INCOME TAX IS MATTER OF PRIVACY

COOLIDGE IS AGAINST HOUSE PROVISION IN BILL

BY DAVID LAWRENCE (Copyright 1924, by the Escanaba Daily Press.) Washington, Feb. 26.—President Coolidge administration will not consent to the provision inserted by the house in the pending tax bill making income tax returns available to a special committee of congress. The opposition to the measure from the treasury is so strong that this, together with other objectionable features in the tax bill may be the basis for veto message from the White House. Should congress have the right to throw open to the public gaze the private affairs of the American people? Should one business concern engaged in sharp competition with another and possessed of influence in congress reluctant to get at the income tax returns be enabled to get facts and figures on rival concerns? Should members of congress be given new ammunition with which to attack private business? These questions are answered by the negative by administration officials who think that income tax returns should be kept secret. Indeed, the treasury department has heretofore refused point blank to furnish the income tax returns to any other branch of the federal government itself, even the department of justice. Time and again the latter has felt that without sufficient evidence to catch bootleggers under the provisions of the Volstead Act, a fraudulent income tax return might land the "bootlegger" in jail. It has been with difficulty and through rough court proceedings that any information has been obtained, and usually the treasury department has preferred to do its own prosecuting of such cases upon information furnished by the department of justice.

Carlson in the Eighth avenue south wing station last week, police began the work of re-checking a number of details.

Moras was not shown to Mr. Carlson yesterday and it had not been decided when this identification would be attempted. Other matters in connection with the case would keep officers assigned to it busy for several days, it was said at police headquarters. Mr. Carlson previously had identified Olson.

WHAT'S IN NAME TO BOOTLEGGERS

Carmel Flavor and Beading Oil Make "Old Crow".

Madison, Wis., Feb. 26.—That there is nothing in a name is borne out by analysis of hundreds of samples of liquor seized by state prohibition agents in the past few months. Harold M. Lampert, chemist of the state department, who has tested thousands of samples, declared today.

Illicit liquor, put up in "regular" bottles, with apparently good looking labels and familiar names, usually proves to be of low grade and of low alcoholic content, the state chemist said. He issued a warning to patrons of "moonshiners" to beware of fake liquor preparation.

"Such names as Cedarbrook, Highland Queen, Old Sunnybrook, Old Scotch, often appear on bottles taken by prohibition agents," Mr. Lampert stated. "The labels apparently are genuine, as are the seals and government stamps. However, many times these are counterfeit. Analysis of samples brought to the state department show that the alcoholic content of such liquors is from 40 to 50 per cent by volume. Coloring generally is due to carmel and a small amount of beading oil. Glycerine is usually added to give the liquor body and to cut the taste of raw alcohol.

"In only a few cases are liquor samples found to be genuine, but generally they are fake," the chemist said. All liquor that is seized by state agents is sampled and tested for its content, he stated.

"SIX DAYS" TO CLOSE TONIGHT; MEIGHAN COMING

"Six Days," the screen adaptation of Eleanor Glynn's novel, which has entertained large crowds at the Delft theatre this week, will close its stay there today. It will be followed by Tom Meighan's new picture, "Woman-Proof," written especially for Meighan by George Ade and acted by a company which includes Lila Lee, John Sainpolis, Louise Dresser, Robert Agnew, Mary Astor, Edgar Norton, Charles A. Sellon, George O'Brien, Vera Reynolds, Hardee Kirkland, Martha Mattox and Bill Condon.

Mr. Meighan has the role of a young civil engineer who is too busy directing a big enterprise to think of marriage. His father's will stipulates that all of his four children must marry and the complications of the plot revolve around the attempt of his brother and sisters to make him fall in love.

Garden Bay News

The attention of property owners in this village is called to the fact that an important meeting is to be held in the Council Chambers on Thursday night at seven o'clock. It will be remembered that last fall the whole of the village was resurveyed by the County Surveyor. The result of that survey was that some of the owners were occupying far too much property while others were not getting their full share. The object of the gathering is to have the County Surveyor explain the situation fully and in conjunction with property owners, to take the necessary steps to make such adjustments as will be satisfactory to all concerned. County Surveyor M. S. Mc Nabh of Escanaba will be present and earnestly hoped that all persons concerned will be at the Council Chambers promptly at the started time. In addition to discussing the proposed changes, a trustee will be elected to have full power to act in this matter.

No one has the right to remain from the meeting and then complain bitterly of what has been done by those present.

