By DAVID LAWRENCE. (Copyright, 1923, by The Escanaba Press) Washington, Dec. 5.—Regular republicans from Wisconsin have sent word to President Coolidge that the only way to cure the insurrection which has broken out in the house of representatives is to throw the support of the administration to their wing of the republican party in the Badger state.

"King of Bootleggers" Offers Prosecutor $100,000 Bribe

Kessler and Ten Pals Sentenced to Two Years.

(By The Associated Press.) New York, Dec. 5.—A bribe of $100,000 was offered prosecutors if they would "lay off" the case against Emanuel H. "Mannie" Kessler, "king of the bootleggers," it was announced tonight by Major John Holly Clark, assistant United States attorney, who obtained a conviction that today brought a sentence of two years in prison and payment of a $10,000 fine for Kessler.

Kessler was sentenced to two years on each of the following charges: Conspiring to defraud the government of customs duties and internal revenue taxes; conspiring to violate the prohibition law and for unlawfully removing liquor from a bonded warehouse. The court, however, ruled that the sentences run concurrently.

Bribery Seems General. Major Clark said the bribe offer was not made directly by the Kessler crowd but through a lawyer friend. He did not say whether he would take action against the alleged briber.

Assistant Federal Attorney Falk, who assisted Major Clark in preparation and trial of the case, said that efforts also had been made to bribe him to "throw the case."

Other Conspirators. Kessler, Morris Sweetwood, his alleged partner, Morris M. Beecher, attorney for several bonding companies, and Murray E. Birnbaum, who owned a warehouse where some of the liquor which was said to have been illegally withdrawn, was found, were sentenced to concurrent terms of two years each for conspiring to violate three counts of the prohibition laws; conspiring to defraud the government of customs and internal revenue taxes; and unlawfully removing the liquor from a bonded warehouse. They also were fined $10,000 each.

Seven others found guilty were sentenced to varying terms of from thirty days to one year. "Poisoned" Atmosphere. When Justice Winslow refused stays of execution and denied motion to admit the convicted men to bail pending appeal, counsel for the convicted men appeared before Circuit Judges Rogers, Manton and Mayer and applied for a writ of error and admission of the convicted men to bail. Counsel maintained that two of the counts on which the convictions had been obtained were invalid and that improper testimony had been heard in connection with the third. One lawyer insisted that the case was full of glaring suspicion and that the atmosphere of the courtroom had been "poisoned."

United States Attorney Hayward, opposing the admission of Kessler and Sweetwood to bail, spoke of them as the biggest bootleggers in the country, who had a political organization which continued its operations not only since their arrest but during the trial. He said that if they were admitted to bail it would be doubtful whether the government would be able to get them again, to serve their punishment.

Judge Rogers said he would consult his associates in the matter of bail.

FREE RIDERS INVITED TO AID THE POOR. (By The Associated Press.) The money will be used by the Salvation Army to provide Christmas boxes for the poor.

Mr. Nardi recently was convicted of operating a bus line without a permit from the public utilities commission, but upon advice of his attorney, Martins McDonough, of Iron River, who will appeal the case to higher courts, Nardi continued to operate, offering Marquette county patrons free rides.

HOLD MORCOM FOR KILLING

Marquette Man Convicted of Negligent Homicide. (By The Associated Press.) Marquette, Mich., Dec. 5.—Richard Morcom, of Ishpeming, was found guilty of negligent homicide in circuit court here this afternoon, arising from the death of six weeks' old Gertrude Wilson, of Gwinn, who was struck by Morcom's automobile several weeks ago. The jury deliberated three and one half hours.

Morcom was charged with involuntarily manslaughter growing out of the death of Gertrude Wilson. He drove a Chevrolet which struck a baby carriage wheeled by Mrs. Wilson, in which the infant was riding. The accident occurred Sunday, October 14, while Mrs. Wilson and members of her family were walking to the postoffice in Gwinn.

Morcom, in company with his intended brother-in-law and three Italians, admitted to have taken three drinks of grape wine, known as "dago red," but which the Italians claimed "would not hurt" him. He denied, however, that he was intoxicated until after the accident occurred.

Prosecution witnesses testified that Morcom's car was swerving down the road and that his driving was reckless. Throughout the case, which occupied the greater part of two days, the child's mother and the intended bride of the defendant were in the court room and both showed remorse, several times weeping. It was said by the defendant's counsel that had it not been for the charge brought against him, Morcom would have been married before court convened.

Probing Conduct Of Policemen In A Recent Raid

(By The Associated Press.) Detroit, Dec. 5.—Judge William M. Houston, in recorder's court, today, ordered an investigation to determine the identity of a Canfield station policeman, who, following a raid on a near-by saloon at Kirby and Grand avenues, last night, is alleged to have slugged and arrested Adolphus Allor, an onlooker.

Allor was brought before Judge Heston on a drunk charge, but the case was dismissed after the arrest and that he was not under the influence of liquor. A complaint for unlawful arrest will be lodged against the policeman after his identity is established. Allor's attorney said.

Craig Considers Coolidge Action As Being Pardon

(By The Associated Press.) New York, Dec. 5.—Comptroller Charles L. Craig announced tonight that he considered the documents signed today by President Coolidge a "pardon" from his sentence to sixty days in jail for contempt of court, which was imposed by Federal Judge Mayer in connection with Brooklyn Rapid Transit receivership proceedings. The comptroller said he would not decide whether to accept or reject the "pardon" until he had received an official copy of the document.

"PADLOCK LAW" INVOKED HERE

Judge Flannigan Closes Sheridan Road Place Temporarily. (By The Associated Press.) Marquette, Mich., Dec. 5.—Judge Richard C. Flannigan this afternoon issued a preliminary injunction against the owner of an Escanaba property under the "padlock law." The injunction sought by F. J. Riley, city attorney, and John Tolan, chief of police, was not contested.

It was said here that the injunction was requested following the second conviction of the occupant of the building for violation of the liquor law and that the man is now serving sentence, passed by Judge Clarence W. Sessions in federal court, in the Detroit house of correction.

The place referred to in the above is the old Frank Mulo place on Sheridan road, the building being located at 1629, and being owned by Louis Groinovich. As explained in yesterday's Daily Press, this is the first time the padlock law has been invoked in this city, and the overwhelming nature of the evidence may be judged from the fact that Judge Flannigan granted a temporary injunction. It is indicated that similar action will be asked of the court at the January term in this city. The law, when enforced, closes such places for all purposes for a period of one year and is considered one of the most drastic methods of fighting the liquor violation laws.

STILLMAN ASKS REVERSAL OF COURT RULING

(By The Associated Press.) New York, Dec. 5.—James A. Stillman made another effort today to overthrow supreme court decisions denying him a divorce and upholding the legitimacy of Baby Guy Stillman. The court reserved decision after hearing four hours' argument.

His attorneys appeared before the appellate division of the supreme court in Brooklyn and argued that the decisions, rendered by Supreme Court Justice Morschauser on recommendation of a referee, were rendered after letters alleged to have been written by Mrs. Stillman to Fred Beauvais, Indian guide corespondent, were thrown out of the record.

Former Governor Nathan L. Miller, chief counsel for the banker, centered his attack on the admissibility of these letters as evidence, declaring that they were "the backbone of the case." He maintained that their authenticity had been proved in divers ways and that the referee had erred in ruling them out.

Isaac Mills, counsel for Mrs. Stillman, denied the letters had been written by Beauvais, Mr. Miller, a short time before, had admitted that the banker's attorneys had paid the Indian guide $15,000 for several of the letters.

FUTURE QUEEN?

Lady Phyllis King, daughter of the Earl of Lovelace, is considered one of the few eligibles for the hand of the Prince of Wales, still left in England. And London society says his royal highness really takes her seriously.

