FREE ADVICE PLENTIFUL ON EVE OF TOUR

HARDING'S FRIENDS WOULD LIKE TO WRITE TALKS.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 15.—President Harding is preparing in advance many of the speeches he is to deliver on his western trip...

Friends Confident

Right now the feeling inside the presidential circle is one of confidence. A few days ago one or two men in the group of a betting disposition wagered $5,000 that Harding would be renominated...

Strangely enough much of the confidence about the ultimate success of President Harding is based on a belief that the opposition to him will not be effective.

West Settles Down

But if the west is intact, if the republican party is gaining weight of the Mississippi instead of losing, the assumption among Mr. Harding's friends is that he will have a safe margin of electoral votes in 1924.

So it's a battle for the west which indeed Mr. Harding is setting out next week to conquer and preserve for 1924 even though he may publicly and otherwise give the impression that he is not bent on political errands.

Not "Going Blind"

The mayor, while admitting the logic of his ideas, asked if the objectors were of the impression that the council had gone blind to the matter and had not investigated.

"We Wanta Know"

The things which the objectors want to know are: What is Warrentite and what is asphaltic concrete and what is the Wells road?

Are the other types as good as Warrentite, or close enough to it in quality to make it worth while to save the difference?

Why isn't there more complete evidence at hand and why wouldn't it be worth while to wait and get specifications of all types for comparison?

The salesmen were present but refrained from speechmaking. Each of them, it is understood, has at his command enough testimonials and endorsements of his type of road to paper the stary dome of night three layers deep.

MRS. HINCKLEY NERVOUS WRECK

Tells How She Was Restored to Perfect Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Memphis, Tenn.—"Two years ago I was completely run-down and my nerves were a wreck. I could not sweep a room without resting. I could not do my work except a little at a time, and the doctor's medicine did not help me. One day some one threw your little book on my porch, and in it I read several testimonials of women who had been like myself. I went right out and got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and before I had taken the whole of that bottle I knew it was helping me. I took six bottles, and then in about three months I took two more. Now I am in perfect health. I do all of my own work and could do more. I can truly say that I know Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound gave me my health."

Mrs. O. J. Hinckley, 316 Union Ave., Memphis, Tenn. Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. This book contains valuable information.

"It Pays to Swim with the Current"

This is about two spark plugs. At the moment they are lying on the sales manager's desk in the establishment of a large middle-western hardware jobber.

One spark plug bears a name known wherever automobiles are used, the other a name seldom heard.

Both, says the sales manager, are good plugs. On the score of quality they run neck and neck.

"But," he adds, "we are discontinuing this line"—and he holds up the plug of unfamiliar name. "Yes, and our discount on it is larger, too."

"What's wrong with it? Not a thing. It's a good plug—mighty good plug, but—no one knows about it. It isn't advertised—the other one is. The demand is for the advertised make. And we've learned it pays to swim with the current, not against it."

More and more jobbers in every line of business are learning every day that it pays to swim with the current of popular demand.

"Our job," said one jobber, "is to supply markets, not create them. Let the manufacturer make a market for his goods, and we will handle it."

Said another—"Our salesmen carry a catalog with thousands of items in it. They haven't the time to push unadvertised goods. Their work is principally taking orders."

If you go among these wholesalers today to introduce a new product in competition with merchandise nationally advertised, unless the article is exceptional, you will be met everywhere by the injunction: "First go out and get a reputation for your goods through advertising."

The wholesaler knows by actual contact with dealers how they value speed of turnover, goods which move with a minimum of effort, goods people know about and ask for.

Menasha Club Opens Two-Day Series Here Today

BADGER STARS OPPOSE LOCALS

Eddie Schwartz To Pitch for Esky; Jack Perrin Resigns.

The Menasha American Legion baseball team, winners of the 1922 Wisconsin state semi-pro championship, arrived in the city last night, prepared for the first of a two-game series with the Escanaba club, to be started at 4 o'clock this afternoon at South Park. The Badgers also will provide the Sunday baseball attraction here.

Announcement was made last night that the two Menasha games will be the last of the season here for Manager Jack Perrin, who is leaving the first of the week for Ann Arbor to enroll in Coach Fielding H. Yost's summer school for athletic directors. Perrin's resignation was received by the club yesterday. His successor has not been selected.

Schwartz to Pitch. Eddie Schwartz will pitch today's game against the Menasha team, Perrin announced. He is in first class condition and ready for a tough battle, which the batting averages of the visitors indicate he will be up against. "Eddie will stop them," Perrin predicted. "He is in fine form. The kinks in his arm, which have been bothering him for two or three weeks have been straightened out and I've never seen him looking better. Indications were that Noel, the Oshkosh slant-batter, would be Menasha's choice for pitching duty. Leaving Miller, the former Chicago White Sox slant-batter, for Sunday's battle against Krasnick.

Yesterday's workout of the local team found everything going along excellently, and the session was held at high speed throughout.

Perrin Has Coaching Offers. Announcement of Perrin's decision to leave the team, which he organized and managed, will be received throughout the upper peninsula with expressions of regret. As an outfielder, Perrin has no superiors in this section. He covers a world of territory in a consistently brilliant and heady manner, and he is a timely and effective performer with the willow. He captained last year's team on the field and has served as playing manager this season up to the present. Several excellent coaching propositions are open to him, beginning with the next school year. He has not announced which he will accept.

Among those mentioned as his successor, the name of Fred Olmsted, veteran infielder who has had a world of managerial experience, was prominent last night. There was no hint, however, as to whether Olmsted would be willing to accept the reins.

Four Teams Lead in Track Meet Favor

Chicago, June 15.—(By the Associated Press)—With the field narrowed by trial events today in the quarter and half mile runs, Michigan, Pennsylvania State, Illinois and Leland Stanford stood favorites tonight for top place in the finals tomorrow of the nationwide intercollegiate championships of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. Stanford and the Wolverines with two of the largest teams standing through the preliminaries, overshadowed a tough struggle for Penn Staters, though the performance of Helfrich and Enoch of the Keystone team today gave promise of a close finish.

TOMMY CAME NEAR HAVING TO FIGHT PROMOTER, TOO

Here are some of the things Tommy Gibbons is doing to get himself in shape for his meeting with Jack Dempsey at Shelby, Mont., July 4. Shadow boxing, punching the bag, running and skipping the rope are all emphasized in his training program. Tommy also plays golf and he wields a mean sythe, too!

BY BOB DORMAN. NEA Service Writer. Chapter 2.

Shelby, Mont., June 12.—One day the Social Club put on a big doings. The bully was there again.

