IRISH OPINION ON LEAGUE MAY CHANGE, 1924

FREE STATE APPLIES FOR SEAT IN BODY.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE.

Washington, April 21.—The decision of the executive branch of the Irish Free State government to apply for membership in the league of nations and the debate going on now in the Irish parliament where the prospects of agreeing with the executive are said to be bright, is causing no little reflection in American political circles.

The Irish voters in America generally deserted the democratic party in 1920 because the latter espoused American membership in the league. The chief point of objection was that article ten of the covenant somehow committed America to take sides with Great Britain against Ireland.

Seven Votes For Britain.

Should the Irish Free State enter the league it would give the dominions of the British Empire seven votes instead of six. If the United States joins the world court, the Irish Free State would have a voice in selecting judges in the assembly on a parity with the United States as each nation has but one vote in the lower body of the league.

Would Irish Still Object.

Entirely apart from the world court problem and the multiple voting objections which several members of the American senate have raised, there is no little speculation as to the effect of the forthcoming entry of the Irish Free State in the league itself.

Could Stand Together.

Once in the league America could side with the Irish Free State representative in any dispute which arises between it and another member of the league assembly. Ireland meets the United Kingdom on equal footing in the assembly and anything the representative of the United States might say there in favor of an Irish proposition could not be criticized by British spokesmen as discourteous to the British government itself.

Raisin Producers Riot, One Man Is Slain, Two Hurt

FRESNO, Calif., April 21.—One man was shot, probably fatally, one man had part of his hand cut off with a cleaver and another had his arm crushed in a fight at Yettum, Tulare county, today when 20 raisin growers soliciting new contracts for the Sunnmaid Raisin Growers Association clashed with a group of Armenian raisin growers. The Sunnmaid concern is a cooperative marketing association.

GAS CAMPAIGN BIG SUCCESS

RESULTS BETTER THAN CITY HAD EXPECTED.

"I am confident that no group of merchants of Escanaba ever cooperated with better results than in the observance of 'Cook With Gas Week' which closes tonight," said City Manager Fred R. Harris yesterday. "The number of gas ranges and stoves sold during this week exceeded our greatest expectations and the number of actual applications for gas connections secured by the city, is far greater than I believed possible in one week's effort.

To Make Connections.

Special crews of men will be started at work tomorrow morning in making connections with homes where gas mains are already laid and by the end of the week other crews will be engaged in extending gas mains to sections of the city that have not before enjoyed the benefits of the city gas service.

DANCING CRAZE IS 'OLD STUFF'

Chicago, April 21.—While dancing marathons have spread from coast to coast, health authorities here and in other cities have been casting about for law and arguments against the craze, and others have been led to wonder if history is repeating itself.

Recent records of 60, 80 and 90 hours of dancing, do not compare very well with the record of a girl spoken of by Felix Plater, who lived between the years 1535 and 1614. Plater wrote that the girl danced for a month. Another writer told of a girl at Basle who danced for a month also.

One Killed, Ten Hurt, Chicago Storm

Chicago, April 21.—One man was killed and much property damage done by a severe wind and rain storm which swept over the city today following two days of summer weather during which the mercury climbed as high as 80 degrees. Thomas Burns, a school engineer, died after being struck by a heavy skylight dislodged by the high wind.

INSTITUTE FOR BUSINESS FOLK OPENS MONDAY

PRYOR IRWIN WILL OPEN SESSIONS HERE.

In no undertaking of recent years have the merchants of Escanaba displayed a more intense interest than in the business institute to be conducted here during the first five days of this week under the direction of Pryor Irwin and Ben R. Vardaman, business experts of national repute.

Hold Luncheon Monday.

The series of meetings will be given an enthusiastic launching at a noon day luncheon at the Delta hotel on Monday when it is hoped to have present representatives of every business organization of Escanaba. At that meeting Mr. Irwin will explain the purpose of the institute and will lay the foundation for the following meetings of the week.

Public Is Invited.

While the meetings are conducted primarily for the benefit of the merchants of the city, a cordial invitation has been extended to the general public to attend any or all of the sessions. The noonday meetings will be in the form of luncheons while all of the evening meetings will be held at the city hall.

Water Overruns Bridge.

Carrying everything before it, the great volume of water undermined the ice at the bank of the river and casting it against the abutments of the bridge, formed an effective dam to the passage of water under the bridge. Before men could be summoned the water in the river rose until it was passing over the west end of the bridge, in great volume, carrying away one bridge railing and threatening the entire structure.

Heavy Floes Dynamited.

Bark carried along the east shore and over the ice to the center of the stream from the pulp mill barking machine, had prevented the ice at that point above the bridge from deteriorating. When the water had sufficiently subsided it was necessary to blast that field of ice from the east bank of the river and as it was carried against the bridge abutments it was necessary to blast the larger floes to allow it to pass down the stream.

TURKS ARRIVE AT LAUSANNE

Geneva, April 21.—(By the Associated Press)—"What is the political atmosphere here?" This was the first question asked by the Turkish delegation on its arrival this evening from Constantinople to participate in the peace conference which will be resumed Monday. The Turks were met at the station by Count Masini, secretary general of the conference, who cordially greeted them and they were escorted to the two Pasha and Riza Nur Bey, the chief delegates.

Russian Communists Play Waiting Game

Moscow, April 21.—(By the Associated Press)—As the communist party congress draws to an end it becomes apparent that the party is practically solidly in favor of Soviet Russia standing on its own legs and taking a chance of obtaining favorable agreements with the foreign powers later than pay its debt or any similar heavy price for recognition now.

BICHLER CREEK OUT OF BANKS, THREATENS DAM

Dynamite Used to Release Ice, Save Property At Groos.

Bichler's Creek, at Groos, went on a wild rampage on Friday night, overflowing its banks, carrying out nearly 150 feet of the Escanaba & Lake Superior Railway Company's tracks and adding its volume to the already raging Escanaba river, threatening for a time to carry out the paper mill bridge over that stream.

Flood Develops Fast.

Little evidence was given late on Friday afternoon of any increase in the volume of water in the river. Shortly after 7 o'clock, however, he water began to rise rapidly. At about the same time the culvert under the county road at the foot of the Groos hill, was found too small to handle the great volume of water rushing to the river from Bichler creek, with the result that the creek formed a new channel along the west side of the county road, running in front of the home of A. Hears and following the low land back of the Greenless home, finally crossing the county road but a short distance north of the paper mill.

Undermines Track.

As the new current of water forced itself to the river, it rushed over the tracks of the E. & L. S. close to the paper mill street railway system, undermining the tracks for a distance of nearly 200 feet. When the regular E. & L. S. combined passenger and freight train reached the place shortly before 9 o'clock on Friday night, the water was rushing over the tracks in great volume. In spite of the current crossing the tracks an effort was made to run the train through. After the engine, tender and five loaded cars had passed, the undermined track suddenly gave way and one heavy car load of logs was derailed.

Apply Flexible Provisions.

Details of the settlement made public today in a formal statement, include an announcement that the president desired the flexible sections fully applied. Vice Chairman Culbertson and the group which has stood with him said they construed this decision as a declaration of a "go ahead" policy. The other group, headed by Chairman Marvin had advocated rate studies only where investigations of such rates in the tariff as the situations involved may require. It will make use hereafter of its power to initiate inquiries provided in the flexible sections of the law, subject only to a veto power retained by the president in the adjustment brought about at the white house conference with the commission.