Wife Wins Insurance. A nation wide search made by insurance companies after the disappearance of Sallstad failed to locate him. Sallstad was then brought by his wife, who since has remarried, to reflect insurance amounting to $62,000. Her action was successful in the lower federal court, when a jury returned a verdict holding that Sallstad had died in the fire. An appeal is now pending.

Insurance companies have contended Sallstad placed a cadaver in the cottage and intentionally set fire to it, leaving with his stenographer with whom, the companies held, he had become infatuated.

ALERT OFFICER CALLS FOR HELP AND FIGHT'S ON

FIVE MEN CAPTURED AND THREE MAKE THEIR ESCAPE.

(By The Associated Press.) Detroit, Dec. 5.—The close parking of two automobiles, filled with men, in Hamtramck early today resulted in the capture of five men suspected of having robbed the clothing store of Leo Kircher, of $7,000 worth of overcoats and suits, and the escape of three other members of the gang amid a fusillade of shots from a pursuing policeman.

Suspicious Cop. Patrolman Emil Kukler, of Hamtramck, patrolling his beat noticed the two cars and the men gathered around them and grew suspicious and called the station for assistance. Five other officers were sent to aid him and when the six approached the two cars, the drivers started the automobiles. The officers were quick to close in on the first car and arrested five men seated therein.

Three Escape. The other automobile containing three men sped away, pursued by Kukler and two other officers in a police flivver. Patrolman Kukler fired his revolver at the fleeing car more than 30 times and the men in the car returned the fire. After a short pursuit, the suspected robbers abandoned their automobile and ran down an alley and disappeared.

In the automobile of the men arrested and the abandoned machine was found the entire loot taken from the Kircher store. The police said the automobiles were stolen.

The five men, who gave Detroit addresses, were charged with breaking and entering.

PRICE FIXING NOT DISPROVEN

Expert Analyzes Chart in Maple Flooring Case.

(By The Associated Press.) Grand Rapids, Mich., Dec. 5.—The name of Jack Dempsey, champion heavyweight boxer, was heard in the federal court today, and will appear in the official record of the dissolution hearing.

Mr. Arnold, a government witness, used the name in his explanation of the law which says, in brief, that two objects of different weights, moving at the same rate of speed, do not have the same momentum.

"Your honor, applying this law, if Jack Dempsey appeared in the ring with a featherweight, he would be defeated. The lighter man's blows would have the same effect as Dempsey's, and, striking oftener, he would wear Dempsey down."

The charts introduced were the work of Grant Keehn and Edward B. Gordon of New York City, economic statisticians, and were supplemented by their depositions and also depositions by Professor Homer B. Vandervebe and Professor Albert Hettinger, Jr., Harvard economists.

Mr. Arnold declared that in his opinion the charts did not prove that there had not been price fixation, but on the other hand, he asserted that such charts could not be used to show that there had been price fixation.

"I find from my study of the charts that many important features have been left out," said Mr. Arnold. "In the charts, which purport to show that the price of the product has always been in harmony with the law of supply and demand, I find that there has not been a sufficient attempt to analyze the many factors back of this law."

Harvard Men's Opinions. The depositions of the two Harvard men, when read, said that if the facts presented in the charts were true, they did not believe there had been a price fixation.

Mr. Arnold was subjected to a stiff cross-examination by Mr. Johnson, chief counsel for the defense.

"As an expert economist and statistician, Mr. Arnold, you no doubt have heard of the work of Professor Vandervebe of Harvard University," said Mr. Johnson.

"I never heard of him."

"Then perhaps you have heard of Professor Hettinger?"

"No, I can't say that I have."

Head of Harvard. "You have no doubt heard of his work done along this line at Harvard?"

"Yes, I have heard of the school."

"Do you know anything of its work?"

"Very little."

Mr. Johnson in his cross-examination endeavored to bring out the fact that the charts and depositions offered by the association do prove that there has been no price fixation, in spite of Mr. Arnold's testimony to the contrary.

In a conference of the court's attorneys late today the government advised that it had more witnesses to introduce. The defense has rested.

It is expected that arguments will start sometime tomorrow morning and that the hearing will be at an end by evening.

Jack Dempsey Used To Make Court Point

(By The Associated Press.) Grand Rapids, Mich., Dec. 5.—The name of Jack Dempsey, champion heavyweight boxer, was heard in the federal court today, and will appear in the official record of the dissolution hearing.

MEASURE FOR FULL QUOTA TO BE SMOTHERED

Four Bills Offered In Reapportionment Session.

(By The Associated Press.) Lansing, Mich., Dec. 5.—Out-state members were jubilant over developments in the special reapportionment session of the legislature today. They had the tentative word of a majority of the members of the both senate and house reapportionment committees that no measure giving Wayne its full quota will be reported out. In the upper branch the committee has virtually decided to send out a measure offering Wayne seven members. The Detroit delegation is understood to have agreed to support such a measure. The out-staters declare that the enactment of a measure giving Wayne seven senators will be equivalent to none at all. Wayne must get either nine or ten senators, they assert, to comply strictly with the constitution, and no measure that generous can be passed. If the seven members bill is adopted, they argue, it will be held unconstitutional and the reapportionment will revert to its present basis.

More Complex Situation. In the house the situation is slightly more complex, but the members from out-state believe the claims of the Wayne delegation that it will get 25, or anything like that number. The Wayne bill, prepared by Representative Vincent P. Dacey, was submitted today by Representative Charles Culver. It suggests 25 for Wayne. Three other measures were offered. One by Representative Fred F. McEachron, of Ottawa, provided 20 for Wayne. Representative David Butler, of LaPeer, duplicated the bill he sponsored in the regular session, which provides that the legislature reaffirm the present reapportionment. Representative Wm. O. Lee, of St. Clair, presented a senate bill in the house suggesting six for Wayne, which McEachron bill, which out-staters assert is about the type of measure that will be passed, if any, would give Kent 5, Genesee 3, Saginaw 2, Bay, Berrien, Calhoun, Houghton, Ingham, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lenawee, Marquette, Muskegon, Oakland, Ottawa, St. Clair and Washtenaw 2 each, one each for the 29 counties clearly entitled to single representation, gives Livingston single representation because it is surrounded by counties having a moiety and suggests the following combinations of representative districts: Other Combinations Suggested. Newayago and Oceana; Mecosta and Oceaia; Midland, Gladwin and Clare; Westford, Missaukee and Lake; Arenac, Losco, Ogemaw and Alcona; Antrim, Leelanau, Benzie and Kalamazoo; Cheboygan, Otsego, Crawford and Roscommon; Alpena, Presque Isle and Montmorency; Charlevoix and Emmet; Alger, Schoolcraft, Mackinac and Luce; Ontonagon, Baraga and Keweenaw.

Representative Culver's bill differed from the McEachron measure only in that it would give Lenawee, Washtenaw, Ottawa and Marquette, one instead of two members and would link Livingston with a neighboring county and deprive it of single representation, making the extra five for Wayne.

The house committee secured an opinion from Attorney General Andrew B. Dougherty today which held that counties having a ratio and is mostly are not necessarily entitled to two representatives. The Wayne members saw in this, support of the Culver bill.

Gets Answer Today. Tomorrow will give him his answer from the country, for the results of 155 out of the 276 constituencies to be polled will be known tomorrow night and should suffice to give an indication of how the electorate is going. They are chiefly the great London and provincial boroughs, but a sufficient sprinkling of country results will be announced tomorrow night to show the trend of the rural vote. Virtually the complete results will be known Friday night.

There are so many features differentiating this contest from previous elections, and so many interests involved, that more than ever has the excitement to reach the outcome to the last minute. Exceptional methods have been arranged for displaying the figures in many prominent places.

Leap in the Dark. No general election of recent years has been such a leap in the dark. Mr. Winston Churchill has ventured the prediction that if protection is defeated at this election it will not be proposed again for a whole generation.

