PRESIDENTIAL SPEECHES HIT THEIR TARGET

HARDING CARRIES PROBLEMS HOME TO ORIGIN. BY DAVID LAWRENCE. (Copyright, 1923, by The Escanaba Press) Enroute with President Harding, to Denver, June 25.—Agricultural unrest—the greatest peril of today to republican hopes and aspirations stared President Harding in the face as he crossed Kansas, the heart of the wheat belt.

Deputies to Give Mrs. Frank Curran Natchoff Reward

THE reward of $500 for Natchoff's capture will be turned over to Mrs. Frank Curran, widow of the officer slain by the convict in the first stage of the man hunt. Sheriff Carney's suggestion that it be turned over to the widow entire was heartily concurred in by Deputies Bourdelais, Sharkey, and Carlson, among whom it would have been split. The state police and prison guards were not eligible for the reward.

COUNTY BOARD VOTES $500 TO CURRAN WIDOW

Sheriff's Office Asks for Weapons; Report on Equalization. Equalization of the assessment rolls for the various townships was the principal business to come before the county board of supervisors at their meeting here yesterday. The completed work of the equalization, after the board as a whole had given their approval to the report, showed a total real property valuation of $12,223,563 and personal property valued at $4,373,672. The grand total, as equalized, was $16,597,235. The report shows very little variance from last year's total.

QUESTION NOT "WET OR DRY" BUT ONE OF LAW ENFORCEMENT

PRESIDENT TELLS DENVERITES SAYS GOVERNMENT IS BIGGER THAN BOOTLEGGERS. Denver, Colo., June 25.—(By the Associated Press)—President Harding speaking here today definitely placed himself, his administration and his political fortunes in the side of those opposed to modification of the national dry laws. The chief executive furthermore served notice in his address, delivered in the municipal auditorium, that so long as he remained in the white house the prohibition and other laws would not be permitted to become a "byword" even should the burden of enforcement be increasingly passed on to the federal government by the states.

COMPENSATION DUE CURRANS

Munising, June 25.—The family of Deputy Sheriff Frank Curran, who was shot and killed last week by George Natchoff, escaped convict, in the swamp near Maple Ridge, is entitled to compensation under the state law. It was stated Saturday by Ray Derham, deputy commissioner of the state department of labor and industry, who is here to conduct hearings in industrial accident cases.

Warden Corgan, Sheriff Carney, Capt. Downing and Lieut. Cleghorn, leaders of the hunt from the beginning, were almost at the point of a physical breakdown, due to their four days of practically continuous traveling or searching. The deputies and state police were also well used up at the end of the chase.

Widow Compensated. The board also voted, on motion of Supervisor Hanrahan, to appropriate $500 for the relief of Mrs. Frank Curran, widow of the slain officer. Sheriff Carney, who with his aides in the capture of the convict has decided to turn the $500 reward over to the widow, was selected to deliver the board's appropriation also.

STORMS SWEEP FOUR STATES. St. Paul, Minn., June 25.—Nearly a score of deaths and great property damage resulted from Sunday's storms in the northwest, reports tonight revealed.

Presidential Prejudices. The president knew that in Kansas City he was talking to a community strongly prejudiced against the consolidation of railroad systems as proposed. He also knew that he was touching the farmers interest in diminished freight rates when he advocated combination in railroad systems and economical operating benefits.

Don't Believe Roads. The one trouble about communities in this part of America is that they disbelieve the hard luck stories of the railroads and have an idea the transportation interests of the nation, generally speaking, are making all kinds of money. That may or may not be true but it is going to be hard to put through any more substantial guarantees to the railroads which come out of the public pocketbook.

Precedents On Record. Mr. Derham said that the widows of Warden Catlin and Deputy Menhennett, killed by "Gypsy Bob" Harper at the Marquette branch prison, are receiving compensation from the state.

Fugitive Fires First. At that moment a shot rang out close at hand. Carney called to his men, asking who had fired. Each member of the posse answered in turn that he had not, so Carney ordered the men to fall flat on the ground and crawl, knowing that their man was concealed just ahead of them and was still determined to shoot it out with the officers.

largely due to a misconceived notion, too, widely entertained, that the federal government has usually taken over the real responsibility. The fact is quite contrary. The federal government is not equipped with instrumentalities to make enforcement locally effective. It does not maintain either a police or a judicial establishment adequate to or designed for such task. If the burden of enforcement shall continue to be increasingly thrown upon the Federal government, it will be necessary at large expense, to create a federal police authority which time will inevitably come to be regarded as an intrusion upon the interference with the right of local authority to manage local concerns. The possibilities of disaster, in such a situation hardly need to be suggested. Yet it is something that we must recognize as among the menaces in this situation.

