

GERMAN NOTE TO OPEN WAY FOR PEACE

WILL HARDING NIP PLAN OF THE ENEMY?

RELEASE OF WAR PRISONERS IS EXPECTED SOON.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE.

(Copyright, 1923, by The Escanaba Press) Washington, June 6.—While the Shrine bands are playing and the national capitol is in festive mood, there's a little group of workers besieging the White House...

Pepper Favors Release.

Senator George Wharton Pepper of Pennsylvania, republican—who by no stretch of the imagination could be accused of sympathizing with the I. W. W.'s and who yields to no man in America in his protestations of "100 per cent Americanism"...

Why are they not released? President Harding is not usually accused of being hard hearted. He has pardoned Eugene V. Debs, who certainly said more things against the war and did more to stretch the limits of free speech...

Meanwhile impartial lawyers are examining the facts and merits of the cases and are saying the government has not proved any of the men guilty of crime and that it is apparent the government is holding the prisoners for their economic rather than their political heresies.

Opinion is Awaited. Attorney General Daugherty has been away from his office on account of illness, the President has been waiting for the department of justice to recommend action.

The paper used in printing Bank of England notes is manufactured at a special mill, where no worker is allowed to enter any part of the building other than the room where he is employed.

Highway Dept. "Running Wild," Groesbeck Says

Lansing, Mich., June 6.—A report charging gross irregularities in the handling of accounts in the state highway department was made public today by Gov. Alex J. Groesbeck.

In making the report public, the governor described the highway department as in a "deplorable mess" and said "things apparently have been running wild."

Mr. Parker's report charges his investigation disclosed that receipts and disbursements of the truck revolving fund, which had to do with purchases and sales of a vast amount of assorted materials stored at Charlotte by the highway department had not been entered into the regular books and the accounts of the state.

"It developed," Mr. Parker's report says, "that a considerable amount of money arising from minor sales and disposals of this material has been diverted from the regular channels and taken into privately carried bank accounts."

The report mentions two accounts, one in the name of J. A. Broad, formerly with the department, and the other in the name of Levi H. Neilson, present deputy road commissioner.

Hold Hearings On Industrial Cases In Delta County

Three cases were disposed of yesterday in the first of a two-day series of hearings held at the court house before Ray Derham, deputy commissioner from the Michigan department of labor and industry. The hearings will continue through today and tomorrow. Mr. Derham will go to Manistique and from there to Iron Mountain.

The cases disposed of yesterday were those of Thomas Voss, Albert Swanson and Felix Gardner. Three and one half weeks compensation, $200 funeral expenses and $230 hospital and medical expenses were awarded to the estate.

The case of Felix Gardner, who was injured Dec. 3, 1919, while he was hauling logs on contract for his brother-in-law, Joseph Richer, was brought up for hearing and resulted in the award of compensation at the rate of $16.20 per week from the time of his injury to Sept. 23, 1920, and $6.20 per week since then.

This case was brought up in circuit court some time ago and is still pending. The claim of the defense at that time was that Gardner was already seeking compensation under the state law thus assuming classification as an employee. At the industrial hearing yesterday, according to Mr. Derham, the defense claimed that Gardner was acting as an independent contractor and could not be classified as an employee. Mr. Derham ruled that he was under the circumstances to be classified as an employee and awarded compensation accordingly.

In the Swanson case the compensation was cut from $14 per week to $10.80. The employer in this case sought to have it discontinued entirely. Swanson was injured while working at the Powers' Sanitarium.

The action of the state administrative board will make possible the completion of federal aid projects, now tied up for lack of about $2,000,000 necessary to finish them, as well as for many of the more important new state highway projects throughout the state.

While the sum to be made available will not permit of any great amount of new work, the completion of the federal aid work and the upkeep work on other roads will in effect "save the day" for the state highway department. The federal aid work will retrieve for the state a large amount of reward money and the maintenance work will save many roads from the more or less complete deterioration which would take place during a year of idleness.

STILL HOPE
John Tracy Henpeck and a friend had been out all night indulging in a small sized poker game. With considerable trepidation, just as the day was dawning, Henpeck, his arm entwined in the other's for moral support, turned the corner of the street on which he lived, to see flames issuing from a window in his home. From an adjacent window a woman was gesturing hysterically and screaming for help.