House Officers Re-elected. Before adjourning the house re-elected its regular officers, including William Tyler Page, clerk and adopted the joint resolution providing for notification of the president that congress was ready to receive communications from him.

The house also adopted, and without debate, a resolution under which the rules in force in the sixty-seventh congress shall govern it until January 14. At that time under the agreement between Republican organization and insurgent leaders, a majority of the house will be permitted to decide what changes shall be made.

After President Coolidge delivers his message tomorrow, it is the intention of Republican house leaders to have three days' recess until the various standing committees can be organized and one able to report legislation.

BRITAIN FACES LEAP IN DARK

(By The Associated Press.) London, Dec. 5.—On the eve of polling day Premier Baldwin issued what is assuredly one of the simplest and briefest election appeals in the history of British electioneering. In it he says: "I appeal to my fellow countrymen and women to give me their support today in the fight against unemployment. I ask this for their own sake and for the sake of the rising generation." (Signed.) "Stanley Baldwin."

This almost naive way of asking the nation for a mandate to reverse completely its fiscal policy is characteristic of the prime minister's whole election campaign, which on his part, has been conducted with a complete absence of personal interest. All his speeches have been addressed to the task of explaining, without the aid of rhetoric, his proposed policy and its implications.

Tomorrow will give him his answer from the country, for the results of 155 out of the 276 constituencies to be polled will be known tomorrow night and should suffice to give an indication of how the electorate is going. They are chiefly the great London and provincial boroughs, but a sufficient sprinkling of country results will be announced tomorrow night to show the trend of the rural vote. ## 900 Cases Treated At Birth Control Clinic In New York

(By The Associated Press.) New York, Dec. 5.—Nine hundred cases have been accepted at a birth control clinic on Fifth Avenue, which has been in semi-sequestered operation for nearly a year, Margaret Sanger, oft-arrested president of the American Birth Control League, disclosed today at a public jubilee luncheon of 400 prominent men and women advocates.

The clinic is believed to be the first in the United States to continue in operation undisturbed by the police for any length of time. When Chief Inspector Lahey learned of the institution on Fifth Avenue, he ordered detectives of the district to begin an immediate investigation of its methods and clientele. In Brooklyn in 1916, the last public attempt to conduct a birth control clinic was met with a raid by the police and the arrest of Mrs. Sanger, Ethel Byrne, and Paula Mandell. Mrs. Byrne was sentenced to Blackwell's Island and released by Governor Whitman after an 11 day hunger strike. Mrs. Sanger has been arrested several times since and served at least one 30-day sentence in jail.

Seek Legislation. A movement was started at the jubilee today to petition the state legislature to amend the penal laws to permit licensed physicians to give patients contraceptive information in public and private practice. A drive also was launched successfully for finances with which to enlarge the Fifth Avenue clinic and establish others in the tenement districts of greater New York, for the birth control within the state court of appeals in 1918, when he upheld the conviction of Mrs. Sanger for circulating birth control literature.

Dr. Dorothy Becker, former director of physical education in several universities and active head of the Fifth Avenue clinic, announced she would undertake a national campaign to spread birth control education among laymen. New York, Boston, Cleveland, Minneapolis, and San Francisco are among the larger cities where birth control leagues already are organized.

Only Married Women Treated. Only married women have been treated at the Fifth Avenue clinic during the 11 months of its operation, said Dr. Becker. Its work had proved so beneficial to mothers—most of them already sick from rearing children, too poor to properly care for those they had or threatened with death from further child bearing—that charitable institutions, hospitals, parishes, nursing organizations and doctors, who at first kept relations with the clinic secret in fear of the police, had gradually come openly to send patients there.

Without exception those who appealed for medical aid or information professed a religion, 33.5 per cent of them protestant, 32 per cent catholic, 31 per cent Jewish and 3.5 per cent all other denominations.

The result showed: Gillett, 215; Garrett, Democrat, 197; Madden, Republican, 2. James, of Michigan, and Reid of Illinois, Republicans, stuck to Madden to the last. Berger, Socialist, Wisconsin, Kvale, Independent, Minnesota, and Welfad, Farmer-Labor, Minnesota, voted "present." On all the previous ballots Kvale and Welfad had voted for Cooper but Berger had supported none of the candidates.

Two-Minute Session. The senate meeting at noon, again was unable to function pending organization of the house and remained in session just two minutes.

After an adjournment, many of its members flocked to the house chamber to witness the end of the speaker's fight. The galleries were crowded, and for the first time since the deadlock developed, there was a tenseness among spectators and members.

The word was out that the insurgents had abandoned their fight, but there was a last minute flur, as their chairman, Representative Nelson, of Wisconsin, insisted that Mr. Longworth reaffirm on the floor the terms of the agreement regarding the amendment of rules which was reached at the conference last night between the Republican leader and the leaders of the insurgent group. Mr. Nelson read to the house a statement embodying the agreement, and Mr. Longworth said the interpretation was correct.

House Officers Re-elected. Before adjourning the house re-elected its regular officers, including William Tyler Page, clerk and adopted the joint resolution providing for notification of the president that congress was ready to receive communications from him.

The house also adopted, and without debate, a resolution under which the rules in force in the sixty-seventh congress shall govern it until January 14. At that time under the agreement between Republican organization and insurgent leaders, a majority of the house will be permitted to decide what changes shall be made.

After President Coolidge delivers his message tomorrow, it is the intention of Republican house leaders to have three days' recess until the various standing committees can be organized and one able to report legislation.

HOOTCH SOLD TO CHILDREN

(By The Associated Press.) Detroit, Dec. 5.—Evidence which he claims will show that the sale of moonshine to school children is a common practice in the McGraw and Wesson Avenue districts, is to be introduced by defense counsel Edward N. Barnard in the murder trial of 17-year-old Edward Przybylski, Barnard announced just before the adjournment of the case today.

Przybylski is charged with having attacked and killed 17-year-old Helen Yesh, a deaf mute, and to have left her body in a vacant lot. Barnard claims the boy was under the influence of moonshine sold to him by a blind pig operator, and contends that he can prove his claim.

The case was adjourned today because of the absence of a defense witness. It probably will go to the jury tomorrow.

One of the surprises in the case occurred when Frank Yesh, brother of the dead girl, testified his sister was subject to attacks during which she found it difficult to breathe.

The state claims the girl was choked to death. Barnard asserts she died during one of the attacks her brother mentioned.

Most of the witnesses were friends of the accused and the dead girl. They told how the girl and Przybylski met. It was on a Sunday night at a neighborhood carnival. Several boys on the stand said Przybylski was so drunk he could hardly walk when he met the girl and persuaded her to go for a walk with him.

INSURGENTS DECIDE TO QUIT FIGHT

publican insurgents had satisfied themselves that there would be opportunity next month to offer amendments to house rules. Given this assurance on the floor by Representative Longworth of Ohio, the Republican leader, the group which for eight ballots had supported either Representative Cooper of Wisconsin, or Madden of Illinois, flocked almost solidly to Gillett, giving him a majority of eighteen votes.

The result showed: Gillett, 215; Garrett, Democrat, 197; Madden, Republican, 2. James, of Michigan, and Reid of Illinois, Republicans, stuck to Madden to the last. Berger, Socialist, Wisconsin, Kvale, Independent, Minnesota, and Welfad, Farmer-Labor, Minnesota, voted "present." ## FORD-FARMER LABOR FUSION MOVE STARTED

Auto King's Workers Busy In South Dakota

(By The Associated Press.) Pierre, S. D., Dec. 5.—Agreement on a state and national ticket and platforms was claimed tonight by the leaders in a fusion conference between Henry Ford and the Farmer-Labor party element which booted the state proposal meeting of the latter party yesterday.

James F. Houlihan, chief of the Ford supporters in the Democratic ranks, declared tonight that the fusion ticket was ready for filing as a minority Democratic ticket for the March primary.