A number of men from Kates Bay started out over the ice to Nahma on Monday. This included Ovid Cota who took a load of baled straw, and also Rufus Spaulding who took a load of grain. Emil Anderson also took a load of baled hay. He was accompanied by his son Lawrence and Edward LaButte who each drove teams, with loads of the same commodity. Mr. Anderson expects to haul between twenty and thirty loads over the bay.

Chas. Oimsted returned a week ago from his trip to Marquette. He leaves here again on Monday for that city. He accepted a position at the State Prison there. His family expect to follow him later.

A surprise party was given at the home of Mrs. Wm. Winters Jr. on Friday night last in honor of Mrs. Winters and George Washington's birthday. After the supper hour the guests filed over to the Town Hall and participated in the dance being given by the seniors of the High School. Later in the evening they returned to the Winters' home where another freezer full of cream was disposed of. A most enjoyable evening was spent.

the evening were to meet the expenses incidental to the Graduation gatherings next summer.

A number of residents here last Friday night had the pleasure of listening in to the address given by President Coolidge from his office at the White House on Washington Day. Most of the address was given or rather received with remarkable clearness and was much enjoyed by those who heard. Later in the evening the two far away stations located at Atlanta, Georgia, and Fort Worth, Texas were also heard very distinctly. At the former place an orchestra was rendering dance music possibly in the open air or in a sweltering atmosphere, while those who listened were trying their best to keep out the frigid cold.

This Age of Oil

Speaking editorially, the Chicago Tribune, in its issue of February 3, says:

"Virtually every one in the nation is a user of oil and consumption grows at a rapid pace. We have a problem, therefore, not merely of conservation but of supply, and its solution is vital to the material prosperity and progress of the United States."

This able statement seems to us to justify further comment.

"Virtually every one in the nation is a user of oil"—oil in some form enters into the manufacture of every article of commerce. Without it the commodities you use could not be manufactured and sold for the price you pay now.

"Consumption grows at a rapid pace"—to illuminate this statement it is only necessary to show that in the ten states served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) there were, on January 1, 1924, 4,855,739 automotive vehicles registered. This is 807,367 more than were registered on January 1, 1923.

"Conservation"—it is a well-known fact that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) by means of processes discovered and developed in its own laboratories has contributed more to increasing the yield of gasoline from a given quantity of crude than any other refiner. This increased yield was secured without in any way affecting the quality of the gasoline and without touching that portion of the crude which goes into the manufacture of lubricating oils.

"Vital to the material prosperity and progress of the United States"—comment here seems unnecessary as all must recognize the part played by petroleum in "This Age of Oil."

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has achieved its signal success in "This Age of Oil" by practicing the principles of fairness, equity and justice.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is proud of its position as a leader in the petroleum industry—it is proud of its success—it is proud that the service it has rendered has gained the respect, confidence and esteem of the thirty million people of the Middle West.

MR. REED UNCOOKS.

It is beginning to appear that the Republicans may confidently look for a plentiful supply of ammunition from Senator Reed of Missouri, uncompromising foe of William Gibbs McAdoo for the Democratic presidential nomination.

And then its going to be something of a relief to find that blame for the oil-mottled condition of the political waters, cannot attach wholly and exclusively to Republicans.

There is a suspicion that before Mr. Reed gets done with Mr. McAdoo and Mr. McAdoo gets done back-firing in the general direction of Missouri, the public generally will have a fairly good conception of the particular kind of pristine political purity which Mr. McAdoo would have us believe was designed for his sole and exclusive use.

All in all, the campaign for the Democratic nomination is going to be worth watching. And if a few bars of Republican soap should inadvertently fall along the right of way and get on the track, it will add considerably to the gaiety of the occasion.

Down in the Old North State, they are injecting a favorite son into the already tangled Democratic situation, in the person of Uncle Joe Daniels, erstwhile secretary of the navy in the Wilson administration, boon companion and buddy of Hon. W. Jennings Bryan, tarheel guide, philosopher and friend of the "embattled farmers" of his state. We shrewdly suspect there will be more or less grape juice about Uncle Joe's candidacy and just how that is going to hit Uncle Jim Reed, and how the Daniels boom is going to affect the Underwood strength in the south, which McAdoo is seeking to corral—all these things make for an interesting campaign.

