WILL PRIVATE INTERESTS BUY YANKEE FLEET?

DANGER TO SHIPPING MAY BRING PURCHASE.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Sale of a few government vessels to the Robert Dollar and Grace Lines has revived the possibility that other private interests might find it worth while to make substantial bids for the merchant fleet owned by Uncle Sam.

As long as private interests remain the danger to their business is not so great as it was when the government was in competition with them they will seek to buy the ships but thus far the proposals made by most of the private concerns have not been deemed sufficient. The sentiment of the shipping board has been opposed to the sale of ships at what might be termed "give away" prices. It is true that the shipping board insists that certain trade routes be guaranteed as a consideration of the sale and this, of course, enters into the question of whether a shipping company can make a profit on the lines it seeks to establish.

The present operators of government ships who receive a commission which is shortly to be terminated by the board, and the American steamship owners association have pleaded with the shipping board to make it possible for them to buy the ships out of the earnings of the lines in the next few years. This would mean, of course, that the government furnished the capital in the form of existing ships and would receive a return on the investment only if the lines are profitable. The idea has not met with the approval of the board.

The shipping people, however, insist that something can be worked out whereby they will be enabled to buy government ships. They argue that their experienced personnel might otherwise be turned into the foreign shipping companies. The attitude of the shipping commissioners on the other hand is that they would not be justified in giving away government property at bargain prices and that the potential value of the government fleet must be reckoned in terms of what the government itself might yet be able to do by efficient operation of subsidiary corporations which will consolidate various established lines.

President Coolidge for some reason or other has not been anxious to put the subsidiary corporation idea into effect quickly. President Harding approved it and was ready to go ahead. Mr. Coolidge has seen fit to hold up the operation of the plan for further advice. He announced first the appointment of a special committee consisting of two cabinet officers, the chairman of the interdepartmental commerce commission and a member of the house and the senate. The members of the U. S. Shipping Board looked askance at this procedure and began to wonder what the functions of the shipping board really were if matters of importance relating to shipping were to be submitted to special committees. The shipping board incidentally is the creature of congress and is an independent commission unrelated to the cabinet departments in any way.

Mr. Coolidge heard of this murmuring and summoned the members of the entire shipping board to the White House where he explained he had intended merely to seek the advice of others beside the shipping board and that he wanted to be sure of the legality of the plan. The general counsel of the shipping board has passed on the legality but Mr. Coolidge wanted to make sure the department of justice also approved. No word has come from the White House that if the legal opinion is favorable, the special committee will be asked to pass on the shipping board's proposed policy.

The impression which disinterested observers get is that influences have been at work to persuade the president to supercede the plans of the shipping board with others more favorable to the disposition of the ships in quicker time to private owners. The U. S. chamber of commerce, headed by Julius H. Barnes, an intimate friend of Secretary Hoover who is to be a member of the president's special committee, openly states that it believes the government should get out of the shipping business. The president is himself not a government ownership man and in the face of the conflicting currents he is proceeding with extreme caution hoping he can reconcile the various viewpoints to the practical facts of the situation.

Italy Postpones Decision Regarding Fiume

TODAY IS SET AS TIME FOR REAL ACTION

JUGO-SLAVIA DENOUNCES PROSPECTIVE ANNEXATION

Belgrade, Sept. 14.—(By the Associated Press)—Indications here today were that Italy had definitely postponed her proposed decisive action regarding Fiume, which the Jugo-Slavian government believe will take the form of annexation of the city.

It is not expected now that the order will be made tomorrow, which was the date set by Premier Mussolini, but that he will wait till there is an opportunity for the friendly conference urged in the letter to Premier Pachitch which was read before the house presided over by King Alexander.

Annexation Denounced.—The Jugo-Slavian papers denounced the prospective annexation as the beginning of an imperialistic campaign in the court of Italy. They compare it with the policy pursued by Austria Hungary, which policy they say caused the downfall of the dual monarchy. The presence of D'Espert has given opportunity for the Jugo-Slavians to show their friendship with France which seemed particularly warm in a present emergency.

State Grand Jury Opens New Probe Of Purnell Case

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 14.—The state grand jury investigations of the House of David Colony were opened here today with three witnesses to appear. It is not improbable, Attorney-General Dougherty said, that the testimony taken will close the investigation.

Today's testimony was by Mrs. Gladys Danforth Rubel and her sister, Mrs. Danforth Reed, former members of the colony, and Mrs. Reed's husband. It was upon the statement of one of these women that a warrant making serious charges against Benjamin Purnell, head of the House of David was issued.

School children all over England are playing the races, deserting their books for bookies. Testimony given by a woman school teacher at the government's inquiry into betting revealed that out of a class of forty-two boys, averaging eleven years old, nineteen admitted they backed horses. She also suspected others in the class of playing the ponies with their pennies. She said they talk about form, the size of the horses and the abilities of the jockeys. The youth of the land hardly get off their rocking horses before beginning to back the real thing.

Twice within a few weeks the Imperial German flag has been hoisted on Dutch soil, once at Wieringen, when a yacht called Hohenzollern flew it on the occasion of a mysterious visit to the ex-Crown Prince, and again over a seaside villa in which the ex-Kaiser was visiting. A prominent London daily states that the ex-Crown Prince is planning his escape to Germany, that he is in communication with the German Nationalists, and that he is popular among ex-soldiers.

AFTER THE STORM

FARMERS FIGHT TO GET CROPS UNDER SHELTER

Weather Bureau Predicts Indian Summer Shortly.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Farmers of the central west urged on by the early onslaught during the last few days of heavy frost and in some sections, snow and ice are making all efforts to house crops still standing in the fields, that might be injured by early frosts. Tobacco growers of Wisconsin already have reported damages amounting to at least $300,000 in one county alone, it was estimated. Hampered by a shortage of labor many farmers are encountering difficulty in getting the cut crops under shelter and the repetition of the heavy frosts tonight is expected to raise the total loss.

Cox Offers Hope.—Weather forecasts by Prof. Cox, in charge of the government bureau here, were for more frost over the northern portions with warmer weather in prospect for tomorrow. He predicted temperatures up to 80 in a few days and declared confidently that Indian Summer will hold session before winter comes in earnest.

By wireless an elephant was given commands by his favorite keeper, but paid no attention. When the keeper delivered the orders in person the animal obeyed without hesitation.

Morris Geat has succeeded in extricating from Bolshevik Russia his father and mother, his two sisters and their children—twenty-one of his kin, in all. A Paris dispatch states that it is doubtful if he would have been successful in obtaining passports for his people but for the aid of officials of the American Relief Association. He will bring the twenty-one to America as soon as the necessary arrangements are made for their admission.

PUBLIC PROBE OF DISASTER

DENBY GOING TO BOTTOM OF DESTROYER INCIDENT.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—Inquiries into the loss of seven ships off Point Honda, California last Saturday night, will be conducted in public and will be designed to go to the bottom of the incident, Secretary Denby of the Navy announced today. A decision of officers in charge of the inquiry to conduct the investigation in secret was overruled by Secretary Denby. This action was taken after a new and yet to be explained feature of the disaster became known in the receipt, by a subsidiary bureau, of a report mentioning two or possibly three additional naval ships as included among those that went aground. Although the additional vessels were not reported as wrecked, neither Secretary Denby or other officials had been informed that more than seven vessels were involved in the disaster. Naval regulations are more stringent in this connection than in any other pertaining to ships in operation, it being important, it was explained, that the department must know the units fit for immediate service.

President Will Not Ask Use Of Army and Navy

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—President Coolidge has no idea at this time of asking Congress for authority to use the armed forces of the nation in enforcing the prohibition laws, it was officially stated today.

The executive does not believe that it would be wise to use the army and navy in such police work. He regards it as conceivable that a time might come when it would be necessary to use the armed forces of the nation to prevent smuggling, but such use of war forces should be resorted to with a great deal of hesitation, he holds.

