

BRITISH LINERS DEFY DRY RULING

HARDING SEEKS TO HEAL PARTY WOUNDS, SORES

WESTERN SPEAKING TOUR TO BUILD HARMONY.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE.

Enroute With President Harding, June 22.—As a missionary of party harmony rather than a doctrinaire, Warren Harding has set forth on a journey to the west political spaces where "The West Begins"—in other words, where trouble abounds in the republic.

The President has written seven speeches to be delivered at specified dates in the next ten days. They have all the formal style of addresses to Congress, indeed they constitute an unusual series of presidential speeches uttered at a time when Congress is not in session and the entire publicity stage is at the disposal of the chief executive.

Political history will be made in the next ten days for that very reason. Past experience has proved that the American people take their measure of a man not by what he says in the relatively brief period of a campaign but during the longer intervals of public service when his acts and words can be weighed without regard to the partisan clamor of the opposing side.

Campaign of Frankness.

Mr. Harding has a way of revealing himself—in fact his whole presidential philosophy is one of candor and frankness. The American people will shortly know what he thinks of all pending questions, what his attitude will be toward recalcitrant members of his own party, what his hopes and aspirations are and what he conceives to be America's part in foreign relations. Not since the campaign of 1920 has he had the opportunity to discuss some of the inferences drawn from speeches made as he sought the support of the voters.

Today he takes up the thread of promises and reviews his contacts with the people for it is really his first extensive speaking tour since the 1920 campaign. As Warren Harding begins, he gives the impression of a man with untroubled conscience, a man who feels he has done the job as well as it could have been done with the economic obstacles and political discord facing him, a discord growing largely out of the war and its aftermath of differing opinions on foreign policy and agrarian questions.

Playing to Win.

Its true Mr. Harding is out to win the West. But he has not yet been renominated and before he can think of the final election of 1924 he must draw together the warring elements in the republican party. Mr. Harding's passion is one of reconciliation. He cares far more for party peace right now than personal vindication on any issue, his spirit is one of compromise rather than belligerency. He sets out not like the pugnaeous Roosevelt or the combative Wilson but as the docile McKinley with an olive branch of peace firmly in hand, beseeching his foes with almost religious fervor to come into line and preserve party unity.

He Hates Friction.

Mr. Harding is an inveterate middle-of-the-roader. He likes to avoid the extremists of a controversy and with a spirit of compromise to converge political lines. He does this on the assumption that deadlock in government is inevitably futile and that something is better than nothing. His strategy is of course based on the theory that friction means fatal delay and the time is short within which to fulfill the promises of 1920 and go before the American people with a record of achievement on foreign and domestic questions. The president is the kind of a man who would like to have some concrete achievement to present on every outstanding question before the American people. Again something is better than nothing. Harmony is more important than stubborn insistence on an individual method or policy. The errand of the hour therefore is one of compromise and not one of aggressive contest. The ways of a middle-of-the-roader are perilous.

President Harding has gone forth nevertheless with undiminished hope and an air of resignation. There are lots of things worse than being beaten for the presidency—and one is to fail to hold intact the party that has honored him.

Employment in Great Britain reached its highest point in June, 1921, when the official total was 2,940,000; in April of this year the number of unemployed had decreased to 1,240,000.

Marquette Youth Hangs for Murder of Californian

San Quentin, Calif., June 22.—A reputation of the confessor he made yesterday assuming responsibility for the murder of Leslie Nichols was voiced today by Charles Davis, 18, of Birmingham, Ala., after the execution of Lawrence Campbell, 28, of Marquette, Mich.

Davis admitted the confession was a hoax to save his accomplice, and reiterated the testimony he gave that Campbell fired the fatal shot.

Campbell was hanged in San Quentin penitentiary today for the murder of Nichols, San Francisco and Los Angeles insurance adjuster, in Imperial county Jan. 20, last. He was the youngest person ever to have been hanged in California, it is said.

The warden said Campbell was "one of the nicest lads I ever saw." He walked to his death bravely after having wept as he said goodbye to his spiritual advisor.

LAKE GIVES UP BODY OF WELCH

Found Floating Near Spot Where He Fell From Tugboat.

The body of Lorenzo Welch, Green Bay log scaler who drowned on Wednesday, June 15, near Stonington was found floating on the surface about 5 o'clock Friday afternoon, almost at the same spot where his disappearance from the tugboat Lillian on which he was engaged in scaling logs.

The body was discovered by James Nelson of Stonington, a farmer and fisherman, who had been engaged by the young man's father to keep up the search which had been abandoned four days after the drowning. With Nelson at the time was also George Peterson of Stonington, supervisor from Bay De Noc township.

Welch had been working on the tugboat, scaling the pulpwood which was being made up into a raft for the John Holberg Paper company of Green Bay, of which Welch's father is vice-president and general manager. Welch had been sitting in the engine room doorway while the crew were unloading the deckload of pulp. When one of the men went to call him to scale the cargo in the hold his disappearance was first noted.

Bankers to Rescue Tottering Market

New York, June 22.—Wall Street, shaken to the depths by the string of failures and the result of loss of public confidence which followed disclosures of widespread bucketing of customers orders, breathed its first long breath in a week today when powerful banking interests stepped into the street to stabilize the market. Confirmation was obtained of reports that there had been a conference of large banking interests to devise a means of stabilizing the situation, but just what measures were taken could not be learned.

Workers in Vienna Fight Pay Refusal

Vienna, June 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Fifty thousand government employees today began a "passive resistance" campaign in protest over rejecting of their demands for salary increases. The railroad workers have taken no action, but promise to join the movement if the government attempts retaliation.

CONVICT HUNT SHIFTS TO OLD LUMBER CAMP

NATCHOFF BELIEVED TO HAVE STOLEN FOOD.

A sudden shift late yesterday afternoon from the large swamp near the village of Rock to an abandoned lumber camp two miles south and one mile in the woods from Lathrop featured the search for George Natchoff, escaped convict and slayer of Frank Curran, a special deputy engaged in the chase.

Reinforcements from every part of the county, with some from Marquette county also, continued to arrive at Rock all during the morning. Shortly after noon, with guards posted all around the edges, thirty men led by Herman Leisner, deputy state game warden, began another drive through the swamp near Rock where he was supposed to be hiding.

Traveling in a straight line, at intervals of about ten or fifteen feet, the men worked through the entire length of the swamp on a quarter mile front. A heavy thunderstorm broke just as they started in, delaying the drive, which was later resumed and completed late in the afternoon without finding a trace of the gunman.

New Tip Comes.

Just as the posse returned to Rock where they were to reassemble and await the orders of Warden Corzan, word came from the state police stationed at the Lathrop that sent the entire group flying north to that village.