D. A. R. Wars Over Weeks Resolution

Washington, April 21.—The resolution of Mrs. William Cummings Story of New York, endorsing the stand of Secretary Weeks of the war department on pacifism and preparedness which was tabled yesterday by the congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution, again today disrupted the calm of the delegates and after half an hour of uproar, a similar declaration was adopted under a suspension of the rules. The fight over this resolution and the inauguration of Mrs. Anthony Wayne Cook of Pennsylvania and other national officers provided the only excitement at the concluding sessions of the 2,000 delegates held left for their homes.

PLAN REVISION IN DUTY RATES

Washington, April 21.—The tariff commission, as a result of the compromise of the president yesterday after a four months' deadlock will go ahead immediately with investigations of such rates in the tariff as the situations involved may require. It will make use hereafter of its power to initiate inquiries provided in the flexible sections of the law, subject only to a veto power retained by the president in the adjustment brought about at the white house conference with the commission.

Tuttle, presiding bishop of the Episcopal church in the United States, is not expected to be large, intimates of the late prelate said, following the filing of his will for probate here this afternoon. The will contained a posthumous valedictory, offering thanksgiving to God. The bishop's numerous beneficences in life, many of which were never made public, are expected to make the value of the estate much less than it might have been. The will gave no intimation of the estate's value.

Equality of Races Attacked by Speaker

Chicago, April 21.—Universalism, or the abolition of all national boundaries, governments and aspirations, would result in the virtual extinction of the white race and the destruction of all higher culture and civilization, William MacDougal of Harvard University, declared in an address at Northwestern University tonight. Prof. MacDougal attributed the spread of anarchistic and cosmopolitan ideals to the promptings of Christian ethics. He declared that both these ideals spring from one grave defect, namely that which assumes all men and all races of men are for all practical purposes essentially alike.

ROBERT CECIL TALKS LEAGUE WITH HARDING

BRITISH STATESMAN TAKES LUNCHEON WITH BORAH.

Washington, April 21.—Lord Robert Cecil presented directly today to President Harding and to Senator Borah, of Idaho, his explanation of the league of nations, its achievements and its hopes.

Result Not Revealed.

The impression made by Lord Robert's presentation on the president was in no wise revealed, the white house issuing no statement after the call and Lord Roberts confining his comment to the assertion that he had had a pleasant discussion with Mr. Harding. Senator Borah, however, issued a formal statement which while not directly setting forth the impression left by the conversation, declared the senator had told Lord Roberts that the vast majority of the American people were uncompromisingly opposed to joining any plan or league which would involve America in European politics.

Both of the conferences were arranged by Henry White, former American ambassador to France, and one of the American commissioners at the Versailles peace conference, who is entertaining Lord Robert.

Still Discuss Court.

The international court matter continued to press forward as a matter of discussion among Republican leaders in the capitol, and indications increased during the day that the president had decided to make within the next few days a pronouncement of the administration's stand in favor of American adhesion.

no any special statement on the subject of Lord Robert Cecil's visit nor did he write the news item which was issued by the committee's bureau here.

Cecil Still Out of Politics.

Whether opposition to Lord Robert Cecil's efforts to interest Americans in the league of nations will get into politics remains yet to be seen. While in the capital, the distinguished Britisher will undoubtedly pay his respects to President Harding and other officials of the government. The policy of the administration, however, is so definitely fixed against American entry into the league as the covenant is at present written that no special comment on Lord Robert's visit, direct or indirect, is likely to be made for the belief exists that the American people understand the Harding administration will not be budged from its views by the pleadings of M. Clemenceau or Lord Robert Cecil or any of the other distinguished spokesmen who have come to speak with American public opinion.

Washington, April 21.—At least no reduction in the supply of American farm products this year, a slightly less favorable foreign demand and an active demand at home as long as present business conditions were forecast today by a committee of 18 prominent economists and statisticians in a report to Secretary Wallace of the department of agriculture. CHAMPS POSSESS FIGHTING HEART

Case of Charlie White Middleweight Muddle Dunn's Latest Protege Dempsey versus Wills

The difference between a champion and a contender is frequently summed up in one word—Heart!

The acknowledged contender is generally equal to the champion in every other respect. He can hit, is shifty, can take a punch and give one. He has experience, too; but, he loses. Why? Because the fact that he is facing a champion, and fighting for a title, unnerves him. It is a mental hazard that stays his punches and makes him, more or less, a set-up.

Charley White's Case.

The best example of this in recent boxing is Charlie White. White, on three occasions, has had cracks at the lightweight crown. Freddie Welsh beat him; so did Willie Ritchie; so did Benny Leonard. Yet, White can do all of the things these three champions have done. White is clever, fast, hits hard and has endurance. But he cannot be a champion because he cannot take a flying leap, so to speak, over the mental chasm that always separates a good fighter from a great one.

Leonard, so it is said, plans to give all the corners a chance at his title this year and then, after he has proven his right to be classed as the best of the field, will retire. One thing is certain—White will not be Leonard's successor! It may be Lew Tendler, or some boy yet unknown to fistiana—but, it won't be White!

Check down that statement for future reference.

Middles Muddled.

The middleweight division is in a muddled state. Here we have Johnny Wilson's manager quitting to go into business because he can't get any fights for his luckless charge. Wilson is a champion, or he is not a champion, depending on where you get your mail. If you live in Boston Wilson is a champion; if you bother the postmaster in New York you are led into believing that Lou Boras is the titleholder; in Cleveland it is Bryan Downey. Then, too, there is Jack Malone, who also has some sort of a lien on the New York title.

Why not let these lads all get together in a single ring some night and stage a battle royal? Something might come of it. It surely would be more interesting to watch than it is to listen to the walls of four different managers.

each claiming his boy to be the rightful champion.

Bourke a Comee.

Jimmy Dunn, who first gained fame by piloting Johnny Kilbane into the featherweight championship, thinks he has another champion-in-the-making in Marty Burke, a heavyweight out of New Orleans.

Burke has beaten such fellows as Happy Littleton, Bob Tracy, the Australian heavyweight, and Farmer Lodge, who almost got a chance to display something against Luis Firpo. Dunn waxes vehement when talking of Burke. "By gosh!" he exclaims, Burke traveled with Jack Dempsey for four months, and was his chief sparring partner for the Willard fight. Anyone who can stay with the champion through four months must be some kid! That's more months than some guys have stayed minutes. Furthermore, Burke has red hair, is freckled like old Fitz and has a pair of beanpole legs—just like Fitz had."

Of course, there must be some difference between Burke and Fitz. What it is you have the privilege of guessing.

How About Wills.

Why all this chatter about Harry Wills, colored, and Jack Dempsey?

Wills, as a fighter, is so far distant from the Dempsey class that it is a waste of space and white paper to discuss it. The single reason for mentioning this proposed row is because so many persons have been deluded into the belief that Wills is a mauler—the type of give-and-take fighter that would down Dempsey. Nonsense!

Wills is as much out of Dempsey's class as Carpenter is—rather, was. Wills is nothing but a big, strong, slow-moving truck. He isn't a fair fighter, having a habit of holding his man with one arm and clubbing him over the back of the neck with his fist. This sort of thing isn't permitted.

Getting into the ring with Dempsey Wills would last just as long as Dempsey wanted him to last—and, no longer!