MICHIGAN TO GET INCREASE IN DELEGATES

Tentative Plans Give State Republicans More Power.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—A tentative apportionment of delegates to the 1924 Republican National Convention conforming to the order of the National committee issued in 1920 and designed to equalize Republican voters representation, was made public tonight at committee headquarters. It provides for 1,033 delegates as compared with 984 four years ago, with sharp reduction ordered in some of the solid south states and increases in most of North and Western section. Changes in apportionment were made following years of criticism of large delegations from Southern states for the larger part democratic. No delegates will be allowed under the new rule from Congressional districts which do not maintain a republican organ and does not cast 2,500 republican votes. Delegates allowed the states as compared with 1920 are as follows:

CHAMPION RETAINS TITLE AFTER HARDEST FIGHT OF HIS CAREER IN THE RING

LIFTED CLEAR OVER ROPES BY MIGHTY RIGHT OF CHALLENGER WHO CAME WITHIN AN INCH OF WINNING.

Ringside, Polo Grounds, New York, Sept. 14.—(By the Associated Press)—Jack Dempsey tonight retained his world heavyweight title, knocking out Luis Angel Firpo, the "wild bull of the Pampas", in the second round of one of the fiercest, fastest and most spectacular battles in the history of pugilism.

The champion floored his Argentine challenger five times in the first round and two in the second round before a short upercut to the jaw sent Firpo down for the last time. But in the three minute and 57 seconds of whirlwind, terrific mauling Dempsey once himself was knocked clear through the ropes on top of the press benches and groggy under a bombardment of mighty rights once sank to his knees.

Before Firpo went hurtling down to defeat, acrobatics with him the shattered hopes of a continent he gave a vast, frenzied throng of 85,000 one of the most thrilling and courageous ring exhibitions of all times. Battered, bloody and groggy, he showed his marvelous stamina by coming back with a whirlwind, cutting drive toward the close of the first round that had the title holder closer to losing his crown than ever before.

Firpo's Best Fight.

Firpo fought the best fight he has ever fought. The challenger's mighty right was never mightier. Against the relentless power and versatility of the champion's furious attack he went down, but in defeat he gained more glory than in any battle in his career. He was beaten but his right to aspire to the heavyweight throne was not removed. From the top of the first gong these two giants tore at each other with an attack of unrestrained savagery. Firpo was the first to land as they came into close quarters, but in a flash the champion plunged in and shot a right to the body and a left to the jaw, sending the challenger to the floor. Momentarily dazed, but with eyes ablaze, Firpo rose to his feet after a short count and rushed back. Again he was met by a withering right and went down for the second and third times. Blood flowed from his mouth. He was stunned and Dempsey let loose the most terrific power of his swings as he sensed victory. Firpo went down two more times and both times it seemed the end had come, but after taking a count of nine on the fifth knockdown the challenger suddenly sprang at his adversary like a wounded tiger, an infuriated jungle beast, swinging with flail like rapidity and sledge hammer power the famous right thrust that he brushed aside all opposition and swept him to fame.

Sends Dempsey Reeling.

Caught unawares at this stunning comeback on the part of the man he had believed beaten into submission, Dempsey reeled under the assault. A right to the side of the head sent Dempsey to his knees and as he arose another swing knocked him from his feet and to ropes on top of the newspaper men at edge of the ring.

Dempsey's knees wavered as he climbed in. He clinched to save himself from falling. Firpo could not follow up his advantage and the bell ended a round that will go down as one of the most sensational of all night history.

Game to the Last.—Unbashed for the second round they leaped at each other once more. Dempsey again was the quicker and Firpo went down under the crushing blows. He arose only to go down once more. Now there was no doubt of the outcome. The challenger, bleeding and tottering, forced himself to his feet carried largely by instinct. Dempsey stepped in with a left to the body and then a short right to the chin that sent Firpo rolling on his back staring vacantly at the glare of the lights from the ceiling. The Argentine tried to turn over to gather strength. His fighting heart called him back to the fray, but his body, which had withstood the most terrible punishment, could not respond. He lay flat at the count of 10 after 57 seconds of the round had elapsed and was helped to the corner by the champion.

Spectators Frenzied.

Then that vast throng whipped to a fever pitch of excitement by the sensational struggle, gave vent to an ovation that echoed and reechoed from Coogan's Bluff as Dempsey's band was raised in victory. Ring side spectators rushed to the ring, some hurled three rows of press seats to get at the champion and lifted him to their shoulders. For a moment it seemed that the frenzy might assume the proportions of a riot but the police gained control and while the American fulfilled popular expectations and the most venturesome prediction of critics by his short and spectacular triumph, the challenger received no ovation in defeat for the fight that marked him among the most courageous battlers the ever sought the world's heavyweight title.

Why Dempsey Won.

Dempsey won because he was the "Dempsey of Toledo," the smashing, mauling, relentless assailant who battled Willard in submission four years ago and ascended to the heavyweight throne. Firpo proved himself a dangerous assailant but his lack of experience and the lack of all around fighting equipment reinforced his powerful right caused his downfall in the face of Dempsey's superior speed and generalship. Dempsey gained a fortune by his victory getting close to a quarter million dollars as his share of the gate receipts which amounted to $1,270,000, according to Tex Rickard, a figure second only to the record gate of $1,600,000 established two years ago by the Dempsey-Carpentier battle at Jersey City. The champion share, getting 37 per cent, amounted to $480,000. Firpo whose share was 18 per cent, will receive about $160,000, twice as much as for any previous bout.

ARGENTINE RETURN.

Buenos Aires, Sept. 14.—(By the Associated Press)—The feat of Luis Angel Firpo, the "wild bull of the Pampas", who defeated Jack Dempsey was a stunning accomplishment to the loss of which and who thronged the arena.

TURN TO PAGE SEVEN. Details of the Dempsey-Firpo bout and other sporting news will be found on page 7 of the Press this morning.

Buenos Aires hopeful of receiving news that the Argentine fight had won for his country the championship of the world.

When it became known that Firpo had lost, groans were to be heard from the crowd in front of the boards and some people...

Back in a Year. Later, Firpo made the following statement: "In a year I shall be back again. Tonight I feel I made a creditable showing. I did what no other man did to Jack Dempsey."

Charles Schwieger, official time keeper, said that Firpo actually was floored five times in the first round and knocked to his knees two times which he counted as knockdowns.

He checked down two knockdowns in the second round while the champion was knocked to his knees twice in the first and a few seconds later was lifted over the ropes and out of the ring as far as the third row of newspaper men.

ARE YOU AFRAID OF HOODOO "13" BEING UNLUCKY?

Gen. Pershing, Notable American, Disproves It.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 12.—Today is the 13th, a date accounted unlucky by many people, for reasons difficult to explain. But while the number is associated with ill luck in the minds of many, there are plenty of notable people living today who, so far from being afraid of "13," count it their lucky number.

Another who likes "13" is Hall Caine. Four of his most successful novels were published on the 13th day of the month, the most successful of them on a 13th that was also a Friday.

General John J. Pershing (13 letters in that signature), who was born on the 13th of September, sixty-three years ago today, landed in Europe to represent the United States in the World War on September 13th, 1917.

Other notables who celebrate their birthdays today and have no reason to complain of the luck of "13" are Theodore Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy; Maud Ballington Booth, the famous social worker; Dr. Cyrus Adler, the celebrated Jewish scholar and educator, and Henry F. Ashurst, United States senator from Arizona.

A striking instance of the luck of "13" was provided by the great composer, Richard Wagner. With 13 letters in his name, he was born in 1813 (the figures in which add up to 13), on the 13th of the month. "Tannhauser" was finished on the 13th day of the month and first performed on a 13th.

Wagner died on February 13th, 1883—not an instance of luck, but an odd coincidence—at the ripe age of seventy, leaving 13 completed works behind him.

After all, the unlucky 13 superstition is only more or less modern, for in the old days it was held a fortunate number, especially in the East. Among the Jews 13 cities were dedicated to the priestly tribe of Levi; 13 high priests descended from Aaron; the preparations for the Passover commenced upon the 13th day of the month Nisan, and there were 13 ingredients in the sacred incense.

