the season with the Browns, whether he will be in shape to return to his position in mid-season or whether he will never again slip on his mit are questions worrying the St. Louis fans.

Sisler's case is interesting as well as mysterious. It will be remembered that he fell upon his right shoulder in fielding a wild throw at the tag end of last season.

The ligaments were torn and Sisler was advised to rest for the remainder of the year.

Adhering to one of the traditions of the game pay cost the Browns the 1923 pennant, even worse, it may terminate the career of one of the greatest players in the history of the sport.

In baseball no other word carries the sting of "quitter." To be branded as yellow is baseball's greatest disgrace.

Unfortunately for George Sisler, he was injured on the very eve almost of the most important series of the year, a three-game season with the Yankees that really decided the pennant. Sisler was in no shape to play against the Yankees. His physicians forbade his even donning a uniform.

LIKE THE UMPIRES THE DOCTORS ARE ALSO GUESSING

The word "quitter" kept ringing in Sisler's ears. He played on nerve alone, simply because he didn't want the baseball world to comment on his failure to perform in the big event of the year.

Several weeks ago rumors were heard that everything was not all right with Sisler. A serious case of influenza, contracted during the winter, developed into serious complications of the nose and sight.

Sisler did not go south. Nor will he join the team before it returns to St. Louis.

But everything is clothed with the deepest secrecy. Aside from his physicians no one really knows his condition.

And meantime the St. Louis fans are in mourning for their pennant hopes.

TWO STRIKES NO HANDICAP

Some of the best batters in the history of the game have done their most damaging work with two strikes on them.

Larry Lajoie was such a hitter. Larry usually looked the first pitch over in a careless fashion. Overpitchers, wise to the fact, invariably laid the ball over the plate, feeling they were getting Larry in the hole.

One strike, however, meant nothing to Lajoie. He often used to remark to the umpire, "I don't care where you call the first two, but be sure the third one is over when you call me out."

With two strikes on him, Larry was always at his best. A majority of his hits were made under such conditions. No veteran can ever recall Larry hitting at the first ball.

Other batters make the mistake of taking too many good balls and drawing the line too fine for themselves. If Joe Connolly, Cleveland's recruit outfielder, has a fault, that is his trouble, according to the veterans.

The vets all regard Connolly as a good hitter, feel that he will come through, yet are of the opinion that he is constantly handicapping himself at the bat.

Too Much Margin. "Connolly takes too many good balls. He gets himself into the hole and gives the pitcher too much of a margin. A good hitter like Connolly should slash away at the good ones. The moment he gets that idea, and makes the most of his possibilities, he is going to increase his worth at the plate 25 per cent.," say the veterans.

FOHL REFUSES TO WORRY ABOUT BROWN CHANCES

He Has Plenty of Troubles With Lineup.

What about third base? Can Pitcher Shocker repeat his success of last year?

Will "Lifty" Prueitt, the sensational young southpaw, continue to be a source of annoyance to Babe Ruth and the other heavy hitters of the American League?

How about George Sisler? Will the famous first sacker, champion batsman of the American League, be as good as ever? Can he start the season in top form despite his inability to report to the Browns for spring training at Mobile?

Is there a chance that the injury of last year, which has proven far more serious than at first thought, will affect the play of the ace of the Browns?

These are just a few of the perplexing problems that confront Manager Lee Fohl of the St. Louis Browns. If Fohl was a manager inclined to worry, the leader of the Browns would have plenty of food for thought.

Fortunately for Fohl and the Browns, he is not of such a temperament. The St. Louis leader has for years employed many of the theories that have made Cone famous. He accepts things as they come in baseball, the bitter with the sweet, figuring that in the end the breaks will be about fifty-fifty.

Despite the fact that Fohl has had plenty to worry about if so inclined, he is extremely optimistic. He is confident that when the season opens he will have his best lineup in the field. Likewise, he is certain that the Browns will be in the thick of the fight for the pennant, positive that the club that beats him out will win.

In the south of France is a certain community, the members of which, all women, have taken a vow of silence.

KNOX FAILED TO REPEAT PERFECT BOWLING SCORE

Number Eight Pin Proves His Undoing.

Only one bowler in the history of the A. B. C. has ever rolled a perfect game in national competition.

Billy Knox of Philadelphia is the bowler. He turned the trick March 10, 1913, at Toledo. On Tuesday, April 3, 1923, at Milwaukee, over 10 years later, Knox came within a pin of duplicating the feat.

While Knox's score was only 279, the refusal of one pin to fall cost a count of 21 in the final result. Seven Straight. Knox started his final game with seven straight strikes. On a rather light hit in the eighth frame all the pins fell with the exception of No. 8, which wobbled around and finally righted itself, while the crowd gasped with excitement.

Knox finished the game by striking out, so that had the No. 8 pin fell it would have given him a perfect game of 300 instead of 279. The failure of the No. 8 pin to fall also cost Knox several other records aside from the perfect game feat.

It would have given him a total of 736 in the singles instead of 715. That would have put him in first place in that event. Likewise the score of 736 would stand as the highest three games ever bowled in the A. B. C. That mark is now 735.

It would have given him a total of 2040 in all events instead of 2019.

It kept him from repeating his 300 perfect game miracle. Then He Fouled. In making his remarkable record of 2019, Knox was handicapped by one of the few fouls made in the tourney.

In his team event he fouled in the second frame of the first game on a strike. On his second ball he got only nine. He followed this with two more strikes, so it is an easy matter to figure how costly the foul proved.

Case Again Gets Football Contest With Wolverines

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 9.—The recent decision of Western Conference officials to adopt an eight-frame football schedule this fall, enabled the University of Michigan to keep from upsetting a precedent that has stood for well nigh onto a quarter of a century.

In other words, it permitted the Wolverines to book a game with the Case Scientific School of Cleveland, which institution has season after season appeared at Ann Arbor.

Case had previously been left off the card when the usual allotment of seven games had already been filled. But now the little Case eleven is certain to help the Yostmen pry open the 1923 gridiron lid just as it has done in many other seasons.

Case has never defeated the Wolverines, though in 1910 they succeeded in holding the Michigan team to a 3-3 tie. All the professions and nearly all of the official positions are open to the women of Rhodesia, South Africa.

COLLEGE STAR MAKES GRADE IN BIG SHOW

A year ago Jack Slattery, former big leaguer, now coach of the Harvard baseball team, said: "Jock Conlon of Harvard is one of the best college ball players I have ever seen. As a college player he shows as much promise as did George Sisler when he was at Michigan. I feel sure that Conlon could step into the big league and make good without any minor league experience."

Conlon joined the Boston Braves this spring. He has been one of the sensations of the southern training camps. It is possible that he will be started at shortstop in place of the veteran Larry Kopf, who seemed to have the position cinched.

Conlon is a remarkable fielder and should hit big league pitching. His showing so far makes the Harvard coach look like a real baseball prophet.

By aeroplane the earth could be circled in fifteen days—this is, if there was a machine capable of making the journey without a stop. But this is not possible, and when stops and so on are taken into consideration the time works out at nearly three months. At least, this was the time allowed by Sir Ross Smith, who was preparing for a round-the-world flight when he met his death.

BLACK AND WHITE. The earliest taffetas for spring—that is, the black taffetas frocks are featuring much white lace and embroidery. They have some times aprons and panels of very fine embroidered batiste, or wide berthas that reach to the waistline.

BILL EVANS SAYS

In a nutshell here are Manager Speaker's plans for the Cleveland Indians for the coming season: The infield will be made up of Lutzke at third, Sewell at short, Wambegans at second and Guisto at first.

In the outfield will be Jameson, Speaker and Summa. Joe Connolly and Frank Brower will be in reserve. Coveleskie, Uhle and Sherrod Smith will get plenty of work, while Guy Morton, Dan Boone and George Metevier will complete the staff. Speaker figures on Morton going big in the spring and fall.

Bedgood, Edmondson, Edwards, Shaute and Winn have fine possibilities, and may cause an upset in the dope as to the pitching staff.

Back of the bat the catching will be divided among O'Neill and Myatt, with Sewell as the niftiest third string backstop in either major league.

In Larry Gardner, Riggs Stephenson and Frank Brower, Speaker figures his secondary strength in the infield is the equal if not better than any other club in the league.

CORNELL COACH TO TEACH BOYS AT ILLINOIS

There ought to be plenty straggling when Gil Dobbs of Cornell and Bob Zuppke of Illinois get together this summer to teach football in the six weeks' summer course in coaching at the University of Illinois.

It's novel, first of all, to corral two coaches of such caliber as Gil and Bob. Each will have his own classes, but many students will plan to attend both in order to compare the views and systems expounded.

