

CHINESE TROOPS ATTACK BANDIT CAMP

U. S. FIGHTS TO KEEP WIRELESS MONOPOLY OUT

JAPANESE ATTITUDE DISPLEASING TO HUGHES.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE. Washington, May 26.—America's fight to free the world from monopolies of radio and telegraph communication so that news may come to the peoples of the earth unencumbered and untainted has reached the point where it challenges the good faith of the Japanese in their protestations of friendliness to the policy of the open door in China.

The battle of notes and official statements which for months has been going on between the American legation and the Japanese legation in Peking has just been intensified by the sensational discovery that at the Japanese suppressed an important article in the text of the report recommended by the delegates of all powers, including Japan, as the basis for dealing with international, cable and radio rights throughout the world.

New Stations at Issue. Briefly the controversy centers around the signing of a contract between the Chinese government at Peking and an American firm, the Federal Telegraph and Wireless Company, now controlled by the American Radio Corporation, for the construction of several high power radio stations to be owned and operated by the Chinese government.

To Abolish Monopolies. The Japanese argue priority of rights while the American government contends the monopoly violates the spirit and letter of the open door in the Far East. The Japanese in their official statement base their case on the first three articles of the report made by the International Communication Conference in Washington, copies of which evidently had not been sent to the American legation in Peking or generally distributed but they throw an important light on the matter of cable and radio communication throughout the world.

To Aid in Development. Third, nevertheless, the powers do not intend to prejudice the development of communications by cable or radio by preventing the granting of exclusive or privileged concessions for a reasonable term of years in cases where the probable traffic would not be sufficient to yield a fair return upon the capital invested in more than one system for the operation of the service in question.

When John Phillip Sousa is ready to retire, another Phillip will be ready to take up the "march king's" baton. Robert Philip Carpenter is only 5, but he directs a 60-piece band in Pueblo, Colo. Pupils of the kindergarten classes of Lake View and Carlisle schools are the players.

ESCANABA GETS ORATORY MEET

High School Stars of Michigan Will Speak Here Friday.

The high school oratorical and declamatory championships for the entire state of Michigan will be decided in Escanaba on the night of June 1, according to a wire received Saturday afternoon by W. E. Olds, superintendent of schools, from E. E. Gallup, Lansing, secretary of the state oratorical association.

Overcame Opposition. Considerable opposition to the plan to bring the meet to Escanaba was encountered, according to Mr. Olds. Mr. Gallup, secretary of the association, favored the proposal, but members of the opposition to the idea. It was only when a refusal to go down state for the meet was hinted at that the balance was swung in Escanaba's favor.

Second Chance at Title. Hartwig is the second Escanaba lad to win the peninsula championship. Wendell Lund taking peninsula and state honors in 1922. A good share of the credit for bringing the meet to Escanaba should go to the local civic clubs and the Chamber of Commerce for their work in cooperation with the schools, according to Mr. Olds. All clubs had sent telegrams to the secretary of the state association urging that the meet be brought here.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 26.—Driving at a speed of more than 108 miles an hour, the fastest ever recorded officially at the local speedway—Tommy Milton today won the pole position for the annual 500-mile automobile race to be held here next Wednesday. Six other drivers qualified their cars for the event by negotiating 10 miles at a speed of 80 miles an hour or more.

GREEKS, TURKS, SETTLE THEIR DIFFERENCES

AMERICAN OBSERVER TAKES LEAD IN SETTLEMENT.

Lausanne, May 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Peace instead of war in the near east was the welcome result of a dramatic session of the Lausanne peace conference held today at Ouchy chalet to settle the Turk-Greek reparations controversy. Complete agreement was reached, and as this was the only remaining problem between the Greeks and the Turks, hostilities which it was feared might involve the Balkan countries, have been averted.

Will Aid Speedy Peace. The United States, through Joseph C. Grew, the minister to Switzerland, played an important part in the settlement. Mr. Grew's efforts for peace are regarded by conference delegates as having helped considerably in preparing the way for the agreement which the European powers have been seeking for a fortnight.

Follows Long Debate. The essential points in today's agreement are: Greece admits that she owes indemnity to Turkey, while Turkey renounces enforcement of payments; the two powers agree to rectification of the boundary between Eastern and Western Thrace and to the restoration of ships seized from one another since the Armistice; the Turks agree to waive indemnity in view of Greece's precarious financial condition and Greece consents to the cessation to Turkey of Karagatch and the railroad from Karagatch to the Bulgarian frontier.

Germans Preparing New Payment Plan

Berlin, May 26.—(By the Associated Press)—The conference today between Chancellor Cuno and members of the executive directorate of the German League of Industrialists makes a notable advance toward new reparations proposals which the government intends to make to the allies, in that it is taken as a reliable indication that "big business" is definitely prepared to give the government tangible assurance of its readiness to assume guarantees for reparations payments.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 26.—Marquette University will graduate its largest class on June 13 when nearly 360 students will receive their diplomas. The highest previous number was 273, graduated last year. Dentistry students predominate, with 124 representatives in the graduating group.