Heading the ticket with Henry Ford for president, the slate makers selected for the proposed filing Eric Elieson of Sioux Falls for governor and Mark P. ... representative of the Farmer-Labor group for United States senator.

Fusion Effort Starts Early. The attempt to amalgamate the two factions began early this morning after the Democratic regulars had given up an attempt to bring the bolting third party delegation into the majority Democratic ranks.

About twenty Democratic and Farmer-Labor proposal men met at noon today to resume the fusion effort on a minority basis, and the tentative agreement was reported tonight.

The platforms tentatively approved are similar to those of the regular Farmer-Labor convention. Among the demands of the national platform are planks enforcing public ownership of transportation, communication, natural resources and banking issues and control of all monies and credit by the government, payment of all war debts by the excess profits and the repeal of the Esch-Cummins act.

A statement issued by the Farmer-Labor participants in today's conference declared that the departure from the convention yesterday was forced by the "machine tactics of the party leaders."

A New Angle. A new angle in the state's political affairs came to view at the capitol today in official discussion as to the requirements of the Richards primary laws regarding the acceptance of the proposed convention nominations by the presidential candidates.

The law provides that every candidate must accept in writing the nomination, and declare his intention to support the platform. Each acceptance, the law reads, must be filed before January 1, in the following form: "I hereby do declare that if nominated and elected, I will qualify, adhere to the principles herewith proclaimed and obey the party recall if invoked against me."

Ford Men To Fight. The suggestion of the Ford supporters that their candidate may be put on the primary ballot regardless of his attitude toward the minority endorsement, is based on the party recall clause of the acceptance form, which they claim is not applicable to presidential selections. The Ford men declare they are prepared for a test on the question in the courts if necessary to secure a place for the automobile maker in the primary.

Leaders in the regular Democratic organization refused today to comment on the similarity of the party platform adopted yesterday to the publicly expressed views of the presidential choice, William G. McAdoo.

COOLIDGE IS MUCH PLEASED

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Dec. 5.—The victory of President Coolidge in the South Dakota proposal convention resulted today in bringing nearer a definite indication of the president's position as to the 1924 presidential campaign.

White house officials said that probably within a day or two, acknowledgement would be made of the convention's action and this is expected to go a long way toward disclosing Mr. Coolidge's political plan.

The president was said to be deeply gratified over the South Dakota endorsement. White house callers said Mr. Coolidge was pleased particularly over the convention's action in making his endorsement unanimous after the vote showed a large margin over Senator Johnson of California.

Action Not Final. That the convention's action is not final, inasmuch as the South Dakota delegation at the 1924 national convention is subject to change in the state primary March 25, was said to be realized by Mr. Coolidge's friends, but they pointed to the convention endorsement as significant.

No comment on the South Dakota result was offered from the Democratic side or from LaFollette, Republican, Wisconsin, who won the Farmer-Labor proposal endorsement.

Garden Bay News

Mrs. John Follo of Fayette spent a part of last week visiting friends in Manistique.

An interesting wedding ceremony was performed in the Fayette Congregational church on Monday last with Rev. H. Heafield of Garden officiating. The contracting parties were Neils G. Green of Isabella and Mary Dalgord of Fayette. The latter was attired in a dress of pale blue satin and wore a white silk net veil adorned with orange blossoms. Her maid wore a dark blue silk dress. The sacred building had been appropriately decorated for the occasion. Included in the decorations was a huge wedding bell which had been specially made locally by willing and clever fitters. This was suspended immediately over the spot where the young people uttered, before the assembled congregation, the momentous words expressing their allegiance each to the other. The musical part of the service was arranged by Mrs. Ed. Laux who presided at the organ. She was assisted by Mrs. Miles of Manistique, Miss Florence Pizzala, Herbie Pizzala of Sac Bay and Willie Watchorn of Fayette. The solemnity of the occasion was forgotten when the bridal pair left the church in their auto to the tune of the trailers which had been fastened to the car by mischievous hands. An elaborate wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Con Dalgard, after the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Green will make their future home in Isabella. Their many friends in this section wish them much joy and happiness in their new sphere.

Loretta Truckey returned from Brampton on Monday to spend Thanksgiving with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Truckey of this place. She came a few days earlier than she had intended, and no doubt feels that she has special cause to be thankful for the fact that she was not more seriously hurt in her recent accident. Miss Truckey was returning from Brampton on Sunday night when the car in which she was riding collided with another machine. While painfully injured as a result, these injuries are not feared to be serious.

Mrs. Theodore Hazen returned on Wednesday from the Soo, where she has been visiting for the past month. Vernon Hazen expects to leave soon for Chicago where he will remain during the winter months. He will drive through in his Ford truck.

Mrs. Jos. Pizzala of Fairport is feeling very much better and is now able to walk a little unassisted. She has been very sick since late last winter. She is living at present with her son Clarence at Manistique.

Peter Jacobsen and Jas. St. Arno of Fairport made a business trip to Escanaba on Tuesday.

The freshmen of the local high school had a party in the Town Hall on Monday night. According to reports, "eats" were very much in evidence so much so in fact that even the voracious appetites of growing youth and maidens were unable to dispose of the large amount of good things provided. All present thought had a good time even if they could not eat up the eats.

Rita Boudreau entertained her friends on the occasion of her twelfth birthday anniversary at the home of her parents on Monday night. A number of games were played by the young folks after which refreshments were served. The young folks dispersed to their homes unanimous that the evening had been a most pleasant one.

ON AUTO CARE DURING WINTER

Machine Needs Attention As Cold Weather Comes

The average car owner is seldom in a position to know just what must be done to his car in the winter to approach as nearly as possible conditions as they exist in warm weather. For this reason, says Wolverine Motor Co. local Studebaker dealer, the following suggestions should be carefully observed by all automobile owners.

Cooling System

Anti-Freeze Solution
Before any anti-freeze solution is used, the water circulating system should be inspected for leaks, and repairs made if necessary. It is usually a good plan to replace hose connections at this time of the year. Do not use anti-freeze compounds containing calcium chloride or other similar compounds, as they corrode the inside of the radiator.

The only satisfactory solution of which we know is alcohol and water. Denatured alcohol is preferred, wood alcohol can be used. Wood alcohol often contains free acetic acids and should never be used unless it is known to be free from acid. If acid is present, damage to the radiator will result.

The following table shows different proportions of mixtures with temperatures at which the solution will begin to freeze:

Denatured alcohol 10 per cent will begin to freeze at 27 Degrees Fahr.

Denatured alcohol 20 per cent will begin to freeze at 19 Degrees Fahr.

Denatured alcohol 30 per cent will begin to freeze at 10 Degrees Fahr.

Denatured alcohol 40 per cent will begin to freeze at 2 Degrees below zero Fahr.

Denatured Alcohol 50 per cent will begin to freeze at 18 Degrees below zero Fahr.

Glycerine is sometimes used with alcohol to keep the alcohol evaporated to a minimum. However, it is rather expensive and also has a tendency to damage the rubber hose connections. If glycerine is used, mix the alcohol and glycerine in equal proportions and use this mixture in the same percentage as alcohol in the above table.

It must be remembered that it is necessary to add alcohol from time to time to replace what is lost due to evaporation. Whenever necessary to fill the radiator to replace loss by evaporation use a mixture of 40 water and 60 alcohol.

Fan Belt Adjustment
During the winter months the fan belt can be loosened, which will reduce the flow of air through the radiator and thereby allow motor to run warmer than in otherwise would.

Radiator and Hood Covers
It will assist greatly in approximating the summer temperature covers are used. With a radiator cover that is adjustable, a large part of the radiator can be covered, allowing the motor to readily warm up, and then adjust to a suitable opening to keep the motor running warm but still not allow it to overheat.