Henry M. Stanley, the great African explorer, received the City of London on a 13th. The 13th was the wedding day of the Duke of Connaught and Princess Louise Margaret of Prussia. The capture of Magdala and the end of the Abyssinian war occurred on April 14, 1868.

Queen Victoria chose the 13th as the date for taking her first journey by train. The famous

FOR ITALY

Signor Salandra is Mussolini's representative at Geneva where the League of Nations is trying to bring peace in the squabble between Italy and Greece.

Berlin Congress of the European Powers was opened on June 13, 1878, and concluded its deliberations on July 13th following. The Americans won the victory at Chapultepec on September 13th, 1877. The English won the great battle on the Plains of Abraham on September 13th, 1759.

But despite all evidence to the contrary, the superstition concerning "unlucky 13" persists. Railroad and steamship travel is always lighter on the 13th than on any other day of the month.

In many hotels and apartment houses the expedient has been adopted of using "12A" as a room number, in deference to guests and tenants who would avoid the "unlucky 13." And in many European cities "13" is deemed so unlucky that none of the houses bear that number.

A gross profit of $379,000 was made by the Leviathan on her maiden trip, according to figures issued at Washington. Receipts on the outward voyage from New York to Europe were $111,000 and those on the return trip $358,000. The actual operating expenditures, not including capital cost and other overhead, for the round trip totaled $400,000.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE STRAND.

Film fans will well remember the roles in which Mary Miles Minter first won her way to fame—Ingenuous pearls and those of the simple, trusting country girl. In her latest Paramount starring vehicle, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," now showing at the Strand theatre.

Minter will be seen in a similar role as June Tolliver, daughter of the sister "Devil" Judd of John Fox's popular novel, Antonio Moreno and Ernest Torrence are featured players in support of the star.

AT THE DELFT.

A big two-story frame railroad station was constructed in Hollywood and taken in sections to an isolated spot on the Southern Pacific railroad, where it was set up and utilized as a regular way station in filming the big railroad scenes in Emory Johnson's production of "Westbound Limited," now showing at the Delft theatre.

Telegraph instruments, baggage trucks and a ticket office was installed in the impromptu railway station, together with an express office.

The station, with a full force of employees, including station master and telegraph operator, was operated in conjunction with the special train that was chartered by Producer Johnson in filming the big railroad episodes in the story.

Bids Received On State Road Jobs

Bids have been received at the office of the State Highway Commission for the construction of nine miles of gravel road, stretching from about six miles north of Amasa to the Iron-Baraga county line. James Long, of Iron River bid $66,053.36 for the job, it was reported. The job will complete Route 69 in Michigan and will provide Iron County with a direct route to the Copper Country.

Bids have also been received on two state trunk line bridges to be built east of Covington in Baraga county. The lowest bid on one was $7,234.80 and on the other, $10,733.20. There has been no intimation of the probable date when work will be resumed on the $75,000 bridge which is to be built across the Paint River at Crystal Falls.

MINE WORKERS SAY REVOLUTION BEING BOOSTED

Charge Collection of Funds for Moscow Commune.

New York, Sept. 12.—Collection of funds from American people of high and low degree for the promotion of social, economic and political revolution has become an organized industry in the last two years, it is charged by the United Mine Workers of America in the fourth article of a series which purports to be an expose of a far reaching plot to spread the dictatorship of the Communist International at Moscow over this continent.

Laborers, society leaders, school teachers and well-meaning philanthropists, ignorant of the menace they are promoting, add millions of dollars annually to the war-chest of the underground workers for revolution in America, it is charged. Other millions millions are described as streaming in from Moscow, Berlin and Stockholm to make a total impossible of estimate.

"The United Mine Workers learns from an authoritative source," says the author of the expose, "that the money from abroad is coming in through the usual international banking channels and that it is distributed to the accounts of various individuals in different banks after it reaches this country."

To Capture Union.

Capture of the miners' union is alleged to be the first aim of Communist agents in this country, as a step toward establishment of the "one big union" principle in all industrial labor groups. After that nationalization of coal mines under the soviet form of rule as a preliminary to nationalization of other industries; then forcible overthrow of the governments existing in the United States and Canada, and establishment of Communism after the Moscow pattern.

Since the mine workers' union was allegedly the first object of attack in the fulfillment of this program, solicitation of funds is said to have been most active among the miners. Money usually is asked for some "defense" or "relief" cause, the donors being led to believe "that it was to be used in the rebuilding and strengthening of their union organization and for other legitimate purposes."

"One such collection agency is the Miners' Relief Conference," says the author, "a Communist enterprise that has been operating in the Pittsburgh, Pa., region since last August. This conference has been one of the most important channels through which money has filtered into the Communist organization for destructive work within the miners' union."

Collection Methods.

Numerous examples of the methods of collection are set forth, but the union investigators were able to uncover few records of sources of expenditure. "Inspection of the records fails to show even the simplest forms of bookkeeping in accounting for the moneys and supplies received. While considerable sums were contributed by sympathetic persons who heeded appeals broadcast over the country, records of the contributions are found only on scraps of paper or in the original letters of the donors." The Communists are alleged even to have solicited and received 25 cent assessments per member from United Mine Workers' locals in the so-called "hot-beds of radicalism." It is asserted that most of the bail money and trial lawyers' fees for men seized in the Brigrman raid was subscribed through "Labor Defense Councils" and the Miners' Relief Conference by such methods.

The author of the expose says that while Communist agents were appealing throughout the nation for "money for the relief of starving miners," they also were holding mass meetings "to collect from those 'starving miners' money to remit to the Labor Defense Council at Chicago."

Seize Correspondence.

Other correspondence alleged to have been seized by authorities in raids on revolutionary headquarters is quoted to show that the American Civil Liberties Union of New York City, of which Roger Baldwin is executive secretary, loaned the Communists money from the Charles Garland Foundation Fund, entrusted to the union by the North Carver, Mass., man who refused to keep a $1,600,000 legacy inherited from his father.

How a considerable portion of money collected by the Communists in the coal regions was utilized is recited as follows:

"Efforts of the Communists to get control of the United Mine Workers have continued without interruption since the strike of last year. In the first two months of this year these efforts centered on bringing about an outlaw strike on April 1; later to drive a wedge into the United Mine Workers through advocacy of the expediency of government ownership of mines. William Z. Foster, industrial organizer of the Communist International, has been at the head of the enterprise. The principal scene of action has been southwestern Pennsylvania. The vehicle has been the Miners' Relief Conference and the magnet for attracting the miners has been 'government ownership of the mines.'"

Approves No Plan.

It is pointed out that the union has no approved or accepted any plan for nationalization, although a committee to study the subject was appointed two years ago with instructions to submit a report and recommendations at the international convention next January. "Notwithstanding this fact that the union is seeking to reach a conclusion on this proposition in an orderly way, the Communist organization has concentrated all of its resources to the end of forcing the union to acknowledge nationalization of the mines as the chief objective of coal workers in this country."

A conference of "Reds," whom the author names, was held at Pittsburgh last February 10, out of which grew a platform alleged to contain these planks:

"1—Establishment of headquarters at Pittsburgh for an aggressive campaign to reorganize the miners' union in accordance with Communist doctrines; 2—to bring about a general strike on April 1; 3—to hold a convention of miners' delegates of the United States and Canada at Pittsburgh the first week in June, when would be launched a new international organization to absorb the United Mine Workers and eliminate its international and district officials."

An outstanding feature of this program, which failed of wide fulfillment, is alleged in the "expose" to have been the unauthorized strike of steel and coal miners in Nova Scotia which was ended only after the President of the Mine Workers' ousted Dan Livingstone, president and J. B. McLachlan, secretary, of the district.

"Changed your brand of shaving soap, haven't you?" asked Uncle Pennywise of the barber. "Yes, sah. Feels smoother?" "No, tastes different."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

BILL EVANS SAYS

Ed Walsh, famous pitcher of the Chicago White Sox, now acting as assistant to Manager Gleason, has always contended the rules committee pulled a bone when it barred spitball pitching.