"What!" exclaimed Henpeck. "Is that my wife?"
"Now don't get alarmed," his friend consoled him. "She ain't saved yet."

According to his father, young Lew was undoubtedly the unluckiest fellow alive.
"Consider the last case," declared the old man. "Lew goes to the city and falls in love with a girl that lives out in one of the suburbs. And then she throws him down."
"That's nothing," remarked an auditor. "There's lots of girls."
"That ain't the point. The point is that the girl threw him down on his second trip to her place, and he'd want to work and bought a fifty-ride commutation ticket."

DIPLOMATIC ADAPTION.
A corporal and a squad of men who for some mysterious reason peculiar to military life had been left out of the billeting arrangements in a shell-shattered French village wandered disconsolately about town until their 'great joy they discovered an abandoned but fairly well preserved cottage.

They had hardly settled down for a much needed sleep, however, before an orderly entered, and threw down a paper, which read tersely:
"C. O. wants house."
The corporal, too tired and too disgusted to move, scrawled an answer:
"C. O. can G. T. H."

Hauled on the carpet the next day for insolence, insubordination, offensive language and a few other things, he explained sullenly:
"Why, sir, it only meant 'C. O. can Get The House!'"

STUMPING CREWS DRAW ATTENTION ON TOUR OF U. P.

Increased Interest Is Shown in Land Clearing Schools
An interest and attendance surpassing that of last year is greeting the work of the two, motorized land-clearing schools of instruction now being held throughout the upper peninsula of Michigan under the direction of "Larry" F. Livingston, of the Michigan Agricultural College. Many of the farmers who attended the schools last year are returning for more instruction, and bringing their families and friends with them.

Two motorized land-clearing trains are now operating throughout the peninsula, as compared with the one railway unit used last year. Under the new system, Mr. Livingston explains, it is possible to bring the land-clearing schools into the more remote farming districts, and to thus extend the scope of the work.

While the crews are smaller than the single crew which handled the work last year, each motor train carries a complete set of equipment, and the activities at each school includes not only the clearing of the half-acre or acre of land selected for the demonstration, but the plowing of that plot and preparing it for planting.

"Snag Hook" Is Latest.
Considerable interest is centering about a new device being used in the work this year—the snagging hook. The hook, attached to a tractor, tears out and picks up the loose roots, old rotted stumps and similar obstacles. It is a valuable asset to the work.

When the horse, hand and power pullers have been over the field, and cleared it of all the stumps, a breaking plow is then hooked to a tractor and pulled over the plot. The plow cuts a sixteen to twenty-inch furrow over cradle knolls and through them, cutting roots and grubs without effort and demonstrating with finality the advantage of power over hand for land-clearing.

Ditching through swamps, stumps and roots, with dynamite, is another feature of each school where a suitable place can be found.
The two crews will operate until July first. The crew in charge of A. J. McAdams is now in Ontonagon county, and will go from there to Iron and Delta. The other, under George Amundson, is in Delta county, and will be in Marquette county from June 8 to 21; and in Alger county from June 21 until the 29th.

$5,000,000 Issue To Provide Funds For Road Building

Lansing, Mich., June 6.—Authority for the issuance of $5,000,000 worth of highway improvement bonds was granted by the state administrative board, in session here on Tuesday. The proceeds of the issue will be made available for the work to be done in the fiscal year of 1923-1924.

The action of the state administrative board will make possible the completion of federal aid projects, now tied up for lack of about $2,000,000 necessary to finish them, as well as for many of the more important new state highway projects throughout the state.

While the sum to be made available will not permit of any great amount of new work, the completion of the federal aid work and the upkeep work on other roads will in effect "save the day" for the state highway department. The federal aid work will retrieve for the state a large amount of reward money and the maintenance work will save many roads from the more or less complete deterioration which would take place during a year of idleness.

STILL HOPE
John Tracy Henpeck and a friend had been out all night indulging in a small sized poker game. With considerable trepidation, just as the day was dawning, Henpeck, his arm entwined in the other's for moral support, turned the corner of the street on which he lived, to see flames issuing from a window in his home. From an adjacent window a woman was gesturing hysterically and screaming for help.