Carburetor

Due to the low gravity gasoline now used, it is very essential, more especially in cold weather, to get as much heat as possible to the mixture to properly vaporize the gasoline to prevent condensation. It will assist greatly in approximating the summer temperature of the motor if radiator and hood covers are used as instructed above.

In starting the motor, make sure that the choke is pulled all the way out until the motor starts, then push it in slightly until the motor warms up but do not have it even partly out longer than necessary. Racing a cold motor will not warm it up; retard the spark and let the engine idle slowly.

Lubricating System

Oil should be drained more frequently from the motor in summer. Cold temperature aggravates the dilution of the oil by raw fuel, especially when the choke is kept closed too long. It is not advisable to drive a car until after the motor has been turning over at a slow rate of speed long enough to give the oil a chance to get well into all of the working parts.

Storage Battery

In cold weather the capacity and the voltage of a battery are less than they are at normal temperature. Likewise, it is much more difficult to crank an engine because of the effects of cold temperatures on the lubrication and also requires more cranking because of the incomplete carburization of the fuel when the motor is cold.

Because of the heavier drain on the battery and its decreased efficiency in the winter, the energy taken from the battery should be conserved as much as possible. When starting the motor, throw out the clutch, which will prevent unnecessary turning of gears in the transmission (through congealed oil) and consequently reduce the load placed on the starting motor and battery. Also see that all connections are tight throughout the electric system and that none of the wires are grounded or shorted.

Test the battery with a hydrometer every two weeks and if on any two consecutive tests the specific gravity is .200 or under, remove the battery from the car and have it charged and also see that the generator is charging properly.

When adding distilled water to the battery in freezing temperature, make sure that the motor is immediately run for a short time so as to charge the battery, thereby mixing the added water with the acid and preventing freezing.

A good hot spark is needed for starting in cold weather. Make sure that all the electrical connections are tight and clean, that the distributor breaker points are clean and the opening set to .020 deg. and that the spark plug gaps are set to .025 deg.

Tires should be properly inflated. If chains are used they should not be too tight. Watch in tires. Water will soon work into these and loosen the tire structure.

Adjust the brakes and fit new linings, if necessary. See that the brake shafts and such parts are oiled. It is highly essential that the steering gears be correctly adjusted and that the wheel alignment be correct. Slippery pavements make it essential that the brakes and the steering mechanism be in proper condition.

BROADSIDES OF SENATE

JAMES E. WATSON WILLIAM M. BORAH

Senator James E. Watson of Indiana (left) and Senator William M. Borah of Idaho (right), leading Republicans in the upper house of Congress, are preparing for the big opening on Dec. 3. Watson represents the extremely conservative wing of the Republicans and Borah the extremely liberal wing.

When starting the motor, throw out the clutch, which will prevent unnecessary turning of gears in the transmission (through congealed oil) and consequently reduce the load placed on the starting motor and battery. Also see that all connections are tight throughout the electric system and that none of the wires are grounded or shorted.

Test the battery with a hydrometer every two weeks and if on any two consecutive tests the specific gravity is .200 or under, remove the battery from the car and have it charged and also see that the generator is charging properly.

When adding distilled water to the battery in freezing temperature, make sure that the motor is immediately run for a short time so as to charge the battery, thereby mixing the added water with the acid and preventing freezing.

A good hot spark is needed for starting in cold weather. Make sure that all the electrical connections are tight and clean, that the distributor breaker points are clean and the opening set to .020 deg. and that the spark plug gaps are set to .025 deg.

Tires should be properly inflated. If chains are used they should not be too tight. Watch in tires. Water will soon work into these and loosen the tire structure.

Adjust the brakes and fit new linings, if necessary. See that the brake shafts and such parts are oiled. It is highly essential that the steering gears be correctly adjusted and that the wheel alignment be correct. Slippery pavements make it essential that the brakes and the steering mechanism be in proper condition.

Ayotte-Johnson.
A quiet and pretty marriage ceremony took place Tuesday evening at the parsonage of the Swedish Methodist church when Rev. O. R. Palm pronounced the words that united Miss Louise Ayotte and Lester Johnson in the holy bonds of matrimony.

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Nelson, close friends of the couple. A wedding supper was served at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Johnson, 1408 First Ave. North, to immediate relatives.

Mr. Johnson is employed at the Blomstrom & Peterson Jewelry Store and is well known among the younger set in this city. His bride is a local girl having been born and reared in this city and has a host of friends who will join in wishing the couple happiness. They will make their home in this city.

The card party given by the Brotherhood of American Yeomen at North Star hall on Tuesday evening was enjoyed by all and proved a great success. Those who won prizes were, Mr. Geyer, first; Mr. Norship, Gentlemen's prize; and Mrs. Lorraine Snyder, consolation.

Wonderful Picture Sunday.
Gerald C. Duffy's story, "The Spider and the Rose," is richer in entertainment value than a majority of the stories that reach the screen in present day productions and therein lies the success of "The Spider and the Rose," which will be shown at St. Joseph's Auditorium, Sunday afternoon at three and evening at 7:30 o'clock.

It is rich in all the ingredients that go to make up a swift moving story that never lets down for a moment and allows full sway for the dramatic ability of the several players who appear in it.

The cast is probably the best seen in any film production this year. Not a single part was slighted by Director John McDermott. A galaxy of stars seldom seen in pictures together are set in a background of picturesque beauty that make "The Spider and the Rose," reach out and clutch at the heart strings in a novel way.

It is one of the most pretentiously luxurious productions ever made, an entire city having been built for it. It is illuminated with a cast of stars—stars in their own rights, including Al-

Prominent Citizens Confer With Officers

Officers of the Escanaba Salvation Army organization, meeting yesterday at a luncheon at the Delta hotel with a group of business men, laid preliminary plans for the work of the Army here next year.

No definite action was taken to lay out, definitely, the plan to be employed in raising the money. It is understood that a meeting of a larger group, representing all of the city's civic, fraternal, religious and labor organizations will be called in the near future. At this time, it is expected that an executive committee will be named.

Deep interest in the Salvation Army and its work, was manifested by the men present at yesterday's informal conference. It was said, and the belief was expressed that the response of citizens to the appeal for aid by so worthy an organization, would be generous.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE STRAND

The Charles C. Burr-Whitman Bennett production "Secrets of Paris" taken from Eugene Sue's most famous work "The Mysterians of Paris," which shows at the Strand Theatre today the last times is by no means what could be called a hurried production. Mr. Bennett knows his public and he knows what it demands. There are some screen plays that can be thrown together in a hit or miss fashion, but when a screen version is made of a classic the public is most critical and calls for just what the best depicts.

Eugene Sue's most famous story is known to hundreds of Americans. This book has been studied in nearly all the high schools and colleges as a master piece of literature, and those who have visited Paris have visited those haunts from whence Sue drew his characters. Some of those haunts are still to be seen today and the Paris visitor seldom fails to go there. Mr. Bennett knows his Paris. He does his motion picture public. Being a newspaper man in the French capital for several years, he has taken advantage of his knowledge and produced the scenes historically correct. He went so far as to gather old prints and from them he built his scenes, especially famous and notorious meeting place for the worse characters known to Paris.

AT THE DELFT

Baseball magnates have paid huge sums of money for baseball players, publishers have paid huge sums for books, trainers have paid great sums for race horses, but William Fox has set a record. He has just paid $50,000 for the use of four words. That is a high water mark.

That tidy amount has just been paid to the estate of the late James O'Neill, actor, for the right to use four words that made O'Neill universally famous, "The World is Mine." The sentence is indissolubly associated, throughout the world, with the master play "Count of Monte Cristo."

Thousands of theatre patrons who never heard of the elder Dumas are familiar with the phrase used in what is called the great-

Magically enough Dumas did not write—"The world is mine!" nor does the line appear in any of the French editions of the novel. Its authorship is credited to O'Neill, who played in spoken drama, the wonderful part of Edmond Dantes for a century and over a quarter of a century and appeared in all of the principal cities of the new and old worlds.