The report was to the effect that Natchoff was believed to be hiding in the woods near the camp and using the camp itself as a cache for food supplies, which had been stolen from the home of W. Lentaka, a settler living not far away. Lentaka reported that a quantity of food had been taken from his home on Tuesday night while he was away and that he had discovered the most of it yesterday in the empty camp farther in the woods.

Twenty men, under Warden Corzan and Sheriff Carney spent more than an hour searching the woods in the vicinity of the camp, later returning to Lathrop for supper. A squad will be "planted" in the brush near the camp to keep a watch all night, in the belief that whoever is using the place for a base of supplies will return after dark to eat.

Searchers Worn Out.

Corzan, Carney and the other members of the posse who have been working continuously since the beginning of the search are practically worn out from lack of sleep and general exhaustion. The state police and other regular forces have also been on duty without intermission since the opening of the hunt and well used up. Many of the special deputies and volunteers have worked from twenty four to thirty six hours without rest.

SCHOOLCRAFT KNIGHTS GET 1924 MEETING

Dokies Will Close Convention Here Today.

The 1924 convention of the Upper Peninsula Pythian League will be held in Manistique. Ira M. Crawford, prominent in circles of the order in the city which also is the home of James C. Wood, grand chancellor of the state of Michigan, was elected president of the peninsula organization at the league's business session yesterday morning, at which time the meeting place also was named.

Albert A. Henes of Menominee was elected vice president and Herbert Hamill of Manistique, secretary and treasurer.

Prizes Awarded.

Prize for excellence in the exemplification of ritualistic work of the order were awarded last night to the following: Total Points—Menominee first, Escanaba second, Ishpeming third, with Marquette, Manistique, Crystal Falls and Iron River finishing in the order named.

Team Scores—Menominee 91, Ishpeming 89.3, Iron River 88.6, Escanaba 88.3, Marquette 88, Manistique 87.3, Crystal Falls 85.5.

Menominee also led the field in individual cups, seven of them being captured by the state-line performers. Ishpeming took four of the individual trophies, Manistique took three and tied with Iron River for two others, while Escanaba, Marquette and Crystal Falls men each won one.

The competition was very keen throughout, only a very few points separating any of the contestants. Last night was "Escanaba night" at the convention. Hundreds of Knights, their ladies and their friends, the largest crowd ever gathered in the Coliseum, participated in a reception ball. A ten-piece orchestra, conducted by Gunnar Johannessen furnished the music.

Presentation of the 20 cups, won in the team contests during the convention, was made by Grand Chancellor James C. Wood of Manistique.

Iron River Band Busy.

The Iron River Pythian band was on the street the greater part of the day, marching or in automobiles, playing a repertoire of numbers which ranged from "How Dry I Am" and "The Gang's All Here" to "Poet and Peasant" and "William Tell."

Record Crowds.

The crowd, throughout the day yesterday was one of the largest and liveliest convention gatherings Escanaba ever entertained. State officers and visiting dignitaries of the order pronounced the meetings a tremendous success from every angle.

Alibi Presented for Anna Buzzy

New York, June 22.—Efforts to provide an alibi for Mrs. Anna Buzzy, on trial for the murder of Frederick Schneider, Bronx contractor, were centered by the defense today on the testimony of witnesses that the woman answered telephone calls at her apartment shortly after six o'clock on the day of the slaying. Schneider was found dead in his automobile shortly after 5 o'clock. The case was adjourned until Monday at which time the defense counsel said that Mrs. Buzzy would take the stand.

Detroit Rum Runners Shift Base Of Operations, Flow Of Beer Into City Goes On

Detroit, Mich., June 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Federal officials would find it extremely difficult to stop the business, due to the marshy condition of the ground along the river. The marshes, the article says, have a network of tiny streams just wide enough and deep enough to permit small boats to pass and the level condition of the country would make it possible for persons in boat miles away, giving them ample time to "cover up."

The article goes on to say that since operations were transferred here from Ecorse a few days ago both the rum and beer running operations have become so serious as to be a premium. A few nights ago, according to the story, a ferry boat was stolen from Algonac, taken to Canada and loaded with 20 cases of beer. As the boat neared the American shores a small posse and the beer was washed overboard. The News writer says he observed men following the river with grappling hooks in plain sight of a large number of persons.

Runners Confess Part.

The writer quotes men he says admitted their association with the beer running traffic as saying: "Federal officials would find it extremely difficult to stop the business, due to the marshy condition of the ground along the river. The marshes, the article says, have a network of tiny streams just wide enough and deep enough to permit small boats to pass and the level condition of the country would make it possible for persons in boat miles away, giving them ample time to 'cover up'."

"GIRL" KILLER DRAFT EVADER

Federal Action Against Thompson and "Husband" Planned.

Chicago, June 22.—If Fred Thompson, charged with being the smiling "woman bandit" who shot and killed Richard Tesmer, successfully dodges the murder warrant sworn out for him today and to thwart attempts to release him on a writ of habeas corpus he still faces the probability of federal action for draft evasion.

Frank Carrick, "husband" of Thompson for 14 years and arrested with him in the apartment in which police also found Marie Clark, said by Thompson to have been his wife for two years, today was remanded to the sheriff when habeas corpus proceedings were discontinued until tomorrow. Federal officials have declared they contemplate filing charges against him for claiming exemption because of his "wife."

Held for Hearing.

Such action against both Carrick and Thompson, it was announced today, depends upon the opinion of Assistant District Attorney Weid and United States Commissioner Glass as to whether the statute of limitation applies. The murder charge against Thompson was placed when Attorney O'Donnell petitioned for a writ releasing the suspect. The petition was dismissed and Thompson was ordered held without bonds for a hearing tomorrow morning before Judge John Rooney.

Hope for Confession.

This gave possibly an additional afternoon and night in which to continue their attempts to obtain a confession from the man who still wears the dress, silk stockings, and high heel pumps he wore at the time of his arrest. As a final effort to break down Thompson's composure, detectives said they planned a re-enactment of the shooting of Tesmer which they planned for last night but postponed.

THREE GERMANS SLAIN IN RUHR

Essen, June 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Three Germans were killed today in different parts of the Ruhr. The first was shot by a French soldier when he was caught doing damage to railroad tracks in the town of Lintrup. The second was a party of five or six Germans who attacked a German working for the French, was killed when French soldiers fired at the attacking party. Larsen Jury Will Seal Its Verdict

New York, June 22.—John M. Larsen, inventor and builder of all-metal airplanes who is being sued by the Commercial Union Insurance companies, Limited, for $18,000 which it paid him on a claim for fire damages after the destruction of his plant and plans at Central Park, Long Island, will not be known until Monday whether he wins or loses.

Saloon Man Slain, Police Hold Son

Wabeno, Wis., June 22.—John Mallow, former member of the Forest county board and a saloon owner here, was dead today while his son, Jack, one of the first Forest county soldiers to go overseas in the World War is held at the county jail at Cranston pending the outcome of an inquest tomorrow. Mallow died a few seconds after he was shot during a scuffle with his son, who grappled with him when, it is said, he threatened his ten-year-old daughter. The father was under the influence of liquor at the time, members of the family said.