But the real fun will come when the two coaches get together to thresh out their ideas. Practically all of their students will be men with coaching experience and they will often form an appreciative gallery.

It will be recalled that Zuppke and Yost paced up and down a hotel lobby at Madison an entire evening after the Illinois-Wisconsin game last fall, illustrating every play from a punt to a tackle. Dobbs has the superior height, but isn't as rapid-fire a talker as the little Illinois coach.

Another thing. It won't be surprising for Illinois to be using some Cornell stratagems and for Cornell to exhibit some Illinois ideas when the fall campaign is on—all as a result of the summer's collaboration.

VETS TO STAGE BOXING SHOW

Legion Plans Fistic Carnival in Escanaba in Near Future.

Appointment of a special committee, composed of Elmer St. Martin, Nathan Frenn, Ed Moersch and Elmer Swanson, to complete arrangements for a boxing program under the auspices of the American Legion, and the announcement that details of the event, including the date and the names of some of the performers would be announced within a few days, gives followers of the sport in this community something to look forward to with interest and pleasure.

Revival of boxing in Escanaba after more than a year of inactivity in the sport, should meet a hearty welcome. Cleveland Post has been noted, far and wide, for the high quality of the programs it has offered.

The last programs staged included some of the best ring performers in the country, and gave fans here the best entertainments of the kind ever offered in this part of Michigan.

Care will be exercised in the match making, to book boys who are well matched and who have proved their willingness to give spectators a run for their money. It was emphasized.

LUNDGREN IS COUNTING ON SIXTH F L A G

Urbana, Ill., April 13.—"The greatest college baseball coach in the country" is what they call Carl Lundgren, at the University of Illinois. And according to 76 past performances the title isn't very far-fetched, either.

"Lundy," as he is known to the Sucker students, already has five consecutive Western Conference championships to his credit, three with Michigan and two with the Illinois. This season he is out to make it six in a row. And judging from present prospects, stands a mighty good chance of turning the trick.

Lundgren, who also trained at Illinois, got his start in the diamond pastime back in 1902 when he pitched and captained the varsity team. The late Jake Stahl was his catcher. Shortly after he joined the Chicago Cubs, being a member of that club when it won three National League pennants and two world series championships. Upon leaving the majors he took up college tutoring and has been at it ever since.

Lundgren has coached many college players during his career who have later made good in fast company. One of these is George Sisler, St. Louis Browns' star. Sisler, had the benefit of Lundgren's knowledge of the game for two years while at Michigan.

Though a keen lover of the sport, the old National League hurler doesn't advise college players to take up professional baseball unless their playing practically assures them a place in the main text.

HOME MATRON TELLS FUTURE OF CHILDREN

Professions and Trades Are Predicted by Chicago Woman.

BY ROY GIBBONS

NEA Staff Correspondent. Chicago, March 31.—"Something in a baby today? Ah, yes! What would you prefer—boy or girl?"

"Here's a bright little fellow who'll be a banker when he has a musician? Well, just a moment then and we'll look over today's selection."

This, in pantomime, is a near reproduction of what goes on in Chicago's newest-style infant asylum here called "The Cradle."

Provided you come with proper credentials, a "guaranteed" founding will be turned over to you for adoption.

Artist, millionaire, butcher, cook, and baker-to-be, they're all on the list waiting to be served out to prospective foster-parents.

Run under auspices of wealthy Gold Coast society women, "The Cradle" is directly presided over by Mrs. May Larsen.

Armed with callipers and other instruments to obtain precise measurements of infants' heads, Mrs. Larsen is said to be capable of forecasting the exact careers of her many waif charges.

Mary an Actress. Take Mary for example. She is but three months old. But she has characteristics for the theater and will develop into a great star if given half a chance, Mrs. Larsen says.

While Baby Billy, who stares right out at you with his big black eyes, will be a lawyer some day in the future. You can tell that by the shape of his head, and further by his lusty, if youthful stentorian voice.

Since "The Cradle" opened, more calls for children have come in than could be properly taken care of, attendants say.

Each day luxuriously appointed motors roll up before its door to emit a fashionably dressed woman who later emerges from the building carrying a baby with her.

Cheer for Childless. Such foster motherhood is bringing cheer to many heretofore black and deserted homes in wealthy neighborhoods where timid gurgles and tiny hands were never known.

"Most people who come to adopt our babies care very little about predictions for the child's career," Mrs. Larsen says.

"What they want is the baby—something to gladden their lives and give them a motive to live for."

"Of course, we demand the strictest sort of references before final adoption is sanctioned. And all our foundlings are placed in homes where the environment and opportunities are beyond questioning."

Just now boys and girls are running neck and neck in the race for popularity. Also there are three millionaires and quite a number of embryo artists still on hand.

So if you are thinking of becoming a parent, better get your order in now, because supplies are running low at "The Cradle."

PAWNBROKER LEGEND.

Many legends exist concerning the three "gold" balls and their significance to the pawnbroker.

In the ancient city of Patara, in Asia Minor, there lived a certain nobleman with three daughters, according to one legend.

The nobleman was unable to provide suitable marriage portions for his daughters. Gold St. Nicholas learned of this story and resolved to avert the degradation which threatened the unfortunate family.

Wishing to perform this deed secretly, he proceeded to the nobleman's house at night. The moon appeared from behind a cloud and revealed an open window into which he threw a purse of gold.

It fell at the feet of the father, and he was thus enabled to portion his oldest daughter. The saint paid a second nocturnal visit to the house and bestowed a second gift, which proved to be a sufficient dowry for the second daughter.

The father then determined to discover the benefactor of his family and thank him, so he set himself to watch. When St. Nicholas prepared to throw in the money for the third daughter, the nobleman grasped his robe and asked why the saint tried to hide himself. The saint bade him inform no one of his act of charity. Because of this instance St. Nicholas often is represented bearing three purses, or three gold balls.

A feature of a recent musical festival in London was the singing by combined choirs from the mothers' clubs of the metropolis, many of the choristers being over seventy years of age.

Mrs. B. A. Henderson, a widely-known educator, has the distinction of being the first woman of Virginia to be regularly nominated on the Democratic ticket for a seat in the legislature.

Building Booms As Spring Comes

Retail lumber trade, which has been unusually good throughout the winter season, is showing further expansion under the influence of warmer weather and the eagerness of builders to get their jobs started, says the American Lumberman, Chicago. Many retailers continue to hold back in making commitments, either because of uncertainty as to how far the present building movement will run or because of the price question, and wholesale trade is dull in spots. Lumber distributors, however, look for a general entry into the market by the retailers during this month, and the mills are clearing their decks as best they can in preparation for a big increase in business shortly.

The market meanwhile holds firm. Transit cars have been in heavy demand during the last few weeks and have been well cleaned up, with the result that prices on them have moved higher.

The mills are still heavily overbooked. Though they have lately made some progress in reducing their old order files, they still have enough business on their books to keep them running at normal from thirty to sixty days. Mill stocks have been only slightly, if at all, improved, and it is still difficult to place orders, especially if they are of a badly mixed character.

Industrial trade holds up very satisfactorily, and is expanding in some channels. Railroads are on the market for vast quantities of repair and construction materials, and have placed further orders for rolling stock. The oil fields are scenes of activity, and their consumption of timbers and general construction items is large.

Automobile, furniture, flooring and interior trim manufacturers remain heavily on the hardwood market, while miscellaneous consumers' requirements aggregate a sizable volume. Exports of both softwoods and hardwoods are increasing. The position of the lumber market is therefore very strong fundamentally, and no material weakening on any popular item can be expected at this time.

Lumber production in the South has been adversely influenced by unfavorable weather, a shortage of box cars and also of labor. Output of Douglas fir is well maintained on a high level, but continues to be exceeded by both shipments and orders.

Water Stage Is Changed Little

Although the stage of the water in the Escanaba river has not perceptibly increased, that the water is beginning to flow down the river is proven by the fact that in spite of the fact that water is being drawn through all of the dams for developing power, the water stage in the main back of the dams has not been greatly reduced. Two pulp grinders are being operated regularly at the pulp mill of the Escanaba Paper Company at Groon and the full battery of grinders is in readiness for operation as soon as the spring rush of water comes.

DR. BOHN ON THE JOB.

The eminently high place won by Dr. Frank P. Bohn, representative of this district in the Michigan state senate, in his first term at Lansing, is reflected in the unanimous vote accorded by the senate a few days ago to a bill introduced by him authorizing the operation of a state owned ferry between Mackinaw and St. Ignace.

