MRS. J. KAHLOW PASSES AWAY IN LOCAL HOSPITAL

A sadness pervaded the city yesterday when the news was heard announcing the death of Mrs. John Kahlow at a local hospital where she had been rushed Thursday evening, Feb. 28, when she was stricken suddenly with paralysis while calling at the home of a friend.

Mrs. Kahlow died without regaining consciousness. Death came to relieve her of her sufferings at 1:40 o'clock Monday afternoon while her husband, and other members of the family were gathered at the bedside.

Mrs. Kahlow came to this country when a child of three years and lived in Chicago, Ill., and Depere, Wis., before coming to this city when a young girl.

Her sweet disposition won her many friends, her winning ways pleasing personality, her ability as a leader won her prominence in civic and fraternal work.

At the time of her death she was commander of Cora Hive, L. O. T. M.; treasurer of the Protected Home Circle; treasurer of the Degree of Honor, and held an office in the Morning Star Society.

She is survived by her husband, one son, Thomas J.; a daughter-in-law and one grandchild, Mary Jane Kahlow; one sister, Mrs. Emma Morton of Everett, Wash.; and two brothers, Charles Haglund, and Wm. Haglund, of this city.

Funeral Thursday. The body was removed to the Allo Funeral Home to be prepared for burial and will be taken to the family residence probably today. Funeral services will be conducted Thursday afternoon from the family home, 504 South 11th street, at 2:30 o'clock.

NEW SHOP OPENED. Mrs. P. C. Dube has opened a women's shop in connection with Mrs. Gallagher's Hat Shop at 1502 Ludington street.

Mrs. Lilly Stockwell, a sister of Mr. Kahlow, will arrive from Chicago to attend the obsequies.

"Dr. Deadman's interest in sports did not end with horse racing. He liked football, baseball and other athletic games and was ready to assist in promoting them in this community.

"Dr. Deadman leaves his wife and daughter, Hazel, who reside in Detroit, and his son, Austin, also of Detroit. He was a member of the Elks, Knights of Pythias and Sons of St. George lodges.

"Few men in Marquette county were better known than Dr. Deadman. He practiced his profession in all parts of the county during his long residence here and built up a large acquaintance and circle of friends through his activity in promoting horse races and his keen interest in the county fair.

"As an officer of the county agricultural society, he had charge of turf events at the fair many years and was one of the upper peninsula's most prominent horsemen. Raising and racing horses were his hobbies.

"Dr. Deadman also spent considerable time in the study of agriculture and dairying and worked consistently in his capacity as a supervisor and as an of-

NERVES OR BLUFF? If you don't hurry, you won't have time to start back.

Now listen, all ye time-pressed, harassed, nervous, jumping-jack personalities.

He's an old-time traffic cop in New York. New York is probably as busy a place as Escanaba.

"During big storms in New York City, pedestrians are less by three-fifths and autos by one-tenth."

"On the first clear day after a storm, these 'busy' people will be out again, risking life and limb to gain a few seconds by rushing in and out of traffic."

"Hurry is about 50 per cent nervousness and 25 per cent bluff."

Which seems to hit the nail squarely on the head.

Accidents, almost without exception, originate in someone's carelessness, and carelessness is due to unusual hurry or overstrained nerves.

There's a fine old gentleman living here in Escanaba who has lived 93 years and he hasn't lived them in a hurry.

If you are not too hurried, it is possible there may be food for reflection in this.

THEY NEED THE MONEY.

Perhaps the Democrats are frightened in their efforts to create chaos in tax reduction legislation.

They hope to win the election of 1924 and get control of the government in 1925.

But their obstruction methods will not increase the likelihood of their winning the election.

300 JACKIES VISIT NEW YORK

Spend Ten Days in Eastern Waters Maneuvering.

(By The Associated Press.) New York, March 3.—For the ten days New York will play to a formidable division of the navy's marine police force of ten ships of the line, coming the major part of the fleet. The ships dropped anchor in the Hudson river today for their winter maneuvers in eastern waters.

Saluting salutes were omitted by the forts on Governor's island because, it was explained, there had on board so many flags and vice-admirals that saluting would have resembled a battle at sea.