A photographer came out to take pictures. The gang wanted the bully and Gibbons to pose. After the picture was taken the boys figured they ought to put on another fight.

Tommy and the bully fought four rounds. From the second round Gibbons didn't know whether he was in the ring or in a ship on a rough sea. He thought he was losing. But after it was over the gang gathered around him and cheered. He had licked the club bully.

"I guess I stuck out my chest," relates Gibbons, "and tried to act like what they wanted their hero to be after that."

Nearly a year later he joined the Arc Light Club. There he found the bully again. And again he whipped him.

His First Fight. Mike took the cue. He grabbed the five spot and said—"Well, we'll just take this."

And Then New York. That was Sept. 25, 1911. Tommy had fought his first fight. And he admits he was pretty much elated over its outcome. His second fight came off a week later with K. O. Brown. Gibbons got $15 and a broken rib out of it. He knocked Brown out in the fifth, too.

Brown was a colored boxer, the only one Tommy ever fought.

"Mike thought I was going to be a wonder," said Tommy. "So did I. 'We'll go down to New York and make some real jack,' he told me."

Mike got him a match on the same card on which he, himself, was boxing at Billy Gibson's Fairmount Club.

New York—that was going to mean a lot to Tommy.

But Tommy didn't find him such a cyclone. He put Kelly to sleep in the fifth round.

Gibbons' purse was supposed to be $15. The promoter didn't want to pay him.

While Mike was arguing with the promoter about it, Tommy noticed that the gentleman had a five-dollar bill in his hand. He looked at the bill and then at Mike.

Mike took the cue. He grabbed the five spot and said—"Well, we'll just take this."

And Then New York. That was Sept. 25, 1911. Tommy had fought his first fight. And he admits he was pretty

SHEELY GREAT FIRST SACKER

Stuffy McInnis Says So and He's One Who Should Know.

Chicago, June 12.—Who is the best fielding first baseman in the majors?

George Sisler would no doubt be an almost unanimous reply to such a question. Others might select Stuffy McInnis of the Boston Braves. Some no doubt would favor Charley Grimm of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Probably very few would pick Earl Sheely of the Chicago White Sox. Yet American League players all have a high rating of Sheely's value as a fielder.

"Sheely is a wonder," remarked Stuffy McInnis recently. "I doubt if the value of any player in the American League is less appreciated. He is a great target for the infielders to throw at. He gathers in with ease high throws that would go for two bases with the average first sacker."

"On a short bound he is an expert. Without a doubt he is the best first baseman I've ever seen when it comes to taking the ball one-handed when it is thrown directly in the runner's path."

"This I consider the hardest play in baseball. And Sheely is without a peer at it."

That's some praise from so great a fielder as McInnis, the man who in one season made only a single error at first base, and that a very questionable one.

While it isn't generally known, Sheely has not always been a first sacker. An injury forced the position on him. He began his career at second base. In touching a runner on an attempted steal, he suffered a broken ankle. It was badly set, and when the cast was taken off it was believed that Sheely's days as a player were over.

Sheely refused to give up and since he could hit the ball, a more stationary position was sought for him. He tried catching and did pretty well. An injury to the first baseman on his team caused him to be shifted to that position. There he found himself. He was with Salt Lake of the Pacific Coast League at the time.

Despite his bad ankle, which slowed him up, the Chicago White Sox made a deal for him because he could hit and field. He has proved a most valuable man for the Sox.

Few players would have come back after the mistake the surgeons had made in setting the bad break he suffered. So when prone to criticize Sheely for his lack of speed, glance at the bad left ankle, and think of the courage required to overcome such a physical handicap.

Go to post house. Demand smallpox. Father inconvenient, but keeps one single through June.

BILLEVANS SAYS

Talk to any of the old-time players about the remarkable increase in hitting during the last five or six years and you will get from them much the same answer: "We would have hit the ball as hard and as far if we played under the same conditions."

None of the great hitters of days gone by will admit that the batman of the present day are superior to the old-timers. No doubt they are right in such a contention.

Last year at Boston there was held an "Old-Timers Game." Some fifty star players of other days convened to take part in the all-star event. I was umpiring in Boston at the time and it was my very good fortune to renew acquaintances with many of them.

A good many were stars in the American League when I joined that organization as an umpire. It is a rather interesting fact that Ty Cobb, alone remains of all the players who made up the eight American League clubs back in 1906, the year I started as a big league official.

A number of the old-timers arrived several days in advance of the game. In the morning they would journey out to the park to limber up a bit. In the afternoon they would take in the ball game. A good many of the players had drifted away from the big league circuit and some of them hadn't seen a major league game in as long as ten years. Naturally the thing that surprised them most was the long distance hitting.

While the old-time stars realized that the lively ball now in use played a prominent part, still most of them expressed the belief that inferior pitching had more to do with the era of swat, which is featuring modern baseball, than the "rabbit ball." Here is the way one of the old-timers put it:

English Star Defeats Hagen

American Loses British Open Title by One Stroke.

Tron, Scotland, June 15.—(By the Associated Press)—Arthur Gladstone Havers, a young English professional who has played golf ever since he was old enough to hold a club, today won the British open championship of 1923 by a margin of one stroke under Walter Hagen, who came from the United States to defend the title he acquired one year ago at Sandwich.

Through the efforts of Havers, Great Britain has won back its own cup from the Americans, who had held it for two successive years. Playing every round of the 72 holes with remarkable steadiness, Havers amassed a grand total of only 295 strokes, five less than Hagen made to win the trophy last year. Hagen ended his 72 hole battle today with 296 strokes recorded on his card.

Smith Third. Third place also went to an American, MacDonald Smith of San Francisco, with a score of 297, including a 65 this morning that broke the record for the Troon course. Joe Kirkwood, the Australian who now makes his home in the United States, came in fourth with 298 strokes. Johnny Farrell of New York was in eighth position with a card of 306. George Aubach, the other American, was down the line with a 329.

RENEW SEARCH FOR WHITFIELD THROUGHOUT U. P.

Search Lake Steamer at Soo, Watch Through Peninsula for Killer.

Escanaba and Gladstone police, with the Delta county sheriff's force, swung out the dragnet last night for trace of J. Leonard Whitfield, slayer of a Cleveland politician, who is believed to be making his way through the upper peninsula towards the Canadian border.
Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., police on Wednesday searched the steamer John W. Gates for a freeman whose description was said to tally in part with that of Whitfield. The "tip" for the search came from the Cleveland police. Officers disguised as members of a wrecking tug's crew boarded the steamer in the river and found the freeman in question. Closer checking of the descriptions resulted in the man's release.