When Senator Bohn introduced his bill a few weeks ago there was much skepticism even in the upper peninsula that he would be able to secure favorable consideration for his measure. In the past measures designed to particularly prompt the interests of the upper peninsula or to bring the two peninsulas of the state closer together, have secured scant consideration from the state legislature. The fact that Senator Bohn's bill has passed the senate without a dissenting vote reflects most eloquently the confidence gained by Dr. Bohn among his fellow members of the senate and the influence he has come to wield in that body in his first session at Lansing. It is a compliment that the people of the Thirtieth district and of the entire peninsula should thoroughly appreciate. Even though the bill may still fail to become a law, Dr. Bohn has served as the instrument for bringing the two peninsulas closer together in a legislative way than has ever before been recorded.

It is an achievement of which Dr. Bohn may well be proud.

VETERAN PREFERENCES IN CIVIL SERVICE.

Regardless of politics, the taxpayers of the United States will join the Civil Service Reform League in commending the order issued by President Harding concerning preferences to be given veterans. The facts cannot be better stated than by the summer up by the league, as follows:

"The former construction of the veterans preference act which the Civil Service Commission felt obliged to follow," the statement said, "resulted in preferring for appointment the veteran who was barely qualified for a place on the eligible list ahead of the most competent civilian. That is the veteran received 35 points, or as much of them as he needed, to stand at the top of the list. By this order of President Harding a reasonable credit of five points for veterans generally and of ten points for wounded veterans is substituted for the possible 35 points which has been demoralizing the service. Thus the practical efficiency of the service is protected."

Under the former construction of the law, if a non-veteran had qualified for a position with a rating of 100, he would be denied a position in competition with a veteran whose qualifications were 86. That is, the veteran whose qualifications were indicated by a rating of 66 would be appointed in preference to a non-veteran whose qualifications were indicated by a rating of 100.

Of course, everyone wants to give the veterans the preference, but such a degree of preference as that was bound to demoralize the public service, as the civil service reform league declares. You cannot run any business successfully on any such plan as that, and it would be folly to expect either a Republican or a Democratic administration to make a success of public business if highly efficient men must be denied positions in order that men who are far from efficient shall be given positions. People who pay the bills in the form of taxes have some rights in the matter. When they pay $1000 in salary, they want more than $800 in service. But it is not all a matter of dollars. The inefficient public employes often hold back public business on which private business is waiting, and the loss to the private business may be many times the salary paid to the public employe.

There are plenty of veterans

THOSE OF YOU who have written, chidingly or vituperatively, to charge us with obliquity and discrimination because we printed a weather squib or two after we had sentenced the topic to three weeks in the brig, apparently have been in a lethargic condition while perusing this garden of guff since its rebirth in January. We have repeatedly told you that we would not be responsible for anything said or done in The Hook by any contributor, including its conductor. Chapter XXIII.
Ann had not known that such selfishness, such absolute indifference as Grace showed her, existed. Had she been visiting in a home where no servant kept she would have felt it her duty to assist the hostess in every possible way—her duty and her pleasure. But Grace stood idly by while she made up a bed on the couch—they had not yet furnished their guest room; really had had no cause to hurry about it, and had needed the money for other things.

"Good night," Ann said when she finished.
"Goodnight," Grace returned yawning. "Don't fail to call me in time."
Ann rejoined Dick, but neither talked much. Ann couldn't, her thoughts being too busy and Dick seemed to have fallen into a sort of reverie. Finally Ann went in and Dick soon followed. Neither mentioned Grace again that night.

"Don't hurry dinner tonight, Ann. I may be late."
"Why, Dick? Anything wrong?"
"No, but I promised Grace to come over on the lot, then if she has finished for the day we'll come home together."
For amusement Ann was silent, then:
"Very well, Dick," was all she said.

Ann finished her work, made herself as attractive as she could, and without giving Beattie any explanation save that "Dick and she were going over to the lot where they were taking motion pictures."

"That's fine!" he answered in such a whole-hearted manner she felt almost happy, "although it will rather queer Grace's scheme of passing me off as a single man, won't it?"
"Oh, that was only one of her jokes," Ann returned, knowing full well it wasn't, that more than likely Grace had meant what she said.

"This feeling was intensified when they arrived on the lot, where both of them gazed around interested in what was going on. It was some minutes before they saw Grace mounted on a horse, waiting her turn to be shot by the cameraman.

THYSSEN ONE OF GERMANY'S BEST WORKERS

Financial King Has Never Lost His Faith in Nation.

BY MILTON BRONNER

London.—When a revolution raged in Germany and a big "Ex" was placed in front of the name of every German kaiser, king, prince and grand duke, there was a little, old, gray, grim man down in the Rhineland who still remained a king—King August Thyssen.

In spite of the fact that French armies hold the Ruhr and the Rhineland and have erected a customs barrier, Thyssen is still a king. He is king of one of the vastest industrial enterprises in the world and he is king of one of the most important political parties not only of the old but also of the new Germany.

An Empire Maker.

Thyssen is one of the makers of modern Germany. He is one of a half dozen men, all of whom lived in the Ruhr and the Rhineland, who saw the possibilities in Rhineland and Ruhr coal and iron. Like old Krupp of Essen and old Stinnes, father of Hugo and the Great at Mulheim, Thyssen by dint of work and business genius created one of the giant fortunes of the new Germany. To-day he lords it over about 70,000 men, many of whom differ with him in politics and religion, but who will stick to him in the present struggle against France.

When I was in Essen some months ago, both workmen and bosses told me proudly that Wilhelm never liked to come to the Ruhr because the people there didn't take any stock in his pompous airs and bombastic speeches. The plain people didn't applaud him and the great industrialists didn't fawn on him for decorations and titles. In fact, they refused that kind of "honor." Thyssen could have had his chest covered with fancy ribbons and odd pieces of gold and platinum bestowed by the hands of his loving kaiser, but he couldn't see it with a spy-glass.

They Were Germany.

The Thyssens, Krups, Stinnes and their ilk felt that the kaiser might seek to represent Germany, but they were Germans. These men did not take gladly to aristocracy. They were all self-made and proud of it.

The democracy of Thyssen is reflected by the attitude taken by the Centre Party after the revolution. The Centre party is the great Catholic party of Germany. Next to the Socialists, it is the strongest in the Reich. The greatest layman in it is Thyssen. It is Thyssen who has always filled the party exchequer when money was needed. When the German republic started to stand on its own wobbly feet, there were many who thought the Centre party would unite with the aristocratic and monarchist parties of the right to push it over. Not a bit of it. Thyssen decreed it was to unite with the Socialists in supporting free institutions.

Is Hard Worker.

The little man who wields so much power in Germany is 82 years old and one of the hardest workers in the country. Like Stinnes, he is at work early, dictating letters. Like Stinnes, his office in the Ruhr is a dingy stuffy little place furnished with the plainest of furniture—a table, a few chairs and maybe a map or two on the walls.

Like Stinnes, he wears cheap clothes, preferably black, and they often are sadly in need of pressing. His meals are simple and his life is simple. In fact, it can be summed up in four letters—W-O-R-K.

SHEER STOCKINGS.

One wonders how sheer stockings can grow sheerer, but they do. And some of them wear surprisingly well, even when they are more transparent than chiffon. Stockings in beige and gray continue to be popular with pumps of satin or patent leather.

AMERICANS ARE SLOW TO LAUD CHEF'S EFFORT

Scotto, Famous as Cook, Wails About It.

BY MARIAN HALE.

New York.—By this time we are used to having artists tell us that Americans don't appreciate art. We are convinced we know nothing of music and that the fine points of the drama are beyond us. But now comes a complaint from another quarter—

We don't appreciate good cooking!

Monsieur Charles Scotto, chef of international fame, now at the Ambassador Hotel in New York and catering to Gotham's most aristocratic palates, makes the accusation.

Prohibition, quick lunches and cigaret smoking while eating have made us what we are.

No Appreciation!

"A chef may spend hours making the most elaborate dishes," he complains, "putting into them the knowledge and art he has learned in many countries, and the American diner comes in and wants beefsteak or lamb chops—and wants it in a hurry, so he can go somewhere else!"

It was not always thus.

"Before prohibition, Americans were the most fastidious diners," he assures me. "They reserved their tables and ordered their dinners in advance. They appreciated epicurean food.

Meal is Secondary.

"Now they come in half or three-quarters of an hour before time to go to the theater, smoke and dance between courses and what they eat is the least of their worries.

"They can't drink and it doesn't seem to occur to them that food isn't under the ban.

"If the American housewife gets as little appreciation of her efforts as the chef does, it is no wonder she has turned over her culinary worries to the delicatessen merchant."

Monsieur Scotto learned his art in France. Later he went all over Europe, studying cookery with the most famous chefs. For 23 years he has been identified with the most famous dining places of Europe and America.