Vandercook Blocks Escape of Purnell

San Francisco, Calif., June 22.—A comprehensive effort is being made by Col. Roy Vandercook, Michigan commissioner of safety, to lay a net around the country to trap "King" Benjamin Purnell of the House of David cult at Benton Harbor, Mich., for whom the Michigan authorities have been searching for months. Col. Vandercook has visited Los Angeles and San Francisco and is now enroute to the Pacific northwest, conferring with authorities on methods of stopping up exits by water so that Purnell is still in the country, could not escape by boat.

VESSELS SEAL BOOZE STORES, ENTER HARBOR

Seizure of Liquor Today Will Begin First Test of Law.

Washington, June 22.—Treasury officials, without information tonight concerning the ship, declared it was assumed here that the New York port authorities would carry out their instructions to seize liquor brought by foreign steamships under seal into American waters. Failure of the customs officials to seize the stores aboard the liners Baltic and Berengaria, today, was due solely, it was stated, to natural delays incident to government administration.

Officers Await Orders.

If this is done—and tonight there was every indication that it would, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who promulgated the dry ruling, may learn of his orders being carried out before he sails for Europe tomorrow on the Majestic.

Get Medical Permits.

Then came from the custom house word that nothing would be done until the captain had appeared with their manifests and applied for permits to retain enough liquor for medicinal purposes. After this, it was said, any surplus would be seized.

Favors Rail Board.

Discussing relations between the carriers and their employes as a vital factor in the transportation situation, the President announced that he favored continuance of the Railroad Labor Board "under such modifications as seem most likely to make the plan successful." He said he was not convinced that the test of this plan had been "a complete and entirely fair one," but added that "there is little to hope for until all concerned are ready to comply promptly with the board's decisions."

Wants Industrial Peace.

With regard to relations between the railroads and their employes, the President declared he did not believe "it possible under our form of government to compel men to work against their will, and do not think it desirable under any form of government."

RAIL MERGER PLAN FAVORED BY PRESIDENT

TRANSPORTATION IS THEME OF SECOND ADDRESS.

Kansas City, Mo., June 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Consolidation of the railroads of the country into a small number of systems is a rational, justifiable step, full of promise towards solution of the transportation problem, President Harding declared here tonight in the second prepared address of his western trip.

"If the system consolidations will not afford the solution," he said, "then our failure will encourage a cooler experiment and the one great commitment which I hope the United States will forever escape."

Given Flag Salute.

At that time the audience, which packed to capacity the hall, seating 4,200, arose in a mass, waving the flags and cheering.

The effect was obviously pleasing to the president and Mrs. Harding, both of whom acknowledged the greeting, smiling and bowing, while the ovation continued for several minutes.

On the streets the overflow gathered to hear the address by means of amplifiers which had been installed for that purpose.

The meeting was opened with prayer and then Mayor Frank Cromwell introduced the president.

Mr. Harding began speaking at 8:19 o'clock. He seemed to have virtually recovered from the severe case of sunburn contracted during a ride about the city early in the day and which caused him to remain at his hotel during the afternoon while his physician treated his swollen lips and blistered face with leeches. His face, however, still was redened from the effects of the rays of the burning sun.

The Executive expressed the belief that this one great commitment—government operation—would be "a colossal blunder, which would destroy initiative, infect us with political corruption, create regional jealousies and impose incalculable cost on the public treasury."

Such a consolidation, the President asserted, would "effect a diminution in rates without making a net return impossible," and at the same time would "make sound finance possible for expansion."

With regard to relations between the railroads and their employes, the President declared he did not believe "it possible under our form of government to compel men to work against their will, and do not think it desirable under any form of government."

"I say this," he added, "fully recollecting my vote in the Senate in favor of the anti-strike provision of the railroad act of 1920. That was not a provision denying men the right to strike. It was merely a requirement that before the men should strike, the employer lock them out, both

Garden Bay News Mrs. Louis Walsh, of Van's harbor, one of Garden's oldest residents was seized with a paralytic stroke on Thursday night. A little while she rallied considerably and was able to talk intelligently with members of the family. On retiring for the night she appeared to be very much better. However when members of the family went to her this morning she was unconscious. Dr. Cook was called but nothing could be done for her. Mrs. Walsh had spent much of her life in Garden. Previous to this she had her home in Nahma, Her native town at Green Bay. Mr. Gimore of Mt. Pleasant, Mich., is taking a camping vacation near Cooks. A few days ago he caught a bear in a trap near his camp. This is the second he has caught during his short vacation there. He left Cooks on Sunday for the Soo, where he will spend the balance of his vacation before returning to his home at Mt. Pleasant. Chester Winters motored from Cooks on Wednesday afternoon, bringing with him his daughter and Nora Winters who had been visiting a few days with the family at Cooks. Mr. Winters returned to Cooks the day. Edward J. Purtil, Edward Bunn and Wm. Kohlman made a business trip to Manistique on Thursday. Jos. St. Peter has purchased a new Chevrolet car from the Stellings Bros. agency. The car has followed on Thursday. Frank Tebo has gone to Green Bay where he will remain during the summer. His wife and daughter, Hal Foote and Wm. Laelle accompanied him. They had originally intended to go just to Escanaba where Mr. Tebo would take the train, but missing the connection, they decided to make the rest of the trip by car. Life Thibault is going into the onion business on a large scale. A large number of these have been sold locally. The surplus, he expects to find a ready market for in the nearby cities. August Winkel, wife and daughter Ella, Leonard Winkel and wife Herman Winkel and wife are living the open life at Thunder Lake. Leonard Winkel has recently returned from the Philippine Islands. He is a veteran of the European war and has been compelled to live the open life on account of his health. On Sunday, Chester Winters and wife, Wm. Winkel and wife, Otto Winkel, wife and family, and friends, Mrs. DeHut and son and daughter, motored to Tander Lake and spent the day with the rest of the Winkel family who are camping out there. A representative of the Fish Net and Twine Co., of Milwaukee called on Vans Harbor fishermen on Wednesday. Fishermen are complaining of poor prices for their fish. In fact in a number of cases, the proceeds will scarcely pay the express so that very little is being shipped. One fisherman stated that he recently returned sixteen hundred pounds to the lake. They are looking for an early improvement. A baby daughter arrived at the home of Fred Ansell and wife on Thursday. Everything is progressing satisfactorily. Paul Lamkey and wife were out this week in the vicinity of Wolf Hollow looking over the blueberry prospects. Earlier reports indicated that there would be a good supply of the fruit but Mr. Lamkey did not see evidence of anything approaching a bumper crop. He is looking for a large lot of wild strawberries. A new baby boy has arrived at the Jos. Pelletier home at Kate's Bay, Tuesday. Both mother and son are doing well. Strawberry picking in local gardens has commenced. The prospects are bright for a record crop. A number of Van's Harbor residents are continually increasing their patches. Mrs. Clarence Pizzala of Fairport made a hurried trip here on Wednesday in order to take Dr. Foota down to Mrs. Jos. Pizzala. The latter took sick soon after her return from Ft. Snedden, where she had spent a part of the winter visiting with relatives. Mrs. Conlon Green motored up from her home at Fairport on Wednesday and visited with her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Rost. Local motorists are complaining of the lack of respect on the part of some drivers for lack of respect for automobile laws. Speeding, hogging, glaring headlights and other misdemeanors making travel unsafe for careful drivers, are being reported to local officers. It is understood that warnings have been given and arrests will follow if such disregard is continued.