Thousands lined the river banks as the warships, led by the USS Seattle, carrying Rear Admiral Conant, steamed in conformation to their anchor-off Riverside Drive. They cheered and received in the greeting of the black-flags who lined the rails of the war craft.

While the vessels are here the officers and men will be accorded the heartiest welcome the city provide. Nearly one-half of the complement of 15,000 men have shore leave daily. A number of official and unofficial entertainments have been planned for March 13, the ships will be ordered to sea for further maneuvers are scheduled to be on March 18.

Miss Sitzer Opens to Crowded House at Delft Theatre

Eloda Sitzer came back to town last night. She brought all the Beaches and the Jones and the other folks in the Beach-Jones Stock Company with her. They're going to spend a week at the Delft—a merry week for local stock fans, and, if last night's highly pleased audience is an indication, a prosperous week for themselves.

"Nice People," Rachel Brothers' play about flappers, flappers and a possible cure for the disease, provided Miss Sitzer with her opening part. It also gave the players whose talents are familiar to Escanaba audiences some excellent parts, and afforded the opportunity for the management to demonstrate what may be expected of the newer members of the organization.

Guy Beach and Dudley Miller, old friends here, were enthusiastically greeted. So were Johnny Paul and Joseph Tonutti, Crete Smith, Adelaide Melnotte and Harry Marlin completed the capable cast.

Frank Brooks whose splendid voice is well remembered, Mr. Smith, Mr. Marlin and Mr. Beach are the "Four Beach Nuts" this season. Miss Sitzer helped the quartet by contributing a song for good measure. A Hawaiian duo provided the other between-acts offering.

Tonight's play will be "Why Worry." Later in the week will come Aaron Hoffman's "Welcome Stranger," "The Bird of Paradise," and other new plays.

CLERKS LOOK FOR JUSTICE IN NEW BILL

Under-paid Post Office Employees Seek Increase.

Recognizing the importance of the postal system and the necessity of maintaining a high degree of skill and efficiency throughout the entire personnel of that popular branch of government, almost every radio station in the United States is daily and nightly permitting representatives of the postal employees to broadcast their messages and appeals for public support of the bill which is now pending in Congress, which provides for a reasonable and well merited readjustment of the salaries of all postal employees from the postmaster down to and including the humblest employee in this great system. Congress was never before so universally besieged in the interest of legislation proposing to increase salaries of government employees. Generally speaking, the public held to the idea that such employees were favored and more than well paid. His idea is all wrong.

Government employees should be well paid and Uncle Sam should be an outstanding figure as the "model employer." Unfortunately this is not so, and investigation develops the fact that government employees and particularly those in the postal establishment are about the poorest paid workers in the country.

Every man, woman and child in this country is familiar with Uncle Sam's mail carriers, city, rural, and village. In Summer and Winter, in all kinds of weather, day in and day out he faithfully and regularly makes his appointed rounds.

In like manner we all know the postmaster. He is usually one of the leading citizens in the community. His devotion to the service and his interest in the public welfare are characteristics that seem to go with employment in the postal service.

Salaries are inadequate

The railway mail clerk is a familiar figure to the traveling public and to most of the population along the route of his assignment. He, too, is noted for his high conception of service. But the post office clerk, the group which forms the real backbone of the great postal system is known to very few of us. Only those citizens who have occasion to visit the post offices frequently can get a real idea of the skill, intelligence, study and application to duty necessary to equip one to render efficient service as a post office clerk. Few realize, however, that these faithful and hard working employees, regardless of their loyalty and devotion to duty receive barely sufficient compensation to keep on to healthy man in bread and butter and furnish him a place to sleep. And yet 98 per cent of these workers are married and have dependent families.

Of the 300,000 odd employees in the postal service, one fifth, or 60,000, are designated as post office clerks. Upon the skill of such 60,000 employees depends absolutely the uninterrupted operation of the service. It is upon the manner in which they do their work that the public must depend for the accurate and expeditious transition of their letters and all other classes of mail matter. Theirs is the responsibility, also, for the proper sending of money to relatives and friends, or for other purposes, through the great money order system. And so it goes throughout all of the activities of the postal service and all of the facilities which furnish to its patrons. First and last, the clerk unheralded and unknown working in the obscurity of a Federal building is the one upon whom the public must depend for service.