Don't Force Music On Boy or Girl Is Advice of 2 Stars

If your boy prefers baseball to violin practice and your girl would rather play jacks than piano, let the children follow their inclinations.

Don't force a technical musical education on them.

That's the advice of the two of the leading stars on the concert stage today—Mme. Louise Homer, famous contralto, and Mme. Olga Samaroff, pianist. Both are mothers, and both say if their children had no inclination to learn the mechanics of music they would not force this on them.

But musical appreciation can be fostered in pleasanter ways than by technical learning, they agree. Mme. Homer believes it is more important to appreciate a masterpiece than to struggle through a sonata without pleasure.

"The development of musical taste," she says, "comes from constantly hearing the best music. Technical study is for the few and gifted, but esthetic study and familiarity of the classics should be within the reach of all children."

To this Mme. Samaroff adds: "Instead of chaining a child to an instrument and forcing it to make bad music it is possible to develop through study of musical history and theory and concerts a love and understanding of music in the child.

GASOLINE TAX TO COST AUTO DRIVERS $7.00

Figures Compiled in Schoolcraft County

Passage of the gasoline tax will result in the levying of an average of $7 on each Schoolcraft county auto, according to figures of local statisticians, figuring on the basis of the amounts of gasoline sold here last year.

This, of course, would not mean that every auto owner or gasoline user would pay that amount of additional tax. The approximate total amount which would be levied would be something over $7000. Divided among more than 1,000 cars in use in the county, gives the amount of $7 per car-owner.

Residents of the city seem to be generally in favor of the measure, and the local Civic Club last week went on record as supporting the bill.

FIRST TOURIST IS ON THE WAY

Automobile Party Enroute from Chicago to Manistique.

Final to spring. The first tourist is on his way to Manistique. As proof of this statement, there is submitted a report from Manitowoc, telling how an auto party bound for Manistique, passed through that city this week.

The items says: "While the general impression is that automobile travel on country roads is impossible, the first car carrying 1923 tourists passed through this city en route from Chicago to Manistique, Mich. "Five persons and a dog made up the party. Household goods completely covered the car. They had left Chicago the morning before and report the roads excellent as far as Port Washington. From there to this city they were "not so good."

"The party expected to reach Green Bay by night. Local motorists have been afraid to venture out with their cars because of the roads."

At last reports, the auto party had not been heard from at Manistique.

GIRL DEPARTS FOR HOME; PAYS HER $18 FINE

Pleads Guilty to the Theft of a Fur Coat

True to the promise made in justice court when it was suggested that she leave this city, Miss Mary Tucey left Manistique Friday morning, enroute to Rexton, after having paid a fine of $18 for petty larceny.

Miss Tucey, who is 18, and attractive, was hailed into justice court Thursday on charges of wearing a coat and other articles of apparel that did not belong to her. The coat was named in the complaint as a sealskin garment value, $2500, but later proved to be of plush. Miss Tucey had evidently seen no harm in wearing the coat, and appeared on the streets of Manistique with it. The coat was said to have been the property of Mrs. W. W. Parker, and was taken from the Ray Smith home, where Miss Tucey was employed. She has previously worked for other Manistique families.

Though her acquaintance in Manistique was limited, she apparently experienced no difficulty in securing funds to pay her fine, after which she was released, with the recommendation that she make her home elsewhere.

Logging Case On In Circuit Court

The A. J. Smith-Phillip-Robert Rubin case engaged the attention in Schoolcraft county court most of yesterday. This case involved the title of logging equipment used by Smith and Phillip, and on which Mr. Rubin held a mortgage. Mr. Bushong, of Gladstone, was called as a witness in the case late Thursday. He told of dealings with the men when they were logging for the Northwestern Co. case.

This case followed immediately after the Williams murder case, and was in progress when the verdict in the Williams case was announced. The Phillip case is the last jury case on the docket. Consequently, the jurors in the Williams case were discharged after they had handed in their verdict.

Manistique Shot Gun Interest Warm

It seems to be about time for the Manistique Gun Club to become active again," said a former member of that organization yesterday. "Personally, I haven't heard a thing from the organization, and I'd like to get something started. What's the matter with the gun club?"

In past years the club has been an active organization in the world of sport, and sportsmen's magazines carried reports of the work of its members.

Now, the inquirer wanted to know if it was possible to resurrect the club, or if it is too far gone to be brought to life again.

Deep Ice Ruts in Street Hamper Cars

Deep ice ruts in the streets make auto traffic dangerous in some sections of Manistique, and several collisions have been narrowly averted recently by the prompt application of brakes.

Action of the water from the melting snows on its way to the drainage basins has tended to deepen the ruts.

Warm sunshine of the past week has accomplished much in doing away with the snow, and patches of bare pavement are now visible at some of the street intersections.

Herman Kiefer to Enter Tire Game

Manistique's former city treasurer, Herman Kiefer, will enter the auto tire repair business this summer. Mr. Kiefer, who retired as custodian of the city money in favor of his wife when she was elected to the office last week, recently announced that he had purchased an interest in the shop on West Walnut street operated by his brother, Paul Kiefer, and would engage actively in the business when the season opened.

Both of the brothers are experienced tire repair men, and their shop on lower Walnut is one of the best equipped in the city.

During the winter, Paul Kiefer has been handling radio sets.

Ice in Flume Goes Out; No Difficulty

Most of the ice in the flume at Manistique had disappeared by Friday night, the result of several days of thawing, and portions of the river have also opened up, though the upper woods sections are still solidly frozen.

Measurement taken at Manistique showed that there was little change in the river level, though it is proposed to take these measurements every day, keeping in close watch of river conditions in order to anticipate and prepare for the spring freshets.

River conditions will also be watched at Germfask also, and the paper company here will be notified at once of the first raise in the river level there.

Coal Victim Better; Daughter Returns

Mrs. L. W. Sippel, who has been visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Kandel in Manistique for the past three weeks, has returned to her home in Eau Claire, Wisconsin.

Mrs. Sippel came here immediately when she learned that her father had met with an accident at the paper mill here some time ago. Her first knowledge of the unusual accident was when she read of it in an Eau Claire paper, and she left for her Manistique home immediately.

Mr. Kandel fell more than 40 feet, and was hurled in a 50-ton pile of coal, while engaged in unloading a car. He was pinned against a brace rod by the avalanche of coal from the car, but escaped with only severe bruises, after workmen shoveled coal away for more than two hours to extricate him.

Great Lakes Water Way Bill Favored

Telegrams were sent this week by the Manistique Civic Club to this county's representatives in the legislature, urging them to lend strong support to the Great Lakes tide water bill, which is recognized by local citizens to be of vital importance to this community, as preparing for the future of Manistique's fine lake port.

In reply to the telegram, the following communication was received from Hon. D. F. Morrison, House of Representatives: "Your telegram of April 9th received this morning. The bill making appropriations for the Great Lakes Tidewater Commission is now in the senate. This passed the House carrying the same appropriation as last year. "Sincerely yours, "D. F. Morrison."

COOK IS BOSS.

Cochin China is a land of Asia. It is a land of malaria, cholera, typhoid fever, and myriads of mosquitoes, the year around. But it is also a land of endless "good old summer time," of every fruit in its season, and of "spring chicken," and good cooks all the year around.

Hiring a cook in that part of the world is the most important contract one makes. One's life is literally and absolutely in the cook's hands at every meal. Cholera lurks in the kitchen all the year around, unless the water is boiled for every purpose, and even then one buys drinking water imported.

But taking things as they are, know first of all that his high mightiness, the cook, will tolerate no other purchaser of meats and vegetables for his table. His professional reputation is involved.

Odd Fellows Will Take In Big Class

A large class of candidates will receive the Royal Purple degree at the I. O. O. F. Hall Monday evening, April 16, at the degree session of the Manistique Encampment, which will be attended by Encampment men from Gould City, Engadine, and other out-of-town points.

In addition to the degree work, a sumptuous banquet has been planned, and will be served to local and visiting Odd Fellows.

State Architect Is Visitor Here

Farm Architecture is a specialty of A. Barney, who was in Manistique Friday in the interests of his work. Mr. Barney is the state architectural planner, and is now on an inspection trip of the Upper Peninsula, seeking to better farm conditions by more practical and convenient farm buildings.

People who object to little boys fighting should not send them to school in red neckties.

WAX SPOTS.

If drops of wax drip from the candles onto the rug or tablecloth place a piece of blotting paper over the spot and on that lay a warm iron for a few seconds. If the spot is not entirely removed sprinkle it with French chalk before putting on the blotter and try again.

HEADRESS.