RAIL MERGER PLAN FAVORED BY PRESIDENT (Continued from Page One) sides should submit their differences to a properly constituted and impartial tribunal, empowered to consider the facts. Determine the merits, and make an award. "I was believed that in the vast majority of cases this procedure would prevent lockouts and strikes; and, in view of the enormous loss to the carriers, to their employees, and to the public resulting from strikes, I profoundly regret that it should not have been possible to give the plan a fair trial. If human wisdom shall ever be capable of setting up such a tribunal as that and of inspiring both sides of the controversy with complete confidence in it, we will have traveled a long way toward industrial peace. "Thinks It Is Possible. "Personally, I have confidence that the thing is possible. I believe so firmly in the underlying common sense of both organized industry and organized labor, and in the fairness toward both on the part of the great public on which both of them are finally dependent, that I believe at least it will be possible to arrive at settlement of industrial disputes in public services by such a method."

KNIFE BATTLE LANDS TWO IN POLICE COURT Blood and Ketchup Mingle in Depot District Affray Two belligerent foreigners, one of them badly carved up, were arrested shortly after supper last night as the result of a small sized feud which boiled over in the vicinity of the North-western station early last night. The knife work is believed to have taken place in the rear of the Denver hotel, Nick Kovick's Stephenson avenue establishment. Patrolman Fred Papineau entered the place about 7 o'clock to leave his flashlight there until after he had met the early evening trains. As he entered the front door, Tony Krabel, a Russian, entered the back door. He was badly cut about the face. Close on his heels entered Frank Jaegers, a Finn. Spying Krabel, he grasped a ketchup bottle and threw it at his head. It missed and smashed against the frame of the door where the officer had just entered. Papineau took the aggressive at this point and quickly subdued the gladiators. They were lodged in the police station overnight. Krabel's wounds were bound up and both men locked up. Jaegers, the knife artist, was arrested two days ago as a common drunk. He paid a stiff fine at that time. He has the reputation of being a "bad egg." Both men will be arraigned before Judge Glaser this morning.

FRATERNAL COLUMN Blue Bird Troop Plans. The Blue Bird Troop Girl Scouts of St. Anne's held their regular meeting Thursday afternoon. Plans were made for their camping trip and as the girls are short of funds they decided to hold a bazaar at the Boston store Saturday, beginning at 11:30 o'clock. The patronage of the public is solicited for this bazaar sale as the girls are deservingly of the recreation the camping trip affords them. Plans for the camp fire which will be held Tuesday, June 26th were also formulated. U. F. C. Society To Meet. Walantin Callantin, aged about 60 years passed away at a local hospital where he was brought a week ago suffering from a fractured spine which he sustained when he was hit by a falling tree. He was taken to the hospital by companions with whom he was working and X-ray were made which showed that his spine had been fractured and his head was also bruised. It was known from the beginning that there was no hope for his recovery and all that could be done to make his last days on earth comfortable was done. His daughter, Mrs. J. Joki of Duluth arrived in the city a few days ago and was at the bedside when the end came. The body was removed to the Allo Funeral Home, where it was prepared for burial. Pending the arrival of relatives no definite arrangements have been made. A son also survives. The accident occurred in the vicinity of Rock, Mich., where he was employed in the woods. 1897 - United Confederate Veterans in reunion at Nashville re-elected Gen. John B. Gordon as commander-in-chief.

Now, a Quick Quaker Oats Cooks in 3 to 5 minutes The quickest cooking oats in the world Now your grocer has Quaker Oats in two styles. One the kind you have always known—the other is Quick Quaker. Quick Quaker cooks in from 3 to 5 minutes. And it cooks to perfection. So it is almost like a ready-cooked dish. No other oat flakes on the market cook anywhere near so quickly. The two styles are identical in quality and flavor. Both are flaked from the finest grains only—just the rich, plump, flavory oats. A bushel of choice oats yields but ten pounds of these delicious flakes. But in Quick Quaker the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly. Ask for Quick Quaker if you want this style. Your grocer has both. But always get Quaker Oats for their delightful flavor.

Drag River for Iron Mountain Garage Worker

Iron Mountain, Mich.—Dragging of the Menominee river bridge below the Homestead road bridge has been started by county authorities in the effort to solve the mystery of the disappearance of Fred Vitelli, 29, automobile mechanic who has been missing since Sunday.

Vitelli's car was found abandoned on the bridge Sunday. Suicide or accidental drowning are the theories on which Sheriff Frank Cleveland is working. Vitelli was known to be worried over financial responsibilities and has been losing much sleep by working overtime in his shop in the effort to keep up with his work. He was last seen Saturday night when he left his home with a stranger who had called for him.

Harvard Swamps Yale Crews In Oar Tilt

CRIMSON WINS "CLEAN SWEEP"

All Cambridge Contenders Victorious in Annual Contest.

Regatta Course, New London, Conn., June 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Sweeping to rowing glory that it has not known for nearly a decade, Yale's powerful varsity crew capped the climax of a remarkable comeback this season under American home-bred coaching methods, with a smashing, spectacular victory over Harvard as dusk was settling this evening over the picturesque Thames River course.

Flashing across the finish line fully six lengths ahead of a gallant but badly beaten Crimson eight, the Blue Shell closed its 1935 season with an undefeated record and gave the Elis their first clean sweep since 1915 in the annual rowing struggle with their ancient rivals.

Fresh, Juniors, Win. This morning the Yale freshmen and Junior varsity eights added their measure to the Blue Tingo of triumph that settled tonight over the 56th annual regatta between the two universities. The Elis tubs sprang away from an upset by walking a way from the Cambridge yearlings to win by five lengths while the New Haven Junior varsity scored even more decisively over the Crimson second crew, leading the men by five and a half lengths.

Piston Errors Hand Yankees 4 to 2 Tilt

Boston, June 22.—Errors by Foster and Quinn were prime factors in helping Shawkey pitch New York to a 4 to 2 victory over Boston today. Boston's two runs were the result of Starkead's homer over the left field fence in the seventh after Harris had opened with a double.