No Relaxation by U. S. "The Federal government ought to perform, in connection with the enforcement of this policy, those functions which are obviously within its proper province. These are compliance in all respects as it relates to international commerce, the importation and exportation of liquors, the collection of federal revenue, the prevention of smuggling, and the general enforcement of the law within the proper realm of Federal authority. But the business of local enforcement, states and cities, ought to be in the hands of the state and local authorities, and it should be executed in all sincerity and good faith, as other laws are presumed to be executed.

What I am saying must not be construed as indicating any relaxation of the national government's purpose to do its full duty in this matter. I have no doubt that if the burden is cast in undue proportion, upon the national authority the Federal government will, not only under this administration but under whatever others may come in the future, assume and discharge its full obligation. But I am pointing out that this ought not to be made necessary. The national policy ought to be supported by the public opinion and the administrative machinery of the whole country. For myself I am confident that we are passing now through the most difficult stage of its matter, and that as time passes there will be a more and more willing acceptance by authorities everywhere of the unalterable obligation of law enforcement. The country and the nation will not permit the law of the land to be made a byword.

Abandon "State's Right." "It is a curious illustration of loose thinking, that some people have proposed, as a means to protecting the fullest rights of the states, that the states should abandon their part in enforcing the prohibitory policy. This means simply an invitation to the Federal government to exercise powers which should be exercised by the states. Instead of being an abandonment of them; it is an abdication; it amounts to a confession by the state that it doesn't choose to govern itself but prefers to turn the task, or a considerable part of it, over to the Federal authority. There could be no more complete negation of state rights.

Will Be Enforced. "So far as the federal government is concerned," he said, "and I am very sure also, so far as concerns the very great majority of the state governments and the local governments, it will be enforced. A gratifying, indeed it may fairly be said, an amazing progress has been made in the last few years toward better enforcement."

States Must Lead. The President disclosed that a good deal of testimony is reaching Washington that some states having prohibition enforcement codes and even some which successfully enforced "dry" laws before national prohibition are "disposed to abdicate their own police authority in this matter and to turn over the burden of prohibition enforcement to the federal authorities.

Still in Politics. "It was very generally believed that the adoption of the Constitutional amendment would take the question out of our politics. Thus far it has not done so, though I venture to predict that neither of the great parties will see the time, within the lives of any who are now voting citizens, when it will declare openly for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. But despite all that, the question is kept in politics because of the almost fanatical urgency of the minority of one on both sides. Unless, through the recognition and acceptance of the situation in its true light, through the effective enforcement of the law by all the constituted authorities, and with the acquiescence of the clearly dominant public opinion of the country, the question is definitely removed from the domain of political action.

Doublets, he said, "this is the domain of political action."

Doublets, he said, "this is the domain of political action."

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE DELFT

One of the largest exterior sets ever constructed on a covered stage can be seen in "The Dangerous Age," a John M. Stahl-First National attraction now playing at the Delft Theatre. The set represents a section of a residence street in New York, and is a complete reproduction in every detail. It covers the entire floor area of a stage 220 feet long by 120 feet wide. A portion of the end wall of the building had to be removed to allow for the camera being set on a special platform for the long shots.

The erection of this enormous set on an indoor stage, in spite of the great expense that attends such an undertaking, is an evidence of Mr. Stahl's desire to give his screen offerings every possible production advantage. As most of the street scenes take place at night, the lighting effects are a big factor in securing realism. By having the set indoors, the director has both the lighting and weather conditions under control.

The set could have been constructed on the lot at much less cost, as every foot of stage space carries an overhead charge, but the effect on the screen would not be nearly as good.

This is an example of the extremes to which a conscientious director will go to achieve the right illusions in the story he is producing. But the taste of the picture-going public is advancing at such a rapid pace that the expense is fully justified.

The cast of "The Dangerous Age" is composed of Lewis S. Stone, Cleo Madison, Lincoln Stedman, James Morrison, Myrtle Stedman, Edith Roberts, Ruth Clifford, Richard Tucker, and Edward Burns. Frances Irene Reels wrote the story.