"The spitball delivery is not a freak or trick delivery," says Walsh in defense of the moist ball. "Its deceptive features are not made possible by roughening the ball, raising the seams or shining the ball. There is no mystery about the spitball. The batsman knows how it is thrown and usually knows when it is coming.

"The successful spitball pitcher in the old days was a specialist who constantly worked to perfect the delivery and acquire control. For without control the spit ball has no value. They made a mistake when they did away with the spitball. That style of delivery would tend to curb some of the present day slugging. Shocker, Faber, Russell, Coveleskie and Jack Quinn, a few of the spitball pitchers left, are among the most effective twirlers in the American League. They prove the value of the spitball as a delivery."

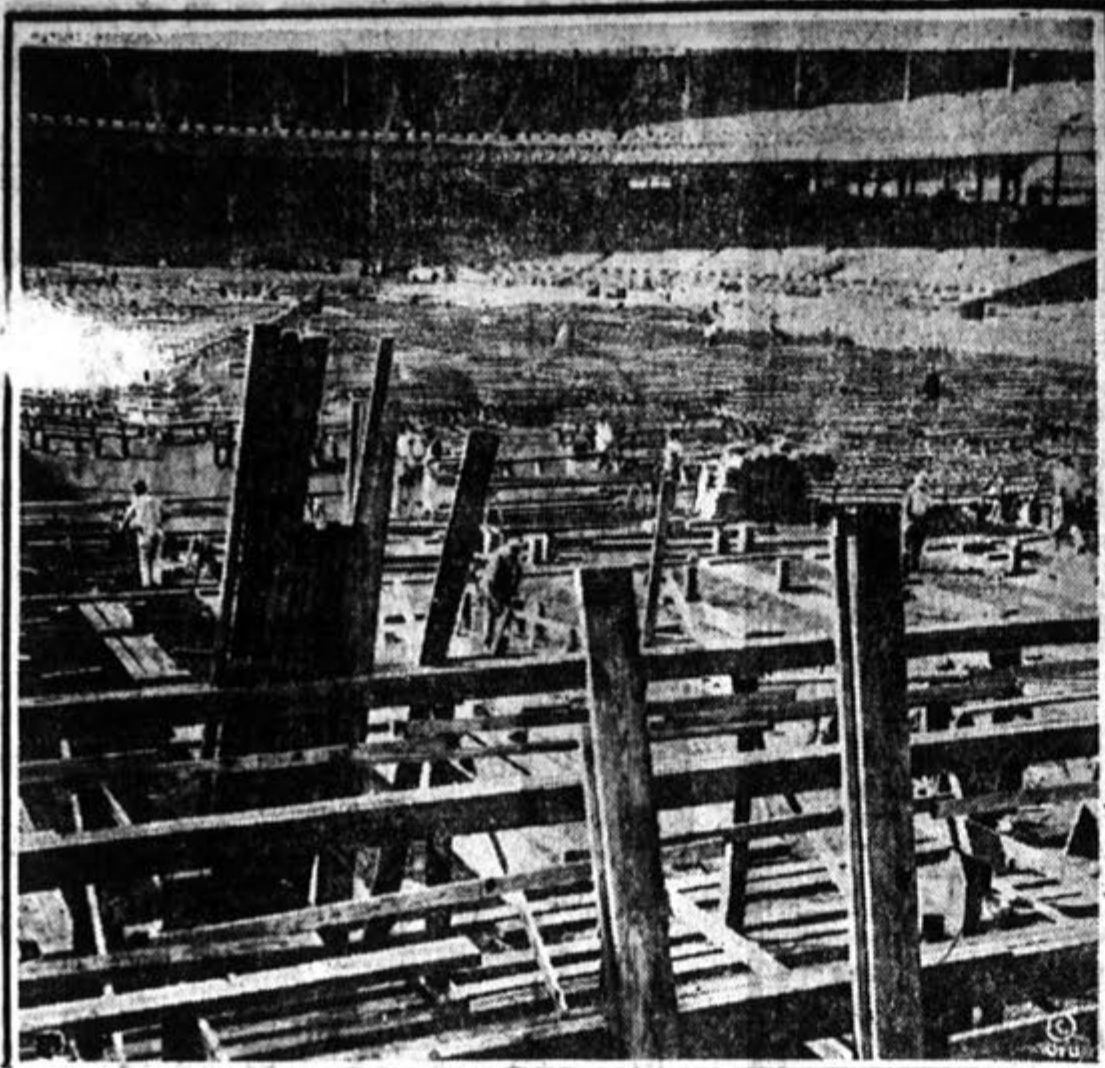

There certainly is considerable truth in what Walsh says. In this era of spit in baseball, no style of pitching is more effective against the modern day slugger than the spitball. Only the other day the veteran Shocker turned in his 20th victory of the season and says he will be satisfied with nothing short of 25 wins. Of course the spitball isn't Shocker's only stock in trade, but that elusive style delivery is still his big threat. The slugger don't seem able to take the liberties with the spitball pitchers that they do with the speed ball artists.

While the major leagues are adhering to the policy of putting the ban on spitball pitchers when the present veterans pass out, the minors, semi-professionals and amateurs are not following the same system. The action of the major leagues in barring the spitball has not been general. Its use still continues in high favor in baseball outside the big show.

Should ring champions go out of their class when it is possible for them to get plenty of action among fighters at their own weight. This thought is promoted by the coming clash between Lightweight Champion Henry Leonard and the featherweight title holder Johnny Dundee. If the men has never met before there might be a logical reason for the match. On the contrary the two have clashed eight times, so they should know their act very well.

Since the ball is effective it is only natural that a lot of likely young pitchers use it. In so doing they are hurting their chances of making the majors. However, at present their big thought is to win in the company in which they are playing and the use of the spitball is a great asset. Only the other day a well known big league scout told me that some of the best pitching material he had looked over in the independent ranks, still used the spitball extensively. Wonder if there is a chance for the "spitter" to come back as one of the weapons to curb the slugging that now dominates baseball.

THE SHAMBLES BEFORE THE FIGHT

The Polo Grounds at New York. Doesn't look like a ball park, does it? This was taken as carpenters rushed construction of the seats for the gentle set-to between Mr. W. H. Dempsey and Mr. L. A. Firpo for the heavyweight title or some such silly thing. After the fight outlanders will think they're running over the rocky road to Dublin.

Dundee insists that he can beat Leonard in a decision bout and will prove it. If Johnny delivers then the plaudits of the fight fans will be his. If the match proves little more than a waltz, then it will seem that filthy lucre was the big idea in arranging the ninth battle between the two. The one attractive feature of course, is the fact that the contest brings together two champions. When champions meet the public is always interested, although such bouts as a rule have never been thrillers. The meeting between Leonard and Kilbane, when the latter was featherweight champion, was most disappointing. Kilbane proved no match for Leonard. When Britton and Leonard met, Britton then being welter champ, the bout ended in a very unsatisfactory manner, Britton winning on a foul after a lame contest.

Eddie Collins, famous second sacker of the Chicago White Sox, is a rabid golf enthusiast. Collins plays at every opportunity, however, he refuses to let golf, his pleasure, interfere with baseball, his livelihood. Collins comes out flatly saying that no player can play 18 holes of golf in the morning and do his best work on the ball field that afternoon. Collins confines his golf to off days. Golf keeps the wrists supple, and the snap of the wrist is as essential to driving the baseball as the golf ball, in the opinion of Collins.