Score: R. H. E. New York 010 200 001—4 9 2 Boston — 000 000 200—2 9 2 Batteries: Shawkey and Hoffmann; Quinn and Devormer.

Jack Scott Back in Game; Beats Braves

New York, June 22.—The New York Giants returned and won an extra victory from the Boston club by a score of 9 to 5. Jack Scott started his first game for New York since May 19 when he had a hand broken with a batted ball, and pitched a fair game.

Score: R. H. E. Boston — 000 022 001—5 11 4 New York 320 310 00x—9 11 1 Batteries: McNamara, Marquard, Benton and Smith; Scott and Snyder.

Cincinnati Loses to Pirates, 8 to 2

Pittsburgh, June 22.—Cincinnati used four pitchers today in an unsuccessful attempt to defeat Pittsburgh. The score was 8 to 2. Meadows pitched effectively and also got three hits in as many trips to the plate. Donohue was forced to retire in the first inning after he was injured by a hot liner from Bigbee's bat.

Score: R. H. E. Cincinnati 000 000 200—2 7 0 Pittsburgh 140 200 01x—8 15 1 Batteries: Donohue, Couch, Koek, McQuade and Hargrave; Meadows and Schmidt.

French Lead Irish in Tennis Tourney

Dublin, Ireland, June 22.—France tonight led Ireland two matches to one in their second round Davis cup try, and the visiting lawn tennis experts need but one victory in tomorrow's singles to win. The successful team will meet Switzerland in the upper bracket semi-final of the European zone competition.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT

THE PRESS received yesterday, four communications from various sources, in which various phases of Thursday's baseball game at South Park are discussed in terms more or less bitter. The publication of any of them or all of them would only stir up ill feeling and create sore spots which the writers, we are sure, on second thought, would wish to avoid.

The Press will adhere steadfastly to a policy of avoiding any discussion in its sport or departmental pages of any controversies or disputes emanating from the baseball diamond, except in instances where there is a genuine difference of opinion regarding the interpretation of the official playing rules. As is well known, street brawls, fights and arguments are not "news" unless the participants are arrested. There is no reason why arguments or fights on the diamond should be considered or treated more seriously by a newspaper.

Attacks in letters, signed or unsigned, interviews, or by members of its staff, on umpires, managers or players will not be printed in this paper. The public grows weary—very weary—of wrangling on the baseball field and even more weary of such wrangling extended into print. No newspaper has ever been able to settle a controversy over a ball game. No newspaper will ever be able to settle one. Baseball games are won and lost only on the diamond and there is no reason why a sport page should be soured with items or discussions of incidents and controversies which sour the fans on the sport.

There is no discrimination in the pursuance of such a policy. Matter considered injurious to the good of baseball will be eliminated, no matter where it originates.

FANS TO FLOCK TO MANISTIQUE

Escanaba Preparing for Its Hardest Battle of the Season.

The Escanaba baseball club will be accompanied to Manistique next Sunday by a lengthy train of automobiles, filled with fans eager to see the two aggregations in their first meeting of the season.

That it will be a close, well played contest is the summary of opinion by the followers of both teams in the two cities. Both have been playing winning baseball and are capable of giving good accounts of themselves. Crittenden to Pitch. "Vic" Crittenden, who recently became a Manistique resident when he was added to the faculty of the public schools there, will occupy the mound for the Schoolcrafters. He is one of the most capable heavers in the peninsula when he is "right" and reports from the east indicate that he is in high class condition for the fray.

Manager Fred Olmstead's choice of pitchers has not been announced. Eddie Schwartz, who has been setting a fast pace all season, or Frank Krasnick, the Menominee starboard ace, are both in shape, he announced. Last minute form will guide Olmstead's selection.

Sure to Be Close. The game is one which should be worth going a much greater distance than that between the two county seats to see, and local fans are expected to be in the stands in force when the arbiters announce the batteries.

Godchaux to Meet Adair in Finals

Robust Country Club, Birmingham, Ala., June 22.—Frank Godchaux of Nashville and Terry Adair of Atlanta will meet tomorrow in the finals for the championship of the 21st annual amateur tournament of the Southern Golf Association. Adair won his way into the finals by defeating H. J. Seibels of Birmingham, the Alabama state champion five up and four to go, while Godchaux eliminated Al Uimer of Jacksonville, four times champion of Florida, by the margin of two up, the match ending on the home green.

WOMEN ATTACK JACK-TOM BOUT

Acting on the suggestion of various speakers who attacked the forthcoming Dempsey-Gibbons prize fight at Shelby, the resolutions committee of the Montana State Federation of Women's Clubs, in session here, submitted for approval at the closing session of the convention this afternoon a resolution calling upon the attorney general to take action not only to prevent the heavyweight championship ring battle but also to forestall a proposed bull fight at Sydney.

HULL FIGHT STOPPED.

Holms, Mont., June 22.—Attorney General Rankin today informed the Associated Press that the proposed bull fight at Sydney, Mont., July 4, would not be permitted. With reference to the resolutions presented at the state federation of women's clubs at Anaconda asking that the Dempsey-Gibbons fight be stopped, he said he would not care to make a statement.

Cubs Beat Cards in Nip and Tuck Bout

Score: R. H. E. Chicago — 100 000 020—3 8 0 St. Louis — 000 020 000—2 6 3 Batteries: Aldridge and O'Farrell; Sherdel and Clemons, McCurdy.

Walter Johnson's Arm Trims Mackmen

Philadelphia, June 22.—Wonderful defense work by his mates enabled Walter Johnson, the Washington hurler, to annex a close victory over "Slim" Harris of Philadelphia, today, 3 to 2. Bunching two hits, a pass and an error in the first inning gave the Senators two runs and then, after Perkins had tied the score with a homer, the visitors put over the winning tally in the seventh on two hits and a sacrifice bunt.

Score: R. H. E. Wash'gton 200 000 100—3 8 1 Philadel. — 001 001 000—2 6 2 Batteries: Johnson and Ruel; Harris and Perkins.

CONVENTION OF
LUTHER LEAGUE
IS CONCLUDED

Evangelical Lutherans of
Ishpeming District
Big Success.

The fourth annual convention of the Ishpeming District Luther League, which was held in this city at the Evangelical Lutheran church, came to a close on June 18. Sixteen delegates were present for the convention, and a large number of visitors. Programs were rendered Friday, Saturday, and Sunday evenings. A business session was held in the morning, after which all the delegates and visitors were brought to Indian Lake and the Big Spring on a sight seeing tour. Upon arriving from the church parlors at six o'clock. The dining room was beautifully decorated, high trees playing a big role in the decoration. Baskets of lilacs were profusely distributed among the tables, while tables furnished means of illumination. Rev. Nelson of Marquette, Mr. Kronberg and Student Erickson, also of that city, made addresses during the meal. The meetings conducted this year were a source of much inspiration and entertainment. The local branch of the League wishes also to thank those who helped in the entertainment of the delegates and visitors during their stay in the city. Among the outsiders present for the convleve were: Mr. R. Kronberg, Marquette; Ellen Sundquist, Negaunee; Misses Alma Salem and Amanda Johnson of Ishpeming; Miss Hilda Anderson, Marquette; Mrs. Harry Strand and Alfa Larson, Munising; Carl A. Johnson, Skandia; Misses Jennie Mattson and Esth. Gustafson, Brevoort; Misses Teola Westberg and Minnie Mattson, St. Ignace; Misses Esther Johnson and Signe Moline, Newberry; Rev. Mrs. C. Nelson, Marquette. The Hon. T. A. Thoren and family were also in attendance.