Seen in Soo?
Following close on the heels of the fruitless search of the steamer came a report on Thursday that a man answering the general description of the Cleveland murderer had been seen near the Soo depot. This tip came from a taxi driver who had been questioned by the man in regard to the trains and what were the quickest ways to get out of the city.

The man appeared very nervous and apprehensive, according to the report, and seemed in great haste to leave town. Considerable weight is placed on the "tip" by Soo police because of the fact that they had previously received a straight tip from the Cleveland police to the effect that Whitfield was heading east from Duluth.
There is the possibility that Whitfield may have boarded another steamer, slipping off at the Soo and doubling back through the peninsula to throw off pursuit. Officers and railroad men at all towns west of the Soo in the upper peninsula and Wisconsin have been warned to watch for the fugitive.

Byrns Returns From Convention

C. J. Byrns, general manager of the Bird's Eye Veneer company, returned yesterday morning from Chicago where he attended the sessions of the annual convention of the National Veneer and Panel Manufacturers' Association, when that organization decided after a lengthy discussion to affiliate with the National Hardwood Manufacturers' Association. Through the affiliation arrangement worked out, in which Mr. Byrns took a prominent part on the floor of the convention, the veneer and panel manufacturers will be entitled to representation in the hardwood manufacturers' association by two members of the board of directors and three members of the latter association's grading committee.

FISHING FIRMS ADJUST MIXUP

Triangular Differences Are Aired in Justice Court.

Three fishermen appeared in justice court here Thursday for the purpose of adjusting differences that had arisen out of a partnership arranged last month, when John L. Carlson and Carl Frans started lake fishing with Capt. Chas. Stone. The proceedings were instituted by Carlson who sought payment for work and materials furnished Capt. Stone while preparing for the fishing season, which, for them, had lasted only one day.

Stone wanted partnership. It developed that Stone was the owner of the boat used, and had proposed a partnership to the other men, suggesting that they furnish nets and hooks while he furnished the boat, each to share alike with one-third of the proceeds. This was agreed, and the trio made preparations to start the fishing season. As there was some chalking to be done on the boat, Mr. Stone suggested to the other men that they assist him, and in that way get ready to begin fishing sooner.

All was made ready and the three set their nets and hooks, only to pull them up again almost immediately and discontinue fishing, through a disagreement.

Stone ready to pay. In justice court, Carlson asked payment from Stone for labor and materials used in getting ready for the short-lived fishing venture, testifying that Capt. Stone had promised to pay him for all of this with the first fishing receipts. With Stone professing a willingness to pay for materials when he had the money, but denying that he had promised to pay for labor, the case was taken under advisement by Justice McKinney, to be decided on Saturday.

MOTORIST PAYS FINE, DRIVING INTOXICATED

Charged with driving an auto while under the influence of liquor, John Carlson of Curtis, was arraigned in justice court here Friday morning.

Carlson had been arrested Wednesday evening by local officers after he had shown evidences that he was in an intoxicated condition. When arrested, he was driving his car on Deer and Third streets.

Brought before Justice McKinney Friday morning after a night spent in jail, Carlson pleaded guilty to the charge as read to him, and was assessed with a fine of $60 and costs. He professed to be unable to get the money in the city, in the time limit of one hour set by the judge, and said it would be necessary for him to go to Engadine, where a banker had possession of the proceeds from a sale recently held at Carlsons' farm between Germafs and Curtis.

The defendant has been engaged in the lumbering business, with a camp at Soo Junction.

CITY HUNTING NEW ELECTRIC TRAFFIC POSTS

No trace has as yet been found of the two electric traffic guides which were mysteriously lost in transit to Manistique, for installation at street intersections.

Upon receipt of only four of the six traffic signals ordered, a letter was sent at once to the Elkhart foundry company by the street commissioner and city clerk, advising the company of the failure of the guides to arrive. In a reply received this week the company states that the entire shipment was sent at one time, and they were at a loss to account for the remainder of the shipment. Tracers were sent out, however, and the city of Manistique was instructed to send for a repeat order, should the signals yet fail to arrive.

Fire Ordinances Being Violated

In spite of the warnings given out by the fire department, autoists have recently violated city ordinance fire regulations which provide that cars must keep 500 feet from the fire, and must not drive over the hose.

As a result of violations at a recent fire, two men were haled into court and paid fines for driving their machines over the hose. All future violations will also be prosecuted, as cars driven by curious drivers in the vicinity of a fire often prove to be a nuisance and hamper the firemen in their work.

SCHNURER-WATSON.

CLUB CONDUCTS TRADE MEETING

Wood Principal Speaker at First of Series of Discussions.

Representatives of practically every business in the city of Manistique were present at the K. P. Hall Thursday evening for the industrial conference, the first meeting of its kind ever held here, called by the industrial committee of the Manistique Civic Club.

Explaining the purpose of the conference, James C. Wood, chairman of the committee, said: "We have no axe to grind, neither has the Civic Club which appointed us any axe to grind. We are working merely for the good of industrial Manistique, and propose to hold meetings from time to time with the general business public in order to let them know what we are accomplishing for the good of the community, we don't propose to derive any credit from it, neither does the Civic Club."

Firm Wants Location.
Mr. Wood first made mention of propositions for bringing new firms to this city, and read correspondence from two of these, among them the Stroh Aluminum company of Detroit, who asked mainly for a building to be used as a factory site.

Some facts were also given in regard to the Schimkat Cutlery company, now a going concern in this city.

The company had recently incorporated under the laws of Michigan with a capitalization of $70,000. Mr. Wood said, and had assets in the form of machinery, buildings and materials worth about $85,000.

At the present time the firm is supplied with orders enough to run them for some time, and their product sells itself on its reputation. Returning from New York recently, Mr. G. Schimkat, senior member of the firm, and formerly manager of the Klaus Shears company, brought with him orders that will require an increased force of workmen to fill.

To Issue Stock.

To give them more working capital, the company decided to issue preferred stock to the amount of $25,000, $10,000 of which has already been subscribed, providing the remainder if absorbed in this city. This is eight per cent stock, and Mr. Wood pointed out that by absorbing the remaining $15,000 of the issue in Manistique, local business men would be keeping their money in town, helping the "other fellow," helping themselves, and helping the community in general by keeping in this city a concern that is growing, and which has an assured future.

In order that the business men present might see just what line of cutlery is being made by the concern which has been in this city less than a year, Mr. Wood brought a case containing a sample of every article that has been made by the Schimkat people, including their famous snips, as manufactured for the Simmons company, and other large hardware concerns.