"What!" exclaimed Henpeck. "Is that my wife?"
"Now don't get alarmed," his friend consoled him. "She ain't saved yet."

According to his father, young Lew was undoubtedly the unluckiest fellow alive.
"Consider the last case," declared the old man. "Lew goes to the city and falls in love with a girl that lives out in one of the suburbs. And then she throws him down."
"That's nothing," remarked an auditor. "There's lots of girls."
"That ain't the point. The point is that the girl threw him down on his second trip to her place, and he'd want to work and bought a fifty-ride commutation ticket."

INCUBATOR IS INSTALLED AT ST. FRANCIS

A new incubator for prematurely born, feeble or poorly nourished babies was received yesterday afternoon and installed at St. Francis hospital. The incubator, which is a "Climax," provides the infant with a continuously changing supply of fresh air at a constant temperature and with proper content of moisture. The regulation being automatic. The electric type can be connected to any electric lamp socket. It is of the standard type for one infant, and is constructed of steel with aluminum finish, double doors in front and windows at the side. The infant is supported in a shallow brass basket which is suspended inside. Water provides the moisture, the degree of which is regulated by a hygrometer. Under this pass heating tubes carrying a supply of fresh air from a filtering intake which is dispersed uniformly by a large distributory plate. Heating is accomplished by electricity, regulated by means of a thermostat. A thermometer hangs inside and a revolving fan in the fue removes the vitiated air. Several pre-mature infants were cared for at the hospital during the last year and all have improved wonderfully on the treatment which they received.

Derisoping

Picking up the famous "last line" propounded by the siph-like slicker on the opposite side of the table, as projected upon the wide world in this morning's Piffle Hook, the Skipper rises to remark also that "Tempus sure do 'Fugit.'" whatever that may mean, and the giddy old globe do rotate with disconcerting speed.

All of which is inspired by the remarks of Mr. Kilbane after he had recovered speech following his fistic debate with the lately "no-count" Mr. Criqui.

"It's a wise Irishman who knows when he's through," said the ex-champ. "Maybe six years ago I could have taken such a crack . . . and returned for more. But surely not now . . . Criqui is a fine chap, a hero of the war and a great fighter. I wish him success. I'm glad the title has passed on to such a man."

It seems strange; no talk of "doped tea," sleeping powders, foul blows or other alibis. Kilbane is through. He admits it willingly and with an air of relief. His legs won't carry him, through the grind of a ten round bout as they did in his younger days. He's going back to his home and enjoy life, free from the manifold worries of leadership.

Mr. Criqui "iron jawed" war veteran and the new featherweight champion is as gracious a victor as Kilbane is a graceful loser. Of Kilbane he says, "He is as gallant a ring foe as ever I met. I only hope that I can be as clever a title holder."

Case-hardened followers of the fighters of the last score of years will receive these statements with mingled feelings. There will be the element of incredulity, that new champions and old should pass the crown from one to another without lame excuse or ancient alibi.

There will also be a happy thought that perhaps at last there has come to the fight game a new standard of sportsmanship, an era devoid to some extent of the mean little squabbles and disgraceful incidents which have been dished out to the public from time to time in the squared circle.

Kilbane and Criqui have done something really worth while for the fight game. When two fighters of their undoubted rank can so chivalrously acknowledge defeat and accept the bay wreath of victory, there is set an example which no other champion, challenger or even the lowly "pork-and-beaner" can do better than follow.

"SPORTSMEN BOTH."

Arrests To Come On Violations Of Garbage Ordinance

Little effort has been expended in many parts of Escanaba to cooperate with the city health and street department in regard to the removal of garbage, according to Dr. H. J. Defnet, city health officer, although repeated warnings have been given the persons offending in this respect.

"A threat of prosecution under the city ordinance covering these matters seems to have fallen on deaf ears," said the health officer. "Now we're going to show that we were not bluffing. One or two arrests with the attendant fines and publicity ought to prove a valuable lesson."

The city ordinance provides that all garbage must be kept in covered receptacles, conveniently placed so that the garbage trucks may handle them without looking all over the back yards to find them.