Lumps of Clay Found Under Pier May Lead to Solution of Mysterious Mount Death

Chicago, May 26.—Two pieces of clay found by workmen who lifted up the floor of the Evanston pier under which a skeleton was found by the authorities to be that of Leighton Mount, missing Northwestern university student was found, were submitted to a chemist for analysis tonight by assistant state's attorneys directing investigation of the case. The chemical analysis was ordered in an effort to determine if possible when the clay came, the authorities working on the theory that the body may have been buried and later exhumed and placed under the pier where the skeleton was found a month ago.

ESCAPING GAS KILLS INFANT, THREE RESCUED

Beitzer Baby Dies, Mother, Sister and Cousin Escape.

James, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Beitzer, 304 North Eleventh street, died Saturday afternoon as the result of asphyxiation by gas fumes escaping from a water tank heater in the Beitzer home. Mrs. Beitzer, with her seven year old daughter, Margaret, escaped the same death by the narrowest possible margin. A niece, Irene Morin, was slightly gassed and was taken to her home.

Non Gives Alarm. Verne Beitzer, the nine year old son, came in shortly after 3 o'clock, and on opening the door was struck by a puff of the gas which nearly overcame him. Exhibiting real bravery and presence of mind, he rushed into his mother's bedroom and tried to rouse her. The mother had rolled over, almost covering the baby, and both were moaning and unable to move, he said. The daughter and cousin were laying practically inert on the dining room floor.

Unable to pull the baby or any of the others out, the lad dashed to the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Beitzer, Sr., at 326 North Eleventh street, and told them what he had found. Mrs. Beitzer with a daughter, Elsie, ran to the house and started to carry the stricken persons out into the open air, pausing only to summon doctors.

The flame in the gas heater had been extinguished in some manner, the boy said, and it was not burning when he entered the house. The casing of the appliance showed signs where the gas had flared back through air-holes in the door and had burned the paint from the outside. It is believed possible that some obstruction in the vent pipe may have caused the gas to back up and fill the heater, causing the flame to puff out through the small holes in the door.

The sight of the doctors working over the three bodies stretched on the lawn attracted a large crowd and police were compelled to drive the curious back time after time. The scene when the physicians finally gave up the losing battle for the child's life was pathetic beyond description. The father, Joseph Beitzer, was working at Stambaugh and was called home last night.

LIQUOR FLEET LANDS CARGO IN VIRGINIA?

THREE ARE HELD ON CONSPIRACY CHARGES.

Norfolk, Va., May 26.—The Atlantic coast rum fleet, operations of which federal officials say has revealed an "international ring" had withdrawn tonight from the entrance to the Virginia Capes and enforcement officers expressed the fear that it had found a way to land its goods. Meanwhile William L. Burwell, his wife and Rex Sheldon, arrested on charges of conspiracy in connection with the operations of the smugglers, were released on bonds for a preliminary hearing June 4.

Hunt Another Leader. Federal enforcement officers tonight scoured the city for another man said to be implicated in the smuggling plot which they asserted had ramifications in several countries, including Cuba and Scotland. They explained the present activity of smuggling operations off the capes as due to an effort to send large quantities of liquor to Washington where several hundred visitors will gather next week for the Shriners' convention.

The situation is critical.

Waukegon, Ill., May 26.—Three baskets of ore which resisted acid tests for gold were found by workmen excavating for a store building here today. The suggests ranged from an egg in size, and were found in a vein of black sand. Work was stopped and the grounds are being guarded. Samples of the ore have been taken to Chicago for examination by M. H. Rosenblum, proprietor of the store.

"KING" BEN PURNELL YOUTHFUL SHEIK

MRS. ANGELINE BROWN PURNELL BARNETT STEPHENS (LEFT), WHO SAYS SHE IS FORMER WIFE OF HOUSE OF DAVID LEADER. THE OTHER WOMAN IS MRS. SARAH EVANS, HER DAUGHTER.

Partsmouth, O., May 26.—"King" Benjamin Purnell was a sheik, it seems, long before Rodolph Valentino was born. His violent protestations of love still ring in the ears of the backwoods lass he wooed and won in the mountains of "ol' Kaintuc."

Picked Wild Flowers. "Ben and I would walk up into the mountains," she testifies. "He would pick wild flowers and fix them prettily in my hair. Then he would whistle and the birds would chirp love songs."

FIVE PROTEST BOOZE RULING

Washington, May 26.—The views of five foreign governments with reference to the recent supreme court decision prohibiting liquor on foreign ships in American territorial waters were before treasury officials tonight for their consideration in framing regulations for application of the decision. The substance of the representations by the five powers were transmitted by the state department which had received from Great Britain and Spain written communications and from France, Italy and The Netherlands verbal statements of their views.