Autoists Interested.
Auto owners among the business men present were particularly interested in the snips, and several expressed their intention of purchasing a pair at the local factory for cutting wires and other general purpose use in their cars.

At the present time the concern is ready to accommodate 100 men, but must first dispose of the stock in order to meet the increased pay-roll, after which they will proceed with the filling of immense orders for snips now on their books.

BUILDINGS ON RIVER STREET ARE GOING UP

Two building projects are now in progress on River street, where extensive improvements are being made to the Dr. Nelson residence and at the Cloverland Oil station, where a new filling station building is in process of construction.

Instead of running at right angles to the street, the driveway of the new station will be parallel to the street, and with convenient entrances. The brick work of the main station is now practically completed, and sidewalks were being rebuilt along the company's property yesterday by Dorman's crew.

Special arrangements have been made to take care of customers at the old station while the adjacent new building is in process of construction.

Trout Fishermen Report Good Luck

Good results are being reported by trout fishermen on the Indian River this week.

Among the anglers who fared well this week is John N. Forsnar, county clerk, who returned Wednesday afternoon with a beautiful string of trout, one of them 16 inches in length, and weighing 3 1/2 pounds, the rest of the string ranging from ten inches up.

BOAT SERVICE PROVIDED FOR TOURIST CAMP

Boat service at the Schoolcraft county camp site will be furnished this summer by the new caretaker, Julius Barnhart, who recently purchased all boats formerly owned by Louis Sheihaus, caretaker at the camp grounds last year.

The boats are available for pleasure purposes, and for taking trips to the Big Spring and "Seven Years Spring" across the lake. Tourists regard the Schoolcraft county site as one of the best in the upper peninsula, and all campers' records will probably be broken this summer. The new caretaker is well liked by this year's visitors at the camp, and has already accomplished much for the convenience of campers and picnickers.

TROPHY SHELF COMPLETED AT HIGH SCHOOL

It is expected that the trophy cabinet for Manistique's high school now under construction in the manual training department will be completed by the end of the school year, and will be ready to hold shields, cups, and banners won by Manistique athletes.

The cabinet will afford a convenient place for the display of these articles, and will be placed in the library, where the collection of trophies may be viewed at all times.

This is one of the last projects to be completed by the manual training department under S. B. Carlyon, and its workmanship will be a credit to the department. Mr. Carlyon has been reengaged for the coming term of 1923-24.

Not how cheap, but how good. Tutti Frutti, Strawberry, Vanilla, Pineapple Flavors. For Sunday we will have Hoyle's Brick Ice Cream. Have you tried it yet? If not, get a pint, 20 cents, a quart, 40 cents, or a brick 50 cents, and note the difference. We can also supply from one gallon up for picnics and parties. For large orders please order a day in advance. Phone 299-S. Chas. Van Thorre, 305 Deer Street, Manistique, Mich.

Railroad Crossing Is Levelled Down

Since the registering of complaints on the roughness of railroad crossings on Deer street some repair work has already been done, and the condition of the highway crossings have been improved to a great extent.

It is also proposed to level those which are not on a level with the street grade brought to the proper grade, and communications have been sent to the company in question, in order to ascertain whether or not it is possible to have this change made.

The addition of a quantity of new pavement material at the M. and L. S. crossing has resulted in a vast improvement there.

ADDS NEW FLOWERS.

New flowers are being added to various beds in the city by Greenwood the florist this week and all have added to the attractiveness of Manistique. Among the public show places flower beds that were recently replenished are those at the court house and at the Standard Oil station at the junction of Cedar and River streets.

Miss Ruth Oliver Suprise Victim

Miss Ruth Oliver was pleasantly surprised by her friends here Thursday evening in honor of her birthday.

The evening was spent in dancing and games, after which refreshments were served. Miss Oliver received many pretty gifts in remembrance of the occasion.

This month closes another year of activities for the Child's Welfare club, and the continued success of the organization which has attracted state wide notice, is a source of pleasure to members of the community who are justly proud of the Welfare club.

Ford Sedan Is Found in Escanaba

A Ford sedan, belonging to Claude Hawkins, stolen Thursday night from the garage at the Hawkins home, was recovered this morning in Escanaba a few hours after the authorities had been notified of its loss. The car was found in first class condition on North Tenth street in Escanaba and was evidently borrowed by some boys desiring a ride.

WELFARE CLUB COMPLETES ITS SEVENTH YEAR

Splendid Record Shown in Report; Officers Reelected.

Unanimous reelection of the entire staff of officers and announcement of the annual reports on Friday brought to a close the seventh year of the activities of the Child's Welfare club of Gladstone, one of the most successful years since the club's organization.

Mrs. W. H. Corbett again heads the organization as president; Mrs. John D. Staple, first vice president; Mrs. Henry Rosenblum, second vice president; Mrs. J. D. McDonald, corresponding and recording secretary and Mrs. L. J. Smith, treasurer and financial secretary.

The directors will remain the same with the one exception, E. J. Noreus being the new member elected to the board. They are Mrs. J. Paul Bushong, Mrs. James T. Jones, Mrs. Ida Forsyth, Mrs. G. J. Slining, Miss Ruth Beneshok, Henry Rosenblum, E. J. Noreus, G. J. Slining, J. D. McDonald, J. D. Staple, James T. Jones, Dr. A. H. Miller, M. J. Magoon and Dr. David N. Kee.

The reports for the year, submitted following the election, while they give only a slight idea of the wonderful work being accomplished by the welfare organization, still, in enumerating the various items furnish an indication of the varied activities of the club.

During the year just passed, the report shows, 208 articles of clothing were bought for children, 45 pairs of shoes, 26 pairs of rubbers and 8 new outfits were made and furnished to babies. The school was furnished with a new scale during the year.

Children Adopted.

Clothing, numbering 1,489 articles, was passed on to those in need of aid, 60 pairs of shoes were passed on as well as furniture, bedding and the like, where ever it has been needed.

Six children were placed in homes through adoption and two are being cared for by the club with a view toward finding homes for them, while thirteen children under the care of the organization are now awaiting operations for removal of tonsils and adenoids or relief from appendicitis, the operations to be performed during the vacation period.

This remarkable report of splendid work among the children of the city has been made possible, it was said Friday by the officials of the club, through the fine spirit of cooperation shown by the physicians, the nurses, as well as by the parents and children themselves and the sincere gratitude of the club members is extended to them.