Keep it the Classified way.

Why One Advertising Appropriation Was Increased

TWO partners were debating their advertising policy—planning the campaign for the next six months.

Theirs is a retail store which spent in one year $12,000 on its advertising which was 5% of their yearly volume, a fair expenditure in their line of business.

In growth of sales they could easily point out the home-coming of the $12,000 with a fair and reasonable profit in its train. For these two partners that expenditure was a profitable short-term investment.

One of the partners spoke up:

"John," he said, "we have a cash profit in the bank from that $12,000, but we have a greater intangible profit by far—it is piled up for us in the minds of every man and woman in the city.

"It is reflected in the attitude of our bankers.

"It is present in the minds of the manufacturers who sell us.

"It is working on the minds and purses of every one of our customers."

"Why," he continued, "this business, because of the advertising we have done, is worth $12,000 more than it was before we began."

The two partners increased their appropriation, modestly, it is true. That was five years ago. Today, for it is in a large city, their appropriation is eight times their original amount. Their standing, with bankers, manufacturers and customers is A-1. Their business has grown and grown in a healthy way. And still as one of them put it—

"In the last five years advertising has made money for us. Every cent we've spent has come back to us, and brought another with it. But, our real profit—our big profit from that advertising is banked in the minds of the people. Ours is the best known business of its kind in town. And that is worth a lot of money to us."

AUTO-RADIO MEN TO MEET EARLY IN THIS WEEK

Plans for Next Years Show May Be Begun At Once

Members of the Escanaba Auto-Radio Dealers' Association will meet as early as possible this week to definitely determine whether or not the annual auto-radio show will be made a permanent early spring institution in this city.

In spite of the fact that practically every road leading into Escanaba for the entire duration of the show the attendance at each of the four afternoons and evenings of the first show exceeded all expectations and it is confidently believed that all of the dealers will strongly favor the establishment of the show as a permanent institution of this city.

Want Bills Filed.
President W. H. Needham yesterday issued an insistent call for the immediate filing of all bills against the association early in this week.

"Our first show went over with a bang. We have the money in the treasury to pay every bill and we want to wind up our accounts on the first show just as quickly as possible," said Mr. Needham yesterday. "I consider this show, in spite of the handicaps under which it labored, to have been an unqualified success and I believe that the majority of dealers participating in the first show are as fully convinced as myself that it must be made an annual affair."

Roads Were Handicap.
"Our show of this year suffered because of the fact that outside of Gladstone, Kipling, Masonville and Rapid River, no outside visitors were able to drive to Escanaba for the show. Of course, this was a most unusual year in the amount of snow that filled the roads, but I am confident that if the show is held another year on the same dates or earlier the roads will be open. In spite of the handicaps under which we labored the show established an attendance record that surpassed our greatest expectations."

P. T. A. Meeting Held Saturday At Royce Home

The Parent-Teachers' Association held their meeting Saturday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. E. C. Royce, Lake Shore Drive. There were 47 members present including the presidents of the association from the five schools in the city.

A report was given by each president telling of the work which had been accomplished by their association in their schools. Miss Neville, state health worker of Lansing, gave a splendid talk on the county health centers which have been organized in various cities and the amount of food which has been derived from same.

An invitation has been tendered to Mrs. Alta Felcher, of Lansing, state organizer of county health centers, and all are looking forward with great anticipation to May 7, when Mrs. Felcher will address the women of this city at the city hall under the auspices of the Escanaba Women's Club and the five Parent-Teachers' Associations of this city.

It was decided at this meeting to send delegates from each P. T. A. to the P. T. A. convention which is to be held at the Soo in the near future and a nominating committee was appointed, Mrs. Wm. Auerbach, Mrs. Barbara Semer and Mrs. W. E. Olds.

One feature of the afternoon's program was the decision reached by the local P. T. A., to become affiliated with the National Council of Parent-Teachers' Associations. The work accomplished yesterday was very gratifying to all concerned.

Every Button on and they are all like that-

THE Laun-Dry-Ette does not smash buttons nor tear them off. It does not injure patent fasteners and hooks. It can't—for it has no wringer.

The Laun-Dry-Ette dries the clothes by centrifugal force. Pressure on a pedal raises the dryer above the water, and the turn of a switch starts the dryer revolving so that in one minute the entire tubful of clothes is wringer-dry.

And there is never any need to handle wet clothes. You handle only moist clothes, regardless of whether you are washing, rinsing or bluing. This means that you can keep your hands soft and white.

The Laun-Dry-Ette requires no extra tubs. Washing, rinsing and bluing are all done right in the Laun-Dry-Ette. The Laun-Dry-Ette is the one electric washing machine that does all the work.

The greatest advance in washing methods since the introduction of electric power. Approved by Good Housekeeping Institute. Seventh successful year. Thousands in use.

This shows the dryer in upper position. After it has whirled the clothes wringer-dry, the water is in the lower part of the Laun-Dry-Ette, ready for the next tubful of clothes. Phone or write for a demonstration.

MYSTERY SHOW OPENS WEEK AT DELFT MONDAY

Mysterious Smith Comes with Great Reputation as Entertainer.

Bringing to Escanaba one of the biggest mystery shows in America, rivaling in size and importance in the magic profession even that of the renowned Thurston. Mysterious Smith, a noted wonderworker will open a six-day engagement at the Delft theatre Monday.

Smith's collection of magical apparatus and illusions is probably the largest in the country. Other distinguished personages in the mystifying profession carry but one program. Smith carries sufficient apparatus to permit a nightly change. Master of All Branches. He is a past-master at all of the various branches of the mystic art—from the deftness of hand which delight lovers of sheer manual cleverness, to the largest illusions; spiritualistic effects, mind reading, escapes, second-sight and "black-art."

MORE PEOPLE WANT FORDS, SAYS DEALER

"More people want Ford cars than ever before," Mr. Brackett, local Ford dealer, said yesterday.

"Fifty thousand more Fords were sold at retail in March than in any one month in the history of the Ford Motor company, according to word from Detroit. The March sales totaled 179,764 cars and trucks.

"For a whole year sales have been running over 100,000 a month, bringing a total of 1,429,979 Ford cars and trucks into use in the United States alone since April 1, 1922.

"The company is now operating on the greatest manufacturing schedule in its history, so there are more Ford cars being built than ever before and improvements in all the different types make the Ford the best it ever has been.

"And Ford cars are now easier to obtain than ever before because of the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan which makes it possible for more families to have a car. Father, mother, sons and daughters all can participate in the plan and it is rather surprising the number of families who are taking advantage of it so as to enjoy the pleasures that come with automobile ownership."

Production at the plant has not been increased by more work but by increasing man power to the utmost of the mechanical equipment capacity and at the present time 60,000 men are employed at the plant, working in eight-hour shifts six days a week on a twenty-four hour basis.

Ford motors undergo the most exacting tests. No human agency is permitted to pass the final fitness of the individual motor. Each is operated in test by electricity and under the supervision of an expert, while in a room separate and apart from this, the delicate electrical dynamometer records the test to the utmost fineness, and it is upon the verdict of this instrument that each motor receives its final stamp of approval. Though 1922 set up a production record of 1,351,333 the present year under the schedule now on will increase this by several hundred thousand and indications are that the production for the year will pass the million and one half mark in cars and trucks.