The ordinance further provides for the cleaning up of all other rubbish at stated intervals and the placing of the same where it may be easily handled. Many Escanaba residents have been simply piling the stuff in the alleys, according to Dr. Defnet, in violation of the law. The alleys are designed for traffic fully as much as the streets and should be kept clean and free from rubbish, just as the streets are.

It's a safe bet that no American league team will figure the Athletics a set-up from now on.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT.

The beautiful city of Modesto, Calif. of which George J. Ulrich is mayor, recently underwent a complete transformation, emerging as "Wingfield, Indiana!" The transformation lasted only three days, however, and inasmuch as there is no real "Wingfield, Indiana," no serious damage was done.

It all happened in the filming of "Our Leading Citizen," the Regree Ade story in which Thomas Meighan will star at the Delft Theatre today. Mr. Ade's original story is told against the background of the mythical small town of "Wingfield."

The mythical cities do very well on paper, but the camera requires something more substantial. So the city of Modesto was selected and the entire production unit, headed by the star and Director Alfred Green, travelled two hundred miles for three days of filming work.

Modesto has the unique distinction of never having served before as a background for motion picture action. It is one of California's oldest and most picturesque cities and served admirably as a substitute for "Wingfield."

In the party which visited Modesto were several well known Paramount players including Lois Wilson, Theodore Roberts, William P. Carleton, James Neill, Charles Ogle, Guy Oliver, Sylvia Ashton, Lucien Littlefield, Laurence Wheat, Thomas Kennedy and Ethel Wales.

A feature of the trip was a mammoth political parade staged in Modesto especially, for this Paramount picture.

AT THE STRAND.

Tom Mix has added the working schedule of a stoker in the hold of a Pacific tramp steamer to his movie experiences. In his latest picture, "Stepping Fast," Mix is shanghaied and forced to pass coal for his passage to China, where he meets with a series of thrilling dramatic situations. This picture, which was produced by William Fox, the current attraction at the Strand.

Mix plays the role of a young ranchman who is captured by a band of criminals because he possesses the secret of the location of a gold mine hidden in the Arizona desert. After being thrown into the water of San Francisco Bay, he is picked up by the crew of a tramp steamer and forced to work his way to China, where he again meets the gang. With the aid of some American sailors, Mix and the daughter of the scientist who discovered the mine fight their way out of a Chinese den and start back to the States.

You can follow the adventures of Tom Mix in this picture when it comes to the local playhouse. Claire Adams plays the leading feminine role and others in the cast are: Donald McDonald, Hector Sarno, Geo. Selgmann, Edward Pell, Tom S. Guise, Minna Redman, Edward Jobson, and Ethel Wales.

Senator Royal Copeland, Democrat from New York City: "Do you know that today women's garments, hand made, are being imported and sold in New York at a profit for $40, which would cost $70 to make here? These imported garments are made by women in Czechoslovakia who are getting one cent a day. All kinds of building material is coming in from abroad. Bricks made in England, which it would cost $28 to make on this side are being laid down in New York for $22." The Senator thinks the tariff can not touch such situations, while his Democratic colleagues insist that the tariff is too high. The Senator thinks we ought to "restore Europe." With imports increasing 47 per cent under the Fordney-McCumber law it looks as if Europe was in a fair way of being restored, even under the protective tariff policy.

NORA FINDS A WAY TO GET RID OF GRACE.

Chapter LXXXVI.

Ann waited for them. Twice she went in to Hugh, but remained a few moments each time. His keen eyes noted her misery, and she was in no mood for talking of it.

It was over an hour later that Dick and Grace came in, her face flushed, her eyes bright. Dick did not look at Ann, but said: "Run along to your bunk now, Grace. I hope you sleep well."

"Oh, I shall, never fear! Good-night, all," and Ann and Dick were left alone.

Ann rose and went; about as she always did, seeing that everything was right for the night. Then she went to bed at once. Dick, in spite of his seeming anxiety to retire, did not come until long afterward. Ann pretended to be asleep. She thought he had waited purposely, thinking she might talk.

In the morning, before he was dressed, he tapped on the living room door.