The financial report also made at this time contains much of interest to those who are so closely following the accomplishments of the Welfare club. Expenditures for the year ending in June 1923, totaled $2,338.76, while the treasury funds totaled $2,765.09, thus leaving a balance to begin this year's work amounting to $426.33.

Among the items in the fund report are: cash on hand in June, 1922, $317.12; received from City of Gladstone, $100; Northwestern Co. paper, $300; Marble Arms, $100; Henry Rosenblum, $25; State band, $25; Mrs. H. Hancock, $50; Mrs. W. H. Corbett, $25; Mrs. C. W. Davis, $5; Nursing service, $457.80; Charity ball, $512.75; Tag day receipts, $230.18; Membership dues, $133; milk fund, $216.13; Bake sales, $90.05; Christmas donations, $165; Money refunded, $5; Donations, etc., $5.08.

TEACHERS MAKE READY TO LEAVE FOR VACATION

A number of the high school faculty members are preparing to leave the city for their summer vacations following the closing of the schools today. A number will go to their homes while others plan to attend a summer session before the beginning of the school year next fall.

Miss Tecla Stryk, physical training director for girls, will leave this morning for LaCrosse, Wis., where she will attend the summer session of the state normal of physical education. She will be accompanied by her sister, Miss Charlotte Stryk who is leaving for Chicago after a few days' visit here.

Miss Marion Whipple, head of the music department, will leave Sunday for her home at Hillsdale, Mich., making the trip by boat. She will be accompanied by Miss Esther Baldwin, who will be her guest.

Miss Ethel Bennett will leave tonight for her home at Aberdeen, S. D., where she will spend the summer with her parents. Other members of the faculty are planning to leave within the next few days but have not yet completed their plans.

CHARM OF SONG RECITAL HOLDS LARGE AUDIENCE

Miss Aleene Hufford Presented by Clara M. White

The attention of music followers of both Gladstone and Escanaba centered on the presentation of a remarkably talented young singer Thursday evening when Miss Aleene Hufford, pupil of Miss Clara M. White, appeared in song recital at Alice Memorial Methodist church, assisted by Noble Swenson and Lewis Empson, violinists.

The impression created by every phase of the recital is one that will remain as a pleasing memory to everyone who attended. The church was decorated in white lilies and roses arranged with the greenery of ferns, forming the background for the young vocalist.

Miss Hufford from her opening number, "Song of the Brown Thrush," to the lilting melody of "To a Hilltop," held her audience. Her voice carrying the charm of appeal combined with an enunciation remarkably distinct for a young singer and a range that permitted a varied program delight her listeners.

Particularly suited to her voice were the two numbers of "Thurlow Lorraine," "In a Winter-land," and "By the Waters of Minnetonka," Miss Hufford handling the quick airy grace of the former with as much ease as she did the haunting melody of the second number. "Lasca Chio Planka." Handel: "Laughing Roses," Cooke, and "I Passed by Your Window," Brahe, are also deserving of special mention.

Achievement.
Violin obligatos by Lewis Empson and Noble Swenson, with the accompaniments of Miss White, Miss Blanche Olson and Miss Hufford, added to the beauty of the program. Violin solos, particularly "To Spring," by Grieg, played by Lewis Empson, and "Adoration," Borowski, played by Noble Swenson, were beautifully given, while a duet, "Finale from the A. Major Symphony," Mozart, by the two young men was an accomplishment.

The recital Thursday night left nothing to be desired and the favorable comment of everyone attending reflects credit not only on the young singer and her accompanists, but upon the instructor to whose careful training the development of their talent is due.

CARL PETERS WILL BE IN GAME SUNDAY

Carl Peters, the pitcher who won many games for Gladstone last summer, and whose coming has been anxiously awaited by local fans, will be back in the lineup with the Gladstone Legion on Sunday. Ed Feeney will also be back as his old station at shortstop.

The addition of these two popular players has added much interest to Sunday's game and it is known that many fans will accompany the team to Marquette. Never in the history of the game has a player created as much interest in the game as Carl Peters. His popularity extends to all classes of fans.

RETIREES NEARLY ONE THIRD OF $55,000 ISSUE

City Manager's Action on Bonds Saves $1,856.10.

Negotiations were concluded late yesterday afternoon by City Manager C. W. Ham for the retiring of $15,000 of the $55,000 bond issue authorized by the voters at a special election in February. This action is possible at this time due to the early payment of city taxes under the new charter, taxes being due and payable from July 15 to August 15, instead of at the close of the year as formerly.

The bonds retired by the city today are the short term notes due within the next five years, payable at $2,000 annually. Their retirement at this time will save the city $1,937.50 in interest. The William L. Slavton company of Toledo, Ohio, to whom the complete $55,000 issue was sold by the city, paid a premium of $638 and on the portion which the city is retiring slightly less than that proportion is being paid, the difference being an additional saving for the city, a total of $11.50. From this total saving interest be deducted $122.70, a net saving of $185.10.

Water bonds in the amount of $3,000 were also retired yesterday by City Manager Ham, these coming due at this time. The total bonded indebtedness of $122,500 is thus reduced a total of $18,000 bringing it down to $104,500. The short term notes have also been retired so that the city now has five years in which to lay up a sinking fund with which to take care of other bonded indebtedness.

Sinking Fund.
Manager Ham stated yesterday that none of the money received through the last bond issue is being used for city purposes, it having been laid away as a sinking fund and from which the $15,000 in bonds will be retired. The sum remaining will be added to and used later in retiring additional bonds.

LIFE IN WAX

One of Only Two Women in Field Molds Child Action in Colored Miniature.

MISS M. DE VOE WHITE AND ONE OF HER WAX PORTRAITS

Portland, Ore., June 6.—At either end of the country a woman holds the distinction of being one of the two only known sculptors in America who have been heralded as accomplished artists in miniature colored wax portraits.

In New York, Miss Ethel Mundy's nimble fingers shape the plant wax into forms that have been accepted with pride in museums and other art galleries the world over.

Here in Portland is Miss Mundy's only conferee. She is Miss M. De Voe White, who since childhood has developed a talent for this class of art.

Grown older in years, Miss White has not got a year older in thought than when she started on her adventure into the plastic art at childhood.

To portray child life faithfully in wax, Miss White goes into the homes of children, lives with them, plays with them and studies their very thoughts and reactions.

Her portraits are natural and depict the subjects in moments of unconscious relaxation. The color of flesh, the delicate shades where the folds of the dresses may overlap—all are correctly portrayed with the finest detail.