The construction of an eighteen-hole golf course at an altitude of 7000 feet, which it is declared will be the highest in the world, is part of an extensive plan for the development of the original "Lucky" Baldwin estate in Bear Valley, California.

FLAYS SPECIAL FARM RELIEF

Southern Senator Sees Scheme to "Bolster Busted Banks"

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Mar. 3.—Strenuous opposition today greeted the appearance in the senate of the first special farm relief measure—the Norbeck-Burns bill proposing the loan of $75,000,000 to finance diversification. Declaring it was "paternalism run rampant," Senator Fletcher, Democrat, Florida, said it was time to call a halt upon such measures.

Senator Fletcher's attitude was understood to be that of several other senators on the Democratic side, and of some Republicans. An effort of Senator Ladd, Republican, North Dakota, to end debate at 3 o'clock tomorrow, was blocked by notification from several senators that they desired to discuss the measure.

Other Classes Aided.

The North Dakota senator contended the government owed special consideration to the spring wheat farmers because of the evils they had suffered through the war-time propaganda which at once increased production and decreased consumption. Every other class in the United States has been aided, he said, either by the tariff or through direct or indirect subsidy.

Several amendments already have been proposed to the bill which would increase the amount carried to $105,000,000. Among them is a provision offered by Senator Bursum, Republican, New Mexico, which would add $20,000,000 for loans to banks in the northwest. Senator Fletcher said the purpose of this was to "bolster busted banks."

Intimates Politics.

"The whole tendency," Senator Fletcher said, "is toward further centralization of authority in the federal government. Of course, if the idea is to establish a good campaign fund, I have no doubt that fifty or a hundred million properly handled would be very effective."

Senator Bursum, Republican, New Mexico, here interjected the remarks that "the senator certainly does not want to leave the idea that the administration would capitalize the miseries of farmers," and Fletcher replied he had "merely suggested that in passing."

GREATER CARE IS NECESSARY FOR SAFETY

Grade Crossing Accidents Show Alarming Increase.

Commenting upon the increase in grade crossing accidents and the growing necessity for care by motorists in approaching and making such crossings, the Baltimore & Ohio Safety Department, quoted in the current issue of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen & Engine-men's magazine, offers the following pertinent facts:

When reports of the Interstate Commerce Commission show that 421 persons were killed and 1,353 were injured at railroad grade crossings during the first quarter of 1923, when recent Monday morning papers told of from 13 to 29 killed on the preceding Sundays, every motorist who loves life must consider the chances against him if he persists in lack of caution.

Unless there is an instant right-about-face by motorists in general, the grade crossing fatalities will soar to dreadful heights. The enormous increase in motor cars during the last few months places a million more lives in such danger than there were in the early part of 1923. The roads are more and more crowded, and the difficulties facing highway users because of recklessness are increasing. The law of averages calls for an increased caution to those who would be safe, and make the highways safe for the rest of the people.

In the old days rarely a man thought of crossing a railroad grade crossing unless he first changed into lower gear. This slowed him before he attempted to run up the slight rise that marks a large part of the open-country grade crossings. His old-style car could then make the grade with ease and safety, and he knew that in a second or low it was quite impossible that the motor could stall no matter how much gas he fed into the carburetor by throttle or accelerator.

In these days every smart Alex attempts to do everything "in high." Many a driver who is not at all of this type also tries this stunt. Perhaps a few over-enthusiastic salesman dealers and a few manufacturers are partly to blame because of their constant boasting that "this car will go anywhere in high."

It is to be noted that there is not a single gasoline-driven car on the market that is made without a change-of-gear set or appliance. If second gear or even "low" were unnecessary, do you think the makers would go on putting such an expensive veriform appendix into their cars?

You can bet a stock of gold eagles that if there is a gear set in the car the maker figured that at times "second speed" or "low," is necessary, and advisable for the motor and the safety of motorists. In the hands of an expert some cars can do almost anything in high, from starting from a standstill to climbing many of the steep hills. Perhaps there is such an expert among 10,000 people. They are quite rare.

Use Equipment

As long as the manufacturers equip their products with second and low speed gears the humble motorists may take it for granted that they are absolutely essential for proper operation of those cars. Half the newspaper tales one reads of grade crossing accidents hint that the "car stalled" on the track, or the driver "killed his engine." Panicky fear realized too late, has much to do with it, but in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred you will find that the car was being operated in high gear.