SWISS BEAUTY

ST. FRANCIS HOSPITAL. T. Mitchell of Powers was admitted recently as a medical patient. Mr. and Mrs. William Leach are rejoicing over the birth of a daughter. James Donovan of Cornell was admitted as a medical patient recently.

Rubber vulcanized by a patent process in London, and said to be the lightest solid substance known, will make the building of rubber houses possible.

LEGION OPENS CAMPAIGN FOR NEW MEMBERS

Committee Prepared to Open Speedy Drive.

Five hundred members is the goal set for Cleveland Post, American Legion, by Dr. J. J. Welch, its commander, when the three weeks' campaign, which starts Monday, comes to a close. "Every Member Get a Member," is the slogan adopted for the campaign, and will be carried out literally by the local membership. It was emphasized last night.

The Escanaba post today ranks about fifteenth in the state in point of membership and it is confidently expected that when the campaign comes to the close, it will be one of the largest in Michigan.

Every man who served during the world war and has an honorable discharge from the service is eligible to join the American Legion, which is the largest body of its kind in the world and is still growing by leaps and bounds.

In relief for disabled veterans, in Americanization and in patriotic work generally, the Legion has made a wonderful record and it is believed that there will be little difficulty in "selling" the membership idea to a large number of veterans who have hitherto failed to join. A joint meeting with the Legion Auxiliary will be held Thursday night, April 26, in Eagles' hall. There will be a program and dancing. Members of former members of the two organizations are invited. The largest job yet tackled by the Cleveland Post is the 19 upper peninsula convention, to be held here, and a large membership is necessary to put across. Detroit Swamps St. Louis; Yanks Beat Boston

CLASSIFIED COLUMNS

TYS HAMMER SIX HEAVERS

Cobb's Team Scores 16 Runs; New York Has Tight Squeeze.

St. Louis, Mo., April 21.—Detroit swept St. Louis of its feet today taking the final game of the series 16 to 1.

PHILADELPHIA BEAT MACKEN. Philadelphia, April 21.—Washington took the final game from Philadelphia here today, 6 to 4.

YANKS TAKE LAST. New York, April 21.—The New York Yankees made a clean sweep of their four game series with Boston, winning the last game of the series today, 7 to 6.

INDIANS 5; SOX 1. Cleveland, O., April 21.—Cleveland made it four straight from Chicago today by winning 5 to 1.

PITCHERS SAY BABE'S HOMER DAYS ARE OVER

There are a lot of ball players who think that Babe Ruth is absolutely through as a great hitter, regardless of the many nice things that are being written about his fine physical condition.

Ruth has seen his best days, remarked a veteran pitcher recently in discussing Ruth. "He has lost the perfect timing of the ball that once made it almost impossible to get a fast ball by him."

Another star twirler sizes up the status of Ruth thusly: "Once every American League pitcher began to fuss and worry the moment Ruth came to bat."

The fact that Ruth has been rather easy picking in the series with Brooklyn, striking out four times in four times up recently, makes it look as if the pitchers knew what they were talking about.

Reds Slam Cooper; Tounce Pittsburgh

Cincinnati, O., April 21.—The Reds knocked Cooper out of the Pittsburgh box in the first inning today and continued their heavy attack at the expense of three other pitchers, winning easily, 12 to 6.

Braves Get 19 Hits to Drown Phillies

Boston, April 21.—Boston made 19 hits and scored 14 runs against Philadelphia today, winning the game 14 to 1.

The name of God occurs 46,527 times in the Bible, and the Lord is mentioned on 1,855 occasions.

American Intercollegiate Players to Play British Rivals

Stanford University, April 21.—Stanford expert racket men will leave the province of their own local play this year, and will cross rackets with the best British colleges can offer.

In the battle for the tennis championship of the two countries, prospects are favorable for Princeton and Stanford to win, with the western player to lead the east.

Stanford's bid for supremacy rests mainly upon her two stellar performers—James Davies and Phil Neer—who now hold the American national intercollegiate doubles title, and whose individual work in the singles tournaments of a year ago carried them near the top.

FIELDING NOT AS ATTRACTIVE AS SLUGGING

Chicago, April 22.—A record of more than passing mention was made in the American League last year that went practically unnoticed.

Batting feats caught the eye in the 1922 campaign. The fans were curious as to who would be the home-run king, would Ruth overcome the big handicap imposed on him, would Cobb catch Sisler and could Roger Hornsby again show the way in the National?

With all this excitement over the batting end of the game it is not to be wondered that the fielding stunts failed to cause any great thrills.

Once upon a time triple plays were a rarity, but like home runs they were a bit common last season.

Seven triple plays were made in the American League. This bit of par excellence in fielding ties the National League in that respect.

In 1910 the National League set a record at seven triple plays for a season. Twelve years later the American League equals it.

Homers Enable Cubs to Beat Cardinals

Chicago, April 21.—Home runs by Miller, Kelleher and Hartnett, the latter driving in two runs ahead of him, enabled Chicago to come from behind today and defeat St. Louis, 10 to 8, in the first game of their series.

Giants Shut Out Brooklyn, 7 to 0

Brooklyn, April 21.—The New York Giants today shut out Brooklyn, 7 to 0, in their first encounter of the season.

"LUCK HELPS," SAYS HORNSBY

Cardinal Star Thinks His Club Has Excellent Chance.

By Billy Evans Rogers Hornsby, one of the greatest hitters the game has ever produced, thinks the Cardinals have a fine chance to win the pennant.

"The club that beats us out will win it," Rogers answered my query on that subject.

Sitting on the Cardinals' bench while Rickey's team was battling the Boston Braves at Bradenton, Fla., I had a very interesting chat with one of the outstanding stars of the majors.

"I was pretty lucky. You must be lucky to do big things in baseball. Never had any idea of a home-run record when the season started. I just swung at the old ball in my natural way."

"Kicks like that," Ray, aren't going to get you anywhere with the ump. They miss them like the rest of us. When you think they have kicked one, tell 'em, but don't let everyone in the park in on them."

While one of the greatest stars in the game, Hornsby doesn't let it affect his play or temperament. While we were discussing the likely recruits the Cardinals had picked up, one of them at the bat forgot about looking toward the part of Rickey. It was oversight rather than disobedience.

When he stepped to the plate I watched him closely. Never did he fail to glance toward the bench when the condition of the game shifted, ready to pick up the slightest change in signals that Manager Rickey might desire to hang out.

Reason for Greatness. Why is Hornsby so great a ball player? It would be impossible to offer a score of convincing reasons.

Do you know Baseball?

Questions.

ONE—If the two captains are unable to agree on certain ground rules what happens?

TWO—Can a batsman step out of the box after the pitcher has gotten into his position on the rubber ready to pitch?

THREE—With a runner on first, the batsman singles to right and the runner on first tries for third. With two umpires working, who gives the decision at third?

FOUR—Is it necessary for a pitcher to throw the ball to third or second, when he makes a feint to catch a runner at either of the two bases mentioned?

FIVE—Does the calling of a balk have any effect on the status of the batter? That is, can he go to first base in any situation which involves the calling of a balk?

Answers. ONE—The umpire makes the ground rules. If the two captains are unable to reach a decision.

TWO—He is not supposed to, but conditions often arise that make it necessary. He should appeal to the umpire, who will always call time if the pitcher has not started his delivery.

THREE—The umpire working at the plate should give the decision at third.