Headbands and small turbans for evening are greatly liked in Paris at the present time. Most of the headbands show the Egyptian influence and oriental colorings, and the lavish use of seed pearls and bright semi-precious stones.

Display Attracts Much Attention

An ingenious display of an instrument called the paint-scope, in the display window of the Blackwell store, is attracting much attention. It consists of a large magnifying glass with a five inch lens and a number of slides showing wood in various stages of decay. Beside it is a panel of the same material properly protected by paint. The demonstration is interesting and is proving instructive as well to those who examine it.

NO OPERATION FOR HER

She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Escaped the Operation Doctor Advised

Louisville, Ky.—"I wish to thank you for what your medicine has done for me. I was in bed for eight or nine days every month and had a great deal of pain. The doctor said my only relief was an operation. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine and tried the Vegetable Compound and the Sensitive Wash, and they surely did wonders for me. I feel fine all the time now, also am picking up in weight. I will tell any one that your medicines are wonderful, and you may publish my letter if you wish."—Mrs. E. BOEHLENZ, 1150 Ash St., Louisville, Ky.

Backache, nervousness, painful times, irregularity, tired and run-down feelings, are symptoms of female troubles. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be taken whenever there is reason to fear such troubles. It contains nothing that can injure, and tends to tone up and strengthen the organs concerned, so that they may work in a healthy, normal manner. Let it help you as it has thousands of others. It is now selling almost all over the world.

LARGE CROWD AT COMMISSION MASS MEETING

Early Misunderstanding Threatens to Break up Gathering.

The mass meeting held at the Gladstone high school was an entire success insofar as the number present was concerned, there being over 300 people present, including about 100 women, but a misunderstanding which developed because of the change made necessary in the plans at the last moment threatened for a time to break up the meeting.

There had been some intention to take an informal ballot on candidates to be asked to file nomination petitions but the committees that had been named by the former political organizations to work out the details could come to no agreement as to how it should be done and it was finally decided to hold the meeting but simply for the purpose of holding discussions regarding the new form of government.

Attorney Glenn W. Jackson, who presided, announced that the intention of the meeting was to hold these informal discussions and opened the way himself by giving a brief talk in which he compared the old and new forms of charters. He called attention of the people present that the old charter was not a thing of the past, that it could not be brought back and that the thing to do was to work for the success of the new commission-manager form, making amendments that might be found necessary as experience with the new charter showed that such amendments might be advisable.

Emerson Speaks.

Attorney G. R. Emerson, believing that the intention was to take an informal ballot on candidates for commissioners made a plea that the meeting adjourn before this was done. He declared that as a member of the charter revision commission, he knew that the intention was to permit everyone desiring to do so, to file petitions as candidates and that there should be no attempt made to select the names at a meeting where all the people were not included. That the people were in accord with this viewpoint was shown by the hearty applause that followed Mr. Emerson's talk.

And it was very much because it had already been found to be the sentiment of the people to do away with the formal ballot that the committees that planned the meeting had decided on confining it to informal discussions of the charter and the five-man commission to be elected.

File by April 16.

Had there been time to get this information to the people to correct the impression given out by the previous articles relative to the meeting, there would have been no chance for any misunderstanding.

All those desiring to file petitions will have to do so before next Monday, April 16, as the charter provides that the nomination petitions must be in at least 20 days before the date of the election, May 7, 1923.

WORSHIPPED RATS.

Rats are held in high esteem in India, and occupy a place of religious aspect among the Hindus. This strange adoration is a result of the worship of a deity whose history dates so far back that students have been unable to find out just when or why the rat is associated with him. This god's name is Ganesha. According to Hindu mythology, he is the lord of the Ganas, who were a group of inferior deities. Ganesha removes obstacles. He is propitiated at the beginning of any undertaking. He is particularly endowed with wisdom and judgment.

There is a very old and interesting shrine erected to this mythological god at Deshnoke, India. Because Ganesha is always pictured riding on a rat or attended by one, the rat receives part of the homage directed to the god. For this reason many rats live in state in the temple where the shrine is. Pilgrims prostrate themselves before a group of rats which have no idea in life beyond that of eating everything available and keeping a safe distance from cats and hawks.

But they represent the rat god, Ganesha, and the temple in which they live in sacred on account of their presence. It is even called "the Rat Temple."

PASTOR CALLS BIG MEETING TUESDAY NIGHT

In the interests of establishing in Gladstone a community church house, the need of which is being felt daily, a big mass meeting of all Gladstone persons interested in the project, has been called by the Rev. H. W. Colenso for Tuesday evening, April 17, at the Alice Memorial Methodist church.

In announcing the meeting, the Rev. Colenso, has issued the following statement:

"The crying need in this community for a community church house has awakened in the minds of far seeing men and women a vision of the possible reality of their plans.

"Everywhere we go we hear of young men and women who have gone astray and who are not living the lives of good respectable citizens. The church is responsible to a large extent in the building of this young life into the channels which lead to pure and noble manhood and womanhood. Therefore, we the members of the official board of this church, call together all interested in our church work and the future welfare of our young people to discuss the problem of a community church house.

"We need your presence to help face the question fairly and squarely."

NO PETITIONS FILED YET FOR JUSTICE POST

While the commission election May 7 from present indications will be a hotly contested fight, balloting for the three other officers to be chosen at that time, two justices of the peace and a constable, it seems, will be a quiet affair.

With but two days remaining in which to file petitions for the offices, no candidates have as yet appeared, and no announcements of intentions to enter the race, have been definitely made.

There are four justices of the peace in Gladstone at the present time, A. W. Wolfe, Olaf Carlson, Abe Rodgers and Phil Hupy, who has handled the greatest number of cases. So far only Mr. Wolfe has announced his intention of being a candidate for reelection but the statement made by him was not definite.

Phil Hupy, for the past four years has been an active justice of the peace, handling the biggest share of the justice court cases, would be the logical candidate for one of the offices, but Mr. Hupy has been quoted as expressing himself as doubtful whether he would be a candidate for reelection.

However, in view of his record of splendid service, it is to be hoped that Mr. Hupy's friends will prevail upon him to announce his candidacy for the office he has filled so efficiently in the past.

Two Days Left.

The office of constable election for which is also provided by the new city charter, is not necessary in the management of city affairs and it is doubtful if any petitions for that position will be filed.

However, there are but two days left for the filing of nomination petitions containing the names of twenty-five voters, and little time remains for some action on the offices outside of the five commissioners.

Petition Blanks Are Taken Out

A number of applications for petition blanks for the commission election of May 7, were made and accepted at the office of City Clerk A. L. William on Friday. No petitions have been filed as yet, however, and it is probable that they will not be placed on record until late today or possibly Monday, the last day for the filing of petitions.

John Feeney Said To Be Recovering

Friends of John Feeney, star athlete, and son of Mr. and Mrs. John Feeney, 1107 Wisconsin avenue, who was seriously ill, will be pleased to learn that his condition is much improved and that latest reports say that he is getting along nicely. The young man submitted to an operation for relief from appendicitis at the St. Francis hospital, at Escanaba, on Wednesday, and his condition was at that time said to be critical, but he later rallied and his recovery will now be a matter of only a short time.

Rev. Herrgard Leaves Monday

Members of the society in charge of Miss Hazel Martin will hold their contest in oration, declamation and debate Thursday, April 26.

On the following day, Friday, April 27, the Philomathians, Lovers of Learning," in charge of Matthew Wagner, will hold their contest.

The inter-society contest will be held at the high school May 11. In addition to the program arranged by the two societies, a playlet, "A Case of Suspension," will be presented by the Junior high school students, directed by Misses Esther Baldwin and Wave Daugherty.

Announces High School Activities

He will visit Chicago, St. Louis, Omaha, Kansas City and all points in the middle west.

GIRL, KITTENS, STAR ACTORS IN "SPOOK" DRAMA

Ghost Hunters Differ As to Solution of Wierd Tangle.

London.—Ghost experts are at loggerheads. They can't agree about the Scrimshaw spook. Wierd and uncanny happenings in Joseph Scrimshaw's farmhouse in Cambridgeshire, paralleling the famous Nova Scotia case that stirred America a year ago, still remain a mystery.

Night after night, always after 12, these things happened: Chairs toppled over. Tables moved. Crockery fell and broke. Pictures fell from their pegs. The 400-pound piano did a jazz from one side of the room to the other. Chests of drawers fell and spilled the contents. A clock that had not run for years suddenly ticked and tolled seven.

Spiritualists, experts in witchcraft and representatives of the London Physical Research Society descended upon the farmhouse. They held seances, kept all-night vigils and questioned Scrimshaw his aged mother, and his 16-year-old daughter, Olive.