AT THE STRAND

Can you imagine a girl walking along a narrow ledge between two windows five stories above the street? This act was done in order to inject thrills and realism into a film production.

She had promised to help secure a package of important papers. She goes to the man's room and robs the safe. With the papers safely tucked in her pocketbook, the girl, in order to escape capture, is forced to flee through the window. It is then that she must necessarily walk along a narrow ledge about six inches wide until she reaches the other window.

This is one of the big thrills in "The Lion's Mouse," the feature film attraction at the Strand theatre today in which Wyndham Standing and Marguerite Marsh are the featured players.

The question of thrills in the motion picture has been one of great discussion. The director who has been able to make the biggest thrill with the least danger to life and limb has been accorded unlimited praise. In "The Lion's Mouse" Mary Odette, who plays the role of Clo Riley, the mouse who has promised to gnaw and help her girl friend, Beverly,

CAN'T DO THE WORK

It's too much to try to work every day against a constant, dull backache, or sudden darting pain in the small of the back. Be rid of it. Try Doan's Kidney Pills. Your neighbors recommend them.

Mrs. A. Johnson, 1219-1st St., N., Escanaba, says: "I had an awful sore back and when I had any washing or lifting to do, my back ached terribly. Rheumatic pains had me feeling so badly I could hardly attend to my household. I had sore and swollen feet and lots of times I could hardly stand. My knees were swollen and I was stiff and had sick headaches. My kidneys acted irregularly, too. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and bought a few boxes at the City Drug store. They rid me of kidney complaint in a short time."

WOMAN SO ILL COULDN'T WORK

Gained Strength, Weight, and Now Doing Own Work by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Marion, Ind.—"I was all run-down, nervous and bent over. I could hardly drag around, let alone do my work. I read some letters in the papers telling what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for others and I thought I would try it. Then a man told my husband about his wife and what good it had done her and wanted him to have me try it. I took one bottle and could see what it did for me in a week's time, and when I had taken three bottles I had gained both in strength and weight and was doing my own work. I took it before my last baby was born and it helped me so much. I sure am glad to recommend the Vegetable Compound to any woman who suffers from female ailments, for I know by experience what it can do. I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash, also the Liver Pills, too, and think them fine."—Mrs. Wm. Eldridge, 620 E. Grant Street, Marion, Indiana.

How to Insure Sales for Your Product!

The chief asset of any business is the demand for its product. As long as that demand continues, the business is on a sure foundation. But let that demand subside, and every other asset of the business is in danger of becoming a liability.

In times of prosperity and a rising market there is a general demand for the products of industry that comes to be accepted as a matter of course. It is seldom listed among the assets of the business—it is simply assumed that it will always be there.

But, overnight, conditions may change—as they have done before—and the matter-of-course demand becomes conspicuous by its absence. The business, once strong and flourishing is suddenly found to be in a very tight place. The demand had not been insured—and yet the entire business depended upon its continuance.

The modern, economical way to insure the market for any reliable product is by Advertising to the public which consumes it. Advertising creates a steadily increasing number of customers who desire the product, and ask for it by name.

Changes in business conditions have little effect on a steady consumer demand for trade-marked articles of common use. The dealer may carry a lighter stock, and for a short time the demand through the jobber may seem curtailed; but just as sure as customers are calling on the dealer for the product, he is sure to supply it, and orders soon begin to flow in to make up for the temporary curtailment. The total consumption continues about the same.

Any manufacturer who has an article for popular consumption that can be trade-marked has the opportunity to insure his consumer market and retail sales by means of Advertising.

During the present business condition the manufacturers who have insured their demand by Advertising are in a far better position—in every way—than those who have trusted to the current demand that was not of their creating.

OBITUARY

MRS. MABEL BARKHURST.
While the body of Mrs. Mabel Barkhurst lay in state at the Al-16 Funeral Home, where it had been taken after she had been found dead in bed from a heart attack Saturday morning, many friends called at the home and viewed the remains of the woman who by her Christian life and virtues had won the esteem of a large number of friends.
The funeral services were held Monday afternoon at two o'clock at St. Stephen's Episcopal church where she had worshipped for many years. Mrs. Barkhurst was one of the oldest members of the church and her untiring efforts when there was any work to be done for her church were remarkable.
The pall bearers were Miles Thomas, Ed. Erickson, Fred Leighton, M. N. Smith, W. R. Smith and John Stack, Jr.
The Rev. A. I. E. Boss, rector of the church, officiated at the services which were largely attended. Burial was in Lakeview cemetery.
Out of town relatives who arrived for the funeral were a sister, Mrs. MacAnnamy, Chicago;