And there's Jimmy Cox to be reckoned with also. Jim's no quitter. When he's hungry for oranges he goes out in the market place to get oranges and if any one tries to slip him a lemon, there's going to be a Macedonian lamentation go up that will make a world war barrage sound like the puny popping of an air gun.

Looks for all the world like a regular campaign this year. Just between ourselves, speaking free and open and man to man, and not to be repeated—we don't believe anybody can be as sincere, unswayed and unswilled as some of these potential presidents sound.

Lo, the Poor Indian! There is $44,000 of him in the United States and collectively he owns over a billion dollars worth of property. That's $3,000 apiece. How many of our readers have $3,000 for themselves and every member of their family? Yeh! Its tough to be an Indian!

Escanaba's spring campaign pot is beginning to simmer but the days of the campaign fund, to hand out to "faithful workers" on election day, are gone, thanks be, forever.

About the only fly in our prospective spring ointment is that Easter, this season, falls altogether too late.

"Politics," as Abou Ben Adhem remarked, "makes strange bed-fellows." And recent observation seems to prove that strange bed-fellows make politicians.

Wanted—Second class, third rate inventor who can convert Democratic energy in Washington into gas for Shenandoah explorations of interstellar space. If you have ever driven a tank wagon for an oil company, do not apply.

TIME LIMIT FOR VETERANS NEARING CLOSE Disabled Ex-service Men Must File Claims This Year

Disabled veterans of the recent World War are warned by General Frank T. Hines, director of the United States Veterans' Bureau, to present their claims for compensation immediately, as the time limit will soon expire. The War Risk Insurance Act specifically states: "That no compensation shall be payable unless a claim therefor be filed, in case of disability, within five years after discharge or resignation from the service, or, in case of death during the service, within five years after such death is officially recorded in the department under which he may be serving; PROVIDED, HOWEVER, That where compensation is payable for death or disability occurring after discharge or resignation from the service, claim must be made within five years after such death or the beginning of such disability."

"The time herein provided may be extended by the Director, not to exceed one year for good cause shown. If at the time that any right accrues to any person under the provisions of this article, such person is a minor, or is of unsound mind or physically unable to make a claim, the time herein provided shall begin to run until such disability ceases." Dead line is here. As most of the men were discharged in 1919, this will be the last year that many of them can legally file claim, excepting in extreme cases where the appeal must be sent to the Central Office in Washington and the Director allows the additional year. "I have found that many ex-service men hesitate about filing a claim," said General Hines, "but they should remember that their disabilities grow worse instead of better and often aid is not asked for until it is late. The Veteran's Bureau is endeavoring to reach all possible claimants before their time limit has expired."

CITY BORROWS SUM OF $15,000 TO PAY BONDS

Delinquent Taxes Make Loan Necessary At Manistique.

A loan of $15,000. to be used for retiring old city bonds, was authorized Monday night by the Manistique city council.

In previous years, tax payments have furnished a sufficient sum for the bond retirement, but the delinquent list is very large this year, and it was found necessary to borrow money to take the place of tax payments that have not yet been made. An installment of $12,000 on old bond issues will be paid off next month.

Discuss Floods.
A committee from the Manistique Civic Club was present at the council meeting, and offered suggestions in regard to the prevention of spring floods on the Manistique River. In the absence of the mayor, no action was taken on the suggestions offered, but the matter was held open, and will be brought up again at the next meeting.

One of the proposals submitted by the Civic Club committee was that arrangements be made before flood time to have sandbags available, ready to protect any spot threatened by the high water. Agitation on this matter has been started much earlier than last year, when it was not brought before the council until April 9.

Meet in Fire Hall.
The council also discussed additional improvements in the city hall, including the addition of a new floor in the chief of police office. This was left to the building committee, with authority to act. In the absence of Alderman Isackson, sponsor of the plan to seat the council at a long table instead of desks, nothing was done in this regard, and the old desks will probably be re-installed.

NATURE'S DANGER SIGNAL

LEGION DRIVE HAS DOUBLED ON MEMBERSHIP

Plan Free Feed For Meeting Thursday Night

In spite of the bright moonlight that has been prevailing this week, the "Shavetails" and "Devildogs" have continued their warfare at Manistique, and both have staged evening trench raids that netted them many prisoners.

The "Devildogs" team got away to a pretty start in the Manistique American Legion membership drive, and grabbed off a half-dozen members on the first day of the contest. In the meantime, unbeknownst to the Devildogs, the Shavetails had been working a new sector, and when they came out in the open again it was with the announcement that they had landed a score or more of members. Right away, the Devildogs got serious, tied the score, and now lead by a rather precarious margin.