CROCKER MAKES NON-STOP TRIP

Flies from Mexican Border to Canada, Back to Mt. Clemens. Mount Clemens, Mich., May 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Lieutenant Harrison G. Crocker landed at Selfridge field here at 6:15 o'clock eastern time tonight, completing a non-stop trip to Canada flight. Lieut. Crocker left Ellington field at Houston, Texas, at 5:21 central time this morning.

LIQUOR ON SHIPS CONTINUES BIG PUZZLE.

Whether the course of treasury officials in framing regulations would be modified materially by the representations was not apparent, but it was indicated that before final approval was given any draft there would probably be discussions with state department officials and with representatives of foreign governments in Washington in the hope of meeting the wishes of all concerned as nearly as possible.

MACHINE GUNS, PLANES, MOVE UP HILLSIDES

HOPE FOR RESCUE OF CAPTIVES FROM OUTLAWS.

Peking, May 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Machine guns and rifles tonight are attempting to force the release of fourteen foreigners held by Chinese bandits in the hills above Linchun. For three weeks crowds of official negotiators have labored vainly to free the captives who were kidnapped from the Shanhai Peking express May 6.

General Tien has thrown his troops in a wide circle about the bandit hot bed and he is gradually tightening his strangle hold cutting the outlaws' communications and hoping finally to locate the gang that is holding the fourteen foreigners.

Politics Figure In. The movement of troops toward the outlaws' stronghold followed on the heels of statements in diplomatic circles that it had been definitely established that politics and not ordinary banditry was behind the holdup of the Shanghai-Peking express last week.

Cruiser Averages 20 Knots, 4 Hour

Rockland, Me., May 26.—The scout cruiser Detroit, which averaged better than 34.5 knots an hour on its full power standardization runs yesterday proved endurance qualities today. While the data had not been fully worked out tonight, it was estimated that the average speed maintained on a four hour full power run was even beyond yesterday's record. The full power run was followed by a four hour run at knots testing fuel economy from another angle. Backing and steering tests also were completed.

Lubec, Me., May 26.—Eighteen persons were injured, one probably fatally, when a part of the Union Sardine company's pier collapsed today. Miss Har Ramsdell, an employe, may die her injuries, physicians said. The collapse of the building was attributed to the undermining of the company's wharves, which gave way, letting the structure above drop into the water.

SHE'S HOSTESS TO 13

FANNIE PINKNOSE AND HER FAMILY.

Newark, N. J., May 25.—Fannie Pinknose thinks race suicide is a new kind of athletic event judging from her recent reaction to the problems of population.

As one of the leading matrons in Newark's canine society, Fannie's attitude toward the problems of the day are not to be balked at.

A few days ago a mighty stork, gasping and wheezing from his great burden, paid Fannie a welcome call and left 13 puppies to support the arguments of their coltite mother. All of which made Fannie continue sneering at the blue-ribboned, blue-blooded pets who stick their wet noses in the air and announce that "one pup and a good one is all a mother is expected to contribute."

Of course there are certain problems that so large a family brings up. Thirteen pups all the same age and all hungry proved to be quite a problem. When it comes to feeding, Fannie is confronted by a difficulty.

"But," says her owner, "she devised a sort of cafeteria system, and it works out nicely."

A circus, an "all county" parade, and a monster banquet are some of the entertainment features tentatively arranged. The fact that the Gogebic county fair is to be held the same week will add to the prospects for an enjoyable gathering.

OWNERSHIP OF RAILS URGED

Chicago, May 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Railroad valuation is an economic problem of fundamental importance to every interest of America, speakers today told the conference on railroad valuations, composed of members of the "progressive bloc" in congress, railroad labor leaders, sponsors of government ownership of railroads and spokesmen for farmers' organizations.

The conference completed its organization meeting, outlined a tentative program of activity and adjourned subject to the call of the permanent chairman, Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin.

William Jennings Bryan, the principal speaker at the public session this morning, preceding an executive meeting of the invited delegates, told the assembly that he thought government ownership of the carriers might be forced upon the country by the apparent impossibility of providing satisfactory regulations.

U. S. FIGHTS TO KEEP WIRELESS MONOPOLY OUT

American government would like to do,—submit the controversy to arbitration if necessary. But even the report of the International Communication Conference is not the controlling argument of the American government's case. It rests on the Nine Power Treaty, the professions of freedom of commercial opportunity in the Far East and previous treaties between China and the United States. The American legation said in its last note:

"In conclusion, it is not too much to say that the American government has given evidence of regarding the execution of the Federal Telegraph Company contract as a most crucial test of the efficacy of the policy of equal opportunity in China. If the whole area of China may be barricaded against all overseas radio development for thirty years for the benefit of one station, equal opportunity, whether for China, among nations or for other nations in China, cannot be said to exist."

A THOUGHT

Before I was afflicted I went astray; but now have I kept thy word. It is good for me that I have been afflicted; that I might learn thy statutes.—Ps. 119:67, 71.