Iron Trade Review

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 13; Iron Trade Review today says:

Prospects of heavy buying of steel for construction purposes in Japan have been increased by the week's developments but actual business in volume awaits upon these needs being definitely ascertained which will require some lapse of time. The indications are that these demands will continue steadily over an extended period rather than take the form of a rush for material especially after some emergency requirements have been satisfied. It is probable also that the principal buying will be directed by the Japanese government. Considerable tonnage for Japanese account was placed in the week notably in merchant pipe, wire nails and galvanized sheets but much of this represented anticipated orders placed by merchants. Other Oriental countries stocks of steel have been stripped by the hurried calls from Japan and also are in the market for replacement tonnages. Inquiries for 50,000 tons of plates, structural shapes and bars, and 10,000 tons of sheets for Japan and the Orient now are before Chicago mills. It is believed at least 50,000 tons of sheets will be required before the present buying movement subsides. Included in orders placed at New York this week was one lot of 1,000,000 feet of building pipe, more than 5000 kegs of nails, about 1000 tons of wire rods and miscellaneous materials. Pittsburgh mills booked some important tonnage, especially nails. Large inquiries for galvanized sheets before British mills are reported by cable. The general steel situation shows up better. Producers are more convinced that with the bookings on hand and the increased new buying they can maintain their present rate of operation to the year end. Steel production in August hid up better than in pig iron. The daily rate of ingot output in August was 136,275 tons compared with 140,570 tons in July, a loss of 3.3 per cent. The drop of pig iron in August from the preceding month was 7.03 per cent. Pig iron buying again is showing a tendency to increase. Representative buyers are coming into the market.

Germany has abandoned her grotesque quotations in marks and now is naming iron and steel prices on the basis of the pound sterling. On this basis, these prices compare closely with the equivalent quotations of American producers in most lines and in some are higher. The first advance in Iron Trade Review composite of fourteen leading iron and steel products in four months is shown. This week's average is $44.72 against $44.68 one week ago. The rise is due to a slight stiffening in pig iron.

Dempsey Clearly Outclasses Firpo

Champion Sent To Knees In First Round But Comes Back Like Demon And Whips Giant

Polo Grounds, New York, Sept. 14.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, tonight clearly demonstrated to thousands of fight fans that his late bout with Tommy Gibbons gave him a polish he needed and that his recent training was taken with the idea of being ready to accept terrific punishment.

After being knocked to his knees and knocked through the ropes in the first round of his battle with Luis Firpo tonight, the champion came back with a tigerish ferocity that smothered his giant opponent with rights and lefts to the body and head and sent him to the mat four successive times before the challenger was saved by the bell.

Dempsey clearly outclassed his opponent in foot work, in science, in accuracy and the steam behind his punches amazed his friends who have seen him in all his recent battles.

For the first time in his ring career, covering 37 fights, the giant Argentine was felled by clean-cut punches which his great strength and bull-like physique could not withstand.

Dempsey tonight stands as the unquestioned champion of the world and where his next opponent is to come from, or when, is a matter for speculation in sporting circles.

ROUND ONE.

Dempsey missed a left and Firpo dug his right into his body, sending him to his knees. Dempsey floored Firpo with a left hook to the chin, but he was up after taking a count of one. When he got up, Dempsey sent him to the floor for the second time with a hard right, but he did not take a count. Dempsey knocked him over for the third time. When he got up, Jack chased him to the corner, knocking him down again. After being floored for the fourth time, Firpo knocked Dempsey through the ropes and Dempsey came back groggy. Firpo pounded Dempsey on the jaw with sledgehammer rights, bringing blood from his mouth. Firpo also was bleeding when he went to his corner.

ROUND TWO.

Firpo swung a right to Dempsey's back. Dempsey hooked a left to the chin. Jack drove both fists to the body and Firpo fell to the floor. Firpo, bleeding and groggy, staggered into the center of the ring. Dempsey hit him with a left hook to the chin and a right to the same spot, knocking him flat. He rolled over on his back with blood trickling from his mouth, remaining in this position while the referee swung the count over him. Dempsey, nervous, rushed over and helped pick up his fallen foe and then trotted to his corner. The bout ended 57 seconds after the start of the furious second round, when

Dempsey floored the challenger with punches to the body, and when he struggled to his feet knocked him out with a left hook and a right to the chin.

Radio Fans Receive First Fight Report. Complete returns of the fight were received shortly after 8 o'clock last night at the Radio Electric shop and were heard by a large crowd of fight fans who gathered around to tune in on the loud speaker. The reports were broadcast from Station W. L. A. G. at Minneapolis, relayed by wireless telegraph from New York.

RELIGION AS NEEDED. The soldiers marched to the church and halted in the square outside. One wing of the edifice was undergoing repairs, so there was room for only half the regiment.

"Sergeant," ordered the captain, "tell the men we don't want to go to church to fall out." A large number quickly availed themselves of the privilege.

"Now, sergeant," said the captain, "dismiss all the men who did not fall out and march the others to—they need it real." The Continent.

LEGION ELEVEN SHOWS UP WELL

Twenty-five Candidates Out, Start Scrimmage Soon.

With more than 25 candidates already out for practice, prospects for a successful Legion football team are brighter than they have been since Cleveland post-first placed a football team in the old Tom Waino Thompson, captain of the squad.

daily at Ludington park, and all persons who wish to come out for the team or who would relish the exercise of working with the team in practice are asked to show up on the field at any time after 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Iron Mountain, Stambaugh, Manistique and Ishpeming have already written in asking for dates. Several opportunities are offered for games out of town on Sept. 23, but all of these have been turned down for the reason that the team has not yet had time to work on signals and scrimmage formation.

Escanaba Player Is Hurt in Practice

Harold Tolon, member of the Escanaba High School football team, has the doubtful honor of being the first man on the squad to be placed on the "rip track" for repairs. Tolon will be out of practice for several weeks, due to a severely wrenched shoulder and a dislocated collar bone, received in practice Friday afternoon.

AUTO SHOW AT FAIR WILL BE BIGGEST EVER

WONDERFUL VALUES SHOWN IN EVERY PRICE CLASS.

With every available inch of floor space taken up and a large amount of overflow space contracted for, indications at this date point to a record breaking year for the Delta County Auto Show which has become a permanent feature of the annual Northern Michigan Fair.

"Every auto dealer and agency in Escanaba has taken space to show their latest models and we expect that Gladstone and Rapid River dealers will also have cars or accessory line on display," said Oscar Kraus, secretary of the Fair Association.

"Four-Wheel Brakes" Attract. Features of the show will be the new four-wheel brakes which have been incorporated in the new models of the Buick, Oakland, Rickenbacher and other cars.

The Buicks will be shown by the Escanaba Motor Company, the Oaklands by the Peninsula Oakland company, and the Rickenbacher by their nearest district agent. It is possible that some of the more expensive cars equipped with the hydraulic type of four wheel brakes will be on display.

The Portman Motor company, handling the complete Ford line, will show the new models of Ford and Lincoln cars. The Ford company is featuring a higher radiator, better body lines and improvements in the body work on the closed models.

The complete Chevrolet line will be displayed by the L. K. Edwards company. This line is one of the season's most popular sellers and embodies models of every type, open and closed. Engine refinements, new body lines and an all around price reduction are their three strong points this year.

Paige and Jewett models, both open and enclosed, will be shown by the Delta Motor company. The Jewett Special line, every model of which comes completely equipped in every detail, is one of the season's most notable jobs in motor car building.

Reo and Jordan cars will be shown by George MacKillean. The Reo Speed Wagon, a high speed commercial model, is being exploited this year as one of the most economical and efficient models for delivery, light trucking and long distance work.

The Hudson Coach and the Essex Coupe are the leading models of the DeGrande company. Both models have been establishing remarkable sales records during the last two years, and they are unquestionably among the leading values of today's auto market.

Durant Sport models will hold prominent position in the display of the Paulson Bros. Garage. Both open and closed types will be shown. The Star line, which is just this season, being introduced in this section, will also be shown by this concern.

In the line of tractors and trucks, it is expected that at least a dozen of each will be on display. The tractor and truck line will be shown out of doors and demonstrations will be carried on through all four days of the fair.

When the lights are dim and low and the voices are the same the pulses are not the same. man this year. Beef and speed will be the main assets of "Ding's" gladiators.

