THREE STUDENTS GRADUATE FROM GARDEN SCHOOLS

Commencement Address Given Friday by John Lemmer.

course. Mrs. Bonifas' industry and tenacity of purpose constitute an example of no mean value, and one which many younger and more favored people might do well to follow.

Friends of the Beardsley families of Kate's Bay will be interested to read the following excerpt, taken from a Washington Post newspaper of recent date:

"Fire caused by lightning last night destroyed the three-story home of Ervin L. Beardsley at Berwin, Md. Mr. Beardsley, wife, children and guests were sitting at dinner when the bolt crashed through the house. Five-year-old Thomas Beardsley was thrown from his chair but was not injured.

While Mr. Beardsley rushed to save his valuables the house was consumed by flames that were visible for miles. A small barn with several chickens and some feed also was burned. Apparatus from Hyattsville, Cottage City, Mount Ranier and the District responded but were unable to save the house.

The owner estimates the damage at $5,000. There was insurance of $1,200.

The ladies of the Guild of the Garden Congregational church held their regular meeting on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ward of Van's Harbor. At this meeting it was arranged to hold a picnic gathering at the home of Mrs. Wm. Foster of Van's Harbor on the afternoon of Wednesday, June 27. Readers will please accept this as an invitation to present at that gathering. If the crowds are very large, they will be assured of lots of space on the adjoining property.

Hazel Healey, three year old daughter of Bert Healey and wife of Kate's Bay, was quite sick on Wednesday. An attack of pneumonia was feared. Dr. Foote was called in to the sick child. On the way out there, Mrs. Healey had a blow out but with a little help was able to get fixed up without much delay.

Bert Healey and family of Kate's Bay, Vernon Hazen and family of Manistique, Dayton Beardsley and wife enjoyed a picnic gathering on the Beardsley beach on Sunday last. The chicken and the ice cream served out was fine, so they say.

Grant Truckey and Josephine La Valle were united in matrimony early on Wednesday morning with Rev. Fr. Morin officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Truckey subsequently taught the fast train for St. Ignace and the Lower Peninsula. They will make their future home in Flint.

An exciting runaway accident occurred near the village limits on Wednesday afternoon when the team of George Jogue, being driven home by Joseph Choquette after the day's work, became alarmed and ran. For some distance they hugged the fence of the Dr. La Motte property, occupied by Alex. Mailloux, pretty closely, passing between the telephone pole and the fence with almost mathematical precision. However, the next telephone pole and the distance between it and the fence was not judged quite so accurately and the whole outfit came to grief. The driver was thrown to the ground and sustained a broken leg as well as other injuries. He was immediately removed in the George Jogue car. The wagon was badly smashed and the horses, relieved of their load, gained impetus as they went for somewhere. We have not since heard if they got there or if they are still going.

Kate's Bay farmers are shipping about 2,000 bushels of potatoes this week. These will be shipped to Chicago on a Menominee boat. Walter Stellwagen was in the latter city last week and made arrangements for the shipment. There is still a large amount of tubers in storage on the local farms.

Dayton Beardsley has fixed a novel device for cutting seed potatoes which he claims will cut as many seed as by three men and a boy. The idea is altogether his own but is not patented and any farmer who is tired of the job of cutting seed potatoes will be welcomed at the Beardsley farm where he will be able to gather all the details free of charge, of this wonderful little outfit.

Country Agricultural Agent Joseph Turner and a party from Escanaba were in Kate's Bay on Thursday in the interests of local agriculture.

Dayton Beardsley made a hurry up trip to Manistique on Saturday in order to get some work done before he could continue his potato planting. He has suffered a streak of ill luck this spring. Another breakdown on the tractor, another on his manure spreader, punctures and blowouts while on the road with his car to get repairs, etc., for his farm machinery, too numerous to count on one hand. But he is still optimistic about the future. Why shouldn't he be?

A potato club has been organized amongst the boys of the Kate's Bay school. The club will be instructed regularly through the summer months by competent agriculturists. Various phases of the work will be discussed. The work will have a practical value for each member will raise a certain acreage of tubers. We expect they will be wanting to show Dad how to do it but we imagine that Dad will be more interested to learn details of the "How" and "When" and "Where" to market the things after they are raised. A number of local farmers are absolutely refusing to market their crop at the present very low figures.

1897—James Boycott, first prominent victim of the custom known as "boycotting," died in England.

1899—Halifax, N. S., celebrated the 150th anniversary of its settlement.