Double Membership.
While all this was going on, the adjutant of the Legion, S. M. Rubin, has been making out membership cards as fast as the recruits came in, and yesterday reported that last year's membership of the Manistique Legion had already been doubled, and there are prospects of adding about 40 more to the list.

Archie Ludlow and Elmer Lundstrom were the heavy scorers for the Shavetails, and went after their job with a hard-headedness that would do credit to a top sergeant.

Legion Meets Thursday.
This week's meeting of the Manistique Legion will be in the nature of a rally meeting, and an attendance of about 75 is expected. A program of stunts has been prepared, and the meeting will be followed by a smoker and free "feed."

Jigs, jazz and jollity are a part of the program, which is to be held this Thursday evening, following the regular Legion business meeting.

A special effort will be made to have the new Legion members membership contest, new recruits, and get acquainted with the gang. At the close of the membership contest, new recruits will be initiated into the local membership.

STEBEN BOYS HELD ON GAME LAW VIOLATION

One of the Offenders Is Only 15 Years of Age.

Henry Harris, 15, and Harland Williams, 19, were brought down from near Steuben Monday by Deputy Game Warden Paul Knuth, both charged with violations of the game law.

The Harris youngster, who claimed to be 15 years of age, but appeared older, was taken before Juvenile Judge Edmund Ashford, where he made admissions sufficient to hold him for further proceedings. In addition to the charge of killing deer out of season, an offense which both of the boys are alleged to be guilty of, the Harris boy may also be held on a trapeze charge, as he has not been attending school for some time, according to his own admission.

In response to questions put by Judge Ashford, the boys made contradictory statements. He expressed a willingness to be sent to the industrial school, and made the statement that he would "take what the other fellow got" rather than tell the truth about the matter.

Harland Williams, who was arraigned later before Justice of the Peace W. A. McKinney, is a son of William Williams, who is now doing time for the murder of J. Carlson, and with other members of the family has been living at the Williams home in the vicinity of Klondike.

Both arrests were made after search warrants had been taken out by Louis Bouscher, fire warden in that district.

Civic Club Sends Condolence South

A resolution of condolence, to be sent to the Goodwillie family was authorized at this week's meeting of the Manistique Civic Club, as a tribute to the memory of James G. Goodwillie, who died last week at Tampa, Florida.

R. W. Goodwillie, of Manistique, left Saturday night for Chicago, where the funeral was held this week.

"Tea—with a Kick" is the unusual title of a spicy picture which Manistique people will see at the Gero tonight.

"Tea—with a Kick" is built strictly for laughing purposes. It is a satire on the prohibition question, and like a true satire, takes no sides. It is a comedy with a dramatic relief. Even the serious moments terminate in a howl of laughter. There are several extravagant spectacles, the outstanding one being the Golden Goose Revue, wherein 100 girls display the latest Parisian modes seemingly to the great interest of the women in the audience.

"CUT THIS OUT—IT IS WORTH MONEY"

POST OFFICE GETS A NEW WINDOW LABEL

Tourists will no longer find it necessary to address Manistique natives with that seemingly superfluous question: "Say, where's the post office?" even while they were standing right in front of the building in question.

The front plate glass, which was formerly blank, has now been conspicuously lettered in gold leaf with the inscription: "Post Office, Manistique," and underneath this the hours when the post office is open for Sundays, holidays and week days.

Formerly, strangers in the city were often at a loss to find the post office, due to the fact that it is under the same roof as the Savings Bank, and sometimes failed to find it when directed to it, as the lettering was in a rather unobscure place.

The new lettering will do away with this, however, and one now has but to look at the building to read the inscription on the window.

CLEAN ALL CHIMNEYS NOW, IS ADVICE

Fire Department Will Have Men To Answer All Calls.

Another warning of the fire hazards which are prevalent during the final period of winter and repeated advice to have chimneys and pipes inspected and cleaned at this time, were given yesterday by the chief of the Gladstone fire department following a big increase in the number of chimney calls during the past few days.

The fire record for the month, which up to February 15, had increased to seven like calls, every one of which was found to be due to clogged chimneys.

"Practically every chimney is in a clogged up condition at this time of the year," said the chief, in asking that the fire prevention warning again be issued. "This is always true of the close of the winter months, and that is where the great fire danger, which is more marked at this time than any time during the year, in my estimation, comes in. A cold spell comes and everyone's fires up. An overworked heating plant and clogged chimneys and you have the result—a chimney blaze and in many cases, a serious fire."