My advice is to consult the lives of other men, as we would are in the hands of old line reactionaries. They may not be able to nominate the man they want but they can prevent the nomination of the man they do not want—and that man is Henry Ford.

"I believe the republican party will go down to the most decisive defeat in its history in the coming presidential election."

People Want Ford-Hearst

New Orleans, La., May 26.—William Randolph Hearst, publisher, today predicted in an interview that Henry Ford could be elected president of the United States if left to the popular vote of the people.

"But the only way Ford can ever run for president will be as an independent candidate," Mr. Hearst said. "The political machines of both national parties, Democratic and Republican alike, are in the hands of old line reactionaries. They may not be able to nominate the man they want but they can prevent the nomination of the man they do not want—and that man is Henry Ford."

"I believe the republican party will go down to the most decisive defeat in its history in the coming presidential election."

21 OPERATIONS REQUIRED FOR PAIGE FINISH

American Motor Car Finish Attained by Hard Labor.

Paint and powder, beauty parlors and cosmetics dealers all go toward making the American girl, just as paint and nickel goes toward making the American Motor Car.

But there is a difference. Where the American beauty uses one coat of paint and powder the motor car uses many. There are 21 different operations entering into the coating of a Paige 6-70 with its lustrous finish, according to R. E. Allingham of the Delta Motor Company.

Without mention of the various processes through which the metal must go to take on the nickel finish used on various parts of "The Most Beautiful Car in America" following are listed the operations necessary to finish it:

- 1. Dioxidine rub.
2. Hot water bath.
3. Sand blast.
4. First priming coat.
5. Full glaze. This consists of leveling up with lead filler the uneven spots in the metal. Great care is necessary to obtain a perfectly smooth surface for the subsequent coats of varnish as the high finish of Paige bodies magnifies any unevenness or irregularity in the under surface.
6 to 11. Three coats of "rough stuff" with a vigorous rub after each, built up further the surface on which the varnish is to be spread.
12. Rub out with water and pumice. Before the rough stuff is applied the body sides have a surface not noticeably uneven to the eye but whose irregularity is easily detected by rubbing the hand over the surface. After the final rub the body sides have the smoothness of a billiard ball.
13. Sealer coat. This coat serves the same purpose as the sizing on a plaster wall or the coating of shellac used under a wood varnish. Like plaster and wood, metal is porous. The sealer coat, as the name suggests, is a seal against this porosity which might allow moisture to work in behind the varnish and destroy the surface.
14. Ground coat. This consists of another thin coat of lead the color of the final finish. Color varnish is transparent and it is necessary to back it up with an opaque paint of the same color.
15. First coat of color varnish.
16. Rub. It is necessary that each coat of color varnish be rubbed out in order to prevent brush marks from showing in the final result.
17. Second color coat.
18. Third color coat.
19. Final rub. This rub has to take out any suggestion of brush marks. The varnish used for this coat is stiff hard drying varnish made especially for rubbing.
Here the body is turned over to the upholstering department who do their work before the final finish operations are completed.
21. Final finish varnish.

"MAKE AMERICA MUSICAL," IS FEDERATION SLOGAN

MRS. JOHN F. LYONS.

Asheville, N. C., May 22.—Every home a music center! Every American a music lover! Those will be the watchwords of the country's first "All-American" music convention to be held here June 9-17, with approximately 1400 delegates of the National Federation of Music Clubs in attendance.

American compositions will be used. American artists will perform. And given an All-American symphony orchestra will play. The convention will mark 25 years of earnest effort to create a distinctive art in this country. When the federation started American music clubs were few. Now they number 1400, with more than a hundred thousand members.

Lon Chaney Coming to Strand Monday

"The Night Rose," featuring Lon Chaney, will be the feature of the Strand's Monday and Tuesday program. In the picture, which is from the pen of the famous novelist, Leroy Scott, power of a leader of the underworld is seen to reach into the very halls of justice. Political heroes are the pawns of the mighty character who controls them through fear and through a secret organization of cutthroats and robbers. However, the leader of a gang is undone by a woman, a fact that has often occurred in reality.

Saloon Man Held On Booze Charges

Axel Johnson, Escanaba saloon-keeper, arrested some time ago following a police raid on his soft drink establishment, was bound over for trial in circuit court yesterday when he was arraigned before Justice C. D. McEwen. Bonds of $500 were furnished.

He is charged with possession, sale and keeping a place where those same naughty occupations are carried on. No liquor was found during the raid. Affidavits of sale were introduced as evidence by a field agent for a Finnish temperance society.

BASEBALL A LA RUGBY—Heinie Groh, Giant third baseman, tries to score, but Catcher DeBerry of the Dodgers blocks him in game at Ebbets Field and Heinie bites the dust like a tackled football player.

WHERE'S IT FROM?—Johnny Pine, son of Lieut.-Com. James Pine at the U. S. Coast Guard Academy, New London, Conn., is trying to find the noise in the big bass horn of the post band.