"Time to get up Grace, if you are to have breakfast with me," he called. She answered sleepily, and Ann, fearful she would say something for which she would be sorry, maintained her silence until she was dressed, then hurried into the kitchen.

"Miss Edmunds will have breakfast this morning. Set another place, Nora." Heretofore when Grace had been with them she never got up for breakfast, declaring it was heathenish to eat so early.

Grumblingly, Nora obeyed. And grumblingly Grace appeared. It was outrageous for people to get up in the middle of the night; she was sure she couldn't eat a thing!

"I expect I'll be coming in during the morning for a bite," she said as she sipped her coffee. "I wouldn't get up at this unearthly hour for anyone in the world but you, Dicky," she said. "Do give me some more coffee, Ann, I'm not half awake yet."

Ann rang for Nora, gave her the pot and told her to fill it. As Nora passed Grace, she held up her cup.

"You fill it, Nora," she said. There was a scream, the sound of a falling pot, and then Dick grabbed Grace, still screaming, and swore at Nora for her carelessness. The entire scalding contents of the pot had fallen into Grace's lap and on her arm.

Quickly Ann got oil and bandages, while Dick carried the screaming girl into the living room and laid her on the couch, still just as she had left it.

"She did it on purpose," Grace declared, moaning. "She has never liked me. She did it on purpose!"

"Nonsense! It was an accident," Ann said, as she deftly undressed Grace to ascertain the extent of her burns. She was painfully, although not severely scalded. Ann dressed her burns, then left her. In the kitchen she cautioned Nora to be more careful in the future, almost sure it had been no accident, but unwilling to admit it.

"She won't be out in the orchard makin' love to him this day," Nora muttered. "She's so good, and she might as well get used to burnin'."

All day Grace twisted and moaned. When Dick came in to luncheon she insisted he must stay with her.

"I can't stand it here alone,

Dick," she said, "and Ann is with Hugh. Of course I couldn't expect her to neglect him for me." Not a word of gratefulness for Ann's care, neither did she know that Ann had been with Hugh.

Doctor Grayson came over and assured her she would be all right in a day or two. But she made much of her pain, and told him Ann should discharge Nora. She had already told Dick she was not safe to have around Jack. Dick had spoken to Ann, telling her in blunt fashion to let that clumsy girl go at once.

"Will you cook the meals and wait upon your guest?" Ann had returned quietly. "I surely shall not. Nora is a very good girl, devoted to us and to Jack. She had an accident, but that is no reason I should discharge her." And Dick had said no more.

But Ann noticed that Nora sang over her work, as she had not sung in weeks, and as she watched her was positive her first impression had been right. It was no accident.

Grace demanded much waiting upon that night, and Ann compelled Nora to attend her. It should be her punishment. But, shocked as she was at the action, Ann couldn't help feeling glad that she had so devoted a girl with her—a servant who resented Grace's presence in the house!

Once again Ann called Ned and told him he would have to take Grace home. The morning after she was burned he came, and, although Grace protested, he took her home with him.

Tomorrow—Ann Declares an Ultimatum.

Jackson Draws In Crystal Falls Bout

Entering the semi-final bout on a Crystal Falls boxing card with a single day of training, Clifford "Buck" Jackson, Manistique boxer, earned a draw with a tough Crystal Falls scrapper Tuesday evening.

Jackson left here on short notice to take part in the iron county fight card, and few of his friends here knew of his participation in the event until his return to this city Wednesday morning.

According to reports, the semi-final between the local boy and the Crystal Falls scrapper was a fast and interesting bout, one of the features of a fine fight card in which there were three knockouts.

This was Buck Jackson's first fight since his tilt with the Fort Brady soldier at the Sault. Taking into consideration the fact that Jackson had not prepared for the event with even one workout, his showing against the upstate man may be considered a mighty creditable one.

REVIEW BOARD CLOSING THREE DAY SESSION

Hearings Given All Asking Change in Assessment

Hearing on tax assessment by the board of review was completed yesterday when members of the city commission, Mayor I. N. Bushong, Claude Hawkins, Jackson Stephenson, Milton Call and John Mattson, and City Assessor Erick Johnson, finished a three-day session at the City Hall.