"The world is mine!" as used by Mr. O'Neill at the finish of the second act of his play is generally regarded by the generation just passing as the greatest climax of the spoken stage.

Before William Fox commenced the filming of "Monte Cristo," which has just been released in Los Angeles and Boston, he acquired from the O'Neill estate the copyright of the actors play. "Monte Cristo" will be shown at the Delft Theatre today and tomorrow.

HERRING CATCH IS HEAVIEST IN YEARS LOCALLY

Hansen & Jensen report a most unusual condition in the commercial fishing industry for this season of the year. It was stated yesterday that unusually heavy catches of herring are being made just now and have been for the past three weeks. Under ordinary conditions, weather conditions have prevented fishermen from getting out to their nets while the herring run is on, but this year there have been no bad storms to prevent this, and the catch has been in excess of that of many years past. In fact, herring is about the only thing that is being netted at this time, and the run will be over in another week, it is explained. There is a closed season on whitefish now.

SOO TONNAGE HEAVIER THAN LAST YEAR

(By The Associated Press.) Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Dec. 5.—The movement of freight tonnage through the canals here for the month of November aggregated 10,705,529 short tons, according to the monthly report of the United States engineers offices made public today. The figures compare with a total movement of 9,465,019 in November last year. Shipments of wheat totalled 75,988,206 bushels compared with 75,086,570 bushels in November last year. Wheeler, Bad Check Man, Held for Trial in Menominee Court

Escanaba police were advised yesterday that Ed Wheeler, bad check artist, wanted here to face several charges, will be held for trial at the January term of circuit court in Menominee. The charge against Wheeler was obtaining money under false pretenses although several other charges could have been placed against him. Judge Barstow of Menominee municipal court fixed Wheeler's bail at $2,500. It was not furnished. Authorities here are watching developments in Menominee closely. If Wheeler is acquitted there he immediately will be returned to this city for hearings on charges that he forged and passed worthless checks on business men here and at Isabella.

(By The Associated Press.) Cleveland, O., Dec. 5.—A movement, fulfillment of which would give women equal representation with men on the legislative bodies of the Presbyterian church of the United States, was disclosed during today's sessions of the national Presbyterian conference here. A petition embodying a request for such representation has been forwarded to the general assembly of the church by the executive Society of Cincinnati, Mrs. Mary Louise Blinn, its president, announced. It also is being circulated among members of the society of other Presbyteries. The petition, which constitutes the first attempt of Presbyterian women to obtain equal suffrage within the church, probably will be acted upon at a meeting of the general assembly at Grand Rapids, Mich., next May.

SOCIAL

Mrs. Winchester Entertainers. Mrs. Fred Winchester, of Wells, entertained the members of the Bridge Club yesterday afternoon at her home. Mrs. H. H. Phelps was first honors and Mrs. Charles McCauley second. A pleasant time was had by all.

Correction. The concert dance given by the piano accordion artists last Monday evening at the North Star Hall was not under the auspices of the North Star Society as previously stated.

Concert Highly Successful. Super-excellence is the only word that can describe the concert that was given at North Star Hall last Monday evening, by Ragnar Sundquist and Eric Olzen, piano accordion artists. The artists played before a full house and were very well received. Not only did their popular music make a big hit but the manner in which they rendered the classics were also highly appreciated.

E. W. C. Bridge Party. One of the largest and most successful of the year's social functions was held last night at the Delta Hotel when the Escanaba Women's Club entertained the teachers of the public schools of the city, at a bridge party. A large number of teachers were in attendance and each reported a good time.

Bridge was the main diversion of the evening. In addition, Mrs. Harry Defnet sang several songs which were highly praised. Luncheon was served at the close of the card playing. A novelty of the evening was a straw vote taken to find the teacher's preference for next year's president. Mr. Coolidge winning by a big majority, with Henry Ford second.

Prizes awarded were won by Miss Leiper, Miss Morrell, and Miss Ladd, among the teachers; Mrs. J. J. Corcoran, Mrs. Clyde Burns, and Miss Adele Hessel, among the club members.

Musical Chair Contest. The Coliseum management has provided a musical chair contest for the ladies as tonight's novelty at the rink. Santa Claus To Arrive In City Saturday At 2:10. Herman Gessner, manager of the Fair Savings Bank, stated last night that he had received positive assurance from Santa Claus that he would arrive in Escanaba Saturday afternoon on the 2:10 train. He will arrive on the Northwestern road and make his way to the Fair Store where his hundreds of boy and girl friends will receive presents, just as the smiling old gentleman has been distributing them for years past.

It is anticipated that the crowd of children will be as large as usual, but Santa, it is said, would prefer to bare just a little snow on the ground, even if he does come by train.

WORLD NEEDS BRAINS PLUS A CHARACTER

(By The Associated Press.) Lansing, Mich., Dec. 5.—"The thing that America needs is to stop guessing and base her decisions on real thought," Dr. Marion L. Burton, president of the University of Michigan, told members of the Michigan State Association of Farmers' Clubs in their final session at M. A. C. Wednesday afternoon.

President Burton spoke to the association members on the mind, which he said he considered to be of far greater importance than any of the problems of agriculture or economics that he might discuss.

There are many types of minds, according to Dr. Burton, but the ideal type is the thinking mind. "Three things are necessary for a thinking mind," he said. "First, get rid of your prejudices; second, forget about popularity; and third, change your attitude entirely and do not 'shy' when problems face you."

"A man's success today depends upon his brains, and the world needs men who can go through problems rather than around them. Brains plus character is the thing that the nation needs today!"

While the speaker only mentioned the taxal problem, he said, "I am profoundly in sympathy with the farmer when he says that land is taxed for too much."

Big Christmas Tree Gleams A Cheery Welcome

High overhead, green, yellow and red, a gleaming, scintillating, gorgeously decorated Christmas tree, 30 feet high, shot its vari-colored rays through the blue-black darkness of the velvety night and beckoned the attention of hundreds of passers-by and outcasts to the roof of the Fair Savings Bank last night.

Workmen and city employees have been working on the tree for the last two days, and it was lighted up for the first time last night, making a most attractive showing and eliciting most favorable comment. The big tree can be seen for a great distance and the great, gleaming star, which tops the tree, blazes forth a cheery promise of happiness to be fulfilled during the joyous Christmasticide.

LUMBER MAN MEETS DEATH BY DROWNING

George N. Harder, manager of the I. Stephenson Co. Trustees at Wells, received a telegram from Phillips, Wis., last night announcing the death of P. F. McClurg, junior partner of the well-known lumber firm of Kneeland & McClurg. Details were meager. The message stated that Mr. McClurg met his death by drowning and that the funeral would be held in Phillips on Friday.

Mr. Harder will leave today to attend the funeral. Mr. McClurg was well known in this section. He was a member of the Northern Hemlock and Hardwood Association and had been in Grand Rapids this week attending the hearings of the Maple Flooring Association action now in progress there.

News of his death will be received with the deepest regret by friends in this city.

NORTH SIDE TO GET NEW PARK

Council Recommends Purchase of 'Triangle'; Ice Rink Approved.

Two important steps in the city council's program which contemplates the establishment of playgrounds and other outdoor recreational centers, in various parts of the city, were taken last night when it was voted, unanimously, to recommend the inclusion in next year's budget of an item to cover the cost of purchasing the triangular plot of ground at the intersection of Stephenson and Washington avenues, and approval was given the plans outlined by City Manager Fred R. Harris for a municipal ice rink, to be laid South of Eighth avenue south near 15th street.

Mr. Harris reported to the council that the North Escanaba plot could be purchased by the city for $2,000 plus the cost of the sidewalks recently installed there. The council immediately adopted a resolution, recommending that the money be provided in next year's budget, with a view to taking over the property and equipping it for a playground.