Mrs. Stewart, niece of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Hill, Marinette. Mr. Hill is a nephew of Mrs. Parkhurst.
MISS EVELYN ERICKSON.
Another home was saddened Sunday when the Grim Messenger of Death entered it at two o'clock Sunday morning and called to her reward, Miss Evelyn Erickson, 29 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Axel Erickson, 631 Ogden Ave.
Miss Erickson had been ill for about one year, eight months of which were spent at the Powers Sanatorium. A few weeks ago she was removed to the home of her parents in this city and all that kind parents and science could do to save the life of the young woman was tried but was of no avail. Pernicious anemia was the cause of her death.
Miss Erickson graduated from the Escanaba high school with the class of 1921 after which she attended the Northern State Normal school at Marquette, Mich. She was engaged as a teacher in the public school at Wells for one year having to give up her work owing to failing health.
Miss Erickson was loved by all who knew her and her gentle disposition and unflinching courage won her many friends. She was unusually patient during her illness and was never heard to murmur or complain.
She leaves to mourn her besides her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Erickson, three sisters, Ruth, Margery and Roberts of this city.
The body was taken to the Al-16 Funeral Home to be prepared for burial and was removed to the family home Sunday evening in which she lies in state in a beautiful casket and surrounded by a profusion of floral tributes. The room in which the body lies in state resembles a flower garden in which rests a beautiful flower just budding into womanhood and whose life was ended in its springtime.
Classmates will act as pallbearers and members of her graduating class will march in a body from the home to the cemetery when the funeral is held.
Funeral services will be held at the home of the family this afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. Harry Staver, pastor of the First Presbyterian church officiating. Burial will be in Lakeview cemetery in the family lot.
The close friends who will carry the casket to and from the funeral car are, Clark Fallman, Matthew Sullivan, Edward Ryan, Clayton Schram, Keith MacKillop and John Kennelly.
The out of town relatives who have arrived for the obsequies are Mr. and Mrs. Axel Erickson Sr., grand parents of Miss Erickson, of DePue, Wis. Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Reanny of Marquette, Mr. and Mrs. James Fisher and daughter Hazel of Ishpeming, Mrs. Henry Watchhorn and two children Lois and Betty of Detroit.
Miss Erickson was a member of the R. C. Hathaway chapter, No. 49, Order of Eastern Star, who will have charge of the funeral, both at the home and the grave, according to the ritualistic work of the order.

MRS. NORMAN BURDICK.
A young wife and mother was called to her reward Sunday morning at 4 o'clock when death came to Mrs. Norman Burdick at the family home, 204 Lake Shore Drive, where she had been ill for two weeks with an attack of pneumonia.
Mrs. Burdick was formerly Miss Marie Johnson of Stonington and was known to a large number of persons in this city and at her former home at Stonington.
She is survived by her husband and two children, Delight Glory, aged three, and James Samuel, aged six months, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson, of Stonington; four brothers, Andrew Johnson, Gladstone, Gust, of Escanaba; Peter and Aaron, of Stonington.
The body was taken to the Anderson Funeral Parlor to be prepared for burial and removed to the family home Monday afternoon where it will lie in state until the hour of the funeral which will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home and at 2:30 at the Swedish Lutheran church. Rev. Palmor Nestander, who is Rev. Lund's assistant, will officiate at the services. Burial will be in Lakeview cemetery.

JOHN FRANKLIN GREENE.
John Franklin Greene, eight day old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Greene, of Isabella, died Sunday afternoon at a local hospital. The little one had been ill since birth.
The body was taken to the Anderson Funeral Parlor to be prepared for burial and will be shipped today to Isabella where the funeral will be held. Burial will be in the Isabella cemetery.