Supervisors Will Meet Next Monday

The Schoolcraft county board of supervisors will convene at the court house Monday morning for the transaction of different business. This session will necessarily be short in order to accommodate the June term of court which was postponed until Wednesday, from June 18, when that session was left uncompleted. The board of supervisors will expedite its work so that the assembly will be in readiness for Judge Fead's occupancy on Wednesday morning.

Mrs. E. A. Stevens and son, Raleigh, left Friday evening for Minneapolis where they will visit relatives before proceeding to California where they will join Mr. Stevens.

Miss Ella LaPierriere, teacher in the local schools for the past two years, left Thursday afternoon for her home in Marinette.

At the inter-school meet conducted at the fair grounds Thursday afternoon under the supervision of William Johnson, physical director at the Manistique high school, only one record was broken, and the pennant for the relay race passed into the hands of the Lakeside schools. It was formerly held by Central. In the high jump, Class A, the distance was four feet, two inches, and was accomplished by Lehar. The record for last year in this event was one inch less than the height jumped by Lehar.

A fair-sized crowd gathered at the track for the different events. Youngsters from the various city schools were on hand to cheer for their respective representatives, and plenty of enthusiasm was manifested. Results of the events:

In this event, these runners received individual ribbons. 50-yard Dash: Johnson, first; McNamara, second; Stoor, third. High Jump: McNamara, first; Kaye, second; Shirk, third. HISTORICAL SOCIETY TO BE FORMED

The initial step towards the organization of a Schoolcraft County Pioneer and Historical association is well under way. A recent meeting of local residents at the Court House revealed much enthusiasm regarding the project, and work begun at once for immediate organization.

Leaders in this new organization have secured the services of Dr. Charles J. Johnson, Marquette for two addresses to be delivered at the high school auditorium on Friday, June 29. Dr. Johnson has done considerable research work in the upper Peninsula and is an authority on such matters. The topic of his afternoon's address will be merely a discussion relative to the manner and means to be employed in promoting historical research. The topic of his evening's dissertation will be "Fresh Footprints in the Upper Peninsula." A six o'clock banquet is being planned, after which plans will be formulated for the permanent organization of a local society.

LARGE CLASS
IS GRADUATED
AT MANISTIQUE

Seventy-five Seniors Given
Diplomas; Dr. Ganfield Speaks.

Manistique residents jammed the high school auditorium to its capacity on Friday evening to pay respectful honor to the seventy-five senior graduates of the local high school. Dr. Ganfield, president of Carroll College, Waukesha, headed the program of the commencement exercises, and the address he rendered will live long in the memories of the people who assembled there for this occasion. At the outset of his address, Dr. Ganfield paid tribute to the graduating class, complimenting the city school officials in the labor necessitated for the guidance of the class throughout their course, and extolled the parents' prudence in seeing their children through to graduation. He commented at length on the large number of graduates in proportion to the city's population and added that it indicated Manistique's appreciation of right standards, educationally.

He pointed out the fact that the future of America depended upon the American educational system, and declared that if he were given control of American education for 33 years, the educational destinies of this country would be moulded for a few generations to come. Nations like individuals, he continued, become engrossed with their own meagre surroundings and eventually desire world conquests. In this, they forget everything but self and education is ignored. To bear out his point, he cited examples of the ancient cities of Rome and Carthage. While they were contented to remain within their own confines, literature and the arts flourished, but when they saw an opportunity for aggrandizement, all was lost in the glamor of ambition. He added, however, that the same situation was not true of every nation; Britain, for example, fell a prey to ravages or ambition, but she did not lose sight of the ideal. She conquered, not by coercion; she gained the good will of her subjects through her cooperation.

During the course of his narration, he emphasized the importance of ideals and stated that the object of education was to foster them in the youth of the country. He said, moreover, that the taxpayers of the country were educating their youth not for themselves, but for America's sake. Dr. Ganfield concluded his masterly talk by insisting pure ideals among the educators, as they are the most important factors in right education. Preceding the presentation of diplomas, W. F. Kefauver, president of the school board, spoke a few words of encouragement to the graduates, asking them also to maintain the principles inculcated while at school, throughout their lives. As a prelude, to his address, Mr. Kefauver stated that a comparison of his talk with that of Dr. Ganfield was like a Ford to a Rolls Royce, but that like a Ford, he would get to his point in some shape or manner. The high school orchestra, under personal supervision of Geo. Hamml rendered several classical selections and their work was heartily approved by the audience. A double quartet rendition was also a feature of the exercises.

COMMUNICATIONS

Manistique, June 22—(To the Editor)—In response to a statement published in the local newspaper of June 21 regarding a refusal of the undersigned to accept an offer from the Civic Club to assist in promoting the organization of a County Pioneer Historical Society, the following letter to the president, dated June 9, will prove the statement to be a falsehood printed with the intention to deceive the general public.

"Manistique, Mich., June 9, 1923. "B. A. Craver, Pres. "Manistique, Mich., "Civic Club. "Dear Mr. Craver:

"Am very desirous to inform you all that necessary arrangements for organizing a Schoolcraft County Pioneer Historical Society are all completed. "The initial step toward organizing same was first taken at the county fair last fall, when pioneer citizens took action to effect a county pioneer historical organization. "Enclosed you will find copies of the formula of methods the committee adopted for their campaign. Nearly two hundred of early settlers have responded to the questionnaire sent them expressing their intention of affiliating themselves with the proposed organization. "All preparatory arrangements have been done according to device received from the secretary of the State Historical Association, and an organizer and speaker for the organization meeting are arranged for and will be here soon. "Any assistance from your club tending to perfecting the aforesaid organization will be greatly appreciated, but to duplicate already perfected arrangements is of no profit but detrimental to the cause. "Yours very truly, "Nettie S. Thorborg."

The Woman's Club has neither made any effort to assist, but an insistent and impudent attempt has been made by some members to persuade the undersigned to surrender all arrangements made for the proposed organization which meant sacrifice and much labor and effort in the interest of perfecting a Schoolcraft county Pioneer Historical Society. This attempt by a few to promote their personal pride in order to gain the credit of being the originators of the proposed organization.