Still the mystery of the haunted farm remains unsolved. The uncanny antics stop for a while and then begin again. Three different kinds of ghosts have been "seen," spiritualist investigators say: A little old man with white hair carrying a brown jug. A woman with bandages around her head. A tall, dark young man, supposed to be a dead relative of Scrimshaw.

"Never had such a relative," said Scrimshaw. "I'm a churchman and I don't take stock in ghosts and seances." The farmer takes the entire affair phlegmatically and refused to consider seriously a letter signed to Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, famous novelist and lecturer on spiritualism, suggesting that the daughter, Olive, might be the unconscious agent of vapory forces described as "mischievous children of the psychic world."

Olive, who owns seven cats, was heard by investigators to utter a sharp cry at the same moment that heavy rumbling was heard in another bedroom. But she declared she had slept soundly.

Neighbors are keeping clear of the haunted house. Sightseers from London call the wierd pranks a hoax, and point to the statement of a woman spiritualist who declared the ghost of her little man with the brown jug came to her kitchen window next door, said "Boo!" and promptly vanished.

20,000,000 European Girls Doomed to Die "Old Maids" After-war Statistics Show

BY MILTON BRONNER, New Staff Correspondent. (Copyright, 1923, NEA Service.)

London.—Nearly 20,000,000 girls and women in Europe today are doomed to die old maids. They are sentenced to starvation; no husband, no home, no motherhood. It's a situation without precedent in history. It's the biggest human interest story in the world.

Yet governments close their eyes to it, statesmen and politicians ignore it, reporters and authors avoid it. It's too vast to all its aspects—political, economic and moral—for them to grapple with.

There are 20,000,000 more females than males in Europe today because of the ravages of the blizzard, the arrival of more girl infants than boy babies, the decimation of men by war and the heavier toll of males taken by famine and pestilence. Fundamentals of life involved. These millions of so-called superfluous women are creating questions involving everything of fundamental importance: the sanctity and preservation of the home, the social and political equality of women, work and wages, and the next generation's heritage of good or evil.

In the British Isles the superfluous women number 2,000,000 in Russia, 3,000,000. Their 10,000,000 sisters are scattered throughout the other countries. Not only are there no legitimate mates for these 20,000,000 superfluous women but eligible young men are deterred from marrying by lack of work, cuts in wages, scarcity of houses, high cost of necessities and threats of new wars.

The result is that a spirit of after-the-war recklessness pervades Europe. Men and women alike spend more of their wages, they are keener in pursuing pleasure, they are more defiant of the conventions and lax in their morals. The male is supreme. At dances he has six girls to pick from, where formerly he had to compete for a partner. Everywhere you see many girls dancing together; hostesses giving balls have a hard time getting as many men as women.

A new type has developed: the paid male escort. In Paris, in Nice, even in Monte Carlo you'll see him dancing with well-to-do women of middle age while charming girls are wallflowers. In every class of society girls will put up with almost any sort of a man for the sake of having to go out with.

To make themselves companionable girls smoke, drink, pet and risk other indiscretions. More Babies Born Out of Wedlock. More children are being born out of wedlock than ever before. In England the increase has engaged Parliament's attention, but the latest official figures show England least badly off in this respect.

Out of every 10,000 babies born, the number of illegitimate was as follows: England and Wales 455, Scotland 711, France 879, Italy 477, Belgium 641, Holland 213, Norway 699, Sweden 1494, Denmark 1043. Throughout Europe is an increasing movement to assist unmarried mothers and to give children born out of wedlock rights they never had before. Maud Royden, the great British woman preacher, says: "The right to motherhood is

The people are not able to get to the depot by the road with horses, the snow is piled so high, in some places it is 18 to 20 feet deep. Herman and Fred Landis left for Alpena, lower Michigan, where they will be employed until fall.

The Swedish Ladies Aid was to meet at Mrs. Dan. Groleau's, near Nahma Jct. last Thursday, but to the disappointment, none of the members were able to attend on account of so much snow. No one ventured to drive up there. Mrs. Steve Novak's condition is still very critical. No hope for recovery is entertained. Mrs. Bert Peterson's children are all sick with the flu.

Unquestionably thousands of women have died of starvation, or of diseases bred of hunger; but many others have taken "the easy way," with the result that divorce records as in England, show more homes broken up by unfaithfulness of husbands. The woman lucky enough to hold him. Women are Balked in Fight for Rights. The 20,000,000 superfluous women stand in the path of political progress of their own sex. The law of supply and demand seems to operate here as elsewhere. The more wheat there is, the less the farmers can get for it. The more women there are, the less they can get for themselves. So women politically have added little to the gains they made in the way of equal suffrage and equal rights before the war. They have less political influence, if anything. France, for instance, recently voted down woman suffrage. In 40 or 60 years—after two or three generations—matters probably will readjust themselves. Europe's attitude seems to be: "Let Nature take its course."

Millions were engaged in war work or in replacing men who went to war; the armistice, the return of the soldiers and the industrial slump threw the majority of these out of jobs. Women Forced to Compete With Men. Those that remained had to compete with men. They found the soldiers, demanding their places back. Those that held their jobs found their pay cut. Many were given the choice of showing personal favors to unscrupulous superiors or seeking work elsewhere. Laws passed for the protection of women workers proved a handicap to them; employers rather than comply with the statutes requiring creature comforts or forbidding night work discharged the women and hired men. Willingness of many women to work for less than men demanded soon developed. This resulted in many instances in reduced wages for men supporting families. It kept single men from marrying.

Legislation has been undertaken in several countries including England, Norway, Sweden and Germany to require fathers to support children born out of wedlock and to make such children's right more broad and secure. But France and the Latin countries are doing nothing along this line though legitimate births decrease while illegitimacy increases. The various countries are striving in diverse ways to stimulate the birthrate among the married. In France, for instance, 53 business associations combine to pay a million employes bonuses for each child. Christiania, the capital of Norway, pays pensions to widows, women divorced or separated from their husbands and unmarried women who have children. Single girls and women who must support themselves are finding it increasingly difficult to obtain employment or to hold jobs.

KING TUT IS GREAT ON STYLES, BUT THEY'RE NOT ENOUGH

King Tut did this! Egyptian designs like those sketched are appearing in embroidery and beading on new frocks and suits. Printed silks are beginning to show scarabs, sphinxes and "the secret his under Cheops" pyramids. Front panels and wide belts with front buckles are the only definite garment lines borrowed from the Egyptians. Most of the borrowed ideas are for trimming. There's a little difficulty about adopting Egyptian styles entire—there doesn't seem to be enough of them.

Iron Trade Review

Cleveland, Ohio, April 13.—Iron Trade Review yesterday said: Several weeks of quiet buying have developed no marks of weakness in iron and steel conditions. The tendency still is upward both in production and prices though the latter are more stabilized. The strength of the situation remains in the great amount of tonnage upon which producers are obligated and which being based in an unusual degree upon specific requirements, has given the mills and furnaces probably as liquid order books as they have ever possessed. Consumption continues at the highest point. Wage advances announced by the Steel Corporation on this week have been generally adopted by the mills. Effect of the higher wage rates on costs may bring about further price advances in some lines where margins have been close.

Steel production in March joined with pig iron in setting a new high record for the country. The total of steel ingots was approximately 3,890,000 tons as compared with approximately 3,840,000 tons in October 1918 the previous record. The March production was indicated at the annual rate for the whole country of 44,780,000 tons. Despite the high rate of production, the shortage of steel among the works remains in evidence.

One large producer has made an arrangement to take 100,000 tons of slabs and 75,000 tons of tube rounds from a Butler, Pa., steel plant which is in addition to 75,000 tons of slabs previously purchased. Railroad buying stands up as one of the market's most consistent features. Car orders this week have added 8,000 to the list. The March total of awards, 42,500, was the greatest of any single month in years. Unfilled locomotive orders at the end of March were over 2300, a high record. The structural situation is characterized by the large number of new contracts rather than by the tonnage represented. Reported structural awards this week total 33,000 tons. New inquiries foot up 30,000 tons. A further dip this week of 50c in coke has strengthened the hope of some buyers for lower pig iron but barring a little softness at Buffalo and at other occasional spots, the situation holds firmly. From a price standpoint the market just about remains in balance as shown by the slight changes in Iron Trade Review composite of fourteen leading iron and steel products. This week the average is $46.87 compared with $46.69 last week and $46.55 two weeks ago. Opals are soft when taken from the ground by men, but hard when taken from the men by women.