FOUR—It is only necessary that a pitcher complete the throw to first, when he starts such an act. It is not necessary that he do so when making a feint to second or third.

FIVE—The calling of a balk in no way affects the status of the batsman. He can never go to first base on a called balk.

ing, the real reason for his greatness is his love for the game.

"Hornsby is the first player on the field, the last off," remarked Rickey to me as we discussed his star. "He simply never gets enough of baseball."

"Open days are an eyesore to him. Most players welcome them. Hornsby is always wishing an exhibition game could be arranged. Regardless of the score he never wants to get out of the game. Often I want to rest him up by taking him out of a game that seems a sure victory kicks against it."

"Every natural asset, plus a keen brain and best of all, a love for the game, spells Hornsby's great success."

HIGH SCHOOLER HAS THE EYE OF PROMOTER "TEX"

Atlanta, Ga.—"Tex" Rickard promoter of championship bouts, is convinced the next real contender for the title belt of the middleweight division will be an 18-year-old Georgia high school boy.

Rickard's smile has fallen on "Young" Stribling, of Macon, Ga., and the lad soon will be milling about in Madison Square Garden, according to the promoter's plans.

"The fastest battler I ever saw," said Rickard after watching Stribling work out here.

In two years Stribling has fought 573 rounds. In 68 fights he has been declared winner in 56. Ten were draws and two were losses which he later avenged. He has won his last 34 starts.

Rickard's statement that Stribling is sure to rise to championship heights is seconded by the majority of fans in this section, where most of his fighting to date has taken place.

KNEES WORTH $250,000!

Ann Pennington, Actress, Has 'Em—Beautiful, Too!

WHAT DO YOU VALUE MOST? What part of your body do you value most?

Ann Pennington thinks so much of her knees that she has insured them for $250,000. Do you value any part of your body that highly?

Are your fingers, for instance, worth $10,000 each? That's the value Padorewaki, the famous pianist-politician, has placed on his digits. He's insured them for a total of $100,000 against injury.

Other high lights in the world of song and story have done likewise. Mary Pickford, for instance, is insured for $1,000,000. It is said. A large part of that is due not so much to any part of her body as to her personality.

But Charlie Chaplin's feet may be said to be the cause for his $1,000,000 policy. Babe Ruth's hands and eyes may be behind the $225,000 policy covering him for accident and life. And Doug Fairbanks agile limbs are credited with the greater part of the $1,000,000 policy that covers him.

Based on these figures, how high insurance would you take out for the most valued part of your body?

BY MARIAN HALE. New York, April 21.—"My face is my fortune," sang the pretty milkmaid.

"My knees are mine," sings pretty Ann Pennington. That's the reason she just had them insured for $250,000.

Artists have agreed that this petite dancer has the most perfect pair of knees out of captivity. Rounded and dimpled as those of a child and covered with a pink skin as soft and satiny as advertisements say one's face could be.

Need I tell you that Ann wears her stockings rolled? "Of course I do," she assured me. "And I advise every other girl to do the same. It's infinitely more comfortable and more healthful than the old way."

Aids to Beauty. "Flat shoes and rolled stockings have done more to make walking, hiking and dancing popular than any two other aids that we have ever known. Consequently they have made women lovelier."

"Women couldn't enjoy exercise formerly because they wore high heels and tight clothing. I thoroughly believe that all fatigue and ungracefulness can be traced to violations of the laws of health and comfort. Whatever restricts a woman's freedom restricts her capacity for development."

"And of course I believe in going without corsets. The only reason women ever wore slaves to them was because they were too lazy to keep their figures trim by diet and exercise."

Jumps Rope. Dancing and walking are two methods by which Ann firmly believes one must court beauty. Her favorite exercise, however, is jumping rope.

In her dressing room at the theater, between the acts of "Jack and Jill," Ann takes out her rope and skips about with all the zest and joy of a seven-year-old—and she really doesn't look much older.

"I don't advise this for anyone but myself, or for those who really enjoy it," she said. "Some people say it hurts their hearts. I'm sure it doesn't hurt mine. I believe it keeps my weight right and my circulation peppy."

"And," she whispered confidentially, "I'm absolutely sure it's the best thing in the world for the knees."

ANN PENNINGTON.

"A PURITAN WIFE"

BY JANE PHELPS

ANN ALSO WEARS A NURSE'S COSTUME Chapter 31.

Ann had scored for once, but it gave her little pleasure. While Dick said nothing he looked disturbed and was evidently relieved when the meal was over.

"He's afraid of offending her," Ann said to herself, "just as I thought. I must get rid of her entirely. We can't live like this."

Grace sulked all the evening, even answering Dick crossly. She complained when Jack whimpered, kept asking Ann to do things that she had done herself up to ten—like bringing Dick a drink of water, and changing his pillows. Until finally he declared he wanted to go to sleep and asked them to leave him alone.

Save for that first night when the doctor was there, Ann had made up Grace's bed on the couch for her. Now she made no move to do so.

"Is my bed ready?" Grace asked after fidgeting for a bit. "No, Grace, you'll have to make it up yourself hereafter. I have all I can do without attending to it for you." Ann spoke pleasantly but decidedly. And, muttering under her breath, Grace went into the room closing the door without responding to Ann's "goodnight."

Ann smiled a bit, but felt a little wicked because of the way she felt. She had enjoyed Grace's discomfiture.

In the morning, while Grace still slept, she carried in Dick's breakfast. "Hello, Grace!" What you doing up so early?" he called, then: "Why Ann, its you! And how sweet you look. I declare that outfit becomes you even better than it does Grace. I'm glad Klogg can't see you. He'd want you to play nurse in some old movie."

Ann had donned a white dress, and had fastened a cap similar to Grace's. Dick had admired Grace dressed as a nurse, he now would have two playing they were professional. It had been a sudden impulse, but Dick's compliment made Ann determined to wear it as long as Grace stayed. It would make her disagreeable, perhaps angry, but Ann was beyond caring.

They had a jolly breakfast together, then Ann brought Jack in to see his father, and for a few moments he played with the boy while Ann tidied the room. Then Ann put Grace's breakfast on the table as usual, after calling to her that it was ready.

"What in the world," Grace exclaimed when she saw Ann. "I thought you had some originality. Had to copy me," she said indignantly.

"Yes, and Dick says it is even more becoming to me than to you. He was delighted." "Oh—I see. With which enigmatic remark Grace proceeded to eat the tempting breakfast, which added to Ann's work, without another word.

Her breakfast finished, Grace immediately changed her nurse's costume for a short, natty dress Dick once had admired. She discarded the cap, stuffing her bobbed hair about her face, then with a mean look at Grace went in to Dick.

Again a smile crossed Ann's lips. She started toward the living room to fold up the bedding and put it in order for the day, then at the door, she stopped short. Grace would either have to attend to it, or it would stay as it was. Perhaps the grimmest smile that ever had touched Ann's lips came with the decision.

About mid-afternoon, Ned, Bessie and Hugh Norton drove up. Grace was on the porch and called to them to come in. She flung open the door of the usually neat, attractive living room, but saw nothing as the others preceded her.

Ann appeared and welcomed her guests, just as Grace saw the condition of the room—the bed just as she had left it, her clothes on a chair.

"Why, Ann! You forgot to clean up," she said, while Hugh Norton looked at the sweet picture Ann made in her uniform, standing placidly by.