Undersigned made it clear to the members of the Woman's Club, that she objected to their petty proposals, stating that she preferred to be loyal to the pioneers—men and women of the rank and file—with whom she had cooperated ever since the project was started.

The tendency of the editor of the local paper to belittle and impair the efforts of the county pioneers, proves plainly that he is a willing servant in the hands of interested efforts to ignore interests promoted by the early settlers who have built up the community. Nettie S. Thorborg, Pioneer Residents of Schoolcraft County.

Change Management.

A plan for reorganization of the lodge management under which a state manager and a deputy for each aerie would be appointed was suggested and received the unanimous approval of the delegates. The change will be voted upon at the next national convention.

"The funeral took place Saturday afternoon at Ogema cemetery, the service being conducted by the Rev. H. Fletcher of the Anglican church. Frank Holm, one of the sons came from Seattle to attend his father's funeral, the rest of the family being already here. Mr. Joseph Bakin carried out the funeral arrangements."

A committee was appointed to work on the matter in Michigan, and its efforts will be closely watched because of the fact that the measure will benefit not only members of the order, but all those in need.

"THE MISFIT"

BY JANE PHELPS

EVERYTHING IN LIFE HAS A BEGINNING.

Chapter 1. Natalie Horton was a stenographer, and a very capable one. She was the daughter of poor but ambitious parents—ambitious for her—and had received a good education. Then she had gone to work at $12 a week. That was two years ago, when she was 18. Natalie, at 20, was getting $25, and would soon, she was sure, get more. She had little more now for her own use than when she first began. Then she had lived at home, paying a small amount for board, while now she was in New York, living in a boarding house, where she shared a room with another girl, Etta Davis, also a stenographer. But there were chances in New York for a girl willing to work, private secretarieships, confidential clerkships, etc. And Natalie felt that before long she would surely be promoted. She worked in a busy lawyer's office: The firm of Marshall, Underwood & Bly was a famous one, also a just one. Mr. Marshall, the head of the firm, had noticed Natalie—or, rather, her work, and she confided to Etta that in time she hoped he would take her as private secretary. Natalie was worth noticing aside from her work, as several young men might have told. She was tall, slender, vivacious. Her black hair, parted and drawn in natural waves over her ears, was a way but few girls dare attempt, suited the delicate oval of her face. Her eyes were large and very dark gray and sparkled under long, black lashes. She had a clear skin, through which a rich color flooded her cheeks at times. She wore her simple, plain clothing with an air—was, in fact, voted "stylish" by her friends, working girls like herself but lacking her cleverness and poise. Natalie was ambitious, determined to get on, and she was something more than a piddler. She was an up-to-date, wide-awake girl, full of fun and good spirits, and never lacking for attention, although she never had been known to favor one admirer more than another. "You're a dreadful flirt, Natalie," Etta told her. "No such thing!" she replied. "There's safety in numbers. I've no intention of being anything but my own mistress, so why encourage any particular one?" Etta sighed. Poor, plain little Etta, whose idea of a happy life was a little home somewhere, a husband and babies. Etta was two years older than Natalie, and she was earning $5 less a week, the same salary she had been getting for nearly three years. She was a plodding, conscientious worker, without initiative. Etta would lay her weekly envelope in the drawer without a word, while Natalie would wave hers around, declaring it meant independence and a promise of future success. This was before Horace Crandell came into the office. He came the very day Natalie knew she was to have the coveted position of private secretary to Mr. Marshall, at a salary of $40 a week. He was a client, rich, young, distinguished looking, Natalie caught but a fleeting glimpse of him, but the color flooded her cheeks when he opened the door for her to pass from the office. She could not know that his eyes followed her, that he admired her; she would have laughed the idea to scorn. She, an office girl! But in the weeks following her advancement to private secretary to Mr. Marshall young Crandell came often. Natalie sometimes wondered what his business with the firm was. So far nothing relating to him had come under her observation. Then one day he spoke to her. A simple question as to when Mr. Marshall would be in. But he lingered, mentioned the weather, and even then seemed loath to go. Natalie was astonished that she should be so excited. Other clients often talked to her, and she never blushed and hesitated over her replies. She was annoyed at herself. She took herself to task after he left: "What ails you, Natalie Horton?" she muttered. "Just because a good-looking man speaks to you, you act like a fool! He was only trying to be polite." But she found it hard to keep her mind on her work. His cultivated voice and his well-groomed form, his handsome, high-bred face kept coming between her and her work. It was not until Mr. Marshall returned and needed her attention that she was able to dismiss Horace Crandell from her mind. Tomorrow—Etta Warns Natalie. The Lord is in his holy temple; let all the earth keep silence before him.—Hab. 2:20. Henceforth the Majesty of God revere; Fear him and you have nothing else to fear.—Fordyce. First Contingent.

On Wednesday, June 20th, the first contingent of the American Legion orphans left Detroit for Port Austin, where they will remain until the buildings at Otter Lake, Michigan, the permanent home of the Children's Billet, are completed.

Arrangements for caring for the children at Port Austin are now complete. A large commodious house has been refitted, competent people have been employed, and the children will be well looked after, with plenty of opportunities to grow fat and brown in the sands of Lake Huron.

Among those who have already entered the Children's Billet are five war widows with their families, besides the children of ten families who are unaccompanied by their mothers.

Another group will leave within the next ten days and the number will be increasing from time to time until all the needy children of service men within the State of Michigan are safely housed and their care assured.

Enterprise Watched.
This enterprise on the part of the American Legion and the American Legion Auxillary of Marquette will, in all probability, develop into one of the great institutions of the country, and is a pioneer movement which will no doubt be copied by many other states. It is understood that the national officers of the American Legion, noting the great success attending the efforts in Michigan, are seriously contemplating the erection of a national children's billet.

The plan upon which the Legion is operating is unique among institutions of this sort, in that they have eliminated, as far as possible, the institutional idea, and, instead, are constructing real homes with home atmosphere and home training, as well as home discipline. This plan, it is hoped, will prevent the children from losing the initiative of childhood, from that unhappy frame of mind which often characterizes objects of charity.

Auxiliary is Busy.
The Legion Auxillary, an organization consisting of wives, mothers and relatives of service men, has already begun work upon clothing for the children and the first shipment has been sent to Port Austin.

This work on the part of the Legion has brought out many expressions of appreciation not only on the part of the beneficiaries, but on the part of the public as well.

Playlunf wire has been drawn so fine that 30,000 pieces of it placed side by side would not cover more than an inch, while 150 pieces bound together would be necessary to form a thread as thick as a filament of raw silk.

Montevideo, Minn.—"I suffered for three months with pain in my back and sides, and was awful nervous so that I was unfit to do my work. After I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I grew strong, and now I weigh 150 pounds. I keep house and am able to lift and do any kind of work. I have got wonderful results from the Vegetable Compound and recommend it very highly to my friends. I give you permission to publish my testimonial."