Although Miss White has a prototype in New York, she believes her product may be entirely different from that of Miss Mundy. The two have never met.

Each has created her own particular craftsmanship and technique.

Miss White also evolved her own formulas for the wax and the colors, so her portraits will not melt under the hottest sun or chip in coldest weather.

Fingers are the tools most often employed in the molding, although that other feminine requisite, the orangewood stick, is frequently resorted to.

"I do not claim my art to be marvelous," says Miss White. "Never have I seen the actual work of the European artists or that of Miss Mundy. What I do hope, though, is that my art may endure as a contribution of worth from our own United States."

PETERS AND REA—HUSKY AMERICANS.

Some of our young people who are afraid they may ruin their health or impair their enjoyment of life by hard work might with profit read the account of the careers of Samuel Rea of the Pennsylvania Railroad System, and of Ralph Peters, of the Long Island. Recent news items convey the information that next November Mr. Peters is to be retired from the presidency of the Long Island System by reason of having reached the age of 70, and in about two years Mr. Rea will be retired from the Pennsylvania for the same reason. Many people who are acquainted with the two presidents and are familiar with their work are protesting against the strict enforcement of a rule that provides an age limit, insisting that these men are still good for a number of years of useful service.

Now, young man, when you get to be seventy years of age won't you be proud if your friends are insisting that you stick to the job instead of retiring?
 How did they do it?

Well, taking Mr. Peters first, he began by being born in Atlanta about eleven years before Sherman made his famous march from that point to the sea. At the age of 19 he was graduated from the University of Georgia and then got a job—not a position, just a job—working for the street car company, in the days when horses furnished the motive power. Then he got a clerkship in the executive offices of a steam railroad and did his work so well that he was advanced from one position to another, in supervisory responsibility in railroad management, until, in 1905, he became superintendent and general manager of the Long Island System, which furnishes transportation for some three million people who live on Long Island and work in New York or who produce garden truck on Long Island to sell in New York or who conduct business enterprises on that island which many of us have pictured as a sandy waste. It is a complicated system comprising some two dozen roads or steamship lines—a system so intricate that only a mind trained to work of that character could keep it working harmoniously.

According to "Who's Who," Mr. Rea was born in a little town in Pennsylvania, quit school at fifteen and got a job in the construction department of a railroad—helping a surveying gang, probably. At any rate, by the time he was 20 he was assistant engineer in the construction of a chain suspension bridge at Pittsburgh, and was active in construction work for a number of years, building the magnificent Pennsylvania Station in New York City and the tunnel connecting therewith and also the famous Hell Gate Bridge over East River. This latter task he completed at the age of 62 when most men are ready to retire. He has been president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, one of the greatest in the United States, for the past 10 years.

Of course, both of these men had native ability and good physical constitutions to start with. Probably each of them is possessed of an intellectual shrewdness which would have made him a successful soap-box orator if he had wished to turn street-corner agitator. Each of them had the physical strength to stand forty years of dissolute living. But they didn't choose that course. Work, work, work, was their choice, and they are still in the harness at nearly 70.

And, beyond doubt, there never was a man who pursued indolent pleasure who got more joy out of life than have these two eminent, successful and useful workers of the railroad world.

The American Farm Bureau Federation, headed by a Democrat, is out with an effort to prove that the Republican tariff bill will cost the people of the country about a billion and a half a year. The bureau admits, however, that its figures are liable to contain a large degree of error.

Charles Wakefield Cadman is reported to be at work on what he hopes will be an American opera. After the music has been retouched by a Hungarian conductor, the book translated into Italian the rehearsals turned over to a Russian director and the piece produced by a Jewish impresario. It probably will be almost as American as chow mein, the Leaning Tower and the monocle. A PLEDGE IS GIVEN.
 Chapter LXXXV.
 When Hugh said that Grace declared Dick had virtually made her mistress of his home, Ann flushed a deep red, then grew pale. Was it—could it be true that Dick had gone so far? She looked at him, and the anger in his face, his blazing eyes somewhat reassured her.
 "She lies!" he said hoarsely, to no one in particular.
 "Where is she now?" Bessie asked.
 "On her way to your ranch. I believe. Said she was going for her clothes, that she hated every one of you. She was very bitter at you, Bess, for coming over every day and staying."
 "What else could I do?" Bessie asked. "I couldn't."
 "Had you not, Bess, I should have not remained in the house at night," Dick said in a low voice. "I was planning to sleep in the tool house."
 "I believe you, Dick!" Hugh said heartily. "You are too much of a man to compromise a girl, even if you were angry at Ann."
 Ann looked up in astonishment at Hugh's plain speaking, surprised he had mentioned Dick's anger at her.
 "Well, I suppose I'd better go home," Bessie broke in. "I have a few things to say to Grace before she goes—if she does go."
 Hugh lingered.
 Ann took little Jack into the house. He was full of chatter about "Grace" and sleeping in the hotel. Ann gathered that Grace had been very kind to him, that she had kept him contented and happy. She had been so fearful that something might happen to

"THE OLD HOME TOWN"

By Stanley

I have not been unfaithful, Ann, had as things look I was crazy and she made me more so, made me believe you didn't care for me, that you loved Hugh."
 Ann waited, silent. After a bit Dick went on: "I was sort of wild over her. She was so bright and—different. I guess she knew it was that, her difference. I am not making apology, Ann, not even asking you to forgive me—but shall we commence all over again, or are you too disgusted with me to try?"
 Still Ann was silent. How like Dick to make no plea for forgiveness. But he was suffering, ashamed, that she knew. His desire to get even had put him in an unenviable position with everyone they knew at all intimately. And in spite of her doubts, her knowledge that he had made love to Grace, she believed him when he said he had gone no further; that he had not been unfaithful.
 He raised his eyes to her, pleading, boyish eyes.
 "Dick, will you do something for—all of us?" she asked. She had been about to say "for me," then changed it.
 "Anything, Ann. What is it?"
 "Will you swear, sign a pledge never to drink again?"
 "Why, Ann—"
 "I mean it, Dick. I believe that had you never drank this never would have happened. Will you?"
 "Yes, Ann, I'll swear never to touch a drop again, although I can't quite see the connection."
 Ann went into the house, wrote out a pledge, brought it to him and he signed it. So far she had not mentioned Grace's name to him. He waited, moving uneasily in his chair, sure that she would speak of her.

Women Praise Prof. Becker's Cooking Lessons

We often hear, or read about some woman going wild over an old man but in most cases it is because of the millions behind him, but when women will let all other work go to see an old man of 82 years every afternoon for a whole week there is something more important than money. We have such a case right here in this city when hundreds of women flock to the Escanaba Hardware Store every afternoon to see Prof. Becker, the 82-year-old culinary wonder of the age, demonstrate the fine art of cooking.