The "Saints" will present this season the heaviest team they have had in years. Always known as a scrappy outfit, the team put out by this school have heretofore suffered from lack of pounds. This shortage is not so apparent this year, and the local followers of the "Saints" are expected to turn out in full force this afternoon for the game.

Fans Set for First Football of the 1923 Season

Gladstone is set today for the opening football battle of the season which will be staged this afternoon at the ball park when Gladstone high meets the strong Stambaugh eleven.

The field has been put in shape for the fracas and with ideal football weather prevailing a record crowd of fans will be out back of the home team in their opening 1923 game.

Stambaugh is reported to have a fighting aggregation and it has the advantage of having every old man on its team back again this year.

The Gladstone men have been putting in stiff sessions at practice, however, and Coach Gordon is confident that the team that will make a showing for itself this afternoon.

Preliminaries To Main Bout Are Gory

New York, Sept. 14.—The preliminaries to the big fight saw some hard battling. By the time the third preliminary was over, the entire ring was spattered with blood. Charley Nashert, and his victim, Frank Koebele, contributed most of the gore in a four-round scrap, but Dan Bright, English heavyweight, who knocked out Lee Brown of Australia, in 53 seconds, and Mike Burke of Greenwich Village and the loser, Al Roberts, also did their share.

Bardley Madden, westside heavyweight, won the judges' verdict over Lee Gageon, of Harland in the fourth preliminary, a slow twelve-round affair.

POLICE CALLED TO QUELL RIOT FOR TICKET

Exciting Scenes Incident to Dempsey-Firpo Fight.

New York, Sept. 14.—(By The Associated Press)—Mounted police were called to quell a riot that broke out on the viaduct approaching the Polo Grounds scene of the Dempsey-Firpo fight when several thousand fans charged the ticket booth.

The trouble started on Eighth Avenue, two blocks from the viaduct to the grounds, where the main line began to form at dawn. At 4:15 p. m., a rumor spread that the tickets had arrived and the restless stands began rioting. The line was shattered in the twinkling of an eye as soon a solid block of people was massed around the wagon supposed to be bearing the tickets.

Mounted police charged, driving their horses into the crowd, and blue coats wielded their clubs in a frantic attempt to form a line.

Last Week First. When some semblance of order had been restored, those who had stood at the head of the line were at the foot. Among the unfortunate was the woman who was the first to take a place in the line.

She and thousands of others were battered and bruised in this and ensuing riots. When the pasteboards finally arrived, the crowd again broke and the police were powerless to withstand it. The pressure around the wagon became so great that it began to totter and it was moved another block with thousands running after it, pulling coat tails and pummeling one another.

Some Were Lucky. The ticket vender grasped handful of bills here and passed back a ticket there and the payoff was lucky if his hand was found in the melee.

Hundreds of men lost hats, had their clothing torn to shreds, lost their jewelry and money and were battered and bruised before they gave up the struggle and left for home. Others fought on moving with the wagon each time it moved.

Second Wagon Appears. Then a second wagon was rigged up on top of Coogan's Bluff but before a taxicab, escorted by mounted police, could arrive, the sides were battered down. When the ticket seller came his taxicab was stormed and the mounted police were forced to charge and recharge.

The ticket man, fearing for his bag of "duckets" ran into the restaurant where several hundred had been enjoying dinner and watching the spectacle outside. Behind him came a stream of pursuers, smashing the doors and upsetting tables.

For five minutes they battled the police and those inside formed a line and began to emerge with tickets dispensed from the restaurant tashier's stand.

BUCKEYE PLAYS NEGAUNEE CITY TEAM SUNDAY

While interest now is largely turning to football, still there are many who are anxious to see the Buckeye team in action against the Negaunee city team at the local ball park Sunday afternoon, in what appears to be the last game of the season.

Negaunee lost two games here on Labor Day and the players, not being satisfied with the result of the games then, asked for a return game. The result will be watched with interest.

Vanderwagte may pitch against the visitors although Loy Gervais will also be available. Negaunee has three pitchers available for duty. Anderson, Peterson and Goldworthy and it is expected that the last named will start as he was the best pitcher on the team able to beat the local sturging youngsters down in the last encounter.

Win or lose, there is every reason to be proud of its record this year, and Gladstone next year could not be better represented than through these same players. They have a good record and the city has every reason to be proud of its team, as it is made up of home players.

S. FORESTER WRITES REPLY TO RESOLUTION

Manistique Club Praised For Interest Shown

Believing that the reconstruction of Schoolcraft county forests should be brought about by the state and federal action, the Manistique Civic Club passed a resolution on this subject some time ago, a copy of which was sent to the United States Forest Service at Washington. The secretary of the local organization received yesterday that a reply had been received, written by E. S. Forester, assistant U. S. Forester. The letter commends the club's interest in the forestry problem, and outlines what has been accomplished in the way of reforestation, with special reference made to Schoolcraft county.

Mr. Clapp writes: "I am very glad to receive a copy of the resolutions passed by your club. It is extremely gratifying to such an organization as the Forest Service, the purpose of which is to aid in the development of forestry in the United States, to know of the interest of such organizations as yours in this movement."

Forest Buy Lands. One of the questions which arises relates to the acquisition of lands for reforestation in Schoolcraft county and the upper peninsula of Michigan. Under a law under which the United States may purchase lands for forest purposes is found in Act of March 1, 1911 (36 Stat. 911), commonly referred to as the Weeks Law. This law authorizes the acquisition of lands for the purpose of con-

SIX CRIMINAL CASES LISTED ON CALENDAR

Busy Week Anticipated in Schoolcraft County Court

Twenty-five cases are listed on the calendar for the September term of court in Schoolcraft county, indicating that this month's term of circuit court will be a busy one at Manistique. This session will also be a notable one from another standpoint, in that women jurors appear on the jury panel, and may be chosen for the first time to serve in Schoolcraft county circuit court.

On the completed calendar are listed six criminal cases, three of which are for violation of the liquor laws. Issues of fact and chancery cases make up the rest of the total.

Following are the criminal cases listed for trial before Judge Feed:

People vs. Donas Gertin, violation of the liquor laws.

People vs. Oscar Boyce, desertion.

People vs. Felix Brassier, desertion.

People vs. Walter Stigall, rape.

People vs. Burton J. Fletcher, violation of the liquor laws.

The replevin suit of Robert Rubin and A. J. Smith is to be taken up again as one of the issues of fact for jury cases. Another case in that list is the appeal of Joseph Stier vs. Nicholas Stoker.

There are nine cases of fact issues for the court, and six chancery cases. Included in the latter are suits involving the Cloverleaf Oil company, Manistique Handicraft company, and Northern Michigan Land company. In the entire list there is but one divorce case.

Because of the large amount of work to be done during the court session, it is improbable that Judge Feed will call an adjournment on Manistique Day of the Schoolcraft county fair, as has been the custom when court was held during the fair week.

ANNOUNCE CUT IN RAIL FARE FOR FAIR WEEK

Round Trip Tickets to the Schoolcraft county fair at Manistique will be purchasable at one and one-half times the price of a one-way fare.

Round trip tickets to the Schoolcraft county fair at Manistique will be purchasable at one and one-half times the price of a one-way fare. It was announced this week by J. H. McLellan, secretary of the fair association. These special rates for fair week will apply at all points on the Soo Line between the Soo and Gladstone, and will mean a saving of 25 per cent to those who attend the fair from out of town.

Another special arrangement made by the Soo Line will be of benefit to exhibitors. The railroad has agreed to carry all exhibits to the fair free of charge from all points along the line, one way only.

Another change recently made allows the exhibiting of untested cattle at the fair, though such cattle will be isolated.

Owing to the cow testing program which the state had intended carrying on in this section an order was promulgated in the winter that untested cattle would not be admitted at county fairs. This ruling being authoritative, the fair board ordered a copy of it published in the premium list.

Owing, however to the slow movement in various parts of the state, the department has reversed its decision and the directors of the fair announced that untested cattle may be exhibited in the same building with tested animals providing such exhibits are separated by having a vacant stall between.