But few changes were made in the assessments as fixed for last year. Hearings were given by the board to all those who wished their tax assessment reviewed and provision was made for widows, Civil War veterans and those unable to pay their taxes.

In the past many property owners have appeared before the city council during the time of tax collection, asking for changes in the assessment, thus causing unnecessary delay and inconvenience while the matter was being adjusted.

Under the review system all protests should be heard during the three days the board is in session and it is hoped that this former practice will be eliminated.

Saydar Swenson left Tuesday night for Minneapolis, where he will enlist in the United States naval service.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rosenblum are expected to return today or Friday from Chicago where they motored on business.

QUART OF WATER CLEANS KIDNEYS

Take a Little Salts If Your Back Hurts, or Bladder is Troubling You.

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. "Eating too much rich food creates acids, which excite the kidneys. They become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood. Then we get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders often come from sluggish kidneys."

The most good (and all) lies in the kidneys, or back back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of stinging, begin drinking a quart of water each day, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to help neutralize the acids in the system, so they no longer cause irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year. Adv.

GRAY HAIR NOT ALWAYS BOWING TO YOUNGSTERS

Year Furnishes Some Inspiration to Old Boys.

More marvelous than the youngsters of competitive sport are the grayheads, whose achievements are like a check-rein on the fleeting years.

"Iron Man" Joe McGinnity, once the hero of the New York baseball fans, at 52 pitched a shut out game, 1 to 0, for Dubuque against Marshalltown, Ia., in the Mississippi Valley league. He allowed but four hits.

Jess Willard on the shady side of 40, knocked out a youngster of 23 in the eleventh round of a grueling boxing contest. Stanislaus Zyzasko, the bald-headed Pole, nearing the half-century mark, wrestled for 99 minutes before going down for a fall under the crushing headlock of Ed Lewis, the "Strangler." Zyzasko had his opponent's shoulders with inches of the mat several times before his bald head slipped into the viselike head hold.

"Babe" Adams, Pittsburgh National hurler, celebrated his forty-first birthday by defeating the world champion New York Giants. Adams has been pitching winning ball for eighteen years. His arm still has the strength he knew when he played on the sand lots, he claims.

These are the principal achievements of the grayheads in 1923 sport history, and the year is yet young. And there are other aged wonders of sport whose seasons come later in the year.

"Pop" Geers, 73, has been driving harness horses for forty-three seasons. His skill in the sulky is second to no living driver. George S. Lyon, of Toronto, Canada's aged golfing wonder, has won the senior golf title of the dominion for five straight years. There are few youngsters in Canada whose game is better. He has also marked success in the dominion's amateur and open events.

Shelby Turns Out To Welcome Gibbons. Great Falls, Mont., June 6.—The town of Shelby turned out its entire population this afternoon to welcome Tom Gibbons, who meets Jack Dempsey here July 4 for the heavyweight boxing championship, upon his arrival from St. Paul to begin training for the battle.

Gibbons was accompanied by his wife and three children. Word of the welcome tendered Gibbons in the oil town was received here in a special dispatch to the Great Falls Tribune.

Eddie Kane, Gibbons' manager said the challenger would begin his training tomorrow by taking a long hike, and on Friday will start actual training in the quarters donated him by a Shelby business man.

FRANCIS HOPPE APPEARS HERE

Francis Hoppe, brother of Willie Hoppe, billiard champion of the world, appeared in a pocket billiard exhibition at Gladstone last night, when he defeated Charles Clark, a Gladstone player, 125 to 28.

Hoppe, who is touring the peninsula, staged his exhibition at Gladstone last night before a large crowd of fans. Tonight he will appear in an exhibition at the Arcade billiard hall at 8 o'clock when he will appear in a 250-point billiard exhibition. The admission will be free and the general public is invited to attend.

English Jockey Is Third Time Winner

Epsom Downs, England, June 6.—Jockey Steve Donoghue became a heroic figure in British history today when for the third year in succession he rode to victory in the greatest of all horse races—the Derby. This time the lithe leader of all British jockeys was mounted on Papyrus, whose name, curiously enough, is Barney Irish.

By winning three derbies in a row, Donoghue gains possession of the golden spurs, which the Jockey Club long ago offered for this achievement.