NEW VERSION OF "ANVIL CHORUS"—Cronus, German strong man, allows two fellows to play the "anvil chorus" while he holds the anvil. Not so much music, but quite a stunt.

PUZZLE PICTURE—What d'you think it is? Jig-saw puzzle! Wrecked house? Shambles of a tornado? Well, it's the prow of a Great Lakes steamship after it had been in a head-on collision.

MAKING IT A TIE—When H. R. Davis, of Harvard, cleared the bar as shown here he tied the mark of R. D. Johnson, of Princeton. However, Princeton won the meet at the Harvard Stadium, 55 1/2 points to 49 1/2.

NEW AS REFEREE—Postmaster-General Harry S. New acts as referee in the District of Columbia marble-shooting contest. Here he is watching Alton Garne who won and who will represent Washington at the National Marble Shoot at Atlantic City.

CHAMPION GLAD JACK—This dog's name fits him—"Champion Glad Jack." He's glad because he won first prize in English setter and best setter classes at Pinehurst, N. C. He belongs to Mrs. Joseph N. Pew, Jr., prominent in Philadelphia society.

JUST MARRIED—Edith Day, musical comedy star, and Pat Somerset, English actor, just after they were married at Greenwich, Conn., following a romance that brought them into the public eye of England and America.

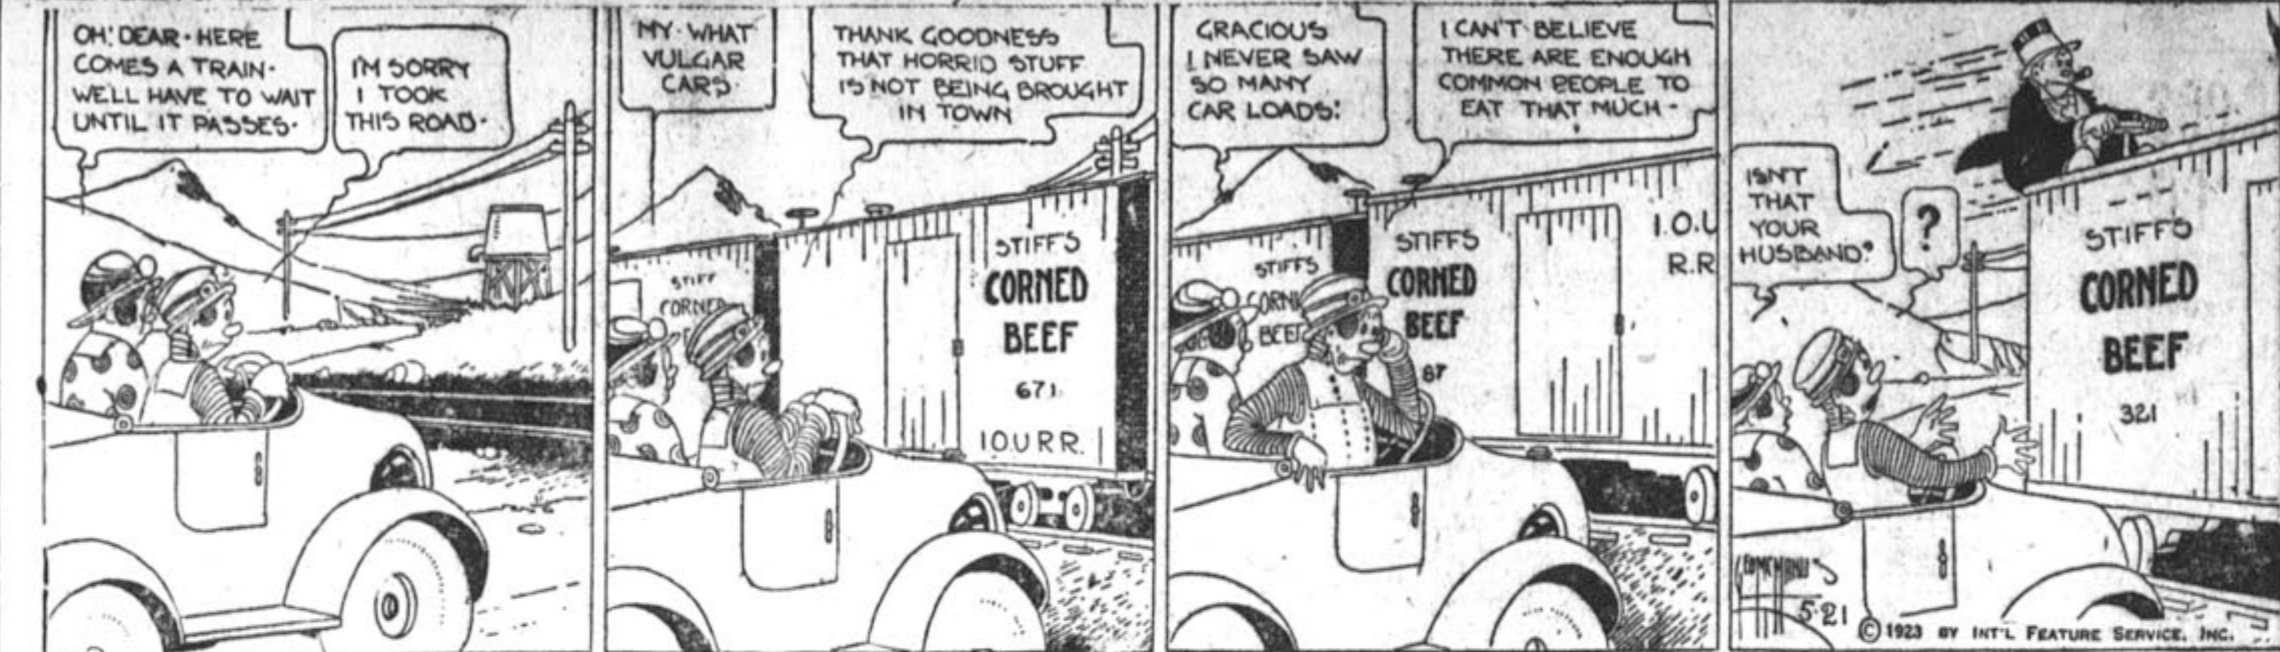

AND NOBODY HURT!—John Hecht, of Brooklyn, N. Y., driving his flivver sedan peacefully along the street when—crash! This tree suddenly snapped and fell upon the car. Hecht's escape seemed miraculous since he was directly under the tree.

In the modern age of wide spread advertising and broadcast publicity there are few of the beauty spots of any state which have been able to hold in retirement their original attraction of unaffected simplicity and natural charm.

Always, it seems, when one has discovered for himself a place remote from smokestacks and factory fences, "far from the gadding throng" and the persistent reminders of workaday life, there comes creeping in a taint of artificiality to spoil the picture.

Wooded stretches where last year one could walk for hours in solitude are now littered with the paper plates of hordes of picnickers. Quiet streams where trout could be coaxed from shaded depths are this year bordered with tow path trails of hurrying "nature fakery" trying to record prize catches. They fish for fish, as it were, instead of fishing for fishing.

Ordinary human beings who seek a place where they may pull off their shoes and go to sleep under an awning of birch or maple are now forced by the invading mob to crawl back into the cedar swamps for relief from the racket of dogs and dishpans and auto horns.

Some Few Escapes. There are a few places which have escaped the desecrating deluge. Some have formidable standing armies of saw-toothed mosquitoes to stand off all advances and repel all who managed to effect a lodgement. Some more are protected by the high rates charged by ambitious hotel keepers.