Often the stricken car is not running at a high rate of speed. Suddenly the driver realizes he is in danger and he tramps on the accelerator or opens the throttle wide. In high gear, and with the little grade of climb that is so often found in such places, too much gasoline is fed to the laboring engine. It chokes and dies, and the reporters and the doctors or the undertakers have another grim and needless job.

The very act of checking up the car at an approach to a "crossing" to change into a lower "speed gear" puts the car under complete control. If a sudden emergency it can be made. If the way seems clear and the car goes on under second or low, it can be spurred quickly with no fear of stalling the motor if the engine is operating normally. It is a simple procedure and will save many hundreds of lives every year if the wise old method is followed at least by those who do not qualify as experts, who never lose their heads and always act coolly in the face of death.

It would take some twelve billions of dollars and several years to eliminate all the highway grade crossings of the country.

THE FAIR SAVINGS BANK

"The Store Where Newest Certified Styles Cost Less"

Folks Look to Us for The Newest Things

An Escanaba business man sat at his desk telephoning. The wires evidently were crossed and instead of getting somebody to take his order for what he wanted, he heard a feminine voice say: "I got the dearest little Kasha cloth dress at the Fair Store and your ought to see Helen's new almond green coat." "Isn't it nice that things are so straight and slender?" another soprano replied. Then he knew it was Spring, for the women were talking clothes.

With warm weather like what we had yesterday here, what else would they talk about? If you have not yet warmed up to the new styles—an hour spent in our Apparel Section—viewing the newer arrivals—will make you just as enthusiastic about the new things as Helen and her friend. Nature gives the world a new dress and inspires every one with a desire to rejuvenate personal wardrobes. The season may be a bit dilatory but our buyers made and perfected plans long ago. Just watch our window and store displays and you'll see things pretty enough to make you say—real Spring can come none too soon.

It is our pride and prerogative to present the new Spring styles almost at the very moment they are appearing in Fifth Avenue windows. Only because our buyers are ever on the alert can we give you style while it's new, style at its best. Because they possess such good taste and such a fine understanding of the women of this community—we please and satisfy our clientele season after season. You will find here, what only, fashions authentic in line, in color and in fabric.

There is a lot of satisfaction in doing things a little better than is necessary and we view with extreme pleasure the Spring apparel selected by those in charge of the buying end of our Apparel Department—and brought here for you and your friends.

We are now in readiness to serve women who want delightfully simple things and those who desire the more elaborate. And while there is a great diversity of style, all is sterling quality. The question of price has been carefully thought out. We believe that prices must be high enough to insure quality fabrics and dependable workmanship and yet low enough to accommodate the women of moderate means.

Please do not think that style must cost a lot. Our buying organization knows where to get it at just what you want to pay.

You'll enjoy selecting your Spring outfit in a bright day-light department like our Apparel Section, second floor. In presenting and displaying the lovely new Spring things, in particular in our windows, we have tried to visualize the clothes in their natural element, and by our seasonable displays hope to aid you in making satisfactory decisions.

WHO PAYS TAXES?

EVERYBODY PAYS TAXES!

ONE may not own land, or a house or a business but one living a normal life lives in a house and follows some occupation.

HE who owns a house pays taxes direct.

HE who rents a house pays taxes indirectly through the owner.

AN increase in taxes on real estate causes an increase in rents.

AN increase in taxes paid by the manufacturer causes an increase in the price of manufactured articles.

THE railroads pay taxes direct to the state and national governments amounting to about 5 1/2 cents out of each dollar earned.

THE railroads pay their employees wages out of which the employees pay taxes both direct and indirect.

THE railroads buy material from the manufacturers who pay taxes both direct and indirect.

ECONOMISTS have figured out that one dollar in every eight of the nation's income is paid as taxes.

THE indirect taxes are approximately equal to the direct taxes.

THE direct taxes paid by the railroads plus the direct taxes paid by their employees, together with the indirect taxes paid by both, are equivalent to considerably more than one-eight of the railway operating revenues.

IT would be more nearly correct to say that out of every dollar paid the railroads for transportation, twenty cents, or more, eventually finds its way through the various channels of taxation into the coffers of the government, national, state and municipal.