"Now is the best time to have chimneys cleaned, just before spring housecleaning. Cleaning now will remove fire danger from that source and will put the chimneys in condition until fall. It is a matter that should not be neglected."

Call Department
The fire department will continue its plan of cooperation this year as usual and any property owners who do not know where to secure the services of a chimney sweep, have but to call the department and a man qualified to do the work will be sent to the address given.

YOUNG PEOPLE IN PAGEANT PLEASE MANY

Presbyterian Service Is Attended By Large Number

The Presbyterian church, was filled to its capacity Sunday evening, when the pageant, entitled "A Modern Christian Quest" was given by the young people of the Christian Endeavor society under the direction of Mrs. J. M. Bolton.

The service in its every phase proved an inspiration and the numbers particularly the pageant, itself reflected considerable credit upon those taking part and especially upon Mrs. Bolton, whose time and energy had been given to the direction of the pageant.

The Press is indebted to the Rev. Mr. Bolton, pastor of the Presbyterian church, for the following account of the service and the pageant which featured it:

"Including Juniors and other singers there were forty five engaged in the service Sunday night. Miss Florence House, president of the C. E. society, gave an introductory address in which she explained the nature and purpose of the pageant to be given and told of the good all the young people participating had already received. She spoke in a clear, distinct voice without the least sign of hesitation and did honor to herself and her society of young people.

"Miss Erna Fedit then appeared on the stage wearing a white hand around her head on which was inscribed in large letters the word 'Service.' She began the pageant by reciting in a most attractive manner the story of Sir Galahad and the Holy Grail, repeating his knightly vow:

"To uphold the Christ, 'To ride abroad redressing human wrong.

"To speak no slander, no, nor listen to it,
"To honor his own word, as if his God's,

"To lead sweet lives in purest chastity."

"Representing the youth of the Church, Kenneth Forbes, appeared and addressed the Spirit, are no guests for youth. The Spirit of Service called him foolish and blind for the world is full of quests. Being asked if he and his companions would go he gave his consent and called for his companions to come forth. In answer to his call thirteen young people came from different parts of the audience and declared they would like to find their quest that they might give their life to it.

"All these were pointed to Church approaching in the center aisle, Miss Habel McMillin, and told that from her they should learn of many quests. Miss McMillan wore a white gown and a crown upon her head. She told of Jesus Christ coming to seek and save the lost and that for this He gladly laid down His life. Since then there are many quests. All these young people then asked to be shown their quest. A little child was presented to be led to the Christ to develop a Christian character, a young man with hands shackled and head bowed was brought forth, representing youth outside the church. The Community represented by Miss Juanita Fulton, wearing a crown with the inscription upon it, presented Poverty, Need and the Foreigner, and the three individuals representing the Foreigner, were chosen by different ones and led away as their quest.

"The church gave to each one choosing a quest a light represented by a flash-light made to resemble a torch and the following commission: 'I give you your Commission. Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature. And lest you should forget the quest, take the watchword I give you: keep it ever before you. For the Son of Man came not to be ministered unto but to minister. Rise and take your pledge of service. The young people then arose from their knees and holding high their torches, repeated together, the following pledge: 'Trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ for strength, I promise Him to do whatever He would like to have me do.'

"There were three acts. The program was completed with much credit to each one who took part.—Each one should be mentioned separately and given special praise. The anthem furnished by the quartette, 'Lead us, Lord, O Gently Lead us,' was the most appropriate for the occasion and sung with telling effect. Miss Bernice Swanson, who presided at the organ showed how well one who is accomplished in her calling can be perfectly at home on such an occasion."

"The entire performance met the highest expectation of every one and nothing but words of praise are heard from it."

Birthday Party Given by Friends

George Pada was the guest of honor at a birthday party given Saturday evening at Wassa hall by a party of fifty friends on the occasion of his seventeenth birthday anniversary. The young people enjoyed dancing and games following which a tasty lunch was served.

COMMISSION MEETS AGAIN HERE TONIGHT

Action Will Be Taken On Matters Up for Consid- eration Monday.

Gladstone's city commissioners will hold another meeting this evening at the city hall.

The regular meeting Monday night was featured by considerable discussion and argument, but no action, and tonight's meeting will see something done in regard to a number of matters now before the commission.