ARREST OF TWO YOUTHS CLEARS UP BURGLARIES

Officers Solve Mystery of Thefts; Boys Bound to Circuit Court

The mystery of a series of burglaries on which the police have been working for some time, was cleared up late Thursday in the arrest of Tony Louis, 17 years old, and Silvey C. Smith, who confessed to being the leaders in a gang of boy bandits.

Both young men, when arraigned in justice court, waived examination and were bound over to circuit court under bonds of $400 each. Louis furnished bail and was released but Smith is being held in jail.

The clearing up of thefts and burglaries which have been reported from time to time over a period of some months, followed some clever work on the part of the Gladstone police, particularly Officer Jerry LeClair, who devoted the greater part of his life off duty to working on the case.

Suspicion was first directed to the two boys when the nature of the loot taken and the manner in which the burglaries were performed, pointed to the work of youthful amateurs.

Acting on that suspicion, Officer Jerry LeClair, in plain clothes went on a fishing trip across the bay a week ago Sunday, where the boys were known to have a shack. Officer LeClair visited the place under pretense of looking for a drink and from evidence obtained at that time, one of the boys was held for questioning.

Attempts Get-Away. His story implicated Smith. A warrant was sworn out for Smith's arrest but the youth gave the officers a chase before he was finally overtaken by Officer Lindahl. Two shots were fired at the boy by Louis Danielson, Soo Line detective, who was guarding the pole yards, before attempting to make his getaway from the city.

His confession was followed by a warrant for the arrest of Louis who was taken late Thursday by Officer Kellerson on the coal docks.

The warrant names the burglary at the Frank Bergan home, which both boys admitted but their confessions cover a series of burglaries extending over some period of time and covering everything from axes, knives, clocks and food to staves.

A part of the loot was recovered by Officer LeClair, back of the shack where a hiding place had been hollowed out of a knoll and covered with boards and brush to represent a growth of underbrush. Another hiding place is known to exist and it is expected will be discovered soon.

On Parole. Louis, who is 17 years of age, is on parole under charge of probate court. Smith is 19 years old.

Other boys are known to have associated with the two youthful burglars as members of the gang who occupied the shack but it is believed that only Smith and Louis are responsible for the looting.

WELFARE CLUB HOLDS TAG DAY DRIVE TODAY

Be Ready with Contribution When You Meet a Camp Fire Girl

Do not walk out without a donation in your pocket this morning.

Today is tag day in Gladstone and before you go very far a Camp Fire girl is going to tag you for your contribution to the annual fund campaign of the Gladstone Child's Welfare Club.

Tagging will begin this morning at 8 o'clock and will continue throughout the day and early evening. The campaign will be conducted by the Camp Fire girls whose assistance aided in making the last year's drive so decided a success.

The girls will be stationed in various parts of the city, various districts being assigned to each girl in order that everyone may be reached. No set amount is asked for the tag. Everyone is asked to give according to his needs and as his generosity dictates.

The worthiness of the purpose for which the drive is being conducted is too well known to Gladstone to need any elaboration.

The furnishing of milk for school children who are in need of that nourishment during the school hours, the supplying of clothing, glasses, medical aid and assistance of every kind to those in need, are only a few of the Welfare Club's usual duties. While Gladstone people have a general idea of the vast amount of good being done by this organization, the scope of its activities can be correctly estimated only by those who have been directly benefited.

Over $200. The fund last year reached the $200 mark and the generosity and appreciation of the people of Gladstone will without doubt make it as successful year.

STYLE SHOW IS ATTRACTIVE TO BIG CROWD

One of the most successful and attractive fall openings ever held in Gladstone was that of last evening when an autumn style show, showing the latest in men, women's and children's wear, was conducted at the Henry Rosenblum department store.

The store, decorated for the occasion in autumn colors, with gay leaves and late autumn wild flowers predominating in the decorative scheme presented a striking appearance. The show windows, with their delightful displays, attracting considerable attention.

The new lines in fall and winter wear were displayed on live models and the beauty of the garments was seen to advantage by the people who crowded the store to witness the exposition. Gunnar Johanson and his orchestra furnished music during the show and added considerably to the enjoyment of the affair.

The style show, beginning a fall opening week, was from every standpoint a well arranged and attractive affair and much credit goes to Mr. Rosenblum, to Manager Haley and to members of the staff who so ably assisted in perfecting arrangements.

MY FIRST DOLLAR

PHIL HUPY.

Gladstone's well known justice of the peace, Phil Hupy, was also a newsboy in the early days when he was out after his first money.

Mr. Hupy lived at Hermansville at that time. He was about ten years old. He worked a week for it.

"My first dollar," said Mr. Hupy, was earned selling papers. I remember it was an old weekly paper, called the "Illustrated Record." I believe and I made from two to three cents on each paper. I'd earn a dollar in about a week."

Mr. Hupy didn't save his first dollar for the Fourth of July or a Shetland pony.

"I used it to buy clothes," he concluded. "There was a big family of us then, and that dollar went where it was needed the most."

Two Bears Seen In Manistique

The spectacle of two bears going down Cedar street caused but a mild sensation to Manistique people on Thursday. Both of the bruisers were black, one of them full grown.

The bears went down the street strapped to the back of a roadster, bagged by a wary hunter, who was conveying them to his home by auto.

"I am sending a copy of your resolution and of this letter to the Director of the Station, and it is quite possible that he may be able to get in touch with a representative of your organization in the near future in order to discuss the most effective ways for bringing about the action which we all favor."

Urge Direct Action. The wording of the resolution passed at Manistique is as follows:

WHEREAS, the Manistique Civic Club recognizes the need of rebuilding the forests of Schoolcraft County and of the Upper Peninsula of Michigan for their continued prosperity and wealth, and

WHEREAS, it is believed that this reconstruction may best be brought about by the direct action of the State and Federal governments, BE IT RESOLVED, THEREFORE,

That it is the sense of the Manistique Civic Club that the Conservation Commission of the State of Michigan and the United States Forest Service through appropriate legislative measures, be urged to engage in active practice of forestry in Schoolcraft County and in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan and that they make use of State owned lands in this locality for forestry purposes and further, that they acquire lands for reforestation uses.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Secretary of this Club send copies of this resolution to the United States Senators from Michigan, to the Congressional Representatives of the Eleventh and Twelfth Congressional Districts, to the State Senators of the 20th, thirty-first and thirty-second districts, and to all of the State Representatives from the Upper Peninsula as well as to the members of the Conservation Commission of this State.

Reports on the big Dempsey-Firpo battle last night at the Polo Grounds, New York, were received here round by round by radio owners, who were among the first to get returns on the fight. Gladstone radio fans were given a treat on Thursday evening, too, when they heard Miss Peggy Wood, star of "The Clinging Vine," which is playing in Chicago. Miss Wood sang the title song in her play. The broadcasting was from the Drake hotel.

THE ROAD SYSTEM OF MICHIGAN

This is a good time of year for the taxpayers of Michigan, who have been accustomed to hearing how much money has been paid for the new road system of Michigan, and how good it is and how bad it is, to take a look at their new possessions, and learn what has been accomplished by the construction of the roads already in service. It will be a good thing for Michigan people who are observant to take some extended trips over these roads and into the heart of the state, because there is much food for thought on the development of the state and its industries to be gleaned therefrom.

These suggestions are not addressed to that class of road travelers who perch themselves behind a steering wheel and drive lickety-split in the wild ambition to go here and there in the shortest possible time. They are directed rather to the people who can take their time to see things, who can reason from cause and effect, who like to study the changing moods and characteristics of their fellow citizens and can reason out, in advance, the results of causes now operating.

Taken as a whole, and viewed in the light of its cost, which to state and counties must now be something over 60 millions of dollars, no one can contemplate the road system of Michigan today without feeling that it is worth all it cost. It is true that there have been mistakes and pieces of bad work, but these do not derogate from the excellence of the system as a whole. To the traveler who looks for velvety surfaces there may be an occasional ground for disappointment. But as a system of roads, calculated to carry the burdens of travel and commerce, they are the best value that Michigan could get for the money. They are serving their purposes well, and by this we mean the rather limited purposes even better.