The old proverb says, "The way to a man's heart is through his stomach," but we may add that the right stomach is sometimes hard to find. At any rate if there is any truth to the old adage some women should be first class cooks after this week, for the lessons given free of charge by Prof. Becker are worth a fortune to any woman who values her home and her loved ones.

He simplifies the work and his advice will save the tired housewife many steps and many little odd jobs if she follows his instructions to the letter. Friday afternoon over a hundred women and young girls attended the session which was unusually interesting. As "bread is the staff of life," the lesson was of unusual interest. Prof. Becker made various kinds of rolls and "goodies" from ordinary bread dough and the recipes were copied by all present with the utmost attention to all minor details.

The bringing of Prof. Becker to our community is worth a great deal to the women of this city who are very appreciative of the opportunity given them to learn many of the most important things about the culinary art. Prof. Becker baked a loaf of bread through which the sun shone three times. That may sound absurd but it is a fact nevertheless and the women and men who were in the vast audience all saw it done.

He also gave the history of the Pretzel which was very interesting. He baked cinnamon rolls, Parker House rolls, snails, finger rolls, hot cross buns, Vienna rolls and Vienna loaf bread.

The way he handles the dough is rather amusing. He rolls it out, using very little flour on the moulding board, never greases a breadtin, just keeps it wiped dry and the many little things which seem too small to describe all go to make the bread making a success. It is the little things that count in this line and attention to all small details make the baking a success as well as a pleasure.

The professor keeps a pan of melted shortening on the top of the range at all times and it is over ready for its many uses during the baking process. The Majestic range which he uses is kept hot with coal and the even heat which bakes the food on all sides evenly is wondered at by the women in the audience, who are in the habit of turning their bread every few minutes.

Saturday afternoon the cooking of a meal for 15 persons, all in one pan, will take place. Meat, sweet potatoes, Irish potatoes, baking powder biscuits and other articles will all be baked in one hour's time. One has to see these things done to appreciate them, but the ladies who have attended the session up to date can vouch for these facts.

Everyone is cordially invited. It costs nothing. The demonstration begins at 3 o'clock and lasts until 5. Read the ad on another page of this paper.

IF DOG HAS BONE HE OWNS IT, SAGE JURIST NOW RULES

TEDDY.

BY A. H. FREDERICK.

"San Francisco.—A new right has been won for America's dogdom. Recent decisions in various courts have recognized a dog's right as a contestant in legal actions, but now, for the first time, it has been solemnly decreed that a dog is full legal owner of a bone, once he has it in his possession.

And dogs throughout the country can thank Teddy, local canine resident, Alexander Moslinff his attorney, and Police Judge Sylvain J. Lazarus as they gnaw their soup bones in peace.

Teddy was brought into Judge Lazarus' court recently to answer the most serious charge a dog can face. He had attacked a member of the superior race called Man. The victim in this case was the 5-year-old child of a neighbor.

The death penalty was demanded. There was no disputed

STATE OF MICHIGAN, In the Circuit Court for the County of Delta in Chancery, South Fisheries Company, a Corporation, Plaintiff, vs. A. C. Moore, Defendant.

Pursuant to a decree of the Circuit Court of the County of Delta, in Chancery, made and entered on the 23rd day of January, A. D. 1923, in the above entitled cause, the undersigned subscriber, a Circuit Court Commissioner in and for the County of Delta and State of Michigan, hereby gives notice that he shall sell at public auction or vendue to the highest bidder at the front door of the Court House in the City of Escanaba in said County of Delta on the 17th day of July, A. D. 1923, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, all those certain lands and premises situated in the Township of Fairbanks, County of Delta and State of Michigan, to-wit:

Lot Two (2) of Section Fifteen (15); The Southeast one-quarter of the Southeast one-quarter, and Lot one (1) of Section Sixteen (16); The West one-half, and Lots Two (2), Three (3) and Four (4) of Section Twenty-two (22); and also that part of Lot Four (4) of Section Twenty-one (21) contained within the following lines, to-wit: Commencing at a point Four (4) Rods North of the corner of said Section Twenty-one (21), running thence North along the shore line of said Lot Four (4) seven (7) rods; thence East to the Eastern line of said Lot Four (4); thence South to a point Four (4) rods from the South line of said Section Twenty-one (21); thence West to place of beginning. All of said pieces or parcels of land being in Township Thirty-six (36), North, of Range Twenty (20) West and situated, lying and being on St. Martins Island in the County of Delta and State of Michigan.

evidence. Teddy was guilty. That was the that of it. A red row of teeth-marks on the infant's arm constituted the telltale corpus delicti.

Future Dark. Despite his eight years of unimpeachable conduct, things looked black for Teddy.

Of course, the dog's lawyer brought out the fact that the child had tried to rob him of his bone, but what would that avail in a court where all the laws were made for men and none were made for dogs?

Then Judge Lazarus rendered his decision, epochal in the annals of dogdom. It was a rift in the lute so far as expectations were concerned.

An amazed audience heard him say: "This dog has done nothing to deserve death."

"The evidence has shown that this dog was gnawing upon a bone. That bone was his own property—and what more valuable property could a dog have than a large, juicy bone?"

"Anyone trying to deprive a dog of such property has violated the latter's most sacred property rights, and it is an invasion which the dog has a right to prevent with force.

Tide Turns. "No one would condemn the man who shot a burglar. Yet, if we can get the viewpoint of the dog, his provocation was as great as would be the man's.

Judges should always try to comprehend the emotions which actuated the animal on trial. Had I or any other man been in that dog's place, undoubtedly we would have done as did the dog—try at all hazards to protect our property.

"Though their actions may sometimes appear incomprehensible, perhaps some superior being looking down on us may find our so-called ethical actions just as puzzling.

"The case is dismissed." And that is why Teddy now frolics happily, recuperating from the strain of the trial, while American dogdom gnaws its bones in a new-found peaceful security.

Iron Trade Review

Cleveland, Ohio, June 15.—Iron Trade Review today says: New business in steel is in larger volume and more diversified though it still falls considerably short of meeting the heavy flow of shipments from the mills against orders previously entered. Examination of past periods of prosperity for the industry show that some slowing up of general activity usually has developed at this season of the year. This fact plus the better tone that undeniably characterizes the market, has created the belief among some of the leading producers that the recent relapse of confidence has passed its lowest point and that gradually expanding buying on a rational basis is to be expected. Some blast furnaces and other works capacity here and there are beginning to show the effects of recent hard driving and more suspensions for reeling and repairs are in sight. With two more working days than April, May established the highest total of steel ingot production in history, but the average daily rate, however, was slightly less than in April. In May the works produced steel at the annual rate of 48,440,000 tons compared with the annual rate of 49,110,000 tons in April.