Why One Advertising Appropriation Was Increased. TWO partners were debating their advertising policy—planning the campaign for the next six months. Theirs is a retail store which spent in one year $12,000 on its advertising which was 5% of their yearly volume, a fair expenditure in their line of business. In growth of sales they could easily point out the home-coming of the $12,000 with a fair and reasonable profit in its train. For these two partners that expenditure was a profitable short-term investment. One of the partners spoke up: "John," he said, "we have a cash profit in the bank from that $12,000, but we have a greater intangible profit by far—it is piled up for us in the minds of every man and woman in the city. "It is reflected in the attitude of our bankers. "It is present in the minds of the manufacturers who sell us. "It is working on the minds and purses of every one of our customers." "Why," he continued, "this business, because of the advertising we have done, is worth $12,000 more than it was before we began." The two partners increased their appropriation, modestly, it is true. That was five years ago. Today, for it is in a large city, their appropriation is eight times their original amount. Their standing, with bankers, manufacturers and customers is A-1. Their business has grown and grown in a healthy way. And still as one of them put it— "In the last five years advertising has made money for us. Every cent we've spent has come back to us, and brought another with it. But, our real profit—our big profit from that advertising is banked in the minds of the people. Ours is the best known business of its kind in town. And that is worth a lot of money to us."

JUDGE CALLED ON TO FIX VALUE ON LOVE

Queer Tangle Confronts Chicago Jurist for Decision.

BY ROY GIBBONS.
Chicago.—Judges in damage suits are called upon daily to fix the value of a leg, an arm, an ear or an eye when litigants demand compensation for the loss of these members.

And it's not a rare day when a judge is asked to fix the value of a human life—in cases where relatives sue for compensation for the death of one of their kin.

But a Chicago judge today faces a problem more subtle and more engaging than any of these.

He is asked to put a money valuation on love!

This problem has arisen in the suit of Mrs. Edwin Milner No. 1 against Mrs. Edwin Milner No. 2. Mrs. Milner No. 1, a housewife, much like the dozen others you'll find in your block, alleges Mrs. Milner No. 2, a waitress to millions, so dazzled Milner, a barber, by her wealth that she stole away his love.

$100,000 Suggested.
Wife No. 1 seeks compensation for the lost affection—and suggests $100,000 might be a suitable amount. Here is her story as she sets it forth in her complaint:

Milner and Mrs. Milner No. 1 and their daughter, Charlotte, 13, were getting along as well as they could on Milner's salary of $15 a week. They were happy.

Then came prosperity. Milner got an executive job with a big haberdashery concern. There Milner met Harriet Capper, dashing debutante daughter of his employer.

The waitress and Mr. and Mrs. Milner became friends. Frequently they went on jaunts in Miss Capper's luxurious limousine.

Suspects Love.
Soon, Mrs. Milner alleges in her complaint, she began to suspect affection was growing between Miss Capper and her husband.

But she didn't mention that when she sued Milner for divorce shortly afterward. She secured a decree on ground of cruelty and began to receive alimony checks for $20 weekly.

One year and one day later Miss Capper became Mrs. Milner No. 2. And Milner became vice president of the haberdashery establishment.

And now ex-Mrs. Milner comes into court and demands from the present Mrs. Milner compensation for the loss of Milner's affections.

The present Mrs. Milner denies all the allegations in the ex-wife's complaint.

Judge's Problem.
But the judge, sifting the evidence on both sides, is confronted by these new and strange questions:

What claim has an ex-wife on her divorced husband?

How much is that husband's affection—the amount he failed to lavish on her before he was allegedly stolen—worth in cash?

Is one husband worth more than another?

How shall a court of law attempt to judge the points on which his purloined value can be assessed?

What is a fair price for any husband's love?

The case will decide all this, lawyers say.

What sort of award would you make if you were the judge?

GULL 25 YEARS OLD.
In discussing the habits of migratory birds, the Review of Reviews notes the case of "Dick," a certain herring gull which returned for 24 consecutive years to a lightship anchored off Brenton Reef, near Newport, R. I. The crew first made friends with "Dick" in 1872, when he was about a year old. He soon learned to feed out of their hands. He regularly visited the lightship each year until 1896, indicating that he was at least 25 years old when last seen. He outlived all of the men on the ship who first befriended him.

BEADED SUIT.
A smart suit for summer is of blue brocaded silk. On the jacket, the entire pattern of the brocading is followed in small steel beads, and a border about a foot wide about the hem is treated in the same fashion. A collar of gray fox completes the outfit.

NEWEST BLOUSES.
Dainty lace ruffles are used in many ways on the new blouses for spring. Single pockets embroidered or monogrammed are another new feature.

Could You Spend $7,000,000 a Month? Ford Is Getting It

BY EDWARD THIERRY.
New York.—Could you spend $7,000,000 a month? Or even $1,000,000 a month?

Dizzy incomes, these. One is Henry Ford's. The other is what John D. Rockefeller, Jr., gets in Standard Oil dividends alone.

The Senate investigation of the oil industry disclosed that young John D. owns one-sixth of the stock in the various Standard Oil companies and that his income, excluding dividends from railroads and other enterprises, is about $12,000,000 a year.

Ford himself doesn't know what his income is. He says he can't tell within $15,000,000 what he has in the bank. Last year he was admitted he paid $76,000,000 income tax, but this included the manufacturers' tax. It has been estimated that his personal income is about $85,000,000.

Both Have Simple Tastes.
Unlike the fictionalized Brewster these two men don't even try to keep up to it. Both have simple tastes.

Rockefeller has a seven-story house in New York, a week-end house near his father's Pocantico Hills estate called Abeyton Lodge, and a summer home at Seal Harbor, Me.

Ford's house at Dearborn, Mich., is a rambling stone structure on a 7000-acre estate and has about 20 rooms. Nearby is his farm. His only other home is a cottage next to Thomas A. Edison's winter place at Fort Meyers, Fla.

Servants in the Rockefeller town house number 25, Ford has half that number at Dearborn; two of them are Japs.

Each has several automobiles. For years Rockefeller drove himself in an electric runabout. Ford often drives a Ford coupe, but he also has a Simplex and several other big cars.

Rockefeller, like his father, has never owned a yacht. Ford has a small yacht on the Great Lakes, and an electric boat on the River Rouge.

Neither has ever gone in for racing horses, show horses, polo, or any of the other millionaire sports. Both like to chop wood; Rockefeller and his three sons cut and carry wood when they are in the country; Ford helps cut the firewood on his regular yearly camping trip.

Neither Plays Much Golf.
Neither cares much about golf; last winter Rockefeller took his first lesson while visiting his father at Ormond Beach. He prefers to play the violin. Ford's best-loved sports are ice skating in the winter and camping in the summer.

Ford travels more than Rockefeller does. Both use private railroad cars. Ford's is called the "Fair Lane." He likes speed when he rides in an automobile, averaging 40 to 45 miles an hour.

Rockefeller dresses better than Ford does. He clings to the silk hat for formal wear, while Ford rarely wears a hat at all. Ford's friends say his suits are "hand-me-downs."

Neither cares for social activities. Nor do their wives. Neither Mrs. Rockefeller nor Mrs. Ford care for diamonds. They are both

FUTURE RACE WILL SEE BY FINGERTIPS

Eyes to Give Out But Hands Will Do the Work.

BY ROY GIBBONS.
Chicago.—Two thousand years from today will man be seeing with his hands?

Will civilization advance to a point where it will destroy through disuse the normal faculties of sight and hearing and force watchful nature to come to the rescue and supply us with a sixth sense—what scientists now are calling a "compensating sense?"

All this is suggested by experiments now under way by Professor Robert H. Gault, head of the department of psychology of Northwestern University here, who already has succeeded in transmitting spoken messages through the finger tips of a subject whose ears were covered by sound-proof bandages.

Further weight is given to Gault's theories by Carl Bostrom, Chicago youth who is totally blind. Bostrom is able perfectly to "see" his way about, depending entirely on the highly sensitized nerves in his cheeks, buildings and people with as much accuracy as would normal eyes!

Bostrom's statements have been confirmed by rigorous scientific tests.

"Synthetic Sight."
In these phenomena, medical experts agree, lies the possibility of restoring synthetic sight to the blind and hearing to the deaf.

"We are on the threshold of a great discovery," Professor Gault says. "We are just starting to tap a great reservoir in man of heretofore unsuspected power."

"Nature has equipped the average human being with limitless compensating forces, which if once understood will enable the maimed and handicapped once more to resume their places as useful members of society."

"They will be given what might be called substitute organs to take the place of those of which they have been deprived."

"By that I do not mean that missing parts of the body can be forced to serve the purpose for which they were intended. I mean the sense of such will be developed to such a degree that its substitute uses will be manifold and its advantages beyond present power to describe."