"No, Grace, I did not forget. I cannot take upon myself the care of a room for you any longer. As you insist upon staying you will have to consider it your task."

"You haven't waited upon Grace to the extent of making her bed with all you have to do?" Bessie asked indignantly. "I'm surprised, Grace, that you would allow Ann to do it."

April Folly Strikes Two Modern Authors

ELLIOTT H. PAUL. BOOTH TARKINGTON.

DEAN REVIEWS. "IMPROMPTU," by Elliott H. Paul (Knopf).

"THE FASCINATING STRANGER," by Booth Tarkington (Doubleday, Page).

Others briefly mentioned are: "The World Mists," by Winston Churchill (Scribner); "The Lone Winter," by Anne Bosworth Green (Century); "A Man From Maine," by Edward Bok (Scribners); "From McKinley to Harding," by H. H. Kohlsaat (Scribners); and "Some Impressions of My Elders," by St. John G. Ervine (Macmillan).

BY JAMES W. DEAN. New York, April 21.—The folly of April is in "Impromptu." The spirit of April—restlessness, dissatisfaction, neurosis—must have been upon Elliott H. Paul when he wrote the novel.

Paul characterizes his work as "a novel in four movements," but he doesn't achieve a symphony. The entire opus is in staccato. The emotional crescendo is gathered up by the opening measures and swept along well into the middle of the book before he wearies of the fast tempo.

"Impromptu" is as vivid, as colorful as anything written in the past year. Scenes, characters, conversations, action, all are set down clearly and concisely. The musical flare of Paul often finds vent in passages as rhythmically measured as poetry.

But that avails nothing beyond delight in pretty writing. The author dresses a pig or two in silks and satins. One hopes that his main character may materialize in the flesh so that a slap in the face may awaken some manly trait in him.

Irwin Atwood is the central figure in "Impromptu." His boyhood is spent in a New England town as bleak and provincial as Gopher Prairie. He is a burden to his mother. He is over engaged in some petty dishonesty.

Swept up in the war, one looks for some ennobling trait to develop, but it never does. To the very end he is a raven coward.

He steals small sums from his mother. He uses funds of his frat. He takes his buddy's life belt when he thinks his transport is about to sink. He complains of every petty task that fell to his lot in the army. He returns and, sponges on a kindly employer.

Atwood meets Dorothy, the girl he left behind him when he enlisted. He had left her in a sorry predicament, but others had cared for her. When Atwood meets her again she is earning her livelihood in a manner generally considered unconventional not to say immoral. He accepts money from her.

A professional dancer sees them at a Boston dancing pavilion. He offers them a place in New York. Dorothy's invalid sister is a burden that cannot be carried along. Atwood plans to murder her. He believes he causes her death when she collapses and dies. He reenlists in the army.

When Paul wrote this story he evidently pledged himself to the truth. But he often tells the truth untruthfully. He talks like a rough-neck. He goes too much into details regarding human functions. The ugliness lies in trivialities not essential to the story. That sort of thing constitutes posing.

Paul's flare for music is evidenced in this passage: "Thus the rhythmic owing of many arms, the vigorous plowing ahead of strong young chests. Legs in eights, tramp, tramp, tramp. Faces to the front, tramp, tramp, tramp. * * * The regulars. Surge of caught breaths. Stip of unshed tears. The brick walls rock with cheers, caroming, rocking, thundering back and forth between the swaying buildings. Windows ignite with a handkerchief blaze. Top windows cheer in soprano. Roaring diapason below. The drums give warning of the naked red thrust of brass to come. The fighting-mad trombones, the searing ruthless trumpets, the shattered glass of piccolos. The drum that rattles, the drum that booms. The hand mounts the first crescendo."

April folly is in Booth Tarkington's new volume of short stories collected under the title of the principal one, "The Fascinating Stranger," but the neurosis is centered entirely in the characters. In almost every story in the volume Tarkington evolves a whimsical, humorous tale from over from the land of cherry blossoms and chrysanthemums. It is of paper and contains countless ribs. The American copy is of Japanese silk embroidered or printed with Japanese figures.

The cretonne parasol is naturally going to be popular for the summer because it is so practical. The latest trend is to have a cretonne hat to match the parasol and the rest of the costume pure white. The hat must be the very small, cloche type, so as not to appear to relieve the parasol of any of its mission.

Handles are short and chunky. Some of them are black with gold figures, the surface highly polished, giving the effect of lacquer. Others are carved or set with large colored stones. Occasionally one meets the plain handle of wood, painted to bring out the predominating color of the sunshade.

Broadcasting stations in the United States increased almost sixteen fold in one year. There are 579 stations today. A year ago there were 36.

Not only will the big liners carry radio, but their lifeboats will be equipped with a set, for use in case of emergency. In that case the sea will be safer than it. See the way Grace cared for her, ever.

TURNING THE PAGES

Of course, Winston Churchill was expected to write a book on the war. He kept a written report of all his acts as first lord of the admiralty and of his many speeches. "The World Crisis" is based on them. When summer comes read "The Lone Winter." It is Anne Bosworth Green's first book and deals with her experiences on a Vermont farm through winter months. Two recent biographies, not as romantic as "Barnum" but as notable of American progress, are "A Man From Maine," by Edward Bok, and "From McKinley to Harding," by H. H. Kohlsaat. The man from Maine is Cyrus Curtis, publisher. Kohlsaat's book is an intimate account of his acquaintance with six presidents. The leading literary lights of England are painted at first hand in "Some Impressions of My Elders," by St. John G. Ervine.

TOM SIMS SAYS

Whispering sweet nothings into her ear is better than poking sweet somethings into her mouth. People without enough sense to come in out of the rain have a chance to learn during April. Reason women don't dress sensibly is perfectly obvious. It would make them look so foolish.

STUDENT PLAY BIG SUCCESS

"Alice-Sit-by-the-Fire" Is Shown to Big Audi- ence.

Manistique high school dramatic talent showed to good advantage Friday night in the presentation of the play, "Alice-Sit-by-the-Fire," at the auditorium. The performance was well received by a well-filled house. All character parts were nicely filled by Lorna Demars, Winnie Larson, James Sox, Douglas Larson, Ina Martin, Carl Sheehan, Gladys Sharple, Lillian Tibbault and Beatrice Dalton. Special mention has been made of the work of the Misses Demars, Larson and Martin. The latter substituted in a part that was originally to have been taken by Miss Dorothy Hovey, and was not given her lines until the Monday preceding the play's presentation. The Hawaiian orchestra in costume also made a big hit, and the high school orchestra furnished music between acts.

The play was presented under the direction of Miss Jeanette Hewitt, who will begin work immediately on rehearsals for "Clarence," senior class play, and probably the best of the year, as the cast includes talent that has always starred in amateur offerings.

FIFTH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY IS CELEBRATED

One of the most pleasing social functions of the season was the dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Herbert at the Ossawaunakee Hotel Friday evening, celebrating their fifth wedding anniversary.

The guests were seated at two long tables which were tastefully decorated with cut flowers, in a pink and white color scheme. Entering the dining room, all were greeted with fancy caps, the donning of which afforded much merriment. Each lady found a perfume bottle at her plate, while the men received cigarettes and holders. Covers were laid for 24.