The fall in Iron Trade Review composite of fourteen leading iron and steel products has gone further this week to $46.53. This compares with $46.79 one week ago, $47.26 two weeks ago and with an average of $47.52 for May.

Stronger faith in future conditions is suggested by the more numerous undertakings of large size that now are coming up. The Hetch Hetchy aqueduct at San Francisco requiring 24,700 tons has finally been placed. About 20,000 tons of new oil tank work has been placed. The government is inquiring for 16 river barges requiring 18,000 tons. One buyer is seeking 22,000 tons of oil line pipe of various sizes.

Railroad demand still stands before the market as one of its strongest supports, both in actual and prospective tonnage. Rail sales for the week total 250,000 tons. At Chicago 20,000 tons of track fastenings are under inquiry. The Pennsylvania has placed 20,000 tons of steel for third quarter shop needs.

Variations in the black sheet market again are noted this week. Reported concessions in blue annealed seem less acceptable, however, as one large interest has refused 50,000 tons at the regular price because of inability to deliver.

The pig iron market still shows a slight downward inclination though prices seem better stabilized after their recent decline. Climb a flag pole and don't come down until July. This is a simple way of staying single.

AMUSEMENTS

To those who remember "The Silent Call" it will probably sound unbelievable to declare that the second First National attraction starring Strongheart, the wonderful dog actor, "Brawn of the North," which closes its stay at the Delft today, shows this star 100 percent improved since his initial picture. But it is a fact. Laurence Trimble and Jane Murfin, who have sponsored this second production, have given him opportunity to display an acting ability that would never be suspected in a dog and he proves equal to it.

The picture is the finest sort of entertainment. There is plenty of action in it, but added to that there is a story that will rank it as one of the best dramatic productions of the year.

Mr. Trimble introduces a novelty by using a pack of timber wolves as being the real villains of the piece. Their driving motive is hunger, and from the time the dog sled runs away carrying as sweet a baby as was ever photographed to the time Strongheart carries the baby safely through the circle of snarling, famished wolves, one must keep his eyes closed to stay off the edge of his seat.

Irene Rich, Leo Shumway, Jean

Metcalf, Joe Barrel, Roger Manning, Philip Hubbard and Baby Evangeline Bryant are the members of the supporting cast who make the production memorable because of their performances, and a Siberian wolf, Lady Silver by name, earns a place among the fine animal performers of the screen.

AT THE STRAND. The William Fox picture in which William Russell is starring at the Strand again today, has scored an emphatic success. Entitled "The Crusader," and adapted from that popular author of adventure stories, Alan Sullivan, it caught the fancy of the audience at the start.

It deals with the story of a young farmer who is ambitious to embark on a career. He is the only support of his widowed mother. She realizes his ambitions and tells him to go forth into the world. He goes into a lumber camp and later to the Cobalt mining district.

The story is well stocked with exciting incidents, including a thrilling fight on the banks of some rapids. An unusual feature of the play is that there are two (main) roles of practically equal distinction—one played by Helen Ferguson, the leading woman, the other by Fritz Brunette.

The star's work throughout is admirable, and the staging most attractive. It is a picture of powerful appeal to all lovers of rapid fire action on the screen.

Mosquitoes are taking up bare-back riding for the summer.

Now, a Quick Quaker Oats

Cooks in 3 to 5 minutes The whitest cooking oat in the world

Now your grocer has Quaker Oats in two styles. One the kind you have always known—the other is Quick Quaker.

Quick Quaker cooks in from 3 to 5 minutes. And it cooks to perfection. So it is almost like a ready-cooked dish.

No other oat flakes on the market cook anywhere near so quickly. The two styles are identical in quality and flavor. Both are flaked from the finest grains only—just the rich, plump, flavorful oats. A bushel of choice oats yields but ten pounds of these delicious flakes.

But in Quick Quaker the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—there is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly.

Ask for Quick Quaker if you want this style. Your grocer has both. But always get Quaker Oats from their delightful flavor.

Great Lakes Cruise Enjoyable

For those who love the water and feel the urge for a vacation that will carry them to new scenes, a 5 days' cruise on the Great Lakes offers a vacation that seems well nigh ideal. Such a vacation can be enjoyed on high speed ships, the North American and the South American, equipped with every facility for the comfort and entertainment of their guests. On any Sunday or Thursday a 5 days' cruise may be started from Detroit. There are stops at historic Mackinac Island and Parry Sound, with a sufficient stop-over at Chicago for taking in the sights of the "Wonder City of the West." Both of the palatial steamers are oil-burning, and the cooling lake breezes can be enjoyed without the accompaniment of smoke or cinders.

Everyone can find exactly what he or she desires on one of these lake cruises, resting in luxurious lodgings or taking part in the constant round of entertainments and recreation that is available, such as deck games, concerts and dancing.

While Chicago is the "high spot" of interest on the trip, the shore line is exceedingly picturesque and the 30,000 Islands of Georgian Bay are particularly beautiful. Those who have taken the boat trip described, praise it as an ideal combination of rest, recreation and sight-seeing—a vacation that one never forgets.

Mr. Annes and Mrs. and Mrs. Dave Cousineau motored to Thunder Lake Sunday.

John Tuveille was in Manistique Monday.

The ladies of the Altar Society are requested to be present Sunday. After the services a meeting will be held and important matters will be discussed with their pastor.

Mrs. Mannering has a beautiful bungalow modern home, sufficient to accommodate the teachers for the future terms of school. Please apply to Mrs. Mannering for further particulars.

Mr. Tom Cousineau returned from a visit with his daughter, Mrs. Dan Garret of Manistique, and is now at Zeno Luvell's home.

Mr. Plante of Garden, visited at Jos. Cousineau's Tuesday.

THEN, FINALLY.

You see a beautiful girl walking down the street. She is, of course, feminine. If she is singular, you become nominative. You walk across to her, changing the verbal and then becoming dative. If she is not objective, you become plural. You walk home together. Her mother is accusative, and you become imperative. Her brother is an indefinite article. You walk in and sit down. You talk of the future, and she changes to the object. Her father becomes present, and you become the past participle.—Ohio Northern Review.