One of the few which have weathered the seasons when exploitation of natural attraction constituted almost a major industry in this country is to be found in Delta county, the village of Fayette.

Once the site of a bustling iron making plant, it fell back in the face of competition and for many years has been painting over the signs of industry with pigments of moss and lichen, with the wind and rain, sun and frost all helping in the process. Fayette today mainly concerns itself with frowning on all signs of commercial activity and with preserving its beauty for its old age.

An enterprising sign painter once slung a scaffold over the two hundred foot limestone bluff and daubed on the face of the cliff a lurid advertisement of an Escanaba saloon. As an advertising stunt it was a failure. Instead of drawing trade to the thirst parlor to draw variegated expressions of disapproval, so strong that no further defiling of the rock wall was ever attempted. Fayette regards the bluff as almost sacred and disfiguring or alteration of its surface is under an iron-bound "tabu."

"Miniature" Village. The village itself is almost too small to be worth that designation. From the mainland of the peninsula between Green Bay and Lake Michigan a tiny hook of land curves around, forming a small, bottle-necked harbor. The entrance is about two hundred yards across. The water is thirty feet deep at the dilapidated dock and treble that a hundred feet out.

On this "spit" of land there are less than a dozen buildings, most of them empty. There is a store, operating for the convenience of the scattered farmers of the township, into which are incorporated the postoffice and shipping agency for the small power tug which chugs along from one Bay de Nocquet port to another three times each week.

Besides the store there is a hotel, half empty for the greater part of the year. During the summer season, when yachting parties cruising the lakes put in for a day or a week of bass or pickerel fishing in the harbor it takes on some sign of life.

The rest of the houses are rented out for the summer months. They have been in excellent shape by the manager of the property and are completely furnished. There are only a few and there is little prospect of building more. That would bring too many people to the place and spoil it.

Fishing is fine. Fishing in the harbor is of the very best. From the edge of the dock one can look down through thirty feet of water and see every small pebble or limestone fragment on the bottom. Big fish, of sizes usually associated with pre-season stories, swim about in clear sight. Bass, pickerel, pike, trout and dory are the principal species, with the ever-present perch inhabiting the warmer shallow waters. Occasionally a mighty sturgeon, one of a fast disappearing family which dwarf other lake fish, in size will show up for a day or so, then leave for the deeper reaches of the open lake.