After the dinner, the guests were invited to the Herbert home on Oak Street, where several tables of bridge were enjoyed. Mrs. Lon Furey and Glen Thomas were winners. The following were present: Messrs. and Mesdames, Baldwin, Durst, Ludlow, Geo. Nicholson, Foudren, Gerro, Jr., G. Johnson, Messrs. Harry and Glen Thomas, Wallace MacNaughton, Mrs. L. Furey, Mrs. G. Shipman and Miss Heath.

Mirrors Installed in Dressing Rooms

Two large horizontal mirrors have been installed in the boys' and girls' dressing rooms at the high school gymnasium here.

Addition of the mirrors to the gymnasium equipment will be much appreciated by the users of the gym. They were purchased with funds accumulated from gymnasium entertainment proceeds.

Another piece of furniture soon to be placed in the high school is a trophy case, which will hold pennants, ribbons, cups, shields, and other trophies won by their high school, or classes of the school. Placed in the case, these relics will be on display at all times, as well as being in safe keeping.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Oleak arrived in Manistique Saturday, returning from a wedding trip to St. Paul and Minneapolis.

GRIFFIN TAKES HIS PLACE IN OFFICE MONDAY

New Postmaster Is Ready to Begin Duties

Fred R. Griffin is expected to take over his duties as postmaster at the Manistique office on Monday, according to reports current here Saturday. Mr. Griffin's first notification that he had been chosen for the appointment came two months ago, and the delay in sending the confirmation has caused much speculation. Fred Griffin, the retiring postmaster, plans to devote his entire time to his hardware business.

Paper Mill Going at Full Blast

Four grinders and a generator are now being operated at the Manistique Pulp and Paper Company's mill here, to take care of extra water from melting snows. By Monday, it is expected to operate all of these with both night and day shifts. "It is confidently believed that these new freshets can be dealt with at the mill without inconvenience, and it is generally thought that the crisis is past, unless unusually heavy rain storms occur."

Olmstead Reported to Be in Alpena

Word has been received by Chief of Police John A. Peterson that Hardy Olmstead, alleged Manistique moonshiner, had been located in Alpena, Michigan, and was returning to this city, to arrive here Saturday or Sunday. Olmstead is thought to have been the operator of a still for some time at his rooms in the Peter Campbell residence on Chippewa avenue. The outfit was found more than a week ago by the local police, who also learned that Olmstead had left that same day on the car ferry.

Telephone Line to Be "Changed Over"

As soon as weather conditions permit, employees of the Manistique Telephone company will begin the work of transferring the branch line on the Thompson road to the west trunk highway, M-12, and the Fitch resort will be made a toll station. The changing of the line to the main highway will mean much work for the local telephone men. New poles will be erected as soon as the frost is out of the ground, and wires will be strung along the trunk line.

TEACHERS FOR 1924 SELECTED

List Practically Complete, Superintendent An- nounces.

Engagement of teachers for Manistique schools by Supt. Hall has practically been completed, and the list of teachers as it now stands shows only two English instructors lacking. A telegram was received from Victor Crittenden, of Marquette, now at Alma College, assuring Mr. Hall that he had definitely decided to accept the position as coach here at the terms offered him. Crittenden is a baseball pitcher of some reputation, and will make his home at Manistique this summer while pitching for the Manistique Legion team. A Carroll College (Waukesha, Wisconsin) man, George P. Cook, has been signed as assistant coach. The fact that he comes from that section of Wisconsin gives assurance of his ability as a basketball man.

Hospital Building Topic for Monday

The question of a hospital building for Manistique will probably be brought up at the Monday meeting of the Civic club. This is a matter that has been agitated in the city for some time, and on suggestion of O. R. Foudren at the last meeting, the forum tomorrow will be left open for a general discussion of hospital possibilities. Several new members have been added to the organization at recent meetings, and interesting discussions have resulted with the bringing up of current problems.

CITY BRIEFS

Angus McLeod was called last week to Soo, Ontario, by the critical illness of an uncle, who passed away before Mr. McLeod reached his bedside. Mr. McLeod also accompanied the body, which was taken to another city for burial, and is not expected home until the latter part of the week.

Miss Leona Foye, assistant to the Schoolcraft county clerk, left Manistique Friday night, en route to Iron Mountain for a visit with relatives and friends. Miss Foye is expected home on Tuesday.

Fred Griffin, Earl Gronid, Alex Macklin and V. P. Deemer left Friday night for Escanaba. Mrs. Nick Stoken arrived in Manistique Saturday from Hermandville, and will make her home in this city. Mr. Stoken is employed at the Stack mill here, and came to the city some time ago. Other members of the family also arrived recently.

Joseph Jackson returned Friday from Detroit, where he went to seek employment. More than 75 per cent of the employees of the Carcoal Iron Company here are now members of the C. I. Club which is now completing the erection of a 30 by 120 club house on North Cedar street.

"Turn to the Right" Attraction at Gero

Musical Program Heard by Big Crowd

More than sixty people attended the musical entertainment given by Miss Esther Soderbeck's group of the Bethany Society Thursday evening. The program was a part of the money making plan being carried out by groups of the society, and was one of a series of social events staged by them recently. An admission charge of 20 cents brought a good sum in revenue to the organization's treasury, and the musicale was greatly enjoyed by those present.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed with Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the musky mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular, because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustrous appearance of abundance which is so attractive. ### ARTISTS HERE MONDAY CLOSE LYCEUM SEASON

Grosjean Group Will Appear in Musical Entertainment.

A premier musical entertainment company, presenting a wealth of novelty in a varied program, is the Grosjean-Marimba-Xylophone company which will be heard on the Lyceum course here Monday, afternoon and evening. The matinee performance will be for school children of the city. The popular five-person company features the marimba-xylophone, a musical instrument par-taking of the best qualities of the marimbaphone and the xylophone. With it, the Grosjeans produce most artistic and novel musical effects. They also use the saxophone, piano and drums. In addition to the instrumental numbers there are pleasing vocal selections together with fascinating character impersonations of Miss Flora Grosjean, feature artist.

Every member of the Grosjean Marimba-Xylophone company is a talented musician. Each of the three sisters is a vocalist and an instrumentalist, while Henry Jensen, tenor, the other members of the company, in addition to being soloists, are talented instrumentalists.

Feature Artist.
Miss Flora Grosjean, feature artist of the company, is one of the most amusing impersonative entertainers before the public. Her delineation of many varied characters has built for Miss Grosjean an ever growing popularity with her audiences.

The entire personnel of the Grosjean company is thoroughly experienced in musical entertainment field. For the past two seasons the company has pleased audiences in every part of the country and their program has proved to be universally popular in communities of every size.

TAKE ACTION ON CHURCH HOUSE PROJECT TODAY

Vote Will Be Cast at Methodist Church Services

Action on the proposal to build a community church house in Gladstone will be taken today by members of Alice Memorial Methodist Episcopal church congregation at a secret ballot which will be conducted at all church services by the Rev. Harry W. Coloeno, pastor. A meeting to discuss the project was held Tuesday night and while those present expressed themselves as agreeing with Mr. Coloeno in the need for a church house, the attendance was not as large as could be desired. The plan of taking a vote on the matter at Sunday services was decided upon at the close of Tuesday's meeting. While all plans for the building of the house are as yet tentative, the structure being discussed would cost between $10,000 and $15,000 and would be built by private subscription. After the structure was finished it would be maintained by the revenue coming from the entertainments held there. The building would contain a swimming pool, gymnasium, auditorium, reading rooms and other attractions for the boys and girls of Gladstone. The project is being given the earnest attention of a large number of people and the vote to be taken today at the Methodist church services will mark the first definite action toward fulfillment of the plans.