It is probable that the first action taken at tonight's meeting will be on the administrative ordinance, provided for in the city charter as an ordinance to establish an administrative code for the city of Gladstone. The ordinance was framed several days ago and copies of it given to the members of the body for study.

The ordinances and its articles were discussed at Monday night's meeting, but action on it was deferred until tonight.

Several tax complaints which were taken under advisement at the regular meeting, will be brought before the commissioners again tonight and their decision on the various cases will be taken at that time.

RECREATIONAL PROGRAMS PAY

Nationally Known Experts Speakers at Chamber of Commerce.

"How much work a man is able to do on the job depends almost altogether upon what he does of the job," C. E. Brewer, Detroit's municipal director of recreation, told a Chamber of Commerce Forum gathering in Knights of Pythias hall last night.

"But it costs Detroit with its 700 policemen $95 to make an arrest and $275 to make an arrest and carry the case through the courts. That is about $5.29 per capita. Organized recreation provided by the city has kept down police costs, and if given some of the money spent on the police department it would reduce these costs still further," he declared.

In discussing the local situation, Mr. Brewer declared that it should be very little trouble for Escanaba to attract 20,000 people from all parts of the Great Lakes country to a properly staged winter sports carnival here.

These things, however, speaker said, were only a small part of the program that could be established here at a minimum cost. The organization of local amateur baseball, basketball, bowling, and other leagues, the development of horseback riding, tennis and other tournaments, and the providing of means and locations for the playing of games of all sorts by the older folk as well as the children, he said, would be one of the main objects of such a program.

cities of the state are now engaged in such programs. These activities should be municipal, not privately financed, Mr. Brewer insisted.

Mr. Brewer was preceded on the program by A. R. Wellington, of Chicago, field secretary for the Playground and Recreation Association of America.

The meeting was presided over by A. J. Young, chairman of the Chamber's Forum steering committee. Invocation was said by the Rev. C. A. Lund of the Swedish Lutheran church.

PROBER POMERENE DOES NOT GRANDSTAND, SMILE OR PLAY

By NEA Service WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 26.—Alice Pomerene, named Teapot Dome prosecutor by President Coolidge, has never found time for anything but work.

He looks out on life through serious spectacles. His entire public career has been characterized by ceaseless labor and application to the task at hand.

During his 12 years as United States senator, Pomerene was seldom in the public eye, yet few Democratic senators were more influential in shaping legislation than the man from Canton, O.

The spotlight passed Pomerene by, because he lacked the ability to capitalize his accomplishments. Others more versed in ways of publicity frequently ran away with the credit that was rightfully his.

Pomerene is tall, lean and dark-skinned, his forehead is high and his fringe of hair black.

He usually wears a black coat, black trousers, a "holled" white shirt and "choker" collar and a narrow black bow tie.

His dress suggests the stark makeup of an undertaker. Serious-minded, unqually sensitive, he rarely smiles or jokes. Criticism hurts him deeply.

ATLEE POMERENE'S seriousness and high sense of duty undoubtedly are heritages of his boyhood.

He was raised on a farm in Berlin, Holmes county, O. Atlee and his 10 brothers and sisters each had a certain set of chores and each was held strictly accountable by a stern parent.

Dacosta, an older brother, was blind. Atlee not only mastered his own lessons but acted as instructor and reader to Dacosta.

In 1892 Atlee married Mary Borkus of Canton. The event, which was to have marked the happiest day of his life, was tinged with tragedy.

He had wired Dacosta, then a minister in Pennsylvania, to come to Canton and perform the ceremony. Dacosta started and was killed in a train wreck.

Dr. Peter Pomerene wanted his boys to become physicians and named most of them after famous doctors. But Atlee, after leaving Princeton, studied law in Cincinnati and then went to Canton to practice.

He served two terms as city solicitor and one as county prosecutor. Some of the cases he handled were of nation-wide interest, notably the trial of Mrs. George, who was charged with shooting the brother-in-law of the then President McKinley.

Pomerene lost that case, but he was opposed by the ablest legal talent of the day.

In 1910 he was elected lieutenant governor of Ohio. The next year he "bucked" the machine, ran for the Senate against "Boss" Hanley and was elected.

While Pomerene was in the Senate, his secretary, realizing the necessity for exercise, urged Pomerene to walk from his home to the office.