A. T. GARLAND.
Word was received in this city yesterday announcing the death of A. T. Garland which occurred at Minneapolis, where he had gone last Wednesday to consult a cancer specialist. Mrs. Garland accompanied him on the trip.
Mr. Garland had been in the employ of the C. & N. W. Ry. for many years as a locomotive engineer. Two years ago he suffered from an injury to his arm which later developed into a cancer. He was taken to many physicians and all that could be done to save his arm was done. Last spring he was taken to Chicago to consult physicians and returned to his home at Ford River Switch with his family, where he suffered intense pain continually from the cancer which was daily growing larger.
The family formerly lived on South 9th street in this city and are known to many residents of the city. The body will arrive this morning via the Soo Line railway and will be taken to the Anderson Funeral Parlor.
No definite funeral arrangements have been made pending the arrival of Mr. Garland.
He leaves to mourn him his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Harry Morgan, Beaver Dam, Wis.; Mrs. Bert Juneau, of this city; three sons, Harry Garland, of Saginaw, Mich.; Glenn, of Toledo, Ohio, and Raymond, of Ford River Switch; his aged mother, Mrs. M. A. Garland, four sisters, Mrs. Thomas Stover, Mrs. Joe Stover, Mrs. Frank Benedict (and Miss Anna Garland, of Chicago).
News of his death came as a severe shock to his many friends in this city.

Swedish Methodists Church Class Is Confirmed

A class of eighteen were confirmed at the Swedish Methodist church Sunday when very imposing services were held at ten-thirty. Members of the class who have been receiving instructions from the pastor were seated in the front part of the church which was filled with parents and friends of the young people who took part in the ceremony.
The pastor, Rev. C. R. Palm, left Monday afternoon for Two Harbors, Minn., where he will attend a meeting of the Northern District of the Swedish Methodist church and also a convention of the Epworth League which will be represented by Miss Berglund of this city who left early Monday morning as the delegate from the local church. Rev. Palm will be absent about ten days. Services for next Sunday will be announced later.

Facts Relating to Railroads

RAILWAYS—A NATIONAL ASSET: The United States is the wealthiest nation in the world today. It contains 5 4-10% of the land area of the world; 6 1-10% of the population of the world, and 36% of the railways of the world, or 259,555 miles. The railways are one of the nation's greatest assets. They provide transportation which is the basis of commerce and the means whereby exchange of products is accomplished. For each person in the United States in 1900 there was transported 8 tons of freight. For each person in 1920, 12 tons. The increasing cost of living is really the cost of better living.

VALUE OF TRANSPORTATION: Transportation is the measure of civilization. History confirms this statement. Production without transportation must be very limited, and thus limited would have greatly retarded the progress of civilization. Transportation increases the worth of all property it serves. Property values are largely determined by the ability of the property to produce and the owner's opportunity to dispose of the products at a profit. The value of all farm property in the United States increased from twenty and one-half billion dollars in the year 1900 to seventy-eight billion dollars in the year 1920, and the value of all farm products, at the same time, increased from five billion dollars to twenty billion dollars. This is due in part to adequate transportation.

INCREASE OF MANUFACTURERS: Production is the measure of human efficiency and human progress. There is no limit to the amount of wealth that may be created except the limitation of production. The purchasing power of an individual community or nation lies in its power of production. Manufactured products in the United States increased from a value of eleven and one-half billion dollars in the year 1899 to sixty-two and one-half billion dollars in the year 1919. Transportation contributed substantially to this development by affording an easy method of exchange.

PROGRESS OF UNITED STATES: The total wealth of the United States has increased in the twenty-year period, from 1900 to 1920, two hundred ninety-five per cent. During the same period farm values in the United States have increased two hundred eighty-one per cent. Investments in manufacturing industries have increased three hundred ninety-eight per cent. Investments in railroads in the United States have increased ninety-three per cent. The expanding commerce of the country requires an expansion of railroad facilities and equipment. It is clear that railroad development has not kept pace with the growing commerce. A new era of expansion is necessary.

ADEQUATE RETURNS: The railroads in the United States increased their investment in locomotives, cars, yards, terminals and other railway property, in the ten years ended December 31, 1922, by more than five billion four hundred million dollars. The income they received in the year 1922 was eleven million dollars less than in the year 1913, being a smaller income from a substantially increased investment. Investors cannot prudently place their money in an industry which does not yield a reasonable rate of interest. An expanding commerce requires continued investment. It is clear that investments in railroads in the United States must be made more attractive and secure.

REASONABLE RATES: Railroad rates to be just and reasonable must, among other things, be sufficient to meet the cost of wages, materials and fuel, taxes and the interest on capital. No one expects a person to sell his wares at less than cost and all agree to a fair margin for the use of capital. The railroads should receive the same consideration, in order to render efficient service which is always our purpose.