The time of the winning horse was 2:30:08. One length behind came Pharos, owned by Lord Derby. MA Goculda's Parth was third, and Doric, fourth.

Welterweight Crown Declared Forfeited

New York, June 6.—Mickey Walker, world's welterweight boxing champion, was indefinitely suspended today, and his title declared forfeited by the state athletic commission for failure to accept the challenge from Dave Shade, of San Francisco. Under the commission's ruling, Shade was accorded recognition in this state as the title holder.

Atlantic City entertains more than 10,000,000 visitors a year.

JACK CURLEY NOT "SOLD" ON SO. AMERICAN

Believes Willard Can Beat Luis Firpo.

Jack Curley is of the opinion that Jess Willard will defeat Luis Firpo. Curley attended the milk fund fight show in New York and was much impressed with the decisive manner in which Willard defeated Floyd Johnson.

"Willard cannot get back into good enough condition to beat Dempsey, or Harry Wills, but he is good enough to whip the remainder of the field," Curley said. "I was not very much impressed with Luis Firpo as a fighter. He is a big, strong fellow who can punch fairly well, but that lets him out," Curley continued.

"The South American is inclined to fight wildly when stung. That sort of a fighter is made to order for Dempsey, Willard and Wills. Dempsey would stop him with most any kind of a punch, while Willard or Wills would slaughter him with a right uppercut. Both Jess and Harry use this punch with deadly effect, and Firpo's wide open style of milling would make it simple for them to land it on him. Firpo looked good against Jack McAuliffe because the latter did not amount to much.

"If I were managing Firpo I would not match him with Willard. There is a million dollars waiting for Firpo and Dempsey in South America so why take a chance on having such an excellent boxoffice attraction as Firpo knocked off for a lesser amount in New York?"

Curley, by the way, is the man who made it possible for Willard to win the heavy title. He promoted the Johnson-Willard fight in Havana. Curley and Tom Jones afterwards were joint managers of Willard.

ROTTEN.

Judge (sternly): "Why did you strike that man in front of the millinery store?" Defendant: "Because he repaid a loan in the presence of my wife." Judge: "Discharged — next case."

Cubs Down Champs As Fog Covers Field

Chicago, June 6.—Chicago hit Art Nehf, star left hander, hard today, and won a 6 to 1 victory over New York. Vic Aldridge, on the other hand, held the world's champions to three hits.

A thick fog off Lake Michigan hung over the field, and made it so dark at times that it was impossible to see beyond the infield. Several times it was necessary for the umpires to confer as to whether or balls batted to the outfield had been caught.

Score: R. H. E. New York 000 000 010—1 3 2 Chicago 000 202 20x—6 12 2 Batteries: Nehf, Blume and Snyder; Smith, Aldridge and O'Farrell.

JEWETT WILL HAVE OWN PLANT

Detroit, Mich., June 6.—Preliminary work has been completed and the site turned over to the general contractors for a new Jewett plant which will bring production of this automobile up to over 500 daily.

The plans for the new plant, which will be one of the most modern in the city will be announced soon, according to H. M. Jewett, president of the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Company, builders of the Jewett. Its location, on West Warren Avenue, adjacent to the Pere Marquette and Detroit Terminal Railroad tracks gives ideal facilities for shipping and receipt of freight, says the Paige president. Here is now located the Jewett motor plant.

Pressed for information concerning the new plant, Mr. Jewett said that it would have two of the largest final assembly lines known to the automobile industry. He believes that they are the longest used in the production of any automobile selling at $1000 or more.

"The market for Jewett cars appears to grow daily," said Mr. Jewett. "With nearly 40,000 cars on the road, every section of the country now has had an opportunity to view the extraordinary performing qualities of the Jewett."

"These Jewetts have been placed in the hands of their owners in slightly over one year's time, as production of this model was not on a quantity basis until late in March, 1922. The Jewett was first announced in January, 1922. Distribution has now been secured in every section of the country. We need not be told this by our distribution department either. The sales reports show it. Each Jewett sale has brought orders for many more from that territory.

"The present demand alone for Jewetts, we feel, justifies our new factory and its consequent doubling of production."