The scenic beauty of the place is, however, Fayette's greatest asset. For a true appreciation of the place I would blindfold the visitor and lead him to the birch groves along the top of the bluff, uncovering his eyes to the sight of the wooded point down below and across the harbor, resting like a deep, green jewel of a glittering expanse of ever-blue water. Down to the left I would direct his gaze to the crumbling stone furnaces, standing like twin towers guarding the entrance to some feudal castle. White cottages peeping through the trees and a curving brown road trailing off down the shore would be pointed out, as would the tiny sailboats in the harbor two hundred feet below, so near that it would seem almost possible to drop a pebble in to the water alongside.

Back from the bluff I would pilot the visitor through a grove of birch and maples, known of old by the inexplicable title of "Dam-dam." There is a deserted house, for the imagination to people with ghosts, and a cemetery where sunken graves and tilting tombstones record the passing of people who settled there just after the close of the Rebellion.

Soothing Atmosphere. There is a quiet about the place which the push of Progress cannot seem to penetrate. Even in the days when regular steamer service to the village was maintained there were only a comparatively small number of visitors, most of these persons who had "discovered" the spot for themselves and had guarded their find for re-visiting in following seasons.

Of late there has been some small provision for the entertainment of visitors. The tangle of brush on the point has been cleared out enough to make walking easy. Accommodations for motor cars have been provided and a bathing beach cleared. Up in the hills a natural amphitheatre has been laid out for a golf course, not the smooth sleek course of the Long Island country club type, to be sure, but good enough for interesting practice and match play.

The fine thing about the work which has been done is the keen understanding of those in charge of the place, displayed in their limiting of "improvements" to those which will add to the attraction of what was there before summer vacationing became a popular habit. It isn't overdone. Nothing Overdone. One more store, one more hotel, a flagrant billboard or a progressive looking group of cottages would rob the place of its simplicity. One can't be at peace with Nature where a twenty four sheet advertising poster attempts to stare the world out of countenance. That's asking a little too much in the way of abstraction. One might as well stay at home and tour the country on the Magic Carpet of Imagination. Fayette is beautiful, but it isn't the overpowering beauty of the mountains. It isn't the vague beauty of the desert nor the monotonous, majestic beauty of the sea. Rather, it is the soothing beauty of things neither too large nor too small for our minds to grasp without groping for appreciation. Few persons who are real lovers of Nature enthuse over Fayette in the "kushing" manner. Rather, they accept it as something they had been seeking for a long time and always expected to find. One might imagine the jaded spirit as expressing its satisfaction in simple language, thusly: "There! Now for a good, long snooze!"

PETERSON IS REAPPOINTED

Arthur Peterson, of the firm of C. Peterson & Sons, florists, has been reappointed by Gov. A. J. Groesbeck as manager for the Michigan state fair board for a term of four years. For the past two years Mr. Peterson has served as an active member of the board directly in charge of the annual Michigan state fair and his reappointment for a term of four years is most pleasing recognition of the work performed by the Escanaba man in this important capacity. Mr. Peterson served as president of the Delta County Agricultural Society and in that capacity for several years was directly in charge of the annual Northern Michigan Fairs in this county. It was the work accomplished by Mr. Peterson in this county that attracted the attention of state officials and resulted in his appointment to the state fair board.

Periscoping

Properly "hawled out" and considerably chastened, the Skipper crawls out of his dugout to offer explanation for one day's absence. The Periscope didn't perambulate on Thursday because the Pilot was out in the open running away from a big flock of storm clouds.

Just about two rabbit jumps back, the Periscope recorded some objection which had been heard against the location of Escanaba's tourist camp way out in the provinces of South Ford River. The large, dull thud heard the other day was a committee of indignant citizens landing on the Skipper's neck. He will recover, Darn it!

The committee, it seems, have the idea that they knew what they were about when they located the camp at Ford River. Sand Point, they say, is too sandy for any use except a parking place for sea gulls and a playground for children. The experience of a circus which showed on the property last summer was cited as an example of the unfitness of the place for vehicular navigation.

Then again, the committee said, Ford River owns the attractions of an excellent spring, a fine beach, and complete freedom from molestation by junior kleptomaniacs and gawping city folks. The presence of an audience whitewashing out the family tabicloths is not conducive to enthusiasm over the beauties of Cloverland, it seems, if the attitude of the tourists is correctly interpreted.

From the commercial viewpoint, Escanaba loses very little.

according to the minutes of a previous meeting. Most tourists bring their wives along, and a woman would travel six miles a day for the sake of a possible bargain. Besides, and which probably amounts to as much as all the other reasons, the tourists seem to like Ford River about as well as any camp they strike in the northward trip. At least, they have so told the committee. The objective having been reached and the position consolidated, the committee retired, good order and hastened on more sanguine scenes of action. The Skipper sums it all up as command to assume the position known in military terminology as the name.

HUGHES MOVIE SHOWS MAKERS "BACK STAGE"

"Souls for Sale" Is Story of Film Folks in Hollywood.