Another Nervous Woman Finds Relief
Fort Huron, Mich.—"I suffered for two years with pains in my side, and if I worked very much I was nervous and just as tired in the morning as when I went to bed. I was sleepy all the day and didn't feel like doing anything, and was so nervous I would bite my fingernails. One of my friends told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it helped me so much that I soon felt fine."
—Mrs. CHARLES BELLE, 1810 Elk St., Fort Huron, Mich.

DETROIT SUNDAY TIMES

$1,000---First Prize---10 Other Awards
$500---Second Prize	$100---Seventh Prize
250---Third	50---Eighth
250---Fourth	50---Ninth
100---Fifth	50---Tenth
100---Sixth	50---Eleventh

It is simple—eight unnamed pictures of familiar Screen artists printed each Sunday for eight Sundays—sixty four pictures. In the order of their standing, the eleven persons identifying the greatest number correctly and submitting the best suggestion for a Motion Picture Play Title, will receive cash awards as listed in the above table.

HOW TO GET IN

Anyone, anywhere is eligible to participate—the only exceptions being employees of The Detroit Times and those persons connected with the Motion Picture business.

Starting Sunday, June 24th, eight unnamed photographs of famous movie stars will be printed each Sunday for eight weeks—sixty-four pictures in all. You are invited to correctly identify the sixty-four photographs.

$2,500 in cash prizes will be awarded to the eleven (11) persons who identify the greatest number of pictures correctly and submit the best suggestion for a Motion Picture Play Title.

Clip out the eight pictures appearing in each Sunday's Times and hold them until all sixty-four have been printed, then mail the entire number, after you have named them, to the Movie Star Identification Test Editor of The Detroit Sunday Times together with your best suggestion for a Motion Picture Play Title. Do not mail any pictures until all sixty-four have been printed as this will disqualify you. Mail everything in one envelope or package.

Each person is permitted to submit only one set of answers; on the other hand, one or more members of a family may each send in one complete set if they choose.

In case of Ties prizes of similar amounts will be awarded.

The Movie Star Identification Test Editor of The Detroit Sunday Times will act as judge and the names of the winners together with the amounts will be published in The Sunday Times of August 26th. Prizes will be awarded during week ending August 26th.

Your complete set of answers must be in The Times office not later than Saturday, August 18th—they must be mailed, do not bring them in.

REPORTS ARE CONFLICTING

Contradictory reports from the various manufacturing and distributing centers regarding the state of the softwood lumber market make it difficult to gauge the true situation, says the American Lumberman, Chicago. Some interests, claim to have noted an improvement in demand during the last week, while others say that business is as dull as heretofore. If not more so. Viewing the situation at large, however, it appears that the trend of trade is upward and that the market is steadier than it was a week or two ago. Prices have sagged a good deal lately, especially in southern pine, but the tendency to stabilize noted last week is now more prominent, and distributors expect no further material recessions. Buyers, however, are not convinced of this, but continue to postpone commitments, expecting to be able to buy still cheaper later on. Meanwhile they are watching the market closely and do not fail to take advantage of any real bargains when offered. Transacting a good business, they are continually reducing their stocks, and it ought to be only a matter of days before they will have to come into the market in a considerably larger way. One thing that is helping the current lumber market is the fact that the number of transit cars afield is relatively very small, and these when well loaded, are moving readily into consumption. Another factor is the heavy local demand for building material, both in the South and on the west coast. Industrial business in softwoods also is restricted, railroad and heavy construction items being the only ones in large demand. Exports remain heavy. Mills meanwhile are producing considerably more lumber than they are booking orders for, and stocks probably will be well replenished before the next general buying movement sets in.

The hardwood trade remains quiet, the slightly better than recently. A big increase in demand from the furniture industry is looked for shortly after the close of the mid-summer furniture shows. Automobile and building interests are also expected to come into the market on a larger scale soon, as they are very busy, with excellent prospects for the rest of the year, and are steadily cutting down their lumber stocks. The general opinion seems to be, however, that the hardwood market will remain relatively slow for the next six to eight weeks, but all expect a big business in the fall.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Hubbard and said check or bond will be forfeited to the First Baptist Church as liquidated damages in case the bidder refuses or fails to enter into contract and furnish satisfactory bond as specified within fifteen days after notice is received of contract awarded. AMUSEMENTS AT THE DELFT.

In "Luck", which drew such capacity crowds to the Delft theatre, Hines is pictured as a son of the idle rich, and on a bet that he can earn ten thousand dollars on his own hook in a year's time, sets out to accomplish his ends. Without any money in his possession, trouble immediately awaits him as he tries to secure train passage by evading the conductor. A wealth of humorous situations follows which culminates in his being thrown off at the station where a beautiful young lady whose acquaintance he tries to make on the train, lives. He is inadvertently mistaken for a pugilist and forced to go through a realistic encounter which is a continual laugh from start to finish. He likes the town so well that he determines to make his ten thousand dollars there, which gives him more opportunity to put the play across in wonderful shape. He makes good by the hardest kind of work and incidentally wins the hand of the town belle. One of the bright spots of "Luck" is a mine scene in which Hines' dramatic power is vividly displayed. The realism of the action and the splendid interpretation given it by the principals makes this scene one of the best we have viewed in many a moon. Nor does this dramatic element conflict in any way with the humorous element of the feature. It rather blends to a nicely and affords invigorating relief from the combustion-like laughter that greets one at every few feet of the picture. All told, "Luck" is one of those pictures that fairly bristles with action and real drama—a feature such as is often hoped for yet seldom comes. It's here now at the Delft theatre and it behooves those who like pictures not to miss such a finely finished production as "Luck". Included also in the cast who do yeoman service are Violet Mercereau, Robert Edson, Charlie Murray, Edmund Breesse, Flora Finch, Polly Moran and Warner Richmond.

WIND AND RAIN DO DAMAGE AT IRON MOUNTAIN

Damage amounting to more than $25,000 was done at Iron Mountain Thursday evening by a wind and rain storm which is described as the worst ever experienced in the history of the city. Streets were washed out, trees uprooted and basements flooded by the storm which raged for more than an hour.

Dirt washed down from the surrounding hills blocked the sewers and caused the water to back up into basements all through the business section of the city. In one or two instances automobiles parked at the curb were lifted over the sidewalk and jammed against the buildings. Water worked its way into the Ford plant and necessitated the closing down of the power plant until the water could be cleared from the motor and generator pits. Several washouts were reported on the lines of the St. Paul and North Western tracks from Ellis Junction and from Antoine. Telephone service, cut off completely during the storm, was resumed with one or two wires working Friday morning.

CARD OF THANKS. We wish to thank our friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us during the recent sickness of Mrs. Nimergood who is now on the road to recovery, after giving birth to a son June 15, who died shortly after birth. Frank Nimergood and Family. 5539-175-11