Plan Port Development.
Detroit, June 20.—(By The Associated Press)—Development of Great Lakes and river harbors at Detroit and other Michigan points may be started this year, if plans of Charles Boyd, secretary of the Inland Waterways Committee of the Detroit Board of Commerce are culminated.

By passage of the port district amendment at the last state wide election the machinery was set up for the formation of port districts that would be empowered to raise and expend funds for harbor and dockage betterments. Before advantage of the amendment can be taken, however, it is necessary that the state legislature pass an enabling act. The last legislature adjourned so soon after the election that it was unable to consider such a step. Therefore it was conceded, for a time, that nothing could be done toward waterway development until the 1925 session of the legislature.

Special Session Likely.
Word has come from Lansing, however, that Gov. Grosbeck is reasonably sure to call a special session of the legislature this summer to consider other matters and that if this is done he is likely to include in the list of matters to be taken up the port district enabling act. It is anticipated that such a measure would have smooth sailing in both branches of the law making body. Therefore, according to Mr. Boyd, there is more than a possibility that the planning, if not some of the actual work, of harbor development could be accomplished within the next year.

Mr. Boyd and his associates now are engaged in drawing up a proposed enabling act for presentation to the state attorney general for his approval. Then, if the legislature meets and the port proposal is included in the governor's call for the expected session, there would be no delay in submitting the question.

A THOUGHT

Although affliction cometh not forth of the dust, neither doth trouble spring out of the ground, yet man is born unto trouble, as the sparks fly upward.—Job 5:7.

In adverse hours, the friendship of the good shines most; each prosperous day commands its friends.—Euripides.

Before letting your conscience be your guide be sure you have one.

Each of the graduates, Margaret Cousineau, Walter Deloria and Leona Nelson, rendered orations on the subject of education. These reflected the painstaking efforts which not only they themselves had made on the whole year's work, but also gave evidence of the thoroughness with which the instructors had performed their tasks.

Frank Tebo, principal of the school, presented the diplomas, and in so doing, paid a high tribute to the class of '23 when he stated that the past year had been the happiest one that he had spent at the Garden high school. Whilst he was proud of the personnel of former classes, he stated that he had never instructed a class which was so receptive to his efforts as this one. Mr. Tebo also presented diplomas to eleven eighth grade graduates whom he addressed as the Graduating Class of 1927.

Musical Program.
Interspersed in the program were musical selections rendered by the Foote orchestra, with Miss Marjorie Mellon as pianist. The Misses Stella and Rosemary Helferman of Manistique, nieces of Principal Tebo, also gave a piano-forte duet.

Rev. H. Heafield gave the invocation and Rev. Fr. Morin closed the gathering with a few fitting words of advice and encouragement to the graduates.

The Class Motto for the Class of 1927, Garden High School, was "Don't Fry Dying, But Die Trying." The Class flower was the red carnation and the class colors silver and scarlet. The staff of the school consisted of Principal Frank Tebo with Mildred Deloria and Ina Wicklund as assistants.

APPRECIATION.
I wish to express my thanks to the teachers and pupils of the Garden High School for their courtesy and attention while I was with them. I have accomplished a great deal more than my fondest hopes, and my only regret is that I cannot remain longer. I am also thankful to the School Board for permitting me to attend school.

Mrs. Agnes Bonifas.

Mrs. Bonifas, who is 46 years of age, has been attending school regularly at Garden, in the effort to make up for the early years of her life when educational opportunities were by force of circumstance denied her. Her studies have carried her to the more advanced work of high school and it is the hope of Garden residents that she will be able to return next year and realize her ambition to complete the entire four year

Interpreting the Political Mood of America

David Lawrence will accompany President Harding on his trip to the Pacific Coast, making a close study of prevailing sentiment as it affects the great political parties and the aspirants for presidential honors in 1924.

No one is better equipped to interpret public sentiment on political and economical questions than is Mr. Lawrence. He knows public men intimately; he senses public opinion with keen discrimination—and writes his impressions with a directness and frankness that puts the reader in possession of dependable facts upon which individual opinion may be formed.

During this trip he will probe below the surface of crowd enthusiasm which always greets a chief executive, whoever he may be—to the undercurrent of public thought, where real opinion and potential influence are to be found. After the trip Mr. Lawrence will sum up with a series of sketches on presidential possibilities and impossibilities.

Mr. Lawrence's dispatches will appear exclusively in Escanaba in The Press.