"I am familiar with predictions of those who say our neurotic mode of living will rob us of sight as well as feet and other organs within a short space of time, due to over use of some members and organs and non-use of others."

"Whether any such thing will happen I am willing neither to affirm or deny. But if such deterioration does take place, nature will be at hand to compensate."

"We see this protection in the lower animal kingdom. Fishes in the fathomless bottom of the sea where night is ever present, have been equipped with lantern eyes.

ROBINSON CRUSOE OF 1923

Robinson Crusoe was no more isolated than Harry Holzworth (inset), keeper of the "crib" shown above, separated from the mainland at Cleveland by five miles of the angry waves of Lake Erie. When Holzworth fell ill with tonsillitis, he had his assistants send radio messages to Cleveland for aid. A power boat, containing a doctor, fought through a 50-mile gale, but was unable to land the physician. He, however, shouted instructions for treatment. The following day a tug was brought to the crib and Holzworth was removed while the crew of seven risked their lives in the stormy waters.

"On all sides, so we see, the compensating force is at work. When it has been pinned down and turned into reconstructive channels, science will become an agency for reclamation—reclamation of human beings—as well as a preventive agency."

COURTING IN THE OZARKS
"How did you happen to quit sparking Miss Tootie Bender?" asked an acquaintance.

"I don't like music, that's why!" disgruntledly replied an Ozark swain. "Every night I was over there, just as soon as I got seated old man Bender would come in, take down his infernal fiddle and begin to play. The longer he'd play the tinner I'd get and then finally when only 'bout 'leven o'clock he'd begin to saw off 'Home, Sweet Home,' I couldn't stand any more of it and lit out. And I ain't going back there, neither!"—Kansas City Star.

KNITTED SILK.
A very attractive costume of knitted silk is of Alice-blue with horizontal stripes of gray woven in the hem of the skirt and the over-blouse. Gray ribbon binds the neck and sleeves.

A 100-YEAR-OLD CASE.

A request was made to the Supreme Court of the United States this week to advance the date for argument on the case involving the boundary line between New York and Massachusetts, which affects property in Rochester. Associate Justice Holmes leaned over and whispered something in the ear of Chief Justice Taft. The Taft chuckle sounded from the dignified bench. "Mr. Justice Holmes says," remarked Mr. Taft "that there is little use in placing two months ahead on the calendar a matter which is already one hundred years old." The court took the request under advisement.

HEARTS AFLAME

From Harold Titus' novel, "Timber."

REVIEW ON "HEARTS AFLAME" WHICH RAN AT THE CHICAGO THEATRE LAST WEEK.

Here's a Great Picture; Don't Fail to See It. "Hearts-Aflame" Has Thrill and Punch.

By Mae Tine.
Good-morning! Great picture! Ought to see it. Even if you DON'T care for pine trees and the smell of smoke and people who make good under tremendous difficulties—and all that sort of thing. You ought to see it because it is so well photographed and acted and set and all that. THEN if you want a wishy-washy love story—see the wishy-washy love story. But first get a running start and cast an eye on "Hearts-Aflame."

This present "small minded, egotistic, unartistic as a reviewer would make a good janitor" department (not the news in a "kick") pretends to know nothing of growing or cutting timber. BUT, said she, rearing proudly back (CAREFUL—dippy over!), we do know that when a story teaches, well—timbering—in a mere witness' heart, that witness KNOWS whether she died from heart failure or wanted to climb a little higher. I fit could have watched "Hearts-Aflame" for at least one hour longer.

Nothing, my children, about the story; THAT you must learn from the picture. But you know Frank Keenan. You know Anna Q. Nilsson. Others in the cast, perhaps, you don't know so well. THEN will you take one's word for it that they get up nobly in a tale that needs a witness' heart? Will you believe that there are some marvelous fire scenes? Will you TAKE IT FROM ME in other words that "Hearts-Aflame" is worth while and of to see it?
Thank you.
See you tomorrow!

GHOST PICTURE AIDS SCULPTOR ON MOUNTAIN

Unique Device Built for Guidance of Borglum, in Big Job.

Atlanta, Ga.—Giant ghost figures flicker nightly across the vast expanse of Stone Mountain, near here.

Robert E. Lee, Stonewall Jackson and Jefferson Davis can be seen leading into battle hosts of men, ill clad and poorly equipped but determined to die for a cause they hold sacred.

Superstitious negroes shun the Stone Mountain region. But others know these ghost figures are not a visitation of the supernatural but are children of a projecting machine operated by Gustav Borglum, famed sculptor, who is performing the greatest projection feat on record.

Southern women have engaged Borglum to carve a giant Confederate memorial at a cost of $2,000,000 on the side of Stone Mountain, said to be the largest mass of solid rock in the world.

Borglum conceived the idea of "marking" the mountain by means of a giant motion picture machine. At last his scheme has worked.

With his projection machine Borglum flashes pictures across the great black mass as easily as if he were operating a motion picture theater.

From a slide of 2 1/2 inches the machine throws a picture 200 feet high upon the face of the great granite monolith.

How Sculptor Works
With this remarkable projector the pictures of the figures Borglum wishes to inscribe may be thrown on the mountainside. Borglum will cover the mountainside with nitrate of silver, which will form a black sheet.

Then the figures will be cast and a developing fluid sprayed over them, thus producing them in outline upon the mountain.

The next day, workmen will be lowered from the top and, with white paint, trace the outlines of the photos.

His Vantage Point
Then, from his workshop, 600 feet from the base of the mountain, Borglum will determine whether the pictures are in the right place. If not, they can be rubbed off and other substituted.

Actual carving of the memorial will begin May 1, says Borglum.

Twelve years will be required to finish the vast project and

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.
Carrying the conviction of a personal lecture on the subject, "The Message of Emile Coue" the two- reel motion picture made by Emile Coue, now being shown at the Delft, marks a distinct step forward in cinema presentation.

This picture, which was produced for Educational Film Exchanges, Inc., by Motion Picture Arts, presents the fundamentals of M. Coue's theory of self-mastery through conscious autosuggestion. The name is not as formidable as it sounds, and M. Coue's message is amazingly simple.

M. Coue himself makes this statement: "I am not a miracle man. I have never cured anyone. I can only show others how to cure themselves," and this has been done, by way of the screen.

A typical Reid comedy, which is to say, popular entertainment, is Wallace Reid's new Paramount picture, "Thirty Days," which shares honors with the Coue picture. Mr. Reid always draws well, and a large and delighted audience saw the opening presentation.

His latest vehicle is a Vitaphone comedy of the melodramatic type. It deals with the efforts of a wealthy young man to avoid being murdered by his mother's Italian butler, Polenta. The star, as John Cadwalader Floyd, has a sympathetic nature, and his efforts to console the butler's wife are construed by Polenta to mean something else. Polenta swears death to John and enlists the aid of his secret "Society of the Thousand Eyes." John is in a quandary as to the best place to hide until it is suggested that he go to jail for thirty days, as Polenta is due to sail for Italy in twenty-eight days. John serves an amusing month in jail, but Polenta himself becomes a prisoner in the same jail. Then there is more fun.

AT THE STRAND.
A little miss of the South, raised to believe in the simplest ideals, was suddenly thrown into contact with life fifty years in advance of those ideals. She was taken from her protected home in the South to become the ward of a rich manufacturer in a northern city. What happened then illustrates the differences in principles of the world of business and the simple, restricted world she had known.

This presents the story embodied in "Gossip," the Universal attraction at the Strand theater. "Gossip" has for its star pretty Gladys Walton, and its supporting cast includes Freeman Woods, Edith Yorke, and Ramsey Wallace.

Ramsey Wallace has usually been seen in her roles of "villainy" but in this he is the leading man in the sympathetic role opposite Miss Walton.

hundreds of skilled workmen will risk their lives hanging from the mountain top to carve out the giant figures from miniature models made in Borglum's studio.

Completed, the memorial will take its place as one of the wonders of the world.

SNOW EXPECTED FOR ESCANABA

Escanaba's winter wearied residents found little consolation in the prediction issued yesterday by Observer H. H. Spindler for snow in Escanaba today. The weather map yesterday showed it to be snowing at Williston, N. D., and raining at St. Paul, but with a temperature of 18 above zero yesterday morning and the prediction that today will see no change in temperature, it is not considered likely that Escanaba will be fortunate enough to obtain its precipitation in the form of rain.

THOUGHT INFERENCE.

A couple of high school principals were discussing various manifestations bordering on the occult.

"Is thought transference possible?" asked one.

"I fear not," answered the other.

"You seem to think there is no chance."

"No; if there were my students would hire a college professor to sit in class."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

FOR NEGLIGES.

Flower printed chiffons are very popular for negligees, made up of dark-colored satins.