Pomerene tried it a day or two but found it fatiguing. Then, for a while, he walked part of the way, Mrs. Pomerene picking him up in her electric after the first mile or so.

CHICAGO POLICE HUNT ESKY MAN

J. H. Matthews Thought To Be Husband Of Slain Woman.

Maybelle Exley—also known as Ethel Exley and Maybelle Duffy—who was shot to death in a Chicago apartment last Friday, shortly after her temporary husband, John Dougherty, alias Duffy, was found slain on a suburban highway near that city, may have been the wife of J. H. Matthews, a Chicago & Northwestern boilermaker, who was employed for a time in the local shops.

COPPER IS HIT STIFF WALLOP

Anaconda Omits Dividend; Stocks Are Dumped Freely.

(By The Associated Press.) New York, Feb. 26.—Confronted with heavy load interest of more than $9,000,000 a year and the low price of copper metal which makes it virtually impossible to operate at a satisfactory profit, directors of the Anaconda Copper Mining Company omitted today the quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share due at this time.

The board's announcement was followed by heavy selling of the copper shares, most of them establishing new low records for the year. Anaconda suffered an extreme break of four points to 33 1/2, compared with the year's high of 41.

Price Declines. Anaconda resumed dividends when copper was selling at 15 cents a pound, but large imports of the red metal from South America and South Africa where production costs are much lower than in the United States, was said by leading dealers to have kept the price down despite record-breaking consumption.

It was reported that North American producers must obtain 15 cents a pound to make a satisfactory profit.

In the case of Anaconda, it was believed the revenues derived from its stockholdings in the American Brass Company and Chile Copper, a South American property, would insure the safety of the dividend at this time.

Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Iron Company today resumed payment of dividends on the common stock at the former rate of $1.50 a share quarterly. No dividends of $1.75 a share were resumed on the preferred stock in March, 1923.

Humor and self-criticism, it has often been pointed out, go together; a sense of humor is an antidote for conceit. Victor Hugo had no sense of humor, and the complacency with which he looked back upon his career arose from a conceit that was even more colossal than his genius.

Another remarked: "Streets? Paris ought to change its name and be called Victor Hugo."

Another added scornfully: "Paris? Paris, after such a great man? No, indeed! France ought to change its name and the whole country to be called Victor Hugo."

The great writer then lifted his head and with a Jovian dignity spoke in tones of quiet, solemn conviction: "That we'll come in time." Kansas City Star.

H. Matthews, a Chicago & Northwestern boilermaker, who was employed for a time in the local shops.

Here Two Months. Matthews came to Escanaba Dec. 14, last, from Winona, Minn. With him was a young woman he introduced as his wife. She was young and attractive, wore expensive and somewhat flashy clothing and what many considered to be a surplus of cosmetics.

The woman, during their brief stay here, made several sudden and more or less mysterious trips out of the city, but returned in a day or two. At least one of these trips was taken without Matthews knowing it was planned, it was said.

On Dec. 31, exactly a week after they had moved to Escanaba, the couple went to Chicago, returning on Dec. 28. Matthews told acquaintances that his "baby was sick" in Cleveland and that they had been called to that city.

Matthews left the service of the North Western on Feb. 13, and departed from Escanaba on St. Valentine's day. This was the day, Chicago police say, when the woman in the Chicago murder mystery was supposed to have married "Duffy." The double killing occurred just a week later.

Matthews is alleged to have admitted to the owner of a local rooming house that he and his girl companion were not married, declaring that she was his ward. He asked to rent adjoining rooms in the building but was informed that he was not wanted as a tenant.

Matthews has not been heard from by anyone in Escanaba since he left, on Feb. 14, so far as could be learned last night.

"Dougherty" or "Duffy," said to have been a Philadelphia gunman was a combatant, is blamed by Chicago police with the killings.

Matthews and the girl known here as his wife, did not have a wide acquaintance here, it was said.

Famous Developer of Industry Will Address Forum

Mark Fenton, of Youngstown, O., famous as an industrial development specialist, will be the speaker at the next Chamber of Commerce Forum meeting, Secretary O. I. Bandeen announced last night.

Mr. Fenton probably has been the most successful man in development lines in America. While Secretary of the Memphis, Tenn., Chamber of Commerce in one year he persuaded 274 factories and other enterprises to make Memphis their headquarters.

His record at Youngstown was even more startling. The exact date for Mr. Fenton's appearance here has not been set definitely, but it probably will be within the next two weeks, Mr. Bandeen said.