SAYS CHARTER IS DEMOCRATIC AND EFFICIENT

Prof. Crane Speaks of Possibilities Under Manager Form.

That the new commission-manager form of city charter adopted by Gladstone voters is more democratic than the old form was the assertion of Robert T. Crane, instructor of political science, in a talk which he gave to a gathering of Gladstone boosters gathered in the All Saints' hall yesterday noon. There were over 60 present to hear Prof. Crane. Prof. Crane explained at the outset that he was not a salesman for the commission-manager form. That it was not his purpose to advise people that they should have one or another form of government. He declared, however, that inasmuch as the people of Gladstone had already adopted the new charter he was free to state he believed it to be the most practical form available at this time. This conclusion he said he came to after the manager form had been given a thorough trial in an increasing number of cities over a period of eight years, at the beginning of which time he had been skeptical towards it and did not believe that it would work out. Its practicability had now been clearly demonstrated, he declared, leaving little ground for the theory to the contrary. Prof. Crane dwelt upon the fact that there is no resemblance between the commission-manager and commission forms. In the commission form the drawback had been that there was no chance for labor representatives while under the commission-manager form this was not only possible but desirable, as the commission functions as a single body instead of one different man for the different departments. Labor Attitude. "There is just as much room for representation of labor on your commission as there ever was. There ought to be a labor representative," declared Prof. Crane in the course of his talk. Labor's attitude towards the manager form was shown by the fact that in Cleveland, a city of 800,000, the railway union men had proposed such a charter and had succeeded in having it adopted by organizing the union vote. This was accomplished in the face of opposition from other groups that were skeptical relative to the effectiveness of such a form in a city of that size. "The people at a point of exasperation with the ineffectiveness of the old form of government, have in some cases given up to some extent the democratic form of government. They need service, they've got to have service even if they must release some of the democratic principle. "But the commission-manager form is democratic because it gets results. It's efficient. And in the commission elected by the direct vote of the people lies the responsibility for making it so." Prof. Crane was introduced by Attorney G. R. Empton, a member of the charter revision commission. Mr. Empton called attention to the value of the work done by the University of Michigan man in helping Escanaba get started properly under the new charter adopted there a year ago. That city's appreciation for Prof. Crane's assistance was demonstrated Friday night when he was the guest of the Escanaba city council and the men of the charter revision commission that drafted the new charter. The value of his work is made a matter of record despite the fact that Prof. Crane, in his modest way, maintains that he did nothing more than was expected of him as a representative of the University of Michigan which has men ready and capable of rendering assistance to cities in need of it.

HOLLYWOOD IS JUST AS TAME AS 'HICKVILLE'

Writer Fails to Find Any Evidences of "Wild Night Life."

BY JOSEPH J. O'NEILL.

(In the New York Telegraph)

"Well, what are you going to say about us when you get back home? Are we wild men and women? Did we fill you full of hop? Did we horrify even your Greenwich Village mind? Are we standing on the crumbling brink of a brimstone lake?"

These were a few of the questions that rattled around this narrator's brain a brief time ago as he was preparing to shove off from Hollywood toward the beyond lights of Broadway.

"Not me," I told them. "I'm afraid I'll have to tell the truth. And I'm sorry, for all the lads of the village will expect some wonderful tales of weird goings-on—and if I don't spring a few of those, at least, I'll be put down for a liar, anyhow."

And that was the absolute fact. For I'd gone out to Hollywood in November all smoked up with seas of getting some new kicks out of life; of seeing Hollywood Blvd thronged with bathing beauties in one-piece; of dipping, by mistake, into the bowl of cocaine instead of powdered sugar, while decorating my grape fruit in the morning; of dodging diamond-studded motor cars racing along at 100 miles an hour and so on and on and on—as a title writer would say.

And I hadn't got a single new kick, and nary a thrill that hadn't coursed through my aged frame before—and here I was starting back home with not a single wild tale to tell.

Wild Tales All Bunk.
Really, it was dreadful! I ought to hang out a few imaginary adventures to satisfy the cravings of those who believe (and love to) that Hollywood and its inhabitants are the wildest of the awful. But the plain truth is this: The "wild Hollywood" yarns with which the dear, old, gullible public has been regaled from time to time are utterly and entirely the bunk.

"Parties?" Sure! I went on quite a few of them. Let me tell about some. There was a really big one a few days after my arrival out there—given by one of the producing magnates. It was at the Hotel Ambassador in Los Angeles. All sorts of folk were there; directors, actors, actresses, authors, continuity writers and, indeed, about every kind of picture person, perhaps fifty in all.

In the producer's living suite, first, we had cocktails and caviar. "Ah," you say. "Liquor in Hollywood!" And you say a mouthful. For there is liquor there, exactly as there is in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston. Frankly we were wild enough to have two cocktails per person. But nothing seemed to happen. I wondered when things were going to brisken up a bit. "A little more speed here? Just a little, more speed!" was my unspoken demand. But there was no speed. At 11:30 the party began to break up. The fairest and gayest of the film queens began to move toward the cloak room. "Working!" was their explanation. "Have to be on the set at 8:30 in the morning."

Try and Find a Place.
And that—as the ancient saying goes—was that. And when I asked of an old stager, "Where do we go from here?" he looked scornfully at me and replied: "Try and find some place."

Another party—this time a stag affair. "Like to play some poker, old top?"
Visions of $1,000 limit, seven-card stud, with all the deuces wild and the joker in the deck.
"I dunno; what do you play?"
"Oh, four-bit jackpots; doesn't get any higher than that except maybe the last round, when the limit goes to a dollar."
"All right; let's go."

Six of us sat around for three hours. No one was badly hurt—financially or otherwise. There was a bottle of Scotch and some soda for those who cared about it. Three took an occasional nip; the other three didn't; a good portion remained at the end. Those present were two actors, two directors, a scenario writer and this chronicler.

As it was 1-a. m.—an outrageously late hour in the Hotel Hollywood—we tipped to our respective rooms at the end of the game.

ON WITH THE DANCE

An old law was invoked to stop Miss Josephine Kryneck and Ted Gill in their attempt to break the marathon dancing record in New York, so they danced in a truck, ferried to New Jersey and continued their dance uninterrupted.

Sam F. Glasser and Miss Myrtle Smith won $100 and a large silver cup in a dancing marathon at Baltimore, Md., but their record has long since been broken in other cities.

There are no liquor shops; the bootleggers are countable on the fingers of one hand—and work very secretly and carefully; there are no howling parties of joy riders swooping along and—

Well, altogether, Hollywood is really just a pretty, quiet little suburb of 75,000 inhabitants, with 15,000 of them working in pictures in one capacity or another—and being obliged to work and work hard if they want to make good and stay in the industry. And so they really can't drink and carouse and dissipate and pull the stuff that the sensation-slingers would have you believe.

ACID IN STOMACH SOURS THE FOOD

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid Is Cause of Indigestion

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation; then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases, which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, while it is effervescent, and furthermore to continue this for one week. While relief often follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gassing mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salt is used by thousands of stomach sufferers with excellent results. Adv.