The ice rink proposal also was enthusiastically endorsed. The city's engineering department already has been doing some preliminary work on the project and the lots will be prepared at once for flooding with a view to and having them ready for the first 'freezing' weather. The rink will be large enough for an eight-lap speed track.

bottom of the manhole at 12th avenue. The engineering department, therefore, submitted plans which contemplated the extending of the sewer south on Thirteenth street, to Thirteenth avenue south, thence east on Thirteenth avenue to the alley west of Lake Shore Drive, at which point it would turn and run south down the alley to the North Bank of Butcher's Creek. At the lower end of this contemplated sewer, it was found, the pipes would be but 18 inches below the ground. The ground slopes downward at this point towards the lake and it would not be possible to establish sewer connections between the residences facing the drive and the sewer west of them. The manager recommended that the sewer be not constructed, as it would be a waste of money. The construction of a sump and an automatic pumping system at a cost of at least $3,000. Other plans, it was announced, are being considered which may afford the relief to the petitioners for the improvements.

Health Officer Reports. Councilman Cotton and Mr. Harris gave an interesting report on their recent visit to Washington where they represented Escanaba at conventions of the International City Managers' association, and the National Municipal League.

Dr. H. J. Defnet, city health commissioner, gave the council considerable information concerning the work of his department and explained a number of the newer projects he has under way.

Reports of other department heads, and a number of other minor items, completed the council's lengthy and busy session.

TEACHING THRIFT.

Many Escanaba residents will have impressed upon them within the next few days the value of consistent saving. The banks of Escanaba are now mailing out the first of annual Christmas Savings Club checks to subscribers of those clubs and the total distribution will amount to a considerable sum. Under the rules of the savings clubs conducted by the banks, each member is required to deposit a definite amount each week, and the checks now being received cannot but serve as impressive evidence of the value in saving even a small sum each week.

The Christmas Savings Club plan, inaugurated by the banks of the nation but a few years ago, has been accepted by a host of people as the means either for forming the nucleus of a permanent bank account or for providing a definite sum of money for their annual Christmas buying. In either instance the clubs are demonstrating annually to thousands of people what can be accomplished through thrift, in either a small way or a big way. The average club member is having it proven to himself that if it is possible to accumulate even a small sum through meagre weekly saving, it is possible to accumulate an impressive sum by the practice of thrift and adherence to a definite plan for saving.

INVOLVE PAD-LOCK LAW.

The first step by officials of the city of Escanaba to involve the "pad-lock" law, against buildings where owners or tenants have been convicted of violating the prohibition laws, was taken before Judge R. C. Flannigan in the Marquette county circuit court yesterday. At the direction of the council City Atty. T. J. Riley appeared before Judge Flannigan yesterday and made formal application for the closing for one year of the building occupied by Frank Malo, 1629 Sheridan road and owned by Louis Cronovich. Malo is now serving a sentence at the Detroit House of Correction and the building formerly occupied by him has been frequently involved in police cases, in recent years.

In addition to the application for the pad-locking of the building formerly occupied by Malo, it is announced that similar action will be directed against several other buildings in Escanaba, where owners or tenants have been involved in dry law violations, when the January term of circuit court opens in this city. The action of the city in the Malo case and others that will follow, is indicative of the council's determination to make bootlegging an unhealthy and unprofitable enterprise both for those actually engaged in the traffic and the owners of buildings where such traffic is permitted.

The Piffle Hook

PEPTIMISM, we—and others—were told the other night by a speaker for whose cultural attainments we have a profound respect, is "optimism plus action." It believes that no other assemblage of newspaper type of similar length in the country can boast of a gronch as rugged as healthy and as healed, as healthy and as many-sided. If we ever lose that gronch, we'll lose our job.

FOR THE CHRONIC cheer up chirper, the back-slapping hand-shaker who grins and smirks and giggles and rolls his eyes heavenward as he thanks God it wasn't any worse, we have no respect and very little time. Particularly do we dislike him when he writes poems and "inspirational" editorials. He is as nauseating as a liberal, liberal feeding of the proverbial milk-and-honey diet would be.

On the other hand, the half-spoiled egg who believes that this world is about as bad a world as it possibly could be, realizes, if he is capable of realizing anything, that he must run like thunder or the bow-grows will overtake him, generally manages to keep a safe lead in the race.

IF THE WORLD is growing better it is because nobody takes the optimist seriously; and because the pessimist, appreciating its plight, has run a little faster, fought a little harder, and "out-smarted" the wolves of destruction.

"AN OPPORTUNIST," remarked a gentleman who sat near us during the pessimist discussion, "is an optimist at the right time." Webster defines opportunism as "seeking immediate advantage with little regard for principles or ultimate consequences." The definition of opportunist, then, must be correct.

SIR—Your stock market report says the deadlock over the election of a speaker of the house materially affecting trading. Think, I beg of you, what a terrible position in which the market-makers have placed the great American hen! If Mr. Gillett is elected, eggs will be worth 57 a dozen. If Mr. Everready or Mr. Autothrop or Mr. Durham Duplex should be the choice of the congress eggs will become heavy and sink to 31 cents on the hoof. The hen, laying eggs which she looks to the Republican party to sell for 57 cents in the original package will be a victim of misplaced confidence. I am a Republican. I am also a fierce partisan of the hen. "Long may she wave," as Bill Nye said, "and may her son never set." If Wall Street knew half as much about values as the hen knows—but that's a lot to expect from a bunch of New Yorkers.

'THE REVELATIONS OF A PAID COMPANION'

BY JANE PHELPS.

DOCTOR MILLBANK TAKES CHAPTER XXIII.
Mollie kept out of her father's way, pleading a slight indisposition. But she spent several hours each day with her mother, to her delight. Mrs. Ellwood seemed so much brighter, so much better because of this companionship that I couldn't be sorry the accident had happened.

When after a couple of days Mollie emerged from her seclusion, she declared she had fallen against a piece of furniture, and so accounted for the injury to her face.

Guy looked at her suspiciously, but her father simply warned her to be more careful. He said: "You mother tells me you have been sitting with her more than usual. It makes her happy—and me too. Try and plan your time so that you can be more with her." A sigh escaped him. "We may not have her long."

Doctor Millbank came every day. Mrs. Ellwood could now scarcely distinguish people or objects, her sight was so near gone. Naturally I was kept very busy, both because it was my duty, and because of the intense sympathy I felt for the once beautiful woman fast becoming so helpless.

About a week after he began to attend her he said to me: "You will break down, Miss Hall, if you confine yourself so closely. When have you been out?"

"Several days ago," I replied. I had been too busy with my invalid, reading to her, and so forth, to find time for my long walks, and the thought that I might meet Marion Ellwood, had also acted as a deterrent. He had called several times but I had managed to evade him. Guy had brutally told me I was killing my self, angered because I again refused to ride with him.

"Get on your things, Doctor Millbank ordered. "Anna will sit with Mrs. Ellwood. "I have a call to make some distance in the country. You will go with me." Like a child I obeyed.

For a long time we rode in silence. The cool air rushing on my face felt so grateful, the swift but careful driving of the doctor told me I need have no fear. I had felt no hesitation in going with him. He was not a member of the family, but a professional man who had seen my need of fresh air. I had a right to friends, even men friends, outside of the Ellwood connection.

"You look a thousand times better already," he said as he drew up to the curb before a mansion set far back from the road.

"It'll not be gone but a few moments."

"Don't hurry, it is delightful here," I replied, glad to lean back in the comfortable little car and rest.

I heard the honk-honk of a car, and glancing up I met Guy Ellwood's eyes fixed upon me in anger and disdain. I nodded cheerfully, he raised his hat slightly, and swept by. I felt a little uneasy, recalling his look, then forgot him in the delicious sense of bodily comfort and relaxation.