Rupert Hughes' new photoplay, "Souls for Sale," which he pictured in his own novel of movie life in Hollywood for Goldwyn in the "Show Shop" of filmdom. What James Forbes' play did for the stage, Mr. Hughes' "Souls for Sale" does for motion pictures. This film has been booked for the Delft theatre, and will open there Monday for three days.

Mr. Hughes is responsible for the statement that most of incidents which he pictures in his novel and in the screen version of it are taken from happenings which he has seen at the studio and on location.

Incident True.
 "A lot of the incidents in this picture really have happened either to my company or that of other directors," says Mr. Hughes. "For instance, take the accident with the wind-propeller which happens in this story: That really happened to Patry Ruth Miller in 'Remembrance' when night scenes were being taken at 4:30 in the morning, when everybody was dead tired and shivering with cold, and somebody had moved the wind machine slightly, so that of being struck by the thing which would inevitably have killed her had she taken two steps more in the dark. Four people have lately been killed by those things, by the way, in the making of pictures. The dangers to the picture actors have never been exaggerated in fiction—in fact, they have never been really told."
 "My characters do not represent any certain persons; but I have been around the stage all my life, and these are composite types. I hope I have made my screen people true to life. They are just like other folks, except that for cooperation, kindness, charity, I think they are maybe a little superior to the general run of mankind. I have known all classes of men—soldiers, writers, lawyers, storekeepers—and I think that for real nobility the actor beats them all. I have my screen vampire, Barbara La Marr, the kindest hearted character in my play, and on the other hand Mae Busch, who plays the sweet little ingenue all the time in my story, finds it necessary to find at night an outlet for natural suppressed emotions by being a little bit catty.

Less Wicked Person.
 "Lew Cody is the only really wicked person in the story—and he isn't a picture actor in the tale! You'll find all my characters pretty human, I think, and I have cast them all as nearly as possible true to experience. Eleanor Boardman's picture experience in my story is pretty true to actual happenings in her own life. You see I picked her out of extra group being used in another picture to play a bit in one of my own pictures. She rapidly went ahead, until she is the ingenue lead in this story of mine.

"I want to tell you something—there isn't a girl in the picture business who is more kind to all the extra girls than Barbara La Marr. She practically lets them help themselves from her wardrobe and she does other equally kind things all the time. Yet on the screen she is constantly a home wrecker, a triple-X lurer of men and highpower vampire. That's the sort of girl she is in my story."

NINE LETTERS, KIPKE RECORD

He Also Plays Tennis, Handball, Soccer, Golf, Bowls and Swims.

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 24.—Making nine letters in three years is a regular he-man's job for any college athlete.

But that's what Harry Kipke, Wolverine grid star, will have done before he graduates next year, barring injuries or other unforeseen eventualities.

And Harry, who is working his way through school, finds time to write for the newspapers and get good marks on his report cards, too.

A more versatile sportsman perhaps has never cast his lot with Michigan's teams.

It's his football achievements, of course, which have been heralded the widest. Walter Camp thought enough of him to give him a berth on his 1922 All-America eleven.

More Than Football.
 Yet Kipke has more than just uncanny football ability in his makeup. Matters not what is the sport, he always is ready to take a hand in it. And he generally goes over as big as when he's working in the moleskins.

The coveted "M" has been awarded him in baseball and basketball, as well as football, in both his sophomore and junior years. If time permitted, he no doubt would knock off at least one more initial in a major sport.

That would be in track. He is one of the speediest runners warming the boards of Waterman gymnasium.

In intramural athletics, he goes in for tennis, speedball, soccer, handball, bowling and swimming. Then he's pretty handy with the mits. One night he wrought such havoc with his opponent in a fraternity boxing bout that masters of ceremonies decided to bar him from further participation in such sociable little tilts.

During vacation, when he isn't kicking a football or knocking out high ones, he spends his spare moments on the golf links, making the course in close to par. And that's not all.

Harry, as a sport writer, covers Michigan activities for various newspapers. His friends say he can be a winner either in coaching or journalism when his school days are over.

He's a modest lad, to boot. Publicity—and he has had plenty of it—has not turned his head. Professor and students idolize him.

Back in Lansing, Mich., Harry

When he leaves Michigan with nine letters he'll gain a distinction practically unique in the university's history.

Washington, May 24.—They're tuning up for the public links golf tourney at East Potomac Park here June 26. Some three hundred golf bugs are expected from all over the country.

Chicago, Ill.—"I am willing to write to any girl or woman who is suffering from the troubles I had before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My back always ached, so I could not go about my housework, and I had other troubles from weakness. I was this way for years, then my sister-in-law took the Vegetable Compound and recommended it to me. In the time I have been taking it, it has done wonders for me. I keep house and am able to do lots of work besides."—Mrs. HILMA SAVOY, 2711 Thomas St., Chicago, Ill.

Women suffering from female troubles causing backache, irregularities, pains, bearing-down feelings and weakness should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