Ten years ago the average citizen of Michigan who thought of a vacation had to be well off, and his plans led him to Atlantic City, the Maine coast, or the Adirondacks. Today all of Michigan is reaching into its forests, to which the Adirondacks do not compare, and to the shores of its inland lakes. Talk about housing construction in Michigan. Do the people of this state appreciate that there are 75,000 of their number, at the very least, who have found it within their means to have lakeside cottages worth from $500 upward, and who can take a second-hand silver and get to them with ease? Do they appreciate that the forests and the wild lands are better known today to a half million people in Michigan than they were to less than a thousand ten years ago? Do they appreciate that these roads have been carried through waste lands, which were never dreamed of as localities for settlement, farms are springing up on their edges, to be followed by others more remote? We have seen areas in Michigan that were stumped last year that are growing clover and beans this year. This is due to the road system and more of it come without organization and without colonization.

The road system of Michigan is bringing tens of thousands of acres of land under cultivation every year, because people can get to the land. They are furnishing natural recreation to tens of thousands of people. Of every ten motor cars one sees on the roads north of the line of Livingston county, seven carry camp equipment at this time of the year. The people who get these advantages are getting better natured toward each other and toward their state. They will be better citizens for it, and the state the better for that.

So far, despite drawbacks, Michigan's investment in its road system has been worth the money.

SONG ON EVERY COURT

Our Democratic friends tell us that we are suffering from an industrial depression because we did not join the league of nations, and therefore, Europe cannot buy our goods. In the first place—

The Piffle Hook

I'm lazy! My easy chair at the office has two cushions and my feather bed has four down pillows. I don't wear stiff collars because it's too much work putting them on. I'll never be rich because I don't think enough of money to chase it very enthusiastically. I like to sleep and eat and loaf. In the summer time I loaf in the shade. In the winter time I loaf alongside a steaming radiator. People call me "Laxy," in a reproachful tone of voice. They think they're kidding me. They're kidding themselves.

Work is one thing which cannot be escaped. It is the inexorable law of nature that he who will not work shall not eat. Captain John Smith was staging nothing new when he pulled that gag on the later colonists in his band. I work that I may secure my uddly ham and eggs and an occasional clean shirt. Beyond that, nothing.

Laziness has been the inspiration for all of our labor-saving devices. A pump tender in an English coal pit devised a system of strings which would turn the valves for him while he played marbles. He gave us the valve mechanism which made steam engines practical. Another man was too lazy to shovel dirt, whether he had to do it himself or whether he became fatigued watching someone else shoveling. He invented the steam shovel. I'm lazy too, and because column writing is a lot of work, I send you this, in the hope that you are lazy too and that you will be afforded an opportunity to loaf a bit. I'm no good at mechanics so I just invented this excuse for you.

NEVERSWEAT

We invented this inverted pyramid hanger just because it was such a good "filler."

"A WIFE'S STORY"

BY JANE PHELPS.

A PLAN TO REDUCE LIVING EXPENSES.

Chapter VII.
 I brooded over Paul's refusal to economize after declaring it necessary. He had said we mustn't advertise we were broke. Had that been a manner of speech, or was it true? Were we broke? If so what would he do? Finish his book, get it to the publisher. That was the evident thing to do. But—
 To be honest I had begun to doubt the book would ever be finished; to doubt, if it were, that it would be accepted. Paul had been so long writing it, and fashions in books changed almost as fast as fashions in clothes. I thought of sending the maid away, but Paul never would allow it, and I wasn't strong enough to do all the work and care for the baby. If only he would let me join him in his rooms. I could manage the work there, and by planning, there would be room enough for us all. People would not think it strange that I went into the city to live. I would propose it to him, and if he objected, urge him to give up the rooms and write at home.
 Broke! Where had $10,000 gone?
 As I have said I never had had much to do with finances before my marriage, knew nothing of the value of money. Ten thousand dollars had seemed an inexhaustible fortune to me, as it had to mother. I possessed good clothes, better than I ever had worn; we lived comfortably. But I had not handled the money, and it seemed impossible that we could have spent a quarter of that amount.
 Our car was an inexpensive one, and we had a garage on the place, so even that would account without comment. I was very careful to have them tasty, daintily served, and nourishing.

 One morning he seemed in better humor than for several weeks. I once again approached the subject of retrenchment, this time determined to make him talk to me. I asked how much we had left of the $10,000.
 "Mighty little," he replied with a grimace.
 "Why not give up the house, let us come in and live in the apartment with you?" I asked. "I am sure I could manage to make you comfortable. I could let the maid go, we could sell the car, and no one would make any comment."
 "Don't talk nonsense," he replied shortly. "A lot of work I could do with a crying baby around."
 "You know the baby seldom cries!" I said indignantly. "Joan is a very good child. But if you won't do that, give up the apartment, and write at home. I'll turn the guest room into a study for you. It will be more quiet than your studio, and perhaps you could work even better. If we are so in need of money, you will have to hurry to finish it—get it to a publisher."
 I tried to keep the doubt of his success out of my voice, to throw a little of the old trust and belief in him and his work into it. Then I waited tremblingly for his answer.

Lumber Market Grows Stronger

The lumber market continues to develop activity and strength, says the American Lumberman, Chicago. Construction in most cities and larger communities remains voluminous, and retail yards are busy moving out material and flaring bills on many projects contemplated for this fall. Their stocks having been worked down to a low level, this activity necessitates their frequent entrance into the market for material. Many dealers, convinced of a good fall business and that lumber prices will recede no further, have lately bought for stock purposes, but the majority still hesitate to commit themselves ahead. There are, however, indications that the hand-to-mouth policy is being abandoned and that trade will shortly be transacted with greater freedom.

Country trade has as yet shown no notable expansion, but yards in the agricultural sections regard the outlook as being good for fall trade. Farmers have to a large extent come to realize that this season's decline in wheat prices will have little if any effect on their incomes in view of the great crops they have harvested and the good prices obtained for other products. There has been very little building or repair work in the agricultural districts of the middle West during the last four or five years. Needs for such have meanwhile accumulated, and when the farmers finally decide that they can afford to undertake this work, there is bound to develop a lively trade in building materials at the country yards.

Southern pine mills are now booking orders equaling their production. Stocks in many yards and shed items are being depleted as a result of the recent increase in retail demand. Few mills have shown a 50 percent of normal supply or anything like a normal assortment, with the result that dealers find it harder to place orders, especially for badly mixed cars. Prices are strengthening, this week being $1 to $2 above those prevailing a fortnight ago. The Japanese disaster is certain to result in a great volume of export business for the west Coast mills, which will absorb a large part of the production of inland as well as tidewater mills. It is still a question just when Japan will begin buying for reconstruction purposes, but until more definite information is received, the Douglas fir mills will sell with utmost caution. Meanwhile they are producing at a high rate, and sales are running as they seem to care to have them. They are at least making little pressure for new business, and are maintaining prices rigidly. Donations of approximately ten million feet of west Coast lumber for Japan have been announced. The hardwood market remains active, with automobile interests the leading customers, but with most consuming industries buying on a fair scale. Dry hardwood stocks are running very low, and prices are strengthening practically throughout the list.

PEDAL EASILY MANIPULATED

There is one improvement in Dodge Brothers motor cars which prospects pass over without much comment when it is being explained to them, but which they all speak of with real enthusiasm after they have driven them according to Kutz Bros. This is the remarkable ease with which the clutch lever is now controlled, due to a change in leverage between the foot pedal and clutch proper.

"Not having had to exert themselves unduly in manipulating the clutch pedal on Dodge Brothers cars of past years, owners and visitors do not seem greatly excited over this apparently unimportant change," said the dealer. "However, once they get in traffic and find how easy it is to let the clutch in and out, without tiring the foot in the least, they understand and appreciate what has been done."