On our return trip the doctor chatted interestingly, drawing me out, talking of books and other things far removed from the sick room. When he left me he said: "I shall see that you have frequent outings. I don't want another patient on my hands, and I think it would be harmful to Mrs. Ellwood to have you unavailable. She seems to depend upon you so entirely. She has a daughter, Doctor Green told me. Is she away?"

"No, but she is very young, has many social engagements." I did not wonder he had asked about Mollie, most anyone would.

"I see—but you aren't so aged either."

"I am a year older than Mollie and I have no social engagements."

"I see," he repeated.

"I ran into the house feeling like a new person. Mrs. Ellwood asked if I enjoyed my ride, was pleased when I enthusiastically told her about it."

"He seems a very nice young man, but don't let him steal you from me."

"I was glad she couldn't see me blush as I laughed away her fears."

Tomorrow—Guy Ellwood Declares His Love for Me.

CONTESTS WILL DECIDE HIGH SCHOOL WINNER

Work Started with Gladstone a Member of Oratorical Association.

Preparations for the Gladstone high school entry in the Michigan high school oratorical society contest have already been started with contests at the school which will begin December 29 and close at some date after January 30.

The first of the series will be home room contests for the freshmen, which will be conducted Dec. 29 in the three home rooms in charge of the Misses Ethel Bennett, Esther Baldwin, and Avis Johnson. Winners of the tryouts, five from each room, making six in all, will take part in an inter-home room contest which will be held January 10, to determine the declamation championship among the first year students.

Arrangements have also been made for the staging of the annual contests in declamation, oratory and debate between the Thespians and the Philomathians, the two literary societies of the school. The Thespian contest will be held January 15 and the Philomathian on January 16, the day following.

This will be followed by a contest between the winner of the home room tryouts and the winner of the society tryouts in declamation, to determine the entrant for the state association contests. The date for this will be set later.

Become Members. Gladstone's membership in the state association which became a reality this year, is an advancement worth considerable notice. The school has not been a member of the association for some years past and as a consequence has been missing the benefits derived by other schools with membership.

Its joining places the Gladstone school in the third subdistrict of the fifth state district or the upper peninsula, including schools in Delta, Dickinson, Gogebic, Iron and Menominee counties.

SENIOR TEAM IS WINNER OF TOURNAMENT

The senior team of the Gladstone high school has been announced winner of the inter-class basketball tournament held by teams representing both junior and senior high school classes.

Mrs. F. Locke was elected head of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen at the regular meeting held Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the Eagles' hall.

The complete list of officers chosen to head the organization during the coming year is: Mrs. W. G. Ward, past president.

Mrs. F. Locke, president. Mrs. N. Quistorf, vice president. Mrs. B. B. Sword, secretary. Mrs. C. L. Johnson, treasurer. Mrs. A. Gillis, conductress. Mrs. L. Davis, warden. Mrs. J. S. Sword, chaplain. Mrs. M. I. Call, inner guard. Mrs. A. Moore, outer guard. Mrs. J. C. Titworth, pianist. Dr. A. H. Mitchell, physician.

A social meeting followed the business session and a most enjoyable program was given, followed by refreshments.

KINDNESS OF NEIGHBORS WINS GRATITUDE

"Mrs. Louis McKendie of South Gladstone is the kind of a neighbor to have—all of her neighbors were like she is in the troubles of the world would soon be settled. It was the beginning of a story of love and kindness told yesterday by one who has occasion to meet people in all moods, during their time of misfortune as well as their time of happiness.

"She knows that her neighbor, Mr. Ingerham was an invalid and that Mrs. Ingerham was the only one to earn a living for him and the four children," the story continued. "Her heart went out in the spirit of compassion to these her friends in a double measure when she found they were obliged to find another place to live. She proposed that friends and citizens of Gladstone should build for these her neighbors a suitable living place on a piece of land which her mother was willing to lease for the purpose.

"Subscription papers were circulated by herself, Mrs. Little and Mrs. Goggin and others which soon resulted in securing the sum of $194.00 in cash. The Northwestern Cooperative & Lumber Co. made a most liberal donation on the lumber bill and a number of workmen donated their labor in erecting and finishing the building.

The building is now completed and stands as a credit to the generosity of the people of Gladstone. Those who circulated the subscription tell of the liberality of the people and how kindly they were received by every one. This speaks well for our city.

Mr. and Mrs. Ingerham and their four children who are now in their own little home are as thankful as could be and they desire to have this paper express to all who have taken part in helping them their sincerest gratitude.

HOLY NAME SOCIETY IS ORGANIZED

Tridium at All Saints' Catholic Church Is Brought to Close.

Amid a scene of deep impressiveness the Tridium or services of three days which opened Sunday evening at All Saints' Catholic church Tuesday night came to a close with the organization of the Holy Name Society.

The services Tuesday were conducted by the Rev. Father George Laforet of Menominee, diocesan director of the Holy Name organizations, the Rev. Father Kareh of Menominee, the Rev. Father Breault of Bark River, the Rev. Father Juras of Schafter, the Rev. Father Guertin of Rapid River and the Rev. Father Sebastian Maier, pastor of All Saints' church.

The Rev. Father Laforet, who delivered the sermon of the evening surpassed in his closing talk the eloquence and power of oratory shown in his two previous talks. The director among other things urged those about to join the organization of the Holy Name to live up to the rules, regulations and pledges of the society and to exemplify in their daily actions the Christian standard of living.

At the close of the services the men of the congregation advanced toward the sanctuary and there made their pledges and received the insignia of the Holy Name society in the form of a small button, the outward sign of their membership in the organization.

Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers You, Begin Taking Salts

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that irritate the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Just Chew This Pleasant Tablet

We Can Prove Every Statement That We Make.

This method of treating Piles, from the INSIDE instead of the OUTSIDE is not a new idea or something that has not been given a thorough test. In another place on this page we quote from a letter received from a patient who took our treatment 18 years ago and has never had the slightest return of his trouble.

The one BIG recommendation of this method of treatment is the PERMANENCY of the benefits derived.

Another case speaks of having been healed after six torturing years of bleeding piles, and this was accomplished by our trial package alone.

Surely if you are ever troubled with piles, you will send the coupon from this page and receive the trial treatment.

Was About to Undergo Operation
 C. J. FAY, 1217 Polk Ave., Escanaba, Mich.
 Dear Sir:—You will have to excuse me for not answering your letter before, but I wanted to convince myself of the merit of your treatment before replying.
 Now in regard to the treatment I cannot praise it too highly. After 1 month of continual pain I was surprised how quickly your treatment worked.
 I tried several different kinds of ointments and I found them all of no use.
 I was on the verge of going to a doctor for an operation when I saw your advertisement.
 I appealed to me because to cure you have to know what causes piles.
 Now 4 months since I have had no trouble since.
 I can only recommend this treatment to all pile sufferers.
 Thank you for the best of success.
 Sincerely yours,
 HARRY BOELCHTER.

 Mr. E. R. Page, Marshall, Mich.
 Dear Sir:—I am glad to say your medicine has helped me and the last package has cured me. I have been two months without any medicine and have done a lot of hard work since. It is a wonderful remedy. When I sent for the first treatment I was not able to be on my feet and suffered terribly. It was the protruding and bleeding Piles together. At night I could not rest and I had given up to have an operation; but read of this remedy and so I gave it a trial. It has saved me from a lot of suffering and also many dollars. I can't say enough to praise the Page Pile Method. I am glad there is a remedy for piles as I do not think much of these operations. I am feeling fine and glad I found out about your wonderful medicine. Will always recommend it.
 Yours respectfully,

So I let them all go and never did any more for the boy until I tried your treatment. It was not a week till his piles left him and they have never showed any signs since. Have recommended your treatment to others and they say they are going to order. I am doing all I can for you.
